INTRODUCTORY REMARKS

ON

Tranſlations of the SCRIPTURE in General,

AND

The following One in Particular.

AXIOM I.

A TRANSLATION ought to be TRUE to the ORIGINAL.

THIS muſt neceſſarily be allowed; and the Terms of our Law enjoining a Witneſs to ſpeak the Truth, the whole Truth, and Nothing but the Truth, are applicable with great Propriety to Tranſlators. This is ſo much the more requiſite in a Tranſlation of the holy Scripture, as theſe Books are of more Value and Importance than others, and the wrong tranſlating them of worſe Conſequence.

Tranſlators have ſometimes grievouſly miſſed of ſpeaking Truth, or rendering truly, by putting a Truth inſtead of the Truth; as for Inſtance in Job x. 8. made for grieve, it being true that the Hands of God made Job, but not true that he ſays ſo by that Hebrew Word, which has no ſuch Meaning: this Way of tranſlating I have obſerved them apt to fall into, when they come to difficult Paſſages, for the Conveniency as it ſeems of getting on, and appears eſpecially to have been the Caſe with thoſe who have not taken Time enough for doing it.

It is an excellent Direction I have ſomewhere read, in Relation to the Claſſics, that one ſhould firſt ſtudy an Author or Paſſage well, to know the right Meaning from the Writer himſelf, and then examine Commentators, &c. for there is no ſmall Danger in being miſled by others, who did not uſe the Care they ought to have done.

Had Doddridge lately and others before him taken this Method, they and their Readers might not have been perplexed with Notions and Diſtinctions, which the firſt Penmen never thought of, and have been led into Labyrinths from which they could not extricate themſelves; while the original Words alone would explain themſelves rightly and clearly, to common Underſtanding.

Many are ready to take Things upon Truſt, ſome are fond of new Diſcoveries, both which a judicious Perſon ſhould keep clear of, and by the Method above propoſed the very Temptation to either may be avoided; nay he may thus inform himſelf (what he ought to know) how capable he is for his Undertaking. For the ſake alſo of an elegant Expreſſion, to pleaſe himſelf and his ignorant Readers, how often does an arbitrary Tranſlator treat his Author like the Tyrant that cut or ſtretched People to the Length of his own Bed?

Another prevailing Motive may alſo be the Prejudice of particular Opinions, which will operate marvellouſly, and like a Bribe blind the Eyes of the Wiſe, Deut. xvi. 19. Hence the Popiſh ipſa conteret, ſhe ſhall bruiſe, Gen. iii. 15. in Honour of the Virgin Mary and Diſhonour to Chriſt; hence the Predeſtinarian in very deed for this cauſe have I raiſed thee up, Exod. ix. 16.

But why ſhould I ſtand pointing to the wrong Ways, and not rather deſcribe the right, if that be it which I have gone in, and know how to deſcribe? The Hebrew Tongue has an excellent Property and Peculiarity, of taking its Signification from a few Primitive Words called Roots; which indeed it has Need of, as the Scripture of the Old Teſtament is the only ancient genuine Hebrew in Being: wherein the Divine Preſcience may be obſerved, if we ſuppoſe God thus formed it, and that for the Scripture is the principal Uſe of it. Here an Interpreter ſhould uſe his Skill and Diligence, regularly to trace every doubtful Word up to the Fountain; and let him copy after none, till he ſees himſelf it is faithfully traced ſo already.

To ſome few Words it muſt be confeſſed, there are no Hebrew Roots now extant; but conſult then others with homogeneous Letters or thoſe tranſpoſed, as likewiſe the Chaldee and Arabick Languages, which will ſeveral times ſupply that; and the latter is happily of late brought into Uſe for this Purpoſe, by very learned Men, our Hyde, Pocock, &c. Of this alſo Ab. Ezra, who was well acquainted with it, ſays on Gen. i. 1. כן בלשון ישמעאל שרובה על מתכונת לשון הקודש ſo in the Arabick Tongue, much of which is in the Order of the Hebrew; and on Cant. viii. 11. יותר מחצי הלשון ימצא כמוהו בלשון הקודש more than half of the Arabick may have what is like it found in the Hebrew Tongue; conſequently the Hebrew muſt agree much with the other.

If theſe fail, with the Syriack and other eaſtern Tongues, examine whether the Context, that is the reſt of the Words belonging to this whoſe Meaning is ſought, does not determine it. Otherwiſe, which will ſeldom be the Caſe, call to Council the ancient Interpreters, particularly the Greek, Chaldee, and old Latin Tranſlators, as alſo Jerome (who among thoſe called the Fathers underſtood Hebrew) and the Rabbies of the Jews; ſince they might poſſibly have ſome Helps, that are now loſt.

Their Expoſitions compared carefully with the Context, by a Perſon of good Capacity, and well aequainted with thoſe Matters, are to ſerve, for Neceſſity's ſake, inſtead of the other. Not that theſe Authors, no nor the modern Tranſlators and Commentators, are to be neglected, even when we can do without them: they claim a Right to be heard, and may be uſeful in the happy Choice of a Word or Expreſſion.

And let not the Reader wonder I ſo often quote Junius and Tremellius, ſince theſe above all others ſeem to have inveſtigated the Hebrew Roots; but they ſcarce give any Account of it in the Annotations, as if their Readers knew it as well as themſelves, or were to take their mere Aſſertion for Certainty; which differing ſo much from other Tranſlations, may be apt to ſtartle and offend many: and indeed they ſometimes overſtrained the Matter, too fond perhaps of Something new; though they altered ſeveral Things in latter Editions of their Verſion, and as I obſerve to be generally more conſonant to the Hebrew.

Nor are the Jewiſh Writers to be ſlighted, as they are by ſome that cannot read them, becauſe they have heard what idle Stuff of their own Traditions there is intermixed, and the Labour is too great to get at the golden Treaſure therein contained: ſuch Reaſons as might deter Men from digging deep to find Gold it ſelf, and ſeparating it from the Earth.

What the Jews expound is the holy Scripture it ſelf; under the Pretence of which you have commonly from others but ſome Tranſlation explained, nay often obſcured; and that Tranſlation uncertain perhaps to the Makers themſelves whether right or wrong, as they but ſuperficially or not at all examined the Original: ſo that if true, yet the Text, and conſequently the Comment, is not to be depended on; and if the former be falſe, what Injury does the latter do, by ſtrengthening it, and drawing Inferences from the ſame? Whereas the Jews handle the very Scripture of Truth, as the Angel calls it, Dan. x. 21. nay it is their Practice to take the Words of it literally, and fetch their Meaning, with their Derivation, from their Roots or ſimilar ones: their Rabbies too were good Grammarians in the Hebrew Tongue, and who but ſuch can ſufficiently underſtand it? ſee alſo Gill's Preface to his Expoſition of the New Teſtament, 1746.

However when they exceed this, and run into Imaginations, often oppoſite to one another, taking the Signification of Words from others which do not belong to them, and ſtraining them ridiculouſly (as they often do) a Tranſlator is to let them go by themſelves; and not follow them, as Munſter too much did; though of all the Latin Tranſlators I know, he alone is highly commendable for extracting many valuable Things from them, and yet confuting their Cavils againſt Chriſt and Chriſtianity.

Ainſworth likewiſe, in his Annotations on the Pentateuch, has with laudable Induſtry, rendered much into Engliſh from ſome celebrated Jewiſh Writers, eſpecially Maimonides, a valuable diſcreet Epitomizer of their voluminous Commentaries; and from Ainſworth have the great Dr. Lightfoot and others ſilently conveyed it. The learned Mercer alſo, in his Commentary on ſeveral Books, has been more full and particular in this Reſpect, than either of the other; with whom, out of the Originals, the intrinſick Value of the Jewiſh Interpretations ſeems beſt diſplayed. However I confeſs, I have not found ſo many valuable Expoſitions among the Jews, as I did and might expect.

As the Words of the Original are to be rendered in their right true Meaning, concerning which particularly in the common Tranſlation and this, ſee the Notes throughout; ſo none ſhould be overlooked or neglected, though they are not very material, there being ſuch an Eſteem and Reverence due to the holy Scripture. But it would have too much incumbered the Notes, to have been continually remarking what our laſt Tranſlators omitted or added in the preſent Engliſh Bible; as the Drineſs and leſs Value of it would have debaſed the reſt. It may be fit however to give the Reader ſome Inſtances together, as occaſionally noted without ſeeking for them, firſt of Words, or ſuch Parts of them as are for our Words, in the Original left untranſlated, ſee the Appendix (A).

To theſe may be added the frequent Repetition of Verbs in the infinite Mood, which our Tranſlators uſually omitted.

Next I have obſerved, that though our Tranſlators make the Italick Character a Sign of what they have added to the Original, with the Appearance of being very minute and exact in it, yet there are divers other additional Words not ſo marked, and particularly thoſe in the Appendix (B).

And on the other hand ſeveral Words are put in Italick, which ſhould not; as alſo Additions made where they are not wanted; ſee 2 Sam. iii. 7. & v. 8. John xx. 5, 11.

And it ought to be remarked, that theſe Inſtances were taken (and ſo the more unexceptionable) from the common Bibles now in Uſe; whereas Scott on his Verſion of Matthew v. 12. writes, 'Compare the firſt Ed. of our preſent. Engl. Verſion of the Bible with the 'later ones, and you'll find Hundreds, I believe ſome Thouſands, of Words now printed 'in Italic, as Supplements, which at firſt were printed in the ſame Character with the 'Body of the Text.' So that this falls ſtill more on the Tranſlators themſelves; and for Inſtance ſee [him] twice in Mar. xii. 3. and [it] thrice in Luke viii. 15, 16. none being Italick in the early Editions, but one of the latter now. In Spelling too they had yle for iſle, creeple for cripple, yce for ice, yer for ere, roul for roll, ynk for ink, kall and then cawle, for caul, bin, bene and beene, Deut. iv. 32. ſtrake, ſtroke and ſtrooke for ſtruck, for which alſo ſome later Oxford Editions have ſtrook, 2 Chr. xiii. 20. ſhrich-owle for ſcreech-owl, in the Oxford Bibles ſhrichowl, Iſa. xxxiv. 14. thorow and thorough ſometimes for through, aſtrologians for aſtrologers, Dan. ii. 27. bee for be, &c. —neſſe or —nes for —neſs, with e frequently redundant at the End, as waxe warme, Job vi. 17. add eies and eyes, childe and child in 2 King. iv. 34. nay flie for flee, Pro. xxviii. 17. Pſa. cxxxix. 7. & cxliii. 9. which is another Thing. And many of the Italick Supplements are unneceſſary, ſeveral improper.

Some perhaps may be ready to ſay, What ſmall Matters are theſe! as if they could expect whole Verſes or Expreſſions. But certainly theſe are fit to be taken notice of, ſince our Tranſlators undertook, and pretended, minutely to deſcribe all ſuch as the latter Sort in a different Character, which have paſſed hitherto as authentick.

There are alſo divers Inſtances of wrong tranſlating, ſeveral of them to the Injury of the Senſe, in leſs and even the leaſt Words, the Articles, Auxiliaries, &c. of Verbs, for which ſee the Appendix (C).

But farther Obſervation will be made on ſome of the Particles, in a more proper Place.

According

According to the preceding Axiom, a Tranſlator ſhould follow the Original Copy that is extant, which may be done here with this Advantage, that while thoſe who tranſlate other Books have the Difficulty of chooſing the beſt, the Hebrew Bible is almoſt invariable, and fixed to be ſo, whatever Faults may fall out in printing or tranſcribing, by the Maſoretical Notes; in which the Words are numbered, and even the Peculiarities of Pointing, with the Places where they are throughout the Scripture.

It is an unhappy Work that our infidel critical Age is fallen into, of picking Faults in the holy Scripture, while they ſeem defective in the Knowledge of the Original. How many turn Hebrew Criticks of this Sort, that are ignorant of the Grammar, and even the right Reading of it? Nay how have I evidently ſeen in ſome of their Writings, that they did not know Hebrew Letters one from another! Thoſe pretended Errors in the Hebrew Text, that riſe and break like Bubbles on the Water, and cannot eſtabliſh themſelves for ſolid Truths, as the Diſcoveries of Truth in other Caſes do, I have ſtrictly endeavoured to avoid, unleſs to expoſe and condemn them; many being too ſilly or wide to deſerve any Notice, eſpecially as it was not my particular Buſineſs. Where the Dirt may ſeem to ſtick, I have wiped it off; and thou haſt Divine Writ here preſented to thee, Reader, pure as it is in great Meaſure, I hope, in the preſent Engliſh Tongue.

The Hebrew Idioms, or Manner of Expreſſion, as being very different from ours, ſhould be carefully obſerved, and well underſtood; otherwiſe the right Meaning, as well as Propriety of Language, may be miſſed. The Hebrew doubles finite Verbs in the infinite Mood, inſtead of our Adverbs; and not unaptly, ſince Verbs can only have Adverbs ſuitable to themſelves. And ſuch are to be uſed in a Tranſlation, as the reſpective Verbs and Expreſſions require: not as often in the common Engliſh that general one ſurely, as if the Verbs ſignified not ſurely without being repeated, or oftener none, as though by thoſe infinite Verbs Nothing was meant; or otherwiſe what is foreign to the Verb, from whence the Meaning muſt ariſe, as for Inſtance at once, Num. xiii. 30. which Gell would have be not all at once, Eſſay, p. 467. both without any Relation to go up; nor as in Pro. xxvii. 23. Be thou diligent to know (for know fully) by another Verb. I have rendered them in the following Manner, when the Infinite is put firſt; earneſtly aſk, bind faſt, utterly blot out, quite conſume, draw or eat plentifully, do exceeding well or ill, quite die or be put to death, go apace, quite out or away, be exceeding crafty, glad or gracious, hearken attentively, firmly hire, fully hear or know, be highly incenſed or diſpleaſed, earneſtly long, multiply abundantly, diligently obſerve, open wide, entirely reign, plainly reveal, ſee clearly, plainly or apparently, ſeek diligently, ſhut faſt, ſing joyfully, ſpeak or remember well, tell expreſsly, teſtify fully, quite wear away, weep grievouſly, &c. and throughly or wholly with divers, as Jun. and Trem. have omnino. Partly anſwerable to which the Gr. has πάντως, as 1 Cor. ix. 10, &c. and negatively two Negatives. When the infinite Mood follows the other, it ſignifies as Buxtorf ſhews, the Continuation of what is denoted by the finite Verb. Theſ. Gram. L. 2. Cap. xvi. which I accordingly render by ſtill; but obſerve no Diſtinction to be made between this and that by our Tranſlators.

For ſome of the great and groſs Faults, the Reader is to look in the Notes at the particular Paſſages, withal obſerving that one Elucidation is frequently to ſerve for ſeveral others of the ſame Kind.

AXIOM

AXIOM II.

A TRANSLATION ſhould be well or grammatically expreſſed, in the Language it is made in.

IT is well known that thoſe called the living Languages do alter, eſpecially ours, who are ſuch a changeable People. Hence it is neceſſary that new Tranſlations ſhould be made from one Time or Century to another, accommodated to the preſent Uſe of ſpeaking or writing.

This Deference is paid to the Heathen Claſſics, that they may appear beautiful and not barbarous; many of which are tranſlated often, as the reſt doubtleſs would, if their Bulk or Particularity did not render them unſaleable.

And why ſhould the Scripture meet with leſs Regard? Is it to be thereby more expoſed to Ridicule and Contempt, in our Libertine Age? But ſome there are who ſeem poſſeſs'd with a Notion, or Bigotry, that the laſt Tranſlation in K. James's Reign muſt not be altered; though ſeveral new ones had been made before, when the Oldneſs of the Language, as they were not long apart, did not call for it; and though the Pedantry of that Reign is become a Ridicule, and the Style intolerable: nor does ſuch a Notion commonly appear to be founded on an Opinion of that Tranſlation being well done, ſince it has been the frequent Complaint, from the Scripture-writers who underſtood the Original, of Paſſages rendered amiſs.

The Tranſlator of Livy, bulky as that Author is, repreſents fourſcore Years as Time for him to be rendered into freſh Engliſh, though done before by ſuch a noted Tranſlator as Dr. Holland; whoſe Edition bears Date 1600, and our preſent Bible was tranſlated but eleven Years after; nay Livy writing but a Hiſtory of the ancient Romans, has been thought deſerving of another Tranſlation ſince, beſides that with which it is ſo repreſented; and how often has Juſtin, Horace, Tully's Offices, &c. been done, while the holy Scripture has worn its old Suit ſtill?

Let the Preface of K. James's Tranſlators, which may be met with in ſome old Bibles, be compared with Addiſon's Writings, and ſee what Difference of Language there is in a hundred Years. Nay the Author of Gazophylacium Anglicanum ſays in the Preface, 'When 'I look'd an hundred, or an hundred and fifty Years only behind me, I could ſcarce imagine 'it ever to have been the Language of my Anceſtors, or even of the Country I was born 'in, 'tis ſo chang'd through Commerce, Correſpondence, Travellers, and ſuch like Accidents;' and Blackwall in his Introduction to the Claſſics, 'That which was written in Engliſh two 'hundred Years ago is now ſcarce intelligible; and few Authors of one hundred Years 'ſtanding can by this refined Age be read with Patience.'

Yet the obſolete Words, and uncouth ungrammatical Expreſſions in the Sacred Text, paſs more unheeded, as being oftener read and heard; eſpecially when the Mind is filled with an Imagination, that a Tranſlation of the Scripture muſt be ſo expreſs'd: which Kind of Notion once prevailed ſo long, that one Tranſlation was become quite another Language to that in common Uſe, and was underſtood but by a very few, who learned the Language in which it was written; ſuch was the vulgar Latin Verſion, which was firſt made in the Mother-Tongue of that Age. And we have been going on ſo our ſelves, while the few French Proteſtants have taken care to alter their Tranſlation with their Language; ſo that Antiquity may ſoon be pleaded for ours to keep Poſſeſſion, and be ſtamped authentick. Of what Mind our firſt and former Proteſtants were, may appear by the different Engliſh Tranſlations made by them and printed as follows; beſides thoſe of Wiclif, &c. which were made before Printing was uſed.

1. The Books of the New Teſtament, by William Tyndal, A. D. 1526, Lewis's Hiſt. of Eng. Tranſlations, p. 75.

2. The five Books of Moſes, by the ſame, 1530, Tynd. Works, printed 1573.

3. The first English Bible, by Miles Coverdale, Fol. pr. 1535. Harl. Libr. Crowe's Elench. Script.

4. The first Bible published by the King's Authority, 1537, under the Name of Thomas Matthewe; these Bibles being of Tyndal's Translation from Gen. to Chron. inclusive, with Jonas; and all the Books of the New Test. the rest Coverdale's with some Variation, Lew. Hist. p. 107.

5. The Books of the New Testament from the vulgar Latin, by Miles Coverdale, but in the Name of Johan Hollybushe, 1538, Lew. Hist. p. 112.

6. The Great Bible, called Cranmer's, 1539, considerably different from the foregoing, Lew. Hist. p. 128.

7. Another the same Year, altered by Richard Taverner, Lew. Hist. p. 130, 132.

8. Coverdale's Translation corrected by himself, in 4to. 1550, Lew. Hist. p. 182.

9. The Geneva Bible, 1560, Fulke's Defense of Eng. Transl. Ch. 3, 4. Strype's Annals of the Reform. Ch. 19.

10. The Bishops Bible by Authority, Fol. 1568, Lew. Hist. p. 240.

11. The last Translation, by Order K. James I. 1611. see Burnet's History of the Reformation, p. 367, 368. Fulke, ib. Ch. 3, 10.

There ought to be the greatest Exactness even in Spelling the Scripture, because our Children learn to read by it, and will consequently write after it, unless they learn another Way; nay a Scholar, without the Advantage of good Spelling, would appear ignorant and ridiculous; and on the other hand if we consider the Labour of taking every Letter of every Word into the Memory, and retaining them there, besides the many other Branches of Learning; a Regard should be had for our Youth, that what they receive, almost the earliest and deepest into their Minds, should not be wrong. As for Words that are clownish, barbarous, base, hard, technical, misapplied or new-coined, as well as obsolete and ill-spelled, they must needs be unfit for the Bible; such as follow, when so constructed, in the Books of the old Testament, and on the two first Letters of the Alphabet, not to choose the largest, whose Meaning I add in a Parenthesis, or what might have done better in that Sense. See the Appendix (D).

As to those on the other Letters, I shall mention but the following, while by searching Concordances throughout more might have been found. See the Appendix (E).

It will be little to the Purpose for any one to retort, that I use Words in my Notes as hard, or even some the same, as these; if they are not in the Translation, which ought to be plain, and suited to common Capacities: while Liberty may be allowed in the other, nay may there be agreeable and necessary. I remember on comparing Homer's 1st. Iliad translated by those great Poets Dryden, Tickell (not Addison, though insinuated, as I am persuaded by the Style) and Pope, the Preference was given to the latter in one Particular, for the others having hard and unpolite Words. It has also fallen under my Notice, that Writings upon religious Subjects frequently have Words from the common Translation, which are otherwise disallowable, and some are from thence brought into Discourse; but are these to bear up that, while it is that bears up them? I have lastly observed, that several Words of the common Translation were not found in any other English Books by Johnson in his great Dictionary; a Sign of their wanting the Currency requisite even when that Translation was made.

The following Preterperfect Tenses and Participles are become old, viz. baken (baked) bitten (bit) folden (folded) holden (held) holpen (helped) laden (loaded) lien (pret. lay, part. lain) mowen (mowed) ridden (rid) slidden (slid) spitted (spit) stricken (struck) unwashen (not washed) wakened (awaked) waxen (become) with-holden (with-held) upholden (upheld) but some of en in Termination sprinkled about, especially when passive, may give an agreeable Reliſh of Age; as broken, begotten, forgotten; and other ſuch continue, i. e. done, given, gone, known, ſeen, ſlain, taken, choſen, ſpoken, thrown, written, ſmitten, fallen, born, torn, ſworn, ſtolen, ſhewn, hewn, driven, drawn, lain, riſen, forſaken, ſtriven, ſown, ſhaken, &c. and for a Participle rotten; a is alſo obſolete, where o is uſed now, in the Preterimperfects bare, brake, drave, forgat, gat, ſpake, ſware, ware, ate, laded, ſlang, ſpat, ſtrake; but ſwore and begot ſound too vulgar to be uſed of God.

I have put s inſtead of eth at the End of the third Perſon ſingular of the preſent Tenſe, as inſtructed by our chief Grammarian Brightland in his Grammar of the Engliſh Tongue, and authoriſed by Addiſon, who ſcarce I think writes otherwiſe, and I may add obliged by Cuſtom in Speaking; againſt which Martin's Opinion, in the late Introduction to the Engliſh Language, is but of little Weight. So the Uſe of Speech has taught me you, and not ye, unleſs more than one of the former would fall too near together when of different Caſe, or that one ſound diſagreeably with ſome other Word; thus alſo my and thy, where are now mine and thine.

The ill joining of Words together is next to be mentioned, as being either ungrammatical, a bad Idiom, improper, uncouth, miſapplied, or wrong placed: ſee Examples of ſuch in the Appendix (F).

But a Tranſlation may be badly expreſſed without theſe greater Faults, by Obſcurity, Tautology, Pedantry, or by being very flat, verboſe, or ill-ſounding; which a Tranſlator ſhould endeavour to ſhun, ſo far as keeping tolerably cloſe to the Original will admit.

The Hebrew Tongue has divers Peculiarities, whereby a Verſion from thence into a Language ſo diſtant in Time and Place as ours, will be liable to moſt or all of the Deformities now mentioned, unleſs they are diligently watched, and prudently avoided. Thus the Hebrew has generally ו Vau for a Conjunction of almoſt every Kind; and beſides [and] which is very often and duly repeated in the common Engliſh Bible, it may denote (as I ſhall inſtance in a few Places, ſome of which have it ſo rendered there already) the Words at the Appendix (G).

So גם gam may be varied as Occaſion offers, with the Greek καὶ, δὲ, and τὲ, a few of which I have mentioned. It is beſides tranſlated in the common Bible as in Appendix (H).

There may poſſibly be ſome more ſuch Words found in the common Tranſlation, or even in mine; but the Trouble of collecting theſe has not been ſmall, unleſs compared with the Work it ſelf, and the Uſe of them may be of no ſmall Account, with reſpect to the Engliſh as well as Hebrew Language, excluſive of this Tranſlation. Concerning this our learned and very acute Mede writes, B. 3. p. 506. Vau enim Hebræorum et inde καὶ in Scriptura Conjunctio eſt non tantum copulativa, ſed et disjunctiva, rationalis, cauſalis, ordinativa, explanativa, prout ſenſus ratio exigit: The Heb. ו and from that the Gr. καὶ, does not only join together (as and, alſo, &c.) but alſo parts (as or, otherwiſe) ſhews the Cauſe (as for, ſince) and Effect (as therefore, ſo that) ſets in Order (as next, afterwards) and expounds (as that is, to wit;) he ſhould have added adverſativa (as but, yet) and might alſo others.

As this Hebrew Conjunction is ſometimes rightly and properly rendered in thoſe different Manners, it ought likewiſe to be rendered elſewhere when it is alike proper, and ſuitable to the Context, and would make the Expreſſion more elegant: this is being uniform, which taking the Liberty one time that is refuſed at another is not; as in the frequent, wrong, unapt, obſcure and flat Uſe of [and] in the preſent Bible; thus in the firſt Chapter of Geneſis every Vau that is rendered ſingly is turned and, one ſo excepted Ver. 27. but why muſt the Freedom to vary from and be admitted there only? The Reader that underſtands Engliſh may compare it with this Verſion, and both with a good modern Compoſition, making Allowance that ſeveral Conjunctions, which if it was originally written in Engliſh would better be omitted, are now inſerted becauſe they are in the Hebrew. Again Ezek. Ch. xl. has no leſs than 34 Verſes beginning with And in the common Tranſlation, 11 of them ſucceſſively, notwithſtanding there are ſo many Ways of elegantly varying it. As 23 alſo out of 25 occur in 2 Kings ii. 17 together in Gen. xli. and 21 in Ch. xliii. But in Deut. xxxi. 17. the firſt of ſix Vaus, that ſucceſſively begin ſo many Members of the Sentence, is tranſlated then, and the laſt ſo that; yet why might not more likewiſe have been varied, or elſe not thoſe two? And the ten Vaus in Gen. xxiv. 35. with the firſt in

Ver. 37. I have reduced to five, yet begun that Verſe with one, which may be compared with the common; and Caſtalio has brought the ten to three ets, Junius and Tremellius uſe four other Conjunctions, the Samaritan and Vulgate have three omitted, and the Greek two. And ſince it muſt be allowed, that a Tranſlator ſhould conſider the various Meanings of a Word that has ſuch, in order to take that which is right and moſt agreeable to the Paſſage where it is; the ſame ought to be done with this Conjunction, and the more ſo, as its Signification is the more manifold, leſt it ſhould be rendered in a wrong Senſe.

Another Thing, wherein Liberty is to be taken in tranſlating the Hebrew Bible, requires a little Introduction. Language was anciently rude and unpoliſhed, and it was proper even for the inſpired Writings to be delivered in that of the Times: hence Nouns are frequently repeated in the Original, where they may much better be rendered by Pronouns, according to the Improvements of Grammar, and Manner of Speech now, eſpecially in this Part of the World, without any Diminution or Alteration of the Senſe at all. In ſuch a Caſe certainly our Language is to be like it ſelf, and not made uncouth to no Manner of Purpoſe; any more than we are to ſpeak like Children, or wear Skins like our firſt Parents.

Let us now come to the Matter, by comparing ſome Inſtances in this and the common Verſion: as he for Mordecai, Eſt. iv. 1. for the prieſt, Lev. xiv. 36. for Abraham, Gen. xxv. 6. as the Biſhops tranſlate, and elſewhere; for Moſes the ſervant of the LORD, Joſh. xii. 6. and both Tyndal and the Biſhops have but he for Jethro, Moſes father in law, Exod. xviii. 2. ſee alſo with them in Judg. xviii. &c. ſo him for Moſes, Num. xxix. 40. Exod. xl. 19, 21, 23, 25, 27, 29. for Abram, Gen. xvi. ult. and for Abraham, Ch. xxiv. 1. for Jabin king of Canaan twice, Judg. iv. 24. for this my Lord, Dan. x. 17. for his father, Gen. xliv. 22. where our Tranſlators add his father a 3d time; they for the princes of the Philiſtines, 1 Sam. xxix. 4. for the children of Iſrael, Judg. iii. 15. ſo the Biſhops; them for the Levites, Num. viii. 10. for the ſtreets thereof, Zech. viii. 5. for the veſſels of the houſe of God, 2 Chron. xxviii. 24. for the ſheep of Laban his mother's brother, Gen. xxix. 40. himſelf for Saul, 1 Sam. xviii. 12. for the LORD, Exod. xvi. 7. his for Moſes, Num. x. 29. Exod. xxxiv. 29, 35. s for ſeed, Gen. iii. 15. for rods, Exod. vii. 12. and for ways and thoughts, Iſa. lv. 9. where ſee the Note; it for the houſe of Eliaſhib, Neh. iii. 21. for the LORD'S houſe, 1 Chron. vii. 2. and the 3d time 2 Kings viii. 27. it ſelf for Moab, Iſa. xvi. 7. of it for thy nakedneſs, Ezek. xvi. 37. that for the tribe, Joſh. xxi. 5. and elſewhere as in modern Engliſh Authors; thoſe for the camels, Gen. xxiv. 10. for the houſes, Jer. xix. 13. theſe for Zebah and Zalmunna, Judg. viii. 12. who for the king, Dan. v. 13. which for the vineyard, Cant. viii. 11. who and him for Balak and Balaam, Num. xxiii. 27. where thoſe Names both occur for ſix Verſes together, ſee alſo Judg. xi. 6, 7, 8, 9, 10. one for light, Gen. i. 16. the other for his father in law, the damſel's father, Judg. xix. 9. being mentioned ſeparately in the two foregoing Verſes; the ſame for fine linen, Exod. xxxix. 28. ſame for fire that was on the hearth, Jer. xxxvi. 23. ſuch, Jon. iv. 10. the latter, &c. for the children of Iſrael, Num. viii. 19. there 5 times; is what for even their nakedneſs, Lev. xviii. 10. —ne for peace, Jer. vi. 14. mine for my Sorrow, Lam. i. 12. thine for thy herdmen, Gen. xiii. 8. But I have been regardful pretty much to do this when there is a Repetition of the ſame or Part of it, rather than when the Terms are changed, though in no different Meaning; except when repeated with a ſmall Alteration, as it for the nakedneſs of their (inſtead of his) father, Gen. ix. 23. he for the (inſtead of his) ſervant that was ſet over the reapers, Ruth. ii. 6. that for the days of the years of the (inſtead of my) life, Gen. xlvii. 9. thoſe for of the chapiters which were upon the top of the (without two) pillars, 1 Kings vii. 41. or by Contraction, he for Paſhur (inſtead of Paſhur the ſon of Immer the Prieſt) Jer. xx. 2. his for the—of the king of Babylon (inſtead of Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon) Ch. xxvii. 8. ſo its, 1 Sam. iv. 5. And muſt not the firſt of theſe needs be preferable, with unprejudiced Perſons who underſtand and value good Engliſh, and would have the Scripture ſuch? Of this Kind numerous Examples might be produced; nor is the common Tranſlation void of the ſame Way of rendering the Nouns; to wit, he for the LORD, 2 Sam. vii. 11. him for a male, Num. xxxi. 17. they for the Owners, Judg. ix. 51. them for their brethren, 1 Chron. viii. 32. either of them for each pillar, 1 Kings vii. 15. apiece for one pillar, Ibid. every for baſe, Ver. 38. thereof for of the fleſh, Lev. vii. 19. his own for the prieſt's, Ch. xiv. 15, 26. within for in the houſe, Gen. xxxix. 11. and in the Liturgy, ſuch as for a multitude that, Pſa. xlii. 5. them for the people, Pſa. lvi. 7. ſo the Septuagint, Gen. xxiv. 59. and in the vulgar Latin ſome; ſee alſo on Judg. xviii. 23. Now if it is right or beſt to tranſlate thus in ſome Places, muſt it not be ſo for the ſame or like Expreſſions in others? When one ſpeaks of him or her ſelf too in the 3d Perſon, I follow that, as preferring it to the 1ſt, as her for thine handmaid, 1 Sam. i. 11. Ruth iii. 9. and ſo in Exod. xxix. 18. as 2 Chr. vi. 19. 1 Sam. xxv. 31. Such Nouns as thoſe before with the Conjunction included are made Engliſh well with the Relative, namely, who for and the prieſt, Exod. v. 12. and the like often; whom for therefore—Zadok and Abiathar the prieſts, 2 Sam. xv. 35. which for now their cities, Joſh. ix. 17. and for and—it—it—it, Jer. xxxiv. 22.

There are alſo Paſſages where a Noun is repeated more than once in the Original, after the ancient Way of delivering it, which may be ſuitably rendered as in the following Inſtances: him and he for the King, Dan. ii. 2, 3. himſelf and he for the King, 2 King. xvi. 12. them and they for the Children of Iſrael, Num. viii. 19. not to ſay the latter five times in one Verſe; the ſame for the Levites, Neh. x. 38. who and that for Noah, Gen. vi. 9. But that and thoſe, one and ones, have a ſingular Gracefulneſs.

A Noun iterated with a Prepoſition may elegantly be turned into an Adverb: thus there for in Mizpah, Jer. xli. 10. thither for to Shechem, 1 King. xii. 1. and with a Conjunction, where for and at Hazeroth, Num. xi. 35. whither for and into the land of Canaan. Gen. xii. 5.

So the Auxiliaries or Signs of the Engliſh Verbs very elegantly ſupply the Place of a Verb repeated in the Original, or rather are the ſame in our Language: thus among others may be counted, do for dwell, Num. xiii. 29. does for caſteth out, Jer. vi. 7. did for purified, Neh. xii. 30. have for have found, 1 King. xxi. 20. were for were written, Exod. xxxii. 15. had been for was alienated, Ezek. xxiii. 18. would for returned, Jer. iii. 7. ſhall for ſhall live, Ezek. xviii. 13. ſhalt for ſhalt ſee, Num. xxiii. 13. will for will go, Gen. xxiv. 58. let for let hear, and for let forbear, Ezek. iii. 27. This is very ſcarce in the preſent Tranſlation, however there is do for go out, Exod. xxi. 7. did for prepared, Ezek. xlvi. 12. which is added 2 Sam. xx. 6. may for may go, Ch. xv. 20. and didſt for killedſt or didſt kill, Act vii. 28. ſo did for anſwered in the Biſhops Bible, Judg. viii. 8.

The ſame Verb is likewiſe found above twice in a Place, of which take theſe for Example: did for went aſtray, Ezek. xlviii. 11. will for ſhall eat, Jer. v. 17. nay the common Tranſlation has the Verb repeated when it is not ſo in Hebrew, viz. take, Ezek. xxix. 19. bear tidings, 2 Sam. xviii. 20. ſee alſo Eccleſ. ii. 12.

But the Repetition ſometimes or oftener takes in more than the Verb, and requires to be turned properly in the ſame Manner, the Auxiliary containing the whole Senſe and Force of it: ſo did for ſaw the Viſion, Dan. x. 7. ſhall for ſhall waſh his Cloaths, Lev. xiv. 47. will for will be enquired of by you, Ezek. xx. 31. or together with a Pronoun, as which—did for compaſſed the City ſeven times, Joſh. vi. 15. for and lay until the Morning, Ruth iii. 14. and the ſame for and turned aſide, and ſat down, Ruth iv. 1.

A repeated Verb may ſometimes be beſt rendered by that; which ſee in Jer. viii. 13, 25. Ezek. iii. 20. and more with it as before, Ezek. xii. 3. at other times when active by our Verb do, or do it or thus; as may be ſeen 2 King, v. 18. Ruth iii. 13. & iv. 6. Jer. xlii. 6. Exod. xxvi. 1. & xxvii. 8. and when paſſive or neuter by is, &c. e. g. Jer. xliii. 12. Ezek. i. 17. Joſh. iv. 7. otherwiſe by done, Exod. xxvi, 31. Dan. vi. 23. yet, Ezek. ii. 6. 1 King. iii, 11. that is, Neh. ix. 8. namely, Lev. vii. 30.

A Hebrew Pronoun, and eſpecially a Prepoſition, when repeated, may be rendered both, and put before the former; according as is done Jer. xxxii. 8. 1 King. vi. 5. Exod. ix. 10. for which both Homer and Virgil are admired, Prefat. Diſcourſe to Johnſton's Pſalms, p. 37, 38, 39. aſcribed to Benſon. Such Things are not wanting in the common Bible, as wept aloud for uttered his Voice with weeping, Gen. xlv. 2. old art thou, for many are the days of the years of thy life, Ch. xlvii. 8. pleaſed Hamor and for were good in the eyes of Hamor and in the eyes of, Ch. xxxiv. 18. and ſo 2 Sam. xvii. 4. but ſee it otherwiſe Gen. xix. 8. 1 Sam. xviii. 5. 2 Sam. iii. 19. exceedingly for with a great fear, Jon. i. 16. ſo for ſuch a matter as this, 1 Sam. ix. 21. home for to his houſe, Ib. xxiv. 22. greet for aſk of peace, Ib. xxv. 5. after him for at his feet, 2 Sam. xv. 16, 17, 18. ſing for give forth or utter the voice, Pſa. civ. 12. us for our ſight, 2 Sam. xx. 6. there for to the outer court, Ezek. xliv. 19.

Some Hebrew Words of the ſeveral Sorts may alſo be quite omitted in the tranſlating, without any Prejudice or Loſs to the Senſe; nay it is neceſſary they ſhould be ſo, becauſe the Expreſſions would elſe be flat, inſipid, or ſuperfluous to us; Examples of which may be the following, as rendered in our common Bible, bones, Jer. viii. 1. wickedneſs xliv. 9. thouſand, Num. xxxi. 32. the King, 2 Sam. xix. 4. Nethinims, Ezra viii. 20. barley, Hoſ. iii. 2. dwell, Num. xiii. 29 have received, Ch. xxxiv. 14. his, Exod. xxxvii. 16. their, Jer. ii. 26, your, Chap. xxvii. 9. thereof, Ezek. xliii. 11. being there nine times, Neh. iii. 3, 6. againſt, Jer. i. 18. from, Ch, xxi. 7. into, Ib. againſt it, Ezek. iv 2. unto the city, Joſh. xx. 6. in the cities, Jer. xxxii. 44. ſo the Biſhops omit border, Joſh. xv. 6, 8, 9, 10, 11.

That Inſtances of this Kind are not wanting in the common Tranſlations, though moſt diſtant of all from the Original, may appear by the Hebrew Words quoted in the Appendix (A), as left untranſlated. And while ſuch Liberty is allowed there, what I have taken may well be admitted. Now to paſs by what Caſtalio frequently does, I find the learned Mercer writing on Joel ii. 19. Latine Dominus omitti poſſet, quia repetitione gaudent Hebræi; Lord may be left out in Latin, becauſe the Hebrews like Repetition: where we may obſerve the Difference of Languages, it being more aptly than either of thoſe Ways, expreſſed in Engliſh by he; ſo the Septuagint do not repeat the Lord, Iſa. lxi. 1. as in Luke iv. 18. even when it is neceſſary to diſtinguiſh it from Spirit, and garment is left out of the common Tranſlation, Luke v. 36.

Words repeated have indeed in ſome Caſes a Beauty in our modern Language, but moſtly in Poetry; and ſometimes from the ancient Hebrew, when they ought by all means to be preſerved, as the Lord in Pſa. xxix.

To conclude this, as the Verb-ſubſtantive is very frequently left out of the Hebrew where it requires to be ſupplied in Engliſh, &c. for which ſee the Note on Gen. i. 4. ſo on the contrary it came to paſs or was ſo that is wholly redundant and unneceſſary in our Tranſlation, being merely idiomatical in the Original, and not ſo to us: the Hebrew is as an Auxiliary to the other Verb, and therefore properly denoted by one of ours, or the Termination —ed, &c. as by was in the common Tranſlation, Neh. iv. 1. without the other, and —ed 2 Sam. ii. 1. and to make it up in their Way, our Tranſlators ſeveral times ſupply that, as Exod. xii. 51. 2 Chr. xx. 1. but I have taken care not to go too far in this Way of thinking, which would be going out of the Way, and by refining too much, I ſhould enervate that Strength in the Original, which the Tranſlation ſhould ſhew; I inſtance in keeping behold and roſe up.

And when the Original Language is exalted to ſome peculiar Sublimity, what a ſad Depreſſion would it be to tranſlate by the mere Meaning, inſtead of the Expreſſion! for which however the following may not be unuſeful: thus I am innocent, for I waſh my Hands in Innocency, Pſa. xxvi. 6. ſo lxxiii. 13. to render Pro. vii. 4. Be wiſe, and knowing; as alſo ſubſtitute thou ſpeakeſt graciouſly, for Grace is poured into thy Lips, Pſa. xlv. 2. He applies his Mind to what does hurt inſtead of good, for He feeds on Aſhes, Iſa. xliv. 20. and Is not my principal Truſt a Deception? for Is there not Falſehood in my right Hand? Ib. Thy Speech is ſweet and innocent, and ſweetly uttered, in Cant. iv. 11. Do not a few Men of Ephraim exceed all thoſe of Abiezer? Judg. viii. 2. If you had not made enquiry by my young Wife, Ch. xiv. 18. he continues to reign by being kind, for he ſupports his Throne by Kindneſs, Pro. xx. 28. He was going to ſmite with the Peſtilence, for the Peſtilence went before him, Hab. iii. 5. He will come to bring Righteouſneſs, and that will direct his Way, Pſa. lxxxv. ult. For they will adorn thee finely, Pro. i. 9. I will receive the means of Salvation, in Pſa. cxvi. 13. there ſhall not the leaſt Harm be done to thy Son, for there ſhall not a Hair of thy Son fall to the Earth, 2 Sam. xiv. 11. 1 King. i. 51. and differently in Acts xxvii. 34. I was altogether righteous in my Conduct, and reputable for acting well, Job xxix. 14. I was very helpful to the Needy, who were diſabled, Ver. 15. fierce young Men, for young Lions, Ezek. xxxviii. 13. I deprived the Oppreſſor of Power, and made him reſtore what he had wrongfully taken, Job xxix. 17. I ſhall not be removed till I die, and the Days of my Life will be innumerable, Ver. 18. My Vigour was as though freſh, and my Strength as if it was renewed, Ver. 20. nor did they alter my pleaſant Look, Ver. 24. When I went on in Plenty, and Nature furniſhed me with Profuſion of Delight, Ver. 6. When his Providence made me proſperous, and he directed me in what I did not know, Ver. 3. His Talk abounds with Curſing and Cheating, and he has either Diſturbance or Vanity ready concealed to utter, Pſa. x. 7. penetrate to the yet inviſible (for which how beautiful, and much ſtronger, is the ſimple Word behold the) Habitation of Stones, Job viii. 17. Suffer me not to ſpeak any Thing at all amiſs, Pſa. cxli. 3. look ſtedfaſtly, hear attentively, Ezek. xl. 4. Speak not of what is ſacred to profane Perſons, which they will probably return with Spite; nor deliver your divine Experiences to baſe Worldlings, who you may expect will deſpiſe them, Mat. vii. 6. You are to ſeaſon Mankind with Virtue; but if you are not innately qualified for it, what Perſon can qualify you? Ye will then be fit for Nothing, but to be laid aſide, and puniſhed as you deſerve, Ch. v. 13. You are to enlighten the human Species, with as publick unconcealed an Appearance, as that of a City on a Hill, Ver. 14. and wiſe Men ſeek to bear Knowledge, Pro. xviii. 15. he whoſe Ear heard bleſſed me, and whoſe Eye ſaw teſtified for me, Job xxix. 11. they are ſo averſe from Inſtruction, that they cannot hearken to it, Jer. vi. 10. which makes the People of the whole Earth joyful, for the Joy of the whole Earth, Pſa. xlviii. 2. he goes on triumphantly in Diſtreſs, for Sorrow triumphs before him, Job xli. 22. The Inſtruments of Death will be prepared for my Shepherd——and kill him, Zech. xiii. 7. Any Beaſt——may come, Iſa. lvi. 9. Let the Wind riſe, one while from the North, another while from the South, and blow on my Garden, Cant. iv. 16. Hear what is ſaid, you that are fed like the Heifers of Baſhan, on the Mountain of Samaria, Am. iv. 1. A wiſe Woman promotes her Family, but a fooliſh one debaſes it her ſelf, Pro. xiv. 1. advance the Power of him whom he cauſes to reign, for lift up the Horn of his anointed one, 1 Sam. ii. 10. By Exerciſe ſhe is ſtrong in Body, and ſtrengthens her Arms by working with them, Prov. xxxi. 17. they will be ſlain as by a Lion from the Wood, be waſted as by an evening Wolf, their Cities will be watched over as by a Leopard, ſo that every one who goes out of them will be torn in pieces, Jer. v. 6. Be ſpiritually circumciſed, by taking away the Superfluity of your Minds, Ch. iv. 4. Thou dwelleſt ſurrounded with deceitful Perſons, Ch. ix. 6. Her Gates ſhall be in a ruinous and lamentable Condition, Iſa. iii. 26. They ſhall be carried away as if by the Wind in Wings, Hoſ. iv. 19. Speak and act with Truth, though thou ſhouldeſt loſe by it; and not otherwiſe, if thou mayeſt gain by that, Prov. xxiii. 23. Judgment is made wrong, and no Righteouſneſs here: for Truth is publickly perverted, and there can be no Uprightneſs within, Iſa. lix. 14. If thou couldeſt lament, O Fir-tree, there is Occaſion for it, becauſe &c. Zech. xi. 2. The Calamity they bring is ſo great, as if it affected not only the Earth, but the Heaven, and heavenly Bodies, Joel ii. 10. Fire ſhall come into thee, O Lebanon, to conſume thy Cedars, Zech. xi. 1. The Lord enlightens and ſaves me, Pſa. xxvii. 1. let there be abundance of right Judgment like the rolling Waters, and of Righteouſneſs as a great Flood, Am. v. 24. Begin cloſely to reſtrain the Licentiouſneſs of the Will; ſince to begin and continue to be licentious, which many do, brings to Deſtruction, Mat. vii. 13. Stand faſt therefore defended in Truth and Righteouſneſs, Eph. vi. 14, &c. refrain from whatever thou art divinely conſcious thou ſinneſt in, how delightful or gainful ſoever it may be otherwiſe to thee; ſince it will be better for thee to loſe that Pleaſure or Profit, than to ſuffer in Hell for it, Mat. v. 29, 30. Do not check the Dictates of the Holy Spirit, 1 Theſ. v. 19. though thoſe who hated him were very miſchievous to him, yet he himſelf, and the Means he uſed, remained ſtrong, Gen. xlix. 24. The Air above thee ſhall neither be moiſtened, nor the Earth under be ſoftened, with Rain, Deut. xxviii. 23. Let the Power of the Lord be throughly rouſed up, and become very ſtrong, be rouſed up as in former Ages of old Time: was it not that which &c. Iſa. li. 9. Art thou envious, for Is thy Eye wicked, Mat. xx. 15. they will tremble all over, Ezek. xxvi. 16. He will deliver thee often, and continue to preſerve thee afterwards, Job v. 19.

The Hebrew uſing Speeches direct in the ſecond Perſon very often, ſome ſmall ones found harſhly ſo to us, and may be made oblique in the third Perſon with Advantage, and without the leaſt Injury, as it would have been had our Language been the Original; ſee Gen. xxxix. 19. 1 King. xii. 12. Ezr. xiii. 11. others have an Obliquity, as Exod. xii. 3. & xiv. 2. 2 Sam. i. 4. Joſh. i. 13, 14, 15. Luke v. 14. & vii. 4, 5. and partly when one tells another to ſpeak as he would himſelf, for Inſtance in Exod. xvi. 12. & vii. 17. 2 King. viii. 8. ſee Caſt. Pref. Annot. and in Mat. xxvi.

The foregoing are ſome of the moſt frequent general Ways I have made uſe of, to keep near the Hebrew, and not ſpoil the Engliſh, being the beſt Method I could find for literal Tranſlation; which the Value and Style of the holy Scripture will always claim and require, notwithſtanding the Pretences and Cavils of ſome. The moſt literal Tranſlation of the Scriptures, in the moſt natural Signification of the Words, ſays one of our greateſt Criticks, is generally the beſt; and the ſame Punctualneſs which debaſeth other Writings, preſerveth the Spirit and Majeſty of the ſacred Text, Felton's Diſſertation on Reading the Claſſics, 4th Edit. p. 97. Cogitamus in ſcriptura ſacra non pro arbitrio ludendum, ut in aliis prophanis libris. Cogitamus nec iota unum aut apicem unum fruſtra in ea poſitum: Let us not think on the holy Scripture at Pleaſure, as on other profane Books; but that neither one Jot or Tittle is put in it in vain, ſays Munſt. Præf. in Vetus Teſt. And ſo Twells, An Engliſh Verſion of the New Teſtament or Bible is ſtill ſuppoſed to be literal; and the Nature of that Book requires it to be always ſuch. For it is our Rule of Faith and Practice, and therefore ſhould be rendered as near the Original, as the Idiom of our Language will permit—The Text ſhould conſiſt of no Renditions, but Grammatical ones. For parallel Places in Scripture oft give Light to each other: which great Help to the Underſtanding of thoſe lively Oracles, is greatly impaired by lax Verſion. Beſides Diſputes in Religion, of Concern to every honeſt Mind, do ſometimes turn on the Scripture Modes of Expreſſion, which are loſt in a Paraphraſe, Examin. of the New Teſtament and Verſion, Part i. Ch. 3. Every Departure from the Letter of the Original, may prove an Injury to the unlearned Reader——The grammatical rendring of the Text ſhould be unalterably preſerved, Ch. v. Sect. 1. (where ſee more) nay Gell ſays, as much as is poſſible, κατὰ πόδας, even word for word, Pref. to Eſſay towards Amendment of the laſt Engliſh Tranſlation. And the Vulgate Tranſlator taking a little Liberty, Mills ſays, he acts the Commentator, forgetting his own Buſineſs, Prol. to Various Readings, N. 579. And how ſuitable this is to the Engliſh Tongue in particular, Addiſon, who is juſtly eſteemed the beſt Writer of our Language, tells us in theſe Words; It happens very luckily, that the Hebrew Idioms run into the Engliſh Tongue with a particular Grace and Beauty. Our Language has received innumerable Elegancies and Improvements, from that Infuſion of Hebraiſms, which are derived to it out of the Poetical Paſſages in Holy Writ. They give a Force and Energy to our Expreſſions, warm and animate our Language, and convey our Thoughts in more ardent and intenſe Phraſes, than any that are to be met with in our own Tongue——how kindly the Hebrew Manners of Speech mix and incorporate with the Engliſh Language, Spectator of June 14, 1712. And before him our noble Tranſlator and Martyr William Tyndal; The Properties of the Hebrew Tongue agreeth a thouſand times more with the Engliſh than with the Latin. The Manner of ſpeaking is both one; ſo that in a thouſand Places thou needeſt not but to tranſlate it into Engliſh Word for Word, when thou muſt ſeek a Compaſs in the Latin, &c. Preface to The Obedience of a Chriſtian Man.

The true Senſe of the Scripture, however widely expreſſed, muſt come from the literal Meaning and Conſtruction of the original Words, and a Tranſlator muſt conſider it literally himſelf to underſtand it; as Scultetus brings Melanthon ſaying, Scriptura non poteſt intelligi theologicè, niſi prius intelligatur grammaticè: The Scripture cannot be underſtood theologically, unleſs it be firſt underſtood grammatically, Obſer. in Matthew and Mark, Cap. 74. ſo that by expreſſing it literally, a Tranſlator obliges his Readers with the ſame Favour and Satisfaction of underſtanding for themſelves; and lets them hear the Evidence of the Witneſſes, as well as the Judge's Sentence. And our preſent Tranſlation is better than the former ones, as being more literal.

By literal Tranſlation however, it would be ridiculous to underſtand that every Word is always to be rendered in the ſame principal Signification; for many Words in all Languages have doubtleſs more than one Meaning: and abſurd as the Verſion of Montanus is by this means (however well intended and uſeful, and he diſliked by the Papiſts for it) he himſelf does not always tranſlate thus, and ſometimes makes ſad Nonſenſe by doing it; for example, אף ſignifies both the Noſe and Anger, and Montanus uſually renders this by the former; whence ſubvertit in naſo ſuo, overthrew in his Noſe, Deut. xxix. 23. calcabo eos in naſo meo, I will tread them in my Noſe, Iſa. lxiii. 3. and plur. longus naribus quieſcere faciet litem, he that has long Noſtrils will make Strife quiet, Prov. xv. 18. Akin to this, but not altogether ſo abſurd, is the Propoſal of Mills in his Prolegomena, Num. 515. to put Eating in the Text of a Tranſlation, Mat. vi. 19. that being the ſtrict Meaning of the original Word, and Ruſt in the Margin.

Nor in tranſlating literally, are the Words to be put continually in the ſame Order as in the Original; the too often doing of which flattens or obſcures divers Tranſlations, as it ſometimes ſpoils the Senſe. And if it muſt not be done always for ſuch Reaſons, why at any Time when the ſame Reaſons ſubſiſt? The Subſtantive is always put before the Adjective in Heb. ſays Buxtorf, Theſ. Lib. 2. Cap. 1. which is contrary to the Manner of our Engliſh Tongue, and would commonly ſpoil it; and the like in other Words and Expreſſions. Here let me mention one Obſervation, which with ſeveral others I preſume will be new to the Learned themſelves, that the Hebrew not ſeldom has an Object or Accuſative belonging to two Verbs put between them, when we ſhould place it after them, and thus avoid ſo many uſeleſs Italick Pronouns in our Tranſlation, as in 1 Kings xv. 13. Pſa. cvii. 20. and with 3 Verbs 2 Chr. xv. 16. In like Manner one Hebrew Word may be literally rendered by 2 or 3 Engliſh ones, as the Verbs muſt often; and ſo may, ſometimes muſt too, the contrary be done. 'To tranſlate preciſely out of the Hebrew, writes Fulke, 'is not to obſerve the number of wordes, but the perfect ſenſe and meaning of them, in 'fewer or more wordes, as the phraſe of our tongue will ſerve to be underſtood,' Defenſe of the Eng. Tranſ. Ch. xi. 4. Thus in the common Tranſlation one Hebrew Word is rendered by five Engliſh ones, and full ears of corn, 2 Kings iv. 42. nay one Letter, that ye ſhall not have, Mic. iii. 6. two Words by ten, He that is ſo impoveriſhed, that he hath no oblation, Iſa. xl. 20. as alſo one by ſix, 1 Kings xx. 42. by ſeven, Lev. xiv. 4. nay one by ſeven, five by nineteen, and ſeven by twenty four, 1 Kings xv. 5. one by eight, Lev. xvi. 29. Pſa. xc. 5. by ten, which thou ſhalt have, after thou haſt loſt the other, Iſa. xlix. 20. and by ten or eleven, Exod. xl. 4. as is the 1ſt Hebrew Word by ſix, the 2d by eight, and the 3d by ſeven, in Ezek. xxxix. 2. and one Greek Word by ſeven, Luke x. 31. by nine, Heb. iii. 5. The other is with leſs Latitude, as the Hebrew Tongue is more conciſe than ours.

by

One may remark that the Engliſh Papiſts and Puritans ran into the ſame Extreme, of conſtruing like Boys at School, inſtead of tranſlating like learned Men for the Uſe of the Religious, and to excite Devotion by manly proper Expreſſions; ſee the Doway and Rheniſh Bible, Ainſworth, &c.

To proceed, I have, but it is rarely, uſed the Liberty, if not rather Neceſſity, of turning a Pronoun, when too obſcure or improper in Engliſh, into a Noun; ſo is of Egypt for her, Ezek. xxxii. 31. the Hairs for them, Chap. v. 1. the People for them, 1 Sam. vi. 4. as in the common Tranſlation there is the ſame, Ver. 6. and David for him, Chap. xx. 18. Altar for it, Exod. xxxviii. 7. Jacob's for his, Gen. xlv. 26. where it is needleſs, as is the child for him, 2 Kings iv. 34. the city for it, Chap. vii. 13. man for him, Job xxxiv. 14. their country for it or it ſelf, 2 Kings iii. 24. the ſame for it, Pſa. cxiii. 3. his commandments (but in Ital.) for them, Pſa. cxi. 10. ſo from the Gr. the epiſtle for an Article, Col. iv. 16. Peter for he, John xiii. 6. this woman for ſhe, Luke vii. 45, 46. as 44. his life for it, Chap. xvii. 33. our company for us, Chap. xxiv. 22. the ſame matter for it, Mark x. 10. the words for thoſe, 1 Tim. vi. 3. the life which for what, Gal. ii. 20. God for he, Acts x. 36. the houſe for it, Heb. iii. 3. Jeſus for he, Mat. ix. 10. ſee Luke vii. 37. Mark i. 45. and devil is tranſpoſed for him, Mat. xvii. 18. ſee alſo 2 Sam. iii. 7. Gal. iv. 15.

The Liberty of turning Words quite beſide their Meaning, I have ſtriven to ſhun; as in the common Tranſlation, here for finiſhed, 1 Sam. xvi. 11. ſay thee nay for turn back thy face, 2 Kings xvii. 20. there for laid, John xxi. 9. as alſo endeavoured to keep a proper Diſtinction between different Words and Expreſſions; rendering יהוה אלהים the Lord God, and ארני יהוה the Sovereign Lord, both which our Tranſlators turned only by the former, beſides putting Lord of one in capital Letters, which is the ſame in reading, and but a Trifle of Difference in writing: the Advantage here too is, that יהוה is in both tranſlated the Lord, by them in the latter God. So I generally preſerved it in ſingle Words, eſpecially when they come near together: as הר a Mountain, גבעה a Hill; הוד Majeſty or Dignity, הדר Honour; נפץ diſperſe, זרה ſcatter; אסף gather, קבץ bring or get together; קרב be near, נגש be nigh; גול rejoice, שמח be glad; ההל praiſe, ידה give thanks; פלט deliver, נצל reſcue, מלט ſet free; with divers more, except that I uſe other ſynonymous Words, by reaſon of the Context, or for the Benefit of a better Sound in particular Places.

Thus likewiſe in parallel Paſſages I have particularly endeavoured to exhibit the nice Varieties of the Original, as near as our Language would well admit of, which I found the common Tranſlation much defective in. This Broughton recommends, and I ſhould think every unprejudiced Reader might be pleaſed with, to compare them together, as both delightful and uſeful. However I did not aim at this in every ſhort Expreſſion, nor could be aware of all; and in plain hiſtorical ones, eſpecially the introductory which are ſo frequent, ſuch as And the Lord ſpoke to Moſes, ſaying, where there can be no Danger in miſſing the Senſe, I ſuppoſe Variety will ſound better to Engliſh Ears, and make as I imagine an agreeable Contraſt.

On the other hand, I have aimed at tranſlating a Word pretty uniformly, at leaſt in Senſe, when it appears to have the ſame, as Beza ſays in his Preface, and on Mat. i. 16. he endeavoured to do; and not as in the common Bible, where, for inſtance, the ſame Word is turned tongs Iſa. xliv. 12. and ax Jer. x. 3. ſo pots Pſa. lxviii. 13. and hooks Ezek. xl. 43. oſtrich Job xxxix. 13. and ſtork elſewhere; nativity Ezek. xxi. 30. and habitation Ch. xxix. 14. both wrong; dromedaries 1 King. iv. 28. mules Eſt. viii. 10. and ſwift beaſt Mic. i. 13. images Gen. xxxi. teraphim Judg. xviii. and Idols Zech. x. 2. target 1 Sam. xvii. 6. ſhield Job xxxix. 23. ſpear Ch. xli. 29. and lance Jer. l. 42. be found liars Deut. xxxiii. and ſubmit themſelves Pſa. lxvi. 3.

the gathering Gen. xlix. 10. and to obey Pro. xxx. 17. wrath Job v. 2. and grief Ch. vi. 2. fooliſh Pſa. lxxiv. 18. and vile Iſa. xxxii. 5. wither Iſa. xix. 6. and hewn down Ch. xxxiii. 9. the like Ezek. xviii. 10. and his brother Ver. 18. curſe Iſa. xliii. 28. and utter deſtruction Zech. xiv. 11. beam Judg. xvi. 14. and ſhuttle Job vii. 6. help Pſa. xlii. 5. and health Ver. 11. mourning Jer. xvi. 5. and banquet Am. vi. 7. valley Num. xxi. 12. and brook Deut. ii. 13. ſum Eſt. iv. 7. and declaration Ch. x. 2. go Iſa. ii. 3. and come Mic. iv. 2. correction Zeph. iii. 2. and inſtruction Ver 7. nay thus variouſly, enterprize Job v. 12. wiſdom Ch. vi. 13. & xii. 16. Pro. xviii. 1. Mic. vi. 9. ſound wiſdom Pro, ii. 7. & iii. 21. & viii. 14. that which is Job xi. 6. the thing as it is Ch. xxvi. 3. ſubſtance Ch. xxx. 22. and working Iſa. xxviii. 29. which are all the Places where the Hebrew Word is; and to conclude this, far Judg. ix. 17. far off Num. ii. 2. afar off 2 King. iv. 25. far out of ſight Pſa. x 5. aloof from Pſa. xxxviii. 11. from Cant. vi. 5. Jer. xvi. 17. Am. ix. 3. from before Pſa. xxxi. 22. from the preſence Pro. xiv. 7. out of Jon. ii. 4. on the other ſide 2 King. iii. 22. Obad. 11. againſt Judg. xx. 34. 2 Sam. xviii. 13. over againſt Gen. xxi. 16. Neh. iii. 19, 25, 27, before Deut. xxxii. 52. & xxviii. 66. 1 Sam. xxvi. 20. and to view 2 King. xxvii. 15. which I turn at a diſtance or diſtant (from;) ſee Grot. on Jer. lii. 18. and Fuller, Miſc. Sacr. L. iii. 19.

So in Names, the ſame is put in our laſt Engliſh Tranſlation Grecia Dan. x. 20. Greece Zech. ix. 13. and Javan Ezek. xxvii. 13. Ararat Gen. viii. 4 and Armenia Iſa. xxxvii. 38. Phut. Ezek. xxvii. 10. Put. Nah. iii. 9. Libya Ezek. iii. 5. and the Libyans Jer. xlvi. 9. Meſopotamia Gen. xxiv. 10. and Aram Naharaim Pſa. lx. tit. Aram Num. xxiii. 7. Syria Iſa. vii. 1. and the Aſſyrians Am. ix. 7. Azzah Deut. ii. 23. Jer. xxv. 20. and Gaza commonly; Kirjath-Arba Joſh. xiv. 15. and the City of Arba Gen. xxxv. 27. Lud. Ezek. xxvii. 10. and Lydia Ch. xxx. 5. Reuel Exod. ii. 18. and Raguel Num. x. 29. Enoch Gen. v. 22. Hanoch Ch. xxv. 4. and Henoch 1 Chr. i. 33. with many more.

But I have obſerved that ſeveral Words in ſome particular Place muſt have peculiar Engliſh, yet not out of the Compaſs of their proper Meaning (for that is to be taken care of) as רשע not wicked, Exod. ii. 13. eſpecially a Verb when it has two different Objects together, ſo פקד not viſited, Exod. iii. 16.

Not ſingle Words alone, but Idioms eſpecially claim a Reſemblance of the Uniformity they have in the Original under proper Expreſſion in our Language; for the Words of Idioms are as neceſſarily combined as the Letters compoſing a Word. Thus I render הטוב בעניו the Good in his Eyes, what he liked or pleaſed, with ישר approved of or thought fit, and with רע diſliked or was diſpleaſed (with) and ſo in other Turns of that frequent or general Phraſe; ſee at Gen. xix. 8. 2 King. xxi. 15. Lev. x. 19, 20. but for wiſe and righteous in his own Eyes, I prefer to think himſelf ſo, as we uſually ſpeak, Pro. iii. 7. Job xxxii. 1. the Gr. alſo uſing ſelves, Rom. xi. 25. & xii. 16. and in other Reſpects of this Kind, the Senſe has led me to put Regard, which Sight denotes, in the room of eyes, as may be ſeen Exod. xi. 3. 1 Sam. xv. 17. or appear, as in Deut. xxv. 3. but with the com. Tranſ. think for in the eyes, 2 Sam. x. 3. & xiii. 2.

מצא חן בעיני got or was in Favour with, or in his Favour, &c. as we ſay, remarkably near to the Heb. not found grace in the eyes of, Gen. vi. 8. & xxxiv. 11. 1 Sam. xx. 3. or ſomething better —— favour in the ſight of, Gen. xviii. 3. Eſt. v. 8. in other Places croſs-wiſe, favour in the eyes, Gen. xxx. 27. grace in the ſight, Gen. xxxii. 5. ſo the Gr. has favour with Luk. i. 30. and in favour with, Ch. ii. 52. nay the com. Tranſ. was in favour with, 1 Sam. ii. 26. which is modern Expreſſion, but wrong there; ſee the Negative Num. xi. 11.

אפו חרה he was incenſed or angry, either of which does well expreſs the Heb. but who ſays or writes now, his anger was kindled, or he was wroth, or his wrath waxed hot? as in the common Tranſlation.

שמע אל קולו hearkened to what he ſaid or ſpoke, where now hearkened to or obeyed his voice; according as the Hebrews ſaid Heart for Mind, Hand for Power or Cuſtody, &c. but hearkened to his Words, &c. I let remain, as Jer. xxxv. 13, 14.

ישא קולו ויבך or יקים burſt out a or into crying, as fell a crying ſeems too effeminate, and I know not what elſe is better, for lift up his voice and wept; and with בקול גדול aloud, Heb. with a great Voice.

חַי יְהוָה by the Lord's living, as חֵי פַּרְעֹה by Pharaoh's living, Gen. xlii. 15, 16. where look, and at 1 Sam. xiv. 44.

מי יתן Oh that or (I) wiſh, Heb. Who will give? as in the com. Tranſ. Job vi. 8. 2 Sam. xv. 4. but otherwiſe there Num. xi. 4, 29. Exod. xvi. 3.

ענה ואמר made anſwer or reply, for anſwered and ſaid, but commonly in the future Tenſe יען ויאמר with the converſive ו as Gen. xviii. 27. with לי &c. to me, and made me anſwer without ל as 1 Sam. xxiii. 4.

I would not however have it thought, that I take theſe Expreſſions in my Tranſlation to be modiſh: I would not have them ſo; it will more become the Dignity of the ſacred Scripture to have an Air of Antiquity, though not a ridiculous one. For ſhould I turn Mother into Madam? as Bellamy does in tranſlating Caſtalio's Sacred Dialogues, making Jacob ſay ſo to his, Dial. 8. and Man into Sir? as the Angel to Gideon, Dial. 27. and elſewhere added in, with Dread Sirs, Dial. 24. but it is unfaſhionable to be exact and particular in Quotation.

The Hebrew Genitive beſides [of and 's] is to be expreſſed by againſt 2 Chron. xxviii. 13. Dan. xi. 32. among 1 Chron. xxvii. 6. (Pſa. xlv. 12.) at 2 Sam. xix. 28. Iſa. xxvi. 11. belonging to 1 Chr. xii. 23. (& xxvi. 32.) by 1 Sam. xx. 25. Iſa. i. 7. concerning 2 Sam. iii. 8. (& xi. 18.) for Gen. xxii. 3. Deut. xxxiv. 8. from Iſa. xxxii. 2. Jer. xxxi. 2. in Lev. xiii. 59. 1 Chr. xxv. 7. in reſpect of, not remarked where; on Job xxiv. 15. that has, &c. 1 Sam. xxiii. 7. Pſa. xciv. 1. to Gen. xvi. 7. Deut. xvii. 1. towards Lev. xiii. 41. (2 King. xxv. 4.) with Cant. ii. 5. Pſa. cv. 32. and is too in the com. Tranſ. after Lev. xxiii. 11, 15. & xxv. 29. over Num. iii. 32. 2 King. xi. 9. to whom belongeth Pſa. xciv. 1. that being Pro. xxix. 1. that receiveth Pro. xxix. 4. as alſo from the Greek, between 1 Tim. ii. 5. toward 1 Pet. ii. 19. under Act. viii. 27. none of which ſhould be Italick. And in like Manner the Ablative has the Signs with, by, through, in, or at: but thoſe of the Dative may rather be counted to belong to the Verbs, and the Hebrew Ablative Caſe is commonly with a Prepoſition, the Nominative and Accuſative with or without Articles for the, a or an.

And as ancient Language is leſs profuſe and expreſſive than the modern, ſome Words in this, which are not in that, are needful to be inſerted, as it may be called, rather than ſupplied, and would therefore be improperly marked for additional, in particular the following: Man, Woman, or Perſon, or one, and Thing or Matter, with their Plurals; ſee Jer. viii. 4. Job. xxiv. 1. which may prevent taking Verbs imperſonally, when they differ with the Subject in Number, as not well; to which add People indefinitely, and ſometimes the People; ſelf with my, thy, him and her, as alſo plurally; own, as Hoſ. xiii. 2. 1 Sam. xviii. 1. one of Neh. vi. 2. each Pſa. lxxxiv. 7. that of Lev. xxvii. 16. thoſe of 1 Sam. vi. 13, & xiv. 25. Jer. xxvi. 2. him who has Lev. xiii. 4, &c. and the like; Place Judg. xviii. 3. & xvii. 8. 2 Chr. i. 4. Pſa. lxxviii. 69. Part Num. xv. 6. Pſa. cxxxix. 15, 16. —ing Joſh. xi. 18. Pſa. lxxxviii. 10. Pro. xxiii. 35. ſome, as the plural of [a] or [one,] Job xxiv. 2. Neh. i. 14. 1 Chr. xix. 5. and alſo before [of;] Something for a Thing Job xxxv. 8. why Pſa. xi. 4. with (not abl.) Pſa. ix. 6. to which Generation might be added, being included in the Heb. Numerals.

Nay though a Tranſlation may be made with little or no Supplement beſides Particles, according to what may be ſeen at 2 Sam. v. 8. & iii. 7. yet ſome are uſeful for the ſake of Perſpicuity, and being diſtinguiſhed (as even other ſmall Words, and, but, as for, it, &c. are in this Verſion) may be ſafely admitted; look to Joſh. vi. 26.

Theſe Particulars may be ſufficient to have been mentioned here, as more will occur among the Notes, where concerning ſome peculiar Elegancies look at Gen. xli. 10. Hag. ii. 16. Pſa. xlii. 4. Neh. ix. 32.

As to the Notes themſelves, it may not be amiſs to premiſe, that ſome were made with, ſome after the Tranſlation; by reaſon of which I refer from one to another either forward or backward, and with Advantage alſo; as Chambers to Words in his Dictionary, &c.

COROL-

COROLLARY.

When a TRANSLATION is well made, yet ſome Explanation and Defence of it may be neceſſary.

AS there is an eſtabliſhed and received Engliſh Verſion of the Scripture, whoever makes another, ſeems under ſome Neceſſity to give his Reaſons for the principal Alterations at leaſt, to ſatisfy the Publick, as they did himſelf; which alſo juſtifies, if not requires, my comparing the Pſalms with thoſe of the Liturgy ſtill in uſe. And where the Senſe lies hid in the bare Text, ſome Explanation is neceſſary; and better than Addition to the Scripture, which as inſpired ſhould not be altered. Beſides theſe, a little uſeful Illuſtration may well be allowed. I may add, that a correct Scripture Chronology was not only wanting, but eſpecially to ſuit with this Tranſlation. The Remarks indeed might have been fewer, if made only for them that are ſkilled in the Original; but is not the Tranſlation it ſelf for others? So that the Learned may candidly conſider they are the leaſt Part, and ſhould not grudge what may be of ſome Uſe to the greater; ſuch as ſaying, it is ſo or not ſo in the Original; leſt the unknowing Reader might think it was but a Liberty taken, or Miſtake made, and prefer the Authority of the preſent Bible, with ſeveral Things which many would either not know, or obſerve, without being told; to which add the tranſlating Quotations from Lat. &c. Which Things being ſo obvious, I would ſay but little for making thoſe moſtly ſmall Notes, and leave them to ſpeak for their own Truth and Value when made; only nothing further, with Walter Croſs, in his Taghmical Art, or Art of expounding Scripture by the Points, p. 103. that I have abſtained from Paraphraſe on many other Texts, from the Eaſineſs I ſuppoſe in them, being once rightly tranſlated; as alſo with Patrick on Eccleſ. iv, my Buſineſs is to give a brief Account of the literal Senſe (I ſay when difficult,) on which I leave others to make Applications and Allegories, when there is a right Foundation laid, as this may be enough for me; nay how eaſy and childiſh myſtical Interpretations are to the literal, the ſame eſteemed Author ſhews in his Preface to the Pſalms: and let me add that if the Notes here made, by reaſon of their Brevity, require and excite ſome Attention, it may be both more ſuitable to the Matter, and more ſerviceable to the Reader.

To conclude, a judicious Perſon who obſerves how exact I have been in the Quotations, may be inclined to think me no great Plagiary; and by attending to the Manner of Expreſſion, may candidly allow me at leaſt to have thought for my ſelf. When I have found others in my own Sentiments, let the Reader ſee how I make the neceſſary Uſe as well of their Authority, as Reaſons, to confirm my Opinion; not deterred by the Reflection that may be made, of taking mine thence. So had I known that Hervey in Ther. and Aſp. Dial. 12. in Not. propoſes Every Male, 1 King. xiv. 10. I might readily have cited it at 1 Sam. xxv. 22. but knew Nothing of it till ſome Time after theſe Parts were printed off; and I muſt now be ſo partial to my own, as not to think Male undiſtinguiſhed without grown preferable, much leſs with every, which the Hebrew has not there. But it may be ſeen there how, though unknown to each other, we have concurred in Judgment to amend the preſent Tranſlation at Gen. viii. 21. & xxii. 1. Deut. xxxiii. 13. 1 Sam. xx. 30. Pſa. xxix. 9. & cxxxiii. 2. & cxxxix. 4. Iſa. xl. 22. which I inſtance as they occur to my Memory.

NOTES

PREMONITION.

A judicious Perſon who is acquainted with Printing, on knowing the Difficulties and Inconveniences which attended the Publication of this Work, and that the Author was all the Time at a Diſtance from the Preſs, might rather wonder there are no more Errors of all the following Kinds, than that he is preſented with ſuch a Liſt

To be amended, or augmented.

On V. 7. N. 3.	Chap. iv.	Ver.
On vii. 6. C. 1. L. 16.	add after be his;	nay if they were made later (and ſooner is utterly improbable) the Sam. Copy would accordingly be confined later;

For	Put
On vii. 6. C. 1. L. 36.	add after Thing; so Gen. xiv. 2. Shemsbed for Shemeber, Chap. xxv. 13. Kedad for Kedar, Ver. 15. Hadad for Hadar, Ch. xxxvi. 28. Adan for Aean, and Deut. i. 22. in search, where see my intended Criticisms on the Pentateuch; and differently by ך instead of ך Ark for Lord, Exod. xxiii. 7. and in overflowing, Num. xxi. 15. as also in appears for flies suwftly, Deut. xxviii. 49. and to Strength, Ch. xxxiii. 25.
L. 44.	add before Again so in Sabadurba, Gen. xxxi. 47. Mebetabel, Ch. xxxvi. 39. shall be, Deut. xxiii. 17. Drunkenness, Ch. xxix. 19. and for Troughs, Exod. ii. 16. tho' there is no such Root in the eastern Tongues; on the contrary too there is צחר for זהר Z har, Gen. xxv. 9. so in Nabath, Ch. xxxvi. 13. Pabneah, Ch. xli. 45. Galbanum, Exod. xxx. 34. lifted up, Ch. xxviii. 28. the Itch, Deut. xxviii. 27. from within, Ch. xxxii. 25. pious, xxxiii. 8.
L. 45.	(11.) after xxii. 5, 7.
L. the last.	add after Hebrew. And thus the Sam. Exod. vi. 24. has Vau for the Jod in Assir, Ch. xxii. 7. in restore, Num. xxvi. 31. in Asriel, and Ch. xxxii. 22. in blameless, Deut. ix. 24. in I knew, Ch. xxviii. 42. to inherit (not consume, as from the Vulg. both in the Latin of the Samaritan, and our English) Ch. xxxii. 22. to burn. Ver. 24. to fed upon, Ver. 25. to sucking Child, Ch. xxxiii. 3. to receive; so in Gen. x. 27, 28. contrarily may be seen Vau mistaken for Jod in Uzal and Obal, and the same Ch. xxx. 41. of which see circumstantially in my Criticisms on the Heb. and Sam. Coins and Pentateuch, designed to be published in convenient Time, with many rare Discoveries; thus too for blasted, Gen. xli. 6. joined Exod. xxviii. 7. Neighbour, Ch. xxxii. 27. Exchange, Lev. xxvii. 10. Alush, Num. xxxiii. 13. Punon, Ver. 42. wild Bull, Deut. xiv. 5. and they shall pursue thee, Ch. xxviii. 22. go with, Ch. xxxi. 7. And for an Instance of the 4th and last Sort, there is a Sam. Caph before his Similitude, Gen. v. 3. instead of the Heb. Beth. Nay I find both Resh and Daleth in one Word mistaken for Daleth and Resh, Gen. xxvii. 40. where instead of ruleſt from the Root רוד the Sam. has art become great from אדר though in the Collation of the Words to the Polyg. Bible the two Sam. Letters are transposed, whereby it is partly concealed. For הדר likewise in Gen. xxxvi. 39. it is in the Sam. Characters חדר Hadad, with the first and last Letters different, and how may be easily seen, according as the Greek Translator mistook the two latter, making Arad; and without the Gr. Ch. xlix. 7. by ך for ך and י for ו to Cursed, the Sam. having Stately or Mighty was their Wrath, though in little or no Sense with the following; so Num. xxiv. 17. the Sam. Copy has Daleth twice in one Word for Resh, making the Head of instead of lay waste.
C. 2. L. 26. add after י	numbered by Buxt. in Tib. Cap. 13 to be 154, and in the textual עמיחור and marginal עמידור there are two different Letters nearly similar, 1 Sam. xiii. 37.
L. 40. add after 18.
P. 567. C. 1. L. 10.	erase (הרד Gen. xxv. 15. הדד 1 Chron. i. 30.)
L. 23. add after זבר	Zabad Thing; and having dwelt northwards from Israel, as Tyre was, might be more used to work on Metal, like Hiram and his Father, 1 King. vii. 14. &c. which may account for their coining so much.
P. 568. C. 1. L. 28.	Thing.
L. 61.	vii. xvii.
C. 2. L. 23.	Grœk Greek
P. 569. C. 2. L. 11.	add after Morinus, &c. Fuller Proof of the foregoing Exhibition will naturally occur in a Treatise which the Author intends for Publication, on the ancient Hebrew and Samaritan Coins and the Samaritan Pentateuch.

NOTES upon the BOOK called GENESIS.

CHAP. I.

GOD created the Heaven and the Earth at the Beginning.

2. The Earth however was vacant and void, and Darkneſs overwhelmed the Deep; but the Spirit of God hovered atop of the Water.

Ver. 1. the Heaven and the Earth] The Article [the] is expreſſed in Heb. by את indicating that it was not a Chaos or Heap of Matter created the firſt Day, as thoſe imagine who miſ-take Ovid's Metamorphoſis for the Interpretation of the Scripture. So Ver. 2. it might be this Earth, according as the Demonſtrative ה is ſometimes rendered, Chap. xix. 5, 12. Jer. xxviii. 16. Had it been all one confuſed Lump, why is it called diſtinctly the Heaven and the Earth? Nor does it appear that God made any thing incompleat: And thus Seb. Schmid, Æſtius, Croſs, &c. See alſo Heb. xi. 3.

Ib. Heaven] Shamaim being the dual Number, ſignifies at large both the lower Region of the Air, and the higher of the Firmament; but when alone it is to be underſtood only of the former in this Chapter, the Word having not the ſingular Number: for the upper Firmament by Diſtinction, is repeatedly called the Firmament of Heaven, Ver. 14, 15, 17, 20. The Name שָׁמַיִם ſeems compoſed, like what it ſignifies, of אֵשׁ Fire, and מַיִם Water. נקראו שמים לפי שהם אש ומים it was called the Heaven, becauſe it was Fire and Water, writes Behai in his Commentaries on the Law, Sect. 48.

Ib. Beginning] i. e. of Time, in a general way of ſpeaking; which different Term ſeems to diſtinguiſh it from the firſt Day: for the Heaven, which was the Air or lower Firmament, Ver. 8. was not made till the ſecond Day, Ver. 6, 7. together with the Waters; as the living Creatures of both were the fifth: nor was the Earth, which was the dry Ground, Ver. 10. till the third Day; when the Vegetables were made, Ch. ii. 4, 5. with which Texts here muſt certainly be no Inconſiſtency.

As for the Heathen Notion, which is ſo much received even now, that there was a Chaos in being before this Creation (though for what Purpoſe I know not) it would ſtill more confirm, that what is here mentioned was not done the firſt Day: for that Opinion, along with the common one of the heavy Part gathering inward, and the Light outward, the firſt Day, if ſtill rude and undigeſted, may ſeem to be, that one Chaos was made out of another; or elſe ſuppoſing thoſe Parts were Earth and Water, it does not agree with the reſt as above. Beſides what was the Heaven before there was either Light or Air? So that theſe two firſt Verſes appear to ſpeak of the Work of Creation in general, mentioning the Heaven, Earth and Waters, as the principal Parts, which contained the living Creatures, with the Author and Inſtrument of the Work; after which the third Verſe begins to enumerate the Particulars, with the Conjunctive ו like Chap. v. 3. & vi. 10. & xxxvi. 32. Levit. vi. 10. & xxvi. 16. 2 Sam. iii. 2. Neh. x. 9. Deut. xviii. 5. Before Moſes deſcribes the Work, he properly ſpeaks of that by which it was wrought, and the Manner of its being done. This being ſettled, we may obſerve a wonderful wiſe Order in the Creation, of the fine and ſubtil Light the firſt Day, of the more denſe Air and yet groſſer Water the ſecond, and of the moſt groſs and ſolid Earth, with the natural Product of it, the third Day: all which the moſt wiſe God took as it were in hand again, in the ſame Order, the other three Days, and finiſhed them; on the fourth making the Light into celeſtial Bodies, and appointing them their Office; on the fifth repleniſhing the Air and Water with living Creatures, and doing the ſame the ſixth Day by the Earth. Wherein we may take notice too that he deſcended gradually from the higher to the lower; as alſo when the four Elements were created, viz. Fire the firſt Day, Air and Water the ſecond, Earth the third. For how long ago it was done, ſee the Chron. Tab. on Chap. v. and as to the Time of the Year, it was probably the Beginning of Autumn, and of the ſeventh Month, then the firſt, till it was altered, Exod. xii. 2. not only becauſe the Year was thus computed, but by reaſon of the Fruit, Ver. 12. as God then put Things into the Order they have ſince continued in. And though ſome Fruits are ripe earlier, they ſoon decay; but the Corn, Apples, Pears, Nuts, &c. of Autumn, would be Food, for Adam and Eve, the enſuing Winter.

Ver. 2. vacant and void] both of Vegetative and Animal Beings; or vacant within of Seeds, Roots, and perhaps Minerals, &c. as void of all its Product without. Ainſworth turned it, empty and void; Tyndal's ancient Engliſh Tranſlation has it, voyde and emptie; the old Latin (aſcribed to Jerome) inanis & vacua; Pagninus, ſolitudo & inanitas; and the Chaldee Targum, צְדְיָא וְרִיקְנְיָא waſte and empty; the Words tohu and bohu being agreeable both

3. Firſt God ſaid, Let there be Light; which there was accordingly.

4. And God ſaw that the Light was good, ſo he ſeparated it from the Darkneſs.

5. God alſo called the Light Day, as he did the Darkneſs Night. It had then been Evening and was Morning the firſt Day.

6. Next he ſaid, Let there be Air in the

in Sound and Signification, and may be underſtood utterly void; which the Jeruſalem Targum thus paraphraſes on, וארעא הות תהיא ובהיא וצדו מן בני אנשא וריקנא מבל בעיר The Earth was empty and vacant, both deſolate of Mankind, and void of all Beaſts. Our laſt authoriſed Tranſlation has the former Word rendered waſte, Deut. xxxii. 10. and the empty Place, Job xxvi. 7. In Bereſhith Rabba (the Great Expoſition upon Geneſis) Sect 2. it is compared to two Servants of a King, one maintained out of the Treaſury, and the other left to provide for himſelf, who ſits down hungry and pennyleſs; כך ישבה הארץ תוהא ובוהא ſo ſate the Earth empty and vacant.

Ib. Darkneſs overwhelmed the Deep] The Nature of Light or Heat being to ſpread from the Body which contains it, and the more ſo the ſtronger it is; there may be Reaſon ſufficient allowed to believe, that on the ſecond and third Days the Light being diffuſed wide, above the Region of this Globe (as obſerved on Ver. 6.) and conſequently thin and weak, not collected into Bodies as on the fourth Day, might not pierce through the Air or Atmoſphere which is round the Earth; as it does ſince, and that ſtronger from the Sun, than when reflected from the Moon: according to which it might very properly be ſaid, that when the Air, Water and Earth, were firſt created, Darkneſs overwhelmed the Deep, namely the two latter, as the loweſt; the Deep being alſo diſtinguiſhed from the Water alone in this Verſe.

Ib. Spirit] Sanchoniatho, who is reputed the oldeſt Heathen Author that has Writings extant, wrote a Hiſtory, like Moſes, of and from the Creation. He lived, as it appears in the Time of the Judges of Iſrael, at Berytus on the North of Canaan, and had Materials for it from the Records of that Place, which were begun by Thoth the Grandſon of Ham, and from Jerombalus the Prieſt of the God Jevo, who doubtleſs was Jerubbaal, as Gideon was called, and Jevo put for Jehovah. His Writings were uſed by Porphyry againſt Chriſtianity, he being an Idolater like himſelf, which are preſerved by Euſebius, De Præparatione Evangelica, Lib. x. 8. from whence they have been tranſlated by Cumberland, under the Title of Sanchoniatho's Phœnician Hiſtory. He relates that the two firſt Mortals were generated of the Wind Colpias and his Wife Baau. Now רוח the Heb. Word here for Spirit ſignifies alſo Wind, and what I render void is Bohu in the Original. Thus while he, or their Tradition, diſguiſed the Scripture, it proves a Teſtimony for it; ſince to be literally true in that Manner is incredible.

Ib. hovered] according to the proper Meaning of the Word, Deut. xxxii. 11. rendered in the preſent Tranſlation fluttereth, and by Caſtalio here, ſeſe libraret, hovered or poiſed itſelf. As moved is too general and indeterminate; ſo brooded or ſate like a Bird to hatch by others, does not agree with the Text in Deut. and leſs with Jer. xxiii. 9. thoſe three being the only Places where the Word is found. Beſides hovered ſeems very ſuitable to overſhadow, Luke i. 35.

Ib. atop of the Water] This might be, either becauſe there was Water only without Earth at firſt, or becauſe the Water was firſt to produce living Creatures.

Ver. 3. Firſt] See the Places mentioned on Ver. 1. and conſider the Nature of them with this. However firſt may relate to God's ſpeaking.

Ib. was] This may be accounted the firſt Work of Creation, as Roſcommon ſings of it,

Faireſt as well as firſt of Things;

and Le-Pla,

Light, Creation's firſt Eſſay;

and alſo the Morning of the firſt Day. The Light I ſuppoſe to extend through the whole Space of the created World, where there was no Matter at all before, and conſequently that the Bounds of the Creation were now ſet; of which, conſidering the Extent, with what follows, the Work of this Day may not ſeem unequal to the reſt.

Ver. 4. ſaw that the Light was good] It ſeems clear from this, that the Light only was created the firſt Day; being thus particularly mentioned without the Earth and Heaven, which were alſo good. Nor is this inconſiſtent with the other Syſtem, as by the Words of our learned Patrick in his Commentary on Ver. 5. "How long all "Things continued in mere Confuſion, after the Chaos "was created, before this Light was extracted out of it, "we are not told; it might be a great while." See this Way of placing that from the like Heb. Exod. xxxii. 25. Deut. xxxi. 29.

Ib. that the Light] or to be proper, of the Light that, as of the Grace, 2 Cor. viii. 1. that is Accuſ. in Gr.

Ib. was] The Verb-ſubſtantive is, was, &c. is moſtly uſed (as it is omitted) at Pleaſure in Hebrew, or rather for Emphaſis, as the Pronouns I, thou, it, &c. are alſo before the Verb; like our Auxiliaries in Engliſh, when we ſay either, I write, or I do write, &c. for this Reaſon I have thought it improper and unneceſſary to be diſtinguiſhed in the Italick Character.

Ib. ſeparated it from] The Light ſpreading as beforementioned, ſeems to have been gathered into one half of the Space of Creation in the Evening; and by turning round as on the Center of that Space, to have made Night and Day as the Sun does now. Beſides if the Rotation was like the Sun's in twenty four Hours, the Place where the Forepart of the Darkneſs was in the Evening, would receive the Forepart of the Light the next Morning, for another Day, and ſo on; ſee Pſal. lxxiv. 16.

Ver. 5. It had then been Evening and was Morning] Shewing the Progreſſion and Ending of the firſt natural Day. היתי is repeated, י making it ſignify the paſt Time or Tenſe, of which the Heb. Verbs have but one, ſo that in this Verb it denotes either was, has been, or had been, as the Senſe of the Paſſage requires; which is plain here as I have render'd it, and the Repetition in Hebrew very proper. It is evident that the Day was before the Night, not only by the Order of the Words, Ver. 5. but by God's dividing the Light from the Darkneſs, Ver. 4. which muſt be at the Morning or Evening, and was plainly at the latter, becauſe there was Light, i. e. Day, and God ſaw it to be good, before he made the Separation. From whence it appears that the natural Day of 24 Hours began in the Morning, not in the Evening. Nor is the Command to begin the Sabbath and Paſſover at the Evening, Levit. xxiii. 32. Exod. xii. 18. an Objection, but Confirmation, to this: for the Iſraelites were commanded to keep the former as well as the latter, for their Deliverance out of Egypt. Deut. v. 15. conſequently it was to begin at the ſame Time, and both in the Evening, becauſe the compleating of that Deliverance was then begun, and they were prepared to travel out, Exod. xii. 11. And as the Command to begin the Year with that Month, implied it began otherwiſe before, of which ſee Exod. xii. 2. ſo their being bid to begin the Sabbath in the Evening, in like manner ſhews it was not, with other Days, begun ſo before; which if it had been, would have rendered that Command needleſs. How did the Iſraelites keep the Sabbath for their being brought out of Egypt, if there was no Alteration to what they did before? But changing it to commence in the Evening, would put them in mind of it; ſee Chryſoſt. Hom. 3. in Gen. and Howel's Hiſt. of the Bible, p. 2.

The tranſlating this the Evening and the Morning were the firſt Day, is to me indefenſible: for beſides their being not a whole Day, and the Uſeleſſneſs of ſuch a Sentence, what Evening is intended by it? An Evening before there was any Day, which began in the everlaſting un-

midſt of Water, making a Separation between the two Waters:

7. Thus God made the Air, which parting the Water that was below from that which was above it ſelf, there was ſo.

8. Beſides he named the Air Heaven. And it having been Evening was Morning the ſecond Day.

9. Moreover God commanded that the Water under the Heaven ſhould flow together into one Place, and that dry Ground ſhould appear; which was ſo.

10. The dry Ground too he called Earth, as he did the Water that was flowed together Seas; and God ſaw that it was good.

11. Who ſaid, Let the Earth produce upon it Graſs, Herbs bearing Seed, Fruit-trees yielding Fruit of each Kind, in which there is a Kernel; and it was ſo.

12. For the Earth brought forth Graſs, Herbs that bore Seed of each Kind, and Trees that yielded Fruit, whoſe Kernel was in it, of each Sort; and God ſaw that it was good.

13. It had then been Evening and was Morning the third Day.

14. God further ſaid; Let there be Lights in the Firmament of Heaven, to diſtinguiſh the Day from the Night; and let them be for Signs, and for appointed Times, as likewiſe for Days and Years.

diſtinguiſhable Darkneſs, before the Light was made? Whereas the Heb. עֶרֶב Evening ſignifies a Mixture, i. e. of Light with Darkneſs. Or is it ſuppoſed the firſt Day commenced in the Evening, when the artificial Day was over? And ſo not in the Beginning of the Creation; nor would the Works of it then have been made in ſix Days, as is ſaid Exod. xx. 11. but in ſix and a half. The beſt Tranſlation I have yet ſeen, viz. that of Junius and Tremellius, has it rendered in the latter Editions, Sic fuit veſpera & fuit mane diei primi, ſo there was the Evening and there was the Morning of the firſt Day; but the worſt, namely the old Latin, factumque eſt veſpere & mane, and the Evening and the Morning made or were, like our common Bible.

Ver. 6. Air] It is clearly the Air, or Atmoſphere of the Earth, which is here intended; but the Hebrew has no expreſs Word for Air. רָקִיעַ ſignifies a ſpreading or ſtretching out, and ſo denotes either the Air below, or Firmament above, as Ver. 14. Sol. Jar. on Pſal. xix. 7. mentions רקיע השני the ſecond ſpreading out, and likewiſe tells us they count שבעה רקיעי ſeven of them, which he there names. Nay Kimhi on Pſal. lxxvii. 19. ſays the Air is truly and properly called ſo. Caſtal. tranſlates, liquidum inter aquas, Air between Waters; the Margin of the Geneva Verſion has it, ſpreading over and Ayre. And according to the preſ. Bible this Firmament being Heaven, Ver. 8. and the Heaven Air as rendered Ver. 26, 28. this Firmament muſt be the Air. The ſtrange Abſurdities which tranſlating this Firmament has led divers into, Amama ſhews in Antibarb. Bibl. I would add, it is natural to infer, that this Body of Water and Air excluded the Light, as being a lighter and thinner Matter, without or above it.

Ib. Water] If any would contend that by this ſpeaking of Water, it was created before the ſecond Day, and ſo that it, together with the Earth, &c. was created the firſt Day; let him remember that by the ſame Parity of reaſoning, the Water muſt be before the firſt Day, it being mentioned, and not ſaid to be created, Ver. 2. But Let there be Air in the midſt of Water, may be a Command for the Exiſtence of both; and does not prove the Water was before, any more than in 1 Kings vii. 2. He built the Houſe upon four Rows of Cedar-pillars, denotes thoſe Pillars were where the Houſe ſtood, before Solomon began building. So Pſal. cxlviii. 4, 5. declares that the Heaven and the Water were created when God commanded it; therefore not the firſt Day, this Command being the ſecond.

I ſuppoſe our Globe to be then mere Water, reſting on its own Center, with the Air, &c. on that. Thales Mileſius, ſays Tully, De Natura Deorum, Lib. i. qui primus de talibus rebus quæſivit, aquam dixit eſſe initium rerum, Deum autem eam mentem, quæ ex aqua cuncta fingeret: Thales of Miletus the firſt who enquired into ſuch Matters, ſays Water was the Beginning of Things, as God was the Mind that formed them all out of it. So Diogenes Laertius in his Lives of the Philoſophers tells us, that Thales ſaid, Water was the Beginning of all Things, De Vita Thalet. See alſo Blackwall's Introd. to the Claſ. p. 84, 85. Rationally I alſo conceive, that the five primary Planets in our Diviſion of the Creation, were made at the ſame Time in like Manner; nay that thoſe were too, which are probably thought to go round the fixed Stars as other Suns.

Ver. 7. above] the principal and denſer Part of the Air, as the Clouds are. Moſes having confined his Relation to the Earth, and what particularly concerns that, it ſeems improbable that this was the Water of the Moon and Planets, as has been imagined; and the ſame, if not that thoſe primary and ſecondary Planets ſhould be made together, yet certainly, that being begun with and like the Earth, as of the ſame Kind, they ſhould lie ſtill the third Day, while that was finiſhed, and themſelves be not finiſhed till the fourth. Beſides Ch. ii. 5. may well be underſtood, that there was Rain in the Clouds, but not yet come down, to obviate an Objection thence.

Ib. there was ſo] As God had ſaid in the Verſe before.

Ver. 9. flow together] As Buxtorf in Lexic. judiciouſly obſerves it ſignifies when ſaid of Water, and Caſt. with Jun. & Trem. tranſlate: by which alſo the Command is proper to the Water, and not as if God commanded himſelf.

Ib. dry Ground ſhould appear] Peter mentioning this as the Beginning of the Creation of the Earth, 2 Epiſt. iii. 4, 5. is a farther Confirmation it was not made the firſt Day. The Earth we find made in the Water, as the Fiſh, &c. were afterwards; and as that roſe up, the Water ſunk down.

Ver. 11. Kernel] For Fruit with a Stone, has a Kernel in it, which is the Seed.

Ver. 12. brought forth] In ſome Verſe on this Chap.

The ſtately Cedar, King of Trees, led on
The leafy Clans, and reign'd in Lebanon.
The brawny Oak, that Britiſh Seas now rules,
On Baſhan's Brow protected Baſhan Bulls.
The fragrant Roſe had Sharon's lovely Vale,
Its Blooms to ſhelter, and its Sweets exhale.

Ver. 14. for Signs] ordinary, as of Weather, Eclipſes, &c. and alſo extraordinary; ſee 2 Kings xx. 9. Pſal lxv. 8. Luke xxi. 25.

Ib. appointed Times] Munſter tranſlates it, certa tempora; ſaying, ſignificat מועד tempus ſtatutum.—Hinc ſolennitates quædam legales, ut Paſcha, Sucoth, Novilunia & aliæ ſimiles vocantur מועדים Mohed ſignifies an appointed Time.—Hence certain Jewiſh Solemnities, ſuch as the Paſſover, Feaſt of Tabernacles, New-moon and the like, are called Mohadim. The Word in Pſal. civ. 19. ſhews it belongs particularly to the Moon, which diſtinguiſhes the Feſtivals; and this ſeems mentioned for the Sake of the Iſraelites, for whom it was peculiarly written, as ſome Things even in the Ten Commandments are. But thoſe ap-

15. Let

15. Let them alſo be Lights there to ſhine upon the Earth; which was ſo.

16. Thus did God make two great Lights; the greater one for the Government of the Day, and the leſs for that of the Night, together with the Stars.

17. Which he had no ſooner put in that Expanſe, to give light upon the Earth,

18. And to govern both the Day and the Night, as well as divide the Light from the Darkneſs, but he ſaw that it was good.

19. It had then been Evening and was Morning the fourth Day.

20. Afterwards God ſaid, Let the Water breed living moving Creatures abundantly, and Fowls which ſhall fly above the Earth, towards the Face of the celeſtial Firmament.

21. He thus created great Whales, and all living Creatures that ſtirred, which the Water bred abundantly of each Kind, with winged Fowls of all Sorts; and God ſaw that it was good.

22. Upon which he thus bleſſed them, Be fruitful, multiply, and fill the Water in the Seas; let the Fowl alſo multiply on the Earth.

23. It had then been Evening and was Morning the fifth Day.

24. God likewiſe ſaid, Let the Earth bring forth each Kind of living Creatures, namely that of Cattle, creeping Things, and wild Beaſts; which was ſo.

25. Thus he made both the wild Beaſts and Cattle of each Kind, with all manner of creeping Things of the Ground; which he ſaw to be good.

26. Then God ſaid, Let us make Mankind in our Similitude, according to our Likeneſs; who ſhall rule over the Fiſh of the Sea, the Fowl of the Air, the Cattle, the whole Earth, and all creeping Things that creep upon it.

27. Accordingly he created Mankind in his own Similitude, even each in that of himſelf; creating them Male and Female.

28. Whom God bleſſed in the following manner; Be fruitful, multiply, repleniſh the Earth, and ſubdue it; as alſo rule over the Fiſh of the Sea, the Fowls of the Air, and all living Things that ſtir upon the Ground.

29. Behold I give you, continued God, all Herbs bearing Seed, which are all over the Earth, with all Trees that have Fruit on them yielding a Kernel, which ſhall be for you to eat;

30. And to all the Beaſts of the Earth, to pointed Times being aſſigned to the Moon, may be underſtood Months and Tide-times; and the four Seaſons of the Year may be comprehended in the Years, as Hours, Noon, &c. in the Days. But Seed-time, Harveſt, &c. are appointed Times of the Sun.

Ver. 15. Let them—be Lights] This Heb. Conſtruction is ſometimes to be rendered with for, as in the preceding Verſe, and ſometimes without, as Exod. iv. 4. it became or was a Staff, not for a Staff, with many more; ſee Buxt. Heb. Gram. Lib. ii. Cap. 14.

Ver. 16. two great Lights—greater—leſs] This is ſaid in Regard to their Appearance, or as they are to the Earth; ſo that the Moon, tho' not a Light in it ſelf, is a Light to us.

Ib. Stars] both the fixed Stars, and Satellites or ſecondary Planets; as the former may be ranked with our Sun, the latter with the Moon, which two were doubtleſs mentioned ſingle becauſe they belonged to this Earth. The fixed Stars ſeem plainly to be comprehended, becauſe the Satellites of Jupiter, &c. are inviſible without Glaſſes, yielding no Light to us; ſee Jer. xxxi. 35. Pſal. cxxxvi. 9. And why might not ſeveral ſolar Worlds be created now as well as one, even if there were other Creations? There might be Room enough, and the Work more magnificent. A Reaſon for the primary Planets being made firſt might be, becauſe they, and they only, were to be habitable, at leaſt with rational Beings. We may obſerve, that the Offices of the Sun and Moon are to be ſubſervient to the Earth; as the Sun is doubtleſs to the other five Planets, among which the Earth may be properly reckoned. After all, thoſe who would have it, that our Sun and Planetary World was only now created, not the fixed Stars, may find the like Conſiſtency in the foregoing Account of thoſe four Days Work.

Ver. 18. good] Unaccountable is Poole's Annotation here, "This Clauſe was omitted in the firſt Day's "Work, but is added here, becauſe the Light was then "but glimmering and imperfect:" when there is particular Mention of the Light being good at that Time, Ver. 4.

Ver. 20. towards the Face] עַל againſt or towards, פְּנֵי the Face.

Ver. 24. creeping Things] For this the Biſhops Bible has Worme.

Ib. wild Beaſts] Inſtead of Adjectives in Heb. and for want of them, we frequently meet with a ſecond Subſtantive; as Fire of Flame for flaming Fire, Iſai. iv. 5. Hoſ. vii. 6. a Man of Bloods for a bloody Man, 2 Sam. xvi. 7, 8. ſo that when there is Beaſts of the Earth, or Field diſtinguiſhed from Cattle, it is wild Beaſts: as agreſtis and ſylveſter are in Lat. put for wild; ſee Buxt. Gram. Lib. ii. Cap. 1, 3. Thus 2 Sam. ii. 18. for one of the Roes which are in the Field, our Tranſlators ſay a wild Roe; as they do 2 Kings iv. 39. a wild Vine, and wild Gourds; Chap. xiv. 9. a wild Beaſt; and Lev. xxvi. 22. wild Beaſts.

Ver. 25. Thus] As the Heb. Prefix has the Force of thus when it is neceſſary, Chap. xxi. 32. & xxxi. 9. 1 Kings iii. 22. Ezek. i. 11. there is no need of making either a double Creation, or a Tautology: So Ver. 7, 16, 21.

Ver. 26. Similitude] This Similitude or Likeneſs I find to be Holineſs, Epheſ. iv. 24. Knowledge, Col. iii. 10. and Dominion, by the Words here following. Image is the Form or Faſhion of a Thing, and therefore improper as well as uncouth here.

Ib. Cattle] The wild Beaſts are not here named, for Man has not ſuch an eſpecial Government of them.

Ver. 27. Mankind] Sanchoniatho ſays the two firſt Mortals, generated as before mentioned, were Protogonos, which ſignifies the Firſt-born, Adam being created firſt of all; and Æon, ſignifying in the fem. Gender Life, the ſame as Eve does, Chap. iii. 20. But the Bramans or Indian Prieſts in their Book Shaſter, call them Pourous and Parcoutee; as Henry Lord, Chaplain to the Engliſh Factory at Surat, relates, in his Diſcoverie of the Banian Religion, p. 4. pr. 1630.

Ib. each] It being the Creation of both that is here related in general, the Particulars of which are given in the next Chap. The ſingular Pronoun is to be taken collectively, as in numerous other Places.

all the Fowls of the Air, and to every Thing that creeps upon the Earth, in which there is Life, all green Graſs to eat: which was ſo.

31. Laſtly God looked on all that he had made, and lo it was very good. It had then been Evening and was Morning the ſixth Day.

CHAP. II.

THE Heaven and Earth thus finiſhed, with all that belonged to them;

2. On the ſeventh Day God having ended his Work which he made, reſted then from all of it that he had done.

3. God alſo bleſſed that Day, and ſanctified it; becauſe he reſted on it from making all his Work which he had created.

4. Theſe were the Generations of the Heaven and Earth, when they were created. On the Day the Lord God had made the Earth and the Heaven,

5. He made likewiſe all the Plants of the Field before they were on the Earth, and all the Herbs of the Field before they grew; when he had not cauſed it to rain upon the Earth, and there was no Man to till the Land;

6. Or Miſt had come up out of the Earth, that watered any of the Surface of the Ground.

7. After this the Lord God forming the Man with Earth from the Ground, breathed into his Noſtrils the Breath of Life; ſo he became a living Soul.

8. And the Lord God planted a Garden at the Eaſt in Eden; that he might put there the Man whom he had formed.

9. Where the Lord God made grow out of the Ground, all Trees which were plea-

Ver. 31. ſixth] From Hyde in his Religio veterum Perſarum, and Pocock in his Specimen Hiſtoriæ Arabicæ, with Lord's Religion of the Perſees, it appears that Zoroaſtres the Reviver of the Magian Sect, in the Reign of Darius Hyſtaſpis, about 500 Years before the Birth of Chriſt, in his Book called Zend-aveſta, ſtill extant in the old Perſian Tongue, and uſed by the Remainder of thoſe People in Perſia and India in their Worſhip-houſes, gives nearly the ſame Account of the Creation and Deluge as Moſes does; but inſtead of ſix Days for the former, he has ſix Times, with five Days Reſt between each; the whole together making a Year, or 362 Days. And the Names of the firſt Man and Woman are ſo near ours, as Adamah and Evah.

Ver. 1. that belonged] Tynd. apparel.

Ver. 2. having ended] If God ended his Work on the ſeventh Day, he muſt work that Day, the contrary of which is apparent. So it is rendered in the preterpluperfect Tenſe by Jun. and Trem. for which alſo Gell pleads, Eſſay, p. 3. and the Septuag. have, God ended his Work on the ſixth Day.

Ver. 3. making] Thus Jun. and Trem. turn it, viz. ab omni opere ſuo faciendo. Verbally it is, he reſted from all his Work, which God had created, to make; and ſo which God had created, may be conſidered as if in a Parentheſis.

Ver. 4. On the Day] namely the third; on which he finiſhing the Creation of Heaven and Earth, they could not be made the firſt Day. This Partition agrees with that of the parallel Text, Chap. v. 1. and avoids the Tautology. This Day, as it is otherwiſe pointed, muſt be before the Creation of Man, Ver. 5. but theſe mentioned in the firſt Chap. could not be the Generations of the Earth then, becauſe the Cattle, Beaſts, and creeping Things, with Man himſelf, were produced from the Earth on the ſixth Day, and ſo were the chief Part of its Generations.

Ver. 5. made] See the like Chap. i. 16. Exod. xxxv. 22. which muſt be underſtood in the com. Tranſ. to make Senſe of it thus, Theſe are the Generations—in the Day that the Lord made every Plant of the Field (which he did) before it was in the Earth, and every Herb of the Field (which he did) before it grew; look Chap. iii. 22.

Ver. 6. Or] Moſes is ſhewing that the Vegetables were not at firſt produced by natural Cauſes, or the Induſtry of Man: for the latter was not created, neither had the Rain yet deſcended, nor even the Miſt aſcended; which Reaſon in the two firſt Parts of it is directly given in the com. Tranſ. had it not been overthrown in the laſt. Trem. and Jun. have tranſlated it thus, quum non demiſiſſet Jehovah Deus pluviam ſuper terram, & nullus homo fuiſſet ad colendum terram, aut vapor aſcendens e terra: qui irrigaret; i. e. when Jehovah God had not ſent down the Rain upon the Earth, and there had been no Man to till the Earth, or Vapour aſcending out of the Earth; which had watered. The old French Verſion has it, ni aucune vapeur ne montoit de la terre, qui arroſaſt, nor had there aſcended any Vapour from the Earth, which watered; and as now amended, & il ne montoit point de vapeur, &c. The learned Broughton, who approved of this, cites the Jewiſh Rabbi Sadaias in his Arabick Comment. on Moſes, ſaying the ſame (for which ſee alſo Simon Crit. Hiſt. B. ii. Ch. 19.) as alſo Kimhi mentioning it in his Book of Heb. Roots, under אד with others; ſee his Works, p. 682. and for the like Conſtruction in Heb. Lev. xix. 12, 29. & xxii. 16. Jer. xv. 17. & xvii. 21. & xxii. 10. Pſal. xxxv. 19. & xliv. 18. Iſai. xxviii. 27. beſides thoſe Places produced by Buxt. Theſ. Gram. Lib. ii. Cap. 19. ſub fin. and what Noldius ſays more fully of it in Concord. Annot. 173.

Ib. Or Miſt] For the Sun was not created till the next Day, by the Heat of which it is drawn up.

Ib. out of] It being odd, that the Miſt ſhould go up from the Earth to water it.

Ver. 7. Earth] So the Word is read in com. Tranſ. Chap. xxvi. 15. and ſhould be Hab. i. 10. The old Bible under King Edward VI. has Mould of the Earth, as I have Job. xiv. 19. There is good Reaſon to think, the Matter of which Adam was formed partook of the four Qualities, Hot, Dry, Cold and Moiſt; but Duſt is void of the laſt, if not the two laſt. David Kimhi on the Word Create in Iſa. xlv. 7. writes thus, פירוש עושה שלום בין התולדות שהם הפוכות בטבעם' ובהסכמת ארבעה תולדות אלה יהיה בריאות הגוף wonderfully making Peace between Qualities, which were contrary in their Nature: and in the Agreement of theſe four Qualities is the Health of the Body. The Vulg. Lat. is limo terræ, the Mud of the Earth; ſee alſo Patrick in Locum.

Ib. Soul] or Perſon, as the Word ſometimes ſignifies.

Ver. 8. Eden] is Pleaſure or Delight, whence the Garden from the Greek of the Septuagint was called Paradiſe.

Ib. that he might] The doing of which is told after this Deſcription of the Garden and Rivers.

Ver. 9. and that] The Author of a late Tranſ. in 1746, or Bland, turns it, the ſame being alſo a Tree, making this the ſame with the other; which Chap. iii. 22. quite diſproves.

ſant to the Sight, and good for Food; with the Tree of Life in the middle of the Garden, and that of the Knowledge of Good and Evil.

10. Beſides there was a River to water the Garden, which went out of Eden; from whence it parted, and became four Heads.

11. The Name of the firſt was Piſon; which turns about by the whole Country of Havilah, where there is Gold.

12. And the Gold of that Country is good; there is Chryſtal, and Onyx-ſtones.

13. The ſecond River was named Gihon; which turns about by the whole Country of Cuſh.

14. Hiddekel was the Name of the third, that runs towards the Eaſt of Aſſyria; and the fourth River was Euphrates.

15. Then the Lord God took Adam, and placed him in the Garden of Eden; to cultivate it, and look after it.

16. Who alſo charged him as follows; Thou mayeſt freely eat of every Tree of the Garden;

17. Excepting that of the Knowledge of Good and Evil, of which thou ſhalt not: for on the Day thou doſt, thou ſhalt quite die.

18. The Lord God ſaid further, It is not well for Adam to be alone; I will make him a Help according to his Need.

19. For the Lord God bringing all the Beaſts of the Field, which he had formed out of the Ground, and all the Fowls of the Air to Adam, to ſee what he would call them, that whatever he called each living

Ver. 10. a River to water] The Garden being in Eden, Ver. 8. how did the River go out of Eden to water it?

Ib. four] The beſt Account ſeems to be, that the Rivers Tigris and Euphrates running ſouthward, meet together in one on the North of what was called Eden, which again parts into two at the South of it; and thoſe laſt, called here Piſon and Gihon, run into the Perſian Gulf: thus the River's parting into four Heads, was into two above, and two below. For which I have ſince met with Huetius's excellent Treatiſe of the Situation of Paradiſe, where it is diſtinctly proved.

Ver. 11. by the whole Country] As far as the Length or Side of it extends.

Ib. Country] Modern Engliſh forbidding to ſay the Land of France, Spain, &c. and land being at the End of ſome Names, as England, Poland, and ſeveral others.

Ib. Havilah] The Country that had Egypt on the Weſt (for it could not be at any other Side of Egypt) having Havilah on the Eaſt, Chap. xxv. 18. 1 Sam. xv. 7. by conſequence this Country was in the Eaſt of Arabia; which agrees with the River running by it as before.

Ver. 12. good] For this we have the Teſtimony of Diodorus Siculus, the eminent Greek Hiſtorian, that lived a little before the Time of Chriſt, and compoſed his Bibliotheca, which he was thirty Years about, and travelled himſelf through the greater Part of Aſia and Europe, as he informs us at the Beginning; who in Lib. iii. Cap. 12. writes, that there is Gold dug in Arabia, which is not refined in the Fire as uſual, being found in the Earth like Cheſnuts, and is of ſuch a ſhining Colour, that it makes the precious Stones which are ſet in it brighter; and Agatharcides, p. 60. to the like Purpoſe.

Ib. Chryſtal] Bdellium, as it is tranſlated in the com. Bible, is the Gum of a Tree (mention'd by Pliny, Lib. xii. and Dioſcorides, Lib. i.) ſtill uſed among us. Whereas all the Jewiſh Writers agree that this was a precious Stone, and Solom. Jarhi (whom I account the moſt certain and ſkilful of them all) writes in his Commentaries on Numb. xi. 7. שם אבן טובה קרי"סטל the Name of the precious Stone is Chryſtal; with whom agrees Kimhi. And Diod. Sicul. Ib. ſays of Arabia, there are Chryſtal Stones congealed from the Water, not by the Cold, but by the Force of the daily Heat. The Thing here mention'd had alſo the ſame Colour with Manna, Numb. xi. 7. which was white, Exod. xvi. 31. ſo is Chryſtal, according to the candida Chryſtalla of Martial, Lib. viii. 77. but Bdellium is of a dark brown Colour.

Ver. 13. Cuſh] It is indiſputable from the other Rivers, and the Countries here mentioned, that they were all on the eaſt Side of the Red Sea; and what is now called Ethiopia, both interior and exterior, is only on the weſt Side: therefore Cuſh here could not be Ethiopia, unleſs the River Gihon ran acroſs the Red Sea, or what would be almoſt as ridiculous to ſuppoſe, round by the Iſthmus of Suez, between that and the Mediterranean, and along by the other Side of the Red Sea, in an oppoſite Courſe to the River Nile. For other Reaſons I refer to Rawleigh's Hiſt. of the World, B. i. 3. 14. Bedford's Scripture Chronology, Chap. 8. Sect. 17. and Shuckford's Connection, B. iii. The Targum, and Ainſworth in Engliſh, with the Tigurin and French Verſions keep to the Hebrew Word; as likewiſe Jun. and Trem. who in their Scholium to it ſay, id eſt, Arabiam deſertam Chaldææ junctam; that is, Arabia the Deſart joining to Chaldea. In ſhort the Heb. Cuſh being on both Sides of the Red Sea, ſhould be rendered accordingly; ſee 2 Chron. xxi. 16.

Ver. 14. towards] The River Tigris, which as Rauwolff ſays in his Travels, Pt. ii. Ch. 9. is now called Hiddekel, pointing as ſuppoſed that Way from the Place of Eden, though by its turning it ran on the weſt Side of Aſſyria.

Ib. Euphrates] The Name in Heb. is Pherath, but there being hu before it, ſignifying it was Pherath, the Septuagint Tranſlators not improbably taking both for the River's Name, which might be read without the Vowels Huphrat; by diſmiſſing the Aſpirate for the Softneſs of Pronunciation, and adding the Gr. Termination es, made Εὐφράτης Euphrates, and ſo it was afterwards called. The Uſe and Credit of their Verſion, and others from it, have fixed divers wrong Names upon us, which Cuſtom now does not allow to be rectified.

Ver. 15. Adam] Man in com. Tranſ. Chap. i. 26, 27. & ii. 5, 7, 8, 15, 16, 18, 22. and Adam in Ver. 19, 20, 21. is the ſame Word in the Original, viz. Adam, which ſignifies Man. The Queſtion then is, when a Tranſlator ſhould begin to uſe it as a proper Name? Some do it at the 19th Verſe, Caſt. at the 18th, the Geneva Verſion at the 20th, the Biſhops Bible at the 21ſt; Pagnine does not call him Adam till Chap. iv. 25. but the Septuagint in the next Verſe after this. However the Heb. uſes it as Man, by prefixing the Article ה (which is not put to proper Names of Men, Buxt. Gram. L. 2. 5.) to Chap. iv. 1. incluſive. I begin with Munſter and Vatablus, after the Digreſſion of the Rivers, when he is more particularly ſpoken of as a Perſon.

Ver. 17. quite die] agreeable to our common Expreſſion [quite dead] Heb. by dying thou ſhalt die; which Idiom raiſes the Meaning of the Verb in the Manner of an Adverb, and is expreſs'd in the King's Tranſ. Chap. xxxi. 15. Exod. xxiii. 24. 2 Sam. iii. 24.

Ver. 18. according to his Need] Heb. according as there is before him.

Ver. 19. For] In this Manner Jun. and Trem. with Caſtal. turn this and the following Verſe, the Senſe ſo requiring from the Verſe before, as the Reader himſelf may ſee.

Ib. out of the Ground] That the Fowls were produced by the Water we learn Chap. i. 20. which Patrick il-

Creature,

Creature, the ſame might be the Name of it;

20. When Adam gave Names to all Cattle, to the Fowls of the Air, and all the wild Beaſts, there was not a Help found for him according to his Need.

21. Upon this the Lord God cauſed a ſound Sleep to fall upon him, and while he ſlept, took one of his Ribs, cloſing up the Fleſh in the room of it.

22. And the Lord God made up the Rib which he took from Adam into a Woman, and brought her to him.

23. At which he ſaid, This is now Bone of my Bones, and Fleſh of my Fleſh; this ſhall be called a Woman, becauſe ſhe was taken from a Man.

24. Therefore let a Man forſake his Father and Mother, that he may cleave to his Wife, ſince they are one Fleſh.

25. Now naked as Adam and his Wife each of them was, they were not aſhamed.

CHAP. III.

AFTERWARDS the Serpent, that was the moſt cunning of all the Beaſts of the Field which the Lord God had made, ſaid to the Woman; Much leſs did God ſay, You ſhall not eat of every Tree of the Garden.

2. Whom ſhe anſwered; Of the Fruit of the Trees belonging to the Garden we may eat;

3. Only of the Fruit of that Tree which is in the middle of the Garden God ſaid, You ſhall neither eat, nor meddle with it, that you may not die.

4. The Serpent however replied to her; You will not die at all.

5. For God knows, that at the Time when you eat of it, your Eyes will be opened, ſo that you will be like Gods, knowing Good and Evil.

6. Now the Woman ſeeing that the Tree was good for Food, and withal delightful to the Eyes, nay a Tree to be deſired that it might give Underſtanding; ſhe not only took and eat of its Fruit, but gave to her Husband with her, and he eat.

7. Then the Eyes of them both were luſtrates in his Commentary there; ſo that out of the Ground here muſt belong only to the Beaſts: thus alſo Eliezer & Moſ. Gerund. Accordingly Caſtal. turns it, beſtias omnes terreſtres, quas ex terra formaverat, omneſque aereas volucres, as here. It is ſpoken here as what God had done, to which it refers; but is related in the com. Bib. as if it was another Formation after Adam.

Ver. 20. there was not—found] among all the living Creatures yet made, which Adam had named.

Ver. 22. made up] Heb. built.

Ib. brought her] Probably Eve having been conducted about the Garden, that ſhe might firſt ſee the inferior Creatures, was brought to Adam when he awaked. But particular are Bedford's late Imaginations, that God did not bring her to Adam till the 8th Day, Script. Chr. B. i. Ch. 1. 30. or as he ſays further on the 7th, Ib. Ch. 10. 11.—What is here related was done the 6th Day, Chap. i. 27. & v. 2. And this whole Chapter after the 3d Verſe is only a fuller Account of, with ſome Addition to, that which was deliver'd before in the firſt Chapter.

Ver. 23. now] Becauſe the Beaſts and Fowls had been brought to him before.

Ib. Woman] That is Wombman (a Female Perſon) as it is ſaid to be in the ancient Engliſh Verſion of John Treviſe, a Corniſh-man, who Baker ſays in Chron. & Bale Script. Brit. Cent. 7. lived in the Time of King Richard II. and tranſlated the Bible.

Ver. 23, 24. a Man] This is not Adam in Heb. but iſh a Man, as iſhah is a Woman.

Ver. 24. The Words of Moſes, and not of Adam.

Ver. 1. of all] He being a Beaſt himſelf: thus the ingenious Caſtal. ſays, omnium terreſtrium beſtiarum—— verſutiſſimus; ſo Deut. vii. 7.

Ib. Much leſs] This has been allowed an imperfect Speech, Something before it being omitted, as in the Oaths. That אַף כִּי ſignifies much leſs is clear by other Places, as Prov. xvii. 7. & xix. 10. 1 Kings viii. 27. Job ix. 14. 2 Chron. vi. 18. & xxxii. 15. Ezek. xv. 5. Now it appearing that God ſpoke only to Adam, when he prohibited the Tree of Knowledge to be eat of, as it was before Eve was made, Chap. ii. 17, 18. with which agree Chap. iii. 11, 17. what can be more naturally the Serpent's arguing, than that Adam was miſtaken, or feigned the Interdiction, and God did not ſay ſo? It was much eaſier for Eve to be deceived, by his placing the pretended Falſehood on Adam, than on God; as it is quite probable, that the Tempter would uſe the moſt likely Method. This was ſo rational, and agreeable to the Nature of Temptation, that I was apprehenſive it was the Caſe, before I examined, and found the Heb. agreeing with it; which thus literally tranſlated, confirms it.

Ver. 3. that Tree] Tree having here the Demonſtrative ה before it, which it has not in the Verſe before.

Ib. that you may not die] In the com. Tranſ. it is made very certain, Chap. ii. 17. and here uncertain. Gr. ἵνα μὴ ἀποθάνητε, that you die not. So in the com. Bib. pen is that-not, Chap. xxxi. 24. Judg. ix. 54. & xv. 12. 1 Sam. iv. 9. Deut. xii. 13, 19, 30.

Ver. 4. not die at all] Not in the leaſt, or any how, Jer. xxvi. 19. As the Duplication of the Verb heightened the Expreſſion, Ch. ii. 17. this being negative turns it the other Way; like what the preſ. Tranſ. affords us, Ezek. xvi. 4. Jer. xxiii. 32. Amos iii. 5. Exod. xii. 9. & xxii. 23. Zech. vii. 5. Levit. xix. 7, 20. The Father of Lyes has been made a diminutive Liar, to ſay, Ye ſhall not ſurely die: which not denying it wholly, does not agree with the former Place, as Buxtorf writes in Theſ. Gram. Lib. ii. Cap. 16. where he expreſſes the Phraſe, nullo modo moriemini, you ſhall by no means die; Leo Judæ in the ſame Manner by, haudquaquam moriemini; and Caſtal. nequaquam morte mulctabimini, you ſhall in no wiſe ſuffer Death. Tynd. has tuſhe ye ſhall not dye.

Ver. 5, 7. ſo that] The Marrow of a Sentence often lies in the Particles, eſpecially of the Hebrew, as I ſuppoſe the Reader will obſerve here: for their Eyes were ſimply opened before, Ver. 6.

Ver. 6. delightful] Tynd. luſty.

Ib. took] Sanchoniatho ſays, that Æon, of whom ſee Chap. i. 26. found out the Way of taking Food from Trees. By which the real Fact, though partly concealed, is confirmed.

Ib. eat] As to the Time when, ſee on Chap. iv. 1.

opened, ſo that they knew themſelves to be naked; and ſewing Fig-leaves together, they made them Girdles.

8. At length they heard the Sound of the Lord God going through the Garden in the Wind that Day; for fear of whom Adam and his Wife hid themſelves, among the Trees there.

9. Upon which the Lord God called Adam, and ſaid to him, Where art thou?

10. Who anſwered, I heard the Sound of thee in the Garden, and being afraid becauſe I was naked, I hid.

11. But he replied, Who told thee that thou waſt naked? Haſt thou eat of the Tree of which I forbade thee to eat?

12. That Woman, ſaid Adam, whom thou didſt put with me, giving me of it, I eat.

13. And upon the Lord God's ſaying to the Woman, Why didſt thou do this? She anſwered, The Serpent ſo deceived me, that I eat.

14. The Lord God then ſaid to the Serpent; Becauſe thou haſt done this, thou ſhalt be curſed from all Cattle, and every wild Beaſt: upon thy Belly ſhalt thou go, and eat Duſt as long as thou liveſt.

15. Beſides I will make Enmity between thee and the Woman, as alſo between thy Offſpring and hers: he ſhall bruiſe thee on the Head, thou him but on the Heel.

16. To the Woman he ſaid, I will exceedingly multiply thy Sorrow with thy Conception, thou ſhalt bear Children in Anguiſh; and thy Mind ſhall be to thy Husband, for he ſhall rule over thee.

17. And he ſaid to Adam; Becauſe thou haſt hearkened to what thy Wife ſaid, and eat of the Tree which I commanded thee that thou ſhouldeſt not; the Ground ſhall be curſed for thy Sake, of which thou ſhalt eat with Grief all the Days of thy Life.

18. For it ſhall produce Thorns and Thiſtles to thee; and thou ſhalt eat the Herbs of the Field;

19. Nay eat Victuals in the Sweat of thy

Ver. 7. knew themſelves to be naked] Before this they were naked, and not aſhamed, Chap. ii. ult. by comparing of which together, as their not being aſhamed that they were naked (like Children) was counted their Ignorance of it, their knowing it now will be their Shame, which Sin brought upon them. The Sight of their Nakedneſs cauſing Shame, is not unaptly, but one may ſay elegantly expreſſed, by their Eyes being opened in ſuch a Manner as to know they were naked. Care ſhould be taken of expounding away the literal Senſe, the Deformity of which will be the more liable to appear if but done in part; as here by making the Nakedneſs ſpiritual, that was covered by material Fig-leaves.

Ib. Girdles] Pagn. cingulos, Munſter and the Tigur. Tranſ. cinctoria, the French, des ceintures, Onkel. זְרוִין Girdles, i. e. Something to gird about them. Perhaps they were ſmall Ozier Sprouts, or ſuch like, thruſt thro' a great many Fig-leaves, which are broad, and tied on like Beads; ſeveral of which might be put one above another; and this might be called ſewing, and would anſwer the Purpoſe for Strength and Covering, far better than any other Way I have heard of. The Word is turned Girdle in com. Tranſ. 2 Sam. xviii. 11. 1 Kings ii. 5. Iſa. iii. 24.

Ver. 8. Sound] Going or walking has not a Voice, nor is it probable they heard the Almighty ſpeak, till he called to Adam after they were hid.

Ib. going through] Accordingly Jun. and Trem. render it, itantem per hortum; and the French Tranſlators, par la jardin. Walking in the Garden, and hid themſelves from the Preſence of, are Expreſſions too low for the Deity, and ſuitable only to a finite Creature.

Ib. in the Wind that Day] or at the windy Time of the Day, i. e. in the Evening, when Breezes of Wind blow in thoſe warm Countries, as I have alſo obſerved here after a very hot Day; and ſo neſheph, Twilight, comes from naſhaph, to blow. God might come in the Wind, as he is ſaid to go upon the Wings of the Wind, Pſal. civ. 3. (which ſeems to be what Adam and Eve heard, and their hearing it the Reaſon it was mentioned) and his Spirit came on the primitive Believers like a ruſhing mighty Wind, Acts ii. 2. So Jun. and Trem. render it, ad ventum illius diei, as Munſter does ad ventum diei; and Jerome ſhews that Aquila tranſlated, ἐν τῷ ἀνέμῳ τῆς ἡμέρας in the Wind of the Day. The Word no otherwiſe ſignifies cool. Thus the divine Reproofs or Dread ſeize Sinners at the Time of Affliction, Hoſ. v. 15. Pſal. cxix. 67. 2 Chron. vi. 37. & xxxiii. 12. Chap. xlii. 21. beſt denoted by the Wind.

Ib. that Day] The Article ה before Day uſually ſignifies this or that, Chap. xxiv. 42. Pſal. ii. 7. & cxix. 91. 1 Sam. xxii. 15. 2 Sam. xix. 6. Deut. xxxiv. 12. ſo 1 Sam. xiv. 34. that Night.

Ib. for fear of] It was impoſſible for them to hide themſelves from the Preſence of God, who fills Heaven and Earth, Jer. xxiii. 24. מִפְּנֵי frequently ſignifies by reaſon of, or for fear of, as Ainſworth explains it; and ſo it is rendered by our Tranſlators, Judg. ix. 21. 1 Sam. xxi. 10. & xxiii. 26. Jer. xli. 9. & l. 16.

Ver. 10. hid] It is not the Conjugation Hithpahel for ſelf as Ver. 8. being elegantly varied.

Ver. 11. Who] Sol. Jar. writes on it, מאין לך לדעת מה בושת יש בעומד ערום From whence doſt thou know what Shame there is in being naked?

Ver. 13. Why &c.] as the like in Judg. ii. 2. & viii. 1. ſee alſo on Exod. xii. 26.

Ib. deceived] See 1 Tim. ii. 14. Rev. xii. 9.

Ver. 14. curſed from all Cattle] From their Company, being uncapable of going with them, and from the Bleſſing they enjoyed of eating Vegetables; thus much the Words immediately following inform us, and ſo it is like Ch. iv. 11. curſed from the Ground. So alſo the Sept. have tranſlated, which Simon ignorantly aſſerts does make no Senſe, Crit. Hiſt. B. 2. Ch. 4. The other Beaſts and Cattle too were not curſed, being all very good, Ch. i. 31.

Ver. 15. hers] Why not his, ſince the Male Genealogy is uſually counted, or rather theirs; but becauſe Chriſt was to be born of a Woman without Man?

Ib. bruiſe] The Analogy is kept to of a Man's treading on the Head of a Serpent with his Heel.

Ver. 16. with] Not and thy Conception; for Conception it ſelf was a Bleſſing, not a Curſe, Chap. i. 28.

Ib. in Anguiſh] It is obſerved by Ariſtotle and others, that no other Creature brings forth its Young, with ſo much Pain and Difficulty as a Woman, Hiſt. Animal. vii. 9.

Ib. Mind] See Chap. iv. 7.

Ver. 17. for thy Sake] Author of Vulg. Lat. in thy Work, Septuag. Works, and Theod. in thy Tranſgreſſion; the former through Miſtake perhaps of the Letter ר for ד; and none of them ſufficiently underſtanding the Original.

Ver. 18. Thiſtles] or rather Weeds, only that Interpretation is new.

Brows,

Brows, till thou returneſt to the Ground, ſince thou waſt taken out of it: for thou haſt been Earth, and ſhalt turn to Earth again.

20. And Adam named his Wife Eve, becauſe ſhe was the Mother of every one living.

21. The Lord God alſo made Coats of Skins for Adam and his Wife, and cloathed them.

22. However he ſaid, Lo is Adam become like one of us, in knowing Good and Evil? Now therefore care is to be taken leſt he ſhould put forth his Hand, and taking likewiſe of the Tree of Life, eat, that he may live for ever.

23. So the Lord God ſent him out of the Garden of Eden, to till the Ground from whence he was taken.

24. And having driven him out, he placed Cherubs at the Eaſt of it, with a flaming Sword that turned about, to keep the Way to the Tree of Life.

CHAP. IV.

AND Adam had the knowledge of Eve his Wife, ſo that ſhe conceived, and bearing Cain, ſaid, I have gained the Lord with a Man.

Ver. 19. haſt been] That is really, not comparatively as Chap. xviii. 27. and hereby is avoided the jarring which is between art and ſhalt thou return; for how ſhould he return to that which he then was?

Ib. Earth] Look Chap. ii. 7. ſo Tyndal's Tranſlation has it.

Ib. turn—again] So Job xxxiv. 15. Eccleſ. iii. 20.

Ver. 20. Eve] Heb. Havah, Life, from hayah, lived.

Ver. 21. made] which might be only by the Death of a Calf and Colt, or the like.

Ver. 22. is Adam] or Adam is ironically, in the ſame Senſe, but more obſcure; which is according to the beſt Interpreters, whom I need not particularize.

Ib. care is to be taken] The Sentence is evidently and confeſſedly imperfect. Such Phraſes, ſays Ainſworth, are uſual, as Gen. xxxviii. 11. and xlii. 4. to which add Job xxxvi. 18. Iſa. xxxvi. 18. Jun. and Trem. inſert videndum, like this: in Caſtalio's and the Tigurin Verſion is periculum eſt, there is Danger. The joining it to the next Verſe, ſeems only to alter it from defective to abſurd.

Ver. 24. Cherubs] Cherubims is improper, if we conſider that im is the Heb. Termination of plural Nouns maſculine, as s is the common Ending of our Nouns plural; ſo that it has a double plural Ending, as if we ſhould ſay, Feets, Teeths, Sheeps, Mens, &c. which to avoid, ſome have uſed Cherubim plurally, ſomewhat more tolerable than the other. They are ſuppoſed to be Angels, the Repreſentation of whom was afterwards put over the Mercy-ſeat, in a human Shape as ſuppoſed with Wings; vid. Exod. xxvii. 7, 8, 9. 1 King. vi. 23, 27. but by Ezek. x. 14. compared with Ch. i. 10. appear to have a Face like an Ox.

Ver. 1. ſo that] Tranſlators have made knew his Wife ſuperfluous. Not only ſo, but an Error has been founded on it, that their firſt carnal Knowledge was after the Fall, on which Bayle in his Dictionary under Abel lays great Streſs; but it is eaſily refuted by thus ſignificantly rendering it, as alſo by Ver. 17. 1 Sam. i. 19. for who will pretend that Elkanah did not know Hannah till they had been married ſeveral Years, Ver. 7. or Cain his Wife till they dwelt in Nod? As they were doubtleſs married before he murdered Abel, which appears to be but a little before the Birth of Seth, Ver. 25. Chap. v. 3. And indeed who would have him for a Huſband juſt after the Murder? But even ſuppoſing that to be, if the Murder did not hinder their Marriage, much leſs would it hinder their cohabiting thus together. This however is not all, as Errors are naturally pregnant: for on the Suppoſition that Adam did not know Eve before their Fall, it is inferred they fell the ſame Day they were created, or very ſoon; againſt which I have this to object, viz. It is improbable, as being unneceſſary, that there were more than two Beaſts of a Sort created, a Male and Female to propagate, according to Patrick's Obſervation on Chap. i. 29. and we find God making our firſt Parents Coats of Skins preſently after the Fall and Curſe, Chap. iii. 21. as they were then immediately wanting; which conſequently could not be before thoſe Creatures had bred, becauſe it would deſtroy the Species, ſince none I ſuppoſe will pretend that God created more Beaſts only for their Skins, and that before thoſe were wanted; beſides the Creation being in Autumn, Chap. i. 1. the Trees would not have Fruit for Eve to gather in the Winter; after which was probably the Time of the Tranſgreſſion. Loridano indeed in his Life of Adam ventures to aſſert, that Adam was in Paradiſe but three Hours before he diſobeyed; which may ſerve for Company among other of his crude Notions. And did not the Progenitors of Mankind live before that in Obedience to the divine Command, Chap. i. 28? ſee Milt. Par. Loſt, B. iv. and on the other hand what miſerable Work is made with the contrary Opinion, for Inſtance, in Biblioth. Bibl. Occaſ. Annot. 8.

Ib. Cain] From kanah, he purchaſed or gained. Sanchoniatho relates, that of Protogonos and Æon, the firſt Man and Woman, were begotten Genos & Genea, that is Cain and his Wife, which Names ſignify the Male and Female Offſpring.

Ib. gained the Lord] With which agrees 1 Tim. ii. 14, 15. Eth before the Lord denoting the Accuſative, may determine that ſhe meant ſhe had gained him, that is got his Favour again which ſhe had loſt; or purchaſed him, as it were, with this Son. We find Leah ſpeaking much after the ſame Manner, concerning her Huſband, at the Birth of three of her Sons, Reuben, Levi and Zebulun. It is likely Eve might take it for a Sign of God's Favour reſtored to her, that he ſuffered her to increaſe the World: for that was his Bleſſing to them, Ch. i. 28. Gell and others own the Lord to be taken accuſatively, by rendering gotten the Man the Lord, and Luther in his high Dutch Tranſ. gotten a Man which is the Lord, as if Eve thought Cain was the promiſed Seed; but it is quite improbable that ſhe took her Child to be the Lord, ſignifying in Heb. the Supreme Divine Being, nor is there the accuſative Article before Man as before Lord. Iſh, a Man, is here a naked Word without any Prefix, in which manner Words are often left in Heb. (as always in Latin) ſignifying the Inſtrument with which Something is done, the Letter ב being omitted by reaſon of the Frequency of it. Examples are Zeph. i. 9. with Violence and with Deceit, Hab. ii. 9. with Gold and with Silver, Judg. xviii. 11. with Inſtruments of War, Zech. iii. 3. with filthy Garments, Lam. iii. 15. with Wormwood, Pſa. xc. 14. with thy Kindneſs, Ex. iii. 8. with Milk and Honey; and divers others. For a parallel Phraſe to this, ſee Gen. ii. 7. where to follow the com. Tranſ. here, muſt be read, formed Duſt from Man; others in this Book are Chap. vi. 14. & xii. 17. & xlvii. 12.

2. After which ſhe bore his Brother Abel; who became the Shepherd of the Flock, as Cain was the Tiller of the Ground.

3. So at the End of the Year, Cain brought an Offering to the Lord of the Crop of the Land.

4. And Abel alſo bringing one, of the Firſtlings of his Flock, and of their Fat, the Lord had reſpect to him, and his Offering;

5. But to Cain and his he had none: at which Cain was very angry, and his Countenance loured.

6. Then the Lord ſaid to him; Why art thou angry? And why is thy Look caſt down?

7. If thou doeſt well, will it not be accepted? (But if thou doſt not, Sin lies at the Door;) his Mind alſo will be to thee, for thou ruleſt over him.

8. Nevertheleſs Cain ſpeaking to Abel his Brother; when they were in the Field, he roſe up againſt his Brother Abel, and killed him.

9. Upon this the Lord aſked Cain, Where is Abel thy Brother? Who anſwered, I know not; am I my Brother's Keeper?

10. But he replied; What haſt thou done? The Voice of thy Brother's Blood cries to me from the Ground.

11. Now therefore thou ſhalt be curſed, from the Ground, which opened its Mouth, to receive the ſame from thy Hand.

12. When thou tilleſt the Ground, it ſhall no more yield its Strength to thee: a Wanderer and a Vagabond ſhalt thou be on the Earth.

13. And Cain complained to the Lord; The Puniſhment of my Iniquity is too great to bear.

14. Behold thou driveſt me off to Day from the Surface of the Ground, that I may be hid from thy Face; and when I am a Wanderer and Vagabond on the Earth, whoever finds me will kill me.

15. To whom the Lord ſaid, Therefore whoever kills Cain, it ſhall be revenged ſe-

One Objection to this Interpretation may ariſe, that eth does ſometimes ſignify with, and ſo it may be tranſlated, gained a Man with the Lord: but then that with muſt not be taken inſtrumentally, as above, for by or from, but conjunctively for together with, as Judg. i. 3. the want of which Obſervation ſeems to have miſled Tranſlators. The Verb too denotes ſuch a gaining as is by Purchaſe, which may very well be according to this Verſion, but not by others. The Firſt-born were afterwards ſanctified to the Lord, Exod. xiii. 2. and was not that likewiſe to gain or purchaſe his Favour? And that it was done thus early may appear by Ver. 4.

Ver. 2. After which ſhe bore] Heb. added to bear. Here not unfitly may be inſerted what is written in the Jewiſh Talmud, Lib. Kidduſh. and elſewhere, לעולם ילמד אדם את בנו אומנות נקייה For ever let a Man teach his Son a blameleſs Trade or Employment.

Ib. Flock] The Word comprehends both Sheep and Goats, as may be ſeen Chap. xxx. 32. Lev. i. 10. ſo Buxtorf explains it, ovium ſcilicet & caprarum; and Santes in Theſauro, Significat communiter minuta animalia, ut oves, ut capras.

Ver. 3. Year] the End, as it is in the Original, ſhews it was of ſome determinate Time, and what ſhould that be but a Year, viz. at Autumn when the Corn was ripe, and the Lambs grown fit to kill? That the ſame Word ſo ſignifies, ſee alſo Exod. xiii. 10. Numb. ix. 22. 1 Sam. i. 7. Amos iv. 4. and Ainſ. in Loc.

Ib. brought] not by any Command of God, ſays Grotius in his Annotations; but the contrary Opinion of Patrick, &c. ſeems better, elſe how did God accept Abel's Offering? Or how he perform it rightly, and be righteous in ſo doing, Heb. xi. 4?

Ver. 5. But] The Reaſon we have Heb. xi. 4. which deſtroys the inconſiſtent Fictions that have been invented about it, for which Calmet's Dictionary may be conſulted. Abel it ſeems did it ſpiritually, Cain formally.

Ib. none] Becauſe it was not done well, Ver. 7.

Ib. loured] which is the Word Tynd. uſes, the Biſh. have it abated.

Ver. 7. If thou doeſt well] In Pirke Aboth, Chap. 2. it is written, העושה מצוה אחת קונה לו פרקליט אחד והעובר עבירה אחת קונה לו קטיגור אחד i. e. He who does one Command, gets himſelf one Advocate: and he that commits one Tranſgreſſion, gains to himſelf one Accuſer.

Ib. Mind] As the Mind of a Servant is to his Maſter to pleaſe him, which the Words ruleſt over him ſhew. So it is to be underſtood Chap. iii. 16. and not that Eve's Deſire or Affection to her Huſband, was her Curſe or Puniſhment. To bring Cain out of his Sullenneſs, God not only let him know that he might be accepted, but that his Brother would be ſubject to him.

Ver. 8. ſpeaking to Abel] Perſuading him to go into the Field, that he might kill him: inſomuch that ſome Verſions have added in Let us go into the Field, as it ſeems to me from the Sept. who took ſuch Liberties; for it is unlikely had theſe Words been in the Original, that they would be after left out.

Ver. 11. curſed from the Ground] Not receiving the Increaſe of it as before, nor ſettling upon it, which the next Verſe ſhews. And though he built a City, it is not ſaid he dwelt in it, as Joſh. xix. 50. Judg. viii. 28. His Guilt might drive him from thence, and make it an Addition to his Curſe. Beſides his dwelling in the Country of Nod, appears to be not his ſettling, but wandering about there, from whence it was called Nod, which ſignifies wandering, Pſa. lvi. 8.

Ver. 12. yield] As this was a particular Curſe to Cain, over and above the Barrenneſs which the Earth received from the general one denounced to Adam; ſo Sanchoniatho ſpeaks of great Droughts, where Genos and Genea were.

Ver. 13. The Puniſhment of my Iniquity, &c.] As rendered Lam. iv. 6. The Noun ſignifying moſtly Iniquity, and the Verb ſometimes to forgive, divers have rendered it after this manner, My Iniquity is too great to be forgiven; but as it is eaſy to ſee that this does not agree with what is before and after, ſome noted modern Expounders have thought it better turned into a Queſtion, which I think is no leſs injurious to the Senſe; however the Heb. has no Sign of a Queſtion, as at Ver. 7. The Meaning of thoſe Words is not to be conſidered ſo much apart as together, when they commonly ſignify as I have put it, ſeveral times turned in the com. Tranſ. bear Iniquity, where the Puniſhment of it is to be underſtood, but may be better expreſſed, ſuffer for Iniquity, as I uſually put it; and might be here, My Iniquity is too great to ſuffer for, but with leſs Propriety.

Ver. 14. from thy Face] This is to be looked upon only as the Words of Cain, who having not Faith to believe what God was, an Infinite and All-preſent Being, Heb. xii. 4, 6. ſpoke thus; whoſe whole Speech was extravagant and untrue.

Ver. 15. Therefore] But the 70 Interp. for it not ſo, as though they took לכן for לא כן and conformable to it, as frequently, the Vulgate has, It ſhall by no means be ſo, but, as likewiſe Symmachus & Theodotion, not ſo, but; either in venfold. Beſides the Lord ſhewed a Sign to Cain, that none who found him ſhould ſlay him.

16. Now he going out from before the Lord, dwelt in the Country of Nod, on the Eaſt of Eden.

17. And Cain had the knowledge of his Wife, ſo that ſhe conceived, and bore Enoch; he alſo built a City, and called the Name of it Enoch, like that of his Son.

18. To Enoch likewiſe was born Irad, who begot Mehujael, as he did Methuſael, and this Lamech.

19. Next Lamech took him two Wives; the Name of one was Adah, and the other's Name Zillah.

20. And Adah bore Jabal; he was the firſt of ſuch as dwelt with Tents and Cattle.

21. Whoſe Brother's Name was Jubal; he was the firſt of all who played upon the Harp and Organ.

22. And Zillah too bore Tubal-cain, a Maker of all Edge-tools with Steel and Iron; his Siſter being Naamah.

23. And Lamech ſaid to theſe his Wives; Hear what I ſay, you Wives of Lamech, give ear to my Expreſſion; becauſe I have killed a Man to my own Wounding, and a young Man to my Hurt:

24. Since Cain ſhall have Vengeance taken ſevenfold, ſo ſhall Lamech ſeventy and ſevenfold.

25. Adam moreover had the knowledge of his Wife again, ſo that ſhe brought forth a Son, and called his Name Seth: for God has put me, ſaid ſhe, other Offſpring inſtead of Abel, becauſe Cain ſlew him.

the ſame Manner, or rendering לכן but, and ſupplying the other; yet Aquila, who may be counted the beſt of the Gr. Tranſlators, has Therefore only, and Onkelos the like in Chald.

Ib. Sign to] The proper and uſual Signification of אות is a Sign, and of ל to; nor is it left in the Hebrew: how much more agreeable to the Context, as well as likely in itſelf this is, I leave to the Reader's Underſtanding.

Ver. 17. Cain] who, Joſephus ſays, invented Weights and Meaſures, Antiq. Lib. i. 3.

Ib. Wife] Abul Pharagius, a noted Author of the Chriſtian Jacobites in Leſſer Armenia about the End of the 13th Century, writes that Cain had a Twin-ſiſter named Azrun, and Abel another named Owain: Eutychius alſo, one of the Melchites and a Patriarch of Alexandria in the 10th Century, ſays in his Annals, that Adam would have Cain marry Abel's Twin-ſiſter, but he would not, becauſe his own was more beautiful. The Hiſtories and Annals of thoſe Authors written in Arabick, have been publiſhed by Pocock at Oxford.

Ver. 18. Enoch] Sanchoniatho carrying on his Hiſtory in the Line of Cain, has the Genealogies from the Beginning to the Flood thus:

1. Protogonos and Æon; ſee Chap. i. 26.
2. Genos and Genea, ſee Ver. 1.
3. Phos, Pyr and Phlox; who found out Fire by rubbing Pieces of Wood together.
4. Caſſios and Libanos, Antilibanos and Brathys; who were Giants, from whom the Names of thoſe Mountains were ſo called.
5. Hypſuranios and Uſôos; who invented, the one Houſes of Reeds, and the other Boats.
6. Agreus and Halieus; who invented Hunting and Fiſhing.
7. Chryſor and another; who invented Iron and Fiſhing-inſtruments.
8. Technites and Geinos; who invented Tiles.
9. Agros and Agrueros; who invented Courts to Houſes, Fences and Cellars.
10. Amynos and Magos; who conſtituted Villages and Flocks.

In the other Line are only two Genealogies inſerted to that Time, viz.

Eliun, ſuppoſed for Lamech; and Uranos, for Noah.

Which are continued in this manner, as Sanchoniatho may be underſtood;

11. Sydyc, Chronos and Nereus, for Shem, Ham and Japheth.
12. Miſor for Mizraim.
13. Thoth and the Cabiri; by whom thoſe Records were firſt kept at Berytus.

Ver. 19. Lamech] Of whom Joſephus relates, that he had 77 Children, Ant. Lib. i. 3. But I query whether there was any more Proof for it, than his living ſo many odd Years, Chap. v. 31. if that be any.

Ver. 22. Tubal-cain] Whence the Heathen Deity Vulcan the Smith plainly, the Heb. being rather [v] than [b;] and this being an Inſtance ſo early, it is more likely that later Perſons and Names after the Flood, were adopted into the Gentile-Divinity.

Ib. a Maker of all Edge-tools with] or Heb. a Sharpener of every Work of; the Verb ſignifying no more to inſtruct, than ſharpen and whet do in Engliſh. The chief Uſe of Iron and Steel at firſt, we may ſuppoſe, was in Tools for cutting Wood, and manuring the Ground, ſuch as had Edges; and therefore the Maker of them might fitly be called a Sharpener. To this conſents דוד קמחי David Kimhi, the celebrated Jewiſh Expoſitor, in his Book of Roots, and of the Tranſlators Pagnin. Caſtal. and Tyndal, with the com. Latin and French Verſions; Vatablus and Sebaſt. Munſt. have it, qui expoliebat, who poliſhed.

Ib. Steel] According to the beſt Underſtanding we have of the Heb. Word, it ſignifies both Braſs and Steel; or as Mercerus on Pagninus ſays, Rabbi Joſeph Kimhi (who was Father to David and Moſes Kimhi) thinks it ſhould every where in Scripture be underſtood Steel. However it is clear enough it ought to be ſo here, by reaſon of the ſharpening, as well as in ſome other Places.

Ver. 23. young Man] It is plain by this that it was not Cain, as has been thought; and likewiſe that it was Somebody (for that too has been denied, it being ſuppoſed to be a Queſtion) ſince it is ſo particularly deſcribed.

Ver. 24. Since &c.] Lamech having killed his Man as it ſeems in fighting, and ſo his Crime much leſs than Cain's.

Ver. 25. a Son] The Banians, as on Chap. i. 27. reckon to the firſt Man and Woman four Sons, named Brammon, Cuttery, Shuddery and Wyſe; but this appears to me a Fiction, made from their Account of the Creation conſiſting of four Elements, with the Quality of which theſe Sons were diſtinctly endued, and from the four Quarters of the Earth, whither they were ſaid to go.

Ib. Seth] Heb. Sheth, derived from its Verb ſhuth, he put. As the Account of ſome Names, with the Reaſons aſſigned for them, even before the Flood, Ch. ii. 23. and iii. 20. and iv. 1. and v. 29. ſhew that one of thoſe Kindred-Languages the Heb. or Chald. was the firſt: ſo this turns the Scale for the former, the Chald. ſhuth being a Noun, ſignifying Meditation or Speech; ſee for it more Mercer on Ch. ii. Fuller in Miſc. Sacr. Lib. iv. 4.

26. And

26. And to Seth himſelf alſo there was a Son born, whom he named Enos. Then it was begun to be called by the Name of the Lord.

CHAP. V.

THIS is the Book of Adam's Generations. On the Day that God created Mankind, he made each of them in his own Likeneſs;

2. Creating them Male and Female: whom he bleſſed, and called their Name Mankind the ſame Day they were created.

3. And Adam living a hundred and thirty Years, begot him in his Likeneſs, after his Similitude, whoſe Name was called Seth.

4. After which his Time was eight hundred Years, and he begot Sons and Daughters.

5. So all the Time which Adam had lived, was nine hundred and thirty Years, when he died.

6. And Seth living a hundred and five Years, begot Enos.

7. After which he lived eight hundred and ſeven Years, and begot Sons and Daughters.

8. So all the Time of Seth was nine hundred and twelve Years, when he died.

9. And Enos living ninety Years, begot Cainan.

10. After which he lived eight hundred and fifteen Years, and begot Sons and Daughters.

11. So all the Time of Enos was nine hundred and five Years, when he died.

12. And Cainan living ſeventy Years, begot Mahalaleel.

13. After which he lived eight hundred and forty Years, and begot Sons and Daughters.

Ver. 26. called by] This Place is not only rendered and underſtood according to our Eng. Bible, but the Verb for begun ſometimes ſignifying to profane, it has been done as if they were then profane, or idolatrous in their worſhip. Whereas the former falls, by conſidering that God muſt needs be, and was worſhipped before; the latter, as he was in Seth's not Cain's Family, and becauſe when the Word ſignifies to profane, it has a Noun, not a Verb following it as here. The Original has not Men, on the contrary the Verb is ſingular, as agreeing with Enos, probably the firſt of Seth's Poſterity, who are agreed to be thoſe called the Sons of God, Chap. vi. 2. which way of Appellation began it ſeems by this Text, and as it is natural to ſuppoſe with Enos; ſee the Annotations of the eminent Hugo Grotius. Thus thoſe two Paſſages caſt Light on each other. Here now appears a Reaſon for the Verb being ſingular, which otherwiſe is diſagreeable; as alſo paſſive, ſince it would be improper to ſay he began when it related to many others, and it began would be more abſurd. A Tranſlator has not only the Senſe of Places to get with an Expoſitor, but after that as great or a greater Difficulty to expreſs them aptly, which is ſtill heightened when it is to be done literally.

Ver. 1. Generations] Beroſus, a Prieſt of Belus at Babylon, who lived in the Time of Alexander called the Great and after, wrote a Hiſtory of the Chaldeans, in a Fragment of which, that is preſerved in the Chronicon of Euſebius, p. 5. or compoſed by Scaliger from Euſebius, and in Syncel. p. 18. he relates, agreeable to the ten Generations here, that there were ten Kings of Chaldea before the Flood, Alorus, Alaſparus, Amelon, Amenon, Metalarus, Daonus, Euedorachus, Amphis, Otiartes, and Xiſuthrus.

Manetho, a Prieſt of Heliopolis in Egypt, wrote the Antiquities of that Country, in the Reign of Ptolemy Philadelphus, in the Quotations of which, remaining in the Chronographia of Syncellus, an Abbot under the Patriarch of Conſtantinople, there is the following Account, Shuckf. Connec. B. i. p. 21.

113	Gods reigned — —	36525	Years.
8	Demi-gods — — —	217
15	Heroes — — —	443

Shuckford rationally obſerves, that an entire Revolution of the Heavenly Bodies being counted 36525 Years, and the Egyptians worſhipping them, the firſt Number may be accounted for in ſuch a manner; to which may be added, that 113 might have Names given them, eſpecially as there are about ſo many remarkable Stars in the northern Hemiſphere. The other two Numbers he ſuppoſes to be the Time that Egypt was peopled before the Flood, and that thoſe Demi-gods and Heroes were not all ſucceſſive; I would alſo add to this, that by the former ſeem to be intended ſome of the Poſterity of Seth, called the Sons of God, Ch. vi. 2. and by the latter ſome of Cain's, or rather the Giants who came from both, Ch. vi. 4. conſidering that the Heb. Scripture was then firſt tranſlated into Greek, by Order of that very King to whom Manetho was Keeper of his Library, and dedicated his Book to him; the Tranſlation too being done towards the Beginning of that King's Reign, Manetho may well be thought acquainted with the Scripture Account, nay has been ſuppoſed to write his Antiquities with the Deſign of making them more ancient than the Hiſtory of Moſes, in Honour to his own Nation. Since Cain alſo went eaſtward, Ch. iv. 16. it is not likely that his Poſterity poſſeſſed Egypt firſt; and it is probable the Giants might have it afterwards, Ch. vi. 11. Beſides if we examine the Space of 217 Years at the Diſtance of 443 Years before the Flood, we ſhall find that theſe eight of Seth's Line lived in that Time, Seth, Enos, Cainan, Mahalaleel, Jared, Methuſelah, Lamech and Noah. Now though the Egyptians might have a Tradition of the Number of Perſons and Years, they probably had not of their Names, as it was reduced to the Memory of Noah only; and ſo they might aſcribe the Names of their inferior Deities to them, which is done thus in Diodorus Siculus, Lib. i. Sol, Saturn, Rhea, Jupiter, Juno, Vulcan, Veſta, Mercury.

Ver. 2. Mankind] as we read, Chap. i. 26.

Ver. 3. a hundred] I have framed the following Tables to find out readily what Age each Perſon was of (the Time of whoſe Birth and Death may be known) when many remarkable Things were done, which the Scriptures give us Account of, with the Age of the World, &c. adding the Years of the Julian Period, invented by Scaliger, which begin on our New-year's Day, as in the Almanacks; and by thoſe that have this Reckoning, it may be known at a ſingle Subſtraction how long ago any other Year here inſerted was: by which alſo this Chronology may be eaſily and readily compared with others, where thoſe Years are now commonly uſed, as comprehending and as it were bringing all other Epochas into this one.

14. So

14. So all the Time of Cainan was nine hundred and ten Years, when he died.

15. And Mahalaleel living ſixty five Years, begot Jared.

2348	1664										599	96	The Flood came, Ch. vii. 6.

All Writers, who have undertaken to calculate the Space of Time from the Creation to the Flood, have I think miſſed it. Such as were not miſled by the Greek and Samaritan Copies (for the Refutation of which I refer to Beaford's Scripture Chronology, Book i. Chap. 5.) but computed from the Hebrew, have ſtated it at 1656 Years; by ſuppoſing the Son was born when the Scripture ſays he was begot, and that invariably each of them at the End of ſuch a Year of his Father's Life; Poſitions methinks too improbable to be allowed, much leſs ſo generally received.

Since Moſes ſays nothing of the odd Months or Days, and This might probably live one, That two, and Another three Quarters of a Year, longer than the Time mentioned when they begot a Son; a Medium for one with another would be half a Year overplus: ſo the Time is ſaid to be ſeven Years, 1 Kings ii. 11. which was ſeven Years and ſix Months, 2 Sam. v. 5. But if any of them lived almoſt the Year out, or till the laſt Quarter, it was counted for a Year, then between one Quarter before, and three Quarters of a Year after, the mean Time is one Quarter more than the Years mentioned. By this Allowance, moderate as it is, if Adam when he had lived 130¼ Years, begot Seth, he was 131 at Seth's Birth, as in the Table, and ſo of the reſt. According to the other Account, Methuſelah muſt have lived till the End of the Flood, when Noah was 600 Years old, Ch. vii. 11. & ix. 28, 29. he being not 969 before by that Reckoning, as may be ſeen by adding 187, Chap. v. 25. 182, Ver. 28. and 600 together: To avoid which, the Index to the preſent Fol. Bible has it computed with others, that he died before he was 969 Years old, in Contradiction to the Text. But Methuſelah's dying in the Year before the Flood (which might be but a ſmall Time) is highly probable; for his Name is in Heb. dead and a Dart, as (with little Alteration) obſerves Bochart in Phaleg. Lib. ii. 13. Broughton on the Epiſtle of Jude, &c. when he was dead, the Dart of Deſtruction or Vengeance ſmote the World; which his Father Enoch, being a Prophet, Jude 14. ſeems to have had the Foreknowledge of, and ſo named him thus. From whence we may alſo take notice of God's great Favour and Long-ſuffering towards the Inhabitants of the Earth, who notwithſtanding he would fulfil what he had revealed to Enoch, lengthened the Time, by cauſing his Son to live the longeſt of all Men; and perhaps added to his Life the 120 Years mentioned Chap. vi. 3. as 15 were to Hezekiah's, 2 Kings xx. 6. So Mahalaleel, i. e. a Praiſer of God, being born in 16. After which he lived eight hundred and thirty Years, and begot Sons and Daughters.

17. So all the Time of Mahalaleel was eight hundred ninety five Years, when he died.

18. And Jared living a hundred ſixty two Years, begot Enoch.

19. After which he lived eight hundred Years, and begot Sons and Daughters.

20. So all the Time of Jared was nine hundred ſixty two Years, when he died.

21. And Enoch living ſixty five Years, begot Methuſelah.

22. After which he walked continually with God three hundred Years, and begot Sons and Daughters.

23. So all the Time of Enoch was three hundred ſixty five Years.

24. Then he having walked ſo with God, was gone; for God took him.

25. And Methuſelah living a hundred eighty ſeven Years, begot Lamech.

26. After which he lived ſeven hundred eighty two Years, and begot Sons and Daughters.

27. So all the Time of Methuſelah was nine hundred ſixty nine Years, when he died.

28. And Lamech living a hundred eighty two Years, begot a Son:

29. Whoſe Name he called Noah, ſaying, This will comfort us for our Work, and for the Labour of our Hands, by the Ground which the Lord has curſed.

30. And Lamech lived after he begot Noah five hundred ninety five Years, and begot Sons and Daughters.

31. So his whole Time was ſeven hundred ſeventy ſeven Years, when he died.

32. Laſtly Noah being in his five hundredth Year, begot Shem, Ham and Japheth.

CHAP. VI.

AND when the Men began to multiply upon the Surface of the Ground, and they had Daughters born;

2. The Sons of God ſeeing the Daughters of Men that they were beautiful, took them Wives whomſoever they choſe.

3. Then the Lord ſaid, My Spirit ſhall not always ſtrive with Man, becauſe even he is fleſhly; his Time however ſhall be a hundred and twenty Years.

the 8th Jubile of the World, and when his Father was 70 Years old, might likely have his Name from thence; which agrees preciſely with this Chronology, and this only. I would add, that begetting and being born are not to be taken one for the other in Heb. any more than in Engliſh; beſides it is ſpoken of the Father, not of the Mother nor Son; ſee Chap. xi. 10.

Ib. him—whoſe Name was called] For Eve named him, Chap. iv. 25. The Heb. Verb is in other Places to be thus underſtood, or taken paſſively, Chap. xxv. 26. & xxix. 34. & xi. 9. with many more. By adding a Son, it may ſeem as if Cain and Abel were not in his Likeneſs.

Ver. 7. Sons] Joſephus writes, that the Sons of Seth erected two Pillars, one of Brick and the other of Stone, on which were engraved their Diſcoveries in Aſtronomy; and that the latter then remained in Syria, which was after the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem by the Romans, Antiq. Lib. i. 3.

Ver. 18. Enoch] It is Hanoch in com. Bible, Ch. xxv. 4. & xlvi. 9. and Henoch, 1 Chron. i. 33. but all three are one Name in the Original.

Ver. 22. he walked] Abu'l Pharagius relates that he was very learned, as well as virtuous, and thought to be the ancient Hermes or Triſmegiſtus, Hiſtoria Dynaſtarum, pag. 9. Not only Tertullian, De Idololatria, and Clemens Alexandrinus in Excerptis, affirm that they had ſeen Writings of Enoch, but Origen mentions them as quoted by Celſus, the great Adverſary of the Chriſtian Religion, Contra Celſum, Lib. v. as does alſo Iræneus, Lib. iv. It is likewiſe ſaid to be cited in Zohar, counted one of the moſt ancient Books of the Jews that is extant in their Rabbinical Language. Tertullian ſays, the Book was intituled The Revelation of Enoch, wherein the Paſſage mentioned Jude 14, 15. was written.

Ibid. walked continually] The Verb in the Conjugation Hithpahel ſignifying ſo; and thus Jun. and Trem. render it, viz. ambulavitque indeſinenter.

Ver. 24. gone] which we uſe for dead. Tynd, &c. was no more ſene.

Ver. 29. Noah] From naham, he comforted, (and ſo does not ſignify Reſt, as Expoſitors ſay) which the ſucceeding Words ſhew, taking part of the Root, as in Abraham, Ch. xvii. 5. as if he meant, This Son will comfort us in part, though we do labour; Noah becoming a Preacher of Righteouſneſs in that wicked Age, 2 Pet. ii. 5. Other Interpretations ſeem leſs ſuitable, and if accepted may be along with this, that Noah might make Improvements in Huſbandry, &c.

Ib. Labour] by Tynd. and others Sorow.

Ver. 32. in his] See Chap. vii. 6.

Ib. begot] Interpreters expound it that he began to beget theſe Sons, as of Terah, Chap. xi. 26. It appears that Japheth was the eldeſt by Chap. x. 21. and conſequently was begotten at this Time, as I have put it in the Table; that Ham was the youngeſt by Chap. ix. 24. and that Shem was begotten three Years after Japheth, and in the five hundred and ſecond Year of Noah's Life by Chap. xi. 10. Shem I imagine was put firſt for his Dignity, and Japheth laſt for the better Sound in Pronunciation.

Ver. 1. the Men] Cain's Race in Diſtinction from that of Seth, as in the following Verſe, here being alſo the Article ה for the in Engliſh.

Ib. upon the] Biſh. in the upper.

Ib. they had Daughters] Patrick's Remark is groundleſs, that they had now more than twice as many Daughters as Sons, eſpecially when multiply is rather ſaid of the Men.

Ver. 2. whomſoever] ם being here redundant, as in Lev. vi. 5. Jer. xl. 7. Deut. xv. 7.

Ver. 3. always] This Verſe ſhews that לעלם is not reſtricted to 50 nor 100 Years; ſee Buxt. Lex.

Ib. even he] who is a rational Being, and ſpiritually endowed.

Ib. a hundred and twenty] The Chaldeans reckoned to the Reigns of their ten firſt Dynaſties or Kings (which Number is the ſame with the Scripture Account) from Alarus or Adam, to Xiſuthrus or Noah incluſive, 120

4. There

4. There were Giants on the Earth in thoſe Days, and likewiſe afterwards, whom upon the Sons of God going in to the Daughters of Men they bore to them: theſe were ſtrong, who were renowned Men of old Time.

5. And the Lord ſeeing that Man's Wickedneſs was great in the World, and every Idea of the Thoughts of his Mind only evil daily;

6. He was ſorry becauſe he had made Mankind on the Earth, and was grieved at his Heart.

7. So the Lord ſaid, I will deſtroy Man whom I have created, from the Surface of the Ground; and not only Man, but alſo the Beaſts, creeping Things, and Fowls of the Air: for I am ſorry becauſe I made them.

8. However Noah was in favour with the Lord.

9. Theſe were his Offspring, who was a righteous perfect Man in his Age, that walked continually with God:

10. He begot three Sons, Shem, Ham and Japheth.

11. But the Earth was corrupt before God; it being full of Violence.

12. And he took particular notice that it was corrupted, becauſe all Fleſh had made its Way corrupt on the Earth.

13. Upon this God ſaid to Noah: The End of all Mortals is come before me, for the Earth is filled with Violence by their means; lo therefore I will deſtroy them with it.

14. Make thee an Ark of Cypreſs-wood, doing it with Lodgings; and pitch it both on the Inſide and Outſide with Pitch.

15. And in this manner ſhalt thou make it; let three hundred Cubits be the Length of the Ark, fifty Cubits its Breadth, and the Height of it thirty.

16. Thou ſhalt make a Light to the Ark, and finiſh it a Cubit above, as alſo put the Door of it in its Side: making it into lower, ſecond and third Stories.

17. For behold I my ſelf will bring a Flood of Water upon the Earth, to deſtroy all Fleſh in which there is the Faculty of Life from under Heaven: all that is on the Land ſhall die.

18. But I confirm my Covenant with thee, that thou ſhalt go into the Ark, thy Sons, thy Wife, and Sons Wives along with thee;

Saroi, and each Saros to be 3600 Years, making the whole 432000 Years, Syncel. p. 17, 38. Stillingfleet's Origines Sacræ, Book i. 5. 4. This Chronologers have been much puzzled to deal with, to little Satisfaction; but the Truth of the Matter ſeems to me as follows: They having ſome Knowledge of Moſes's Account, and underſtanding it was 120 Years to the Flood, and their Year being then 360 Days, which multiplied by the Dynaſties was 3600; from hence they framed the foregoing extravagant Computation, which is to be reconciled to the Scripture, I ſuppoſe, no otherwiſe.

Ver. 4. whom] Beſides that aſher is the Heb. Relative, when reads as if thoſe Women did not bear Giants till after that, and yet that there were Giants then by ſome other Means; neither of which are allowable: notwithſtanding Patrick's Commentary runs thus, "In thoſe Days] "i. e. Before the Sons of God married with the Daughters of Men;" whereas it is evident thoſe Days were when they married.

Ib. ſtrong] ſo did what they liſted, Ver. 13. for which Reaſon their being ſtrong might be mentioned.

Ver. 5. the Lord] Here is an open Miſtake in the preſ. Tranſ. or following the old corrupt Lat. Bible, which has Deus, God; inſtead of the Original Hebrew, from which it would have been the LORD.

Ib. Idea] the Reſult or Object of Thoughts.

Ver. 6. ſorry becauſe] His making them was an Occaſion remotely, that he was now ſorry for their Wickedneſs: whereas repenting, which muſt imply a having done amiſs, is not only inconſiſtent with the All-Holy, Wiſe and Unchangeable God, but the Scripture expreſsly tells us he does not repent, Numb. xxiii. 19. 1 Sam. xv. 29. It may indeed be objected, that the Original Verb is the ſame there as here; which will however admit of this ſufficient Anſwer, that as divers ſingle Words in all Languages have different Meanings, to be determined by the Uſe that is made of them, נחם is certainly ſuch a one, as it uſually ſignifies to comfort.

Ver. 9.] The Jews have divided the five Books of Moſes into 54 Sections or Leſſons, to be read on their Sabbath Days, beginning after the Feaſt of Tabernacles; which are finiſhed in a Year by reading two together twice. This Verſe begins the Second Leſſon, each of which they call Paraſhah, putting commonly the firſt Letter of that Word three Times before it. They have alſo another Leſſon anſwering to every one of theſe, out of the Prophets, &c. named Haphtarah.

Ver. 11. corrupt before God] The following Words ſhewing Mankind were ſo bad, that the Lord took ſuch notice of it as to puniſh them; ſee Chap. xviii. 20, 21.

Ver. 14. Cypreſs] Which ſeems plain by the Durableneſs of this Wood, its growing plentifully in Aſſyria, as Authors ſhew, and eſpecially by the Analogy of the Words; for כ being inſtead of ג as has been obſerved to be in other Words, the Hebrew might be read without the Points Cyper; ſee Bedford's Scripture Chronology, Book i. 9. 3, &c.

Ver. 15. in this manner] Heb. this is what.

Ib. Cubits] Greaves of the Roman Foot, p. 40. Arbuthnot on Weights and Meaſures, Tab. 4. Cumberland of Scripture Weights and Meaſures, p. 34, 40, 43. and Ward (to name no more) Math. Guide, p. 38. agree that a Cubit was 21,888 Inches: according to which the Ark had theſe Dimenſions,

	Poles	Feet	Inches
Length	33	2	8
Breadth	5	8	8
Height	3	5	2

Ver. 16. Light] I ſuppoſe it to be a Row of Lattice or ſeveral Holes, perhaps almoſt or quite round the Ark for Light and Air, with ſufficient Strength between to ſupport the upper Part.

Ib. finiſh it] The Ark, not the Light, as the fem. Pronoun in the Original ſhews. The Sides of the Ark might be a Cubit higher, and then turn in for a Covering.

Ver. 18. Sons] Patrick makes here the following Remark in his Commentary; "This Paſſage ſhows the Ark "was not an hundred Years in building: for none of "theſe Sons were born an hundred Years before the "Flood." Whereas the learned Author ſeems not to have minded, that as God knew Noah would have Sons, he might well ſpeak it before they were born: on the contrary by his manner of reaſoning, it muſt be alſo after

19. And

19. And ſhalt have of all living Things of all Fleſh, two of every Sort into the Ark, to keep alive with thee, which ſhall be Male and Female.

20. Of the Fowls and Beaſts of each Kind, of all manner of creeping Things of the Ground; two of every Sort ſhall come to thee, that thou mayeſt keep them alive.

21. Do thou therefore take thee of all Food that is eat, which thou ſhalt gather to thee; that it may be for thee, and them to eat.

22. Thus Noah did, doing entirely according as God commanded him.

CHAP. VII.

THE Lord afterwards ſaid to him; Go thou and all thy Family into the Ark, ſince I have ſeen thee to be righteous before me in this Age:

2. Taking to thee of all clean Beaſts by ſevens, and of ſuch as are unclean two, of each the Male and his Female;

3. Of the Fowls of the Air likewiſe by ſevens, the Cock and the Hen; to keep Offſpring alive all over the Earth:

4. Becauſe ſeven Days hence I ſhall make it rain upon the Earth, forty Days and forty Nights; that I may deſtroy all living Subſtance which I have made, from the Face of the Ground.

5. So did Noah altogether as the Lord commanded him;

6. He being in his ſix hundredth Year, when the Flood of Water was on the Earth:

7. For Noah went, having his Sons, his Wife, and Sons Wives with him, into the Ark, by reaſon of the Water of the Flood.

8. Of the clean Beaſts, and of thoſe that were unclean, as likewiſe of Fowls, and all Things which did creep on the Ground,

9. There came by Couples to Noah into the Ark, the Male and Female; according as God had ordered him.

10. And on the ſeventh Day the Water of the Deluge was upon the Earth.

11. In the ſix hundredth Year of Noah's Life, on the ſeventeenth Day of the ſecond Month, were all the Fountains of the vaſt Ocean broken up, and the Flood-gates of Heaven thrown open.

12. And there was a Storm of Rain upon the Earth, forty Days and forty Nights.

13. That ſame Day did Noah, Shem, Ham and Japheth, his Sons, Noah's Wife, and the three Wives of his Sons with them, go into the Ark;

14. As alſo every Kind of Beaſts, of Cattle, of Reptiles that creeped on the Earth, and of Birds, all manner of winged Fowls.

all three of them had Wives, which appears to be a very little while before the Flood, by their having no Child, too ſhort a Time for building the Ark; the Addition to which daily, by Computation made, for 120 Years, would be not much leſs than two thouſand Pound Weight.

Ver. 2, 3. by ſevens] The odd one ſeems to be for Sacrifice, Ch. viii. 20. and the Number greater of theſe than of the unclean, becauſe they were to be eat after the Flood, Chap. ix. 3. the different Sorts of which Beaſts may be ſeen, Deut. xiv. 4, 5. The Heb. being ſeven ſeven, Poole pleads that there were fourteen, as the two is not doubled; whereas the latter is alſo in Ver. 9. without and between, as tranſlated in the com. Bib. and is the Heb. Idiom for what is here rendered.

Ver. 6. in his ſix hundredth Year] Heb. the Son or Offſpring of ſix hundred Year, his Life being compriſed therein; and ſo not 600 Years old, but in his ſix hundredth Year, as alſo Ver. 11. plainly declares, and Chap. ix. 28, 29. ſhews that he was 600 Years old when the Flood was over. Thus the Son of a Year in Exod. xii. 5. is rendered by our Tranſlators a Male of the firſt Year; ſee too Exod. xxix. 38. and accordingly Ainſworth ſhews from the Jewiſh Writers, that the Lamb muſt be leſs than a Year old, and might be of any Age after eight Days. In like manner, that a Son of eight Days, Gen. xvii. 12. to be circumciſed, was one in his eighth Day, the following Places inform us, Lev. xii. 3. Luke i. 59. Acts vii. 8. Phil. iii. 5. that one Sabbath might firſt be over, according to Menahem on Gen. xvii. It is done commonly in the Morning of the eighth Day, Buxt. Synag. Jud. Cap. 4. and, as the Jews have told me, that Day Week on which the Child is born: this the Days kept for the Birth and Circumciſion of Chriſt likewiſe exhibit; read Ainſworth's Annotations on Chap. v. 32. & xvii. 12. Exod. xii. 5.

Ver. 7. Wife] According to Eutychius her Name was Haical, and ſhe was the Daughter of Namuſa the Son of Enoch, as the Wives of Noah's Sons were the Daughters of Methuſelah, Shem's Wife being called Salit, Ham's Nahlat, and Japheth's Ariſiſah; Annales, p. 35.

Ver. 9. According as God bade Noah take them in with him, ſo they came to him.

Ver. 10. on the ſeventh Day] which it muſt be to agree with Ver. 4. beſides that the Heb. Prefix is not after, but at or on.

Ver. 11. Fountains] whereby Paſſage was opened for the ſubterraneous Waters, which may extend to the Center of the Earth; where if a ſufficient Vacuum were made, by reaſon of central Fire or otherwiſe, the Earth muſt of conſequence be univerſally drowned. The Attraction of the upper Water by a Comet, or any other Way that would not require the Springs of the Deep to be broke open, does not ſeem coherent with this Scripture Account. It is obſervable that thoſe Fountains were afterwards ſhut up or contracted as before, Chap. viii. 2. Prov. iv. 4.

Ib. Flood-gates] as in the Eng. Margin. The Latin Interpreters agree moſtly in rendering it cataractæ; the Greek likewiſe has καταῤῥάκται, and the French les bondes.

Ib. thrown open] The Terror of this tremendous Period would be agreeably painted in the Words, ſo far as is conſiſtent with literal Tranſlation.

Ver. 12. Storm of Rain] as the Hebrew properly ſignifies.

Ib. forty Days] So not all Night, as ſays Henry on Ch. viii. inter fines, probably it was while the Rain was deſcending.

15. Thoſe

15. Thoſe went into the Ark to Noah, by Pairs of all Fleſh, wherein there was the Faculty of Life.

16. And they that entered, did Male and Female of all Fleſh, as God had commanded him; and the Lord ſhut him in.

17. And the Deluge being forty Days on the Earth, the Water increaſed, inſomuch that it lifted up the Ark, raiſing it up from the Ground.

18. Then it was powerful, and increaſed exceedingly on the Earth, and the Ark floated atop of the Water.

19. Which at laſt had power on the Earth ſo exceeding much, that all the high Mountains which were under the whole Heaven being covered;

20. The Water prevailed fifteen Cubits upward, when they were overwhelmed.

21. Whereby all Fleſh expired that moved on the Earth, of the Fowls, Cattle, Beaſts, and all crawling Things that crawled upon the Ground; with all Mankind.

22. Every Thing in whoſe Noſtrils was the Breath of the Faculty of Life, of all which was on the dry Land, died.

23. Thus all living Subſtance that was on the Surface of the Ground, both Man and Beaſt, with the creeping Things, and Fowls of the Air, were deſtroyed from the Earth; ſo that Noah only was left, and ſuch as were with him in the Ark.

24. And the Water prevailed upon the Earth a hundred and fifty Days.

CHAP. VIII.

HOWEVER as God remembred Noah, and all the Beaſts and Cattle that were with him in the Ark, he made a Wind paſs over the Earth, and the Water aſſwaged.

2. The Fountains alſo of the Ocean, and the Flood-gates of Heaven were ſhut up, and the Rain from thence was reſtrained.

3. Upon which the Water returning from off the Earth, went on ebbing; ſo that it failed at the End of a hundred and fifty Days.

4. And the Ark reſted on the ſeventeenth Day of the ſeventh Month, upon the Mountains of Ararat.

5. When the Water had kept on de-

Ver. 15. Faculty] properly, and not the ſame as in Chap. ii. 7.

Ver. 20. fifteen Cubits] which was about 27 Feet, 4 Inches; high enough to deſtroy whatever ſhould ſeek to be ſaved on the Mountains, even by Trees growing there. However it is credible that the Tops of all the Trees were not covered, by which they might afterwards know how high the Water went, as mentioned here.

Ib. when] Trem. and Jun. turn it poſtquam, after that, others to the ſame Effect: for the Verſe before relates that all the Mountains were covered; where the Word is the ſame, having alſo the Epithet high.

Ver. 22. of the Faculty] That the Omiſſion of this ſhould either be an Overſight of ſo many of the laſt Tranſlators, or of Purpoſe for want of a Word to expreſs it by, may ſeem ſtrange; but I know not what elſe to aſcribe it to.

Ver. 23. only] Beroſus the Chaldean, a famous Gentile Writer, as he is quoted by Joſephus againſt Apion, by Syncellus and Euſebius in their Chronicons, and the latter in his Book Of the Preparation of the Goſpel, from Abydenus, and Alexander Polyhiſtor, gives account of the Flood to this Purpoſe: That Xiſuthrus was warned in a Dream of a Flood, which ſhould deſtroy Mankind on the 15th Day of the Month Dæſius, was withal ordered to build a kind of a Ship, taking into it his Relations and Friends, with Proviſions, as alſo Fowls and Beaſts; which he having done, the Flood came; and upon its abating he let out ſome Birds, which came back again, and being let out ſome Days after, returned with their Legs muddy; the third Time they not returning at all, Xiſuthrus took down ſome of the Boards, and ſaw that the Veſſel reſted on a Mountain: that then he, his Wife and Pilot, going out to offer Sacrifice, were ſeen no more; and when the reſt could not find them, they went and built Babylon. This Teſtimony I look upon as of the beſt Kind: for if it agreed little or nothing with the Scripture, the Validity of it might be proportionable with Believers, and its Service with Unbelievers; and if it very nearly or wholly agreed with the Scripture, it might be ſaid it was taken from thence, and ſo be rendered of little Uſe on that Account; whereas it is now a noble Evidence of the Deluge according to Holy Writ. The Circumſtance of Xiſuthrus and the other two being ſeen no more, ſeems to have riſen from the Silence of Hiſtory concerning Noah afterwards, by his going with ſome others into the remote eaſtern Parts, and not coming with the main Bulk of Mankind to the Country of Shinar, where they built Babylon. It may be worth remarking that Beroſus, who gives this Relation of the Flood, lived before the firſt Tranſlation of the Heb. Scripture into another Language, namely the Greek one of the Septuagint.

Ver. 24. prevailed] by keeping up the Ark from the Earth, Chap. viii. 3, 4.

Ver. 1. aſſwaged] I tranſlate here upon the Authority of our preſent Eng. Bible, to which I would pay what Deference I well can.

Ver. 2. Fountains] Thoſe might be large Holes in the Cavity of the Ocean, which the Water under the Earth had burſt out in overflowing it; which being now ſtopt by the Water driving their Earth, &c. into them, after the inward Force that ſent it up ceaſed; it might return back, as it naturally would, more leiſurely through the ſmaller Springs, by which the upper Water uſed to have Communication with the lower; this alſo agreeing with the different Time mentioned for each.

Ver. 3. went on ebbing] which is accordingly two Verbs in the Heb.

Ib. failed] So that they did not bear up the Ark, as in the next Verſe.

Ib. at the End] as in Ver. 6.

Ver. 3, 4. By comparing theſe with Chap. vii. 11. we may learn that thoſe ancient Months had thirty Days each.

Ver. 4. Ararat] This is agreed to be the Scripture Name of Armenia, 2 Kings xix. 37. but then that lay about North from Babylon, whereas Noah's Poſterity came thither from the Eaſt, Chap. xi. 2. theſe Things however may be reconciled by the ancient Ararat reaching farther eaſtward than Armenia, or by thoſe Mountains extending out of Armenia under the ſame Name (as in Biblioth. Bibl. Occaſ. Annot. 17. 54.) to the North-eaſt of Babylon, where the Ark reſted; and ſince the Scripture does not join two cardinal Points together, that might be creaſing till the tenth Month, on the firſt of it the Tops of the Mountains appeared.

6. But at the End of forty Days, Noah opened the Window of the Ark which he had made;

7. And ſent out a Raven, that went forth, going out and returning, till the Water was dried up from the Earth.

8. He likewiſe ſent out a Dove from him, that he might ſee whether the Water was abated from the Surface of the Ground.

9. Whereas this finding no Reſt for the Sole of its Foot, came back to him at the Ark, becauſe the Water was all over the Earth; ſo he reached out his Hand, and taking it, pulled it into the Ark to him.

10. Next he ſtaid other ſeven Days longer, and ſent it out again from thence.

11. Which came to him at the Evening-time, and behold there was in its Mouth an Olive-leaf torn off; whereby he knew that the Water was abated from the Earth.

12. And ſtaying yet other ſeven Days, and ſending out the Dove, it returned to him again no more.

13. So in the ſix hundred and firſt Year, on the firſt of the firſt Month, the Water being dried up from the Earth, Noah took away the Covering of the Ark, when he ſaw plainly that the Top of the Ground was dried.

14. And on the twenty ſeventh Day of called the Eaſt. Beſides the overflowing of the Perſian Ocean from the South, and of the Mediterranean Sea urged on by the weſtern Ocean at the Straits of Gibraltar, and both being at about an equal Diſtance from Aſſyria, would naturally drive the Ark North-eaſt towards the Caſpian Sea; the guſhing out of which when it came near, I imagine, might be of Force enough to ſtop it, with the Obſtruction of the Mountains in its Way thither, which are plentiful in thoſe Parts, according to Herman Moll's Deſcription in his Atlas, Map 27 of the Roman Empire; conſidering alſo that the different Courſes of the Perſian and Mediterranean Seas would weaken each other, when they met about the Place of the Ark, and form a Courſe far leſs forcible, to be oppoſed by a direct one of the Caſpian Water. So that it is probable the Ark reſted on the ſouth Side of the Caſpian Sea; neither in Armenia, nor much further eaſtward on the North of India, as divers have ſuppoſed. The ſettling of the Place is of the more Conſequence, as the whole Earth was peopled from thence, and a clearer Underſtanding may be had of ſeveral Matters.

Ver. 6. forty Days] After the 150, and before the Mountains appeared.

Ver. 7. going out and returning] The Verb yaza, he went out, is repeated. It is not to be imagined that the Raven flew about a Week or two, without any Reſt or Suſtenance, ſince ſeven Days after at leaſt, the Water was over all the Earth, Ver. 9, 10. nor is any Regard to be paid to what the old Latin Tranſlation ſays, non revertebatur, it did not return; that Bible being often erroneous, and it is confeſſed in the Lovain Edition printed at Antwerp by Plantin, that non was not in ſix Manuſcripts. However whether the Latin followed the Greek, which has it in the ſame manner, or the Greek was altered to the Latin, it is quite contrary to the Hebrew, as thoſe Tranſlations are both very incorrect. And Croſs ſays, The Points (Heb. Accents) make it, He went out, but returned, Tag. p. 238.

Ver. 9. its] The Heb. Noun for Dove being feminine, cauſes the Pronoun to be ſo likewiſe; and does not ſhew it was a Hen-dove, as her ſignifies in Engliſh: on the contrary it might rather be thought a Cock, as the ſtouter for ſuch an Enterprize. This may ſerve for Elucidation of other ſuch following Inſtances.

Ver. 11. torn off] Probably by the violent Rain, or the Water which had been on the Earth ſome Months, or elſe as Buxtorf writes, a vento, by the Wind. טָרָף is derived from the Root טָרַף he tore; and according to Kimhi in the Book of Roots, is an Adjective to Leaf. It is more natural to think the Dove picked it up, than plucked it from a Tree, if we may reaſonably believe there were any Leaves left on.

Ver. 12. no more] Having then but thirteen Days to live on the Trees, hung with Things that floated on the Water, before the Ground appeared.

Ver. 13. firſt Month] It ſeems moſt likely that Noah and his Family now went out of the Ark, and began the new World, at the very Time of the Year that the old was created; as the next Verſe might be joined to it only to end the Account of the particular Days, and relate the drying of the Earth at once: for their Stay in the Ark afterwards appears unneceſſary; which to reſolve into the mere Pleaſure of God with ſome, when there is no Proof nor Probability of the Thing, is very unwarrantable. However, they might lodge, &c. there a while, after they went out. And ſince it is unlikely that Corn or Fruit grew under the Water, though there might be ſome of the latter at leaſt on the Mountains, I ſuppoſe their Proviſion in the following Winter was chiefly Fiſh left in the Cavities of the Earth, which might be eaſily taken, as the Water would naturally become low and little in ſuch Places, one after another.

Ib. when he ſaw] out of the Window, for he need not pull off the Covering of the Ark for that, but to go out.

Ver. 14. Day] The following Diary, for the Reader's Eaſe, it may not be amiſs to give of the Deluge:

Mon.	Day
2	10	God ordered Noah, &c. to go into the Ark, Ch. vii. 1, 4, 11.
	17	The Rain began, Ver. 11.
3	26	The Rain ended, Ver. 12.
7	17	The Ark reſted on the Mountain, Ch. vii. 24. & viii. 3, 4.
8	27	Noah ſent out the Raven, Ch. viii. 4, 6, 7.
9	4	He firſt ſent out the Dove, Ver. 8, 10.
	11	As he did the ſecond time, Ver. 10.
	18	And the third, Ver. 12.
10	1	The Tops of the Mountains appeared, V. 5.
1	1	The Water dried from the Earth, Ver. 13.
2	27	The Earth was quite dry, Ver. 14.

The general Way of reckoning the forty Days, Ver. 6. from the 1ſt of the 10th Mon. Ver. 5. (whereas this is done from the 17th of the 7th Mon. Ver. 4.) is attended with inſuperable Difficulties: As, 1. The Raven needed not to have flown forward and backward forty Days after the Tops of the Mountains were bare, ſince the Water muſt have been gone off from a conſiderable deal of Land in that Time, the whole or general Part being evacuated in ninety Days. 2. Much leſs would the Dove ſeven Days after that, have found no Reſt for the Sole of its Foot. The Pretence of its not finding the Mountains is exceeding weak, when the Ark reſted there. The Reaſon that Poole gives in his Annotation on Ver. 9. why the Dove did not obſerve the Tops of the Hills which then appeared, was her not ſoaring ſo high; which would no doubt have prevented the Sight of them, if the Dove, as it muſt then, ſoared under the Water. 3. The Water was upon the Face of the whole Earth when the Dove went forth, Ver. 9. which it could not be 47 Days after the Tops of the Mountains appeared.

the ſecond Month, the Earth was become quite dry.

15. Beſides God ſpoke to Noah as follows;

16. Go out of the Ark, thou, thy Wife, thy Sons, and Sons Wives with thee.

17. Every living Thing that is with thee of all Fleſh, of the Fowls, Beaſts, and all creeping Things which creep on the Ground, bring out with thee; that they may breed abundantly upon the Earth, be fruitful and multiply there.

18. Accordingly he went forth; as alſo his Sons, his Wife, and their Wives with him.

19. Every Beaſt, every creeping Thing, and every Fowl, all that ſtirred upon the Earth after their Kinds, went out of the Ark.

20. Then Noah built an Altar to the Lord; and taking both of all clean Beaſts and Fowls, offered up Burnt-offerings on it.

21. And upon the Lord's ſmelling a pleaſant Smell, he ſaid kindly to him; I will no more curſe the Ground for Man's Sake, tho' the Imagination of his Heart be evil from his Youth: nor will I yet again ſlay every living Thing, as I have done.

22. Henceforth as long as the Earth continues, Seed-time and Harveſt, Cold and Heat, Summer and Winter, Day and Night ſhall not ceaſe.

CHAP. IX.

GOD alſo bleſſed Noah and his Sons in the following manner: Be fruitful, multiply, and repleniſh the Earth.

2. And your Fear, and the Dread of you, ſhall be upon all the Beaſts of the Earth, all the Fowls of the Air, every Thing that moves on the Ground, and all the Fiſh of the Sea; which are committed into your Power.

3. Every moving Thing which is alive ſhall be for you to eat; I give you all like the green Herb.

4. Only Fleſh with its Life, the Blood of it, you ſhall not eat.

5. And I will certainly require the Blood of your Lives, and that from the Paw of any Beaſt: from the Hand likewiſe of Man, even of any one's Brother, will I require the Life of a Man.

6. He that ſheds Man's Blood, ſhall have his own ſhed by Man; becauſe in the Likeneſs of God he made Mankind.

7. So do you be fruitful, and increaſe:

Patrick too, I obſerve, ſtates it that the 40 Days Rain but juſt lifted up the Ark from touching the Earth, Comment. on Chap. vii. 17. which ſeems an uſeleſs Conjunction of Circumſtances, even if it was as he adds; that by more Rain after, though not in ſuch uninterrupted Showers, the Waters increaſed as related Chap. vii. 18, 19, 20. whereas the whole appears much better underſtood of the Flood in the 40 Days mentioned, Ver. 17. He ſuppoſes the Rain continued 150 Days, Com. on Chap. vii. 24. not very conſiſtently with Ver. 4, 12. and that the Waters then began to decreaſe, Id. on Chap. viii. 1, 3. which neither agrees with the viſible Meaning of Chap. viii. 3. nor his own Interpretation of it, that the Waters fell by little and little, and after the End of the 150 Days began ſenſibly to decreaſe.

Ver. 21. kindly to him] Heb. to his Mind, viz. Noah's, as Ainſworth in his Annotations ſays, ſome, and Gell in his Eſſay, p. 59. the Ancients, underſtand it; and Willet on Gen. p. 97. cites Mercerus ſaying, It is clear that the Lord thus ſpake to Noah. It agrees with our Eng. Expreſſion of doing or ſpeaking ſomething to a Perſon's Mind, that is agreeable or according to it. And it anſwers to the Opinion that has been received of Noah's Fear of another Flood, by reaſon of which the following Promiſe ſeems principally made. I remember no ſuch Expreſſion in the Hebrew as God's ſaying any Thing in his own Heart, nor does it ſuit with what follows: it being ſcarce to be doubted, that what was ſaid concerning Seed-time, Harveſt, &c. was ſpoke to Noah; who having built an Altar to the Lord, and offered on it, received this gracious Promiſe in return. On the other hand the Hebrew has divers Inſtances of this Kind in this Senſe, as Chap. xxxiv. 3. & l. 21. 2 Sam. xix. 7. 2 Chron. xxx. 22. & xxxii. 6. Iſa. xl. 2. Hoſ. ii. 14. אָמַר and דָּבַר having the ſame Meaning, as alſo אֶל and עַל but with this Diſtinction, that אמר is commonly uſed, when the Words ſpoken immediately follow (as we uſe ſaid, and not ſpoke, in ſuch a Caſe) and perhaps אל rather than על with it. In the com. Lat. Bible is ait ad eum, the Lord—ſaid to him.

Ib. Sake] But the Chald. חוֹבִי Sins, Gr. τὰ ἔργα, Works; the latter might be a Miſtake of ר for ד as both were of the Heb. Word.

Ib. though] which is the meaning of the Heb. Particle as well as for; and beſides the Inconſiſtency of the latter, there is the ſame Reaſon given for not deſtroying, as there was for deſtroying, Chap. vi. 5. which is too abſurd to be allowed; ſee Howell's Hiſtory of the Bible, p. 23. Marg. and Amama, Anti-barb. Bibl. in Loc. It might be rendered becauſe, ſignifying Man's Wickedneſs ſhould not cauſe God to bring another Flood; but that would be obſcure.

Ver. 3. moving Thing] This was limited to thoſe that were clean, becauſe had they then eat any other, it would have deſtroyed the Species, Chap. vii. 2.

Ver. 5. Paw] with which it has killed any Perſon; ſee it thus rendered 1 Sam. xvii. 37. But ſince my firſt Edit. of this Part, another Tranſlator finds Fault, that Paw is a very improper Term; adding, it is much more congruous and eligible to ſay, the Hand of a Lion, than the Paw of a Horſe: but perhaps it is no more ſo, nor ſo much; ſince it is ſaid of the Horſe, He paws, Job xxxix. 21. which is common and proper Engliſh; and Paws among all manner of Beaſts is expreſſed Lev. xi. 27. Nay how improper would it be, to call a Horſe's hinder Foot, with which he kicks, and might kill, a Hand! And how incongruous and uneligible then is the very Inſtance he brings! As to the reſt, if Hand may imply any offenſive Weapon, ſo may Paw. Beſides this muſt be meant chiefly or only of wild Beaſts, that kill Perſons purpoſely; not tame ones, that may do it accidentally, or even in their own Defence, which is not to be puniſhed with Death; and the wild Beaſts have ſtrictly Paws.

produce abundantly on the Earth, and multiply upon it.

8. Moreover God ſpoke to Noah, and his Sons with him, as follows:

9. And lo I my ſelf confirm my Covenant with you, and your Offspring after you,

10. As alſo with every living Creature which ſhall be with you, that is of Fowls, Cattle, and all wild Beaſts; not only all that go out of the Ark, but every Creature which ſhall be on the Earth;

11. I mean that all Fleſh ſhall not be cut off any more by the Waters of a Flood: for there ſhall no more be an Inundation to deſtroy the Earth.

12. This is the Sign of the Covenant, continued God, which I make between my ſelf and you, as likewiſe all living Creatures that are with you, to perpetual Generations;

13. I ſet my Bow in the Clouds, that it may be the Sign of the Contract between me and the Earth.

14. And when I make it cloudy over the Earth, the Bow ſhall appear in the Clouds.

15. Then will I remember my Covenant which is between me and you, with every Creature living of all Fleſh; ſo that there ſhall not be Water for a Deluge any more, to deſtroy it.

16. For when the Bow is in the Clouds, I will look on it, to remember the everlaſting Covenant between my ſelf and every living Creature of all Fleſh, that is upon the Earth.

17. This, ſaid God again to Noah, is the Sign of the Covenant which I ratify betwixt me and all Fleſh that is upon the Earth.

18. And the Sons of Noah who went out of the Ark, were Shem, Ham and Japheth; Ham alſo was the Father of Canaan.

19. From theſe three Sons of his was the whole Earth ſpread about.

20. Now Noah began to be a Husbandman, and having planted a Vineyard;

21. He drank of the Wine, and was drunk, uncovering himſelf within his Tent.

22. With that Ham the Father of Canaan ſaw his Father's Nakedneſs, who told his two Brothers abroad.

23. Upon this Shem and Japheth took Cloaths, which they put on the Shoulders of them both, and going backward, covered it; without ſeeing the ſame, as their Faces were backward.

24. When Noah therefore awaked from his Wine, and knew what his youngeſt Son had done to him;

25. He ſaid, Curſed be Canaan; he will be a Servant of Servants to his Brothers.

Ver. 7. produce] Noah and his Sons did not bring forth.

Ver. 10. every Creature which ſhall be on the Earth] hereafter; which compare with the com. Tranſ.

Ver. 11. that] The com. Tranſ. does not tell what the Covenant was.

Ver. 13. the Sign] The Bow having neither Arrow nor String, and being turned the contrary way, not as if God was ſhooting at Man.

Ver. 18. Noah] Fohi the firſt Emperor of China, who, by their Hiſtory, reigned 115 Years, is thought to be Noah; that being expelled by his Son Ham, he went thither, and from thence roſe the Pagan Story of Jupiter's expelling his Father Saturn to Latium, part of Italy, which Place the Latin Writers might feign from Lateo, to be hid, and from that being their own Country: and if we conſider how long Noah lived after the Flood, Ver. 2, 8. having nothing mentioned of him in Scripture from his curſing Ham to his Death, it may ſeem that he removed to ſome Place out of the Limits of Divine Hiſtory; and as the Chineſe relate that Fohi had no Father but Heaven, that his Mother was ſurrounded with a Rainbow when ſhe conceived him, that he bred up ſeven Sorts of Creatures to ſacrifice to the Supreme Being, and lived in the Province of Xenſi, the neareſt Part of China to the Place where the Ark reſted, thoſe Things compared with Scripture may be taken for pretty ſtrong Hints that it was Noah. And beſides their Chronology from Fohi agreeing with the Time of the Sun's ſtanding ſtill, which ſee on Joſh. x. 13. there is recorded a Conjunction of five Planets, and of the Sun and Moon the ſame Day in their Sign Xe, which the famous Caſſini having calculated, found to be in the 2012th Year before the Æra of Chriſt, by my Tables three Years after Noah's Death, when ♄ ♃ ☿ ♀ and ☽ were in ♂ the 26th of the 12th Month called February by the Julian Accompt, and ☉ and ☽ the next Morning. It is alſo ſaid that the winter Solſtice was obſerved to be about the firſt Deg. of their Sign Hiu; which the ſame Aſtronomer found to be in the 1847th Year before Chriſt, which by my Tables will be the Year before Eſau and Jacob were born; ſee Loubere's Hiſt. of Siam, p. 254—259. By which may appear how really ancient their Accompts are.

Ib. From theſe] This muſt needs, without any Comment, make void Cumberland's Obſervation; that the Scripture's Silence is no cogent Argument to conclude that Noah begat no Children in his laſt 350 Years, to people the Earth; ſee his Origines Gentium Antiquiſſimæ, Tract. iv. p. 153, 154.

Ver. 22. told] Ὁ χὰμ τῷ πατρὶ καλὴν ἐξέφηνε, ὡς παραβὰς τῆς φύσεως νόμον, Ham is held guilty of Parricide, as tranſgreſſing the Law of Nature, Theodoret in Gen. Quæſt. 57.

Ver. 24. knew] Chryſoſtom writes, Serm. xxix. in Geneſ. πόθεν ἔγνω; ἴσως οἱ ἀδελφοὶ ἐγνώρισαν, How did he know? Perhaps his Brothers made it known. But Benedictus Pererius more ingeniouſly in Latin (who commented as far as the 15th Chap. of Exodus) in Gen. Lib. xiv. Sect. 154, that Noah awaking, when he ſaw his Nakedneſs uncovered of his own Garment, and covered with a ſtrange one, aſked the Cauſe of his Sons, and ſo they were forced to tell what had happened.

Ib. youngeſt] as Joſephus calls him, ſpeaking of this Affair in theſe Words, Ant. Lib. i. 7. θεασάμενος δ' αὐτὸν ὁ νεώτατος τῶν παίδων τοῖς ἀδελφοῖς σπιγελῶν δείκνυσιν, the youngeſt of his Sons ſeeing it, told his Brothers in deriſion.

Ver. 25. Curſed be Canaan] A notable Prediction! for Ham had other Sons, but the Canaanites were particularly curſed. That ſome Children ſuffer in this World for their Parents Faults may be often ſeen, but not all Children, as it was here; and there is no need to think with ſeveral that Canaan was guilty, ſince it does not appear that the Curſe was inflicted on him, but on Ham's Poſterity through him, as they were probably more wicked than the reſt, Levit. xviii. 24, 25, 27. Deut. ix. 4. This Narration might be partly written, to let the Iſraelites know of the Curſe, and Canaan mentioned rather than

CHAP. X.

AND the following were the Generations of Noah's Sons, Shem, Ham and Japheth; who had Children born after the Deluge.

2. The Sons of Japheth were, Gomer, Magog, Madai, Javan, Tubal, Meſhech and Tiras;

3. And Gomer's Sons, Aſhchenaz, Riphath and Togarmah;

4. As alſo the Sons of Javan, Eliſhah and Tarſhiſh, Chittim and Dodanim.

5. By theſe were the Regions of the Gentiles parted, for their Countries to each one after his Language; according to their Families, in their Nations.

6. And the Sons of Ham were, Cuſh, Mizraim, Phut and Canaan.

7. The Sons likewiſe of Cuſh were, Seba, Havilah, Sabtah, Raamah and Sabtecha; Raamah's Sons being Sheba and Dedan.

8. Moreover Cuſh begot Nimrod; who began to be powerful on the Earth:

9. Which he was at Hunting before the Lord; therefore it is ſaid, As Nimrod was powerful at Hunting before the Lord.

10. And the Beginning of his Kingdom

Ham, that they might be encouraged to make War againſt his Offspring.

Ib. will be] as his Offspring would bring that temporal Affliction upon themſelves.

Ver. 26. to them] viz. his Brothers, in the foregoing Verſe. The Word למו is to them, Gell in Eſſay, p. 97. For Tranſlations in the plural, ſee Onkelos, Pagninus, Ainſworth, and the French Verſion, with the Eng. Margin.

Ver. 27. perſuade] will perſuade his idolatrous Poſterity to embrace the Worſhip of the true God. Enlarging Japheth's Country by that of Shem, is rather a Curſe than Bleſſing to the latter: beſides פתה has no ſuch Signification as enlarge; and that פתה in Chaldee has, in my Opinion, is a very weak Reaſon to render it ſo: for what is the Word in the Original? Is it not Hebrew? The Geneva Bible, with Ainſw. and the preſent Eng. Marg. have perſwade; Jun. & Trem. alliciet; and the French, attire en douceur, ſweetly allure. The Word here has the ſame Letters with Japheth's Name, for which reaſon I ſuppoſe it was uſed.

Ver. 2. Sons] The People who came from Noah's Grandſons, and the Places where they dwelt, appear to be as follow, in the Order that Moſes here names them.

From the Sons of Japheth, viz.

Gomer, the Cimmerians in the North of Leſſer Aſia by the Euxine or Black Sea, and the Germans.

Magog, the Scythians on the Eaſt and North-eaſt of the Black Sea, to the Mæotick Lake and the River Tanais or Don.

Madai, the Myſians and Illyrians in the Weſt of Aſia by the Helleſpont and Ægæan Sea or Archipelago, and the Macedonians in Greece.

Javan, the Ionians in the South of Aſia by the Mediterranean Sea, and the Grecians at Peloponneſus in the South of Greece.

Tubal, the Iberians of Aſia on the South-eaſt of the Black Sea, and the Ruſſians.

Meſhech, the Armenians on the North of Syria by the Moſchick Mountains.

Tiras, the Trojans in Leſſer Aſia on the South-eaſt of the Helleſpont, and the Thracians on the North-weſt of it.

From the Sons of Ham, viz.

Cuſh, the Arabians on the Eaſt of the Red Sea, and the Ethiopians on the Weſt of it and South of Egypt.

Mizraim, the Egyptians on the South of the Mediterranean or Levant, and Weſt of the Red Sea.

Phut, the Lybians on the Weſt of Egypt, and the Moors by the Atlantick Ocean. In Dan. xi. 43. the Country is called Lub, but uſually Phut in Heb.

Canaan, the Canaanites between the Mediterranean and the River Jordan.

From the Sons of Shem, viz.

Elam, the Perſians between the Caſpian Sea and eaſtern Ocean.

Aſhur, the Aſſyrians on the North-eaſt of the River Tigris.

Arphaxad, the Meſopotamians betwixt the Rivers Tigris and Euphrates.

Lud, very uncertain.

Aram, the Syrians on the North of Canaan.

Of which may be conſulted largely Wells in his Hiſtorical Geography of the Old Teſtament, Vol. i. p. 92, to 208. and Mede's Works, p. 271, to 284. I would only add, that the Diviſion being as it appears regular, the Families from the Grandchildren are to be ſuppoſed as ſubdivided in their reſpective Fathers Countries.

Ver. 4. Chittim] This is not only the right Spelling after the Heb. Letters, but what our Tranſlators uſe for this Word when it denotes the Country ſo called from him, as Numb. xxiv. 24. Iſa. xxiii. 1. Jer. ii. 10. Ezek. xxvii. 6. the Knowledge of which to a mere Eng. Reader is loſt in the different Spelling. Aſhchenaz likewiſe has כ ch, and not ק k as Aſhkelon has.

Ib. Dodanim] The LXX Interpreters miſtaking ד the firſt Letter of this Word for ר as in ſeveral other Inſtances of like Kind, ſhews that they tranſlated from the preſent Hebrew Letters.

Ver. 5. Regions] which the original Word ſignifying, is certainly preferable here, and is accordingly rendered Countrey in the Vulgar Tranſ. Jer. xlvii. 4. and ſays Patrick, "ſo it plainly ſignifies, Job xxii. 30. Iſa. xx. 6. where in the Margin we tranſlate it Coun-" try."

Ver. 9. As Nimrod was] The Drift of this Proverb, notwithſtanding Expoſitors applying it to Nimrod's Tyranny and Ambition, might have been very good, viz. to place Proſperity on Providence; through which Nimrod of a ſtout Hunter, became a mighty Monarch. Would not before the Lord be otherwiſe inſignificant and ſuperfluous? And does not the ſame Expreſſion elſewhere favour this Meaning, viz. Chap. xxvii. 7. & xvii. 18. Numb. x. 9. & xviii. 19. Joſh. vi. 26. Judg. xviii. 6. Pſal. cxvi. 9? Upon what Account elſe ſhould God take extraordinary Notice of Hunting? as this Expreſſion intimates he did; and it might be of Benefit to Mankind, as it was probably a hunting of wild Beaſts, by which Nimrod made Places habitable, and then poſſeſſed them. To be notable in any reſpect, and not before God, under the Favour of Providence, will avail little or nothing, Eccleſ. ix. 11. ſee Judg. xviii. 5, 6. Lookup's late Tranſlation, pr. 1740, it muſt be confeſſed is very intelligible, were it not altogether as wrong and ridiculous, viz. "who began to prevail over the other Inhabitants "of the Earth: (which ending with a Colon, the following Words ſhew wherein he prevailed over them) "He was a great Glutton before Jehovah; wherefore it "is ſaid, As Nimrod the great Glutton at the Sacri-"fices." To have made it conſiſtent however, the Names of his Cities ſhould have been turned into thoſe of Victuals. But notwithſtanding this, another Tranſlator ſince, mentioned on Chap. ix. 5. has, He became a mighty Man for Veniſon Feaſts; more reſtrictive, and conſequently worſe than the other, which it would ſeem to improve on.

Ver. 11. Out of, &c.] Or From which Country he went forth.

Ib. he went to Aſſyria] Jun. & Trem. turn this Paſſage, E terra hac proceſſit in Aſſyriam, ubi ædificavit Niniven: i. e. From this Country he [Nimrod] went forth into Aſſyria, where he built Nineveh. The like is the Eng. Marginal Reading, which Gell ſays he prefers, Eſſay, p. 131. To omit what Raleigh, &c. ſays for this, Hen. Ainſworth has the following Annotat. on it; "It may "well be tranſlated he went forth to Aſſur, that is to Aſ-"ſyria, a Countrey lying near to Shinar, or Chaldea. "So in the Hebrew is to be underſtood to; as often elſe-"where: which the Scripture itſelf ſheweth; as the "Houſe, 2 Sam. vi. 10. for unto the Houſe, 1 Chron. "xiii. 13. the Land, 2 Sam. x. 2. for unto the Land, "2 Chron. xix. 2. and many the like." To this may be added that the Hebrew Verbs of Motion often include the Power of to; governing an Accuſative Caſe, as Phil. Levi ſays in his Hebr. Gram. p. 134. either without or with Prepoſitions. So Onkelos has in his Targum, נְפַק Jonathan in his, וּמְלַךְ בְּאַתּוּר and he reigned in Aſſyria. Moſes is in this Chap. giving the Genealogies of Noah's three Sons, and here of Ham, being not yet come to that of Shem, whoſe Son Aſhur was, Ver. 22. Is it not then utterly improbable, that he would mix an Account of a Son of Shem among thoſe of Ham, and before he had let us know there was any ſuch Perſon as Aſhur? Nor will this Way of putting it make the Babylonian and Aſſyrian Empires both one, as has been pretended, if we ſuppoſe that after Nimrod the Head of the former had built thoſe Cities, the Aſſyrians, Deſcendants of Aſhur, took them away, and ſo they belonged to the latter Empire; and this may more than be ſuppoſed, ſince Diodorus Siculus has a Relation of ſuch a War, wherein the Aſſyrians under Ninus conquered the others, Lib. xxi. ſee the Note on Chap. xi. 9. and Iſa. xxiii. 13. Mic. v. 6.

Ib. the Streets of the City] not only the Walls and principal Edifices, but the Streets or private Houſes. Onkelos, who may be more depended on than any other Tranſlator, has it, רְחוֹבֵי קַרְתָּא the Streets of the City, viz. of Nineveh; the Vulg. Lat. Munſt. Vatablus, & Hier. in Tradit. plateas civitatis; the French Bible, les ruës de la ville; Coverdale's ſmall Tranſlation, the ſtretes of the cytye, with the Eng. Margins. In this Manner is rehoboth turned, Zech. viii. 5. the Streets of the City, Ver. 4. the Streets of Jeruſalem. If it had been here the Name of a City, doubtleſs City need not have been annexed to it, any more than to Nineveh and Calah; nor ſo much, becauſe that would have made it unintelligible: therefore I conclude it not to be a proper Name.

Ver. 13. Mizraim] Mizraim the Founder of Egypt, whoſe Name it bears throughout the Heb. Bible, being likewiſe the Father of ſeveral other People, ſhews him to be probably the Heathen Oſiris, Huſband of Iſis, the famous King and Queen of Egypt, of whom Diodorus writes in Lib. i. Cap. 1, 2. and Plutarch De Iſide & Oſiride; particularly that travelling into Ethiopia, whereabouts ſome of the following Offspring were, he built Cities, and left Governors; ſee alſo Cumberland's Sanchoniatho, Page 94, 97, 109, 346, 470.

Ib. the Ludites, &c.] Theſe eight Words are plural, denoting the People, and not the ſingle Perſons they were named from; three of whoſe Names we may gather from other Places to be Lud. Iſa. lxvi. 19. Ezek. xxvii. 10. Pathros, Iſa. xi. 11. and Caphtor, Amos ix. 7. In the Chaldee and Greek Verſions they ſtand for People; ſo Ainſworth has them, with Jun. & Trem. who ſay, Gentilia ſunt hæc, non autem propria nomina, theſe are People, and not proper Names.

Ver. 14. from whom] Thoſe two laſt People coming from the Caſluhites, it ſeems that the Philiſtines afterwards parted from the Caphtorites, by Amos ix. 7. Jer. xlvii. 4.

Ver. 16. Jebuſites, &c.] That the Scripture might be more elegant, I ſuppoſe, the Nations or Tribes that came of Mizraim are put in the Plural, and of Canaan collectively in the Singular Number, as Canaanites are in Ver. 18, 19. and ſeveral others, Exod. iii. 8. which our Tranſlators have rendered plurally. So the Chald. Targum has theſe, with Pagn. Montan. Munſt. and the French. It is very frequent in Heb. to uſe a ſingular Name for a plural, but is not proper often to follow it in our Tranſlations; becauſe they would be ambiguous, or ſound unpleaſantly, our weſtern Tongues not being much accuſtomed to that Figure of Speech; ſee Chap. xv. at end.

Ib. Amorites] This is elſewhere Amorite and Amorites in the preſent Bible, even in this Book, Chap. xiv. 7, 13. & xv. 16, 21. & xlviii. 22. Though I would keep the common Names, I do not think it well to write one Name two or three Ways.

Ver. 21. Hebrews] as Children of Iſrael is properly rendered Iſraelites, &c. Hebrew as it appears coming from Eber, the Letters of both which are the ſame in the Original, beſides the Patronymical Termination of the former; againſt which Derivation, ſays Patrick on Ver. 24. he can ſee no Objection lie, but great ones againſt all others. Here now we may ſee a Reaſon for this Expreſſion, to ſhew that the Hebrews ſprung from the eminent Shem. So upon Examination I find the illuſtrious Caſtalio turning it, qui fuit autor omnium Hebræorum.

Ib. the Brother of Japheth] I propoſe it to be conſidered, whether Noah might not have Shem and Japheth by a former Wife; which would clearly account for this Digreſſion, as well as Ham being called the youngeſt, Ch. ix. 24. ſee Ch. v. 32.

Ver. 22. Arphaxad] His being the third Son of Shem, yields a ſtrong Proof for the Computation of Time as here made, both before and after the Flood; which ſee Chap. xi. 10. And in Confirmation that he was ſo, we have the following Words of our excellent Uſher, that unparalleled Scripture Chronologer, Chron. Sacr. p. 68. Et certe dignatione gratiæ Arphaxad utroque fratre prior fuerit; non alia videtur afferri poſſe ratio, cur tertio nominatus ille ſit loco, quam ob nativitatis ordinem: As Arphaxad certainly exceeded both his Brothers in Dignity, it ſeems that no Reaſon can be brought, why he ſhould be named in the third Place, but becauſe he was the third Son.

Ver. 24. Shelah] This is the right Name, and is ſo put in 1 Chron. i. 18, 24. It is manifeſt that ſome Tranſlators did not underſtand the Uſe of the Heb. Accents: for athnah and ſilluk commonly change the Vowel ſegol, in the laſt Syllable ſave one, into kametz, for the ſake of a longer Pronunciation. So that though in Heb. it was to be read ſhalah in the firſt Place, there being athnah a Stop; yet the Name is ſhelah, as written the ſecond Time. The ſame may be obſerved of Japheth, Lamech and Jared. But I was afraid this Tranſlation would not have its Service ſo much with all the true Heb. Names, as with thoſe People are uſed to.

Ver. 25. Peleg] comes from palag, to divide.

Ib. divided] Several would have this not to be done at Peleg's Birth, but afterwards in his Life-time, by ſuch weak Pretences as theſe; that Peleg changed his Name, and was called ſo, or that his Father named him thus prophetically, before the Diviſion was made. But if the former had been, why would not that Alteration of Names have been mentioned here as well as elſewhere? And if the latter, why not the Prophecy in like manner? Again, how came his Name to be altered only, or rather than any other of Mankind then living? Or to what Purpoſe would ſuch a Prediction be? On the other hand, this dividing ſeems ſpoken of, to ſhew the Time when it was; which it does not, unleſs it was at Peleg's Birth. Nay why ſhould this be told as a Thing done only while he lived, when ſo many others were living at the ſame Time, and he not the Chief of them? Others who ſuppoſe the Diviſion here not to be the ſame with that in Chap. xi. 8, 9. but another before, becauſe they think there were not People enow when Peleg was born to build Babylon, prepare a Weapon againſt themſelves; ſince if Mankind were ſeparated before, as deſcribed in this Chapter, there muſt needs be a leſs Number of them together to erect that City and Tower.

That there might be no want of People for it, the following Table will ſhew, which may alſo perhaps be not unacceptable for other Purpoſes, viz. to correct the random Computations of others, to point out a right Method for ſuch Calculations, and ſuccinctly to deſcribe what might be the Number of Mankind in the particular Years; but firſt ſee the Time of Peleg's Birth on the next Chapter.

32. The foregoing were the Families of Noah's Sons, after their Generations, in their Nations; and by these were the Nations parted on the Earth after the Flood.

CHAP. XI.

NOW those of the whole Earth had one Language, and the same Words.

2. And as they were going on from the East, they found a Vale in the Country of Shinar, and dwelt there.

3. Then they said one to another, Come, let us make Bricks, and burn them well; they having Brick instead of Stone, as they had Mortar for Clay.

4. And added they, Come, let us build us a City, and a Tower whose Top shall be at Heaven, and make our selves famous; that we may not be dispersed all over the Earth.

5. But the Lord descended to see the City and the Tower, which the Sons of Men were building.

6. For he said; Behold the People are one, and all of them have one Speech; and as they have begun to do this, now there will Nothing which they have contrived to do be kept back from them.

7. Come, let us go down, and confound their Language there; that they may not understand one another's Speech.

8. Thus the Lord dispersed them from thence all over the Earth; and they left off building the City.

9. Therefore it was named Babylon, because there the Lord confounded the Language of those of the whole Earth; that he might disperse them from thence all over it.

10. These were Shem's Generations: Shem

It may be proper to subjoin a few Words for Perspicuity's Sake, concerning the Formation and Use of this Table. As to the first, it consists only of the supposed female Offspring of one of Noah's Sons, of which I rather chose to compose it, than as others have done of the Males, or perplexedly of both; for Women's bringing Children is Something to compute from, and of Men we may think there was no want, as one might have several Wives; and why even Noah's Sons might not marry their Nieces I do not see, though the Table will admit of their Sons being 17 Years old when the first Grandchildren were born. The Women are then counted to bear at 16, and having a Child every Year, to have a Daughter once in two Years, and they might sometimes oftener, as also bring more at a Time; and they may well be deemed very fruitful in that Age, from the repeated Command, Chap. ix. 1, 7. and there being so many Kings in Abraham's Time. If it should be thought a Daughter-in-law of Noah did not continue in Child-bearing so long; we may reckon it but to 88 Years, and her Posterity will be only 8 less; nay if but to 72, and the first Grandaughters to 88, the Diminution will be but 16 more. The several Columns have the supposed Numbers born to that Time. The third Column begins with the first Grandaughter that might be born of the first Daughter of one of Noah's Sons; who being added to the two next Grandaughters, the second of the first Daughter, and the first of the second Daughter, makes three, as in the next Line, and so on throughout. The Use is to see how many Daughters, Grandaughters, &c. one of Noah's Sons might have, within any Term of Years in the first Column after the Flood; which being doubled to include the Males, amounts to six Times the Tabular Numbers for Noah's whole Offspring by his three Sons, Chap. ix. 19. Thus in the Year before Peleg was born, there might be 575880 Persons come into the World; and by Computation at the Year 90, the Sum is 66801 Males of 15 Years old and above, at the Time of Peleg's Birth: so that there may be Allowance for some dead (who might be few, considering the whole Space was not a quarter of a Man's Age then, Chap. xi. 10,—17.) and for some not to be at Babylon, &c. and yet there might be a sufficient Number of Builders.

Ver. 1. one Language] namely Hebrew, according to the Note on Chap. iv. 25.

Ver. 2. from the East] from the Mountains of Ararat where the Ark was.

Ib. Vale] Bikhah is a Vale or Valley; which Montan. has rendered Vallem, Jun. & Trem. Convallem. There is no need to raise the Valley to a Plain or a Hill: for it is not found that the Fear of another Deluge was their Incitement for building; but that they might live together, have one Metropolis, and make themselves famous, Ver. 4. in Confirmation of which they built a City, as well as a Tower.

Ver. 3. said] Nimrod being the principal Exciter of it, according to Josephus, Ant. Lib. i. 5.

Ibidem, Mortar for Clay] It appears they had invented artificial Materials for Building, instead of natural, which they had before; as Brick for Stone, and Mortar for Clay. Accordingly Herodotus in Lib. i. p. 32. informs us, that the Walls of Babylon were built with Brick and a Sort of Mortar. The two Hebrew Words are the same, excepting in their Vowels, hemar and homer. The latter is rendered Clay in Job iv. 19. & x. 9. & xxvii. 16. & xxxiii. 6. & xxxviii. 14. Isa. xxix. 16. & xlv. 9. & lxiv. 8. Jer. xviii. 4. and of the former Pagn. says, חֹמֶר est lutum quod fit ex calce & arena, ad ædificandum & complanandum: hemar is a sort of Clay (or rather Mortar) which is made of Lime and Sand, for building and plaistering. Justin with other Historians saying it was Bitumen, the Annotation on Brown's Transl. defines it, A pitchy glutinous Matter, like Mortar, mixed with Sand and Lime. And Vitruvius says, Lib. viii. that the Bitumen was Liquid, which would therefore require a Mixture, and so may be very properly called Mortar.

Ver. 5. Tower] The famous Historian Herodotus, who according to Eusebius in Chron. publickly read his History at Athens in the Year that Nehemiah went to Jerusalem, Neh. ii. 1. describes a Tower at Babylon, which has been thought this, that was a Furlong square on each Side, Lib. i. p. 33. of which Strabo the noted Geographer says the same, adding that it was a Furlong high, Lib. xvi. It is described to be eight Towers one above another, benching in less and less, having the Way up on the Outside.

Ver. 6. For he said] before he came down, as the next Verse shews, like what is in Chap. xii. 1.

Ver. 8. dispersed] For this Josephus brings Testimonies from one of the Sibyls, and from Hestiæus, Antiq. Lib. i. 5. God made the Earth to be inhabited (the Hills as well as the rich Vales) and commanded Mankind to fill it, Chap. i. 28. which they intending not to do, he forced them to it. Nor was it according to the Divine Providence that all should be governed by one Person, God himself separating them into Nations, Deut. xxxii. 8.

Ver. 9. Babylon] From balal, he confounded, here used. In this Dispersion no doubt but some staid there; and who should it be but the most powerful, viz. Nimrod, as the chief? For this we have alſo the Scripture's Teſtimony, Chap. x. 10. with which his holding Babylon then better agrees, than an imaginary taking it afterwards. He ſeems to have governed from the Birth of Peleg, Ch. x. 25. to the Beginning of the Reign of Belus in Aſſyria 152 Years, as may be ſeen hereafter by the Catalogue of the Aſſyrian Monarchs. At which Time having built Nineveh, &c. Chap. x. 11. he might conſtitute Belus Governor there, while himſelf ruled at Babylon; till Ninus, with the Deſcendants of Aſſur, who were before in another Part of Aſſyria, took it from him, and properly began the Aſſyrian Empire. This will perhaps agree the beſt both with ſacred and profane Hiſtory, tho' I find none that have placed it in this Light. How can Ninus, ſpoken of in heathen Hiſtory, be Nimrod, as has been ſuppoſed, when he began his Kingdom above 200 Years after him? Beſides Ninus being originally King of Aſſyria before he extended his Dominions to other Countries, Juſtin, Lib. i. 1. and the Aſſyrians overcoming the Babylonians, Diodorus Siculus, Lib. ii. 1. are remarkable Circumſtances that aptly anſwer to what I have mentioned: but are quite different to the ſcriptural Account of Nimrod, that his Kingdom was firſt at Babylon, and afterwards extended into Aſſyria; and the Suppoſition that Ninus being Nimrod, he with his Babylonians conquered the Aſſyrians, as in Bedford's Scrip. Chron. Book ii. Chap. 6. 160, 162. is directly contradictory to Diod. Siculus. That Belus was neither Cuſh nor Nimrod may appear thus: not the former, becauſe that is imagined from the miſtaken Notion of Ninus being Nimrod, and becauſe the Land of Cuſh was far off by the Red Sea; not the latter, ſince it is unlikely that Nimrod would leave his famous Babylon to reign in Aſſyria, and the Scripture mentioning the Cities in the Country of Shinar or Chaldea as Nimrod's Kingdom, ſays only of thoſe in Aſſyria that he built them, Chap. x. 10, 11. beſides that it would partly confound the Chaldean and Aſſyrian Empires together; to which may be added, that Belus being given to Study, and the Inventor of the Chaldean Aſtronomy, Pliny, Lib. vi. 26. his Character does not agree with Nimrod's; as on the other hand it may ſerve to ſhew that he had been a noted Perſon in Chaldea, and ſo was not Cuſh. Raleigh has a Section intituled, That Nimrod, Belus, and Ninus were three diſtinct Perſons, Chap. x. 2. Upon the whole, Ninus appears to be the Deſcendant if not the Son of Aſhur, and Belus of Cuſh, one from Shem, and the other from Ham.

The ſtrongeſt Argument I find for Nimrod and Ninus being the ſame Perſon is, that Nineveh ſignifies the Habitation of Nin or Ninus, and Nimrod building and conſequently naming that City, from thence it appears that they were one. But the Name has no ſuch Meaning in Chaldee, which doubtleſs was Nimrod's Language: and even ſuppoſing it to be Hebrew, if nin be taken out, the reſt is not Habitation, it can ſpare only ni; and the נ in the Middle for n being not doubled, may be ſufficient to overthrow that Interpretation; beſides it ſtands out of the Hebrew Order, which would be Nevehnin for the Signification above. Another Argument uſed is, that Ninus was the Heathen Bacchus, which came from Bar Cuſh, the Son of Cuſh, as Nimrod was. Leaving the firſt Part of it, I would remark that us is the Latin Termination, and ſo quite foreign to Cuſh, and how r ſhould be changed into ſuch a heterogeneous Letter as c is not very eaſy to conceive. A third Argument I confeſs may be made more probable than either of the other, tho' I do not remember to have met with it, viz. that as the Scripture ſays Nimrod built Nineveh, Chap. x. 11. Diodorus informs us, Ninus builded it, Lib. ii. Cap. 1. and conſequently they were both one. To which however might be anſwered, that by duly conſidering and comparing Circumſtances, it may appear, Nimrod firſt made it a ſmall Place, Ninus afterwards a very large one, and ſo each are ſaid by thoſe different Hiſtorians to build it; which may be pronounced indubitable, if their building Nineveh was not the ſame. Now as Nimrod built ſeveral other Cities in the ſame Country, and Ninus one grand Metropolis, as the Sicilian relates, the foregoing ſtands for Fact. It is not likely the latter Hiſtorian, ſo long after, ſhould know Nineveh was in being before that Time, any more than he did that Babylon was before the Expedition of Ninus into that Country; in which Ignorance of his he affirms Babylon was not then built, notwithſtanding we know by Holy Writ it muſt: and in like manner he aſſerts farther, that Babylon was built afterwards by Semiramis; when as Dionyſius Petavius ſays in his Account of Time, Lib. i. 2. ſhe rather enlarged it. One may add to this, that before Ninus built Nineveh, as the forementioned Author writes, he made a Confederacy with Arieus King of Arabia, and having conquered the Land of Babylon, he ſubdued Barzanes King of Armenia, Pharnus King of Media, with numerous other Countries, too many to name here after him: whereas it is incredible that there were ſuch Kings, &c. before Nimrod began to erect Nineveh. Nor will the following bear to be applied to him ſo early, which the ſame Hiſtorian from Cteſias ſays of Ninus; that he went with an Army of ſeventeen hundred thouſand Foot, above two hundred and ten thouſand Horſe, and ten thouſand ſix hundred hooked Chariots, againſt Oxyartes King of the Bactrians, whoſe Army was four hundred thouſand Men; and the ſame relates Semiramis the Widow of Ninus, to have provided three Millions of Foot-ſoldiers, &c. to make War on Stabrobates the King of India, while he had ſtill a far greater Army than ſhe, and that ſo far from Babylon, whence the Diſperſion of Mankind was made: Things utterly inconſiſtent with Ninus being Nimrod, eſpecially as Ninus reigned but 52 Years.

lb. that] Tranſlations of the Scripture abound with Tautologies, for want of rightly conſidering the Original.

Ver. 10. begot] It is not unlikely that the Wives of Noah's Sons were three of the beſt young Women they could find, to whom they were married but a little before the Flood, elſe probably they might have had ſome Offſpring; however the immediate Senſe of God's Judgment, &c. muſt needs keep them from accompanying together as Huſband and Wife in the Ark, Eliezer, Pirke Aboth 23. which the Command to be fruitful afterwards ſeems to put out of doubt; ſee alſo Chap. viii. 17. Shem then having two Sons before Arphaxad, Chap. x. 22. which muſt be by one Wife, he could not be born two Years after the Flood; begot muſt therefore be taken literally as it is, the Uſe of which has been ſeen before at Chap. v. And as the Chronology is here carried on in the ſame Manner as there, by the Father's begetting the Son at ſuch an Age, which it has not been the Cuſtom to underſtand according to the Words; though all Expreſſions, at leaſt proper ones, are ſo to be underſtood (ſuch as are ironical being excepted, as receiving a different Senſe by the Utterance or Behaviour) I will add two or three Remarks on what Uſher ſays for the common Opinion in his Chron. Sac. p. 55, 56. who argues that the Word for beget in Hebrew, Greek and Latin, is common both to Father and Mother, and oftener denotes the Birth than Conception. Well, ſince that Verb has different Meanings, and when it is uſed of the Mother that determines it to ſignify her bearing or being delivered of a Child, does it not accordingly when uſed of the Father mean the other? As for which Way it may be found moſt, that is only as the Subject requires. An Inſtance for his Purpoſe would have been, where it was ſaid of the Father, and evidently ſignified the Birth of the Child; but no ſuch appears. That great Man too, learned, ingenious and worthy as he was, miſtakes in bringing Mat. i. 16. for a Proof that the Word is common to both Sexes: for ἐγεννήθη, born, is not ſaid of Mary, but Jeſus. To conclude, when the Scripture applies a Child's Birth to the Father, it has another and a proper

Ver. 12. Cainan in Luke iii. 36. is from the Tranſlation of the Septuagint, uſed when Luke wrote: therefore the Rehearſal of the Old Scripture in the New, ought to be read with Underſtanding; ſee the Notes on Chap. xlvi. 27. & xlvii. 31. with Bedford's Script. Chron. Book i. 5. 14. Though it might be ſuppoſed if there was Occaſion, that Shem begot Arphaxad at 18, he Cainan at 17, and that Moſes omitted Cainan.

Ib. Shelah] Mircond the noted Perſian Hiſtoriographer relates, that the ancient Perſees had a Race of forty five Kings, that continued above a thouſand Years; the firſt of which was Guiomaras, whom they called Adam Aſſeny, that is The ſecond Adam, who was the Son of Aram, that of Sem, that of Noah: according to which he was firſt Couſin to Shelah; ſee the Chronicle of thoſe Kings in Grimſtone's Eſtates and Empires, &c.

Let us now reſume the Chronology from Chap. v.

By obſerving what is ſaid on the former Table and Chap. vii. 6. with the Peruſal of the Places here cited in this Tranſlation, the intelligent Reader may inform himſelf, how juſtly this Table is computed. Others pretending to follow the Heb. as before-mentioned, reckon the Birth of Abram 2009 Years from the Creation at moſt, 17 leſs than ariſe by this Calculation.

19. After which he lived two hundred and nine Years, and begot Sons and Daughters.

20. And when Reu had lived thirty two Years, he begot Serug.

21. After which he lived two hundred and ſeven Years, and begot Sons and Daughters.

22. And when Serug had lived thirty Years, he begot Nahor.

23. After which he lived two hundred Years, and begot Sons and Daughters.

24. And when Nahor had lived twenty nine Years, he begot Terah.

25. After which he lived a hundred and nineteen Years, and begot Sons and Daughters.

26. And when Terah had lived ſeventy Years, he begot Abram, Nahor and Haran.

27. So the Generations of Terah were theſe: he begot the three now mentioned; and Haran begot Lot.

28. At length Haran died in the Preſence of his Father Terah, in his native Country, at Ur of the Chaldeans.

29. Abram and Nahor alſo took them Wives: the Name of Abram's Wife was Sarai, and that of Nahor's Milcah, the Daughter of Haran; he being the Father both of her and Iſcah.

30. But Sarai was barren, having no Child.

31. Afterwards Terah took Abram his Son, with Lot the Son of Haran his Grandſon, and his Daughter-in-law Sarai his Son Abram's Wife: who went out of Ur of the Chaldeans with them, to go to the Country of Canaan; and coming to Haran, they abode there.

32. And the Time of Terah being two hundred and five Years, he died at Haran.

CHAP. XII.

FOR the Lord had ſaid to Abram; Go thou out of thy Country, from thy Kindred and Father's Houſe, to the Country which I will ſhew thee.

2. And I will make thee a great Nation, and bleſs thee, as alſo cauſe thy Name to be great: ſo be thou bleſſed.

3. Nay I will bleſs thoſe who bleſs thee, and him that curſes thee will I curſe; and all Families of the Earth ſhall be bleſſed through thee.

4. Upon this he went according as the Lord ordered him, Lot going with him. And Abram was in his ſeventy fifth Year, when he went out of Haran.

5. Then he took Sarai his Wife, and Lot his Brother's Son, with all their Subſtance that they had gained, and the Perſons whom

Ver. 26. Abram, Nahor and Haran] Haran appears to be eldeſt, by Nahor marrying his Daughter, and Abram being but in his 75th Year at his Father's Deceaſe. Aben Ezra ſays on this Chap. and others in ſeveral other Places, אין מוקדם ומאותר בתורה There is no before nor after in the Law, i. e. the Scripture; meaning it is not to be regarded. But it is evident enough here that Abram was named firſt, becauſe he was the principal Perſon both of this Hiſtory and otherwiſe; ſee Chap. xxviii. 5. & xxxi. 14.

Ver. 28. in the Preſence of] So the Biſh. Ainſw. turns it before the Face of; Jun. and Trem. ſay, in conſpectu, in the Sight of; and Caſtal. præſente Thara, Terah being preſent. The French Verſ. has, en la Preſence de, in the Preſence of, as our Tranſlators have rendered the ſame Words, Chap. xxv. 18.

Ver. 29. Iſcah] It is certain by Chap. xx. 12. that Iſcah was not Sarai, notwithſtanding what ſome have fancied.

Ver. 31. Ur] ſuppoſed to be that now called Urſa, a large City, which Corten deſcribes in his Trav.

Ib. with them] With Terah and Abram: for Terah took Lot and Sarai with him, according to the Text; and they accompanied Abram as the principal Perſon of the Journey, whom God had commanded to go.

Ib. Haran] Since called Carræ, within Meſopotamia on the North-eaſt Side of the River Euphrates, near which the Romans received the remarkable Overthrow by the Parthians, under Craſſus who was ſlain himſelf, about 50 Years before the Birth of Chriſt, as related by Plutarch in Craſſo, Appian in Parthicis, & Dion Caſſius, Lib. xl. Benjamin in his Itinerary, p. 60, ſays, when he came לחרן הקדמונה to ancient Haran, בה כמו עשרין יהורין ושם כנסת עסרא there were about twenty Jews in it, and there was a Synagogue of Ezra. The Nubienſian Geographer, (whoſe Words in Arabick I omit for want of Types) reckons it to be twelve Miles from Edeſſa or now Roha; of which Place ſee Harduin on Pliny's Natural Hiſtory, Lib. v. 24.

Ver. 1. had ſaid] As Stephen informs us, Acts vii. 2, 3. & Chap. xv. 7. Joſh. xxiv. 3. imply; but it was not long before they came to Haran, Ur and Haran alſo being not far apart; and their Stay at Haran might be only on Account of Terah's Illneſs and Death: for Abram did not uſe to linger in the Performance of any Thing which God commanded him to do, Chap. xvii. 23, 26. & xxi. 14. & xxii. 3. and from this Command till Abram's going into Egypt, Ver. 10. muſt not be a full Year, being bounded within that Compaſs by Exod. xii. 40. & Gal. iii. 17. ſee Chap. xxx. Moreover in Ver. 5. may be read, the Perſons in Haran whom they had got; which might be done before they came thither.

Ib. Abram] Beroſus, as he is cited by Joſephus, Antiq. Lib. i. 8. ſays, In the Tenth Generation after the Flood (which Abram was) there was a great and juſt Man among the Chaldeans, who was famous for his Celeſtial Obſervations.

Ver. 2. be thou] The Word is imperative. God having ſhewn him how he might be bleſſed, perſuades him to it, as Jer. xxvii. 12.

Ver. 3. through thee] By the Offspring that he would have, as Chap. xxii. 18. & xxvi. 4. & xxviii. 14. namely Chriſt, it being thus explained, Acts iii. 25, 26. Gal. iii. 16. a Truth which the Particle in does not convey, or but very obſcurely.

Ver. 4. Lot going with him] This former Part of the Verſe anſwering to the three foregoing ones, it will be found that this was ſpoken of Lot's firſt going with Abram from Ur, &c. ſo what follows in the next Verſe, of their going from Haran, will not be a Tautology.

Ver. 5. Perſons whom they had] or the Perſon, for the Word is ſingular, and all not put to it as before Subſtance; by which might be meant Eliezer, Chap. xv. 2, 3. or ſome other: elſe it might be, Proſelites that they had made, the Verb properly ſignifying made; and ſo may denote ſome of thoſe Abram trained up, Chap. xiv. 14. perhaps choice young Men, who left their Country and Idolatry to accompany him; ſee on Chap. xv. 2.

they had got in Haran; and they went forth to go to the Country of Canaan, whither they came:

6. And into which he paſſed, to a Place of Shechem at the Oaks of Moreh; the Canaanites being then in the Country.

7. When the Lord appearing to Abram, ſaid, I will give this Country to thy Offſpring: upon which he built there an Altar to the Lord who appeared to him.

8. He next removed away from thence, to a Mountain on the Eaſt of Bethel, and pitched his Tent; Ai being on the Eaſt, as that on the Weſt: where he built an Altar to the Lord, and called on his Name.

9. Afterwards Abram marched, and continued going on ſouthward.

10. And there being a Famine in that Country, he went down to Egypt to ſojourn there, becauſe it was grievous.

11. Which as he was got near to enter into, he ſaid to his Wife Sarai; Behold now I am ſenſible that thou art a Woman of a fair Countenance.

12. Therefore it may be when the Egyptians ſee thee, that they will ſay, This is his Wife; and will kill me, but keep thee alive.

13. Do tell thou art my Siſter; that it may be well with me for thy Sake; and my Life may be preſerved becauſe of thee.

14. And when he was come into Egypt, the Egyptians took notice of the Woman that ſhe was very fair.

15. The Princes of Pharaoh likewiſe ſeeing her, praiſed her to him: upon which ſhe was taken into Pharaoh's Houſe.

16. Who did well to Abram for her Sake: for he had Flocks, Herds, and He-aſſes, with Servant-men, and Maids; as alſo She-aſſes, and Camels.

17. But the Lord ſmote Pharaoh and his Family with great Plagues, by reaſon of Sarai Abram's Wife.

18. Whereupon he calls Abram, and ſays; What is it thou haſt done to me? Why didſt not thou tell me, that ſhe was thy Wife?

19. Why ſaideſt thou, She is my Siſter? So that I might have married her my ſelf; but now here is thy Wife; take her, and go.

Ver. 6. Shechem] This is elſewhere in our Bibles rightly written ſo.

Ib. Oaks] Elon being like Allon, an Oak, and comes from another Noun ſignifying Strength, as Robur is Latin for both, becauſe an Oak is ſtrong. Agreeable to which I find the Tranſ. of the Septuagint, Pagnin. Vatab. Tyndal and Ainſworth, with a little Variation; ſee alſo Chap. xviii. 1, 4. & xxxv. 4.

Ib. then] Some of the Canaanites, peculiarly ſo called, as explained on Chap. xv. 21. were probably come into that Country from Egypt, on the Death of their King Apophis, which was about two Years before Abram went into Canaan, by the Tables at Chap. xxx. and agrees well with the Mention of it here. This alſo quite overthrows one of Hobbs's ſtrongeſt Arguments in his Leviathan, that the Pentateuch was not written by Moſes, nor till after his Time, becauſe the Canaanites were there while he was living; Hobbs too confidently ſuppoſing the Expreſſion ſignified the Canaanites were not there at the Time of writing it, for which there is no Neceſſity at all. And yet this is an Inſtance brought by Prideaux likewiſe (which he interprets as Hobbs does) of Addition made to the Scripture, that can never, ſays he, be ſolved without, Connect. Anno 446.

Ver. 8. Ai] The Place which Joſhua afterwards took, Chap. vii. 2. and the Letters are the ſame in Heb.

Ver. 16. Flocks, Herds] Small and great Cattle of the Paſture, as Sheep, Goats, Oxen, Bullocks, &c. beſides labouring Beaſts, as Chap. xlvii. 17. The King's Tranſlators have put the ſame Words thus in Ver. 5. of the next Chap.

Ver. 17. Plagues] It may be queſtioned how he or they knew what they were puniſhed for. But according to Herodotus the Egyptians were peculiarly ſkilful in ſuch Matters; Γενομένε γὰρ τέρασι, φυλάσσουσι γραφόμενοι τὸ ποτε ἐγένετο. Καὶ ἢν ποτε ὕστερον παραπλήσιον τούτῳ γένεται, καλὰ τωὐτὸ νομιζόσι ἀποβήσεσθαι. For when a ſtrange Thing came to paſs, they kept the Event of it in Writing, and if there was ſomething afterwards like it, they judged of the Conſequence according to the former. And as there had been before this Time remarkable Puniſhments ſent from God in their Country, which they might have obſerved was a Scourge for their doing amiſs, and a Call for Amendment; they might look on theſe Plagues in the ſame View, and find what was the Cauſe of them. Such ancient Matters, and ſo little known, while they illuſtrate the Comment, will not I hope diſpleaſe the Reader, if I mention them. There being therefore an early Kingdom in Egypt, (ſeparated for a Time from that of Thebes or Upper Egypt) whoſe Metropolis was at This near Abydus, on the weſtern Side of the Nile, the Succeſſion of its Kings is put firſt among the Dynaſties, both with Africanus and Euſebius, and is given as follows; to which I have added for our Uſe, the Year of the Julian Period when each began reigning, as is to be proved on Chap. xxx.

Now for the preſent Purpoſe: In the Time of King Venephes, Λιμὸς κατέσχεν τὴν Αἴγυπτον μέγας, a great Famine ſeized Egypt, Syncellus, p. 54.

That the two firſt were before Abram went into Egypt, may be ſeen by comparing the Times with the Table in the preceding Chapter.

20. Pharaoh

20. Pharaoh alſo charged the Men concerning him; who ſent him away, with his Wife, and all that he had.

CHAP. XIII.

SO Abram went up from Egypt, with his Wife, and all that he had, accompanied by Lot, into the South;

2. He being very wealthy in Cattle, in Silver and Gold.

3. From whence he went on his Journeys to Beth-el, to the Place where his Tent was at firſt, between Beth-el and Ai;

4. The ſame Place where he made an Altar in the Beginning: and there he called on the Name of the Lord.

5. And Lot likewiſe who went with him, had Flocks, Herds and Tents.

6. Inſomuch that the Country would not bear them to dwell together; becauſe their Subſtance was ſo great, that they could not.

7. Beſides there was a Quarrel betwixt them who fed the Cattle of Abram, and thoſe that fed Lot's Cattle; the Canaanites and Perizzites then dwelling in the Country.

8. At which Abram ſaid to Lot; Let there be no Contention, I pray, either between me and thee, or between my Herdmen and thine; for we are Kinſmen.

9. Is not all the Country before thee? Do ſeparate from me: if it be to the left Hand, I will go to the right; but if to the right Hand, I will go to the left.

10. Lot then looking up, ſaw that the whole Plain of Jordan was all of it watered (before the Lord had deſtroyed Sodom and Gomorrah, like the Garden of the Lord, like the Country of Egypt) going to Zoar.

11. So he choſe him all the Plain of Jordan, and journeyed on the Eaſt: thus they ſeparated one from the other.

12. Abram dwelt in the Country of Canaan; and Lot dwelt at the Cities of the Plain, pitching his Tent as far as Sodom:

13. The Men of which were exceeding wicked, and ſinful againſt the Lord.

14. And the Lord ſays to Abram, after Lot was parted from him; Look up now, and view from the Place where thou art, towards the North, South, Eaſt and Weſt.

15. For all the Country which thou canſt ſee, will I give thee, and thy Offſpring for ever.

16. Nay I will make them as the Duſt of the Earth; ſo that if a Man can count up that, thy Offſpring alſo may be counted.

17. Get ready, go about in the Country, to the Length and Breadth of it; for on thee will I beſtow it.

18. Upon this Abram removed his Tent, and came and dwelt among the Oaks of Mamre, which were in Hebron: there he alſo built an Altar to the Lord.

Ver. 1. South] not South from Egypt, rather the North, but into the South of Canaan.

Ver. 5. Flocks, Herds] In ruſticatione antiquiſſima eſt ratio paſcendi eademque quæſtuoſiſſima, Columella in Pref. The moſt ancient and that the moſt gainful Way was feeding Cattle.

Ver. 7. Perizzites] a ſtraggling Part of the Canaanites, as deſcribed Chap. xv. 21. the Word denoting ſuch as live in Villages; ſee Chap. xii. 6.

Ver. 8. or] Thus Patrick obſerves it ſhould be.

Ver. 10. looking up] For which the Hebrew having no Verb, it is done by this Circumlocution, lifting up his Eyes: in like manner our Tranſlators, with leſs Reaſon, leave out Hand, 2 Sam. viii. 10. & xv. 36. Ex. ix. 35. Mouth, 2 Sam. xvii. 5. Ear, 1 Sam. xx. 12, 13. & xxii. 8, 17. 2 Sam. vii. 27. Ruth iv. 4. and alſo Eyes, 1 Sam. xxix. 6, 7. 2 Sam. xv. 26. & xvii. 4. & xix. 6, 18.

Ib. going] Zoar being a neighbouring Town to Sodom and Gomorrah, where Lot was afterwards ſaved, ſhews that the Words before in the Parentheſis are to be ſo put or underſtood.

Ver. 11. on the Eaſt] This Word with the ſame Prefix is at or on the Eaſt, Chap. ii. 8. & iii. 24. as the latter is uſed in Pſal. xvi. 8. and other Places. Now from Bethel to Hebron, whither Abram went, Ver. 3, 18. and from Bethel to Sodom, whither Lot went, Ver. 12. appear to be both ſouthward, only Sodom was conſiderably more to the Eaſt: ſo that Lot went on the eaſt Side, as well in reſpect to Abram the main Subject of the Hiſtory, as to the Country which was bounded on the Eaſt by Jordan, at the Side of which Lot paſſed. That he went ſouthward to Sodom is clear, eſpecially if Sodom lay at the ſouth End of that which is now the Dead Sea, as it is placed in the Maps of Cellarius and Prideaux; and appears to be by Chap. x. 19. concerning which Lightfoot writes; "It doth not pleaſe me, that Sodom in the Maps "is placed in the northern Bounds of the Aſphaltites, "when it ſeems rather to be placed in the ſouthern Ex- "tremity of it:" for which he gives Reaſons, Horæ Heb. & Talm. Part i. Chap. v. The Tranſlation might be from the Eaſt, and Aben Ezra annotates on it סדום מערב בית אל Sodom was weſt of Beth-el; but the Situation does not allow it. On the other hand it will not bear being rendered Eaſt alone, nor eaſtward; neither is any Part of the Dead Sea Eaſt from Bethel.

Ver. 12. as far as Sodom] Jun. Leo Jud. & Pagn. have uſque, Munſt. uſque ad, and Caſtal. ad, to; ſee the like Judg. iv. 11. the old Lat. and Gr. is in.

Ver. 18. Oaks] It is the ſame Word, only plural and in the conſtructed Form, as in Chap. xii. 6. The old Tranſlations of Tyndal and Coverdale have okegroue.

Ver. 1. the Nations] viz. ſome particular ones.

Sodom, with Birſha King of Gomorrah, Shinab King of Admah, Shemeber King of Zeboiim, and the King of Bela, which is Zoar:

3. All thoſe joining together at the Vale of Siddim, which is the ſalt Sea.

4. Theſe had ſerved Chedarlaomer twelve Years, and in the thirteenth Year rebelled.

5. So he, and the Kings who were with him, went in the fourteenth Year, and ſmote the Giants at Aſhteroth-karnaim, the Zuzites in Ham, the Emites in the Plain of Kirjathaim,

6. And the Horites on their Mount Seir, to the Entrance of Paran, which is by the Wilderneſs.

7. Next they went back to the Fountain of Judgment, which is Kadeſh, and ſmote all the Country of the Amalekites; and alſo the Amorites, who dwelt at Hazazon-tamar.

8. With that the Kings of Sodom, Gomorrah, Admah, Zeboiim, and Bela, which is Zoar, went forth, and ſet the Battle in order with them in the Vale of Siddim;

9. Namely with Chedarlaomer King of Elam, Tidal King of the Nations, Amraphel King of Shinar, and Arioch King of Ellaſar: four Kings being againſt five.

10. And the Vale of Siddim having many Pits for Mortar, the Kings of Sodom and Gomorrah fled, and got down there; and thoſe who were left ran away to the Mountains.

11. So they took the whole Subſtance of Sodom and Gomorrah, with all their Food, and went off.

12. They alſo took away Lot, and his Subſtance, the Son of Abram's Brother; for he dwelt in Sodom.

13. But one who eſcaped comes, and tells Abram the Hebrew; who dwelt among the Oaks of Mamre the Amorite, the Brother both of Eſhcol and Aner, who were Men in League with Abram.

14. And when he heard that his Nephew was taken Captive, he took out thoſe who were of his own training up, born of his Family, three hundred and eighteen, and purſued them to Dan.

Ver. 5. fourteenth] This Uſher places two Years before the Birth of Iſhmael, in his Annals, Lat. p. 8. Eng. p. 5.

Ib. Giants] The King's Tranſlators have rendered the ſame Word thus, Deut. ii. 11, 20. and in the old Bibles it is ſo here, as likewiſe in the Greek and Chaldee Verſions, with that of Munſter. The com. Eng. has three double Plurals in this Verſe, like that in Chap. iii. 24.

Ib. Aſhteroth-karnaim] It appears pretty plain by Sanchoniatho from whence this Name came, and is perhaps no ſmall Indication that his Hiſtory is genuine. He repreſents Ham's Wife to be a famous Woman, whom he calls Aſtarte, ſaying, She put a Bull's Head on hers, as a Mark of her Sovereignty, that is probably Part of its Skin, and the Horns, karnaim ſignifying two Horns: ſo that the Reader, I imagine, will ſcarce help thinking this Name aroſe upon ſome Account from her. Aſhteroth however is twice uſed for Flocks in Scripture, Deut. vii. 13. & xxviii. 4. but then another Word for Sheep follows. Sanchoniatho alſo calling Ham Chronos, קרן a Horn might be read Chron, and os is but the Greek Termination: thus what Aſtarte put on ſeems to be her Huſband's, being done as Regent in his Abſence. It is evident that ſhe was counted a Goddeſs afterwards, both by the Name and the Country, 1 Kings xi. 5. though hardly ſo ſoon as this; but the Place here mentioned might be called ſo in honour to her, and her Image ſet up, by which ſhe came to be worſhipped. See 1 Mac. v. 43. 2 Mac. xii. 26. Selden De Diis Syris, Syntagm. ii. Cap. 3. and Cicero De Natura Deorum ſays, the Syrian Aſtarte is called Venus.

Ib. Emites] ſignifies terrible ones.

Ib. Plain] Shaveh comes from Shavah, he made plain or level. So it is in Tyndal's, Coverdale's, the Geneva and French Bibles; and thus Jun. and Trem. together with Vatablus and Munſter, have turned it.

Ver. 6. Entrance] Heb. Threſhold, or more properly Door-poſt. It is rendered Poſt, Ezek. xli. 3. and Poſts ſeveral times when plural by our Tranſlators in the 40th Chap. of Ezek. and 1 Kings vi. 31. Lintel. The like Word with the Chald. Termination alſo ſignifies Poſt in that Language, as the Lexicons in Folio both of Buxtorf and Caſtellus ſhew. Others have the Plain of Paran.

Ver. 7. the Fountain of Judgment] The Reaſon why Moſes called Kadeſh thus, may be ſeen in Num. xx. How many Words in this Chap. are left untranſlated in our preſent Bible!

Ib. Hazazon-tamar] So it is here, but in 2 Chron. xx. 2. Hazezon-tamar, which are changed, and conſequently both wrong in the com. Tranſ. The Maſoreth on this Place ſays ל חס׳ וחד מל which is in Words at length לא חסר וחד מלא ſignifying that the Word is not any where elſe defective, and is once written full; namely in Chron. as above.

Ver. 10. for Mortar] Pagn. reads cæmenti, with whom agrees Montan. and Munſt. has this Note, ut aliis placet, ex puteis illis accipiebant cementum pro ædificiis: from thoſe Pits they had Mortar for Buildings, as ſome have thought.

Ib. got down] As the ſame Verb ſignifies, Ch. xxiv. 64. 2 Kings v. 21. and that they did not die there, Ver. 17. ſhews. For this the learned Cartwright quotes Ab. Ezra, and writes himſelf, Electa Thargumico-Rabbinica, in Loc. It ſeems as if theſe two Kings firſt fled to the Pits undiſcovered.

Ver. 13. Oaks] The ſame as at Chap. xiii. 18.

Ver. 14. took out] Or as Ainſworth ſays, "Drew out, "that is, led forth of his Houſe;" and Lud. De Dieu in Animadv. Produxit nempe ex ædibus, quæ adeo evacuabantur; ea enim perpetua hujus verbi eſt ſignificatio: Brought out, to wit of the Houſe, ſo that it was emptied, which is the conſtant Meaning of this Word; of which he gives Inſtances. Geneva Tranſlation, brought forth.

Ib. Dan] As the Hiſtory was writ by Moſes before the Iſraelites poſſeſſed the Country, and ſo he could not uſe the Name as then called from the Tribe of Dan, in the manner that he might the Amalekites, Ver. 7. this Place ſeems to have had its Name from Jordan, i. e. the River Dan; accordingly Fuller places it at one Head of that River, and deſcribes it not to be that Dan which was Laiſh, Judg. xviii. 29. Piſgah-ſight of Paleſt. Book iv. Chap. 1. nay Joſephus ſays, it was one of the Heads of the River Jordan, Antiq. Lib. i. 11. as likewiſe Benjamin in his Itinerary; ſo that there is no need to ſuppoſe with Prideaux, that Ezra afterwards changed the Name here into Dan, Connect. Part i. Book v. ſee alſo Biblioth. Bibl. Introd. at Obj. 9.

15. Then

15. Then coming upon them ſeparately by Night, with his Servants, he beat them, and purſued them to Hobah, which was on the left Side of Damaſcus.

16. Nay he brought back all the Subſtance, particularly his Kinſman Lot's, with him, the Women and People.

17. And the King of Sodom went out to meet him, after he was returned from ſmiting Chedarlaomer and the Kings who were with him, to the Vale of the Plain, which was the King's Vale.

18. Melchi-zedek King of Salem too brought forth Bread and Wine; who was Prieſt of the Supreme God.

19. Beſides he bleſſed him thus; Let Abram be bleſſed of the Supreme God, Owner of Heaven and Earth.

20. And bleſſed be the Supreme God, who has delivered thy Enemies into thy Power. And he gave him the Tenth of all.

21. The King of Sodom alſo ſaid to Abram, Give me the Perſons, and take the Goods thy ſelf.

22. Whom Abram anſwered; By my lifting up my Hand to the Supreme Lord God, Owner of Heaven and Earth,

23. I will not take either a String, or the Latchet of a Shoe, nor even of any Thing which is thine; that thou mayeſt not ſay, I made Abram rich:

24. Excepting only what the young Men eat, and their Share who went with me, Aner, Eſhcol and Mamre, that let them receive.

CHAP. XV.

AFTER theſe Things Abram had this Word of the Lord in a Viſion, Do not fear, Abram; I will be a Shield to thee, thy Reward ſhall be very great.

2. And he ſaid, O Sovereign Lord, what wilt thou give me, ſince I go childleſs, and the Son left of my Family is Eliezer of Damaſcus?

3. Lo, continued he, thou having given me no Offspring; behold he is the Heir to me.

4. When behold it was anſwered him by

Ver. 15. Hobah] The Vulg. Lat. Bibles of the Sixtine and Lovain Editions add, and Phenice.

Ver. 17. Plain] Sebaſtian Munſt. and the Tigurin Verſion have vallem planam, the plain Valley; Miles Coverdale's ſmall Tranſ. the playne felde; the French like this, au val de la plaine; ſee the Word Ver. 5.

Ib. King's Vale] Our laſt Tranſlator, heretofore mentioned, ſays, This could not be inſerted by Moſes, for it could not be called ſo till Saul's Time at ſooneſt; as if the King of Sodom was not a King as well as Saul. And that in 2 Sam. xviii. 18. (which this Author does not produce in his own Vindication) might be another, or the ſame called ſo from this Time.

Ver. 18. Melchi-zedek] Omitting the various Opinions who this was, as alſo the Reaſons alledged by ſome that it was Shem; I will offer one which I take to be new, and ſtronger than any other, that Shem was called thus. The Name is parted in Hebrew, the former Part ſignifying King, and Sanchoniatho as on Chap. 4. calls Shem, Sydyc; which ſmall Alteration might well be in another Language, eſpecially the Hebrew Vowels being left out, and ſo inſerted arbitrarily in the other; the s with z, and the c with k being quite commutable. Probably Shem at that Time went by the Name of The righteous King, which is the meaning of Melchi-zedek. Sanchoniatho living but about 600 Years after his Death, which might not be many Generations then, and compiling his Hiſtory from the Records in Berytus, begun by Thoth, Ham's Grandſon, may well be ſuppoſed to know by what Name he was called.

Ib. Bread] By which is commonly meant in Scripture Victuals or Food in general; as Chap. iii. 19. & xliii. 25, 31. 1 Kings iv. 22. Deut. viii. 3, &c.

Ver. 19. him] which the new Tranſlator before named ſtrangely expounds to be himſelf, after making Melchizedek Chriſt, King of Jeruſalem in Heaven.

Ver. 23. I will not take] The Heb. Manner of Swearing, which on Chap. xlii. 15, 16. ſee more.

Ib. a String] The Heb. Word is in Joſh. ii. 18. & Eccleſ. iv. 12. where it muſt ſignify Something bigger than a Thread.

Ver. 1. had] Literally, was to him; but that is the Heb. Manner of expreſſing had, &c.

Ib. thy Reward ſhall] Not to inſiſt on the Impropriety of God being his Reward, the leaving out the Conjunction and ſhews it to be thus taken; in which manner Jun. and Trem. render it, and with this agrees Abram's Anſwer. Both Pagnin. and Caſtal. have it in the future Tenſe.

Ver. 2. Sovereign Lord] The Words אדני and יהוה are each of them uſually rendered Lord, only the latter with capital Letters, in our Bible; ſo that to avoid Lord LORD, it is put Lord God, whereas that is alſo the conſtant Tranſlation of יהוה אלוהים To keep therefore a proper Diſtinction, and as אדני may well ſignify Sovereign, I have turned it thus.

Ib. left of my Family] He only of his Kindred left in thoſe Parts with him, when Lot and his Family were now gone. Meſhek, left, ſeems to come from maſhak, as mimſhak does, a Place left or forſaken. Jun. and Trem. are in this of the ſame Mind, but turn it otherwiſe, is cui relinquitur domus mea, he to whom my Houſe is left: i. e. ſay they, hæres extraneus, ac (ut Jurecoſ. loquuntur) non ſuus; that is, as the Lawyers ſpeak, an Heir at Law. Caſtalio alſo taking the Word to ſignify left, tranſlates, meæ domus ſucceſſor futurus, the Succeſſor of my Houſe after me. Pagnin. likewiſe mentions Rabbi Joſeph, ſo called, thus expounding the Word; which he ſays, ſecundum ipſum eſt relinquere, according to him is to leave; and thus it is in Buxtorf's Heb. Concordance. After which Meaning I have tranſlated literally, and given the Words their natural Force as they lie in the Original.

Ib. Damaſcus] Joſephus quotes Nicolas Damaſcenus ſaying, Αβράμης ἐβασίλευσε Δαμασκῦ ἔπηλυς σὺν στρατῷ ἀφιγμένος ἐκ τῆς γῆς Χαλδαίων. Μεταναστὰς δὲ εἰς Χαναναίαν, καὶ οἱ ἀπ' ἐκείνου πληθύσαντες. Abraham bore Rule at Damaſcus, a Stranger who came with a great Train from the Land of Chaldea; and wandering into Canaan, had a numerous Offſpring, Antiq. Lib. i. 8. Though this Word is the ſame in the Original as Damaſcus elſewhere, our lateſt Eng. Tranſlator renders it otherwiſe, as if the ſame (which he ſays) as in Amos iii. 12. not obſerving I ſuppoſe that one has the Letter Shin, the other Sin, though he could ſcarce avoid ſeeing them different with Sheva and Pathah.

6. And he believed the Lord, who reckoned it Righteouſneſs to him.

7. Moreover he ſaid to him, I am the Lord, who brought thee out of Ur of the Chaldeans, to give thee this Country to inherit.

8. Upon whoſe aſking, Sovereign Lord, by what ſhall I know, that I ſhall inherit it?

9. He anſwers him, Fetch me a Heifer, a She-goat and a Ram, each of the third Year, with a Turtle-dove, and a young Pigeon.

10. So he fetched him all theſe, and cut them apart in the middle, putting the Pieces one againſt the other; but did not cut apart the Birds.

11. And the Fowls coming down upon the Carcaſſes, Abram drove them away.

12. And at Sun-ſet a deep Sleep fell upon him, as behold there did alſo a Terror of great Darkneſs.

13. Then he ſaid to him; Know fully that thy Offspring ſhall be Sojourners in a Country which is not theirs, and ſhall ſerve thoſe of it, who will afflict them, four hundred Years.

14. But I will alſo judge the Nation which they are to ſerve; and after that they ſhall come out with great Subſtance.

15. And when thou art gone to thy Fathers in Peace, being buried in a good old Age;

16. At the fourth Generation they ſhall return hither: for the Iniquity of the Amorites is not yet finiſhed.

17. When the Sun likewiſe was gone down, and it was Twilight, lo there was a ſmoaking Oven, and a Lamp of Fire, which paſſed between thoſe Parts.

18. That Day the Lord made the following Covenant with Abram; I give this Country to thy Offspring, from the River of Egypt, to the great one, the River Euphrates;

19. Namely of the Kenites, and the Kenizzites, and the Kadmonites,

20. And the Hittites, and the Perizzites, and the Giants,

21. And the Amorites, and the Canaanites, and the Girgaſhites, and the Jebuſites.

By which the whole is regular, and there is no need to fancy with Some, that the Things were only viſionary, and not really done. To explain how Abram looked at the Stars, it is ſaid in the Aſſembly's Annotations, the entercourſe betwixt God and Abraham might be continued until Night. Which it was, but then how the other Things to Ver. 12. were done afterwards before Sun-ſet, thoſe Divines have not informed us.

Ver. 13. Sojourners] Ger, from gur, he ſojourned, is uſed collectively for ſeveral, as Zerah, Offspring, is.

Ib. afflict] In Baal Akeda is read, היסורים הזמניים הם נר דלוק ביד אדם לדעת מה טיבו עם בוראו Temporal Corrections are a Lamp lighted in a Man's Hand, that he may know what his State is with his Creator.

Ib. four hundred] Which being parted from them with a Heb. Point, may ſhew that all the foregoing was to be in that Time, according to the Truth of Chronology, and the Obſervation of Croſs in his Taghm. Art, p. 193, 194.

Ver. 16. finiſhed] Wm. Tyndal in his Prologe to this Book writes, God is euer ready to reape tyrauntes from of the face of the erth aſſone as theyr ſynnes ar rype.

Ver. 17. likewiſe] The ſmoaking Oven and Lamp of Fire ſignifying their Servitude in Egypt at the Brick-kilns, and their being led from thence to Canaan by the Pillar of Fire; both which were between their going from that Country, and returning to it again. And ſo this was a Sign of what was ſaid in the 13, 14, and 16 Verſes.

Ib. Twilight] It is not dark when the Sun goes down. The Word is found but three times more in Scripture, and there it is Twilight, viz. Ezek. xii. 6, 7, 12.

Ver. 18. River of Egypt] A little River in the Wilderneſs between Judea and Egypt, running into the Mediterranean, called Shihor, Joſh. xiii. 3. & xv. 4, 47. 1 Chron. xiii. 5. Iſa. xxiii. 3. Jer. ii. 18.

Ib. Euphrates] which is, where Rauwolff came to it, as he ſays, about a Mile broad; in his Travels, Part i. Chap. 2.

Ver. 20. Giants] For this ſee Chap. xiv. 5.

Ver. 21. Canaanites] Since ſome of theſe here mentioned were particular Branches of the Iſſue of Canaan the Son of Ham, Chap. x. 16. it may ſeem ſtrange there ſhould be another People called Canaanites, that were a Part of his Poſterity, when the whole were not called ſo. The Matter may be thus explained, that an Army of People belonging to ſeveral of Canaan's Children as they were diſtinct from each other, ſeized on lower Egypt, according to the Account of Manetho by Joſephus, of which ſee the Tables on Chap. xxx. who with their Offſpring coming into the Land of Canaan many Years after, might not diſtribute themſelves to their ſeveral Sorts, but continue together as one, and ſo be properly called Canaanites. Of this Mind I find Cumberland in Orig. Gent. Antiq. who ingeniouſly expounds it pag. 131, 132.

Ver. 1. bear] There is nothing for Children in the Original.

Ver. 2. ſhut me up] Look Chap. xx. 18.

Ib. built up] ſo the Biſh. and ſee Gell's Eſſay, &c. p. 155.

my Maid, perhaps I may be built up by her; and Abram hearkened to what ſhe ſaid.

3. So Sarai his Wife took and gave her in Marriage to him, when he had dwelt to the End of ten Years in the Country of Canaan.

4. And he went in to Hagar, who conceived; and when ſhe found that ſhe was with child, her Miſtreſs was contemptible in her Sight.

5. At this Sarai ſays to Abram, My Wrong is upon thee; I have given my Maid into thy Boſom, who perceives that ſhe is with child, and I am contemptible in her Sight: the Lord judge betwixt me and thee.

6. And he anſwered her, Lo thy Maid is in thy Power, do to her what thou likeſt. Upon this Sarai ſo afflicted her, that ſhe fled from her Preſence.

7. But the Angel of the Lord found her at a Fountain of Water in the Wilderneſs, that is in the Way to Shur.

8. And he ſaid, Hagar, Sarai's Handmaid, from whence doſt thou come? And whither art thou going? Who anſwered, I am fleeing from the Preſence of my Miſtreſs Sarai.

9. To whom the ſame replies, Go back to thy Miſtreſs, and humble thy ſelf under her Authority.

10. He alſo ſaid to her, I will multiply thy Offspring abundantly; inſomuch that it ſhall not be counted up for Multitude.

11. Behold thou being with child, continued he to her, ſhalt bear a Son; whom thou ſhalt name Iſhmael, becauſe the Lord has hearkened to thy Affliction.

12. However he will be like a wild Aſs to Men, his Hand being againſt every one, and every one's Hand againſt him; yet he ſhall dwell before all his Brethren.

13. And ſhe called the Name of the Lord who ſpoke to her, Thou God of Sight: for ſhe ſaid, Do I alſo ſee here after the Sight?

14. Therefore the Well was called, The Well Lahai-roi: lo it is between Kadeſh and Bered.

15. At length Hagar bore Abram a Son; who named his Son, that ſhe did bear, Iſhmael.

16. And he was in his eighty ſixth Year, when ſhe bore Iſhmael to him.

CHAP. XVII.

AFTERWARDS when he was in his ninety ninth Year, the Lord appeared to Abram, and ſays to him; I am God Almighty, walk continually before me, and be perfect.

2. So will I cauſe my Covenant to be between me and thee, that I will multiply thee exceeding much.

3. With that he falling upon his Face, God ſpoke to him as follows;

Ver. 4. Miſtreſs] Gen. dame.

Ver. 5. My Wrong is upon thee] Thou ſhouldeſt redreſs it; and if thou wilt not, the Lord will judge betwixt us. So Lud. de Dieu animadverts, tibi incumbit, tuum eſt eam præſtare; it lies on thee, belongs to thee to manage it.

Ver. 9. humble] or afflict thy ſelf: for it is the ſame Verb as at Ver. 6. that is humble thy ſelf to be afflicted, as ſhe afflicted thee.

Ver. 9, 10, 11. Theſe three Verſes beginning all with, And the Angel of the Lord ſaid unto her, make the Reading dull.

Ver. 11. Iſhmael] is God hearkens or hears.

Ver. 12. will] by the Gen. Tranſlators ſhall, ſuitable to their Predeſtinarian Opinion.

Ib. like a wild Aſs] Sometimes כ the Letter of Compariſon is omitted, which requires as or like to be ſupplied. Inſtances of which may be ſeen abundantly in Noldius's Heb. Concord. p. 378, 379, 380. and eſpecially to parallel this, Job xi. 12. like might be left out as in Chap. xlix. and the literal Heb. be, he will be the wild Aſs of Men.

Ib. to Men] Which accords with the following Words. Here was more than his being wild, viz. ſeparating from Men, and being at variance with them; but Tranſlators have generally loſt it, except the Chald. Paraphraſt, who renders the Words פרוד באנשא a wild Aſs among Men; and the French, where is read, il ſera reſſemblant à un homme afne ſauvage, he will be like a wild Aſs to a Man. Moreover no and or Conjunction following, ſhews that the next Words explain it. Jarhi expounds it thus, אוהב מדברות לצוד היות כמו שכתוב וישב במדבר ויהי רובה קשת one loving the deſart Places to hunt wild Beaſts, according to that which is written, And he dwelt in the Wilderneſs, and was an Archer.

Ver. 13. God of Sight] Not only for the Sight ſhe had of God, but alſo for her own Sight being preſerved in it, as the following Words ſhew. Trem. and Jun. call him, fortis Deus viſionis, ſtrong God of Viſion; ſaying in the Margin, The firſt Vowel of the Heb. Word ſhews it to be a Noun, not a Participle, as our Tranſlators underſtood it: ſo the French Verſ. le Dieu fort de viſion. Pagnin. alſo in Theſ. and David Kimhi expound it, the God of Viſion; ſee Buxt. Lex.

Ib. after] The Heb. אַחֲרָי after is not like the after belonging to look, which is only Part of the Eng. Verb. It was too great Ignorance for any to take it ſo. Tyndal and Coverdale following the old Lat. have it, I have ſene the backe partes of him, taking after for behind; as likewiſe Caſtal. ſays, a tergo. The other Lat. Tranſlators have the Prepoſition poſt, after: which Trem. and Jun. expound, poſtquam Angelus mihi apparuit, after the Angel appeared to me; and Seb. Munſt. poſtquam ego vidi, after I have ſeen. The Meaning is eaſy if we conſider it was thought to be preſent or ſpeedy Death to ſee God, Chap. xxxii. 30. Exod. xxxiii. 20. Judg. vi. 22. & xiii. 22.

Ver. 14. The Well Lahai-roi] See Chap. xxiv. 62. It may be interpreted, The Well of living in or after the Sight. Thus Trem. and Jun. apply living to Hagar, not to God; Ab. Ez. to the Child.

Ver. 2. cauſe-to be] Heb. give or put. The Terms of this Covenant on God's Part are in Ver. 2, 4, 6, 7, 8, &c. on Abraham's in Ver. 1, 9, 10, and the following.

4. It is I, whoſe Covenant behold is with thee, that thou ſhalt be the Father of many Nations.

5. Therefore thy Name ſhall not henceforth be called Abram, but it ſhall be Abraham; becauſe I make thee the Father of many Nations.

6. For I will cauſe thee to be fruitful exceeding much, that I may make thee Nations; and Kings ſhall proceed forth from thee.

7. Beſides I will confirm my Covenant betwixt me and thee, with thy Offspring after thee in their Generations, for a laſting Covenant; to be a God to thee, and to them hereafter.

8. To both of whom I will give the Country of thy Sojournings, all that of Canaan, for a laſting Poſſeſſion; as well as be a God to them.

9. Thou ſhalt then keep my Covenant, ſaid God alſo to him, and thy future Poſterity throughout their Generations:

10. Which is this between me and you, with them, that you ſhall obſerve; every Male of you ſhall be circumciſed.

11. For you ſhall cut off the Fleſh of your Foreſkins, that it may be a Sign of the Covenant between me and you.

12. And all your Males ſhall be circumciſed on their eighth Day, throughout your Generations; home-born, and bought with Money of any Stranger, who is not of thy Offspring.

13. He who is born of thy Family, and he who is bought with thy Money ſhall be throughly circumciſed; that my Covenant may be a laſting one in your Fleſh.

14. As for the uncircumciſed Male, the Fleſh of whoſe Foreſkin is not circumciſed, that Perſon ſhall be cut off from his People, having broken my Covenant.

15. God ſaid further to him; Thou ſhalt not call the Name of Sarai thy Wife ſo; for it ſhall be Sarah.

16. And I will bleſs her, and alſo give thee a Son by her; nay I will ſo bleſs her, that ſhe ſhall become Nations, there ſhall be Kings of People from her.

17. Again Abraham fell on his Face, and ſmiled, ſaying in his Heart, Shall he who is in his hundredth Year have one born? And ſhall Sarah bear in her ninetieth Year?

18. And he ſaid to God, Oh that Iſhmael may live before thee!

19. To which God replied; Verily thy Wife Sarah ſhall bear thee a Son, whom thou ſhalt name Iſaac; and I will confirm my Covenant with him, to be a laſting one to his Offspring after him.

20. I have hearkened to thee alſo for Iſhmael; behold I bleſs him, will make him fruitful, and increaſe him exceeding much: he ſhall beget twelve Princes, and I will cauſe him to be a great Nation.

21. But I will confirm my Covenant with Iſaac; whom Sarah ſhall bear to thee at this appointed Time, in the next Year.

22. So making an end of converſing with him, God aſcended from Abraham.

23. Then he took his Son Iſhmael, with all who were born of his Family, and every one who was bought with his Money, each Male of his Domeſticks, and cut off the Fleſh of their Foreſkins that ſame Day, according as God ordered him.

24. And Abraham was in his ninety ninth Year, when he was circumciſed in his Foreſkin.

25. As was his Son Iſhmael in his thirteenth Year, when his Foreſkin was cut off.

Ver. 4. many Nations] For all the Faithful are the Children of Abraham; as the Apoſtle expounds this Paſſage, Rom. iv. 16, 17. and further explains how it is, Gal. iii. 16, 28, 29.

Ver. 5. Abram] Abram is high Father, compounded of ab, Father and ram, high; Abraham, high Father of a Multitude, by taking in Part of hamon, a Multitude.

Ver. 13. throughly] that it might always remain, according to the following Words: ſo the doubling of the Verb uſually ſignifies; Trem. and Junius have omnino.

Ver. 14. be cut off] be one cut off or disjoined, but not as joined before.

Ver. 15. Sarai] In Heb. my Princeſs, Sarah, a Princeſs, the Reſtriction being taken off. Her Father or Mother might name her my Princeſs, but God named her a Princeſs: for ſhe was not to be a Princeſs in her own Family only, but of Nations. If the Daughters of Kings are called ſo, well might the Mother. Ver. 16. The Sept. change it from Sara to Sarra, as they alſo make ſad Work with many other Names.

Ver. 16. ſhe ſhall become Nations] as God ſaid he would make Abraham, Ver. 6. What need was there to add Mother here, any more than Father there? ſee alſo Ver. 20.

Ver. 17. ſmiled] The ingenious Caſtalio has ſubridens, ſmiling; the French Tranſ. ſouſrit, ſmiled. The Difference ſpeaks for it ſelf.

Ver. 19. Iſaac] Heb. Izhak, of zahak, he ſmiled.

Ver. 21. Iſaac] Probably Abraham had hitherto taken Iſhmael to be the Son promiſed, Chap. xv. 4.

Ib. at this &c.] Tynd. even thys tyme twelve moneth.

Ver. 25. in his thirteenth Year] Iſhmael was born in the 86th Year of Abraham's Life according to Chap. xvi. 16. and this was the 99th; which at firſt View may ſpeak Iſhmael to be thirteen Years old, and not in his thirteenth Year. But this Objection is ſolved, by only ſuppoſing his Circumciſion was ſooner in the 99th Year, than his Birth was in the 86th, of his Father's Age; by which he could be but in his thirteenth Year. And by the Deſtruction of Sodom and Gomorrah being alſo in Abraham's 99th Year, after the Circumciſion, Chap. xviii. 10, 16, with Chap. xvii. 21. and not ſpoken of as immediately following, or at that Time, it may appear that Iſhmael was circumciſed in the former Part of the ſaid Year. In purſuance of which, I put his Age double that Year in Tab. third to theſe two Things.

26. On that very Day were they both circumciſed.

27. All the Men likewiſe of his Family, home-born, and bought with Money of Strangers, were circumciſed with him.

CHAP. XVIII.

MOREOVER the Lord appeared to him among the Oaks of Mamre, as he was ſitting at the Door of the Tent, in the Heat of the Day.

2. Where looking up, he ſaw apparently that three Men were ſtanding before him; whom when he ſaw, he ran to meet from the Tent-door, and bowed down to the Ground.

3. And ſaid; Lord, if now I am in favour with thee, go not away, I beſeech thee, from thy Servant.

4. Let a little Water, I pray, be fetched, and waſh your Feet, and lean down under a Tree.

5. Beſides that let me fetch a Bit of Bread, and do you ſupport your Hearts, after which you may go on; for therefore have you come before your Servant. And they ſaid, Do according as thou haſt ſpoken.

6. Abraham accordingly haſtened into the Tent to Sarah, and ſaid, Knead quickly three Seahs of fine Flour, and make Cakes.

Ver. 26. very Day] It might be repeated becauſe of Abraham's Readineſs to obey; who did what he was commanded that very Day: or in the Strength of that Day, as the Heb. may ſignify, before it was too far gone. "Not "regarding, ſays Hen. Ainſworth, the Affliction, Dan"ger, Shame, Scandal, and Fooliſhneſs, which this "Action in the Eyes of the World ſeemed to bring "with it."

Ib. circumciſed] The Manner of it is deſcribed by Buxtorf, Synagog. Judaic. Chap. 4. By the Operation which I ſaw at London, upon the Prieſt's inviting me, I obſerved that the Child is put both to the greateſt Pain and Danger, after the Circumciſion is performed in cutting off the Foreſkin (which ſeems to be all that God commanded) by tearing apart what remains with long Nails, kept for that Purpoſe by the Mohel or Circumciſer: which the Jews ſeem very unwarrantably and ignorantly to found upon Joſh. v. 2. as if that ſignified this ſecond Part of their Ceremony. The firſt Part being in a manner inſtantaneous, may be no great Puniſhment, and little or no Danger; but the latter taking up ſome Time, upon the Sore already made, and offering too great Violence to Nature, muſt give exquiſite Torture, as well as be dangerous. And upon my aſking them, whether it was not the Occaſion of ſome Children's Death; they ſeemed to acknowledge that, by ſaying they might have died without it. We may hence obſerve how the Commands of God, which are mild and harmleſs, are made rigorous and hurtful by Men. So God requiring Abraham, for a Trial of his Obedience, to offer up his Son, without ſuffering him to do it; it became the Practice of People to burn their Children to their gods, as has been thought.

It is pretended that Circumciſion was uſed before Abraham's Time, ſince Herodotus ſays, Lib. ii. 104. μοῦνοι πάντων ἀνθρώπων Κόλχοι, καὶ Αἰγύπλιοι, καὶ Αἰθίοπες περιλάμνονλαι ἀπ' ἀρχῆς τὰ αἰδοῖα, The Colchites, Egyptians, and Ethiopians, only of all Men circumciſed from the Beginning. To invalidate which we muſt go a little round about: Joſephus ag. Apion, tells us, τῶν δὲ τὴν Παλαιςίνην καλοικένλων μόνοι τᾶτο ποιᾶσιν Ιεδᾶιοι, of thoſe who inhabited Paleſtine the Jews only did this; conſequently the Philiſtines did not circumciſe; next Bochart having largely ſhewn in his Geog. Sac. Part i. Lib. iv. Chap. 31. that the Caſluhites, from whom the Philiſtines came, Chap. x. 14. were the Colchites; it will follow that the Colchites were not in the Practice of Circumciſion when the Philiſtines ſprung from them: but rather that the Colchites, who lived between the Mediterranean and Red Sea, had it from their Neighbours the Arabians that were Abraham's Poſterity, after the Philiſtines were ſeparated from them; and ſo it might be communicated to the Egyptians and Ethiopians; eſpecially ſince Euſtathius ſays, the Arabians, as Deſcendants of Iſhmael, defer their Circumciſion to the 13th Year of Life, becauſe he was circumciſed then, Hex. p. 60. that Age of theirs for the ſame being alſo in Euſebius, Lib. vi. 11. but Joſephus has it after the 13th Year, Ant. Lib. i. 13. and Ambroſe writes in the Treatiſe De Abraham, Lib. ii. 11. Ægyptii quarto decimo anno circumcidunt mares, the Egyptians circumciſed the Males in the 14th Year, becauſe that too ſhews it was taken from Iſhmael's being circumciſed, by reckoning him ſo old in Ver. 25. ſee Joſh. v. 9.

Ver. 1. Oaks] One of which it is likely they were under, Ver. 4, 8. vid. Chap. xiii. 18. and xiv. 13. Joſephus writes, Abraham was ſitting at his Tent-door under the Oak of Mambres, Ant. Lib. i. 12.

Ver. 2. three Men] Anaſhim implies they were like mortal Men. One was the Lord we may obſerve by Ver. 1, 22. who ſtaid with Abraham, while the two Angels went to Sodom, Chap. xix. 1. But Lightfoot hereon ſays, they were the three Perſons in the Trinity; others, as Whitby, &c. on John i. 1. count them to be three Angels, and that the Lord was there viſibly beſide.

Ib. before him] Jun. and Ainſ. before; Caſt. ex adverſo, over againſt, as Coverdale alſo has it. So Noldius too interprets the Heb. Prepoſition here, and gives Inſtances of the ſame in divers other Places, Concord. Particul. Ebr. p. 694, 695, 691. If they had ſtood by Abraham, he would not have run to meet them.

Ib. bowed down to the Ground] Or proſtrated himſelf on it, in the Manner of the eaſtern Countries, as Buxtorf obſerves on the Verb; ſee the com. Tranſ. Ruth ii. 10. 1 Sam. xxv. 41. 2 Sam. ix. 6. and xiv. 33, 4, 22. 1 Kings i. 31. 2 Kings ii. 15. and iv. 37. 2 Chr. vii. 3. and xx. 18.

Ver. 3. Lord] The ſame as at Ver. 27, 30, 31, 32. and when my is joined to it the Pointing is otherwiſe, as in Ver. 12. It agrees with Abraham's calling himſelf here his Servant; as that does with his waiting upon thoſe heavenly Gueſts, according to his Offer.

Ver. 4. lean down] on the Elbow, as was the eaſtern Poſture at Meals, John xiii. 23.

Ver. 5. ſupport] comfort was not tranſlated from the Heb. (for ſabad has no ſuch Signification) but from the old Lat. comfortetur.

Ib. for therefore] i. e. you went along here in my Sight through Providence, that you might eat, and be refreſhed.

Ib. before] The like Particle as at the ſecond Verſe.

Ver. 6. Seah] Why ſhould not this Hebrew Name be kept, as Homer, Bath, Kab and Ephah are; ſince our Meaſures of Capacity are not of the ſame Bigneſs, and they were Meaſures as well as this? A Seah was about two Gallons and a half. The Quantity was rather proportionable to the Calf, than to three Men's eating, the Remainder of which might be for the Servants Dinner.

Ib. make Cakes] upon the hearth is of the Tranſlators adding, but is added no where elſe in the preſ. Bib. as Exod. xii. 39. Numb. xi. 8. and four Places where the Word is ſing. as Buxt. Concordantiæ Heb. ſhew.

7. He

7. He likewiſe ran to the Herd, and taking a tender and good Calf, gave to a young Man, that he might make haſte to get it ready.

8. After which he took Butter and Milk, with the Calf that was dreſſed, and put before them; and he ſtood by them under the Tree, while they eat.

9. And they aſked him, Where is Sarah thy Wife? Who anſwered, There in the Tent.

10. Then replied one, I will certainly return to thee according to the Time of Life, ſo that behold ſhe ſhall have a Son: which Sarah heard at the Door of the Tent, that was behind him.

11. Now Abraham and Sarah were got into old Years, it being ceaſed for her to be after the Manner of Women.

12. Therefore ſhe ſmiling within her ſelf, ſaid, Shall I have Pleaſure after I am become aged, and my Lord is old?

13. Upon this the Lord ſaid to Abraham; Why does Sarah ſmile, ſaying, What, ſhall I bear indeed, when I am grown old?

14. Is there any thing too wonderful for the Lord? At the Time appointed, according to the Seaſon of Life, will I return to thee, ſo that ſhe ſhall have a Son.

15. Yet Sarah thus denied, I did not ſmile, becauſe ſhe was afraid; and he ſaid, No, but thou didſt.

16. At length the Men got up to go thence, and looked towards Sodom; whom Abraham accompanied, to bring them on the Way.

17. And the Lord ſays; Shall I conceal from Abraham what I am about to do?

18. Since he will fully become a great and mighty Nation, and through him will all the Nations of the Earth be bleſſed.

19. For I know that he is one who will command his Children and Family after him, that they ſhould obſerve the Way of the Lord, by doing Righteouſneſs and Equity; that the Lord may bring to Abraham what he has ſpoken to him.

20. So he ſaid; Becauſe the Cry of Sodom and Gomorrah is great, namely that their Sin is very grievous;

21. I am going down now, that I may ſee, whether they have done wholly according to the Cry of it that is come to me; or if not, I ſhall know.

22. But when the Men turned from thence, that they might go to Sodom, Abraham ſtood yet before the Lord.

23. And drawing nigh, he ſaid; What, wilt thou deſtroy the Righteous with the Wicked?

24. Suppoſe there are fifty righteous ones within the City; what, wilt thou conſume them, and not ſpare the Place by reaſon of thoſe fifty?

25. Far be it from thee that thou ſhouldeſt do ſuch a Thing as this, to cauſe the Righteous to die with the Wicked, for the former to be the ſame as the latter: let that be far from thee; will not the Judge of the whole Earth do Juſtice?

26. To which the Lord ſaid, If I find at Sodom fifty righteous ones within the City, I will ſpare all the Place for their Sake.

27. And Abraham made anſwer; Behold now I would ſpeak to the Lord, though I am Duſt and Aſhes.

28. Suppoſe five ſhould be wanting of the forementioned fifty, wilt thou deſtroy the whole City for the five? And he ſaid, I will not, if I find there five and forty.

29. Then he proceeded to ſpeak thus to him further, Perhaps forty may be found there: who ſaid, I will not do it for their Sake.

30. In the next Place he ſaid, Let not the Lord now be angry that I ſpeak; perhaps thirty may be found there: I will not do it, anſwered he, if I find ſo many there.

31. Behold now, ſaid he again, I would ſpeak to the Lord, Poſſibly twenty may be found there: then he ſaid, I will not deſtroy it for them.

32. Laſtly he ſaid; Let not the Lord now be angry, and I will ſpeak only this Time,

Ver. 7. ran] Obſerve how Abraham almoſt a hundred Years old, ran about to entertain Strangers!

Ver. 8. was dreſſed] For Abraham did not dreſs it himſelf. Active for Paſſive is ſometimes in Scripture, as Chap. xvi. 14. and xix. 22. Num. xxx. 13. Neh. ii. 7. Eſt. v. 14. and ſee Buxt. Gram. Part ii. p. 101. otherwiſe the young Man ſhould have been inſerted.

Ver. 10. Time of Life] Time of Child-bearing, as this ſeems to have been at that of Conception, and three Months after the preceding Appearance, Chap. xvii. 21. compare Chap. xvii. 21, 24. with Chap. xxi. 5. So Gualtperius expounds it, ſecundum morem, quo ſolet infans vivificari in utero, & naſci; ita vivificabitur, & naſcetur Iſaac quoque: according to the manner that a Child uſes to be made alive and born, ſo ſhall Iſaac alſo.

Ver. 12. ſmiling within her ſelf] It being inwardly, was not properly laughing; nor would the Circumſtances, or Words ſaid, have provoked it in lighter People. So Abraham is repreſented to laugh in com. Tranſ. at what God ſaid, when he knew it was God, Chap. xvii. 17.

Ib. Pleaſure] Gen. luſt, with Tynd. and the Biſh. geve my ſelfe to luſt? that being an old Word for deſire.

Ver. 13. What] The ſame that is rendered alſo in the com. Bib. Ver. 23, 24. אַף being redundant like what.

Ver. 18. fully] Jun. prorſus; ſo the repeating of the Verb-ſubſtantive is done by altogether in our Bible, Pſal. l. 21.

Ver. 27. I would] This is the Meaning which Grammarians generally give the Word, and particularly Buxtorf. It is as it were a half Verb, uſually followed by another. Sol. Jarhi on this Place expounds it by רציתי I would. Jun. and Trem. turn it cuperem; Munſt. complacuit.

There

There may perhaps be ten found there: to which he ſaid, I will not deſtroy it for ten's Sake.

33. And the Lord went away when he had made an end of converſing with Abraham; and he returned to his Place.

CHAP. XIX.

NOW the two Angels came to Sodom in the Evening, at the Gate of which Lot was ſitting; whom ſeeing, he roſe up to meet them, and bowed down with the Face to the Ground,

2. And ſaid, Behold now, Lord, turn aſide, I pray, to your Servant's Houſe, lodge, and waſh your Feet; then you may riſe early, and go on your Way: but they anſwered, No, for we can lodge in the Street.

3. Yet he preſſed on them ſo much, that they turned aſide to him, and went to his Houſe; where he made a Feaſt for them, baking unleavened Cakes, and they eat.

4. Before they lay down however, the Men of the City of Sodom beſet the Houſe about, all of them both young and old, from the uttermoſt Part.

5. And calling to Lot, they ſaid to him, Where are the Men who came to thee to Night? Bring them out to us, that we may have the knowledge of them.

6. Upon which Lot goes forth to them at the Gate, ſhutting the Door after him,

7. And ſays; Do not wickedly, my Brethren, I beſeech you.

8. Lo now I have two Daughters who have not known a Man, them now would I bring out to you, that you may do to them what you pleaſe; only do nothing to theſe Men, for therefore they came into the Shelter of my Roof.

9. But they ſaid, Get thee further; adding, There is one come to ſojourn, and he muſt needs judge; now will we do more wickedly to thee than to them: accordingly they preſſed on that Man exceedingly, and came nigh to break open the Door.

10. However the Men reached out their Hands, and pulled Lot into the Houſe to them, and ſhut the Door.

11. Thoſe alſo who were at the Gate of the Houſe they ſtruck with Blindneſs, both ſmall and great; ſo that they were tired of finding out the Gate.

12. Afterwards the Men ſaid to Lot; Whom thou haſt elſe here, Son-in-law, or thy Sons, Daughters, and all that belong to thee in the City, bring out of this Place.

13. For we ſhall deſtroy it; becauſe their Cry is great before the Lord, and he has ſent us to deſtroy it.

14. Whereupon Lot went forth, and ſpoke thus to his Sons-in-law, who were taking his Daughters, Get ready; go out of this Place, for the Lord will deſtroy the City; but they looked on him as if he was in jeſt.

Ver. 1. the two Angels] Thoſe who were with Abraham, and left him with God, Chap. xviii. 22. which in the old Eng. Bible is, the twoo Aungels; and Caſtal. tranſlates, Angeli illi duo. The Heb. expreſſes it by the demonſtrative Letter ה.

Ver. 2. Lord] The ſame Word with that in Chap. xviii. 3. and Ver. 18. of this Chap. Lot might not improperly ſpeak to one, and invite both.

Ib. can] or it might be turned, let us lodge. No was not an Anſwer to any Queſtion, but ſignified their Refuſal. The Reaſon of their conſenting afterwards is told Ver. 8. on which account Lot might be ſo preſſing as he was on them.

Ver. 3. unleavened Cakes] The Word is plural, and ſo rendered, Judg. vi. 19, 20, 21. Ainſworth has the ſame; and the Tigurin Verſion, placentas infermentatas: but Coverdale likes it, ſwete cakes.

Ver. 4. young and old] which is the Heb. Order, inverted as it ſeems through Inattention by the laſt Tranſlators.

Ver. 6. at the Gate] Heb. to the Gate. I have kept the Hebrew Diſtinction of Gate and Door likewiſe in the following Verſes, which appear not to be the ſame, but that there was a Gate before the Door.

Ver. 7. my Brethren] So this is rendered every where elſe in the com. Bib. particularly Judg. xix. 23. and here in Tranſlations which keep cloſe to the Original.

Ver. 8. them now would I bring out] The Heb. na, now, is the ſame as before in this Verſe. Doubtleſs Lot did not pray them to let him bring his Daughters out for ſuch a wicked Purpoſe; nor does one of the many Tranſlations I have conſulted ſay it, beſides the preſent Engliſh. Caſtal. tranſlates freely, Eas malo vobis ad veſtram libidinem producere quam, I had rather bring them out to your will than. It was a noble Reſolution in Lot, rather to deliver up his Daughters than his Gueſts; and was accordingly rewarded, with his Daughters Preſervation, as well as his own.

Ib. what you pleaſe] So I render this Heb. Idiom; other Ways in the com. Tranſ. ſee 2 Sam. iii. 19. Deut. i. 23. 2 King. xx. 3.

Ver. 9. do more wickedly to thee] They mock him with his own Word, Ver. 7. which is the manner of ungodly Scoffers.

Ver. 11. tired of finding out the Gate] The Gate might be more difficult to find as they were in the Street, than the Door would if they had been in the Court.

Ver. 12. or] So Patrick obſerves, and ſays it ſhould be tranſlated.

Ver. 13. before the Lord] by the Biſh. before the Face of God, away from the Heb.

Ver. 14. were taking] The Marriage being not accompliſhed, Ver. 8. This is quite literal, the Heb. Word being a Participle; accordingly we find both thoſe Daughters were marriageable. It is unlikely that Lot had other Daughters married, and all or both dead, as has been thought; ſince they muſt alſo have had no Children living, becauſe Lot would certainly have regarded his own Offspring along with, if not above his wicked Sons-in-law, and that after his Daughters Deceaſe. But it being not expreſſed by the preterperfect Tenſe, conſidering the manner of the Heb. that may be taken for a full Confirmation of the former Meaning; for which we have alſo the Verdict of Joſephus, Ant. Lib. i. 12. of Jerome in Hebr. Queſt. & Chryſoſt. Hom. in Loc.

15. And as ſoon as it was break of Day, the Angels were urgent with Lot as follows, Get ready, take thy Wife and two Daughters who are preſent, leſt thou ſhouldeſt be conſumed through the Iniquity of the City.

16. And he delaying, the Men took hold of his Hand, and thoſe of his Wife and two Daughters, by the Compaſſion of the Lord to him; and had him forth, putting him without the City.

17. Which they had no ſooner done, but one cries, Eſcape for thy Life, neither look behind thee, nor ſtay in all the Plain: eſcape to the Mountain, leſt thou ſhouldeſt be conſumed.

18. Whom Lot intreated; Let not that be, I pray thee, Lord.

19. Behold now as thy Servant is in Favour with thee, and thou makeſt thy Kindneſs which thou ſheweſt to me great, to ſave my Life; and I cannot eſcape to the Mountain, leſt Harm ſhould overtake me, and I die:

20. Lo now this City is near, whither I can flee, and it is little; let me, I pray, eſcape thither (is it not a little one?) that my Life may be ſaved.

21. And he replied to him; Behold I accept thy Perſon alſo in this Thing, that I will not overthrow the City of which thou ſpeakeſt.

22. Make haſte, eſcape to it; for I can do Nothing till thou art got thither; therefore the City was named Zoar.

23. The Sun came forth above the Horizon when Lot reached Zoar.

24. Then the Lord made it rain Brimſtone and Fire, upon Sodom and Gomorrah, from him out of Heaven.

25. Thus he overthrew thoſe Cities, with the whole Plain, and all the Inhabitants of the Cities, as well as the Product of the Ground.

26. But his Wife looking behind him, became a Pillar of Salt.

27. And Abraham went early in the Morning, to the Place where he ſtood before the Lord.

28. When looking towards Sodom and Gomorrah, and towards all the Country of the Plain, he ſaw clearly that the Smoak of the Country went up, like that of a Kiln.

29. Yet when God deſtroyed the Cities of the Plain, he remembered Abraham, ſending Lot from within the Overthrow, when he overthrew the Cities in which he dwelt.

30. Lot afterwards went up from Zoar, and dwelt on the Mountain, having his two Daughters with him, becauſe he was afraid to dwell in Zoar; where he and they abode in a Cave.

31. And the Firſt-born ſaid to the Youngeſt; Our Father is old, and there being no Man in the World to come in to us after the manner of the whole Earth;

32. Come, let us make him drink Wine, and lie with him, that we may cauſe Offſpring to live from our Father.

33. Accordingly they made their Father drink Wine that Night, and the Firſt-born went in, and lay with him; who knew not when ſhe lay down, nor when ſhe got up.

34. On the next Day likewiſe ſhe ſaid to the other, Lo I lay laſt Night with my Father; let us make him drink Wine alſo to Night, and go thou in, lie with him, that we may cauſe Offspring to live from our Father.

35. So they made their Father drink Wine too that Night, and the Youngeſt got ready, and lay with him; who knew not when ſhe lay down, nor when ſhe got up.

36. And Lot's two Daughters conceiving by their Father;

37. The Firſt-born bore a Son, and named him Moab; who is the Father of the Moabites to this Day.

38. And the Youngeſt alſo bore a Son, whom ſhe named Ben-ammi; he is the Father of the Ammonites to this Day.

CHAP. XX.

AND Abraham travelled from thence to the South-country, and dwelt between Kadeſh and Shur, ſojourning in Gerar.

2. And he reporting of Sarah his Wife, She is my Siſter; Abimelech King of Gerar ſent, and took her.

3. But God came to him in a Dream by Night, and ſaid to him, Behold thou art a dead Man becauſe of the Woman whom thou haſt taken, for ſhe has a Husband.

4. Nevertheleſs Abimelech having not come near her, pleaded; Lord, wilt thou ſlay even a righteous Nation?

5. Did not he tell me, She is my Siſter? And ſhe too her ſelf ſaid, He is my Brother: in the Integrity of my Heart, and Innocency of my Hands, I did this.

6. To whom God replied in the Dream; Yes, I knew that thou didſt it in the Integrity of thy Heart, and I alſo with-held thee from ſinning againſt me: therefore I did not let thee meddle with her.

7. So now reſtore the Man's Wife; for he is a Prophet, and will pray for thee; and do thou live: but if thou doſt not reſtore her, know that thou ſhalt quite die, with every one whom thou haſt.

8. With this Abimelech got up early in the Morning, and calling all his Servants, related all theſe Words in their Hearing; and the Men were exceedingly afraid.

9. He likewiſe called Abraham, and ſaid to him, What haſt thou done to us? And wherein had I offended thee, that thou wouldeſt have brought a great Sin upon me and my Kingdom? Thou haſt done to me Deeds which ſhould not be done.

10. What didſt thou ſee, continued Abimelech to him, that thou haſt done this Thing?

11. To which Abraham anſwered; It was becauſe I thought there was no Fear of God at all in this Place, and they would ſlay me for my Wife's Sake.

12. Nay ſhe is alſo indeed my Siſter, my Father's Daughter, but not my Mother's, and I had her for a Wife.

13. And when God made me wander from my Father's Houſe, I ſaid to her; This is thy Kindneſs which thou ſhalt do to me; at every Place whither we ſhall come, report of me, He is my Brother.

14. Then Abimelech took Sheep, Oxen, Servant-men and Maids, and gave to Abraham; reſtoring to him Sarah his Wife.

15. Moreover he ſaid, Behold my Country is before thee, dwell where it pleaſes thee.

16. Beſides he ſaid to Sarah, Lo I give thy Brother a thouſand Shekels of Silver, behold it is to thee a Covering of the Eyes for all who are with thee; and all was that ſhe might be reproved.

Ver. 38. Ben-ammi] Son of my People.

Ver. 3. God came] So Homer makes his Hero ſay, Iliad 1. καὶ γὰρ τ' ὄναρ ἐκ Διός ἐστιν, for even a Dream is from God.

Ver. 5. She is] In the State of the printed Hebrew Text, publiſhed in 1753, the Author ſays; if truly tranſlated, this Paſſage contains, HE is my Siſter? And SHE, even HE ſaid: wherein he alledges more for the Validity of the Heb. Points, than he was aware of; for the Points make thoſe pretended Hes to be Shes.

Ver. 7. do thou live] By doing what I command thee; coherent with what is read Chap. xii. 2.

Ver. 9. wouldeſt have brought] to agree with Ver. 6.

Ver. 11. at all] רַק Tantum, Tantummodo, Duntaxat, Particula extenuandi, Geneſ. xx. 11. Buxt. in Heb. & Chald. Lex. that is Rak is only, but only, nothing but, a Particle of leſſening, Gen. xx. 11. Leigh alſo in Crit. Sacra expounds it, Tantum, Tantummodo, Saltem, Gen. xx. 11. Herein they are agreeable to Montan. with Jun. and Trem. There is only (or nothing but) no Fear, muſt be, There is no Fear at all.

Ver. 16. Shekels] See 2 Sam. xviii. 11, 12. 2 Chron. i. 17. and compare with 2 Sam. xxiv. 24. 2 Kings xv. 20. Nehem. v. 15. ſee alſo Ainſworth's Annot. on it.

Ib. it is to thee a Covering] Sebaſt. Munſt. in his Annot. writes, ſudant hic multi ut ſententiam iſtam explicent, many here ſweat to expound this Paſſage.

The firſt Difficulty that occurs is, whether Abimelech intended hu to be he or it, for the Word ſignifies either. I have choſen the latter with the Septuagint, the Authors of the Chald. Targum and Vulg. Lat Bib. Santes Pagninus, Munſt. Leo Judæ, Caſtalio, Montanus, Tyndal, Coverdale, and the Biſhops; judging that the Gift was meant by it, becauſe he had no need elſe to have mentioned the Silver, but might have ſaid, Thy Brother is to thee a Covering, &c. and the Silver would have been reckoned in Order with the other Things, Ver. 14. Moſes Gerundenſis alſo, and Sol. Jarhi, celebrated Heb. Writers, agree with this; and Howel pleads for it to be, which is to thee a Covering, Hiſt. of the H. Bib. p. 50. I underſtand it as if the King had ſaid: 'People will not think very well of 'thee being a married Woman, to ſay, thy Huſband was 'thy Brother, but will imagine thou hadſt a mind that I 'or ſome other ſhould take thee; if thou hadſt not acted 'ſo indiſcreetly, I might have given thee this Gift, to 'thy Credit and Advantage: but ſince thou calleſt Abraham thy Brother, it is neceſſary, to cover thee from all 'Suſpicion, that I give it to thy Brother, for it will in-'creaſe the Surmiſes if I beſtow it on thee; thus thou 'fareſt the worſe by being Abraham's Siſter, rather than 'his Wife.' Ironical Speeches ſhould be ſhort, and that this was ſuch, appears by his ſaying thy Brother, inſtead of thy Huſband.

Ib. and all was] This is parted from the foregoing by the great Pauſe Athnah, anſwering to our Colon or Semicolon; which Diſtinction is kept in the Greek, Chald. and Vulg. Lat. Bibles, with that of Gryphius amending the latter, in the laſt Editions of Jun. and Trem. by Munſter and Ainſworth; Ab. Ezra explaining it thus ועם כל זה נתוכח' שרה and with all this Sarah was reproved; and David Kimhi in the ſecond Part of his Michlol, otherwiſe

17. After-

17. Afterwards Abraham prayed to God; and he cured Abimelech, with his Wife and Handmaids, ſo that they bore.

18. For the Lord had faſt ſhut up every Womb of his Family, upon the account of Sarah Abraham's Wife.

CHAP. XXI.

AND the Lord viſited Sarah as he had promiſed, doing for her according as he ſpoke.

2. For ſhe conceived, and bore Abraham a Son in his old Age, at the ſet Time that God had told him.

3. And he named his Son, whom he had born to him by her, Iſaac.

4. Whom he circumciſed on his eighth Day, as God commanded him.

5. He himſelf being in his hundredth Year, when he was born to him.

6. And Sarah ſaid, God has made me to be ſmiled about; every one who hears it will ſmile concerning me.

7. Who, ſays ſhe, would have ſpoken to Abraham of Sarah's giving Children ſuck? becauſe I have born a Son in his old Years.

8. At length the Child being grown, ſo that it ſhould be weaned, Abraham made a great Feaſt the Day that was done.

9. And Sarah ſeeing the Son of Hagar the Egyptian, whom ſhe bore to him, making ſport;

10. She ſaid to Abraham, Drive out this Maid-ſervant and her Son: for he ſhall not inherit along with my Son Iſaac.

11. Which Thing Abraham was much diſpleaſed with, by reaſon of his Son.

12. But God ſaid to him, Be not diſpleaſed concerning the Youth and thy Handmaid; in all that Sarah has expreſſed to thee, hearken to what ſhe ſays: for of Iſaac it ſhall be called thy Offspring.

13. Yet I will alſo make the Son of the Handmaid a Nation, becauſe he is the Offſpring of thee.

14. So Abraham got up early in the Morning, and took Bread and a Bottle of Water, which he gave to Hagar (putting it on her Shoulder) with the Boy, and ſent her away; who went and wandered in the Wilderneſs of Beer-ſheba.

15. And when the Water was conſumed out of the Bottle, ſhe caſt the Boy under one of the Shrubs.

16. Then ſhe went, and ſate her ſelf down at a Diſtance, about a Bow-ſhot off; for ſhe ſaid, Let me not ſee the Child's Death; and ſitting there, ſhe burſt out a crying.

17. And God hearing the Lad's Voice, the Angel of God calls to Hagar from Heaven, ſaying to her; What is the matter with thee, Hagar? Do not fear, for God has hearkened to the Voice of the Youth, where he is.

18. Ariſe, lift him up, and hold him in thy Hand: for I will cauſe him to be a great Nation.

19. Beſides God opened her Eyes, ſo that ſhe ſaw a Well of Water; and ſhe went, and filling the Bottle with Water, gave the Lad drink.

20. Moreover God was with him, and he grew up; who dwelling in the Wilderneſs, became an Archer.

21. And he dwelt in that of Paran; for whom his Mother took a Wife out of the Country of Egypt.

22. At that Time alſo Abimelech ſpoke to Abraham, with Phichol the Captain of his Army, as follows; God is with thee in all that thou doeſt.

called The Book of Roots (my Edition, all in the Original, being printed at Venice by Bombergius) writes, הם דברי משה אמר כי עם כל אלה הדברים שארעו לה באמרה אחי הוא עם פרעה ועם אבימלך נוכחה שרה ונוסרה מאמיר אחי הוא Thoſe are the Words of Moſes: he ſays, that with all theſe Things which befel her, when ſhe ſaid, He is my Brother, both with Pharaoh and Abimelech, Sarah was reproved, that ſhe might not ſay further, He is my Brother. The com. Eng. Tranſ. has it as if it were, all People that are with all People.

Ib. reproved] Hear Munſter again, neſcio quid his Santi in mentem venerit, ut pro נוכחת verteret, erudivit ſe, cum ſit participium paſſivum a radice יכח corripuit: I know not what came into the mind of Santes here, that for nocahath he turned, it has inſtructed thy ſelf, ſince it is a Participle paſſive from the Root yacah, he reproved. But how Sarah was reproved according to our latter Tranſlations, I cannot tell.

Ver. 6. made me to be ſmiled about] Heb. made ſmiling at me. It is commonly interpreted in Latin, riſum fecit mihi; by Ainſworth, one of our beſt Hebricians, made me a Laughter.

Ver. 9. making ſport] the ſame Participle that is uſed of Iſaac, Chap. xxvi. 8. as the Verb is of Samſon, Judg. xvi. 25. The Gr. has added, with Iſaac her Son; but it might be at Sarah her ſelf, or at both of them: and if ſuch Enudations muſt be thruſt into the Text, why not every where?

Ver. 11. by reaſon of his Son] From hence, and here, it is confidently argued, in the Annotation of the Aſſembly, that Hagar was not Abraham's Wife; to the ſhameful Diſgrace of that good Man, but as it happens to the expreſs Contradiction of the Scripture, Chap. xvi. 3.

Ver. 14. wandered] Having it ſeems loſt her Way there, going towards Egypt her own Country, or as ſhe was before Chap. xvi. 7. to Shur, whereabout ſhe now ſettled, Chap. xxv. 18. this Wilderneſs being in the Way thither, 1 Kings xix. 3, 4. Joſh. xv. 21, 28. 2 Sam. xxiv. 7. and it is remarked in A Voyage for the Diſcovery of a North-weſt Paſſage, Vol. i. p. 209. that Hagar, after the preſent Manner of the Indians, being ſeparated by Divorce from Abraham's Tent or Family, was going to her own Relations.

Ver. 15. caſt the Boy] who might be but about fourteen Years old, Chap. xvii. 21, 25. and this might be before the Weaning of Iſaac, Ver. 8.

Ver. 22. Phichol] The Gr. has alſo the other in Ch. xxvi. 26. and pretty plainly from thence.

23. Now

23. Now therefore ſwear to me here by him, that without dealing falſely with me, my Son, or Grandſon, thou wilt do to me, and the Country wherein thou ſojourneſt, according to the Kindneſs which I have done to thee.

24. And Abraham anſwered, I will ſwear.

25. But he reproved Abimelech, by reaſon of a Well of Water which his Servants had forcibly taken away.

26. However Abimelech ſaid, I know not who did this Thing; and beſides thou didſt not tell it me, nor did I even hear of it, beſides to Day.

27. Then Abraham took Sheep and Oxen, and gave to him; and they both made a Covenant.

28. Abraham further ſet ſeven Ewe-lambs of the Flock by themſelves.

29. And Abimelech aſked him, For what are theſe ſeven Lambs here, which thou haſt ſet by themſelves?

30. Who anſwered, That thou mayeſt receive them from me, to the intent it may be a Witneſs for me, that I dug this Well.

31. Therefore he called the Place Beer-ſheba; becauſe they ſwore there both of them.

32. When they had thus made a Treaty there, Abimelech roſe up, with the other, and they returned to the Country of the Philiſtines.

33. But Abraham ſet a Tree at Beer-ſheba, and called there on the Name of the Everlaſting Lord God.

34. And he ſojourned in the Philiſtines Country a great while.

CHAP. XXII.

AFTER theſe Things God tried Abraham, ſaying to him, Abraham; who anſwered, Here am I.

2. And he ſaid, Take now thy Son, thy only one Iſaac whom thou loveſt, and get thee to the Country of Moriah; and offer him up there for a Burnt-offering upon one of the Mountains that I will tell thee.

3. Accordingly he got up early in the Morning, and ſaddled his Aſs, taking two of his young Men with them, and Iſaac his Son; and having cleaved Wood for the Burnt-offering, he got ready to go to the Place which God told him.

4. On the third Day he looked up, and ſaw the Place far off.

5. Then he ſaid to his young Men, Stay here with the Aſs, whilſt I and the Youth go yonder, and worſhipping, come again to you.

6. And Abraham took the Wood of the Burnt-offering, and put upon his Son Iſaac; he alſo took Fire, and a Knife in his Hand: thus they went on both of them together.

Ver. 27. gave] Here is not them in the Original.

Ver. 29. here] Hennah is here; and though there is another hennah the plural of hi, ſhe, ſignifying they or theſe, that would be improper in this Place, becauſe there is another theſe. Ainſworth renders it the ſame, and Noldius in his Annotat. 1172. names ten others for it; it being the very Word which Abimelech uſed, Ver. 23. Mean in our Bibles, ſeems to be tranſlated from the old Latin, volunt ſibi.

Ver. 30. for me] We have been taught to read unto me; but the Preſent of the Lambs was to be a Witneſs to Abimelech, and not to Abraham.

Ver. 31. Beer-ſheba] In Heb. the Well of ſeven ſtrictly, i. e. the ſeven Ewe-lambs; but the Well of the Oath, as generally expounded: for ſheba is ſeven, as ſhibah is, Ch. xxvi. 33. and an Oath is Shabua or Shebuah. So therefore may have relation to the foregoing as well as following Words. This double Signification is ſpoken of by Hieron. Tradit. Heb. in Geneſ.

Ver. 33. Abraham] from the next Verſe; as Words even in literal Tranſlation are very frequently tranſpoſed.

Ib. a Tree] So our Tranſlators have rendered it themſelves, in the other two Places where it only is, 1 Sam. xxii. 6. & xxxi. 13. in the latter of which we may find it was an Oak by 1 Chron. x. 12. Montan. and Ainſw. turn it likewiſe a Tree. It ſeems to be planted for Remembrance of the Spot of Ground, where the Treaty was made between thoſe great Men; and ſerved inſtead of ſtriking Medals. David Kimhi, in the 2d Part of Michlol, (from which Buxtorf conſiderably compoſed his Heb. Dictionary, as he did his Grammar from the 1ſt Part) expounds the Word thus אשל שם כולל לכל עץ eſhel is a general Name for any Tree. Lightfoot writes it was, that he might have hallowed Wood for his Sacrifices, as he had had Fire from Heaven, which he preſerved: Conceits fit to go together!

Ver. 1. tried] See Heb. xi. 17. Com. Tranſ. ſays here, God did tempt Abraham, and Jam. i. 13. that he does not tempt any Man. We commonly uſe tempt in an evil Senſe.

Ver. 2. offer him up] It has been pretended that ſlaying Children in Sacrifice was practiſed before this Time; chiefly from Sanchoniatho, whoſe Hiſtory Philo Byblius, living in the Reign of the Roman Emperor Adrian, tranſlated into Greek in eight Books, where is the following Relation, Euſebius, Pr. Evan. Lib. iv. 16. Κρόνῳ ὃν οἱ Φοίνικες Ἰσραὴλ προσαγορεύσοι, Βασιλεύων τῆς χώρας, ἐξ νύμφης Ἀνωβρὲτ υἱὸν ἔχων μονογενῆ, ὃν Ἰεὺδ ἐκάλεν, κινδύνων ἐκ πολέμε μεγίσων κατειλεφότων τὴν χώραν, βασιλικῷ κοσμήσας σχήματι τὸν υἱὸν, βωμόν τε κατασκευασμένῳ, κατέθυσε. Cronus (who is commonly ſuppoſed to be Saturn, before the Age of Abraham) whom the Phenicians call Iſrael, when he reigned in that Country, had an only Son that he called Jeyd by the Nymph Anobret, and when great Peril of War ſeized the Land, he dreſſed up his Son in royal Habit, and ſacrificed him on an Altar he prepared. But that this Story was made from the Scripture here, appears not only by the Name of Iſrael, Abraham being the moſt renowned Father of the Iſraelites; but alſo by the Son's Name, for Iſaac is called Jehid, only one, in this and the 16th Verſe; as likewiſe by Sanchoniatho's ſaying, the Cronus who, τὸν ἑαυτῆ μονογενῆ υἱὸν ὁλοκαρποῖ, offered up his only Son, καὶ τὰ αἰδοῖα περιτέμνεται, ταυτὸ ποιῆσαι καὶ τὲς ἅμ' ἀυτῷ συμμάχυς καταναγκάσας, did alſo circumciſe, and force his Companions to do the ſame, Euſeb. Pr. Ev. Lib. i. 10. conſonant to Chap. xvii. 23. ſee Bochart's Canaan, Lib. ii. Cap. 2. and Shuckford's Connect. Book vi. So Philo Judæus concludes in his Book Περὶ Ἀβραὰμ Concerning Abraham, ἀυτὸς ἤμελλε πρῶτος ἄρχεσθαι καινοτάτε παραδείγματος, he was to be the firſt to begin a quite new Example.

Ver. 3. to go] He did not go to the Place before he ſaw it, as it is in our preſent Bible.

7. In the mean while Iſaac ſpoke thus to Abraham his Father, My Father; who anſwered, Here am I, my Son; Behold, ſaid he, the Fire and Wood; but where is the Lamb for the Burnt-offering?

8. To which he replied, God will look a Lamb for the Burnt-offering, my Son: ſo they both went on together.

9. And when they came to the Place that God told him, Abraham erected there an Altar, and put the Wood in order; then binding Iſaac his Son, he laid him on the Altar above the Wood.

10. He alſo reached out his Hand, and took the Knife to kill his Son.

11. But the Angel of the Lord called to him thus from Heaven, Abraham, Abraham; who anſwering, Here am I;

12. He ſaid, Put not forth thy Hand againſt the Lad, nor do any Thing to him; for now I know that thou feareſt God, ſince thou haſt not with-held thy Son, thy only one, from me.

13. At this Abraham looking up, ſaw indeed that there was a Ram behind held in a Brake by his Horns; ſo he went, and took the Ram, and offered him up for a Burnt-offering inſtead of his Son.

14. Therefore he called the Name of that Place The Lord will look; whereby it is ſaid at this Time, On the Mountain of the Lord it will be ſeen.

15. The Angel of the Lord likewiſe called to Abraham the ſecond Time out of Heaven,

16. And ſaid; I ſwear by my ſelf, ſays the Lord, foraſmuch as thou haſt done this Thing, and not with-held thy own only Son;

17. That I will throughly bleſs thee, and multiply thy Offspring abundantly, to be like the Stars of Heaven, and the Sand which is upon the Sea-ſhoar: and they ſhall inherit the Gates of their Enemies.

18. Nay all Nations of the Earth ſhall be bleſſed through thy Offspring; becauſe thou haſt hearkened to what I ſaid.

19. Abraham then went back to his young Men, who roſe up, and they went together to Beer-ſheba: for he dwelt there.

20. After theſe Things it was told him, that behold Milcah too had born Children to his Brother Nahor;

21. Uz his Firſt-born, Buz his Brother, Kemuel the Father of Aram,

22. Cheſed, Hazo, Pildaſh, Jidlaph and Bethuel.

23. Bethuel alſo begot Rebekah: theſe eight did Milcah bear to Nahor Abraham's Brother.

24. Beſides his Concubine, whoſe Name was Reumah, bore likewiſe Tebah, Gaham, Thahaſh and Maachah.

Ver. 9. put—in order] Put to it for a Word, the Geneva Tranſlators have couched, others dreſſed.

Ver. 14. The Lord will look] He named it ſo from what himſelf, as it appears, had ſpoken, Verſe 8. which was unexpectedly fulfilled. From whence came the Saying here mentioned, ſignifying that if any Thing was wanted, it would be ſeen on the Mountain of the Lord, when they went to yield their Obedience to him, and worſhip there; eſpecially as the Temple was built on the ſame Mountain, 2 Chron. iii. 1. look Iſa. ii. 3. and Jerome's Heb. Enquiries. Jehovah might be put in the Name, and not Elohim, Ver. 8. for the Sake of the Sound to jireh.

Ib. whereby] It being the Heb. Relative, without the Particle of Similitude.

Ver. 17. I will throughly bleſs thee] Here is a Hebrew Idiom repeated, to which our Language is utterly a Stranger, nor does the com. Bible keep to it thus any where elſe, as I remember, though it frequently occurs. The Meaning of it Buxtorf the Father gives us in theſe Words, verbum finitum quodvis regit ſuum infinitum ad majorem certitudinem & evidentiam exprimendam. Theſ. Gram. Lib. ii. Cap. 16. that is to ſay, any finite governs his infinite Verb to expreſs a greater Certainty and Evidence; i. e. by heightening or augmenting the Signification, as all Interpreters I think underſtand it: and ſo it has the Nature and Force of an Adverb, according to the Meaning of the Verb and Expreſſion; ſee Jun. and Trem. on Ch. ii. 16. If it was neceſſary to imitate the Heb. Mode of Expreſſion, it might beſt be done in this Manner, by bleſſing I will bleſs.

Ver. 21. Uz] It is the ſame Name with thoſe in Chap. x. 23. & xxxvi. 28. From this Job's Country ſeems to have been named, it being the ſame Word, Job i. 1. from Buz, Elihu to be ſtiled the Buzite, and Aram might be contracted to Ram, Job xxxii. 2. eſpecially as theſe two are mentioned to be Kindred both here and there; which concurring Circumſtances ſtrengthen one another. Of the Countries of Uz and Buz there is mention made in Jer. xxv. 20, 23. which, it is probable, lay eaſtward by Arabia, Ver. 24. Job i. 3. and had their Names from Nahor's Sons. Of the like Mind ſee Hier. in Tradit.

Ver. 24. Concubine] which ſignifies from concubo, a Wife to lie with. Buxtorf in Lexic. expounds it Concubina-uxor, and in Gram. Lib. i. Cap. 8. Uxor-concubina; Jun. and Trem. render, Concubina vero illius uxor, and the Concubine his Wife. That ſuch were Wives appears by Keturah, who is called a Wife, Chap. xxv. 1. and Ver. 6. Hagar and ſhe are called by this Name, and ſhe again in 1 Chron. i. 32. as is Bilhah, Gen. xxx. 4. & xxxv. 22. ſee alſo 2 Sam. xii. 11. comp. with xvi. 22. It ſignifies according to Some, in the Original, as it were a Half-wife. They had no Jointure ſettled on them, and were married without ſolemn Eſpouſals, other Wives with; as, in Agreement with Maimonides and the Talmud, Kimhi tells us in his Annotat. on 2 Sam. v. 13. פלגשים בלא כתיבה ובלא קדושים נשים בכתובה וקדושים:

Abraham

Abraham went in to make lamentation, and weep for her.

3. Then he roſe up from before his Dead, and ſpoke to the Sons of Heth as follows,

4. I being a Stranger and a Sojourner with you, grant me the Poſſeſſion of a Grave among you, that I may bury my Dead out of my Sight.

5. And they gave him this Anſwer,

6. Hear us, my Lord; Thou art a Prince of God amongſt us, bury thy Dead in the choiceſt of our Graves: not a Man of us will with-hold his Grave from thee, that thou ſhouldeſt not.

7. Upon this Abraham addreſſed himſelf, and bowing down to thoſe People of the Country,

8. Spoke to them in the following manner; If it be your Mind that I ſhould bury my Dead out of my Sight, hear me, and interceed for me with Ephron the Son of Zohar;

9. That he may grant me the Cave of Machpelah, which he has, that is at the End of his Field; which he ſhall let me have for the full Money amongſt you, for the Poſſeſſion of a Grave.

10. Now Ephron the Hittite was ſitting amongſt the Sons of Heth; and he made anſwer to Abraham in their Hearing, even of all who were come to the Gate of his City,

11. No, my Lord, hear me; I give thee the Field, as I do alſo the Cave which is therein, and that in the Preſence of the Sons of my People: bury thy Dead.

12. Again Abraham bowed down before the People of the Country;

13. And ſpoke to him thus in their Audience, But if thou art he, I pray, hear me: I will give Money for the Field, take it of me, and I will bury my Dead there.

14. To whom Ephron made this Reply,

15. My Lord, hear me; the Land is worth four hundred Shekels of Silver, what is that between me and thee? So bury thy Dead.

16. And Abraham hearkening to Ephron, weighs to him the Silver which he had mentioned audibly before the Sons of Heth, four hundred Shekels that paſſed with the Merchants.

17. Thus his Field was confirmed, that was in Machpelah, which was before Mamre, with the Cave and all the Trees that were in the Field, in the whole Bounds of it round about;

18. To Abraham for a Purchaſe in the Sight of the Sons of Heth, among all who came to the Gate of his City.

19. And after that Abraham buried Sarah his Wife, at the Cave of the Field of Machpelah before Mamre, which is Hebron, in the Country of Canaan;

20. When the Field had been confirmed, and the Cave which was in it, to him for a Poſſeſſion of a Grave, by the Sons of Heth.

Ib. to make lamentation] with the outward Geſtures of the Body; ſo that here is not a Tautology. I have rendered it as well as I could, without a Periphraſis.

Ver. 4. a Grave] It may be gathered that each Family had a Cave or Vault to bury in, called keber, a Grave, from the Expreſſion his Grave, Ver. 6. one of which Sort Abraham wanted, Ver. 9. but Ephron was for giving him alſo the Field, by which means he bought both. Such Graves are deſcribed by Godwin in his Moſes and Aaron, Lib. vi. Cap. 5. from the Talmud; and have been found by Travellers in thoſe Parts; ſee 2 Sam. ii. 32.

Ver. 6. a Prince of God] Chald. a Prince before the Lord; Greek, a King from God; Caſtal. and Vatabl. a divine Prince; the reſt, beſides the com. Tranſ. as here rendered, and the French which has, un Prince excellent.

Ver. 7. addreſſed himſelf] For he roſe or ſtood up before, Ver. 3. and as in Judg. xix. 5. 1 Sam. xvii. 48. 2 Sam. xvii. 23. and it appears that the Heb. Verb denotes this, or to get ready, in divers Places, where the other is of little or no Signification: ſo in Judg. viii. 20. we may find it was to draw the Sword.

Ver. 9. amongſt you] This being the Poſition of it in Heb. and not at the End of the Verſe, it neceſſarily belongs to the foregoing Part, as alſo the beſt Tranſlators put it.

Ver. 10. was ſitting] See Ver. 13. One may wonder how dwelt ſhould be more eligible, when the Scope of the Context ſo much favours the other, and it is alſo the moſt proper Signification of the Word. What Occaſion was there for Moſes to ſay, he dwelt amongſt them? Since that might be known by the mention of his City—my People, and his being a Hittite, Hittites being equivalent with Sons of Heth. Ainſworth has turned it as here; the French Tranſlat. eſtoit aſſis; Montan. ſedens; for it is a Participle: Jun. likewiſe has ſedebat; the Seventy ἐκάθητο· and the judicious Caſtalio tranſlates thus, qui tum aderat inter eos, who was then preſent among them. Willet ſays, Hee ſat at this Time in the middeſt among them, Comment. upon Geneſ. p. 245.

Ib. all who were come to the Gate] The principal Inhabitants, who were come there to negotiate the City-affairs, that being the Place for ſuch Buſineſs; which the Name ſhahar, a Gate (here uſed) imports, coming from ſhahar, to value. Mercerus on Pagnin. writes, pro loco judicii ſumitur, & publicis populi conventibus; it is taken for the Place of Judgment, and the publick Aſſemblies of the People: therefore Caſtal. gives it thus, quotquot in curiam venerant, as many as came into the Court or Council-houſe; ſee Chap. xxxiv. 20. Ruth iv. 11. Deut. xxv. 7. & xxii. 15, 24.

Ver. 15. the Land is worth] Heb. it is Land of; according to the Latin Conſtruction, as in one of Pliny's Epiſtles, Agellus erat centum millium nummum.

Ver. 17. The Eng. Tranſlators by tranſpoſing made ſure from the Beginning to the End of the Verſe, conclude it without ſo much as a Comma.

Ver. 18. a Purchaſe] Miknah ſprings from kanah, he purchaſed. By this Word it is rendered in com. Tranſ. Jer. xxxii. 11, 12, 14, 16. in ſeveral Places bought, particularly Chap. xvii. but no where elſe Poſſeſſion. The Chald. Targum alſo has it Purchaſe, Montan. Acquiſitionem.

Ver. 20. Poſſeſſion] This is not the ſame Word with that laſt taken notice of, but ahuzzah, which has the Verb ahaz, he poſſeſſed, for its Root.

CHAP. XXIV.

AND Abraham being advanced in old Age, and the Lord having bleſſed him in all Things;

2. He ſaid to his eldeſt Servant of his Houſe, who ruled over all that he had; Put now thy Hand under my Thigh.

3. And I will cauſe thee to ſwear by the Lord God of Heaven, and God of the Earth, that thou ſhalt not take my Son Iſaac a Wife of the Daughters of the Canaanites, amongſt whom I dwell;

4. But that thou ſhalt go to my own Country and Kindred, to take him a Wife.

5. Upon which the Servant ſaid to him, Suppoſe the Woman ſhould not be willing to come after me to this Country; muſt I really have back thy Son to that which thou cameſt out of?

6. To whom Abraham replied; Take heed that thou doſt not have my Son back thither.

7. The Lord God of Heaven, who took me from my Father's Houſe, and from the Country of my Kindred, and who thus ſpoke, nay ſware to me, I will give this Country to thy Offspring; he will ſend his Angel before thee, that thou mayeſt take my Son a Wife from thence.

8. However if the Woman is not willing to come after thee, thou ſhalt be quit from this my Oath: only have not my Son back thither.

9. Accordingly the Servant put his Hand under his Maſter Abraham's Thigh, and ſwore to him concerning that Matter.

10. Next he took ten Camels of thoſe of his Maſter, that he might go, there being of every good Thing of his with him; and getting ready, went to Meſopotamia, to the City of Nahor.

11. And he made the Camels kneel down without the City by a Well of Water, at the Time of Evening when the Women who drew went forth.

12. Moreover he ſaid; O Lord God of my Maſter Abraham, bring it to paſs, I pray, before me to Day; and ſhew Kindneſs to him.

13. Behold I ſtand by the Fountain, and when the Men's Daughters of the City come out to draw Water;

14. The Maid to whom I ſay, Let down thy Pitcher, I pray, that I may drink; who ſhall anſwer, Drink, and I will alſo water thy Camels; let it be her thou haſt appointed for thy Servant Iſaac, by which I ſhall know that thou ſheweſt Kindneſs to my Maſter.

15. And it came to paſs before he had done ſpeaking, that behold Rebekah came out, who was born to Bethuel the Son of Milcah, the Wife of Nahor Abraham's Brother; with her Pitcher upon her Shoulder.

16. The Maid too was of a very good Countenance, a Virgin whom no Man had known; and going down to the Fountain, ſhe filled her Pitcher, and came up.

17. The Servant then ran to meet her, and ſaid, Let me ſip a little Water, I pray, out of thy Pitcher.

18. Who ſaid, Drink, my Lord; and ſhe made haſte, and taking down her Pitcher upon her Hand, gave him drink.

19. And when ſhe had done giving him drink, ſhe ſaid, I will draw for thy Camels too, till they have done drinking.

20. She makes haſte accordingly, and empties her Pitcher into the Trough, and runs again to the Well to draw; ſo ſhe drew for all his Camels.

21. In the mean while the Man being amazed at her, was ſilent to know, whether the Lord had proſpered his Journey, or not.

22. And as ſoon as the Camels had done drinking, he fetched her a Jewel of Gold, that weighed half a Shekel, and two Bracelets for her Hands, the Weight of which was ten Shekels of Gold.

23. He alſo ſaid, Tell me, I pray, whoſe Daughter thou art; is there Room for us to lodge at thy Father's Houſe?

Ver. 5. have back] Some uſe have, others carry in this Senſe, viz. as an Oppoſite to bring. And back may be underſtood as relative to the Servant, after he had been there.

Ver. 10. good Thing] From the Likeneſs of good and Goods in Engliſh, one is not to be taken for the other. The Seventy expreſs it, καὶ ἀπὸ πάντων τῶν ἀγαθῶν τῦ κυρίυ ἀυτῦ μεθ' ἑαυτῦ, and of all his Maſter's good Things (i. e. he took) with him; "this, ſays Ainſw. by comparing Ver. 53. ſeemeth to be the true Meaning:" Pagnin. alſo, et omne bonum domini ſui erat in manu ejus, and every good Thing of his Maſter was in his Hand; Munſter, eratque omne bonum, and there was every good Thing, &c. the Vulg. Lat. Tranſlator, ex omnibus bonis ejus portans ſecum, carrying with him of all his good Things; and Caſt. ſecum ferens de omnibus domini ſui bonis, bearing with him of all his Maſter's good Things. The Streſs of the Eng. Tr. to ſhew, the Servant had all Abraham's Goods in his Power, lies in the Particle for, which in Heb. is ו and. So Coverdale in Eng. and had with him.

Ib. Meſopotamia] Heb. Aram of the two Rivers, namely Tigris and Euphrates, which it lay between.

Ver. 11, 13. Well —— Fountain] It is called both in the Original, as here rendered, and in the following Verſes.

Ver. 17. ſip] Ancient Eng. Tr. Let me ſup.

Ver. 21. know] In the com. Bible wit, obſoletely from the Biſhops Tranſ. though the Geneva had knowe.

Ver. 22. Jewel] See Ver. 47. The Gen. Verſ. has it by the ſtrange Word abillement, and ſo Ver. 47.

Ib. Shekels] A Shekel was with the Hebrews as if they ſaid a Weight, from ſhakal, to weigh; ſo that by ſaying, the Weight of which was ten; Weights, i. e. Shekels is fully implied, as Meaſures, Ruth iii. 15.

24. Who

24. Who answered him, I am the Daughter of Bethuel, the Son of Milcah, whom she bore to Nahor.

25. She said further to him, There is both Straw and Provender enough with us, as also Room to lodge.

26. Whereupon the Man bowed, and worshipped the Lord,

27. Saying, Blessed be the Lord God of my Master Abraham, who has not forsaken his Kindness and Truth to him; the Lord having led me in the Way to the House of my Master's Relations.

28. And the Maid ran, and told her Mother's Family, according to these Words.

29. Now Rebekah had a Brother, whose Name was Laban; and he ran to the Man without, at the Fountain.

30. For when he saw the Jewel, and the Bracelets upon his Sister Rebekah's Hands, and when he heard her Words that the Man spoke thus to her; he went to him, who behold was standing by the Camels at the Fountain,

31. And said, Come in, O Blessed of the Lord; why dost thou stand without? For I have made ready the House, and a Place for the Camels.

32. So the Man went to the House, and released the Camels: and he gave Straw and Provender for them, as also Water to wash his Feet, and those of the Men who were with him.

33. Besides there was Meat set before him to eat; but he said, I will not eat, till I have told my Business: and he answered, Tell it.

34. At this he said: I am Abraham's Servant.

35. And the Lord having blessed my Master exceedingly, so that he is become great; for he has not only given him Flocks and Herds, but Silver and Gold, as likewise Servant-men and Maids, with Camels and Asses;

36. Sarah also my Master's Wife bearing him a Son after she was become old, to whom he has given all that he has;

37. My Master made me swear as follows, Thou shalt not take a Wife for my Son of the Daughters of the Canaanites, in whose Country I dwell;

38. But shalt go to my Father's House, and my Family, to take him a Wife.

39. Upon which I said to my Master, Perhaps the Woman will not come after me.

40. And he replied to me; The Lord before whom I walk continually, will send his Angel with thee, and make thy Journey prosperous, that thou mayest take a Wife for my Son, of my Family, and of my Father's House:

41. Then shalt thou be quit from my Curse, when thou art come to my Family; even though they will not give to thee, yet thou shalt be quit from it.

42. So I came to Day to the Fountain, and said; O Lord God of my Master Abraham, if now thou prospereſt my Way wherein I go;

43. Behold I stand by the Fountain of Water, and when a young Woman comes out to draw, to whom I say, Give me, I pray, a little Water out of thy Pitcher to drink;

44. Who shall answer me, Not only drink thou, but I will also draw for thy Camels; let her be the Woman that the Lord has appointed for my Master's Son.

45. Before I had done speaking in my Heart, behold Rebekah came forth, with her Pitcher upon her Shoulder, and going down to the Fountain, drew: and I said to her, Give me drink, I pray.

46. Accordingly she makes haste, and takes down her Pitcher from her; and says, Drink, and I will water thy Camels too; and when I had drunk, she likewise watered them.

47. And I thus asked her, Whose Daughter art thou? Who answered, The Daughter of Bethuel, the Son of Nahor, whom Milcah bore to him: I also put the Jewel upon her Face, and the Bracelets on her Hands.

Ver. 32. and released] The Servant with his Attendants unloaded the Camels, not Laban; the Heb. Pointing being different to that in our Bible, where also [his] is added, though not distinguished.

Ver. 41. Curse] The Consequence of the Oath, from a Root which is the same Word alah, he cursed. Aben Ezra in his Annotations on this Place writes, ואל אמר משבועתי והטעם כי אפחד מאדני ומאלתי and he did not say from my Oath, and the Reason was that I might be in dread of my Master, and of his Curse. Jun. and Trem. execratione; Munst. and the Vulgate, maledictione; Ainsw. in Eng. exsecration; the Septuag. ἀρᾶς· and the French Vers. l'execration du serment, the Curse of the Oath.

Ver. 47. Jewel] To say nothing of Ear-ring upon her Face in the com. Trans. it was, writes Buxtorf, an Ornament of the Forehead and Ears. The Word thus rendered may be seen Prov. xi. 22. Isa. iii. 21. & Ezek. xvi. 12. where aph is also turned Forehead for Face.

Such as know the different Beauties of the Original, in the Repetition which the Servant made, will be far, I believe, from thinking it tedious; but some of them fade, or almost vanish in the best Translation. However let us compare a Little of the Story as first related, and then told over again by Abraham's Servant.

History.	Speech.
Verse 1. the Lord having blessed him in all Things.	Verse 35. The Lord having blessed my Master exceedingly, so that he is become great; for he has not only given him Flocks and Herds, but Silver and Gold, as likewise Servant-men and Maids, with Camels and Asses.

It was necessary that the Servant should give Laban and the Family a particular Account, but not that Moses should have given us the Detail before.

48. Whereupon I bowed, and worſhipped the Lord; and bleſſed the Lord God of my Maſter Abraham, who led me in the right Way, to take the Daughter of my Maſter's Brother for his Son.

49. Now therefore if you will deal kindly and truly with my Maſter, tell me; and if not tell me, that I may turn to the right Hand, or the left.

50. Laban and Bethuel then made anſwer; As the Matter comes forth from the Lord, we cannot ſpeak to thee worſe or better.

51. Behold Rebekah is before thee, take her, and go; that ſhe may be a Wife to thy Maſter's Son, as the Lord has ſpoken.

52. Abraham's Servant had no ſooner heard their Words, but he bowed down to the Ground unto the Lord.

53. Afterwards he took out Veſſels both of Silver and Gold, with Garments, and gave to Rebekah; he gave likewiſe her Brother and Mother precious Things.

54. Nay he and the Men who were with him eat and drank, and ſtaid all Night; however when they got up in the Morning, he ſaid, Let me go to my Maſter.

55. But her Brother and Mother ſaid, Let the Maid abide with us the Days, or ten; afterwards ſhe ſhall go.

56. To whom he replied, Do not make me tarry, ſince the Lord has proſpered my Journey: ſend me away, that I may go to my Maſter.

57. At which they ſaid, We will call the Maid, and aſk her Conſent.

58. And calling Rebekah, they ſaid to her, Wilt thou go with this Man? Who anſwered, I will.

59. Therefore they ſent away Rebekah their Siſter, and her Nurſe, with Abraham's Servant and his Men.

60. They alſo bleſſed her in this Manner, Thou art our Siſter, do thou become ten Millions, and let thy Offſpring inherit the Gates of their Adverſaries.

61. So ſhe and her Maids got ready to ride upon the Camels, and go after the Man; and the Servant taking her, went away.

62. And Iſaac came from the Entrance of the Well Lahai-roi, for he dwelt in the South-country:

63. Who going out to meditate in the Field, at the Appearance of the Evening, and looking up, ſaw plainly that the Camels were coming.

64. Rebekah likewiſe looked up, and ſaw him; therefore ſhe got down from the Camel.

65. For ſhe ſaid to the Servant, Who is this Man that is walking in the Field to meet us? And he anſwered, It is my Maſter: ſo ſhe took a Veil, and covered her ſelf.

66. And the Servant rehearſed to Iſaac all the Things that he had done.

67. Laſtly Iſaac brought her to the Tent of Sarah his Mother, and taking Rebekah, ſhe became his Wife, and he loved her: thus was he comforted after his Mother.

Ver. 2, 3. Abraham ſaid, I will cauſe thee to ſwear by the Lord God of Heaven and God of the Earth, that thou.

Ver. 37. My Maſter made me ſwear as follows, Thou.

Abraham ſaying by the Lord, &c. with that thou, made the Oath more ſolemn to the Servant, that he might keep it, but it was not needful to repeat that afterwards.

Ver. 20. She makes haſte accordingly, and empties her Pitcher into the Trough, and runs again to the Well to draw: ſo ſhe drew for all his Camels.

Ver. 46. She likewiſe watered the Camels.

If the Servant had told all theſe Circumſtances, ſome that heard might have thought Rebekah too forward; therefore he does not ſo much as ſay, all the Camels.

To conclude, it appears that the Servant, convinced his Sign was fulfilled in Rebekah, gave her the Preſents before he knew who ſhe was, as the Order of the Relation is, Ver. 22, 23. but he tranſpoſes thoſe Particulars in telling it, Ver. 47. probably to ſhew as if he had given them, in peculiar Reſpect to her and the Family, upon hearing who ſhe was. I am fully of Opinion with Sol. Jarhi, that the Order was inverted by the Servant, not by Moſes, though others think the contrary: for, 1. An Account from Moſes, beſides its being the firſt, is of the greater Authority. 2. He had not Occaſion to change it as the Servant had. 3. It is no matter whether the Servant's Speech was right or wrong, it is ſufficient that he ſaid ſo. 4. The Heb. Word, Ver. 22. properly ſignifies as ſoon as. 5. When the Man heard who ſhe was, it may ſeem more likely he would worſhip and praiſe the Lord, rather than beſtow the Preſents firſt.

For the ſublime diverſifying of the Terms and Compoſition, look Ver. 4, with 38. and 8, with 41. and 14, with 49. and the Prayer.

Ver. 53. Veſſels] Jun. and Trem. turn it Inſtruments, but all the other Latin Tranſlators, with the Greek and Chaldee, Veſſels; which is acknowledged to be right in our marginal Reading, Heb. Veſſels.

Ver. 55. Maid] Damſel being now only uſed in Verſe, ſays Johnſon in his late large Dictionary.

Ib. the Days] The uſual Time on ſuch Occaſions; which ſome taking to be a Year, underſtand the ten to be Months; but I rather think it to be ſeven Days for feaſting, Judg. xiv. 10, 12. Gen. xxix. 22, 27. However this Tranſlation is right, becauſe literal.

Ver. 59. Nurſe] For which the Sept. have Subſtance, deriving מנקת from קנה inſtead of ינק.

Ver. 62. Entrance] Bo ariſes from a Verb of the ſame Name, ſignifying to enter or come in.

Ver. 67. after] This ſhews that Sarah was lately dead, as in Table the third.

CHAP.

CHAP. XXV.

NOW Abraham had taken a Wife beſides, whoſe Name was Keturah.

2. And ſhe bore him Zimran, Jokſhan, Medan, Midian, Iſhbak and Shuah.

3. Jokſhan alſo begot Sheba and Dedan; and the Sons of Dedan were Aſhurim, Letuſhim and Leummim.

4. The Sons of Midian too were Ephah, Epher, Enoch, Abida and Eldaah. All theſe were the Sons of Keturah.

5. But Abraham gave all that he had to Iſaac:

6. When to the Sons of the Concubines whom he had, he had given Gifts, and ſent them away from Iſaac his Son, while he was living, eaſtward into the Country there.

7. And this is the Time in Years of Abraham's Life, which he lived, a hundred and ſeventy five Years.

8. Then he expiring, died in a good old Age, a very ancient Man; and was gathered to his People.

9. Whom Iſaac and Iſhmael his Sons buried, at the Cave of Machpelah, in the Field of Ephron the Son of Zohar the Hittite, that was before Mamre;

10. The Field which he bought of the Sons of Heth: there was Abraham buried, with Sarah his Wife.

11. Moreover after his Death God bleſſed Iſaac his Son, who dwelt by the Well Lahai-roi.

12. And theſe are the Generations of Iſhmael the Son of Abraham, whom Hagar the Egyptian Sarah's Maid bore to him;

13. That is theſe are the particular Names of his Sons, after their Generations: the Firſt-born of him was Nebajoth, then Kedar, Adbeel, Mibſam,

14. Miſhma, Dumah and Maſſa,

15. Hadar and Tema, Jetur, Naphiſh and Kedemah.

16. The foregoing were the Sons of Iſhmael, theſe being their Names, by their Towns and Palaces; twelve Princes according to their Nations.

17. Theſe too are the Years of his Life, a hundred and thirty ſeven; when he expiring, died, and was gathered to his People.

18. And they dwelt from Havilah going to Aſſyria, to Shur that is before Egypt; which fell to be before all his Brethren.

Ver. 1. had taken a Wife beſides] Sarah being juſt mentioned, there was a fit Opportunity of introducing it. Moſes ended one Thing, and then went back to another, as other Hiſtorians do; for he was not writing Annals. As he had but little to ſay of Keturah, it was ſufficient to bring it in at laſt before Abraham's Death; and much better than to have interrupted the more noble Parts of the Hiſtory, which his Life afforded. The preſ. Tranſlat. having ו rendered Then is unjuſtifiable, intimating that Abraham married and had ſix Children after he was 137 Years old (when Sarah died) and yet it is ſpoken of as a wonderful Thing to have Iſaac when he was 99 Years old. On the contrary it ſeems as if he was married to this Wife, ſoon enough to be a great Grandfather to ſome of her Offspring, Ver. 2, 3. and Abraham's begetting Iſaac, with the Account of his Offspring, is put after the Relation of Keturah's Poſterity, 1 Chron. i. 34. In the Geneva Bible it is read, had taken him another Wife, which is explained in the Margin, "Whiles Sarah was yet alive."

Ver. 2. bore] For this Euſebius brings Polyhiſtor relating, Cleodemus to have writ, that there were many Children born to Abraham from Keturah, Præp. Evang. Lib. ix. 20.

Ver. 4. Epher] Jerome writes in Heb. Trad. Dicitur unus ex poſteris Abrahæ, qui appellabatur Apher, duxiſſe adverſus Libyam exercitum: & ibi victis hoſtibus conſediſſe: ejuſque poſteros ex nomine atavi Aphricani nuncupaſſe. Hujus rei teſtis eſt Alexander qui cognominatur Polyhiſtor, & Cleodemus cognomento Malchus, græco ſermone barbaram hiſtoriam retexentes. Alexander Polyhiſtor & Cleodemus Malchus, who both wrote the Hiſtory of the Barbarians in Greek, ſay that Apher one of Abraham's Offſpring, led an Army againſt Libya, and getting the Victory, ſettled there; from whom his Poſterity were called Africans.

Ib. Enoch] See Chap. v. 18.

Ver. 5. gave] This ſeems to have been done between the Time of Sarah's Death, and the ſending to get Iſaac a Wife: for if it had been before the former, ſhe would have had a Part; and that it was before the latter, Chap. xxiv. 36. informs us. From this Obſervation and the Words of the next Verſe, may be proved that Abraham had other Sons, and conſequently was married to Keturah, before Sarah died; which eaſy Taſk, becauſe I would be brief, I ſhall leave to the ingenious Reader.

Ver. 6. Country there] Arabia, as Expoſitors are agreed.

Ver. 8. expiring] in the Biſhops Tranſ. waxing away; ſo Ver. 17.

Ib. to his People] ſuch of his Anceſtors who were the People of GOD like him. And as he was not buried with them, here is ſufficient Proof of a future State, as there is alſo in God's taking Enoch, Chap. v. 25. beſides what Chriſt brought, Luke xx. 37, 38. &c. notwithſtanding the groundleſs Suggeſtions of Some, that this Part of the Scripture ſays Nothing of it.

Ver. 16. Palaces] So Montan. renders it, and Pagn. both in his Verſ. and Theſaurus; as Ab. Ezra likewiſe expounds it by ארמונים It ſeems to have its Name in Heb. from the Stones being in Ranks, and the Order of the Building, which agrees nearly with Kimhi's Explanation. The Word is interpreted by this in the preſ. Tranſ. Cant. viii. 9. Ezek. xxv. 4.

19. Next

19. Next the Generations of Iſaac Abraham's Son are the following; Abraham begetting Iſaac.

20. And Iſaac was in his fortieth Year when he married Rebekah, the Daughter of Bethuel the Syrian of Padan-aram, the Siſter of Laban the Syrian.

21. At length he made ſupplication to the Lord in the Preſence of this his Wife, becauſe ſhe was barren; and the Lord was intreated by him, ſo that ſhe conceived.

22. But the Children ſtruggling together within her, ſhe ſaid, If it be ſo, why am I thus? and went to enquire of the Lord.

23. Who ſays to her, Two Nations are in thy Womb, and two People will be ſeparated from within thee; one People will alſo be ſtronger than the other, and the eldeſt will ſerve the youngeſt.

24. Accordingly when her Time was fulfilled to be delivered, behold there were Twins in her Womb.

25. And the firſt came forth red, all of him like a hairy Cloak; ſo they named him Eſau.

26. After which his Brother came forth, whoſe Hand had hold of Eſau's Heel; ſo he was named Jacob; and Iſaac was in his ſixtieth Year when ſhe bore them.

27. And when the Youths grew up, Eſau was one who underſtood hunting, a Man for the Field; but Jacob was a ſober Man, dwelling in Tents.

28. However Iſaac loved Eſau, becauſe Veniſon was agreeable to his Palate; and Rebekah loved Jacob.

29. And the latter having boiled Broth, Eſau came out of the Field, and was faint;

30. So he ſaid to Jacob, Feed me, I pray, with that red, red; for I am faint: therefore his Name was called Edom.

31. To which Jacob anſwered, Sell me thy Birth-right preſently.

32. And the other replied, Behold I am going to die; why then ſhould this Birth-right be mine?

33. With that Jacob ſaid, Swear to me preſently; which he did: ſo he ſold Jacob his Birth-right.

34. He then gave Eſau Bread, and Broth of Lentiles; who when he had eat, and drunk, roſe up, and went away: thus Eſau deſpiſed the Birth-right.

CHAP. XXVI.

NOW there was a Famine in the Country, beſides the former one that was in the Time of Abraham; whereupon Iſaac went to Abimelech King of the Philiſtines at Gerar.

2. And the Lord appearing to him, ſaid; Go not down to Egypt, dwell in the Country that I tell thee.

3. Sojourn in this, and I will be with thee, and bleſs thee; for to thee and thy Offspring will I give all theſe Countries, and confirm the Oath which I ſware to Abraham thy Father.

4. I will alſo multiply thy Poſterity to be like the Stars of Heaven, as well as give them all theſe Countries; and through thy Offspring ſhall all Nations of the Earth be bleſſed:

5. Becauſe Abraham hearkened to what I ſaid, and kept my Charge, Commandments, Ordinances and Laws.

6. So Iſaac dwelt in Gerar.

7. And the Men of the Place aſking about his Wife, he ſaid, She is my Siſter; for he was afraid to ſay, my Wife, leſt they, thought he, ſhould kill me for Rebekah, becauſe ſhe is of a good Countenance.

8. But when he had been there a long Time, that King looking through a Win-

mentioned in effect three Times in the preceding Verſe; and it is ſaid in Biblioth. Bibl. Nothing can be farther from Truth. Bedford particularly and largely ſhews how the Iſhmaelites dwelt by the Poſterity of Keturah, Script. Chron. Book iii. Chap. 4, 50, &c. but it alſo appears that the Iſhmaelites dwelt before the others, next to the Country of Canaan, ſtrictly according to the Words.

Ver. 20. Jarhi writes, פרן ארם כמו שדה ארם שבלשון ישמעאל קורין לשדה פרן Paddan-aram is as if it were the Field of Aram; for in the Arabick Tongue they call a Field Paddan. Aben Ezra, otherwiſe called Abraham Ben Ezra, likewiſe explains it a Field, and ſays, ſo it is in the Iſhmaelitiſh (i. e. the Arabick) Tongue.

Ver. 21. in the Preſence of] The Heb. Word having the like Meaning with coram in Lat. And though no doubt but Iſaac prayed for his Wife, as the com. Bibles have it, yet as the Word has no ſuch Signification in any other Place, if that is Truth, it appears not to be Scripture Truth, which is what is expected, and ſhould be in a Tranſlation of it. The Targum has לקבל before; Munſt. præſente uxore ſua, his Wife being preſent; Mont. è regione, over againſt; and Buxtorf explains it to the ſame Effect. The Expreſſion ſhews the Prayer to be publick, whereas Iſaac might have prayed for his Wife privately.

Ver. 25. ſo they named him Eſau] becauſe he was hairy, Eſau ſignifying made, from the Root aſah, he made; as if he were already wholly made, like a Man. For the Meaning of Jacob turn to Chap. xxvii. 36.

Ver. 27. ſober] Heb. perfect, and ſo the Biſh. Bib.

Ver. 28. agreeable to] Heb. for.

Ver. 30. Edom] It appears that Eſau did not know what to call the Broth which Jacob had made, or elſe for very Eagerneſs cried out, adom, adom, red, red; and ſo he was called Edom. It is rendered in Lat. de rufo, rufo iſto; ſee likewiſe Gell's Eſſay, p. 532.

Ver. 31. preſently] as the ſame is rendered 1 Sam. ii. 16. and ſeems the beſt; which perhaps none has conſidered more than I.

dow, ſaw plainly that Iſaac was playing with her.

9. At this he called him, and ſaid, Lo verily ſhe is thy Wife; how then couldeſt thou ſay, She is my Siſter? And Iſaac anſwered him, It was becauſe I thought, leſt I ſhould die for her.

10. Abimelech ſaid moreover, What is this thou haſt done to us? One of the People almoſt might have lain with thy Wife, whereby thou wouldeſt have brought Guilt upon us.

11. Then he charged all the People, that he who meddled with that Man or his Wife, ſhould be quite put to death.

12. And Iſaac ſowing in that Country, got the ſame Year a hundred-fold; for the Lord bleſſed him.

13. So that the Man became great, and went on more and more in being ſo, till he was very great.

14. For he had Poſſeſſion both of Flocks and Herds, with many Servants; inſomuch that the Philiſtines envied him.

15. And all the Wells which his Father's Servants had dug in the Days of Abraham his Father, they ſtopped up, filling them with Earth.

16. Beſides Abimelech ſaid to him, Go away from us, for thou art much too ſtrong for us.

17. Upon which he goes from thence, and encamping in the Valley of Gerar, dwells there.

18. And he dug again the Wells of Water, which they had digged in his Father Abraham's Time; for the Philiſtines ſtopped them up after his Death: he alſo called them by ſuch Names as thoſe by which his Father did.

19. Iſaac's Servants likewiſe dug in the Valley, and found there a Well of Spring Water.

20. But the Shepherds of Gerar contended with his, that the Water belonged to them; and he called the Name of the Well Strife, becauſe they ſtrove with him.

21. Again they dug another Well, and for that too they contended; ſo he called its Name Enmity.

22. However he removes away thence, and digs another, for which they did not contend; whereupon he named it Largeneſs, ſaying, Becauſe now the Lord has made it large for us, that we may be fruitful in the Country.

23. Afterwards he went up from thence to Beer-ſheba.

24. And the Lord appearing to him that Night, ſaid, I am the God of Abraham thy Father: do not fear, for I am with thee, will bleſs thee, and multiply thy Offspring, for my Servant Abraham's Sake.

25. With that he built there an Altar, and called on the Name of the Lord, pitching his Tent there; where Iſaac's Servants dug a Well.

26. And Abimelech went to him from Gerar, with Ahuzzath his Friend, and Phichol the Captain of his Army.

27. To whom Iſaac ſaid, Why do you come to me, ſince you hated me, and ſent me away from you?

28. Who anſwered; We clearly ſee that the Lord is with thee, therefore we ſay, Let there be now a mutual Oath between us and thee, and let us make an Agreement with thee;

29. That thou ſhalt do no Ill to us, as we did not touch thee, and as we did only Good to thee, and let thee go peaceably; who art now bleſſed of the Lord.

30. So he made an Entertainment for them, and they did eat and drink.

31. Nay riſing early in the Morning, they ſwore one to another; then Iſaac let them go, and they went from him in Peace.

32. The ſame Day alſo Iſaac's Servants came, and told him concerning the Well which they had dug; and ſaid to him, We have found Water.

34. And when Eſau was in his fortieth Year, he married Judith the Daughter of Beeri the Hittite, and Baſhemath the Daughter of Elon the Hittite.

35. But they were a Bitterneſs of Spirit, both to Iſaac and Rebekah.

CHAP. XXVII.

AT length when Iſaac was old, his Eyes being ſo dim that he could not ſee, he called his eldeſt Son Eſau, and ſaid to him, My Son; who anſwered, Here am I.

2. And he replied; Behold now I am old, not knowing the Time of my Death.

3. Now therefore, I pray, take thy Arms, thy Quiver and Bow; and going forth into the Field, hunt to get Veniſon for me.

4. Then make me ſuch reliſhing Meat as I love, and bring to me, that I may eat; to the end that my Soul may bleſs thee before I die.

5. But Rebekah heard when Iſaac ſpoke to him, and after Eſau was gone into the Field, to hunt for Veniſon to bring;

6. She ſaid thus to her Son Jacob; Behold I heard thy Father ſpeak to Eſau thy Brother as follows,

7. Fetch me Veniſon, and make me reliſhing Meat, that I may eat; and I will bleſs thee in the Preſence of the Lord before my Death.

8. Therefore now, my Son, hearken to what I ſay, in that which I command thee.

9. Go, I pray, to the Flock, and fetch me from thence two good Kids of the Goats; of which I will make ſuch reliſhing Meat for thy Father as he loves.

10. And thou ſhalt have it to him, that he may eat; to the intent that he may bleſs thee before his Death.

11. But he ſaid to Rebekah his Mother; Lo my Brother Eſau is a hairy Man, and I am a ſmooth one.

12. Perhaps my Father will feel me, and I ſhall ſeem to him as a Deceiver; whereby I ſhall bring upon me a Curſe, and not a Bleſſing.

13. To whom her Reply was, Let thy Curſe be upon me, my Son; only hearken to what I ſay, and go, fetch them for me.

14. Accordingly he went, and fetched, bringing them to his Mother; and ſhe made ſuch reliſhing Meat as his Father loved.

15. Moreover Rebekah took fine Apparel of Eſau her eldeſt Son, which was with her in the Houſe, and dreſſed up her youngeſt Son Jacob.

16. She likewiſe put on the Skins of thoſe Kids upon his Hands, and the ſmooth Part of his Neck.

17. Next ſhe gave the reliſhing Meat, and Bread, which ſhe had made ready, into his Hands.

18. So he went to his Father, and ſaid, My Father; and he anſwered, Here am I; who art thou, my Son?

19. And Jacob ſaid to him, I am Eſau thy Firſt-born, I have done as thou orderedſt me; riſe up, I pray, ſit, and eat of my Veniſon, that thy Soul may bleſs me.

20. Upon this Iſaac ſaid to him, Why didſt make ſuch haſte to find it, my Son? And he anſwered, Becauſe the Lord thy God made it fall out to be before me.

21. However he ſaid to Jacob, Come nigh, I pray, that I may feel thee, my Son; whether thou art my very Son Eſau, or not.

22. He accordingly approached Iſaac his Father, who felt him; and ſaid, The Voice is Jacob's, but the Hands are thoſe of Eſau.

23. And he did not know him, becauſe his Hands were hairy like the other's: ſo he bleſſed him.

24. Nay when he ſaid, Art thou my Son Eſau himſelf? He anſwered, I am.

25. At which he replied, Bring it hither to me, and I will eat of my Son's Veniſon, that my Soul may bleſs thee: ſo he put it nigh to him, and he eat; he likewiſe brought him Wine, and he drank.

Ver. 33. Beer-ſheba] This Name was given before, Chap. xxi. 31. which Iſaac now renewed according to Ver. 18.

Ver. 35. Bitterneſs] Becauſe they were of that Country, and bad ones too, Chap. xxvii. ult. Lightfoot here ſays, For this his impious Polygamy he is called a Fornicator, Heb. xii. 16. but if he was an Adulterer, yet not a Fornicator; and Fornicator may not there belong to him at all, nay or after it ſeems to indicate the contrary, inſtead of and, which would properly expreſs it. Lightfoot adds, for Polygamy is called Fornication or Whoredome, Hoſ. iv. 11. where the Reader may look for it, and find Whoredom. But our Author bethinking himſelf, that Jacob, &c. had alſo more Wives than one, excuſes it, becauſe they ſought to multiply the holy Seed; ſo making the ſame both pious and impious, when it was neither in either of the Brothers.

26. Iſaac his Father moreover ſaid to him, Come hither now, and kiſs me, my Son.

27. Who going thither, and kiſſing him, he ſmelled the Smell of his Cloaths, and bleſſed him as follows; See the Smell of my Son is like that of a Field which the Lord has bleſſed.

28. And God give thee of the Dew of Heaven, and of the Fatneſs of the Earth, with abundance of Corn and Wine.

29. Let People ſerve thee, and Nations bow down to thee; be thou a Maſter to thy Brethren, and let thy Mother's Sons bow to thee: curſed be he that curſes thee, and bleſſed he who bleſſes thee.

30. And when Iſaac had done bleſſing him, and Jacob was but juſt gone out from his Preſence, Eſau his Brother came from his Hunting.

31. And he alſo made reliſhing Meat, and brought to his Father; ſaying to him, Let my Father riſe up, and eat of his Son's Veniſon, that thy Soul may bleſs me.

32. To whom he ſaid, Who art thou? And he anſwered, I am thy Firſt-born Son Eſau.

33. Seized with an exceeding great Trembling at this, Iſaac ſaid, Who is it now that has hunted for Veniſon, and brought it to me? So that I have eat of all before thou cameſt, and bleſſed him: nay he will be bleſſed.

34. When Eſau heard the Words of his Father, he cried out exceedingly with a loud and bitter Cry; and ſaid to him, Bleſs me, me alſo, my Father.

35. But he ſaid, Thy Brother came with Deceit, and has taken away thy Bleſſing.

36. Whereupon he thus expreſſed himſelf, Was not he rightly named Jacob, ſince he has defrauded me theſe two times? He took away my Birth-right, and behold now he has taken away my Bleſſing: However he ſaid, Haſt not thou reſerved a Bleſſing for me?

37. And Iſaac made anſwer to him, Lo I have made him thy Maſter, and given him all his Brethren for Servants, as alſo ſupported him with Corn and Wine: and what ſhall I do now for thee, my Son?

38. Eſau then ſaid to him, Haſt thou but that one Bleſſing, my Father? Bleſs me, me alſo, O my Father: and Eſau burſt out a crying.

39. And his Father Iſaac gave him anſwer; Behold thy Dwelling will be away from the Fatneſs of the Earth, and the Dew of Heaven from above.

40. For thou wilt live by thy Sword, and ſerve thy Brother; yet when thou ruleſt, thou wilt break off his Yoke from thy Neck.

CHAP. XXVIII.

THEN Iſaac calling Jacob, bleſſes him, and commands him as follows; Thou ſhalt not take a Wife of the Daughters of Canaan.

2. Get ready, go to Padan-aram, to the Houſe of Bethuel thy Mother's Father; and take thee a Wife from thence, of the Daughters of Laban her Brother.

3. And God Almighty bleſs thee, make thee fruitful, and multiply thee; that thou mayeſt become a Congregation of People:

4. And give thee the Bleſſing of Abraham, as alſo thy Offspring with thee; to inherit the Country of thy Sojourning, which God gave to him.

5. So he ſent Jacob away, that he might go to Padan-aram, to Laban the Son of Bethuel the Syrian, Rebekah's Brother, the Mother of Jacob and Eſau.

6. And Eſau finding that Iſaac had bleſſed him, and ſent him away thither, to take him a Wife from thence; when he bleſſed him, that he gave him the following Charge, Thou ſhalt not take a Wife of the Daughters of the Canaanites;

7. And that Jacob obeyed his Father and Mother, going to Padan-aram;

8. Eſau alſo ſeeing that the Daughters of Canaan diſpleaſed Iſaac his Father:

9. He went to Iſhmael, and married Mahalath the Daughter of him, Abraham's Son, the Siſter of Nebajoth, over and above his other Wives.

10. And Jacob being gone out of Beerſheba, and going to Haran;

11. Met with a Place where he would lodge, becauſe the Sun was ſet, and took ſome Stones of it, and put for his Pillow; lying down there.

12. And he dreamed apparently that there was a Ladder ſet up on the Earth, whoſe Top reached to Heaven; and lo the Angels of God were going up and down on it.

13. Behold too the Lord ſtood above it, and ſaid; I am the Lord God of Abraham thy Father, and the God of Iſaac; I will give thee and thy Offspring the Country upon which thou lieſt.

14. They ſhall alſo be as the Duſt of the Ground, and thou ſhalt ſpread weſtward, eaſtward, northward and ſouthward; and all the Families of the Earth ſhall be bleſſed through thee, and thy Offspring.

15. And lo I will be with thee, and keep thee whitherſoever thou goeſt, nay bring thee back into this Country: for I will not leave thee till I have done what I have ſpoken to thee.

16. Upon which Jacob awaking from his Sleep, ſaid, Surely the Lord is in this Place, and I did not know it.

17. Being in fear, he likewiſe ſaid, How aweful is this Place! This is no other but the Houſe of God, and this the Gate of Heaven.

18. And riſing early in the Morning, he took the Stones which he had put for his Pillow, and made a Pillar, upon the Top of which he poured Oil.

19. He further called the Name of that Place Beth-el; whereas the Name of the City was Luz at firſt.

20. Beſides Jacob made the following Vow; If God will be with me, and preſerve me in this Journey which I am going, as alſo give me Victuals to eat, and Cloaths to put on;

21. So that I return well to my Father's Houſe, and the Lord will be my God:

Ver. 18. Stones] It is the Stone in Hebrew, which often uſes Singulars for Plurals, and might here, eſpecially when they were laid together as one Stone. The Word in Ver. 11. is elegantly varied, being there plural; ſee on Chap. x. 16. The preſent Reading, the Stone that he had put for his Pillows, merits this Obſervation, that a Stone could not be, and probably Jacob had not, more Pillows than one. Meraaſhoth is only plural, like our Tongs, Bellows, &c. but muſt not therefore be rendered ſo into other Tongues, which have it ſingular.

CHAP. XXIX.

NEXT Jacob lifting up his Feet, went to the Country of the eaſtern People.

2. And he ſaw plainly that there was a Well in a Field, and lo three Flocks of Sheep were there lying by it, becauſe they watered the Flocks out of that Well; and a great Stone was upon the Mouth of it.

3. So that all the Flocks were to be gathered thither, that they might roll the Stone from thence and water the Sheep; then they turned back the Stone upon the Well's Mouth into its Place.

4. And Jacob ſaid to them, My Brethren, from whence are you? Who anſwered, We belong to Haran.

5. To whom he replied, Do you know Laban the Son of Nahor? We do, ſaid they.

6. And upon his aſking them, Is he well? They anſwered, Yes; behold alſo his Daughter Rachel is coming with the Sheep.

7. Then ſaid he, Lo the Day will be yet a great while, it is not Time for the Cattle to be gathered together; water the Sheep, and go, feed them.

8. But they ſaid, We cannot till all the Flocks are gathered, and they roll the Stone from the Mouth of the Well; that we may water the Sheep.

9. While he was talking with them, Rachel too came with the Sheep which her Father had: for ſhe was feeding them.

10. And as ſoon as he ſaw her, the Daughter of Laban, his Mother's Brother, and this Uncle's Sheep, he went nigh, and rolling off the Stone from the Well's Mouth, watered them.

11. Jacob alſo kiſſed Rachel, and burſt out a crying;

12. Telling her that he was her Father's Nephew, and that he was Rebekah's Son; upon which ſhe ran, and told her Father.

13. And no ſooner did Laban hear the News of Jacob his Siſter's Son, but he ran to meet him, and having embraced him, and kiſſed him, he brought him home; and he rehearſed to Laban all thoſe Things.

14. Who ſaid to him, Verily thou art of my own Bone and Fleſh. So he abode with him the Space of a Month.

15. When he ſaid to Jacob, Becauſe thou art my Nephew, ſhouldeſt thou therefore ſerve me for Nothing? Tell me what thy Wages ſhall be?

16. Now Laban had two Daughters; the Name of the eldeſt was Leah, and that of the youngeſt Rachel.

17. But Leah's Eyes were tender; whereas Rachel was of a handſome Shape, and a fair Countenance.

18. And Jacob loving the latter, ſays, I will ſerve thee ſeven Years for Rachel thy youngeſt Daughter.

19. To which he replies, It will be better for me to give her to thee, than to do it to another Man; dwell with me.

20. Accordingly Jacob ſerved ſeven Years for Rachel; which he thought as a few Days, through the Love he had for her.

21. He then ſaid to Laban, Give me my Wife, ſince my Time is fulfilled; that I may go in to her.

22. With that Laban gathered together all the Men of the Place, and made an Entertainment.

23. But in the Evening he took his Daughter Leah, and brought her to him; ſo that he went in to her.

24. Laban alſo gave her his Maid Zilpah, for her Maid.

25. And in the Morning behold it being Leah, he ſaid to Laban, What is this thou haſt done to me? Did not I ſerve with thee for Rachel? Why then haſt thou deceived me?

26. It is not done ſo in our Place, ſaid Laban, to give the Younger before the Firſtborn.

27. Fulfil the Week of this, and we will give thee that too, for the Service which thou ſhalt do with me yet ſeven other Years.

28. And Jacob did ſo, fulfilling her Week; when he gave him his Daughter Rachel for his Wife.

32. And Leah conceiving, bore a Son, whom ſhe named Reuben; Becauſe the Lord, as ſhe ſaid, has looked on my Affliction, for now my Huſband will love me.

33. She likewiſe conceived again, and was delivered of a Son, when ſhe ſaid, Becauſe the Lord heard that I was ſlighted, therefore he has given me alſo this: ſo ſhe named him Simeon.

34. Moreover ſhe was again with child, bearing a Son, and ſaid, Now this Time my Huſband will be joined to me, becauſe I have born him three Sons: therefore was he named Levi.

CHAP. XXX.

AND when Rachel ſaw that ſhe did not bear to Jacob, ſhe envied her Siſter; and ſaid to him, Give me Children, or elſe I ſhall die.

2. Upon this Jacob was angry with her; and ſaid, Am I in the Place of God, who with-holds from thee the Fruit of the Womb?

3. And ſhe replied, There is my Handmaid Bilhah, go in to her; that ſhe may bear children to be upon my Knees, and I alſo may be built up by her.

4. So ſhe gave him Bilhah her Maid for a Wife, to whom Jacob going in;

5. She conceived, and brought him forth a Son.

6. Then Rachel ſaid, God has judged me, and alſo hearkening to what I ſaid, given me a Son: therefore ſhe named him Dan.

7. Moreover Bilhah Rachel's Maid being with child again, bore Jacob the ſecond Son.

8. At which Rachel ſaid, With the Wreſtlings of God have I wreſtled with my Siſter, I have alſo prevailed: ſo ſhe named him Naphtali.

31. Nevertheleſs he ſaying, What ſhall I give thee? Jacob anſwered; Thou ſhalt give me Nothing: if thou wilt do this Thing for me, I will again feed, and keep thy Flock.

32. Let me paſs through them all to Day, taking away from thence every one of the ſpotted and pied Cattle, and all thoſe that are black among the Sheep, with the pied and ſpotted among the Goats; afterwards let ſuch be my Wages.

38. Theſe Sticks he placed before the Flock in the Inſide of the Troughs of Water, at which they came to drink, and went then to ram.

39. And the Flock going to ram at the Sticks, brought forth Cattle ring-ſtreaked, ſpotted and pied.

40. Jacob then ſeparated the Lambs, and ſet the Face of the Flock towards the ring-ſtreaked, and all the black in Laban's: thus he made him a Flock by themſelves, not putting them to his.

10. For at the Time of the Flock's going to ram, I looked up, and ſaw apparently in a Dream, that the He-goats which leaped upon the Flock were ring-ſtreaked, ſpotted and ſpeckled.

11. The Angel of God ſaying to me in the Dream, Jacob; and I anſwered, Here am I.

12. When he replied; Look up now, and ſee how all the He-goats which leap upon the Flock are ring-ſtreaked, ſpotted and ſpeckled: for I have ſeen all that Laban has been doing to thee.

13. I am the God of Beth-el, where thou didſt anoint the Pillar, where thou madeſt a Vow to me: now get ready, go out of this Country, and return to that of thy Parentage.

14. Upon which Rachel and Leah made him this anſwer; Shall we any more have Part or Poſſeſſion in our Father's Houſe?

Ver. 36. The whole are called a flock, Ver. 31, 32. and Part of them flocks, in com. Tranſ.

Ver. 37. Hazel] or Nut-tree in general; according to ſome Almond.

Ib. Cheſnut-tree] Several have interpreted this to be Plane-tree.

Ib. peel] So Johnſ. ſays this pill ſhould be.

Ver. 38. went to ram] This is the Meaning of the Word, and what we call it. Jun. and Montan. tranſlate it by the Verb incaleſco, to be heated or inflamed, i. e. with the Deſire of the Ram; which is the ſame. The Time for which was, when they had filled themſelves with Feeding, were watered, and kept there at Reſt. Thoſe Creatures beholding ſuch an unuſual Sight in the Water, which might be more ſtrange by its Motion while they were drinking, it had the intended Effect; though not without the ſpecial Aſſiſtance, as well as Direction, of Providence, Chap. xxxi. 9, 10, 11, 12.

Ver. 42. became weak] The Word is in Hiphil, overwhelmed, made weak or faint. When the Heat of their going to ram was over, or as our ancient Verſions ſay, in the latter buckynge tyme, it ſeems Jacob did not put the Sticks: which agrees with the Tranſlations of Pag. Montan. Jun. and Trem. Tyndal, Coverdale, the old Lat. and French Verſ. Chald. Targ. Aquila & Symmachus, Buxt. in Lexic. Leigh in Crit. Sacr. Mede's Diſcourſe 45. Hieron. in Tradit. Hebr. and Ab. Ezra in his Annotat. on this Place.

Ver. 10. He-goats] When our Tranſlators changed this into Rams, it is likely they had forgot that Jacob was to have the brown (as they call them) among the Sheep, and ſuch as had diverſe Colours only among the Goats; ſee Chap. xxx. 35. and are Rams ſpeckled, &c.

Ib. ſpeckled] as if ſprinkled with Hail, having Specks, as we on ſome Occaſions ſay peppered. Chald. פציחין and ſo the French tachetez, ſpeckled; Greek, σποδοειδεῖς ῥαντοὶ ſprinkled as with Aſhes; Jun. and Trem. reſperſos— quaſi grandine guttatos, ſprinkled as it were with Drops of Hail; Sant. Pagn. maculis grandineis reſperſas, ſprinkled with Specks as of Hail; Montan. grandinatas, hail-ſpotted.

Ver. 12. has been doing] From a Heb. Participle, and to agree in Time with have ſeen.

Ver. 13. the God of Beth-el] The God who was at Beth-el, Chap. xxviii. 13.

15. Are we not reckoned Strangers by him, ſince he has ſold us, nay alſo ſtill ſpends our Money?

16. For all the Riches which God has taken from our Father, are ours and our Children's: now therefore do all that God has ſaid to thee.

17. Accordingly Jacob got ready, and carried his Children and Wives upon Camels.

18. He likewiſe had away all his Cattle and Subſtance that he had gotten, particularly the Cattle in Padan-aram; to go to Iſaac his Father, into the Country of Canaan.

19. Laban alſo being gone to ſhear his Sheep, Rachel ſtole her Father's Teraphs.

20. And Jacob ſtole away unknown to this Syrian, without telling him that he fled.

21. Thus fled he, with all that he had, getting ready, and paſſing over the River, and directly on for Mount Gilead.

22. And it was told Laban on the third Day, that Jacob was fled away.

23. He therefore taking his Kinſmen with him, purſued after him by a Journey of ſeven Days, whom he overtook on that Mountain.

24. But God coming to the ſame in a Dream by Night, ſays to him, Take heed that thou doſt not ſpeak to Jacob from Good to Evil.

25. And when Laban overtook him, who had pitched his Tent on the Mountain, he with his Kinſmen pitched there too.

26. Then he ſaid to Jacob; What haſt thou done, for thee to ſteal away unknown to me, and have away my Daughters like Captives with the Sword?

27. Why didſt thou flee away ſecretly, and leave me by ſtealth; without telling me, that I might have ſent thee away with Mirth and Songs, with the Timbrel and Harp?

28. Nor didſt thou ſuffer me to kiſs my Sons and Daughters: thou haſt now done fooliſhly in acting thus.

29. There is Power in my Hand to do you hurt; but the God of your Father ſaid to me laſt Night, that I ſhould take care of ſpeaking to Jacob from Good to Evil.

30. But now ſince thou art quite gone, becauſe thou earneſtly longedſt after thy Father's Houſe; why didſt thou ſteal my gods?

31. And Jacob made anſwer to him; It was becauſe I was afraid, leſt thou ſhouldeſt, as I thought, take thy Daughters from me by force.

32. Let him not live with whom thou findeſt thy gods; own before our Relations what is thine with me, and take to thee: for he did not know that Rachel had ſtolen them.

33. So Laban went into Jacob's Tent, and into Leah's, as well as that of the two Hand-

Jar.* explains the Word ſingularly on Ezek. xxi. 21. צלם שמדבר במכשפות it is an Image ſpeaking by magick Art. Ælfric, in his Saxon Verſion of the 10th Century, calls them hæthenan Godas: yet the Author of *Bibl. Ver. 25. there too] it being the ſame Mountain.

Ver. 29. your Father] Iſaac, who was now a Father to Jacob's Wives.

Ver. 33. as well as] Doubtleſs Laban retained that ſmall Degree of Civility to ſearch the Handmaids Tent firſt; however, his going out of Leah's Tent into Rachel's, makes it clear. From hence may be ſeen the Need of a proper Choice of Particles in tranſlating; the Want of which has often produced Errors and Abſurdities in our Bible, as well as almoſt continual Flatneſs in the Reading.

maids, but did not find them: then going out of Leah's Tent, he went into Rachel's.

34. Now she had taken the Teraphs, and putting them in the Camels Furniture, sate upon them; so that he searched all the Tent, and did not find them.

35. Besides she said to her Father, Let it not be displeasing in the Sight of my Lord, that I cannot rise up from before thee, because I am after the manner of Women: so he searched about, without finding the Teraphs.

36. Incensed at that, Jacob chid him, with the following Expressions: What is my Crime? what my Sin, that thou hast pursued after me?

37. Whereas thou hast searched all my Goods, what thou hast found of all that of thy House, put here before my Kinsmen and thine; and let them determine betwixt us both.

38. These twenty Years that I have been with thee, thy Ewes and She-goats have not cast their Young; nor have I eat the Rams of thy Flock.

39. I did not bring what was torn to thee, I made satisfaction for it, of me didst thou require it; being stolen either by Day or Night.

40. I have been with the Heat consuming me in the Day, and the Frost in the Night; and my Sleep fled away from my Eyes.

41. This is to me twenty Years in thy House; I served thee fourteen for thy two Daughters, and six for thy Flock: but thou hast altered my Wages ten times.

42. Unless the God of my Father, the God of Abraham, and he whom Isaac fears had been for me, thou wouldest now send me away empty: God seeing my Affliction, and the Labour of my Hands, reproved thee last Night.

43. And Laban makes answer to him; The Daughters are my Daughters, the Children my Children, and the Flock my Flock, nay all that thou seest is mine; what then should I do to these my own Daughters to Day, or to their Children whom they bore?

44. Therefore now come, let us both make an Agreement; and let there be a Witness between me and thee.

45. With that Jacob took a Stone, and set it up for a Pillar.

46. He also bade his Kinsmen gather Stones; which accordingly they took, and made a Heap, and they eat there upon it.

47. And Laban called it Jegar-sahadutha, as Jacob did Galed.

48. Moreover Laban said, Let this Heap be a Witness between me and thee to Day; therefore the Name of it was called Galed:

49. And Mizpah, because he said; The Lord watch betwixt me and thee, when we are out of one another's Sight.

50. If thou shalt afflict my Daughters, or if thou takest Wives besides them; see there will be Nobody with us, but God, a Witness betwixt me and thee.

51. He said further to Jacob; Behold this Heap, and lo the Pillar, which I have thrown up between me and thee:

52. Let both one, and the other, be a Witness; that I will neither pass beyond it to thee, nor thou beyond them to me, for Hurt.

53. The God both of Abraham and Nahor judge between us, the God of their Father. But Jacob swore by him whom his Father Isaac feared.

Ver. 42. he whom Isaac fears] as Commentators agree the Meaning is. But the Remark of Grotius, that non dicit Deus Isaaci, quia vivebat adhuc Isaac; he does not say the God of Isaac, because he was yet alive, is shewn to be quite wrong by Chap. xxxii. 9.

Ib. thou wouldest] That the Heb. ki signifies surely, does not appear to me; nor is it requisite as belonging to unless or except, but rather for Translation an Expletive, as left out after as the Lord lives, &c. in the pres. Version. Here it might be [that] with I declare, suppose, or assert, it seems, or it is certain, added in before it; see the like, Chap. xliii. 10. 2 Sam. ii. 27. and in the latter, surely makes an Anticlimax after an Oath.

Ver. 44. both] for I and thou are not only the wrong Case, but the second Person is not allowable with let Imper.

CHAP. XXXII.

JACOB too went on his Way, and the Angels of God met him.

2. And he ſaid at his ſeeing them, This is the Camp of God; ſo he called the Name of that Place Mahanaim.

3. Then he ſent Meſſengers before him to Eſau his Brother, into the Country of Seir, the Region of Edom.

4. Whom he commanded as follows: In this manner ſhall you addreſs my Lord Eſau; Thus ſays thy Servant Jacob, I have ſojourned with Laban, and ſtaid till now.

5. I alſo having Oxen, Aſſes and Flocks, with Servant-men and Maids; have ſent to tell my Lord, that I may be in Favour with thee.

6. And the Meſſengers brought him back Word, We came to thy Brother Eſau, who alſo is coming to meet thee, accompanied with four hundred Men.

7. Exceedingly afraid, and in diſtreſs at this, Jacob parts the People who were with him, as likewiſe the Flocks, Herds and Camels, into two Companies.

8. For ſays he, If Eſau ſhould come to one Company, and ſmite it, there will be another left to eſcape.

9. Moreover he ſaid; O God both of my Father Abraham and Iſaac, the Lord who ſaideſt to me, Go back to thy own Country and Kindred, and I will do well for thee;

10. I was too mean for all the Favours and Truth which thou haſt ſhewn to thy Servant: for I paſſed over this Jordan with my Staff, and now am become two Companies.

11. Deliver me, I beſeech thee, from the Power of my Brother Eſau: for I am afraid that he will come, and kill me, and the Mother with the Children.

12. Whereas thou ſaideſt, I will deal exceeding well with thee, and make thy Offſpring as the Sand of the Sea, which cannot be counted up for Multitude.

13. He then lodging there that Night, took of what he had ready at Hand, for a Preſent to Eſau his Brother;

14. Two hundred She-goats and twenty He-goats, two hundred Ewes and twenty Rams,

15. Thirty Milch-camels with their young ones, forty Cows and ten Bulls, twenty She-aſſes and ten Colts.

16. Which he delivered, each Drove by it ſelf, into the Cuſtody of his Servants; and ſaid to them, Go over before me, and put a Space between one Drove and another.

17. He further gave the firſt this Command; When my Brother Eſau meets thee, and makes enquiry of thee, Whoſe art thou? And whither art thou going? And whoſe are theſe before thee?

18. Then do thou ſay, Thy Servant Jacob's; it is a Preſent ſent to my Lord Eſau: and behold he too is behind us.

19. And thus he commanded likewiſe the ſecond, and the third, nay all that went after the Droves, You ſhall make ſuch a Speech as this to Eſau, when you meet with him;

20. And particularly ſay, Lo thy Servant Jacob is behind us: for he ſaid, I will pacify him with the Preſent which goes before me, and after that I will ſee him; who perhaps will accept me.

21. Accordingly the Preſent paſſed over before him, and he lodged that Night in the Camp.

22. But riſing up the ſame Night, he took his two Wives and two Handmaids, with his eleven Sons, and went over the Paſſage of Jabbok.

23. And when he had taken them, and had them over the Brook, as alſo made what he had paſs over;

24. Being left alone himſelf, there was a Man wreſtled with him till break of Day.

Situation, and ſo omitted it; as alſo the Samaritan, and ſo turning the ו into ך made again the God of Abraham; which may prove more ſatisfactory to ſome, than that by the forementioned Author, in State &c. p. 368—371.

Ver. 2. Mahanaim] which is The two Camps, namely the Angels and his own.

Ver. 10. too mean for all] Going on foot with a Staff did not ſhew him to be unworthy of the leaſt of all, &c. though it might too mean, as he thought, for all thoſe Riches and Favours he enjoyed.

Ver. 13. of what he had ready] viz. of the Cattle, the Goods being packed up.

Ver. 16. a Space] It was the moſt likely Method to pacify Eſau, to ſend him ſeveral Preſents one after another; allowing him a convenient Time between, for his Anger to ſubſide.

Ver. 20. particularly] not moreover, it being ſaid before, Ver. 18.

Ib. ſee him] The Heb. having Face to pacify, goes, and accept, as well as here.

Ib. accept me] Tynd. receave me to grace.

Ver. 22. Paſſage] Mababar, a Paſſage, is derived of habar, to paſs, which it here follows. Jabbok is ſpoken of Deut. iii. 16.

25. Who ſeeing that he did not prevail over him, ſtruck the Hollow of Jacob's Thigh; ſo that it was ſprained in his wreſtling with him.

26. And he ſaid, Let me go, for it is break of Day; but Jacob anſwered, I will not, except thou bleſs me.

27. Upon this he enquired of him, What is thy Name? Who anſwering, Jacob:

28. He replied, Thy Name ſhall not be called Jacob henceforth, but Iſrael: for thou art like a Prince both with God and Men, and prevaileſt.

29. Jacob aſked in like manner, Vouchſafe to tell thy Name; but he ſaid, Why doſt thou aſk for mine? However he bleſſed him there.

30. So Jacob called the Name of the Place Peniel: for I ſaw God, ſaid he, Face to Face, and yet my Life was delivered.

31. And the Sun roſe to him as he paſſed through Penuel, being lame on his Thigh.

32. Therefore the Iſraelites do not eat of the diſplaced Sinew, which is upon the Hollow of the Thigh, to this Day; becauſe he ſtruck the Hollow of Jacob's Thigh, on that Sinew.

CHAP. XXXIII.

AND when Jacob looking up, ſaw plainly that Eſau was coming, and the four hundred Men with him, he divided the Children to Leah, Rachel, and the two Handmaids.

2. Which latter he put with their Children foremoſt, and next Leah with hers, as likewiſe Rachel and Joſeph hindermoſt.

3. Before whom he went on, and bowed down to the Ground ſeven times, till he came nigh to his Brother.

4. At this Eſau ran to meet him, and embraced him, and falling on his Neck, kiſſed him; and they wept.

5. Then looking up, he ſaw the Women and Children, and ſaid, Who are theſe that thou haſt? The Children, anſwered he, with which God has favoured thy Servant.

6. Next the Handmaids drew nigh, with their Children, and bowed down.

7. Afterwards Leah alſo approached with hers, bowing down; as did Joſeph and Rachel the ſame behind.

8. And he ſaid, What doſt thou mean by all that Company which I met? It was, anſwered he, to be in Favour with my Lord.

9. But Eſau replied, I have Plenty; my Brother, let what thou haſt be for thy ſelf.

10. Nevertheleſs Jacob ſaid; No, I beſeech thee, if now I am in thy Favour, receive my Preſent from me; for therefore have I ſeen thy Face as I ſhould the Face of God, and thou haſt accepted me.

Ver. 25. Hollow] the Inſide; ſo Tynd. ſays, under the thye. The Biſh. have it hucklebone.

Ib. ſprained] not out of joynt, becauſe a Sinew has none, Ver. 32. nor could he have walked with his Thigh out of joint, Ver. 31.

Ver. 28. Thy Name ſhall not &c.] See this finely changed in Heb. Ch. xxxv. 10.

Ib. henceforth] as עוֹד properly ſignifies, which ſoftens the Negation to mean not uſually, or as before; he being called Jacob in the next Verſe. But the Amendment propoſed in Stackhouſe, "by rendering the Words, inſtead "of no more, not only, or not ſo much Jacob, as Iſrael;" is foreign to the Heb.

Ib. Iſrael] ſignifies as here explained, He is like a Prince with God.

Ib. prevaileſt] which might principally conſiſt, as to the latter, in his getting the Birth-right and Bleſſing from Eſau; but he had now overcome Laban, and him again, as it appears by his reſpectful Meſſage to him, Ch. xxxii. 4, 5. ſo that Eſau ran to meet him with Embraces, Ch. xxxiii. 4. to which two Sol. Jar. applies it. Some noted modern Commentators finding ſome ancient Verſions to that Purpoſe, would have a Pauſe at God, that the Verſe might conclude thus, and with Men thou ſhalt alſo prevail; taking it for an Encouragement to Jacob, that he ſhould prevail over his Brother: for which the Viſion of the Angels with him might be, Chap. xxxii. 1, 2. and this to inform him that his Meſſage had good Effect, tho' it then ſeemed otherwiſe by Eſau being coming with 400 Men, which might be but for Grandeur and Security. But it is the Heb it ſelf convinces me, which has only the little Accent Tevir at Elohim, God, not a proper Pauſe for their Meaning, as their alſo is a very odd rendering of וְ in ſuch a Situation with a Noun, and another וְ before it: alſo would have been properly גַּם in the Original, and put with the וְ at the Beginning of it. But Bedford ſays, the Verb for prevail is in the future Tenſe, Scrip. Chron. Lib. iii. 4. 108. whereas he might have known that the prefixed יִ gives it the Signification of the Preterperfect; uſually anſwering to our preſent Tenſe, as the Heb. has none, which Tenſe is here directed by the foregoing Verb art, &c. and may ſerve for both paſt and future. As for Onkelos, upon Examination, I find Shuckford has miſtaken him as well as the Heb. whoſe Targum is in the ſame manner; nay has tranſlated or quoted him manifeſtly wrong, without the Pretence of etiam, Connect. Lib. vii. The other two Verſions alleged are very wide and incorrect.

Ver. 30. Peniel] The Face of God.

Ver. 32. Iſraelites] So I render, as the proper Senſe of the Heb. in our Language; and if otherwiſe, it would be Sons inſtead of Children, as ſeveral tranſlate. How incoherently do children ſtand together, Exod. xii. 37? And how ſtrange in this Caſe to our manner of Expreſſion?

Ib. diſplaced] naſheh of the Root naſhah, he forgot or borrowed, is thus expounded by Sol. Jar. ולמה נקרא שמו גיד הנשה לפי שנשה ממקימו and why is the Name of it called gid hannaſheh, a diſplaced Sinew? Becauſe it had forgot its Place. Or borrowed may ſignify changed. Pagnin. ſays, נָשָׁה eſt סָר Recedere, removere, & obliviſci: ac ſi oblivi ſceretur loci ſui, & ab illo recederet, i. e. naſhah is far, to depart, remove and forget; as if it forgot its Place and departed from it.

Ver. 5. thou haſt] the proper Meaning of the Heb. idiomatical Particle.

Ver. 10. as I ſhould the Face of God] That is with Fear and Reverence. Some have tranſlated it terribly, as if Jacob compared wicked Eſau's Face to the Face of God,

13. To whom he pleaded; My Lord knows that the Children are tender, and the Flocks and Herds which I have with Young; and when they beat them along one Day, all the Flock will die.

14. Let my Lord, I pray, paſs on before his Servant; whilſt I lead on gently, according to the Pace of the Cattle which are before me, and that of the Children, till I come to my Lord at Seir.

15. However Eſau ſaid, Let me place with thee, I pray, ſome of the People who are with me; but he rejoined, Why ſhould that be? Let me be in Favour with my Lord.

16. So Eſau went back the ſame Day in his Way to Seir.

which he had ſeen a little before, Chap. xxxii. 30. There is no though nor if to lead them into ſuch an Expreſſion; but the Words ſingly, or aſunder are, as Montanus renders them, ut videre faciem Dei, as to ſee the Face of God.

Ver. 11. it is all my own] Thus conſtrued, יֵשׁ it is, לִי to me, of me, mine, or my own, כֹּל all: which to render I have enough, after rendering a different Expreſſion of another Meaning by the ſame, Ver. 9. ſhews no great Skill; ſee Gell's Eſſay, p. 173.

Ver. 13. knows—with young] By the Time of the Year: for to have told this to Eſau at another Time, would have been known not to be true.

Ver. 14. gently] Tynd. fayre and ſoftely.

Ver. 15. place] as Servants in different Stations.

Ver. 17. Succoth] is in Heb. Booths.

Ver. 18. peaceably] Having all Things well; as Buxtorf explains it, cujus res omnes integræ & ſalvæ ſunt. It comes from the Verb ſhalam, to have peace or be peaceable, and is the ſame Word ſingular with that in Chap. xxxiv. 21. Tyndal and Coverdale, with Lightfoot in Harm. of Old Teſt. have rendered it as here; the Genev. Bib. and Ainſw. have ſafe, the Engliſh of incolumis in the Tigurin and Pagnine's Tranſlation, with that of Jun. and Trem. the French Verſ. ſain & ſauf, ſafe and ſound, agreeable to the two Targums, Sol. Jar. Ab. Ez. and other Jewiſh Writers. If Shalem had been a City of Shechem, the latter would have been a Country; whereas we find it was a Place, Chap. xxxv. 4. Joſh. xxiv. 1, 32. 1 Kings xii. 1. Peaceably may have Reference to Jacob's Deliverance from Eſau, and alſo to the Troubles which afterwards befel Dinah and his other Children.

Ib. Shechem] See concerning it on Joſh. viii. 33.

Ver. 19. Part of a Field] The Patriarchs would not buy much Land, where God had given it all to them.

Ib. Lambs] The Word is but in two other Places of the Scripture, viz. Joſh. xxiv. 32. & Job xlii. 11. The Moderns have ſometimes an Advantage beyond the Ancients, in underſtanding ſome Paſſages of divine Writ, by their being more ſifted and conſidered; but for the Signification of particular Words we are almoſt wholly indebted to the old Writers, when the Aſſiſtance of other Texts is wanting. The Greek Verſion of the Seventy Interpreters, the firſt that is known to be made, which was publickly received almoſt 300 Years before the Birth of Chriſt, has the Words tranſlated ἑκατὸν ἀμνῶν, a hundred Lambs: Onkelos, ſaid to be cotemporary with Gamaliel, the Apoſtle Paul's Maſter, in his Chaldee Targum, which the Jews eſteem almoſt equal to the Original, renders it likewiſe מְמָאָה חוּרְפָּן the ſame; whom the old Lat. Tranſlator follows with centum agnis; as alſo Arias Montanus, with our Tyndal and Ainſworth: and Broughton pleads for it in two Places, which I have read in his Works, acquainting us further that Sadaias has the ſame in his Arabick Tranſ. &c. Moreover Abraham Aben Ezra in his Commentaries on Job, expounds keſitah קְטָנָה כִּבְשׂ an Ewe-lamb, one of which each of Job's Friends gave him: and why not as well as Money, ſince they gave him Gold beſides? To poor People other Things are frequently given inſtead of Money in our Times. They might eaſily carry each of them a Lamb, which might be fit to bring forth others by that Time Job was ſettled in his Buſineſs, and provided with all other Neceſſaries which the Gold had procured him. The Fancy that a Lamb was ſtamped on the Money is idle, Coining being long after, as Stackhouſe ſhews at the End of his Pref. to Hiſt. Bibl. which Herodotus ſpeaks of as invented by the Lydians, Lib. i. p. 18. and we find the Silver weighed, Chap. xxiii. 16. Jer. xxxii. 9, 10. But it is ſtill more unlikely that there was the ſame Coin both in Canaan and Arabia. Poole and Patrick object to this Interpretation, Acts vii. 16. the Tranſlation of which Text they ſhould firſt have cleared from Error and Obſcurity: for it is certain, 1ſt, that Jacob was not carried over into Sychem, and laid in the Sepulchre there, by Gen. xlix. 29, 30. & l. 12, 13. 2d, that it was not Abraham bought the Sepulchre at Sychem, of the Sons of Emmor, the Father of Sychem, by the Paſſage now before us. But that Verſe in Acts might be truly rendered thus from the original Greek, And theſe (or the latter, i. e. Jacob's Sons, agreeable to Joſh. xxiv. 32.) were carried over to Sychem, and they were put into a Sepulchre, he into that which Abraham bought for a Price of Silver (as Gen. xxxiii. 16.) theſe into that which was from the Sons of Emmor of Sychem. This Diſtinction may alſo be perceived from the Words he and our Fathers in the foregoing Verſe. Stephen, ſpeaking according to the Verſion of the Septuagint then in Uſe, as is evident by the Number in Ver. 14. the Names in Ver. 16. Yeſterday, Ver. 28. and by Ver. 43. comp. with Amos v. 26. agreeing with the Greek, and being different from the Heb. Bible; could not mean from thence that the Purchaſe here mentioned was made with Money, becauſe the Greek has plainly Lambs as before. Such a manner of Expreſſion ſee Pſal. cxxxiii. 3. where the Relative is to be underſtood and formed in like ſort. Were Money underſtood, there is to be examined what the Pieces were, which the Heb. Writers of this Opinion (as Seb. Munſter informs us in his Notes) expound by מֵעָה a Half-penny, the Value likewiſe that Buxtorf gives it in his great Chald. Talm. and Rab. Dictionary; but who can think the Land was bought for fifty Pence? This ancient Way of buying may be alſo ſuppoſed, by the Name pecunia for Money, coming from pecus, Sheep or Cattle, as Colum. in his Preface obſerves it does. This Way of Purchaſe by Cattle may be ſeen in the ancient Writings of Homer,

CHAP. XXXIV.

BUT Dinah the Daughter of Leah, whom ſhe bore to Jacob, going forth to ſee the Daughters of the Country;

2. Shechem the Son of Hamor the Hivite, Prince of the Country, ſaw her; who took her, and lying with her, humbled her.

3. Nay his Mind cleaved ſo to her, and he loved the Girl ſo much, that he not only ſpoke kindly to her;

4. But alſo ſpoke to Hamor his Father, to get him that young Woman for a Wife.

5. Now Jacob heard that he had defiled Dinah his Daughter, while his Sons were with his Cattle in the Field; ſo he held his peace till they came.

6. And Hamor the Father of Shechem went out to Jacob, to ſpeak with him.

7. His Sons alſo came out of the Field as ſoon as they heard it, and the Men were not only grieved, but enraged exceedingly; becauſe he had done Vileneſs in Iſrael, to lie with Jacob's Daughter, when ſuch a Thing ſhould not be done.

8. Then Hamor ſpoke thus to them; My Son Shechem has a love in his mind for your Daughter; give him her, I pray, for a Wife.

9. And be you kin to us by marriage; give us your Daughters, and take ours.

10. So ſhall you dwell with us; and the Country ſhall be before you, to inhabit, and merchandiſe there, nay to have poſſeſſion in it.

11. Shechem likewiſe ſaid to her Father and Brothers; Let me get in Favour with you; and whatever you ſhall charge on me, I will give.

12. Make the Dowry and Gift to me ever ſo much, yet will I give as you tell me; but grant me the Girl for a Wife.

13. However Jacob's Sons anſwered him and his Father deceitfully, when they ſpoke, becauſe he had defiled Dinah their Siſter,

14. Saying to them; We cannot do this Thing to give our Siſter to a Man who is uncircumciſed; for it would be a Reproach to us.

15. Only in this we will conſent to you: if you will be like us, every Male of you to be circumciſed;

16. We will give you our Daughters, and take us yours, as alſo dwell with you, and be one People.

17. But if you will not hearken to us, to be circumciſed; we will take our Daughter, and go.

18. And Hamor liked their Words, as did Shechem his Son.

19. Inſomuch that the young Man did not delay to do the Thing, becauſe he de-

So alſo near the End of the 7th Book; and about the Middle of the 23d, where Idomeneus at a Race offers to lay a Wager of a Tripod or a Kettle; whom Virgil follows in his Paſtorals; ſee alſo Odyſſ. 1. at End.

Ver. 20. God's] as it ought to be tranſlated; and is done in this manner by Jun. and Trem. there being the like Chap. xxxv. 7. Exod. xvii. 15. Judg. vi. 24. where look.

Ver. 1. whom] Here is the Heb. aſher, therefore which ſhould not be put in the Italick Letter.

Ib. going forth to ſee] Manifold have been the Evils of young People taking too much Liberty. There is great Danger in overmuch Converſation with the World, which lies in Wickedneſs, 1 John v. 19. and though Parents, well eſtabliſhed in the Truth and divine Grace, may receive no Hurt in their neceſſary Commerce and Buſineſs, it may be far otherwiſe with their Children in their unneceſſary Viſits, and getting Acquaintance; and Sin once entered, is hard to be caſt out. It appears little at firſt, but ſoon becomes too great to be conquered. Eve looked on the Tree which ſhe was forbid to meddle with, Dinah went to ſee the Daughters of the Country, and David took a little Tour of Pleaſure on the Roof. Such may be counted ſmall Matters, perhaps nothing amiſs with Some; but how great Wickedneſs did thoſe produce! and how terrible were the Conſequences of them! On the other hand they who would know a growing in Righteouſneſs, and deſire to obtain the divine Favour, muſt be faithful in the very leaſt Matters, moſt eſpecially when it is particularly required of them. Lot's Wife for looking back, when ſhe was prohibited, was turned into a Pillar of Salt. I thought it my Duty to mention thoſe Things together, that they might be of more Service, and ſhall conclude it with a valuable Exhortation in פרקי אבות The Chapters of the Fathers, Ch. 2. הוי והיר במצוה קלה כבחמורה Be as cautious in a light Command as in a weighty one; and the following in Wm. Tyndal's Obedience of a Chriſtian Man (a Book well worthy to be reprinted) Let the Fathers and Mothers mark how they themſelves were diſpoſed at all Ages, and by Experience of their own (I add or others) Infirmities, help their Children, and keep them from Occaſions.

Ver. 2. humbled] debaſed and made aſhamed. The Heb. Word has ſeveral Significations (but not defiled) of which the 70 Interpreters have choſen this: ſo Ainſworth alſo turns it, and our Tranſlators themſelves elſewhere, as in Deut. xxi. 14. & xxii. 24, 29. Judg. xix. 24. Ezek. xxii. 10, 11. The Chaldee and ſome other Verſions read afflicted.

Ver. 7. Vileneſs] It ſprings from a Root ſignifying to make vile. Onkelos has it, קְלָנָה the Septuagint, ἄσχημον, and the Vulg. Lat. Copy, fœdam; which are much of the ſame Signification. The Hebrews alſo denote a dead Corpſe or Carcaſe with the ſame Letters. Some turn it Lewdneſs, others Villany; but none Folly beſides our Eng. Tranſlators.

Ver. 10. have poſſeſſion] a Verb.

Ver. 14. Reproach] Gen. reproofe, as if by Miſtake.

Ver. 16. We will] This has no Pronoun or Auxiliary to the Verb here in Heb. notwithſtanding the King's Tranſlators have ſo often and ſo dully repeated it.

lighted in Jacob's Daughter; and he was the moſt honourable of all his Father's Family.

20. For they both went to the Gate of their City, and ſpoke to their Citizens as follows:

21. Theſe Men are peaceable with us, and would dwell in the Country, and merchandiſe in it, which behold is of a large Space before them; let us take us their Daughters for Wives, and give them ours.

22. Only in this they will conſent to us, to dwell with us to be one People; by every Male of us being circumciſed, as they are.

23. Will not their Cattle, Poſſeſſion, and all their Beaſts, be ours? Only we muſt conſent to them, that they may dwell with us.

24. Accordingly to them hearkened all who went out of the Gate of that City, and were every Male of them circumciſed.

25. But on the third Day when they were in Pain, two of Jacob's Sons, Simeon and Levi, Dinah's Brothers, taking each his Sword, came upon the City confidently, and killed every Male.

26. In particular they put Hamor, and his Son Shechem to the Sword, and took Dinah out from Shechem's Houſe.

27. Jacob's Sons coming upon the Slain, did alſo plunder the City, becauſe they had defiled their Siſter.

28. They took their Sheep, Oxen and Aſſes, with that which was in the City, as well as what was in the Field.

29. Moreover all their Wealth, Children and Wives, they took priſoners, and plundered; with every thing that was in the Houſe.

30. Whereupon Jacob complained to Simeon and Levi, You have troubled me, to make me odious among the Inhabitants of the Country, the Canaanites and Perizzites: for I having few Perſons, they may gather up againſt me, and ſmite me; ſo ſhall I and my Family be deſtroyed.

31. To which they ſaid, Should he treat our Siſter like a Whore?

CHAP. XXXV.

AND God commanded Jacob, Get ready, go up to Beth-el, and there dwell; as alſo make there an Altar to God who appeared to thee, when thou fleddeſt from the Preſence of thy Brother Eſau.

2. Upon which he ſaid to his Family, and all that were with him; Put away the gods of the Strangers which are among you, be clean, and change your Garments;

3. That we may get ready, and go up to Beth-el: for I ſhall make there an Altar to God, who anſwered me in the Time of my Diſtreſs, and was with me in the Way which I went.

4. Accordingly they gave him all the gods of the Strangers that were in their Cuſtody, and the Ear-rings that were in their Ears; which he hid under an Oak that was at Shechem.

5. And as they marched, the Terror of God was ſo upon the Cities which were round about them, that they did not purſue after the Sons of Jacob.

6. So he arrives at Luz, that is in the Country of Canaan, which is Beth-el, and all the People who were with him.

7. Where he built an Altar, and called the Place The God of Beth-el's; becauſe there God was revealed to him, when he fled from the Preſence of his Brother.

8. Now Deborah Rebekah's Nurſe died, and was buried below Beth-el under an Oak; the Name of which was called The Oak of Weeping.

9. And God appeared to Jacob again, as he was coming from Padan-aram, and bleſſed him.

10. For he ſaid to him, Thy Name being Jacob, it ſhall not henceforth be called ſo, but Iſrael ſhall be thy Name: thus he named him Iſrael.

11. God further told him; I am God Almighty; be fruitful, and multiply: a Nation and an Aſſembly among the Nations ſhall be of thee, and Kings ſhall proceed forth from thy ſelf.

Ver. 21. would dwell] on the following Condition; whereas let them dwell implies what does not appear, that the Natives would have hindered their dwelling there.

Ver. 23. Poſſeſſion] So Onkelos, Munſter, Junius and Montanus turn it.

Ver. 2, 4. Strangers] the Shechemites, Chap. xxxiv. 28, 29.

Ver. 4. at] The Heb. him commonly ſignifies with, and ſo Montan. renders it here. The 70 tranſlate in, Pagnin. and Caſtal. at by apud and ad.

Ver. 8. Nurſe] She ſeems to have been Nurſe to Rebekah, her Children and Grandchildren; look Ch. xxiv. 59. going perhaps to Jacob after Rebekah's Death.

Ver. 11. among] as the Genitive Caſe in Heb. may ſignify, and even an Aſſembly of the Nations might obſcurely. By Aſſembly, or Congregation, then I underſtand an united uniform People, not like the Gentiles, 2 Kings xvii. 29, 33. beſides the Iſraelites aſſembling thrice a Year at Jeruſalem.

12. As

12. As for the Country which I gave Abraham and Iſaac, I give it to thee, and to thy Offspring after thee will I give the ſame.

13. Then God aſcended from him, in the Place where he ſpoke with him.

14. In which Place Jacob ſet up a Pillar of Stone, and poured both a Drink-offering and Oil upon it.

15. He alſo called the Name of the Place, where God ſpoke with him Beth-el.

16. Next they marched from thence, and there being yet about a Mile to come to Ephrath, Rachel was in labour, and it was difficult for her to be delivered.

17. However when ſhe was in her hard labour, the Midwife ſays to her, Do not fear, for this too is a Son for thee.

18. Therefore when her Soul was going out, becauſe ſhe died, ſhe named him Benoni; but his Father called him Benjamin.

19. Thus Rachel died; and was buried in the Way to Ephrath, which is Bethlehem.

20. And Jacob ſet up a Pillar upon her Grave, which is the Pillar of it to this Day.

21. Afterwards Iſrael going on, extended his Tent beyond the Tower of Eder.

22. Beſides while he dwelt in that Country, Reuben went, and lay with Bilhah his Father's Concubine; which he heard of. And the Sons of Jacob were twelve:

23. Thoſe of Leah, Reuben his Firſtborn, Simeon, Levi, Judah, Iſſachar and Zebulun;

24. The Sons of Rachel, Joſeph and Benjamin;

25. And the Sons of Bilhah her Handmaid, Dan and Naphtali;

26. Zilpah's Sons too, the Handmaid of Leah, Gad and Aſher: theſe were the Sons of Jacob whom he had born in Padanaram.

27. At length he came to Iſaac his Father, at Mamre the City of Arba, which is Hebron, where Abraham and Iſaac ſojourned.

28. And the Time of Iſaac was a hundred and eighty Years;

29. When he expiring, died, and was gathered to his People, an old Man, and full of Age: whom Eſau and Jacob his Sons buried.

CHAP. XXXVI.

AND theſe are the Generations of Eſau, who was Edom.

2. He took his Wives of the Daughters of the Canaanites; Adah the Daughter of Elon the Hittite, and Aholibamah that of Anah, Zibeon's Daughter the Hivite;

3. As alſo Baſhemath the Daughter of Iſhmael, Nebajoth's Siſter.

4. And Adah bore to him Eliphaz; as Baſhemath did Reuel;

5. Aholibamah likewiſe Jeuſh, Jaalam and Korah. Theſe were the Sons of Eſau, whom he had born in the Country of Canaan.

6. Afterwards he took his Wives, Sons and Daughters, with all his Domeſticks, his Cattle, and all his Beaſts, nay the whole that he poſſeſſed, which he had gotten in that Country; and went to another, from the Preſence of his Brother Jacob.

Ver. 13. with him] This is explained to be with, Hoſ. xii. 4. by עם whoſe Vowel אתו has here.

Ver. 14. ſet up a Pillar] Biſh. ſet up on ende.

Ver. 16. about a Mile] or a computed Mile, Heb. a Mile of Ground. It is כרוב a Mile in the Targum: ſo John Buxtorf and Santes Pagnin. explain it in their Lexicons, and the latter renders it in his Verſion. The Word is met with in Scripture only here, Chap. xlviii. 7. & 2 Kings v. 19. Jarhi and Aben Ezra both interpret it to be a Meaſure, the one of Ground, the other of a Journey, i. e. as a Mile is with us, though that might be of a different Length; therefore Caſtalio expreſſes it una ſtatione. To which I may add from Kimhi in Lib. Radic. אמרים מקבורת רחל לאפרת מיל They ſay it is a Mile from Rachel's Grave to Ephrath; and from Behai on this Place, העיד הרמב"ן כי ראה בעיניו שאין ממצבת רחל לבית לחם אפילו מיל Rab. Moſes, the Son of Nahman, teſtifies that he ſaw with his own Eyes, Rachel's Tomb was not a Mile diſtant from Beth-lehem, i. e. was ſomething leſs; and the Heb. Word is mil; the Arabick Tranſ. too has it a Mile of Ground. It ſeems alſo to be a certain Meaſure, from its Root ſignifying to multiply; ſee further Fuller, Miſc. Sacr. Lib. ii. Cap. 15. But the Gen. Ver. has for it half a dayes journey.

Ib. was [in labour] for travailed may be miſtaken for travelled.

Ver. 18. Ben-oni, the Son of my Sorrow; Benjamin, the Son of the right Hand.

Ver. 22. heard of] The Gr. adds unneceſſarily and it appeared wicked before him, ſince that is ſo fully ſhewn Chap. xlix. 4.

Ver. 2. Canaanites] In Heb. Chenahan, as Ver. 9, 34. it is Edom, meaning the People.

Ib. Adah] The Name alſo of Lamech's firſt Wife, Ch. iv. 19. and called Baſhemath, Ch. xxvi. 34. but I rather think the Judith mentioned there had no Sons, and was not the ſame with Aholibamah, as all the Names differ.

Ib. Zibeon's Daughter] In State of Heb. is inſiſted ſtrongly it ſhould be a Son here and Ver. 14. as in the Sam. and Gr. whoſe Tranſlators or Tranſcribers might be in the ſame ſhallow Way of Thinking from Ver. 24. for had it been more profound, there might have been obſerved, that this Zibeon was a Hivite of the Country of Canaan, Ver. 2, 5, 6. and he in Ver. 24. a Horite of Seir or Edom, Ver. 20, 21. beſides it would be ſtrange indeed for Eſau to marry in the ſecond Deſcent younger than his Son, as in the Note at Ver. 12. and have Children by ſuch a Wife before he went into that Country, Ver. 5, 6, 8. So a Man and Woman were named Aholibamah, Ver. 2. & 41.

Ver. 3. Baſhemath] called Mahalath, Ch. xxviii. 9.

Ver. 6. another] In Vulg. Tranſ. the countrey is improper, becauſe there is Nothing before it to tell what

7. For their Subſtance was too much for them to dwell together; the Country where they ſojourned being not able to bear them, by reaſon of their Cattle.

8. So Eſau dwelt on Mount Seir, he who was Edom.

9. The following are alſo the Generations of Eſau the Father of the Edomites, on that Mountain:

10. Theſe being the Names of his Sons; Eliphaz the Son of Adah his Wife, Reuel that of Baſhemath another Wife.

11. And the Sons of Eliphaz were, Teman, Omar, Zepho, and Gatam, and Kenaz.

12. Beſides Eliphaz Eſau's Son had Timna a Concubine, who bore to him Amalek: theſe were the Sons of Adah Eſau's Wife.

13. Moreover the Sons of Reuel were, Nahath and Zerah, Shammah and Mizzah: theſe were Baſhemath's Sons the Wife of Eſau.

14. Again theſe were the Sons of Aholibamah the Daughter of Anah, Zibeon's Daughter, the other Wife; ſhe bore to him, Jeuſh, Jaalam and Korah.

15. The following were Dukes of the Sons of Eſau: the Sons of Eliphaz his Firſtborn, Duke Teman, Duke Omar, Duke Zepho, Duke Kenaz.

16. Duke Korah, Duke Gatam, Duke Amalek; who were Dukes of Eliphaz in the Country of Edom, being the Sons of Adah.

17. And theſe the Sons of Reuel Eſau's Son, Duke Nahath, Duke Zerah, Duke Shammah, Duke Mizzah; who were Dukes of Reuel in that Country, being Baſhemath's Sons the Wife of Eſau.

18. Theſe too the Sons of Aholibamah Eſau's Wife, Duke Jeuſh, Duke Jaalam, Duke Korah; who were Dukes of Aholibamah the Daughter of Anah Eſau's Wife.

19. The foregoing were the Sons of Eſau, and theſe were their Dukes; he being Edom.

20. The next were the Sons of Seir the Horite, who dwelt in the Country; Lotan, Shobal, Zibeon, Anah,

21. Diſhon, Ezer and Diſhan; who were Dukes of the Horites, the Sons of Seir, in the ſame Country.

22. Moreover the Sons of Lotan were, Hori and Hemam; and Lotan's Siſter was Timna.

23. Shobal's Sons too were theſe; Alvan, Manahath, Ebal, Shepho and Onam.

24. Theſe were alſo the Sons of Zibeon; both Aijah, and Anah: he being the Anah who found out Mules in the Wilderneſs, when he fed the Aſſes of Zibeon his Father.

25. As were theſe the Sons of Anah, Diſhon; and Aholibamah was the Daughter of Anah.

26. And theſe were Diſhon's Sons: Hemdan, Eſhban, Ithran and Cheran.

27. The Sons of Ezer were theſe; Bilhan, Zaavan, Vaakan.

28. Theſe the Sons of Diſhan; Uz, and Aran.

29. The following were Dukes of the Horites; Duke Lotan, Duke Shobal, Duke Zibeon, Duke Anah,

30. Duke Diſhon, Duke Ezer, Duke Diſhan; who were Dukes of them, according to their Dukes in the Country of Seir.

country. The ancient Eng. Verſions have a country, and the Geneva Bib. another country. The Heb. not telling here what Country this was, as it is apparent in Ver. 8. the Sept. with a Liberty not unuſual to them, have out of the Country of Canaan, whom the Sam. might take from: for who can think with the Author of State of Heb. if Canaan had been in, it would have been left out of the Hebrew?

Ib. from the Preſence] Before Jacob ſhould return home, to whom the Birth-right belonged.

Ver. 12. Timna] As ſhe was the Daughter of Seir, Ver. 20, 22. whoſe Poſterity had peopled the Country in Abraham's Time, Chap. xiv. 6. ſhe muſt now be old, yet bore one Son. But the firſt Part of Lightfoot's Obſervation, that Eſau married the great Grandchild of Seir, and Eliphaz his immediate Daughter, Ver. 20, 24, 25. turns out wrong in two Reſpects, the Anah in Ver. 2. being a Woman, and that in Ver. 25. a Man; and ſo, as alſo ſhewn at Ver. 2. not the ſame; nor yet the Anahs in Ver. 24, 25. the latter being Seir's Son, Ver. 20. as the reſt before and after.

Ver. 16. Duke Korah] The five Sons of Eliphaz in Ver. 11. ſeem put according to their Age, being ſo likewiſe in 1 Chron. i. 36. and as Kenaz is otherwiſe here before Gatam, this Korah might likely be the Son of the former, ſo named from his Uncle, Ver. 5. and ariſing to the Dignity of a Duke, as ſeveral recorded at the End of the Chap. ſo that it is raſhly affirmed on the ſingle Authority of the Sam. that theſe two Words are interpolated, State of the Heb. p. 376, 377.

Ver. 20. dwelt] See Deut. ii. 12, 22.

Ver. 22. Hemam] not Heman.

Ver. 24. found out Mules] By the unnatural Copulation of an Aſs with a Mare. Found the Mules, is as if it were ſome that were loſt. The Pretences that it was hot Waters, or Giants, or ſome Herb, are invalidated by the Mention of Aſſes, which far more probably points out the other. The Objection of Bochart, in his Hierozoicon, Lib. ii. 21. is of little or no Weight, if true, that the Heb. Word does not ſignify to invent; becauſe it might be done by the Beaſts, without Anah's Invention.

Ver. 25. Sons] It is ſaid Sons, though but one, as in Chap. xlvi. 23. 1 Chron. ii. 31. and of this only, 1 Chron. i. 41. as we might ſpeak after our manner, Diſhon was all the Sons he had.

Ver. 27. Vaakan] as appears by 1 Chron. i. 42. where is the ſame Name, only the Letter ו is changed into the ſimilar one י of which ſee on Ezr. vii. 6. Nor is the Name's beginning with V an Objection, ſince there are other ſuch, as Vophſi, Num. xiii. 14. Vaſhni, 1 Chron. vi. 28. Vaſhti, Eſth. i. Vaniah, Ezr. x. 36.

Ver. 30. who were Dukes of them] It is the ſame with that in the Verſe before. And theſe are the dukes that came of Hori, muſt be wrong; when Hori was the Son of Lotan, Ver. 22. one of theſe Dukes, and the reſt were

33. And when he died, Jobab the Son of Zerah of Bozrah reigned in his room.

34. He alſo dying, Huſham of the Country of the Temanites reigned in his room.

35. This likewiſe died, and Hadad the Son of Bedad, who beat Midian in the Region of Moab, reigned in his room; and his City was named Avith.

36. Next he died, in whoſe room Samlah of Maſrekah reigned.

37. And he being dead, Saul of Rehoboth of the River ſucceeded him.

38. Whom, upon his Deceaſe, Baal-hanan the Son of Achbor ſucceeded.

39. When the laſt too was dead, Hadar reigned in his room; the Name of whoſe City was Pau, and that of his Wife Mehetabel, the Daughter of Matred, Me-zahab's Daughter.

40. And theſe are the particular Names of the Dukes of Eſau, after their Families and Places; Duke Timnah, Duke Alvah, Duke Jetheth, 41. Duke Aholibamah, Duke Elah, Duke Pinon.

42. Duke Kenaz, Duke Teman, Duke Mibzar,

43. Duke Magdiel, Duke Iram; who were the Dukes of Edom, after their Dwellings, in the Country of their Poſſeſſion: he was Eſau the Father of the Edomites.

CHAP. XXXVII.

AND Jacob dwelt in the Country of his Father's Sojournings, in that of Canaan.

2. The foregoing were the Generations of Jacob. Joſeph in his ſeventeenth Year, was feeding the Flock with his Brothers; and he being a Youth was with the Sons of Bilhah, and thoſe of Zilpah, his Father's Wives: the ill Report of whom he brought to their Father.

3. Now Iſrael loved Joſeph the moſt of all his Sons, becauſe he was the Son of his old Years; and he made him a Coat of ſeveral Sorts.

4. But his Brothers ſeeing that their Father loved him more than any of them, hated him, and could not bear to ſpeak to him of his Welfare.

5. Joſeph alſo dreamed a Dream, and told them; whereupon they hated him ſtill the more.

6. For he ſaid to them; Hear now this Dream which I have plainly dreamed;

7. That we were making Sheaves within the Field, and behold my Sheaf roſe up, and alſo ſtood; when lo yours being round about, bowed down to mine.

8. Whereas his Brothers ſaid to him, Shalt thou be advanced to reign over us? Or ſhalt thou come to have dominion over us? So they hated him ſtill the more, for his Dreams and Words.

9. He likewiſe dreamed yet another Dream, and rehearſed it thus to them, Behold I have had a Dream plainly again, that

Ver. 31. What follows to the End of the Chapter, is ſuppoſed by our famous Newton, in his Obſervations upon the Prophecies of Daniel and the Apocalypſe, Part i. Chap. 1. to have been added afterwards by Samuel; and Prideaux intimates it to be Ezra, Connect. Part i. Book 5. there being no King over the Iſraelites till long after; but it ſeems rather taken from 1 Chron. i.

Ib. before] It appears that Dukes governed Edom when the Iſraelites went from Egypt, by Exod. xv. 15. and that there was a King before they entered Canaan, Num. xx. 14. Judg. xi. 17. from whence to the Reign of Saul being 376 Years, is 47 to each of the eight Kings, one with another, and would not be five apiece more. An agreeable and likely Sum for that Time.

Ib. one] The ſuppoſing Moſes himſelf to be the King, as Patrick and Cumberland do, ſeems too forced a Meaning.

Ver. 32. Firſt] which the Connection of the Words requires: ſo Jun. and Trem. have Primum.

Ver. 34. Temanites] Words of this Termination are Appellatives of People, and not the Names of Places. It is the ſame by which Eliphaz is called in the Book of Job.

Ver. 37. Saul] In com. Bib. 1 Chron. i. it is written Shaul, though it be the ſame.

Ib. Rehoboth] That is in Heb. Streets; but it might be the Name of a Place.

Ver. 2. The foregoing were] That is in the 35th Chap. for which Willet quotes Junius, Tom. ii. Lib. 2. at Beg.

Ib. in his ſeventeenth Year] Grotius ſays, He is called the Son of ſuch a Year, as here, in Heb. who is in that Year of his Age, as appears Exod. xii. 5. therefore the Vulg. the Sun, Moon, and eleven Stars bowed down to me.

10. Which when he related to his Father and Brothers, the former chid him in the following manner, What Dream is this that thou haſt dreamed? Shall I, thy Mother and Brothers, quite come to bow down to the Ground to ſuch a one as thee?

11. However though his Brothers envied him, his Father kept the Matter.

12. Afterwards they being gone to feed their Father's Flock at Shechem;

13. Iſrael ſaid to Joſeph, Are not thy Brothers feeding at Shechem? Come, that I may ſend thee to them; who anſwered him, Here am I.

14. To whom he replied, Go now, ſee about the Welfare of thy Brothers, with that of the Flock, and bring me back Word. Accordingly having ſent him from the Vale of Hebron, he went to Shechem.

15. Where a Man found him, when behold he was wandering in the Field; who enquired of him, what he ſought after.

16. And he ſaid, I ſeek for my Brothers: be pleaſed to tell me where they are feeding.

17. They are gone away, replied the Man, from hence; for I heard them ſay, We will go to Dothan. So Joſeph went after them, and found them there.

18. But when they ſaw him far off, before he came near them, they contrived againſt him how to kill him.

19. For they ſaid one to another; Behold he who has the Dreams is coming.

20. Now therefore come, that we may kill him, and throw him into one of the Pits; and let us ſay, An ill Beaſt has devoured him: then we ſhall ſee what will become of his Dreams.

21. Nevertheleſs Reuben hearing, delivered him from their Power: for he ſaid, Let us not take away his Life.

22. He ſaid further to them, Do not ſhed Blood, throw him into this Pit which is in the Wilderneſs, but do him no Miſchief; that he might deliver him from their Power, to bring him back to his Father.

23. Accordingly when Joſeph came to his Brothers, they ſtripping him of his Coat of ſeveral Sorts which he had on;

24. Took him, and threw him into the Pit; which however was empty, without any Water in it.

25. And as they were ſitting to eat Victuals, they looked up, and ſaw plainly that there was a Company of Iſhmeelite Paſſengers coming from Gilead; whoſe Camels that carried Spice, Balſam and Myrrh, were going to have it down to Egypt.

26. Then Judah ſaid to his Brothers; What ſhall we get by killing our Brother, and concealing his Blood?

27. Come, that we may ſell him to the Iſhmeelites, and let us do him no Miſchief; ſince he is our Brother, our own Fleſh: to which they hearkened.

28. So when the Merchants, being Midianite Men, paſſed by, they drew, and took up Joſeph out of the Pit, and ſold him to the Iſhmeelites for twenty Shekels of Silver; who had him to Egypt.

29. At length Reuben came back to the Pit, and when behold Joſeph was not in it, he tore his Cloaths;

30. And returning to his Brothers, cried out, The Child is gone; as for me, Whither ſhall I go?

31. Beſides they took Joſeph's Coat, and having killed a Kid of the Goats, dipt it in the Blood.

32. Next they ſent the forementioned Coat, and thoſe who brought it to their Father, ſaid, This we found: ſee now, whether it is thy Son's Coat, or not.

Ver. 9. eleven Stars] I have not put the eleven Stars, becauſe I do not know any that are ſo diſtinguiſhed. Lookup's and another later Tranſlation have eleven of the Stars.

Ver. 10. Mother] Rachel his Mother dying in the foregoing Year by the Table, theſe Dreams might well be before her Deceaſe; but that Joſeph was ſold after it, appears by Ver. 14. comp. with Chap. xxxv. 16, 19, 27. Nevertheleſs it ſeems as likely to be ſpoken of his Mother-in-law, for elſe the Dream was not fulfilled in that Particular of the Moon, becauſe Rachel did not live till Joſeph's Promotion.

Ver. 11. kept] as the Virgin Mary did, Luke ii. 19. The Chald. Verſ. has נְטַר the Greek διετήρησε, Munſter conſervabat, all the ſame; which is the uſual Meaning of the Heb. Word: the Geneva Marginal Reading is kept diligently.

Ver. 14. now] In the Piſtle for the frydaye next folowinge the ſeconde ſondaye in lent, at the End of Tyndal's Tranſ. of the Books of the New Teſt. it is good ſone.

Ver. 15. Man] Who in the Hiſtory of Joſeph in Verſe is repreſented, with Violence to Senſe as well as Scripture, to be an Angel: ſuch is Joſeph's Brethren embracing him friendly, and feigning themſelves glad, at his coming to them; ſuch Reuben's going to the Pit after his Brothers were got home, Ver. 29, 30, 31.

Ver. 19. he who has the Dreams] Willet cites Vatablus expounding it, the Author and Inventor of Dreames, as if they thought Joſeph had not really dreamed what he related.

Ver. 25. Camels] Of theſe Smith, Camels will endure Travel four Days together without Water; and will eat Tops of Thiſtles, Shrubs, or any kind of Boughs; they are very ſure-footed, and kneel when they are a loading, Ray's Collect. of Travels, Tom. ii. Chap. 5. God in his great Wiſdom and Goodneſs having made them ſuch, for the eaſtern, dry, and barren Countries.

Ib. Balſam] See it in Jer. viii. 22. & xlvi. 11. & li. 8. of which Prideaux has written, Connect. Anno 63.

Ver. 27. Iſhmeelites] It ſeems to have been a Company of thoſe under Midianite Merchants.

33. And

33. And he knowing it, exclaimed, Yes it is: ſome ill Beaſt has devoured him; Joſeph is torn in pieces.

34. Therefore Jacob tore his Cloaths, put Sackcloth on his Loins, and mourned for his Son many Days.

35. Nay though all his Sons and Daughters addreſſed themſelves to comfort him, he refuſed to be comforted, and ſaid, that he would go down for his Son mourning into the Grave: thus his Father wept for him.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

AND at that Time Judah went down from his Brothers; and turned aſide to an Adullamite Man, whoſe Name was Hirah.

2. Where ſeeing a Daughter of a Canaanite Man, his Name being Shua; he took her, and went in to her.

3. Who conceived, and brought forth a Son; he naming him Er.

4. She likewiſe conceived afreſh, bearing a Son; and him ſhe named Onan.

5. Beſides, ſhe proceeded again to bear another, whom ſhe named Shelah; Judah being at Chezib when ſhe was delivered of him.

6. Afterwards he got a Wife for Er his Firſt-born, whoſe Name was Tamar.

7. But the Lord was ſo diſpleaſed with this Er, that he cauſed him to die.

8. Judah then ſaid to Onan, Go in to thy Brother's Wife, and do a Brother's Part to her; ſo raiſe up Seed to him.

9. Nevertheleſs Onan knowing that it would not be his, when he went in to her, waſted it on the Ground, that he might not give Seed to his Brother.

10. And the Lord being diſpleaſed with what he did, made him alſo die.

11. Upon this Judah ſaid to Tamar his Daughter-in-law, Abide a Widow at thy Father's Houſe, till Shelah my Son is grown up; Leſt, as he ſaid, he ſhould die alſo like his Brothers. So ſhe went and abode there.

12. A great while after this the Daughter of Shua, Judah's Wife, died; and when he was comforted, he went up to his Sheep-ſhearers, with Hirah his Friend the Adullamite, to Timnath.

13. Whereas it had been told Tamar, that behold her Father-in-law was going up thither, to ſhear his Sheep.

14. Therefore ſhe put off the Garments of her Widowhood from her, and being covered with a Veil, and having muffled her ſelf up, ſhe ſate at the Gate of the two Fountains, which were by the Way to Timnath: for ſhe ſaw that Shelah was grown up, and ſhe was not married to him.

15. Whom Judah ſeeing, thought ſhe was a Harlot, becauſe ſhe had covered her Face.

16. At this he turned aſide to her at the Way, and ſaid, Come now, grant me Admittance to thee; for he did not know that ſhe was his Daughter-in-law: and ſhe aſked, What wilt thou give me, that thou mayeſt have it?

17. To which he anſwered, I will ſend a Kid of the Goats from the Flock: but ſaid ſhe, Wilt thou give a Pledge, till thou doſt ſend it?

18. And he replied, What Pledge is it that I ſhall give thee? Who demanded his Seal, Handkerchief, and the Staff which was

Ver. 34. tore his Cloaths, put Sackcloth] Jacob's mourning Apparel was Sackcloth, I ſuppoſe in its native Colour, and his old Cloaths were torn, inſtead of a new Suit made.

Ver. 5. proceeded] not conceived.

Ver. 8. do a Brother's part] This Heb. Word is rendered in com. Tranſ. Deut. xxv. 5, 7. perform the duty of an Huſband's Brother; where it appears not to be marry, that being before it, and is alſo prepoſterous here.

Ver. 11. till] being only for an Excuſe, he not intending to marry them then, Ver. 14, 26.

Ver. 12. A great while] Heb. the Days were multiplied, or the Time was much.

Ib. Friend] An Appellation not more ancient than worthy.

Ver. 14. two Fountains] This Word is in the dual Number, and is Eyes or Fountains, becauſe of their Reſemblance to Eyes; and the one yielding Water, the other Tears. The LXX, Pagn. Ainſw. and the Gen. Verſ. give it as a proper Name. Onkelos tranſlates, בִּפְרִשׁוּת עֵינָיִן at the parting of the two Fountains. Aben Ezra on this Place writes, שם מקום ויש אומרי כי שני מעיינות מים היו בדרך It is the Name of a Place, and ſome ſay there were two Fountains of Water in the Way. So that if it was a Name to them, that Name tranſlated is as here; ſee Chap. xvi. 7. other Interpretations are too much forced.

Ver. 18. Handkerchief] פְּתִיל ſignifies a Thread from the Twiſting, its Root being פתל to twiſt, and according to Kimhi in the Book of Roots, a ſmall Piece of Cloth: it is uſed alſo for little things made of Threads, and thoſe which are like Threads; and is accordingly rendered in our *com. 19. Then riſing up, ſhe went away, and put off her Veil from her, putting on the Garments of her Widowhood.

20. And Judah ſent the Kid of the Goats by his Friend the Adullamite, to receive the Pledge from the Woman's Hand; but he could not find her.

21. He alſo made enquiry of the Men of that Place, Where is the Proſtitute who was at the two Fountains by the Way? But they ſaid, There was none here.

22. So he goes back to Judah, and tells, I cannot find her; and even the Men of the Place ſaid, no Proſtitute was there.

23. With that Judah concludes, Let it be taken for her own, leſt we ſhould become a Scorn; I having behold ſent this Kid, and thou canſt not find her.

24. And in about three Months it was told him, that Tamar his Daughter-in-law had committed whoredom, and alſo behold was with child by the ſame: he then ſaid, Bring her out, and let her be burnt.

25. When ſhe was brought out, ſhe ſent Word to her Father-in-law, I am with child by the Man to whom theſe Things belong; and added, Acknowledge, I pray, whoſe theſe are, the Seal, Handkerchief and Staff.

26. Accordingly he acknowledged, and ſaid, She is more righteous than I, by reaſon that I did not give her to my Son Shelah; and he had the knowledge of her again no more.

27. Now at the Time of her being delivered, behold there were Twins in her Womb.

28. And when ſhe was in labour, one put forth his Hand, and the Midwife took, and tied a ſcarlet Thread upon it, with the diſtinction, This comes out firſt.

29. But as he pulled it back, behold his Brother came forth: then ſhe ſaid, How haſt thou broke thee out a Breach? So he was named Pharez.

30. Next came out the other, upon whoſe Hand was the ſcarlet Thread; and he was named Zerah.

CHAP. XXXIX.

AND Joſeph being had down to Egypt, Potiphar an Officer of Pharaoh, the Captain of the Guard, and a Native, bought him of the Iſhmeelites, who brought him down thither.

2. However the Lord was with him, ſo that he was a Perſon who proſpered, while he was in the Houſe of his Maſter the Egyptian.

3. Who ſeeing that the Lord was with him, and that he made whatever he did to proſper in his Hand;

4. Joſeph not only got ſo in his Favour as to wait on him; but he made him the Steward of his Houſe, committing all that he had into his Cuſtody.

5. And from the Time that he did ſo, the Lord bleſſed his Houſe for Joſeph's ſake: inſomuch that the Bleſſing of the Lord was on every thing which he had, both in the Houſe and the Field.

6. Therefore he left whatever belonged to him in Joſeph's Cuſtody, ſo that he was unacquainted with any thing he had, excepting the Victuals which he eat: Joſeph too was of a handſome Shape, and a fair Countenance.

7. Now after theſe things his Maſter's Wife looked up at him, and ſaid, Lie with me.

9. He is not greater here than I, nor has he kept back any thing from me but thee, becauſe thou art his Wife: beſides how can I do this great Wickedneſs, and ſin againſt God?

10. And when ſhe had importuned Joſeph Day by Day, and he would not hearken to her, to lie near her, that he might be with her;

12. She took hold of him by his Garment, with the ſolicitation, Lie with me: nevertheleſs he left it in her Hand, and fleeing, went quite out.

13. So when ſhe ſaw that he had left his Garment in her Hand, and was fled abroad;

14. She called to the Folk of her Houſe, and ſpoke to them thus; See, he has brought us a Hebrew Fellow to be wanton with us: he came to me, to lie with me, but I called out aloud.

15. And no ſooner did he hear that I raiſed up my Voice, and called out, but he left his Garment by me, and fleeing, went quite out.

3. That he put them in Priſon at the Houſe of the Chief of the Guard, into the Round-houſe, the Place where Joſeph was bound.

4. Whereupon the Chief of the Guard appointed Joſeph to be with them, that he might wait on them; and they were a while in Priſon.

5. Then this Butler and Baker, who were bound there, dreamed each of them a Dream in one Night, according to what the reſpective Interpretation would be.

Fir'd at his Scorn, the Queen to Prœtus fled,
And beg'd Revenge for her inſulted Bed:
Incens'd he heard, reſolving on his Fate——
Iliad 6. Pope's Tranſ.

Ver. 9. He is not greater] Has not more Power or Authority. In this manner Trem. Caſtal. and Montan. with the ancient Eng. and the French Verſions, have it; לא being not be. So Munſter ſays it ſeemed to be to him; and Ainſworth allows it. There were none elſe ſo great as Joſeph.

Ver. 10. This Verſe in order of Time ſeems to be before the 7th, being added to ſhew the Wiles of this Adultereſs, Matt. v. 28. and might be put in a Parentheſis: for it is not credible that ſhe began her Temptation by, Lie with me; but rather firſt perſuaded him to lie near her in a convenient Place. Tyndal has to ſlepe nere her; and ſee Exod. xvi. 9.

Ver. 11. About this Day] when they had the preceding Diſcourſe.

Ver. 12. Lie] Gen. Sleepe.

Ver. 15. by] Our Tranſlators rendered the Word ſo, Ver. 10, 16. but here and in the 18th Verſe they turn it, as if ſhe let the People of the Houſe and her Huſband know, that ſhe held him by the Garment; and conſequently endeavoured to force him, and not he her: but 'tis no wonder, ſince the old Lat. Bible has it, quod tenebam, which I held. The Woman however appears to have been more cunning. Ainſw. and the old Eng. expreſs it by; Jun. and Trem. juxta, &c.

Ver. 16. Garment]
Thy Virtues, and thy Veſture twice have been Bane to thy ſelf, Diſguiſe of others Sin,
Hiſt. of Joſeph, B. 2.

Ver. 19. Incenſed] Whence this noble Simile is raiſed in the Hiſt. of Joſeph;
As when the Void, o'er frighted Mortals Heads,
A ſcowling Storm with gloomy Clouds o'erſpreads:
Tho' with its native Light the ſtarry Sphere,
Above the Tempeſt ſhines ſerene and clear;
Its Brightneſs yet is loſt to human Eyes,
Which charge the Vapour's Darkneſs on the Skies.

Ver. 22. he was acting in] nicely to the Heb. and not he was the doer of it, for all the Reſt to do nothing, much leſs for him to do whatſoever they did.

Ver. 4. the Chief of the Guard appointed] who was Joſeph's Maſter, and therefore appointed him to wait on thoſe great Men, not knowing probably how Joſeph was advanced in the Priſon; nor would have ſuffered that to be, had he known it. In Coverdale's ſmall Tranſlation it is read, put Joſeph unto them, that he might ſerve them; but in the Geneva thus inconſiſtently, gave Joſeph charge over them, and he ſerved them.

6. And

6. And when Joſeph came to them in the Morning, he ſaw plainly, that they were troubled.

7. Therefore he thus interrogated Pharaoh's Officers, who were with him in Priſon at his Maſter's Houſe, Why are your Countenances ſo ill to Day?

8. To whom they ſaid, We have each dreamed a Dream, and here is Nobody to interpret it. And Joſeph ſaid to them, Are not Interpretations of God? Favour me with the Rehearſal.

9. So the chief Butler told him his Dream as follows; Being in my Dream, behold a Vine was before me:

10. On that were three Branches, and it was as if it budded forth, the Bloſſom of it ſhot up, its Branches produced ripe Grapes.

11. Which, as having the Cup of Pharaoh in my Hand, I took, and ſqueezing them into it, gave the Cup into his Hand.

12. And Joſeph replied to him; This is the Interpretation of it: thoſe three Branches are ſo many Days.

13. Within which Pharaoh will lift up thy Head reſtoring thee to thy Office; ſo that thou wilt give his Cup into his Hand, after the former manner when thou waſt his Butler.

14. But remember me with thy ſelf, when it is well with thee, and ſhew Kindneſs to me, I beg thee, by making mention of me to Pharaoh, and getting me out of this Houſe.

15. For I was altogether ſtolen out of the Country of the Hebrews; and here alſo have not done any thing, for them to put me into the Dungeon.

16. Now the chief Baker ſeeing that the Interpretation was good, related to Joſeph; I alſo being in my Dream, behold three Baſkets of white Bread were upon my Head.

17. There was too in the uppermoſt one all manner of Pharaoh's Victuals made by the Baker; and the Fowls eat it out of the Baſket from off my Head.

18. And Joſeph made anſwer; This is the Interpretation of it: thoſe three Baſkets are ſo many Days.

19. Within which Pharaoh will lift up thy Head from thee, hanging thee upon a Tree; ſo that the Fowls will eat off thy Fleſh from thee.

20. Accordingly on the third Day, which was Pharaoh's Birth-day, when he made a Feaſt for all his Servants, he lifted up the Head of the chief Butler, and that of the chief Baker, among his Servants;

21. Reſtoring the firſt to his Butler's Office, ſo that he gave the Cup into his Hand;

22. And hanging the other: as Joſeph had interpreted to them.

23. Yet that Butler was ſo unmindful of Joſeph, that he forgot him.

CHAP. XLI.

HOWEVER at the End of two whole Years Pharaoh dreamed apparently, that he was ſtanding at the River.

2. And lo there came up from thence ſeven Cows, of handſome Appearance and fat Fleſh, which fed in the Marſh.

3. Behold alſo ſeven other Cows came up after them from the River, of ill Appearance and thin of Fleſh, which ſtood by thoſe upon the Bank of it.

4. Moreover the latter Kine devoured the ſeven well-looking and fat ones: then Pharaoh awaked.

Ver. 6. ſaw] Heb. ſaw of them, as the following ו for that ſhews.

Ver. 8. Interpretations of God?] What a Faith had Joſeph! when there was ſuch a human Improbability of his own Dreams being fulfilled.

Ver. 9. Being] as at the 16th Verſe.

Ver. 10. ſhot up] Heb. aſcended.

Ver. 12. This is] The Geneva Bible, and the folio Bible pr. 1679, have here this Annotation, "He was aſ-"ſured by the Spirit of God that his Interpretation was "true."

Ver. 13. Office] The ſame Chap. xli. 13.

Ver. 15. ſtolen] This was for Joſeph's Purpoſe to raiſe Commiſeration, and claim Juſtice; but his Meaning ſeems to be no more, than that his Brothers had no Right to ſell him, and ſo he was ſtolen, Chap. xxxvii. 28.

Ver. 16. Baſkets of white Bread] סַלֵּי being Governed of the following Word, and ſo Genitive, as the Termination ſhews, muſt be Baſkets of; therefore the governing Word is a Subſtantive, and not an Adjective white only. There are two Words of near Affinity to חֹרִי in the Text, uſed by the Jewiſh Writers, viz. חֹרַר and חֹרָא for Cakes baked on the Coals; whence ſome explain this (ſays Buxtorf) Cakes: from which, and the Nature of the Thing, I conclude it was ſome ſort of white Bread which was meant. Abraham Ben Ezra is very expreſs, expounding it thus, שהוא לחם לבן which was white Bread; the Septuagint render it in like manner, χονδριτῶν bread; and the Author of the old Latin, farinæ, meal. The Jeruſalem Targum has the following Words, וְהָא תְלָתָא סַלִּין דִּרְפָתָא קְרֵבְטוּן עַל רֵישִׁי and behold three Baſkets of hot (which Tayler in a Lat. Verſion of it 1649, renders calidi, white) Bread were upon my Head; Jonathan, who wrote another Targum, has ריפתא נקיא pure or fine, i. e. white Bread. Others turn it diverſly.

Ver. 17. from off] It is, as the Analogy alſo requires, like that in Ver. 19.

Ver. 19. hanging] For how did he lift up his Head from off him beſides, according to the preſ. Engliſh?

Ver. 2. from] not out of: there is no Need to make ſtrange Things, where there are none.

Ib. the Marſh] being by the great River Nile, and where Sedge grew, Job. viii. 11.

Ver. 3. thin] It is the ſame Word in the 6th and 7th Verſes, and does not ſignify lean, but as it is thin.

5. He

5. He likwiſe ſlept, and dreamed plainly the ſecond time, that ſeven Ears of Corn came up on one Stalk, groſs and good.

6. Behold alſo ſeven Ears of Corn, thin, and blaſted with the Eaſt-wind, ſprung forth after them.

7. The thin Ears too ſwallowed up the ſeven groſs and full ones: again Pharaoh awaked, and found it was a Dream.

8. So in the Morning, his Mind being diſcompoſed, he ſent for all the Magicians and wiſe Men of Egypt; to whom he told his Dreams, but none could interpret them to him.

9. With that the chief Butler ſaid to him thus; I call to mind my Faults to Day.

10. Pharaoh enraged againſt his Servants, put me and the chief Baker into Priſon, at the Houſe of the Chief of the Guard.

11. Where I and he each of us dreamed a Dream one Night, according to what the reſpective Interpretation of it would be.

12. And there with us was a Hebrew Youth, a Servant to the Chief of the Guard, to whom we told, and he interpreted our Dreams to both of us, according to what each was.

13. For as he interpreted to us, ſo it came to paſs: he reſtored me to my Office, and him he hanged.

14. Upon this Pharaoh ſent for Joſeph, whom they brought ſpeedily out of the Dungeon; and when he was ſhaved, and had changed his Cloaths, he went in to him.

15. Who ſaid to Joſeph, I have dreamed a Dream, which none can interpret; but if I am not miſinformed of thee, thou underſtandeſt a Dream to interpret it.

16. To whom Joſeph made anſwer, There is one beſides me; God will anſwer the Welfare of Pharaoh.

17. Then replied Pharaoh to him: In my Dream behold I was ſtanding upon the Bank of the River.

18. And lo there came up from thence ſeven Cows, of fat Fleſh and handſome Shape, which fed in the Marſh.

19. Behold alſo ſeven other Cows came up after them, poor, and of very ill Shape, and empty of Fleſh; like which I have ſeen none in all the Country of Egypt for Badneſs.

20. Moreover the empty and ill Kine devoured the former ſeven fat ones.

21. But when they were gone into their inward Parts, it could not be known that they were; for their Appearance was as ill as at firſt: then I awaked.

22. I ſaw likewiſe plainly in my Dream, that ſeven Ears of Corn came up on one Stalk, full and good.

23. Behold alſo ſeven Ears of Corn, ſlender, thin, blaſted with the Eaſt-wind, ſprung forth after them.

24. The thin Ears too ſwallowed up the ſeven good ones: which I have declared to the Magicians, but none could expound to me.

25. And Joſeph ſaid to him: The Dream of Pharaoh is the ſame; whom God has told what he is about to do.

26. Thoſe ſeven good Cows, and theſe ſeven good Ears of Corn, are both ſeven Years; the Dream being the ſame.

27. Again thoſe ſeven empty and ill Cows that came up after them, are ſeven Years, as the ſeven empty Ears of Corn blaſted with the Eaſt-wind are, of Famine.

28. This is the Matter which I declare to Pharaoh: God has ſhewn him what he is about to do.

29. Behold ſeven Years are coming, of great Plenty in all the Country of Egypt.

30. Seven Years of Famine alſo will riſe after them, ſo that all the Plenty will be forgotten here, and the Famine will waſte the Country.

Ver. 7. The thin Ears] Seven being put to theſe through the Negligence of the Tranſlators; and how much muſt it be, when there were ten appointed to do theſe Books ſingly, then agree together, and ſend it to the reſt!

Ver. 10. enraged] Being evidently to be tranſlated by a Participle, which thus is no ſmall Beauty in our Language, as that of Young, Spiritually blind, deaf, and ſtupid, they ſee not, &c. Centaur not Fab. Let. 2.

Ver. 16. beſides me] It was not proper for Joſeph to undervalue himſelf, but on the contrary to ſhew that his Interpretation ſhould be from God. So Pagnin. literally turns it, præter me. It cannot be not in me; and not to me ſuppoſes it a ſtrange Word found no where elſe in that Senſe. Thoſe who render, without me, God will, &c. break through the Heb. Pauſe.

Ib. God will anſwer] What did Joſeph depend on, and wait for, but the Inſpiration of the Almighty? Job xxxii. 8.

Ver. 19. empty] רקות here and רקות in Ver. 3, 4. ſhould have been diſtinguiſhed by our Tranſlators.

Ver. 23. ſlender] Onkelos in the Targum has for it נצן which Buxtorf renders graciles, ſlender. Chald. Lex. Col. 1156. Pagninus quoting Abr. Aben Ezra, has theſe Words, Alii dicunt quòd צנומות idem eſt quod רקות tenues, i. e. Others ſay that Zenumoth is the ſame with rakkoth, thin: The Words in Ab. Ezra's Commentaries are, וטעמו כמו רקות and the Senſe of it is like rakkoth; but Mercerus with good reaſon, ſuppoſes it ſhould be rather רקות which is the Word immediately following in the Heb. Text. The Septuagint underſtanding it thus, tranſlate as at the 6th Ver. λεπτοὶ thin or ſlender; the old Lat. Interpreter in both Places tenuis, thin; Jun. and Trem. with Caſt. and Buxt. in his Heb. Lexic. turn it graciles; the French Verſ. has petits, and Pagnin. parvæ, ſmall, who alſo cites Kimhi thus expounding, and mentions the Heb. Doctors ſo uſing it. The Word is no where elſe in Scripture, and ſo the Reader may bear this Interpretation. Two Adjectives much alike may heighten the Signification, as if it were very thin, anſwerable to Ver. 19.

31. Nor

31. Nor will the Plenty be perceived in it, by reaſon of that Famine afterwards, it will be ſo very grievous.

32. And as for the Dream being repeated over to Pharaoh, it was becauſe the Matter is eſtabliſhed from God, and he will make haſte to do it.

33. Therefore let Pharaoh now ſee for a prudent and wiſe Man, and ſet him over the Country of Egypt.

34. Which having done, let him appoint Officers over this Country; that he may receive the fifth Part of it in the ſeven Years of Plenty.

35. For let them gather together all the Food of theſe good Years which are coming, and heap up Corn under the Cuſtody of Pharaoh, and keep Food in the Cities:

36. That the Food may be a Store to the Country, for the ſeven Years of Famine, which will be in this of Egypt; that it may not be cut off by the ſame.

37. And both Pharaoh and all his Servants liked the Matter well.

38. He therefore ſaid to them, Shall we find ſuch a Man as this, in whom is the Spirit of God?

39. Beſides he ſaid to Joſeph; After God has made known to thee all this, there can be none prudent and wiſe like thee.

40. Thou ſhalt be over my Houſe, and all my People ſhall kiſs thy Mouth; only on the Throne I will be ſuperior to thee.

41. See, added he to him, I ſet thee over all the Country of Egypt.

42. And taking off his Ring from his Finger, he put it upon Joſeph's, as alſo cloathed him with Garments of fine Linen, and put a Chain of Gold about his Neck.

43. Next he made him ride in the ſecond Chariot which he had, and they proclaimed before him, Tender Father, and that he was ſet over all the Country of Egypt.

44. He ſaid further to him, I am Pharaoh; and without thee ſhall no Man lift up his Hand or Foot in the whole Country of Egypt.

45. And he called Joſeph's Name A Revealer of hidden Things, to whom he gave in Marriage Aſenath, the Daughter of Potipherah Prince of On. So Joſeph went out over the Country of Egypt:

46. Being in his thirtieth Year when he ſtood before Pharaoh King of it; from whence going out, he paſſed through all that Country.

47. Now the Earth yielded in the ſeven Years of Plenty by Handfuls.

48. So he gathered together all the Food of them which were there, and put it into the Cities; that of the Fields of a City, which were round about it, within the ſame.

49. Nay he heaped up Corn as the Sand of the Sea, very much; till he left off numbering, becauſe it was out of Number.

Ver. 32. repeated over] doubled twice making four times.

Ver. 34. him] Pharaoh, according to the Heb. Pointing, not that chief Ruler with Patrick, for which a Pronoun would alſo be requiſite.

Ver. 40. kiſs thy Mouth] It ſeems to be a Ceremony uſed at the Inſtalment of a Governor into his Place; as Pſa. ii. it is ſaid, Kiſs the Son, after he is mentioned to be anointed King, and to have the Government given him: So Samuel kiſſed Saul when he made him King, 1 Sam. x. 1. or it may mean doing Homage, which agrees very well with the reſt of the Verſe, & 1 Kings xix. 18. Trem. and Jun. with Montan. Ainſw. and the Fr. Tranſ. have it kiſs, as Kimhi likewiſe explains it in the Book of Roots, and the Verb נָשַׁק is uſed, I think, every where elſe. Moreover עַל frequently occurs in the place of ל with which this Verb is otherwiſe conſtrued; and this might be rendered, give a Kiſs upon thy Mouth.

Ver. 42. Garments of fine Linen] with the Biſhops, cloth of raynes.

Ver. 43. Tender Father] as אב and רך the Letters of the original Word ſignify: and ſo we find Joſeph ſaying after, that he was made a Father to Pharaoh, Chap. xlv. 8. as well as the Title was ſuitable to the wiſe and kind Advice he had given, and agreeable to what the King did beſides, Ver. 45. Omitting what the Jews ſay for this, I have to remark, that had it been an imperative Verb, it would probably have been plural to be ſpoken to many People, which the Word cannot be; nay nor ſingular, without changing a Letter. Neither is it likely Joſeph would let the People kneel to him, as the Verb it is pretended to be ſignifies, and would then unſuitably be, according to the imagined Form, make to kneel.

Ver. 45. A Revealer &c.] The Targums and Joſephus, Ant. Lib. ii. 6. with others mentioned by Grotius and Gregory, help us to the Meaning of thoſe Egyptian Words Zaphenath Pahneah; not zaphnath, becauſe it has Metheg; otherwiſe it would be zophnath, but cannot be zaphnath.

Ib. Prince] Both Onkelos and Jonathan render it in the Targums רבא Prince; Pagnin. Principis, who expounds the Word in his Lexicon to be a Prieſt, Duke or Prince. Buxtorf, beſides Prieſt, explains it Prime Miniſter, Prince, Nobleman, Preſident, Lieutenant, Peer, Governor, referring to this Place in particular. Jun. and Trem. turn it Præſidis, of the Preſident or Prince; which Ainſw. alſo allows it to ſignify: the Geneva Tranſ. with Lookup lately, have Prince; and the French gouverneur, Governor. Leigh in Critica Sacra, quoting ſeveral learned Authors in Proof of this ſays, "The Word is uſed indifferently to ſignify "a Prieſt or Prince, an eccleſiaſtical or ſecular Governour." Our laſt Tranſlators have likewiſe given it to us, a principal officer, 1 Kings iv. 5. a chief ruler, 2 Sam. xx. 26. and plur. chief rulers, Ch. viii. 18. (according as it is interpreted, 1 Chron. xviii. 17.) princes, Job xii. 19. "This Senſe, ſays Poole in Annot. is the more probable, "both from Joſeph's high Quality, and from his holy "Diſpoſition, whereby he hated Idolatry, and would "never have married the Daughter of an idolatrous "Prieſt:" I may add, and neither Moſes here finds any fault with it, nor Jacob afterwards, who bleſſed the Children, and adopted them for his own, Chap. xlviii. 5. ſee further Annot. Jun. and Trem.

Ver. 47. Handfuls] which Ainſworth expounds, a handful increaſe of one kernel, or rather Grain.

50. Joſeph withal had two Sons born before the Years of Famine came, whom Aſenath before mentioned bore to him.

51. And he named the Firſt-born Manaſſeh: for God has made me forget, ſaid he, all my Labour, and all my Father's Family.

52. As he did the ſecond Ephraim: for God has cauſed me, ſaid he, to be fruitful in the Country of my Affliction.

53. Afterwards ended the ſeven Years of the Plenty, which was in the Country of Egypt.

54. The ſeven Years of Famine alſo began to come, as Joſeph had foretold; and it was in all Countries, but in that whole one there was Bread.

55. At length all the Country of Egypt had the Famine, and the People cried to Pharaoh for Bread; who ſaid to all the Egyptians, Go to Joſeph; what he ſays to you do.

56. Thus the Famine being all over the Earth, Joſeph opens all the Store-houſes, and ſells to the Egyptians; for it became great in that Country.

57. And thoſe of all the Earth went into Egypt to Joſeph, to buy; becauſe the Famine was great on the whole Earth.

CHAP. XLII.

AND when Jacob found that there was Proviſion in Egypt, he ſaid to his Sons, Why do you look one at another?

2. For continued he, Behold I have heard that there is Proviſion in Egypt: go down thither, and buy for us from thence; that we may live, inſtead of dying.

3. Accordingly Joſeph's ten Brothers went down, to buy Corn from Egypt.

4. But his Brother Benjamin Jacob did not ſend with the other; Leſt, as he ſaid, Death ſhould befal him.

5. Thus the Sons of Iſrael went to buy among thoſe who were going, becauſe the Famine was in the Country of Canaan.

6. And Joſeph, who was Governor over the Country, was he that ſold to all the People of it: and his Brothers going, bowed down to him with their Faces to the Ground.

7. Now upon ſeeing his Brothers, he knew them; to whom he ſhewed himſelf ſtrange, and ſpoke hard Things, in particular, From whence come you? Who ſaid, From the Country of Canaan to buy Food.

Ver. 55. had the Famine] For famiſhed is killed with hunger, or ſtarved, as in Johnſ. late great Dict.

Ver. 56. all the Store-houſes] Our laſt Tranſlators have well expreſſed this, that is read in the original Text, all which in them; which being elliptical, the Chald. Paraphraſt (whom others generally follow) has ſupplied at large, יַת־כָּל אוֹצָרַיָא דִי־בְהוֹן עִבּוּרָא all the Store-houſes in which there was Corn, or which had Corn in them. Dr. Perry, in his late View of the Levant, p. 230. makes mention of Joſeph's Granary remaining at Old Cairo, which, he ſays, " is very large, and conſiſts of ſeven Compart-" ments; each of which was full of Wheat up to the " Verge of their Walls, which are twenty two Feet high. " When the Compartments are quite full, they ſpread " Mats over the Corn, which is all it has to defend it " from the Weather. And ſays, he is well aſſured, that " in the Time of Joſeph there were ſeven Granaries, each " like unto what we now ſee." The ſame Author likewiſe mentions, and partly deſcribes, as remarkable Pieces of Antiquity now extant, Joſeph's Well, his Hall, Banqueting-houſe and Dungeon, with the Hall of his Steward, Ibid. p. 233, 234. And Corten on ſeeing Joſeph's Well alſo lately, does not queſtion, he ſays, but that it is the largeſt, deepeſt, and moſt eſteemed Well in the World.

Ib. it became great] For Illuſtration, take a recent Inſtance: In the Year 1106 of the Hegira or Mahometan Epocha, about that of Chriſt 1694, a Time of Scarcity coming on, Caciouch Mamet, who was then in the Zenith of Power at Grand Cairo, gave ſtrict Orders that Nobody ſhould ſell Wheat for more than 60 Medins the Ardeb, which is equal to 4s. 4d. Engliſh; at which the great Men of Cairo, who had Corn to ſell, being highly incenſed, poſted a Fellow in a Moſque (one of their Worſhip-houſes) who ſhot him dead as he paſſed by; and the very next Day Wheat was ſold at 150 Medins the Ardeb, riſing to 660; ſo that the Poor were ſtarved to death, and many eat their own Children, and Men, Women and Children would run their Heads confuſedly with Dogs into dead Carcaſes, to partake of a Bit with them. The Corruption of the great Number of Dead brought a malignant Fever, which made great Havock for ſix Months, and was immediately followed by a terrible Plague, that laſted about ſix Months longer, Perry's View of the Levant, p. 161, 162, 164. Caciouch Mamet might almoſt have been honoured with the Name of Martyr, as he died for that noble Branch of Religion, Charity and Compaſſion to the Poor, had not he before murdered his Predeceſſor to get into Power, and ſo ſuffered that Retaliation.

Ver. 56, 57. great] as we ſay inſtead of the Heb. ſtrong, ſimply conſidered; but ſore is relative, if not old for grievous, and the ſame as in Ver. 31. Chap. xliii. 1. & xlvii. 4, 13. which the Heb. is not.

Ver. 57. all the Earth] which in all Probability was not peopled very far in about 650 Years after the Flood.

Ib. Famine] According to this the Heathen Writer Diodorus Siculus mentions a great Drought almoſt over the whole World, Egypt excepted, Lib. i. 2.

Ver. 4. Death] Targ. of Onk. מוֹתָא Aben Ezra מות death; ſo it is in the Genev. Tranſ. and thus Pagnin. both expounds and tranſlates it. This Signification is throughly confirmed to me in the few other Places where the Word is found, viz. Ver. 38. Chap. xliv. 29. Exod. xxi. 22, 23. which I leave to the Conſideration of the underſtanding Reader. Mercer on Pagn. ſays, Elias violentam ſeu accidentariam mortem eſſe putat, Elias (a noted Jewiſh Author) ſuppoſes it to be violent or accidental Death.

Ver. 6. bowed down]

Thus executing, what th' eternal Mind
In Joſeph's controverted Dreams deſign'd;
When to his Sheaf, with Reverence profound,
His Brethren's Sheaves fell proſtrate on the Ground;
When, in their airy Circuits, he beheld
Sun, Moon and Stars, to him Obeiſance yield,

Eliz. Rowe's Hiſt. of Joſeph, B. v. but injudiciouſly placed to Chap. xliii. 26. ſince fulfilled now, nay and remarked to be ſo here, Ver. 9.

8. But

8. But though he knew them, they did not know him.

9. Then he remembred the Dreams which he had dreamed of them; and ſaid to them, You are Spies, to ſee the Nakedneſs of the Country are you come.

10. They anſwered him, No, our Lord; but thy Servants are come to buy Food.

11. We are all of us the Sons of one Man: we are honeſt, thy Servants are not Spies.

12. Yet he replied to them, No, for you are come to ſee the Nakedneſs of the Country.

13. To which they rejoined, Thy Servants are twelve Brothers, we are the Sons of one Man in the Country of Canaan; and behold the Youngeſt is now with our Father, and one is gone.

14. Nevertheleſs Joſeph ſaid to them; It is what I have ſpoken to you, that you are Spies.

15. Hereby you ſhall be proved; by Pharaoh's living you ſhall not go out from hence, but when your youngeſt Brother comes hither.

16. Send one of you, and let him fetch your Brother, while you are bound, that your Words may be proved, whether there be Veracity in you; and if not, by Pharaoh's living you are Spies.

17. So he put them together into Priſon three Days.

18. But he ſays to them the third Day; Do this, and live; ſince I fear God:

19. If you are honeſt, let one of your Brothers be bound in your Priſon-houſe; and go you, carry Proviſion for the Famine of your Houſholds.

20. Then bring your youngeſt Brother to me, that your Words may be proved true, whereby you ſhall not die. And they would do ſo.

21. On this occaſion they ſaid one to another, Verily we are guilty concerning our Brother, the Diſtreſs of whoſe Soul we ſaw when he made ſupplication to us, but we would not hear: therefore this Diſtreſs is come on us.

22. And Reuben made anſwer to them, Did not I ſpeak to you thus, Do not ſin againſt the Child; but you would not hearken: and ſo his Blood behold is required.

23. Whereas they did not know that Joſeph underſtood it: for there was one to interpret between them.

24. He alſo turned about from them, and wept; to whom returning, and ſpeaking, he took Simeon from them, and bound him before their Eyes.

25. Beſides he commanded that they ſhould fill their Vehicles with Corn, and to reſtore their Money to each one into his Sack, as likewiſe to give them Neceſſaries for the Way: thus did he for them.

26. At laſt they lifted up their Proviſion upon their Aſſes, and went away thence.

27. But one opening his Sack, to give his Aſs Provender in the Lodging-place, ſaw plainly that his Money was in the Mouth of his Bag.

28. Upon this he told his Brothers, My Money is reſtored, and even here it is in my Bag: then their Courage went away, inſomuch that they trembled for fear, and ſaid one to another, What is this God has done to us?

Ver. 9, 12. This is the Order of the latter Part of theſe Verſes.

Ver. 13. gone] as being reputed dead, and as agreeing with Ver. 36. & Chap. xxxvii. 30. Tynd. no man woteth where he is.

Ver. 15. but when] or excepting when. Our Tranſlators have left out when, being in the Original ב prefixed to an infinitive Verb, as at Ver. 21. which indeed is not in the Vulg. Latin.

Ver. 15, 16. by Pharaoh's living] Here are the two principal Forms of the Heb. Oaths, for negative and affirmative ones; as if what followed were, if you ſhall go, and that you are Spies, which has been ſo troubleſome to Interpreters, that perhaps ſcarce any have made Senſe of it. The Omiſſion before the firſt might be let me be forſworn, before the latter I ſwear. If Joſeph's was not direct Swearing, it ſeems an Obteſtation too near bordering on it.

Ver. 17. together] This being at firſt in the old Spelling al together, though the Heb. has not all, the Printers made it into one, a different, Word.

Ver. 18. I have been accuſtomed to think that Joſeph acted at firſt by Reſentment, but had received ſome Check for it while they were impriſoned, and retained Simeon only for Fear they would not elſe come any more, and that he might ſo far keep his Word. However his chief Deſign ſeems to be all along to get Benjamin thither, and diſcover himſelf to him, and not to his other Brothers, till Judah's pathetick Speech in the Cloſe of the 44th Chap. overcame his Reſolution.

Ib. ſince I fear God] ſhews his Heart to be touched; though he could not uſe a better Argument to gain their Belief of what he ſaid, and ſatisfy them they might come again ſafely.

Ver. 20. proved true] Trem. vera probentur: a Diverſification of that in Ver. 16.

Ib. would do] which the Heb. Verb may ſignify, and properly it ſeems muſt here, as well as did.

Ver. 21. the Diſtreſs of whoſe Soul we ſaw] Heb. whom we ſaw the Diſtreſs of his Soul; not in that.

Ver. 24. before their Eyes] That they might ſee it done, I ſuppoſe, in an eaſy manner.

Ver. 25. Vehicles] being a general Word, different from the following.

Ib. thus did he] not the Perſon whom Joſeph commanded, as Patrick would have it; ſince he commanded more than one, and there is no Pronoun for he in the Heb. to make any Diſtinction from Joſeph; ſee the like Chap. xli. 34.

Ver. 27. Sack] The ſame in Heb. and Pagnine ſays, in omnia ferè lingua, in almoſt all Languages, i. e. according to their Terminations, as ſaccus in Lat. ſaccos in Greek, &c. but the laſt Word is amtahath, a bag, found in this and the two following Chapters.

29. Afterwards

29. Afterwards they came to Jacob their Father, at the Country of Canaan, whom they informed of all that had befallen them as follows:

30. The Man, the Lord of the Country, ſpoke hard things to us, and repreſented us as Spies of it.

31. To whom we ſaid; We are honeſt, we are not Spies.

32. We are twelve Brothers, the Sons of our Father: one is gone, and the Youngeſt is now with our Father in the Country of Canaan.

33. Yet he ſaid to us; By this I ſhall know that you are honeſt: leave one of your Brothers with me, and taking for the Famine of your Houſholds, go.

34. And bring your youngeſt Brother to me, by which I knowing that you are not Spies, but honeſt; will give you your Brother, and you ſhall merchandiſe in the Country.

35. At length as they emptied their Sacks, behold each one's Bag of Money was there; and when they and their Father ſaw them, they were afraid.

36. And he ſaid to them, You deprive me of my Children: Joſeph is gone, and Simeon is gone, and you would take away Benjamin; all which Things are againſt me.

37. But Reuben ſpoke thus to his Father, Kill two of my Sons, if I do not bring him to thee: commit him into my Cuſtody, and I will bring him to thee again.

38. However he replied, My Son ſhall not go down with you: for his Brother is dead, and he is left alone; and ſhould Death befal him in the Way that you go, you would bring down my grey Hairs with Sorrow to the Grave.

CHAP. XLIII.

NEVERTHELESS the Famine being grievous in the Country,

2. When they had done eating the Proviſion that they brought from Egypt, their Father ſaid to them, Go again, buy us a little Food.

3. Then Judah ſpoke to him as follows; The Man ſolemnly proteſted thus to us, You ſhall not ſee my Face, except your Brother is with you.

4. If thou wilt ſend him with us, we will go down, and buy thee Food;

5. But if not, we will not go: for the Man did ſay to us what I have already mentioned.

6. And Iſrael ſaid, Why did you do ſo ill to me, to tell the Man whether you had another Brother?

7. The Man, anſwered they, ſtrictly aſked thus about us and our Kindred, Is your Father yet living? Have you any Brother? whom we told according to the Senſe of theſe Words: did we know at all that he would ſay, Bring your Brother down?

8. Judah ſaid further to Iſrael his Father; Send the Youth with me, that we may get ready, and go: ſo ſhall both we and thou, with our Children, live, inſtead of dying.

9. I will be engaged for him, thou ſhalt require him of me: if I do not bring him to thee, and place him before thee, let me be in blame with thee all my Days.

10. For unleſs we had delayed, we ſhould now have returned this ſecond time.

11. Whereupon Iſrael their Father ſays to them; If it be ſo now, do this; take of the applauded Things of the Country in your Vehicles, and have down a Preſent to the Man; a little Balſam, and a little Honey, Spice and Myrrh, Nuts and Almonds.

12. Take alſo double Money with you: even that which was brought back in the Mouths of your Bags, carry again with you; perhaps it was a Miſtake.

13. As likewiſe take your Brother; and getting ready, return to the Man.

14. And God Almighty give you Compaſſion before him, that he may ſend with you your other Brother, and Benjamin; and

Ver. 30. repreſented] The Heb. Word ſignifies primarily gave, which is oppoſite to took.

Ver. 37. two of] He having four Sons, Chap. xlvi. 9. The Word is governed of the next by the Ending of it, which anſwers to a Genitive Caſe, as in 1 Kings ii. 39.

Ver. 7. at all] as Zech. vii. 5. did ye at all faſt unto me? the Queſtion having the Nature of a Negative, as well as making the beſt Senſe; ſee Chap. iii. 4. & 1 Kings ix. 6.

Ver. 8. Children] in the Biſh. Bib. meiny, though Tyndal ſo many Years before had chyldren, from whom they took much: theirs is a North-Country Word for family.

Ver. 9. all my Days] The like is rendered 1 Sam. i. 28. as long as he liveth.

Ver. 11. If it be ſo] That I let him go; which was Judah's Requeſt, Ver. 8.

Ib. applauded Things] properly.

Ib. a little] Tynd. a curteſye, ſo the Biſh.

Ib. Nuts] Some expound it terebinth, others filbert nuts. Probably they were Piſtachio's; the Growth of the Country, and ſtill imported from Syria. The Piſtachio Nut grows on a Species of Terebinthina; which confirms the Suppoſition that theſe Nuts are here meant.

Ver. 12. even that] I judge this to be included in the double Money, by the Agreeableneſs of it, as well as by Ver. 15. which informs us what they did carry; and though Corn might be ſomething dearer, it was ſcarcely twice as dear as before; for the Continuance of the Famine being known, it might be brought to almoſt an equal Price at firſt. Nor do I think that double ſignifies the Quantity of the Money, but relates to the two times of buying, conſonant to Ver. 21, 22. ſee Willet on Gen. p. 419.

according as I am deprived of my Children, I must be.

15. So the Men took that Present, as they did double Money with them, as also Benjamin; and getting ready, went down to Egypt, and stood before Joseph.

16. And when he saw Benjamin with them, he said to the Steward of his House, Bring the Men home; and let there be killed what is to be, and dressed: for they shall eat with me at Noon.

17. Accordingly the Man did as he ordered, introducing them into Joseph's House.

18. But they were afraid, because they were brought thither, and said, Upon the account of the Money which was carried back in our Bags at first, are we brought in; that he may rush upon us, and falling on us, take us for Servants, with our Asses.

19. Therefore they went nigh to that Man, and spoke to him at the Door of the House,

20. Which was thus; O our Lord, we really came down at first to buy Food.

21. Whereas when we got to the Lodging-place, we opened our Bags, and behold there was the Money of each of us, by its Weight, in his Bag's Mouth; which we have brought back with us.

22. Nay we have brought down other Money with us to buy Food: we know not who put our Money in our Bags.

23. But he said, Peace be to you, do not fear; your God, and the God of your Father, gave you Treasure in your Bags: your Money came to me. And he brought out Simeon to them.

24. Besides he having introduced them into Joseph's House, gave them Water, that they might wash their Feet, as he did also Provender for their Asses.

25. And they prepared the Present against Joseph came at Noon: for they heard that they should dine there.

26. At length he coming home, they brought him the Present which was with them into the House; and bowed down to him to the Ground.

27. He then asked them of Welfare thus, Is your Father well, the old Man of whom you spoke? Is he yet living?

28. And they answered, Thy Servant our Father is well, who is yet living: again they bowed, and did reverence.

29. Now looking up, and seeing his Brother Benjamin, his own Mother's Son, he said, Is this your youngest Brother whom you spoke of to me? God, added he, be gracious to thee, my Son.

30. But Joseph made haste, for his Compassion was kindled towards his Brother, and he sought where to weep: so he went into the Chamber, and wept there.

31. Next he washed his Face, and came out; and restraining himself, said, Put the Victuals.

32. Thus they put for him by himself, and for them by themselves; and for the Egyptians, who eat with him, in the same manner: because they must not eat Victuals with the Hebrews, for that was an Abomination to the Egyptians.

33. And they sate before him, the Firstborn according to his Birth-right, and the Younger according to his Youth; so that the Men wondered one at another.

34. Moreover he had Dishes of Meat taken away from before him for them, but

---

Ver. 16. what is to be] Heb. the Slaughter; which is quite left out in the pres. Translation.

Ver. 18. rush upon] Heb. tumble, or roll himself as in Job xxx. 14. I much rather take it to mean thus, than seek occasion against us. The Targum has it, לְאִתְרַבְרָבָא עֲלָנָא to magnify himself over us.

Ver. 20. O] בִּי seems to be the Contract of אֲבִי like נָא of אָנָּא by leaving out א at Beg. which I do not find to be observed by any: this leads us to its Root אָבָה he would or was willing, unknown to Grammarians, which Consideration might have kept some Translators out of great Errors.

Ver. 28. living] The Septuagint add, and he replied, Blessed be that man by God; but for what Reason could he say so to them, unless it had been to give them some Mistrust who he was? which he was so careful to avoid, that he would not let them see him weep, Ver. 30. Thus Ephræm Syrus, a Writer of the 4th Century, in his Praise of the Patriarch Joseph, brings him asking, whether their Father had not yet forgot his other Son, who they had told him was lost? But doubtless Joseph was more praise-worthy, for his Wisdom and Caution in avoiding such Expressions, and bringing the Affair to that most suitable Issue which he did.

Ver. 30. Compassion] So in the Targum, viz. רַחֲמוֹהִי Pagn. and Montan. also translate miserationes; Castal. miseratione, with Compassion, i. e. erga fratrem commotus, he was moved towards his Brother; in which manner the French has it by compassion. The Gen. Transl. has affection; Jun. and Trem. viscera misericordiæ, bowels of mercy; and Ver. 14. it is rendered mercy.

Ib. kindled] Aben Ezra בערו ויקדו they kindled and burnt; Jun. æstuabant, Mun. accendebantur, Pagn. and Vatab. turn it by the Verb incaleo; the Gen. Vers. has inflamed; see Hos. xi. 8.

Ver. 32. must not eat] such was their Superstition, insomuch that Herodotus writes, Lib. ii. p. 46. Steph. Edit. ἔτ' ἀνὴρ Αἰγύπτιος ἔτη γυνὴ ἄνδρα Ελληνα φιλήσειε ἂν τῶ στόμαλι· ἐδὲ μαχαίρη ανδρὸς Ελλην☩ χρήσεται, ἐδὲ ὀβελοῖσι, ἐδὲ λήβετι, ἐδὲ κρέως καθαρῦ βοὸς διατετμένυ Ελληνικῆ μαχαίρη γεύσεται· No Egyptian Man or Woman will kiss the Mouth of a Greek or Foreigner, or use either his Knife, Spit or Pot, or eat the very Meat that is cut with such a one's Knife.

Ver. 33. they sate] Joseph might place them thus, to possess them with an Opinion of his Skill in Divination, the better to bring about what he designed by the silver Cup.

Benjamin's Diſh was five times as much as any of theirs: ſo they drank and carouſed with him.

CHAP. XLIV.

AFTERWARDS he thus commanded the Steward of his Houſe, Fill the Men's Bags with Food, according as they can carry; and put each one's Money into the Mouth of his Bag.

2. Thou ſhalt alſo put my ſilver Cup in the Bag's Mouth of the Youngeſt, with the Money of his Proviſion. And he did according to that which Joſeph ordered.

3. The Morning being light, the Men were ſent away, with their Aſſes.

4. They were gone out of the City not far off, when Joſeph ſaid to the Steward of his Houſe; Get ready, follow after the Men; and as ſoon as thou overtakeſt them, reprimand them, Why have you returned Evil for Good?

5. Is not this what my Maſter drinks in? and he has throughly divined for it: you have done ill in what you did.

6. Accordingly he overtakes them, and utters theſe Expreſſions to them.

7. Why, exclaimed they to him, does our Lord ſpeak ſuch Words as theſe? Far be it from thy Servants to do any Thing like it!

8. Lo the Money that we found in the Mouths of our Bags, we brought back to thee out of the Country of Canaan; and how ſhould we ſteal out of thy Maſter's Houſe Silver or Gold?

9. Let him then die with whom it is found of thy Servants; and we alſo will become Servants to our Lord.

10. And he ſaid, Now let it be ſo far according to your Words; let him whom it is found with be a Servant to me, and you ſhall be quit.

11. At which they made haſte, and took down their ſeveral Bags to the Ground, and opened each one his own.

12. So he ſearched, beginning at the Eldeſt, and ending at the Youngeſt; and the Cup was found in Benjamin's Bag.

13. Then they tore their Cloaths; and each loading his Aſs, they returned to the City.

14. Next Judah went with his Brothers to Joſeph's Houſe, who was yet there; and they fell down before him on the Ground.

15. Of whom Joſeph demanded, What Deed is this which you have done? Did not you know that ſuch a Man as I am could throughly divine?

16. And Judah anſwered, What ſhall we ſay to my Lord? What Excuſe ſhall we make? Or how ſhall we juſtify our ſelves? God has found out the Iniquity of thy Servants; behold both we, and he with whom the Cup is found, are Servants to my Lord.

17. But he replied, Far be it from me to do this: the Man whom the Cup is found with, ſhall be a Servant to me; but as for you, go up in Peace to your Father.

18. Whereupon Judah approached him, and ſaid: O my Lord! let thy Servant, I beſeech thee, ſpeak a Word in my Lord's Hearing, and be not angry with thy Servant: for thou art even as Pharaoh.

19. My Lord aſked his Servants thus, Have you any Father or Brother?

20. And we told my Lord, we have a Father, an old Man, with a Child of his old Years, the Youngeſt; and his Brother being

Ib. carouſed] according to Cant. v. 1. this being drank largely, as in Johnſon's great Dict. and Hag. i. 6. it is rendered filled with drink; not ſignifying to be merry. So the like Verb John v. 10. well drunk. Tynd. has this were dronke, the Gen. had of the beſt drinke.

Ver. 5. has] Pathah turning the future Tenſe into the preterite.

Ib. throughly] Look the Scholium on Chap. xxii. 17.

Ib. divined for it] Stackhouſe, in his late Hiſtory of the Bible, Book iii. Chap. 4. ſays, "The Words (according to the Senſe of the beſt Interpreters) do not relate "to this Cup, as the Inſtrument, but as the Subject of "Divination; not as the Thing, with which, but as the "Thing, concerning which, this magical Enquiry was to "be made." Broughton in his Works, pag. 653, has theſe Words, "For which he would make ſearch, not, "in which he propheſieth;" and ſo Fagius turns it, pro eo, for it, the Biſhops for the which. Certainly Joſeph's Brothers could not be made to believe, he divined by the Cup that they had it; becauſe they knew he could not have it to divine by.

Ver. 16. the Iniquity] other Iniquity, not owning their Guilt in what they were charged with.

Ver. 19. My Lord aſked] What could have been more perſuaſive than this Speech, though it runs ſo much on the Narrative!

Ver. 20. the Youngeſt] I cannot tell what our Tranſlators thought of, when they turned it a little one, ſince none deny, I think, that Benjamin was born before Joſeph was carried to Egypt, and at the loweſt Computation muſt be 22 or 23 Years old, and is called a Man, Ver. 17. It is indeed in Heb. the leaſt, but is meant in Years, as obſerved on Chap. ix. 24. and as Munſter writes here ſcilicet ætate; uſed like the Words Minor and Minority with us. The Word in another Form of the ſame Signification, differing but in one Vowel, is rendered in our preſ. Bib. youngeſt five times in this Chap. and that by Ainſworth here: but the old Latin has puer parvulus, a little Boy.

Ib. being dead, &c.] by which is ſhewn the Cauſe of dead, and he left alone of his Mother's, his Father loves him.

21. With that thou didſt order thy Servants, Bring him down to me, that I may have a Sight of him.

22. When we replied to my Lord, The Youth cannot leave his Father: who, ſhould he leave him, would die.

23. Yet thou ſaideſt to thy Servants, If your youngeſt Brother does not come down with you, ye ſhall ſee my Face no more.

24. And when we got up to thy Servant my Father, we told him the Words of my Lord.

25. At length our Father ſaying, Go again, buy us a little Food;

26. We anſwered, We muſt not go down; though if our youngeſt Brother be with us, we may: for we muſt not ſee the Man's Face, when he is not along with us.

27. Upon this thy Servant, my Father, ſaid to us; You know that of the two my Wife bore me,

28. One went out from me, ſo that I ſaid, Verily he is torn in pieces; nor have I ſeen him to this Time.

29. And ſhould you likewiſe take this out of my Sight, and Death befal him, you would bring down my grey Hairs with Harm to the Grave.

30. Now therefore when I come to thy Servant my Father, and the Youth is not with us, ſince his Life is bound up in the Life of him;

31. As ſoon as he ſees that there is not the Youth, he will die: ſo thy Servants will bring down the grey Hairs of thy Servant, our Father, with Sorrow to the Grave.

32. Becauſe thy Servant was thus engaged to him for the Youth, If I do not bring him to thee, let me be in blame with my Father all my Days:

33. Therefore now let thy Servant abide, I beſeech thee, inſtead of the Youth, a Servant to my Lord; and let him go up with his Brothers;

34. (For how can I go up to my Father, when he is not with me?) leſt I ſhould ſee the Harm that will come on my Father.

CHAP. XLV.

THEN Joſeph was not able to reſtrain himſelf, to all who were ſtanding by him, but called out, Cauſe every Man to go out from me. So there was not one ſtood with him, when he made himſelf known to his Brothers.

2. And he uttered his Voice with ſuch Crying, that the Egyptians heard, as did alſo Pharaoh's Family.

3. At length he ſaid to his Brothers, I am Joſeph; is my Father yet alive? But they could not anſwer him, as being troubled at his Preſence.

4. Whereupon he ſaid to them, Come nigher to me, I pray. Which they doing, he thus expreſſed himſelf: I am Joſeph your Brother, whom you ſold to Egypt.

5. Yet now be not grieved, nor let it diſpleaſe you, that you ſold me hither; ſince God ſent me before you, that ye might be kept alive.

6. For theſe two Years the Famine has been within the Country; and there are five more in which will be no Tillage nor Harveſt.

than 12 cubits, it findeth extream famine: yea, and at 13 it feeleth hunger ſtill, 14 cubits comforts their hearts, 15 bids them take no care, but 16 affoordeth them plenty and delicious dainties. It is added a little further, ſo ſoon as any part of the land is freed from the water, ſtraightwaies it is ſowed. This overflowing of Egypt, Herodotus, ſpeaking of in L. ii. ſays, as in Littlebury's Tranſlation, In our Time, unleſs the River ſwells to ſixteen Cubits, or fifteen at leaſt, the Country is not covered with Water, Vol. i. p. 144. during which Flood the People and Cattle live on the Mountains, where the Towns and Villages are, Diod. Sic. Lib. i. 3. Dr. Perry, in his View of the Levant, p. 273—289. has lately given a curious Account of it, if a little rectified, which I would juſt exhibit, to be compared with that of the Ancients, as being ſuch a remarkable Thing both in Hiſtory and Nature: he relates, that there is a Place built on Purpoſe (as it ſeems by Grand Cairo) wherein is an octagon marble Pillar, or Niloſcope, marked with Meaſures called Pikes, each of which contains 24 Digits; being, ſays he, as I judge, and am pretty ſure, equimenſurate to ſo many Inches, p. 274. but ſays elſewhere, theſe Pikes taken one with another, are not above twenty three Inches each, p. 286. (for the Franks or Chriſtians dare not meaſure them, p. 283.) that upon viſiting this before the River began to riſe, on May 17. O. S. in the Year 1739. as it appears by him, he found eleven of theſe Pikes, and two Digits of the 12th above Water, beſides the Capital, p. 281, 274. that the Egyptians aſſert the Nile always begins to riſe on the 6th of June, O. S. p. 273. and on June 8. he ſays, there were near eleven Pikes of the Pillar dry, p. 281. that in a Week more the Water roſe 12 Inches, the next Week not above 4, the following Week not above 8 Inches, the ſucceeding one to July 6. very little, p. 284. from whence to the 16th of the ſame Month, as appears by his Reckoning, it roſe about ſeven Feet, p. 285, 282. On Auguſt 12. he ſays, he found three Digits of the uppermoſt Pike immerged, and 21 of them dry, p. 275, 285. (but wrongly adds, it was juſt 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ Pikes from the loweſt Ebb, p. 282, 285.) from which Time to September 3. being 22 Days, by his Computation the Water roſe about 33 Inches, p. 282, 285. but beginning to fall from Sept. 1. he obſerved that from Aug. 31. to Sept. 5. all O. S. it ebbed 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ Inches, p. 286. ſo that the greateſt Height might be 34; according to which the whole Riſe amounts to 11 Pikes and 15 Digits (of which Perry ſpeaks variouſly, p. 275, 283, 284, 286.) and that to juſt 15 Cubits and a half of 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ Foot each, as a Cubit has been commonly counted. This nicely agrees with the foregoing Antiquities, though the Doctor himſelf did not know how to reconcile them, and fancies all Writers meant their Meaſure from the Bottom of the River, p. 284. Upon his ſounding of which however in ſeveral Places, Sept. 5. he owns he found the deepeſt Water 18 $\frac{1}{3}$ Pikes, p. 286. by which the low Water was 13 $\frac{1}{2}$ Feet deep, notwithſtanding Perry ſpeaks of the latter as 4 or 5 Pikes deep, p. 278, 284, 286. The Breadth of the River he judges is not above three tenths of a Mile, p. 289. N. B. I choſe to quote the Pages, as his Relation is ſomething confuſed and diſcordant. After confuting ſeveral pretended Cauſes of this Inundation, Diodorus pitches upon that of Agatharcides the Cnidian as the beſt, who ſaid, καὶ ἐνιαυτὸν ἐν τοῖς κατὰ τὴν Αἰθιοπίαν ὄρεσι γίνεσθαι συνεχεῖς ὄμβρους ἀπὸ θερινῶν τροπῶν μέχρι τῆς μεταπωρινῆς ἰσημερίας. Εὐλόγως ἂν τὸν Νεῖλον ἐν μὲν τῷ χειμῶνι συστέλλεσθαι, τὴν καλὰ φύσιν ἔχοντα ῥύσιν ἀπὸ μόνων τῶν πηγῶν· κατὰ δὲ τὸ θέρος, διὰ τὰς ἐχεομένας ὄμβρους λαμβάνειν τὴν ἄυξησιν. There is conſtant Rain yearly on the Mountains in Ethiopia, from the ſummer Solſtice to the autumnal Equinox. It is therefore rational that the Nile ſhould be contracted in the Winter, when it flows according to the Property it has from its own Sources only, and increaſes at Summer by receiving the Rain that is poured down. But Francis Alvarez has ſince given a more certain Relation of it in his Itinerary, Cap. 146. In Abaſſena hyems incipit medio Junii, deſinit medio Septembris: toto tempore ingentes ſunt pluviæ; unde creſcit Nilus. In the Country of the Abyſſines or Inner Ethiopia (whither Alvarez went Ambaſſador) the Winter begins in the middle of June, and ends in the middle of September, all which Time there are great Rains, from whence the Nile increaſes. The Cauſe of thoſe Rains Perry aſcribes to the northerly Winds, which he ſays ſet in about the middle of May, and continue to blow briſkly, and almoſt inceſſantly, from that Quarter, for three Months; which driving the Vapours and Clouds againſt the high Mountains of Ethiopia, they are forced down there in Rain, p. 272. This is the more probable, as 'the whole Kingdom of Egypt is one continued Plain, 'which admits of but very little Interruption from Hills, 'Rocks, or other Protuberances,' p. 476. The Doctor notwithſtanding falls to ſpoiling his Phenomenon, by not allowing theſe Winds to produce Rain, becauſe he noticed the Air at that Seaſon to be free of Clouds, and yet concludes it is clearly accounted for, p. 273. but as the Levant, Caſpian, Red Sea, &c. muſt certainly exhale forth a deal of Moiſture, by the great Force of the Sun's Heat then and there, it would as certainly be driven by ſuch Wind towards the upper Part of the Nile; though it might not be formed into Clouds, till it was gone beyond the lower Part of Egypt, where Perry made his Obſervation. Herodotus, in ſearching for the Cauſe, makes mention of ſuch Winds under the Epithet of Eteſian; as likewiſe Diod. Siculus from Thales. The Account that Prideaux gives of it is however incredible, that the Floods are a whole Year or more running out of Ethiopia to Egypt, without mentioning any Author for it, Connect. A. D. 374. For three Miles an Hour, which is the Current of the Nile nearly at the Time of its Inundation, View of Lev. p. 476. to reckon Nothing for the wonderful Steeps it falls down in Ethiopia, would exceed the Circumference of the whole Earth. As to the manner of Tillage, Herodotus adds, "As ſoon as the River has overflowed the Country "and retreated again, every Man ſows his own Land; "and having put in his Hogs to tread the Seed into the "Ground, expects the Harveſt without farther Care," p. 145. For Concluſion, there is a Channel yet called Joſeph's, which goes from the weſt Side of the Nile to the famous Lake Mœris, View &c. p. 379, 408. a Lake according to Perry's Relation about 4 Miles broad, and 8 or 9 Leagues long, p. 407. having on the S. S. E. of it, at about a Mile's Diſtance, large Ruins of the ſuppoſed Labyrinth ſo famed in Antiquity, p. 381, 406, 407.

ſeen: make haſte alſo, and bring him down hither.

14. Next he fell upon his Brother Benjamin's Neck, and wept; and Benjamin wept upon his.

15. Beſides he kiſſed all his Brothers, and wept upon them; and after that they talked with him.

16. And when the Report was heard in Pharaoh's Houſe, that Joſeph's Brothers were come; both he and his Servants liked it well.

17. He therefore ſaid to Joſeph; Say to thy Brothers, Do this; load your Beaſts, and get you along to the Country of Canaan.

18. Afterwards take your Father and Families, and come to me: ſo will I give you the Beſt of the Country of Egypt, and you ſhall eat the Fat of it.

19. Since thou art commanded, do you this; take Wagons from hence, for your Children and Wives, as alſo that you may carry your Father, and come.

20. Nor let your Eyes regard your Goods: for you ſhall have the Beſt of all this Country.

21. And the Sons of Iſrael did ſo, Joſeph giving them Wagons at Pharaoh's Command; as he did Neceſſaries for the Way.

22. To every one of them in particular he gave a Suit of Cloaths; giving Benjamin three hundred Pieces of Silver, and five Suits.

23. As likewiſe to his Father he ſent thus; ten He-aſſes carrying ſome of the Beſt of Egypt, and ſo many She-aſſes carrying Corn, Bread and other Victuals, for his Father on the Way,

24. Thus he ſent his Brothers away, that they might go; and ſaid to them, Be not diſturbed in the Way.

25. And going up from Egypt, they went into the Country of Canaan, to Jacob their Father;

26. Whom they told as follows, Joſeph is yet alive; and that he was Governor over all the Country of Egypt: however his Heart failed, ſo that he did not believe them.

27. But when they ſpoke to him all the Words of Joſeph, which he had to them, and he ſaw the Wagons that Joſeph had ſent to carry him, his Spirit revived.

28. And Iſrael thus uttered himſelf, It is a great Thing that my Son Joſeph is yet alive; I will go, and ſee him before I die.

CHAP. XLVI.

ACCORDINGLY Iſrael travelled, with all that he had, and coming to Beerſheba, offered Sacrifices to the God of his Father Iſaac.

2. God alſo ſaid thus to him in the Viſions of the Night, Jacob, Jacob; who anſwered, Here am I.

3. And he replied; I am God, the God of thy Father: be not afraid of going down to Egypt; for I will make thee a great Nation there.

4. I will go down with thee thither, and will alſo bring thee quite up; nay Joſeph ſhall cloſe up thy Eyes.

Ver. 18. Beſt of the Country] See it in our preſ. Tranſlation, Chap. xlvii. 6.

Ver. 19. as alſo that] Sending Wagons would lay an Obligation upon them to come. The following Verbs carry and come are not imperative, as the two preceding ones do and take are; ſee Ver. 27.

Ver. 22. a Suit] Beſides the Impropriety of the Word, changes in com. Tranſ. being more than one, it will follow by Conſequence that Benjamin had not five times as much Apparel given him as each of his Brothers, which is repugnant to the confeſſed Meaning of the Paſſage.

Ver. 23. Victuals] By the com. Tranſlators turned victual, 2 Chron. xi. 23. If by Meat here they intended fleſh only, the Word has not that Signification, for there was not fleſh for all in or on the Tree, Dan. iv. 12. where it is uſed: but if they meant by it Victuals or Food, ſo was Bread, which therefore requires other to be added; unleſs we had Words like the Lat. opſonium or obſonium, with which Jun. and Caſt. tranſlate it, ſignifying all ſorts of Victuals beſides Bread.

Ver. 24. that they might] For he could not ſay to them what follows, after they were departed.

Ib. diſturbed] It may ſignify the Mind being moved by any afflicting Paſſion, ſuch as anger, 2 Kings xix. 27. fear, Pſal. lxxvii. 19. grief, 2 Sam. xviii. 33. all which may be here meant.

Ver. 26. and that] Our Tranſlators left out that, not knowing elſe it ſeems how to make the Words coherent.

Ib. ſo that he did not believe them] Caſt. expreſſes it, ad quem ille nuncium exanimatus fidem eis habebat, at which News he being aſtoniſhed, did not believe them. Here is no Jacob in the Original; vid. Chap. xli. 7.

Ver. 28. a great Thing] as if he had ſaid, no matter for all theſe great things, this is a great thing that he is alive. Thing is comprehended in the Heb. Adjectives, as in the Greek and Latin ones of the neuter Gender. So the Septuagint turn it, Μέγα μοί ἐστιν, it is a great thing to me; but Onkelos and Abr. Ben Ezra ſupply it by another Subſtantive, the former tranſlating, סַגִּי־לִי חֶדְוָא it is great Joy to me, and the latter expounding it, רב לי זאת השמחה this is great Gladneſs to me; Jarhi alſo in like manner, רב לי עוד שמחה וחדוה הואיל ועוד יוסף בני חי it is yet great Gladneſs and Rejoicing to me, ſince my Son Joſeph is ſtill alive. Munſter turns it, multum eſt, quod, it is much that.

Ver. 2. God] Lookup has in his late Tranſ. as alſo from the Beginning of the Book, the Gods, but in the next Ver. he ſaid, I am the God; ſo deſtroying Impiety by Abſurdity. N. B. The Heb. has the ſame Word in both Places, and the ſame ſingular Verb in each.

Ver. 3. be not afraid] It ſeems Jacob was afraid to go without knowing it was God's Will he ſhould, and ſo prepared himſelf (as the Manner was then with Sacrifice) that the Lord might reveal it to him. A good Example! even for the Affairs of this Life, as that was.

Ver. 4. bring thee up] in his Poſterity (though his Body was before) when he ſhould become a great Nation, as in the preceding Verſe. Thus it is ſpoken of Jacob's Sons, Chap. xlix.

5. So he got ready to go from Beer-ſheba; and his Sons carried him, with their Children and Wives, in the Wagons which Pharaoh had ſent for that Purpoſe.

6. He, and all his Offspring with him, likewiſe took their Cattle and Subſtance, which they had got in the Country of Canaan, and went to Egypt.

7. Whither he had along with him his Sons and Grandſons, Daughters and Granddaughters, and all his Offspring, who were with him.

8. Now theſe are the Names of the Iſraelites who went thither: Jacob and his Sons (Reuben being his Firſt-born)

9. With the Sons of Reuben, Enoch, Phallu, Hezron and Carmi.

10. And the Sons of Simeon, Jemuel, Jamin, Ohad, Jachin, Zohar, and Saul the Son of a Canaaniteſs.

11. Moreover the Sons of Levi, Gerſhon, Kohath and Merari.

12. As likewiſe Judah's Sons, Er, Onan, Shelah, Pharez and Zerah; only the two former died in the Country of Canaan. And the Sons of Pharez, Hezron and Hamul.

13. Next Iſſachar's Sons, Tola, Phuvah, Job and Shimron.

14. Then the Sons of Zebulun, Sered, Elon and Jahleel.

15. The foregoing were the Sons of Leah, whom ſhe bore to Jacob at Padan-aram, with Dinah his Daughter; all which Perſons of his of both Sexes, were thirty three.

16. The Sons too of Gad, Ziphion and Haggi, Shuni and Ezbon, Eri, and Arodi, and Areli.

17. And the Sons of Aſher, Imnah, Iſhvah, Iſhvi, and Beriah, with Serah their Siſter; Beriah's Sons likewiſe, Heber and Malchiel.

18. The foregoing were the Sons of Zilpah, whom Laban gave to his Daughter Leah; ſhe bearing to Jacob theſe ſixteen Perſons.

19. The Sons of Rachel his Wife, Joſeph and Benjamin.

20. And Joſeph had born in the Country of Egypt, by Aſenath the Daughter of Potipherah Prince of On, Manaſſeh and Ephraim.

21. As alſo Benjamin's Sons, Bela, and Becher, and Aſhbel, Gera and Naaman, Ehi and Roſh, Muppim, and Huppim, and Ard.

22. Theſe are the Sons of Rachel, who were born to Jacob; all the Perſons fourteen.

23. And the Sons of Dan, Huſhim.

24. Laſtly the Sons of Naphtali, Jahzeel, Guni, Jezer and Shillem.

25. The preceding were Bilhah's Sons, whom Laban gave to Rachel his Daughter; ſhe bearing Jacob theſe ſeven Perſons in all.

26. All the Perſons that went with Jacob to Egypt, who proceeded from himſelf, beſides the Wives of his Sons, were in the whole ſixty ſix.

Ver. 7. all his Offspring] all the reſt, viz. his great Grandchildren; for the others were named before.

Ib. who were with him] Some being in Egypt.

Ver. 8. Sons] If the Reader compares this Tranſlation with our late Shuckford's Opinion of divers Faults in the Original in this Chap. he may perhaps ſee ſuch an Opinion to be unneceſſary and groundleſs; to the Certainty and providential Preſervation of Holy Writ. See his Connect. of Sacr. and Proph. Hiſt. Vol. i. Book vii. p. 198.

Ver. 9. Enoch] See Chap. v. 18.

Ib. Phallu] written Pallu in our Bible, Exod. vi. 14. Numb. xxvi. 5, 8. 1 Chron. v. 3. though it is all one in the Original.

Ib. Hezron] Numb. xxvi. 6. Heſron, the ſame.

Ver. 10. Saul] This is the ſame Name with that in Chap. xxxvi. 37, 38. and alſo the Name of the firſt King of Iſrael.

Ver. 13. Phuvah] called in the com. Tranſ. Pua, Numb. xxvi. 23. though there be no odds.

Ib. Job] This is another Name different from that in the Book of Job, which is in Heb. Ijob, having a Letter more.

Ver. 15. thirty three] Jacob himſelf as he was an Iſraelite, Ver. 8. (according to what we read Exod. xii. 40.) is reckoned in this Number, and the two Sons of Pharez (Er and Onan being dead, Ver. 12. Ch. xxxviii. 7, 10.) who muſt therefore be born, and could not elſe have gone to Egypt with the reſt, as in Ver. 8, 26, 27. Exod. i. 1, 5. Deut. x. 22. which all ſhew that Jacob and his Offspring (their Wives excepted, at Ver. 26. who were not his Offspring) at that Time were ſeventy Perſons.

Ver. 16. Haggi] So it is put right, Numb. xxvi. 15.

Ver. 17. Imnah] The ſame Word which is here Jimnah in the com. Bible, is Jimna, Numb. xxvi. 44. and Imnah, 1 Chron. vii. 30. which laſt is after the manner of writing the following and other Names in our Language.

Ib. Iſhvah] In the vulg. Eng. it is Iſhuah, and 1 Chron. vii. 30. Iſuah, nevertheleſs the Heb. has no Variation.

Ib. Iſhvi] The pref. Verſ. here has Iſui, Numb. xxvi. 44. Jeſui, and 1 Chron. vii. 30. Iſhuai; yet in the Original there is found no Alteration.

Ib. Serah] Our Tranſlators not knowing or minding the Heb. Accent, call her Sarah in Numb. xxvi. 46. look Chap. x. 24.

Ver. 18. ſixteen] In which Number are counted Beriah's two Sons, as thoſe of Pharez above.

Ver. 21. Bela] So it is Chap. xiv. 2. Numb. xxvi. 38, 40. 1 Chron. vii. 6. & viii. 1. although h is added here.

Ver. 23. Huſhim] Huſhim a Woman's Name, 1 Chron. viii. 8. has a long u, this a ſhort one. It is ſaid Sons, notwithſtanding there was but one, which is the manner of ſpeaking in the Heb. Tongue, as Ab. Ezra obſerves in his Annotations on it: Words plural and ſingular, one for the other are not uncommon; ſo Ver. 18. it is Perſon in Heb. though there were ſixteen. Nor are theſe Defects or Blemiſhes in the Hebrew, but Elegancies in that and other Languages when rightly uſed, as they are in the Scripture; of which may be conſulted the 20th and 21ſt Chap. of Longinus's Eſſay on Sublime.

Ver. 26. himſelf] Heb. not loins; but thigh, and that only in this old manner of Expreſſion; and rendered body in the com. Tr. Judg. viii. 30.

Ib. ſixty ſix] Jacob is not in this Sum, they being thoſe (as in the Text) who went with him.

27. And

27. And the Sons of Joſeph, who were born to him in Egypt, being two Perſons; all thoſe of Jacob's Family who were come into Egypt, were ſeventy.

28. And he ſent Judah before him to Joſeph, to give him direction forward to Goſhen, that they might go to that Country.

29. Whereupon Joſeph harneſſed his Chariot, and went up thither to meet Iſrael his Father; who when he was apparent to him, fell upon his Neck, and there wept a while.

30. At length Iſrael ſays to him, Now let me die; after I have ſeen thy Face, that thou art yet alive.

31. After this Joſeph ſaid to his Brothers and Father's Family; I will go up and tell Pharaoh, that you, who were in the Country of Canaan, are come to me;

32. And that the Men feed Flocks, becauſe they are Men of Cattle; ſo have brought their Flocks and Herds, with all that they have.

33. Therefore when he calls you, and aſks, What is your Buſineſs?

34. Do you ſay, Thy Servants have been Men of Cattle, from our Youth till now, the ſame as our Forefathers: that you may dwell in the Country of Goſhen; for all who feed Flocks are abominable to the Egyptians.

CHAP. XLVII.

SO Joſeph went to tell Pharaoh, and ſaid, My Father and Brothers, with their Flocks, Herds, and all that they have, are come from the Country of Canaan; and behold they are in that of Goſhen.

2. He alſo took five Men of the leaſt of his Brothers, whom he preſented before him.

3. And when Pharaoh ſaid to his Brothers, What is your Buſineſs? They anſwered him, Thy Servants have fed Flocks, the ſame as our Forefathers.

4. Moreover they ſaid to him, We are come to ſojourn in the Country; for there is no Paſture for the Flocks which thy Servants have, becauſe the Famine is grievous in the Country of Canaan: now therefore let thy Servants dwell, we pray, in that of Goſhen.

5. Upon which he ſpoke thus to Joſeph; Thy Father and Brothers being come to thee;

6. The Country of Egypt is before thee, cauſe them to dwell in the Beſt of it: let it be in that of Goſhen; and if thou knoweſt that there are Men of Ability among them, make them Managers over thoſe Cattle which I have.

Ver. 27. two] The Gr. Bib. has ἐννέα nine; when the five Sons and Grandſons of Manaſſeh and Ephraim added in that Tranſ. amount but to ſeven.

Ib. ſeventy] which the four Numbers above, 33, 16, 14 and 7, make up; among whom was Jacob, as mentioned already, being one of his own Family according to this Verſe: ſo exact is the Scripture in ſpeaking, notwithſtanding the Blunders which have been made by Interpreters upon this. For ſeventy the Septuagint have ἑβδομηκονταπέντε ſeventy five; whom Stephen followed, Acts vii. 14. ſpeaking to the Jews, by whom that Verſion was then uſed; as by John Hus and other Reformers the worſe Latin Tranſlation, among the Papiſts; look Chap. xlvii. 31. But in Deut. x. 22. the Greek, as well as the Hebrew, has but 70. And even here the 75 are made up by five of Joſeph's Grandchildren and great Grandchildren, added at the 20th Verſe, who could not then be born. See Jerome's Heb. Queſt. on Gen. where he handles this well and clearly. Notwithſtanding which, what a Pother have ſome made in reckoning 75? Stackhouſe thinking, one muſt ſuppoſe, he had choſen the beſt, makes it up with ſome of their Wives, ſuppoſing Benjamin to be ſtill unmarried, though he reckons in ten of his Children, Hiſt. of Holy Bib. p. 341. Edit. 2. Bedford computing Dinah not to go to Egypt, contrary to the Text, Ver. 8, 15. counts Er and Onan into the 70, and leaves them out of the 75, Script. Chron. Book iii. Chap. 4. p. 129. And this may be ſaid, that the Veracity of the Text in Acts depends on truly relating what Stephen ſpoke, as Ver. 2. the Errors of whoſe Speech, if they were not neceſſary, do not weaken the Authority of the Scripture.

Ver. 29. harneſſed] Heb. bound or tied.

Ib. was apparent to] exactly to the Heb. and very apt.

Ver. 30. ſays] Introduced by Eliz. Rowe with,

Joſeph, my ſhort Delight, and long my Moan;
My much belov'd, and much lamented Son!
Loſt to my Hopes, beyond my Hopes reſtor'd:
Betray'd to ſerve in Egypt, now her Lord.

Ver. 32. they are Men of Cattle] This which is quite literal, pleaſed me better than the Circumlocution in the com. Tranſ.

Ver. 34. abominable] The learned Shuckford in his late Connection, &c. Vol. 1. ſuppoſes this laſt has been added to the Text, becauſe there did not appear to him a ſufficient Reaſon for it; but the Invaſion, Ravaging and Detention of their Country, which the Shepherds had made, as Joſephus relates from Manetho againſt Ap. Lib. i. mentioned on Chap. xxx. might be very ſufficient for the Egyptians to abhor at leaſt foreign or Canaanite Shepherds. Sol. Jar. writes it was, לפי שהם להם אלוהות becauſe they were Deities to them, i. e. Cattle to the Egyptians; ſee Exod. viii. 26. however the forementioned kind of Concluſion, too much uſed by our Moderns, is very weak and unwarrantable, as well as of dangerous Tendency, in this deiſtical Age eſpecially.

Ver. 2. of the leaſt] The Heb. by no means ſignifying ſome; and the Reading would be then ſo abſurd, as five Men of ſome of his Brethren; and the Suppoſition may not be unjuſt, that it was put ſo, for want of knowing which of them theſe were: ſo the Gen. Verſ. has part, and the Biſhops, of the company, alike ſignificant. Why it was Sol. Jarhi informs us in theſe Words, מן הפחות שבהם לגבורה שאין נראים גבורים שאם יראה אותם גבורים יעשה אותם אנשי מלחמתו of the leaſt that were among them for Manlineſs, who did not ſeem ſtout Men; which if they had done, he would have made them his Soldiers; ſee the like 1 Kings xii. 31. & xiii. 33. which alſo if &c. in Ver. 6. favours. In the Marg. of the Biſh. Bibl. it is of the extreme partes, but put wrong in 1575 to Goſen.

Ver. 4. Famine] by Tynd. and the Biſh. fameſhement.

Ver. 6. Cattle] in another Character and Parentheſis in the Biſh. Bib. ſo incorrectly.

7. Joſeph likewiſe had in Jacob his Father, and cauſed him to ſtand before Pharaoh; whom Jacob bleſſed.

8. And Pharaoh ſaid to him, How much is the Time of thy whole Life?

9. And Jacob anſwered him, The Time of my whole Sojourning is a hundred and thirty Years: ſmall and ill has been the Time of my whole Life, nor has it reached to that of my Fathers, in the Time of their Sojournings.

10. Again bleſſing Pharaoh, he went out from before him.

11. Next Joſeph placed his Father and Brothers, and gave them a Poſſeſſion, in the Beſt of the Country of Egypt, in that of Rameſes; as Pharaoh had commanded.

12. Nay he ſuſtained his Father and Brothers, and all his Father's Family, with Bread after the manner of Children.

13. For there was none in all the Country, becauſe the Famine was very grievous; inſomuch that the Country, both of Egypt and Canaan, was tired out by means of it.

14. And he gathered all the Money which was found in both thoſe Countries, for the Proviſion that they bought, and brought it into Pharaoh's Houſe.

15. At length the Money being conſumed out of the Country of Egypt, as well as that of Canaan, all the Egyptians came to Joſeph, and ſaid, Give us Bread, for why ſhould we die before thee? ſince the Money fails.

16. If it does, ſays he, give your Cattle, and I will ſupply you for them.

17. With that they brought their Cattle to him; who gave them Bread for the Horſes, and for the Cattle both of the Flocks and Herds, as alſo for the Aſſes: ſo he led them on with Bread for all their Cattle, through that Year.

18. When it was ended, they alſo went to him in the ſecond Year, making him this Addreſs; We cannot conceal from our Lord, that not only the Money is ſpent, but he has the Poſſeſſion of the Beaſts: we have Nothing left before our Lord, beſides our Bodies and Land.

19. Why ſhould we die in thy Sight, and that with our Land? buy us and it for Bread: that we may be with it Servants to Pharaoh; and give Seed, that we may live, inſtead of dying, and the Land may not be deſolate.

20. Accordingly Joſeph bought all the Land of Egypt for Pharaoh; for the Egyptians ſold their reſpective Fields, becauſe the Famine was become great upon them: thus the Land became Pharaoh's.

21. As for the People, he made them paſs away to Cities, from one End of the Bounds of Egypt to another.

22. Only the Land of the Princes he did not buy: for they had an Allowance from Pharaoh, and lived upon their Allowance which he gave them; therefore they did not ſell their Land.

23. Afterwards Joſeph ſaid to the People; Behold I have bought you now, and your Land for Pharaoh: here is Seed for you, that you may ſow it.

24. But in the Crop you ſhall give the fifth Part to Pharaoh; and four Parts ſhall be yours, for the Seed of the Field, for your own Food, and your Domeſticks, with that of your Children.

25. And they ſaid, Thou haſt kept us alive; let us be in Favour with our Lord, that we may be Servants to Pharaoh.

26. Then Joſeph made it for a Statute to this Time over the Country of Egypt, that Pharaoh ſhould have the fifth Part; however the Land of the Princes alone did not become his.

27. Thus

27. Thus Iſrael dwelt in the Country of Egypt, namely that of Goſhen: in which they poſſeſſed, were fruitful, and multiplied exceedingly.

28. And Jacob lived there ſeventeen Years: ſo the Time of his whole Life was a hundred and forty ſeven Years.

29. At laſt when the Time of Iſrael drew near for him to die, he called his Son Joſeph, and ſaid to him; If now I am in thy Favour, put thy Hand, I pray, under my Thigh; and dealing kindly and truly with me, do not bury me, I pray, in Egypt.

30. But I will lie with my Fathers, and thou ſhalt carry me out hence, and bury me in their Grave: who ſaid, I will do according to thy Word.

31. However he replied, Swear to me; accordingly he did: at which Iſrael bowed down upon the Head of the Bed.

AND after theſe Things it being related to Joſeph, Behold thy Father is ſick; he took his two Sons with him, Manaſſeh and Ephraim.

2. When it was likewiſe expreſsly told Jacob, that his Son Joſeph was coming to him; he ſtrengthened himſelf, and ſate upon the Bed.

3. And he ſaid to Joſeph; God Almighty appeared to me at Luz in the Country of Canaan, and bleſſed me,

4. Saying to me; Behold I will make thee fruitful, multiply thee, and make thee a Congregation of People; nay will give this Country a laſting Poſſeſſion to thy Offspring after thee.

5. Now therefore thy two Sons, Ephraim and Manaſſeh, who were born to thee in the Country of Egypt, againſt I came hither, ſhall be mine, like Reuben and Simeon.

6. But thy Iſſue that thou begetteſt after them, ſhall be thine; who ſhall be called by their Brothers Names, in their Poſſeſſion.

7. As for me, when I came from Padan, Rachel died by me in the Country of Canaan on the Way; when there was yet about a Mile to come to Ephrath; whom I buried

Ver. 27. Our Tranſlators have put their Mark for a Section, not at the Beginning of a Paraſhah, or the great Heb. Section, but at the Verſe before.

Ver. 30, Grave] See the Word Chap. xxxv. 20. as alſo look the Note on Chap. xxiii. 4.

Ver. 31. Bed] The 72 Greek Tranſlators miſtaking מטה a Bed for מַטֶּה a Staff here (though not at Chap. xlviii. 2.) makes it probable that the Copy tranſlated from had no Points, id eſt Vowels, according alſo to Buxtorf, Vindic. p. 548, 551. That Verſion the Writer to the Hebrews followed, Chap. xi. 21. it being neceſſary that he ſhould keep to what was then the common Bible, when he was writing to the common People, who might know no other. For this Reaſon a double Caution ſhould be uſed, in reading ſuch Citations or References, in the Books of the New Teſtament; not to think they weaken the Credit of the Holy Scripture, nor to endeavour to reconcile a wrong Tranſlation with the true Original, about which many have unſucceſsfully as well as needleſsly taken great Pains: for it is ſufficient, that it was proper for the Apoſtles, &c. to follow the com. Bible of the Septuagint, which may be eaſily proved and believed; ſee Jerome Quæſt. Heb. in Gen. xlvi. 26.

If any would infer from this and ſome other the like Places of the ancient Greek Verſion, that the Hebrew was then all written without Vowels and Accents, the Conſequence of which would be that the Scripture was uncertain; they may be informed that the contrary may rather be proved from it: for if the Vowels had been invented afterwards, without doubt the Inventors of them would have followed the Septuagint (whoſe Tranſlation was moſt ancient and famous, being publickly received and uſed by the Jewiſh Nation) and made the Word here matteh, a Staff, &c. How would they have offered or dared to contradict them, and what all had received for Truth, without any Authority for ſo doing? For if מטה were thus unpointed, it could not be known that it was a Bed; nay on the Suppoſition of the Vowels being added afterwards, we ſhould not know, nor have Reaſon to believe, it was a Bed now, ſince the 70 have Staff; whoſe Authority would be greater than that of we know not whom, the imagined Introducers of the Hebrew Points.

As the numerous Vowels and Accents throughout the Hebrew Bible, would make the penning them exceeding tedious, and a Work of great Care, we may well believe ſuch Copies were very ſcarce; eſpecially if we conſider the unfit State of the Jews for it after the Captivity, and their being accuſtomed to this Day to read without the Points. Thoſe Interpreters being ſeparated one from another, by Ptolemy Philadelphus King of Egypt, each to do a Part; it is not credible (and even by this Place) that they had ſo many pointed Bibles; probably none at all, ſuch being kept, even till of late Printing was found out, for preſervation of the Scripture, rather than common Uſe: and it is not likely the Books of that Sort would be ſent into Egypt, ſince an exact Tranſlation was not intended. If it was likewiſe done in 72 Days, as Ariſtæus relates, without their comparing what they did together; we may the more eaſily account for ſuch Errors, and yet leave Room enough for Bibles with the Accents and Vowels, as now they are, to have a Being: and there are at this time many Books without them, as there were formerly. Of this ſee at large on Neh. viii. 8. That the Text mentioned above in the Epiſtle to the Hebrews, refers to this Place and Time, appears becauſe it has the very Words of the Septuagint here, καὶ προσεκύνησεν ἐπὶ τὸ ἄκρον τῆς ῥάβδου αὐτοῦ; and may be underſtood to tell what Jacob did by Faith at the two Viſits Joſeph made him, related at the End of this, and in the next Chapter; which being ſaid to be done when Jacob was a dying, the latter that was more properly ſo is mentioned firſt, and the Tranſlation might be bleſſed each of the Sons of Joſeph, as well as worſhipped. Were it indeed needful to juſtify the Inſertion of Staff any further, one might ſuppoſe that Verſe in Hebrews ſpeaks only of the ſecond Viſit, and ſo cannot be proved by the moſt tenacious to interfere with this.

Ver. 5. againſt] See the ſame Word, Ch. xliii. 25.

Ver. 6. If Joſeph ſhould have had any more Children, they were not to be included in this Adoption, or become other Tribes, nor was there to be a Tribe of Joſeph diſtinct from thoſe of Manaſſeh and Ephraim; but his Name was to be ſunk in theirs, and if he had more Children, they were to belong to them; and to which of them, I ſuppoſe, was left to Joſeph.

Ver. 7. by me] Tynd. and Biſh. upon my hande, as if the Original was ſo; but is not.

there in the Way to it, which is Bethlehem.

8. Iſrael alſo looking at Joſeph's Sons, aſked, Who are theſe?

9. And he ſaid to his Father, They are my Sons, whom God has given me here: then replied he, Do bring them to me, that I may bleſs them.

10. For his Eyes being heavy by reaſon of old Age, he could not well ſee: accordingly he brought them nigh to him; who kiſſed them, and embraced them.

11. And he ſaid to Joſeph, I did not deem I ſhould ſee thy Face; but behold God has let me ſee alſo thy Offspring.

12. Joſeph then took them out from between his Knees, bowing down with his Face to the Ground.

13. Again he took both of them, Ephraim in his right Hand towards Iſrael's left Hand, with Manaſſeh in his left Hand towards the other's right Hand, and brought nigh to him.

14. However Iſrael ſtretched forth his right Hand, and put upon Ephraim's Head, though he was the Youngeſt, and his left Hand upon Manaſſeh's Head; underſtanding by his Hands that Manaſſeh was the Firſt-born.

15. And he bleſſed Joſeph, and ſaid; God before whom my Fathers Abraham and Iſaac walked continually, God who fed me ever ſince I have been to this Day,

16. The Angel who has redeemed me from all Evil, bleſs the Youths; and let them be called by my Name, and that of Abraham and Iſaac my Fathers: let them alſo increaſe to a Multitude within the Earth.

17. But when Joſeph ſaw that his Father put his right Hand upon Ephraim's Head, he diſliked it; therefore he held up his Father's Hand, to put it away from his Head upon that of Manaſſeh,

18. And ſaid to him, Not ſo, my Father: for this is the Firſt-born; put thy right Hand upon his Head.

19. For all that his Father refuſed, and ſaid, I know my Son, I know it; he alſo will become a People, and he alſo will be great: but certainly his younger Brother will be greater than he, whoſe Offspring will be of the Nations a full one.

20. He further bleſſed them at the ſame Time as follows; Iſrael will bleſs thus by thee, God make thee like Ephraim and Manaſſeh: ſo he put Ephraim before Manaſſeh.

21. Iſrael moreover ſaid to Joſeph; Behold I ſhall die: but God will be with you, and have you back to the Country of your Fathers.

22. And I give thee one Parcel above thy Brothers; which I took out of the Poſſeſſion of the Amorites, with my Sword and Bow.

CHAP. XLIX.

BESIDES Jacob called his Sons, and ſaid: Get together, that I may tell you what will befal you in the latter Days.

2, Be gathered, and hear, O Sons of Jacob; even hearken to Iſrael your Father.

3. Reuben, thou waſt my Firſt-born, my Ability, and the Commencement of my Manhood; the Excellency, the Dignity, and the Supereminence.

Ib. a Mile] Turn back to Chap. xxxv. 16.

Ver. 10. well ſee] not to contradict Ver. 8.

Ver. 12. Knees] Jacob's Knees, where he had embraced them.

Ver. 14. underſtanding by his Hands] or making his Hands find out; becauſe he could not ſee well enough to diſtinguiſh them.

Ib. that] Jun. and Trem. thus render this Phraſe, cognoſcebat palpando manibus ſuis Menaſchen eſſe primogenitum, he knew by the feeling of his Hands that Manaſſeh was the Firſt-born; Pagn. literally, fecit intelligere manus ſuas quod Menaſſeh, he made his Hands underſtand that Manaſſeh.

Ver. 15. bleſſed Joſeph] in his Sons.

Ver. 19. of the Nations a full one] I cannot think my ſelf unhappy in lighting on this Expreſſion, when I might ſuppoſe ſome others alſo have been uneaſy at a multitude of Nations, ſince it is apparent that the Tribe of Ephraim became at moſt but one Nation; and the Heb. Word properly ſignifies Fulneſs, ſcarce Multitude. Gen. full of nations.

Ver. 22. Parcel] The Land which he bought by Shechem, Chap. xxxiii. 18, 19. called afterwards Sychar, John iv. 5. which Joſeph's Poſterity accordingly had, Joſh. xxiv. 32.

Ib. Amorites] As Jacob bought it at firſt, and that of the Hivites, Chap. xxxiii. 19. & xxxiv. 2. this appears not to be what he ſpeaks of, though the Sword and Bow have been weakly interpreted Money, &c. more probably the Amorites ſeized it afterwards, and Jacob took it again from them by force, which makes all agreeable to the Words.

Ver. 1. Get &c.] What ſhall be done with this and other the moſt exalted Strains of that called the holy Tongue, whether poetical or not? To tranſlate them coldly like plain Hiſtory, &c. as has been hitherto done, is to diſgrace and ſpoil them. Such a Verſion, unthinkingly literal, would ſometimes grovel in the very Obſcure, or quite Abſurd. At the ſame time that the Sun ſhines glorioufly bright in Paleſtine, it may yield but a glimmering Twilight here, or not have releaſed us from the opaque Advent of Day. The Hebrew has its Sublimity, ſo has the Engliſh; but they may be little leſs different, than their Regions, in the Eaſt and Weſt, are diſtant. Yet how would my Pen tremble to attempt much! ſo I ſhall but venture to coaſt the Shore, without loſing Sight of Land; being indeed not convinced the former ſhould be done: Revelation is ſacred. If the Original is not too much diſcredited, let that be accepted as ſufficient for the firſt Eſſay.

Ver. 3. the Excellency] The three laſt Terms in my Opinion anſwer to the three firſt, and are added for Il-

4. Yet wavering as Water, expect not to excel, becauſe thou gotteſt up thy Father's Bed; then was thy ſhameful Inceſt! it was he who mounted my Couch.

5. Simeon and Levi are Brothers; whoſe Bargains were with Inſtruments of Violence.

6. Do not enter into their Counſel, my Soul; in their Congregation, my Voice, be not united: for in their Anger they killed the Men, and in their Self-will exterminated the Cattle.

7. Curſed be their Wrath, ſince it was fierce; and their Rage, as being furious: I will divide them in Jacob, and diſperſe them in Iſrael.

8. Thee, Judah, thy Brothers will praiſe; thy Hand will be on the Neck of thy Enemies: thy Father's Sons will bow down to thee.

9. Judah is courageous, with the young Lion; from the Prey, my Son, thou getteſt up; he ſtoops down, lies down like a Lion; nay is like a ſtout Lion, which who ſhall rouſe up?

10. The Scepter will not be gone from Judah, nor a Law-giver of his own Offſpring; till Shiloh comes, and thoſe of the Nations are gathered to him.

Iuſtration in this poetical Speech, as it is Ver. 7. there being the Point Athnah for our Colon or Semicolon put between them; denoting the Birth-right, Prieſthood, and Kingly Authority; all which belonged to the eldeſt Son. So the Targum of Onkelos has the latter Part, לָךְ הָוָה חָזֵי לְמִסַּב תְּלָתָה חוּלָקִין בִּכִירוּתָא כְּהוּנְתָא וּמַלְכוּתָא It was meet for thee to receive three Parts, the Birth-right, the Prieſthood and the Kingdom; to which the Jeruſalem Targum adds, וְעַל דַּחֲטִית רְאוּבֵן בְּרִי אִתְיְהִבַת בְּכוֹרוּתָא לְיוֹסֵף וּמַלְכוּתָא לִיהוּדָה וּכְהוּנְתָא רַבְּתָא לְשִׁבְטָא דְּלֵוִי But for the Sin of my Son Reuben, the Birth-right is given to Joſeph, the Kingdom to Judah, and the high Prieſthood to the Tribe of Levi. Pagnin. in Lex. tranſlates, excellentia, dignitas, & excellentia fortis; and Buxtorf explains both this and the following Word excellentia, citing this Place.

Ib. Super-] For עַז is an Adjective, not a Subſtantive.

Ver. 4. expect not to excel] For he loſt the Birth-right, 1 Chron. v. 1. and as Fuller obſerves, neither King, Judge, (Prieſt he ſhould have omitted) nor Prophet came from him, Piſgah Sight, p. 55.

Ib. mounted my Couch] my Couch ſtanding next to the foregoing Verb in the Original, the Gen. Bib. joins them together, and makes a Subject to this Verb thus, thy dignitie is gone; but the Heb. Accents doubly diſprove it (and were it not for them it might be ſo) Tiſha at the former Verb denoting a Separation from the following, and Merca at Couch a Conjunction with the laſt.

Ver. 5. whoſe Bargains] which they made with the Shechemites, Chap. xxxiv. 5. that they ſhould receive the Inſtruments of Circumciſion, which they turned to Inſtruments of Violence; the Word coming from the Root מכר to ſell or bargain, and may be plural becauſe ſpoken of two Perſons. So Aben Ezra expounds it; and ſays Ainſworth, "Thus alſo the Greek may be underſtood, "haireſis being ſometimes uſed for a conditional Covenant." Jun. and Trem. alſo turn it accordingly by conventionibus.

Ver. 6. Voice] or Tongue, as ſhewn on Pſal. xvi. 9. and not the Soul, to be the ſame as before: which Philip Levi the Jew would have it ſignify, in his Hebr. Gram. printed in Engliſh at Oxford, p. 131. for this he pleads that the Verb agrees with Soul fem. and not with Glory maſc. which is juſt the contrary; nay Soul muſt be maſc. as it ſometimes is in Heb. to agree with its own Verb; unleſs both are of the third Perſon, and that makes a Difference of Gender, ſays Buxtorf.

Ib. be not united] But in the Sept. Verſ. let not my Livers contend, which none I fancy will be fond of preferring to the Heb. and therefore it would be perverſe indeed to pretend it was ſo then; yet how oft has it been done in other Places! On the contrary it is apparent, that they miſtook the Reading of o for e to make Liver, as in the Verb they ſeem to have done ר for ר fetching it from הרה:

Ib. the Men] See Chap. xxxiv. 25. Ainſworth writes on it, "The Singular is often put for many, as the Man "of Iſrael fled, 1 Chron. x. 1. (which I would obſerve "is the ſame Word איש as here) that is the Men of Iſ"rael, 1 Sam. xxxi. 1.

Ib. exterminated &c.] That is took away all the Cattle, Chap. xxxiv. 28.

Ib. Cattle] Heb. Ox, as the principal of the Beaſts for the whole. Shor in the Text is an Ox, not a Wall, that being Shur another Word, which is in Ver. 22. "Nei"ther was there mentioned any pulling down of Walls "in Gen. 34." ſays Ainſworth. Sol. Jar. and the Jer. Targum expound the Ox to be Joſeph from Deut. xxxiii. 17. and the Septuagint have ταῦρον a Bull. Jun. and Trem. render after the manner of this Verſion, occiderunt viros,— avulſerunt boves. The ancient Eng. Bibles read, houghed an oxe, according to the Sept. the French has, des hommes— les bœufs, the Men— the Oxen.

Ver. 8. Thee—praiſe] His Name ſignifying Praiſe.

Ver. 9. courageous] Were I here to ſay Nothing, I might expect to hear, The Hebrew does not ſignify courageous. But how then was he as a Lion, by which it might otherwiſe be rendered? or how was he ſuch, but by, or at leaſt without, being ſo? Who, verſed in that Tongue, knows not, that it elegantly expreſſes Qualities in this Manner?

Ib. with] as in Job iii. 14, 15. & ix. 26.

Ib. ſtoops down] as a Lion gnawing the Prey.

Ib. nay is like] This belonging to that after, not before, contrary to the com. Tranſ. as appears both by the beſt Senſe, and the Heb. Accents.

Ver. 10. Scepter will not be gone] I underſtand Jacob to propheſy of the Government and Magiſtracy in general of the two Tribes (of which Judah was the Chief) from the Time of Rehoboam, to the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, in which Age Chriſt came. The beſt Expoſitor of it, that I have read, is Cunæus in his Commonwealth of the Hebrews, from whom I take the following, Chap. 9. Eng. Tranſ. "I ſuppoſe the Scepter to be nothing elſe but the "Majeſty of Empire — pertaining to the Common"wealth; — of this Scepter, which a long time was "common to all the Tribes, the divine Patriarch ſpoke "not in that celebrious Oracle. He had reſpect unto "the latter Times (according to Ver. 1.) — when the "Tribe of Judah — began to have a Common-wealth of "their own, aſunder from the Iſraelites.— And this Ma"jeſty of the Scepter — continued, — although the State "of the Common-wealth was ſometimes altered.—What "People ſoever enjoys a Common-wealth of their own, "and Laws of their own, that People may juſtly glory "in their Empire, and in their Scepter." And ſo Scultetus, Exercit. Evang. Lib. i. 3.

Ib. of his own Offspring] That the Reader may have the Benefit of underſtanding it, as in Iſai. v. 1. while in the preſ. Eng. the latter from may belong to depart, as well as the former.

Ib. Shilob] The Word is uſually explained his Son, but rather ſignifies the Peace-maker, from ſhalah its Root, to be quiet or peaceable. Onkelos the Chald. Paraphraſt has, till the Meſſiah come, to whom the Kingdom belongs. Vulg. Lat. he who is to be ſent. The Jews object that the Peace ſo much propheſied of to be under the Meſſias, is not found among Chriſtians; from whence they would infer, that ours was not the true Chriſt. But, ſays Barclay, Apol. Prop. 15. "the ancient Fathers of the firſt 300 "Years after Chriſt, did affirm theſe Prophecies to be "fulfilled in the Chriſtians of their Times."

Ib. to him] Till People of many Countries were converted to him, the Heb. Word either for People or Nations, being plural: which makes the Prophecy much clearer, and ſhews that the Scepter as explained above, was not to ceaſe immediately on the Coming of Chriſt; but it was throughly fulfilled by the Deſtruction of the Temple and Jewiſh Common-wealth about 40 Years after Chriſt, when People of divers Nations were gathered to him by the Preaching of the Goſpel: and thus the learned and judicious Mede would have it read. But this was loſt in our Bibles, where the People may rather denote only the Jews.

Ver. 17. inſidious] See at Deut. xxxiii. 22.

Ib. the Serpent] Notwithſtanding this is commonly expounded of Samſon, I do not think it likely the Prophecy of any whole Tribe was fulfilled in a ſingle Perſon, nor does it appear that the Deſcription is ſuitable to him; ſo was rather accompliſhed by what we read Judg. xviii. particularly Ver. 27.

Ver. 19. Gad] ſignifying a Troop, which Jacob alludes to by three Words.

Ib. at laſt] the fulfilling of which ſee 1 Chron. v. 18—22.

Ver. 20. Food] Which I take to be more proper for fat than Bread, ſince the Word has that general Signification.

Ver. 21. let go] Biſh. ſent for a preſente.

Ver. 22. I cannot agree with what is propoſed in Univerſal Hiſt. B. i. Ch. 7. if it has by far the moſt Votes, as there ſaid, that it ſhould be, Joſeph is a Son of Beauty, the Daughters ran upon the Walls to ſee him; becauſe it was at a Fountain, and for the Oddneſs of the latter Part, beſides porath not being Beauty.

Ib. Foliage] Heb. Daughters, viz. of the Bough; as before Son for Bough, viz. of the Vine.

Ib. expands] Gen. turne, if not a Miſtake for runne.

Ver. 23. ſhot at him ſharply] Heb. made him bitter and ſhot, a Manner of Expreſſion for want of Adverbs: ſo Pſal. li. 4. multiply waſh me, for waſh me much or throughly; and elſewhere.

Ib. of their Hatred] The Biſh. add to this without Diſtinction, unto his hinderaunce.

Ver. 24. the Arms of his Hands were nervous] Whereas it is in the com. Lat. the Bonds of his Arms and Hands were looſened, as if the Letter zain gave the Verb the like Meaning as zade would, being alike in Sound; and in the Greek more ſtrangely under the ſame Miſtake, the Sinews of the Arms of their Hands were looſened, as the foregoing Part there is, their Bows were broken with Strength.

Ib. Arms of] which ſupported his Hands, particularly to draw the Bow; but the Geneviſts, as if wiſer than Jacob, change it into the hands of his armes.

Ib. from whence] It being from Divine Providence that Joſeph was their Feeder and Supporter, and therein a lively Type of Chriſt.

Ib. this Rock of Iſrael] In the Place of which, as explanatory of it, the Targum has, This was from the mighty God of Jacob, who by his Word fed the Fathers and Children, the Poſterity of Iſrael; but in the Jewiſh Cabbaliſtical manner, taking אבן Stone for אב בן Father and Son, which licentious Fancies their Rabbies are fond of.

28. All theſe are the twelve Tribes of Iſrael; and this is what their Father ſpoke to them, when he bleſſed them, which he did according to their ſeveral Bleſſings.

29. He alſo commanded them, in the following manner; I ſhall be gathered to my People; bury me with my Fathers, at the Cave which is in the Field of Ephron the Hittite,

30. Namely the Field of Machpelah, that is before Mamre, in the Country of Canaan; which Abraham purchaſed with the Field, of Ephron the Hittite, for a Poſſeſſion of a Grave.

31. There they buried Abraham and Sarah his Wife, there they buried Iſaac and Rebekah his Wife, and there I buried Leah.

32. The Purchaſe of the Field, and Cave which is in it, was from the Sons of Heth.

33. And when Jacob had done commanding his Sons, he pulled up his Feet into the Bed; and expiring, was gathered to his People.

THEN Joſeph falling upon his Father's Face, wept upon him, and kiſſed him.

2. Afterwards he commanded his Servants the Phyſicians to embalm him; which accordingly they did.

3. For whom forty Days were fulfilled; becauſe there are ſo many for ſuch as are embalmed: and the Egyptians mourned for him ſeventy Days.

4. And when the Time of that Mourning was over, Joſeph ſpoke to Pharaoh's Family as follows; If now I am in your Favour, ſpeak thus, I pray, in the Hearing of Pharaoh;

5. My Father made me ſwear, ſaying, Behold I ſhall die; in the Grave which I dug for my ſelf in the Country of Canaan, there ſhalt thou bury me: now therefore let me go up, I pray; and having buried my Father, I will return.

6. To which Pharaoh ſaid, Go up, and bury thy Father, as he made thee ſwear.

7. So Joſeph went up to do it, and with him all Pharaoh's Servants, the Elders of his Houſe, and all thoſe of the Country of Egypt;

8. As likewiſe the whole Family of Joſeph, with his Brothers, and his Father's Family: only their Children, Flocks and Herds, they left in the Country of Goſhen.

9. There alſo went up with him both Chariots and Horſemen; ſo that it was a very huge Company.

poral, Chap xxvii. 28, 29. ſee likewiſe Chap. xxiv. 60. taavah is in ſeveral other Places uſed for Deſire, but never in the Senſe our Tranſlators have put on it. The Chald. Paraphraſt takes it in this Meaning, explaining it by רחמר to deſire: the Vulg. Lat. Tranſ. and Pagnin. have it deſiderium, deſire, as it is in former Engliſh Tranſlations; the Septuagint have turned it, εὐλογίαις, bleſſings; Caſt. voluptatem, delight.

Ver. 27. that tears] this belonging to the Wolf, as that biteth to the Adder, Ver. 17. ſo likewiſe the following Verbs here, and not to Benjamin. The Likeneſs of it in that Tribe may be ſeen Judg. xx. Biſh. ſhall raviſh.

Ib. Morning eats] being ſo voracious as to leave none of what he had caught in the Night; and then hungry and ravenous, in getting more as ſoon as the next Evening (which it is in Heb. and correſponds with Morning) comes.

Ver. 28. Tribes] They being propheſied of, rather than Jacob's Sons in their own Perſons.

Ib. ſeveral] The Heb. idiomatical Expreſſion, whom he bleſſed a Man according to his Bleſſing, may be properly thus rendered: and as it is not כל every one, ſo certainly neither were all of them here bleſſed; notwithſtanding what Commentators pretend, that Jacob bleſſed every one of his Sons (to juſtify ſuch Tranſlation) by giving them a Part in the Country of Canaan: whereas we find him doing no ſuch Thing to any of them, after he had beſtowed what was his to give, Chap. xlviii. 22. the Gift of Canaan being rightly elſewhere aſcribed to God himſelf.

Ver. 32. from the Sons of Heth] from them as well as Ephron, to make it ſure, according to Chap. xxiii. 20. & xxv. 10. which Jacob might mention to his Sons, that they might not fear any Moleſtation from the Inhabitants. This Verſe is left out of the Vulg. Lat.

Ver. 33. gathered] by Tynd. put.

Ver. 10. the Bramble-floor] Jun. and Trem. tranſlate, aream quandam ſeptam cynoſbatis, a certain Floor fenced with Sweet-briers. Ainſworth writes; "It ſeemeth this "floore was beſet with Brambles (for atad is a bramble) "and thereof had the Name." John Mercer alſo on Pagnin. has the following Words, Sunt qui atad viri nomen exiſtiment, qui à ſua area nobilitatus fuerit. Sed probabilius videtur a rhamnis, quibus eſſet circumſepta, ſic appellatam fuiſſe: atque hanc interpretationem confirmare videtur emphaſis quæ nominibus propriis, maxime virorum, adſcribi non ſolet. i. e. Some think atad to be the Name of a Man (as it ſhould ſeem our Tranſlators did) who was famous for his Floor. But it ſeems more likely that it was thus called from the Brambles it was fenced round with: and the Emphaſis (namely the Letter ה before atad) ſeems to confirm this Interpretation, which is not uſed to be affixed to proper Names of Men. Some Vulg. Lat. Editions have Arad, by Miſtake of t for r.

Ib. on this ſide] So the Word ſignifies, Deut. i. 1, 5. & iii. 8. & iv. 41, 46, 47. Joſh. i. 14, 15. & v. 1. & ix. 1. & xii. 7. as cis is the firſt which Buxtorf in Lexic. explains, and what L. Jud. here renders it by. It is plain that their Journey from Egypt was towards Jordan, but the whole not ſo far as thither. And even if it had reſpect to Moſes's writing it, that was probably on the ſame ſide of the River, being either while he was in Midian, according to Pererius, &c. or in the Wilderneſs, before the Extremity of his Life when he was on the other ſide, as by Theodoret, Queſt. 1. in Geneſ. and others.

lamented there with a great and very grievous Lamentation; nay he made a Mourning for his Father ſeven Days.

11. Which the Inhabitants of the Country, the Canaanites, ſeeing there, ſaid, This is a grievous Mourning to the Egyptians: therefore the Name of it was called The Mourning of the Egyptians, which is on this ſide Jordan.

12. Moreover his Sons did to him according as he commanded them:

13. For they carried him to the Country of Canaan, and buried him in the Cave of the Field of Machpelah; which Abraham purchaſed with the Field, for a Poſſeſſion of a Grave, of Ephron the Hittite, before Mamre.

14. Joſeph and his Brothers then returned to Egypt, as likewiſe all who went up with him to bury his Father, after he had buried him.

15. And when Joſeph's Brothers ſaw that their Father was dead, they ſaid, It may be Joſeph will hate us, and throughly render to us all the Hurt which we did him.

16. Therefore they ordered him to be told; Thy Father commanded before he died as follows;

17. You ſhall ſay thus to Joſeph, Forgive, I pray now, the Crime of thy Brothers and their Sin, though they did thee Hurt; ſo now forgive, we pray, the Crime of the Servants of thy Father's God: and Joſeph wept when they ſpoke to him.

18. Next his Brothers alſo went, and falling down before him, ſaid, Behold we are Servants to thee.

19. But Joſeph anſwered them; Do not fear: for am I in the room of God?

20. Though you intended Harm againſt me, God intended it for Good, that he might do as it is this Day, to keep many People alive.

21. Now therefore fear not; I will ſuſtain you and your Children. So he comforted them, and ſpoke kindly to them.

22. And Joſeph, with his Father's Family, abode in Egypt; he living a hundred and ten Years.

23. So that he ſaw great Grandchildren of Ephraim; as alſo Children born of Machir the Son of Manaſſeh, were upon his Knees.

24. At laſt he ſaid to his Brothers, I ſhall die: and God will throughly viſit you, and have you up out of this Country, to that which he ſware of to Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob.

25. Beſides he made the Sons of Iſrael ſwear as follows, When God viſits you throughly, you ſhall have up my Bones from hence.

26. Thus Joſeph died in his hundred and tenth Year; whom they embalmed, and he was put into a Cheſt in Egypt.

Ver. 16. commanded] This ſeems to be feigned: for Jacob, whom I look on as a wiſe Man, would more likely methinks have ſaid it to Joſeph himſelf, had he ſuſpected any Occaſion for it, as it is manifeſt there was not; and Joſeph ſaying Nothing of performing what his Father ordered, nor mentioning him, may ſhew that he likewiſe took it for fictitious.

Ver. 19. am I in the room of God?] The learned Mercer in his Commentary here writes, nonnullis ex Hebræis ita exponere verba, ut הַתַּחַת ſumant pro הֲלֹא תַחַת (or rather הֲ negatively) ut ſit aſſeverantis, An non ſub Deo ſum ego? Some of the Jews expound the Words to have it, Am not I under God? as the Gen. render, and which the Chald. may ſeem to be a Paraphraſe on, דְּחִלְנָא דַיְיָ אֲנָא I fear the Lord: but this is leaving the Original, though ſo little as only taking הֲ not affirmatively, as is commonly to be done, beſides putting Lord for God. I have ſince found him ſtiled Father Simon making the like Remark, Critical Hiſtory of the Old Teſt. B. i. Ch. 12.

Ver. 22. a hundred and ten Years] Not living out the laſt of them, according to Ver. 26. of which ſee Chap. v. 32. Like Inſtances may be ſeen plentifully concerning the Kings of Iſrael and Judah; the Table of whom look, with the Obſervations on it.

Ver. 24. throughly] Jun. and Trem. omnino, as in Exod. iii. 16. which ſee.

Ib. have you up] If bring was proper, it ſhould have been bring up.

Ver. 25. When] So the old Eng. Caſt. and Vatab. ſee Chap. i. 1. and the fulfilling of it, Exod. xiii. 19.

Ver. 26. into a Cheſt] That his Bones might be preſerved, according to our old Tranſlations; not in a coffin, to be buried. Perry ſays, the Mummy-cheſts were made of Sycamore, called Pharaoh's Fig-tree, View of the Levant, p. 478.

NOTES upon the BOOK called EXODUS.

CHAP. I.

AND theſe are the Names of the Sons of Iſrael, who went to Egypt, along with Jacob, each having a Family.

2. Reuben, Simeon, Levi and Judah,

3. Iſſachar, Zebulun and Benjamin,

4. Dan and Naphtali, Gad and Aſher.

5. Now all the Perſons that proceeded from Jacob himſelf were ſeventy, including Joſeph who was in Egypt.

6. At length he died, and all his Brothers, with that whole Generation.

7. However the Iſraelites were fruitful, increaſed much, multiplied, and became ſtrong, ſo inexpreſſibly, that the Country was filled with them.

8. Then a new King roſe up over Egypt, who did not know Joſeph.

9. And he ſaid to his People; Behold the Iſraelite Folk are more, and ſtronger than we.

10. Come, let us behave our ſelves wiſely towards them; leſt they ſhould multiply, and when there ſhall happen to be War, they alſo ſhould be added to our Adverſaries; and fighting againſt us, go up out of the Country.

11. Whereupon they ſet over them Bailiffs for Taſks, in order to afflict them with their Burdens. And they built Cities of Stores for Pharaoh, Pithom and Raamſes.

Ver. 1. And] It is probable the Pentateuch, ſignifying from the Greek theſe five Books of Moſes, was at firſt one entire Writing, by the Conjunction And being placed between moſt of them; and that it was firſt divided into Books, as it now is, by the Greek Tranſlators, as appears from the Titles prefixed; whoſe Tranſlation being very early received and uſed by the Jews, might occaſion their parting the Hebrew Code conformably to it. Beſides the Books in the Original now have no other Titles than the Parſhioth or Leſſons have, viz. the Beginning of each, a farther Reaſon to believe they were not ſeparated by the firſt Penman.

Ver. 5. himſelf] Biſh. Tranſ. 1575 line for loins.

Ib. ſeventy] by an even capital Number, Jacob himſelf being one of them, Gen. xlvi. 27.

Ver. 7. were fruitful] Gen. brought forth fruit.

Ib. inexpreſſibly] with great Propriety of the Eng. from the Heb. and it appears, by being put after them, to belong to all the four Verbs, as alſo that Adverb in Ver. 20. to both thoſe there, like the ſame in Gen. xlvii. 27.

Ib. Country was filled] according to Aben Ezra, that of Goſhen.

Ver. 8. new King] That this was Salatis, the firſt Shepherd-king, as Marſham and Shuckford compute, is confuted by the following Words of our great Newton, "This King of Egypt was not one of the Shepherds, for "he is called Pharaoh, Exod. i. 11, 22. and Moſes told "his Succeſſor, that if the People of Iſrael ſhould ſacri-"fice in the Land of Egypt, they ſhould ſacrifice the Abo-"mination of the Egyptians before their Eyes, and the "Egyptians would ſtone them, Exod. viii. 26. that is, "they ſhould ſacrifice Sheep or Oxen, contrary to the "Religion of Egypt. The Shepherds therefore did not "reign over Egypt while Iſrael was there," Chron. of Ant. Kingd. amend. Ch. 2. See the Chron. Tab. in this Book, by which this King was Rameſſes Miamun; and as killing the Children appears to have begun between the Birth of Aaron and Moſes, ſince the former lived, and without any Account of his being in Danger, and the latter was born at the Time or Beginning of this Perſecution, Acts vii. 20. accordingly this would fall out a little after the Beginning of that King's Reign; yet not ſo ſoon in it, but that he might uſe the leſſer Oppreſſion before, Ver. 11.

Ib. not know Joſeph] who had been dead 81 Years by my Tables, when this King began his Reign.

Ver. 10. Come] Heb. give or yield, i. e. Conſent; as they did, Ver. 11.

Ib. let us behave our ſelves wiſely towards them] נבקש דרך חכמה שלא ירבה Ab. Ez. i. e. Let us find out ſome wiſe Method, that they may not multiply: Tynd. playe wyſely, Gen. deale wittily. Behold in Pharaoh the glaring Pattern of perſecuting Princes or Magiſtrates; firſt to make cruel and oppreſſive Laws, for Penalty and Puniſhment, next rigorouſly and violently to exceed the Bounds of thoſe Laws in the Execution, and make new ones worſe than the former, as Ver. 13, 14. and laſtly to put to death: and what for? No Crime committed either of Immorality or Rebellion, but leſt that other Sort of People whom they diſlike ſhould be too many, and what elſe they pleaſe to ſurmiſe. The Reaſon of this Egyptian King's thus afflicting the Iſraelites, to anſwer his Deſign of their not increaſing was, according to the foremen-tioned Jewiſh Rabbi in his Commentaries, that he might make them leſs capable of begetting Children. But &c. Ver. 12. as Perſecutors find it.

Ib. our ſelves] The Verb being in the Conjug. Hith-pahel.

Ver. 11. their Burdens] thoſe of the Tribute-collectors, which they impoſed on the Iſraelites, who as a People are in the Heb. ſpoken of from the 9th Verſe in the ſingular Number.

Ib. built] Joſephus ſays the Iſraelites laboured in building the Pyramids, Antiq. Lib. ii. 5. of whoſe Founders the heathen Writers ſpeak variouſly; the moſt noted of which are three, mentioned by Pliny thus, Pyramides tres, quæ orbem terrarum implevere famâ, ſitæ ſunt in parte Africæ, monte ſaxeo ſterilique, inter Memphim oppidum & Delta: the three Pyramids, whoſe Renown fills the World, ſtand on a barren ſtoney Mountain in Africa, between the Town of Memphis and Delta, Lib. xxxvi. 12. Dr. Charles Perry, who lately viſited them, relates in his View of the Levant, p. 313, &c. a folio Book printed 1743, that they are ſituate about ſix Miles weſtward from the River Nile, and about twelve S. W. from Cairo, by a Village called Gheiſa, and that which is ſtiled the great Pyramid does not terminate in a Point like the others, but has a plain Space at Top of 15 Feet ſquare; or as Greaves ſays in his Pyramidographia,, of 13¾ Feet, who alſo ſays the Baſe or Bottom is 693 Feet ſquare; but Perry meaſured the ſouth Side 789 ¼ Feet, and the weſt Side 780, however allows the Diſparity of the two Sides might ariſe in his meaſuring them. They both repreſent the Sides of the Pyramid, if continued up, to be equilateral Triangles. The perpendicular Height being by Greaves 490 Feet, Perry ſays it ſhould be 607 Feet 5

12. But according as they afflicted them, ſo they multiplied, and ſo they broke forth; inſomuch that they were tired by reaſon of the Iſraelites.

13. With this the Egyptians made them ſerve rigorouſly.

14. They even made their Lives bitter by hard Slavery, with Clay, Bricks, and all Drudgery in the Field: all their Service which they did for them being with Rigour.

15. Beſides the King of Egypt ſpoke to the Midwives of the Hebrews, of whom one's Name was Shiphrah, and that of the other Puah,

16. As follows, When you deliver the Hebrew Women, and ſee them upon the Stool; if it be a Son, you ſhall kill him, but if it is a Daughter, ſhe ſhall live.

17. Nevertheleſs the Midwives fearing God, did not do as he ordered them, but kept the Boys alive.

18. Upon which he called them, and ſaid to them, Why have you done this Thing, keeping the Boys alive?

19. And they anſwered Pharaoh, Becauſe the Hebrews are not like the Egyptian Women: for they are ſo lively, that they are delivered before the Midwife comes to them.

20. Therefore God did well to the Midwives, and the People multiplied, and became ſtrong exceedingly.

21. Thus he made Families for them, becauſe the Midwives feared God.

22. Afterwards Pharaoh thus commanded all his People, Every new-born Son you

Inches, according to Greaves's own Eſtimate of its Baſe, deducting 13 Feet it wants of being finiſhed at Top; and computes the perpendicular Height himſelf, with the ſame Deduction, 687 Feet, p. 316, 317. and in the Cut of it 690 Feet. Whereas it is demonſtrable by the Ratios of Triangles, whence I have calculated it, that the inclining Height of a Side from the middle of the Baſe which Greaves exhibits, to the Point of the Triangle at the Top, would be 600 Feet and 15 decimal Parts (which probably Perry miſtook for the perpendicular Height, as well as miſcomputed it) and the true perpendicular Height from the Center of the Pyramid 490 Feet, as Greaves has it, who alſo meaſured it with a 10 Feet Radius, ſo that the real Top is about 29 Poles high. Nay the inclined Height, as Perry reckons from 780 Feet the Baſe, would be but 675 ½, and the perpendicular Altitude 551 ½, which is 135 ½ leſs than he counts. According to Greaves, whoſe Baſe is 42 Poles, this Pyramid ſtands on 11 Acres and 4 Perches of Ground, and is placed, he ſays, on a Mountain above a hundred Feet high from the Plain. Another of thoſe three, ſcarce diſtant the Flight of an Arrow from this, both by Greaves's and Perry's Relations, is altogether as large and high, conſidering it is pointed. Concerning the third, Greaves induſtriouſly remarks the Negligence of other Writers, while himſelf gives us no Dimenſion of his own, nor went near another large one. The firſt through a narrow winding Paſſage, that begins 38 Feet up in the middle of the north Side, has a fine Room, ſuppoſed in the Center of it, and therein a hollow Monument, of a Shape and Size to contain a dead Body, which manifeſtly ſhews the Deſign of it; and yet (ſuch is the Vanity of worldly Grandeur!) Diodorus ſays, the King who built it for his Sepulchre was not buried there, nor he who built the ſecond in that; nay and that both of them when dying, ordered their Bodies to be buried privately, leſt their Subjects, as they threatened, ſhould tear them in pieces, B. I. Ch. v. as if their Ambition ſhould have the moſt ſenſible Mortification. There appear to be about 20 Pyramids in all; and Perry wiſely obſerves that the Duration of the Buildings in Egypt, is owing to the little Rain which is there.

Ib. Stores] In which Manner our Tranſlators have rendered this Word in the other Places, viz. 1 King. ix. 19. 2 Chron. viii. 4. & xvi. 4. & xvii. 12. & xxxii. 28. which laſt explains it.

Ib. Raamſes] ſo called as it ſeems from Rameſſes, the Name of the King of Egypt then.

Ver. 12. were tired by reaſon of] Biſh. abhorred at the ſighte of.

Ver. 14. with Clay] In digging and preparing it to make Bricks, which ſeems to be the principal Work now provided for them, Chap. v. and which the Egyptians thought worſe than Building, Ver. 11. The old Eng. Bibles, Jun. and Trem. the Vulg. Lat. Tranſ. Pagn. and the Tigur. Verſ. with the Septuag. and Targ. have it Clay, it being not uſual to make Mortar in the Field, but at the Building.

Ib. Field] Perhaps that being abroad, they might be more ſeparated from their Wives.

Ib. did] Heb. ſerved. But it is in the ſimple Conjugation Kal, not in Hiphil as Ver. 13. made ſerve.

Ib. for them] The ſame Conſtruction with ב as that in Gen. xxix. 20, &c. ſerved for Rachel. Munſt. Pagnin. and Montan. literal Tranſlators, apply the Verb to the Iſraelites, not to the Egyptians, in this Sort, omnis ſervitus illorum quam illis ſerviebant, all their Service which they performed for them; cum omni opere in quibus operati ſunt, with all their Work in which they wrought; cum omni opere eorum quibus operati ſunt in eis, with every Work of theirs wherein they wrought.

Ver. 15. the Midwives of the Hebrews] In Heb. thoſe who delivered the Hebrews. It is uncertain whether they were Hebrews or Egyptians, but not improbable that they might be appointed by Pharaoh from among the latter, like thoſe ſpoken of in Ver. 11. to execute his intended Purpoſe. Ab. Ez. writes שרות היו על כל המילדות theſe were Chief over all the Midwives.

Ver. 19. they anſwered Pharaoh] K. James I. in the famous Conference at Hampton-Court, charging ſome Marginal Notes to the Geneva Tranſlation with being very partial, untrue, ſeditious, and ſavouring too much of dangerous Conceits, inſtanced that the following here alloweth Diſobedience to Kings, viz. Their Diſobedience herein was lawfull; according to which they ought to have killed the Children, and the Midwives in doing what was unlawful feared God, Ver. 21. and his other Inſtance is of 2 Chron. xv. 16. that Maachah ought to have died, which is blaming a King.

Ib. lively] It is the plural of the laſt Word in Ver. 16.

Ver. 20. multiplied] Thus God did well to the Midwives by the People's being fruitful, which was their Advantage, and to the People by the Midwives being virtuous; ſo making them inſtrumental for the Good of each other.

Ver. 21. for them] For the Iſraelites, them being maſculine in Heb. and Midwives feminine. Trem. and Jun. render, natis illis, for thoſe who were born. Caſtalio has turned the Verſe thus, atque ita fiebat, ut eis Deus per illam obſtetricum pietatem familias pararet: i. e. and ſo it came to paſs, that God prepared Families for them by that Piety of the Midwives. Thus the Marg. of the Gen. Verſ. explains it, That is, God increaſed the Families of the Iſraelites by their meanes.

Ib. feared God] and not the King, Heb. xi. 23.

Ver. 22. new-born] It is, writes Ab. Ezr. a Noun Toar, or a verbal Noun; and propriè recens natus, as Mercer on Pagn. properly new-born; ſo Buxtorf alſo gives it. Which further appears by Aaron's not being killed, ſhall throw into the River, but keep every Daughter alive.

CHAP. II.

NOW there was a Man of the Family of Levi went, and took his Daughter.

2. The Woman alſo conceived, and bore a Son; and ſeeing that he was a lovely Boy, ſhe hid him three Months.

3. But as ſhe could hide him no longer, ſhe took an Ark of Ruſhes for him, plaiſtering it with Mortar and Pitch; which with the Child put in it, ſhe ſet among the Flags upon the Bank of the River.

4. And his Siſter ſtood far off, to know what would be done to him.

5. At length Pharaoh's Daughter went down to waſh at the River, with her Maids walking at the Side of it; when ſhe ſaw the Ark within the Flags, and ſent her Handmaid, who fetched it.

6. Which opening, ſhe ſaw the Child, and behold the Boy cried; on whom ſhe had compaſſion, and ſaid, This is one of the Hebrews Children.

7. And his Siſter ſaid to her, Shall I go, and call to thee a Woman of the Hebrews who gives ſuck, that ſhe may ſuckle the Child for thee?

8. Go, ſaid ſhe; upon which the Maid goes, and calls the Child's Mother.

9. And to her Pharaoh's Daughter ſays, Take away this Child, and ſuckle him for me, and I will pay thee. So the Woman took the Child, and nurſed him at the Breaſt.

10. Who grew up, and ſhe had him to Pharaoh's Daughter, and he was to her for a Son; whom ſhe named Moſes, Becauſe, ſaid ſhe, I drew him from the Water.

11. Afterwards in thoſe Days, when Moſes was grown up, he went out to his Brethren, and looking on their Burdens, ſaw an Egyptian Man ſmiting one of them, a Hebrew.

12. Upon this he looked one way and another, and ſeeing that there was Nobody, he ſmote the Egyptian, and hid him in the Sand.

13. Again going forth the ſecond Day, behold there were two Hebrew Men contending; when he ſaid to him who was in fault, Why doſt thou ſmite thy Companion?

14. But he replied, Who made thee a chief Man and a Judge over us? Doſt thou intend to kill me, as thou didſt the Egyptian? Afraid at this, Moſes ſaid, Surely the Matter is known.

15. Pharaoh alſo upon hearing this Thing, endeavoured to kill him; from whoſe Preſence therefore Moſes fled, that he might dwell in the Country of Midian, where he ſate down at a Well.

16. And there was a Prince of Midian had who was born three Years before Moſes. The Iſraelites knowing the Promiſe of Deliverance at four hundred Years End, Gen. xv. 13. might likewiſe know, or think from the Reſemblance of the Numbers, that their Deliverer was then to be fourſcore Years old; which Pharaoh might hear of, as Herod did concerning Chriſt, and ſo give Order for all the new-born Male-children to be deſtroyed; ſee Matt. ii. 16. The Word is uſed 2 Sam. xii. 14.

Ver. 1. his Daughter] Jochebed was Levi's own Daughter, Chap. vi. 20, 18. Num. xxvi. 59. Lev. x. 4. but would not therefore be her Huſband's own Siſter, as Poole repreſents it in his Annot. here.

Ver. 2. lovely] The Hebrew Word is good; while goodly is obſolete, and fine ſeems too much the Term of a Nurſe.

Ver. 3. Mortar] The Heb. Word is thus rendered in this Tranſlation, Gen. xi. 3. of which ſee the Note there.

Ver. 4. his Siſter] Miriam, as it is likely.

Ib. done to him] By this it ſeems as if they knew of the King's Daughter's coming thither to waſh.

Ver. 5. Pharaoh's Daughter] whom Joſephus and others call Thermuthis.

Ib. her Maids walking] which might be to watch that none ſaw her.

Ver. 6. Boy] Being the ſame Word, differing only in Gender and Number, with Maids in the preceding Ver. rendered by the Latin Interpreters puer.

Ver. 7. who gives ſuck] As if ſhe had ſaid, I know ſuch a one, ſhall I call her to thee? For if ſuch a Woman was to be ſought out, the Princeſs would rather, one may think, have ſent among the Egyptians. The Verb is יָנַק to ſuck.

Ver. 7, 8. Barton in Catalogue of Vertuous Women,

Witty Miriam calls her Mother
To be Nurſe unto her Brother:
So the Serpent and the Dove Met alike in Miriam's Love.

Ver. 10. for a Son] ל for is in the Original; for he could not be really her Son, but was, as Buxtorf ſays, loco filii, in place of a Son; ſee it Acts vii. 21.

Ib. Moſes] Drawing, the preſent Participle from the Verb maſhah here uſed; not drawn out, as commonly expounded, which would be maſhui: according to her own Words, ſhe named him from what ſhe did, not from what was done to him. Clem. Alexandrinus, Strom. p. 343. ſays his Name was Joakim before.

Ib. from] not out of; ſee Ver. 3.

Ver. 11. ſmiting] This might be ſlaying, as in the next Verſe it is to be underſtood, the Verb being the ſame, which would fully juſtify Moſes in what he did. It ſeems however as if the Iſraelite was much hurt, ſince there is no Mention of his helping Moſes.

Ver. 12. ſmote] So in Acts vii. 24. and commonly here in other Tranſlations, it being the proper Meaning of the Word.

Ver. 14. In this Verſe is an Inſtance, beſides many others which might be produced, that the Vulgar Latin Verſion was partly made from the Greek of the Seventy, by their both having wilt thou kill, and yeſterday, which the Hebrew has not. So Stephen ſpoke from the Tranſlation of the Septuagint, Acts vii. 28.

Ver. 15. that he might dwell] For he did not dwell there, before he ſate down at the Well. Thus the beſt Tranſlators Jun. and Trem. turn it, ut habitaret. The like is in the preſent Bible, Ver. 20. that he may eat; ſee alſo Ruth i. 6.

Ver. 16. Prince] The Annotation on this Word in Gen. xli. 45. with a ſmall Alteration will ſerve here, which I leave the intelligent Reader to make for himſelf. Only adding that Bp. Patrick ſays in his Commentary, It may be ſeven Daughters; who came, that they might draw, and fill the Troughs, to water their Father's Sheep.

17. But the Shepherds came, and drove them away; however Moſes getting up, ſaved them, and watered their Sheep.

18. So when they came to their Father Reuel, he aſked, Why have you made ſuch haſte in coming to Day?

19. An Egyptian Man, anſwered they, delivered us from the Power of the Shepherds, and both drew plentifully for us, and watered the Flock.

20. Hereupon he ſaid to his Daughters, But where is he? Why did you leave the Man? Call him, that he may eat ſome Victuals.

21. And Moſes was willing to dwell with the Man; who gave him his Daughter Zipporah.

22. Beſides ſhe bore a Son, whom he named Gerſhom: for ſaid he, I have been a Stranger in a foreign Country.

23. And in a great while, when the King of Egypt was dead, and the Iſraelites ſighed, and cried, by reaſon of the Slavery; their Cry becauſe of it, went up to God.

24. Who heard their Groaning, and he remembred his Covenant with Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob.

25. Moreover God beheld the Iſraelites, and he knew them.

CHAP. III.

FOR as Moſes was feeding the Flock of Jethro his Father-in-law, a Prince of Midian, having had them along behind the Wilderneſs, and was come to Horeb the Mountain of God;

2. The Angel of the Lord appeared to him in the middle of a Fire, from within a Buſh: for he ſaw plainly that the Buſh, burning as it was with fire, was not conſumed.

3. Upon which he ſaid, I will now turn aſide, that I may ſee this great Sight, why the Buſh is not burnt.

4. And when the Lord ſaw that he did, God called to him thus from within it, Moſes, Moſes; who anſwered, Here am I.

5. Come not near hither, replied he, put off thy Shoes from thy Feet; for the Place on which thou ſtandeſt is holy Ground.

6. Beſides he ſaid, I am the God of thy Father, the God of Abraham, the God of Iſaac, and the God of Jacob. With that Moſes hid his Face, for he was afraid of looking at God.

moſt truly rendred a Prince; and that many antient and later Verſions have it ſo, on Chap. xviii. 1. what he ſays for it I omit: and Sir Iſaac Newton calls him the Prince of Midian, Chronology of Antient Kingdoms amended, Ch. 2.

Ib. that they might draw] It does not appear that they did draw, becauſe the Shepherds hindered them, and Moſes drew for them, Ver. 19. Therefore the Tigurin Bible has it, quæ venerunt hauſtum, ut implerent canales, adaquarentque: who came to draw, that they might fill the Gutters, and water.

Ib. Father's Sheep] It being cuſtomary even to this Day, as Dr. Shaw obſerves in his late Travels in thoſe Parts, for the Children of the greateſt Princes to attend the Flocks.

Ver. 17. their] maſc. in the Heb. which might be by comprehending the Father, whoſe the Sheep moſt properly were, as in the preceding Verſe. Other Interpretations ſeem invalid.

Ver. 18. their Father Reuel] not their immediate Father, but their Grandfather, as the Heb. Word may ſignify both, and indeed Grandfather is a Father: thus Jacob uſes it Gen. xxxii. 9. and Laban is called the Son of Nahor, Gen. xxix. 5. being his Grandſon; ſee of this further on Numb. x. 29.

Ver. 22. Gerſhom] made up of ger, a Stranger, and ſhom, the Contraction of ſhomem, deſolate. The Vulg. Lat. and ſome Copies of the Septuag. add in a Verſe after this from Chap. xviii. 4. with a ſmall Alteration.

Ib. for] See Chap. xviii. 3.

Ver. 23. a great while] as the Heb. denotes, and being nearly both the Egyptian Kings Reigns of 85 Years.

Ib. went up to God] That is was regarded by him.

Ver. 25. knew] to wit in a peculiar Manner, as the Poſterity of Abraham, &c. The Bibles according to Pope Sixtus, and the Lovain ones (though the curious Tho. James in Bellum Papale has miſtaken in the latter) have delivered.

Ver. 1. was] which היה is at firſt.

Ver. 2. Angel—appeared] The Angels are with God, who is not to be ſeen himſelf; as I rather underſtand it, than that the Angel and God were both one.

Ib. the middle] Here was this to conſider whether לַבַּת would rather be regularly לַהֲבַת or לַהֶבֶת flame, or elſe לִבַּת heart. In the latter is only one Point or Vowel Difference, which is frequent in Heb. but either of the other has a Letter and Vowel more, beſides ב not dageſhated with a Point in the middle, which alters them another Letter. But if לַבַּת being here in the conſtructed Form, is made from a Noun לַבָּה and not לִבָּה as Pagn. informs us in Theſaur. then it is Heart without the leaſt Anomaly; which he expounds in the middle of the Fire, according to David Kimhi, and others. The like to it is in Chap. xv. 8. Deut. iv. 11. 2 Sam. xviii. 14. Jon. ii. 3. and perhaps the Word was uſed to make a Variation from midſt immediately following.

Ib. from within a Buſh] as he has often appeared ſpiritually from within thoſe of low Degree, according to 1 Cor. xiv. 25. From ſeneh, the Buſh in Heb. Horeb as it appears was called Sinai; compare Chap. xix. 17, 18, 20. with Deut. iv. 10, 15. & Chap. xx. 19. with Deut. xviii. 16. So Jerome, De Locis Hebraicis, ſays, Mihi autem videtur quod duplici nomine idem mons: nunc ſina nunc choreb vocetur. It ſeems to me that the ſame Mountain was called by a double Name, one while Sinai, another while Horeb. But Neitzſchitz travelling thither, Anno 1636, ſeems to give a better and fuller Account, that the Mountain parts into two Spires towards the Top, the higheſt of which is called Horeb, the other Sinai, Compend. Libr. Vol. ii. p. 151. and the former is reckoned weſtward, Byth. on Pſal. lxviii. 9.

Ver. 5. holy Ground] By the peculiar Preſence of God.

Ver. 6. of thy Father] Of each of them.

7. The

7. The Lord ſaid further; I have fully looked on the Affliction of my People who are in Egypt, and have hearkened to their Cry by reaſon of their Exactors; becauſe I knew their Griefs.

8. So I am come down to deliver them from the Power of the Egyptians, and to bring them up out of that Country, to a good and large one, a Country which flows with Milk and Honey; to the Place of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Hivites and Jebuſites.

9. And now behold the Cry of the Iſraelites being come to me, and I alſo having looked at the Oppreſſion that the Egyptians oppreſs them with;

10. Come now therefore, and I will ſend thee to Pharaoh: and do thou bring my People the Iſraelites out of Egypt.

11. But Moſes ſaid to God, Who am I, that I ſhould go to Pharaoh, and that I ſhould bring the Iſraelites out of Egypt?

12. To which he anſwered, Thou ſhalt, for I will be with thee, and this ſhall be a Sign to thee that I have ſent thee; when thou haſt brought them out thence, you ſhall ſerve God by this Mountain.

13. Moſes then enquired of him, Behold when I come to the Iſraelites, and ſay to them, The God of your Fathers has ſent me to you; ſhould they aſk me, What is his Name? What ſhall I anſwer them?

14. And God replied to him, I am he who am; and thus, ſaid he, mayeſt thou tell them, I am has ſent me to you.

15. However he ſaid again to Moſes: Thus ſhalt thou tell the Iſraelites, The Lord God of your Fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Iſaac, and God of Jacob, has ſent me to you: this is my Name for ever, and this is my Memorial to all Ages.

16. Go, and gather the Elders of Iſrael, and declare to them; The Lord God of your Fathers has appeared to me, the God of Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob, ſaying, I have throughly been to ſee you, and what is done to you in Egypt:

17. And that I ſaid, I will bring you up from the Affliction of Egypt, to the Country of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Hivites and Jebuſites; to a Country which flows with Milk and Honey.

18. Nay they will hearken to what thou ſayeſt, and thou ſhalt go in, with the Elders of Iſrael, to the King of Egypt, to whom you ſhall ſay, The Lord God of the Hebrews having met with us, now be pleaſed to let us go three Days Journey into the Wilderneſs, that we may ſacrifice to the Lord our God.

19. Yet I know that he will not give you leave to go, excepting by a ſtrong Hand.

20. Therefore will I ſtretch forth my Hand, that I may ſmite the Egyptians with all my Wonders which I will do among them; and after that he will let you go.

Ver. 7. looked on—hearkened to] that it may be coherent with the latter Part of the Verſe; whereas have ſeen and heard in Time paſt, are no neceſſary Conſequences of knowing at the preſent Time.

Ver. 10. do thou bring] The Heb. Word being imperative; but the old Lat. has, ut educas, that thou mayeſt bring forth.

Ver. 12. for] See the like Gen. xxix. 32. there rendered becauſe. It relates to what God ſaid before, as if he had ſpoken on without Interruption, like Chap. iv. 5. So the Latin Interpreters have turned it, nam, and quoniam, and enim, and quia; the Greek ὅτι, and the Chaldee אֲרֵי׃

Ib. by] or againſt. Trem. and Jun. have juxta, by; Ainſworth in Eng. at; but both he and Munſter in their Annotations ſay, or by. Chap. xix. 2, 12. determine it not to be upon the Mountain.

Ver. 14. I am he who am] Shewing by it that his real Name was not to be known by Man, Judg. xiii. 18. and checking the Curioſity of Moſes; as alſo notifying that he was a Being of himſelf, which no Creature is; for it might properly be interpreted The ſelf-exiſtent Being. Trem. and Jun. have kept the firſt Word in the Heb. making it, Eheje, who am. In Shemoth Rabba it is explained thus, אני שהייתי ואני הוא עכשיו ואני הוא לעתיד לבוא I who have been, even I am the ſame now, and I ſhall be the ſame in time to come; and in the Targum of Jonathan, אנא הוא דהוינא ועתיד למהוי I, the ſame who have been, and am to be hereafter. I know not what made our Tranſlators put it that I am, which however ſhould have been that which I am, or what I am; when all the Lat. Interpreters have qui, who, and not quod, that which, or what.

Ver. 16. the God of Abraham] Tynd. and the Biſh. have alſo the God of both to Iſaac and Jacob; taken from the Vulg. Latin, as that was from the Greek, only dropping and before that to Iſaac: which might be taken from Chap. iv. 5.

Ib. throughly] according to the Deſcription of it at the End of the foregoing Chapter. Jun. and Trem. expreſs it by omnino.

Ib. been to ſee] as we ſay, the ſame with viſited, and ſo ſuits both Objects.

Ver. 17. And that I ſaid] Tell them that I ſaid thus; which he did, Ver. 8.

Ver. 18. met with] Vulg. Lat. called, nikrah being taken for nikra, as alſo by ſome others.

Ver. 19. excepting by a ſtrong Hand] For they did go ſo, Chap. vi. i. & xiii. 9. but the preſ. Tranſ. contradicts even the following Verſe. Whereas our Bible before had, but by ſtrong hand; Coverdale, but thorowe a mightie hande; the Septuagint as here, ἐὰν μὴ μετὰ χεῖρος κραταιᾶς, with Pagn. and Nold. ſo the Vulg. Lat. niſi per manum validam; Seb. Caſt. niſi vi coactum, except compelled by force; and the French, ſinon par main forte, ſave by a ſtrong Hand; which ſee well diſcuſſed by Chriſtian Noldius, Concord. Annot. 1246.

Ver. 20. among them] Heb. him; for that Tongue frequently comprehends Plurals in Singulars. But it is not of it, i. e. Egypt, becauſe the Names of Countries are feminine, for which Egypt is mentioned particularly by Buxtorf, Theſaur. Gram. Lib. i. Cap. 8. and its Conſtruction with other Words manifeſt, as Chap. ix. 18. in Egypt, from the Day ſhe was founded, Chap. x. 7. Egypt ſhe is periſhed. The Difference indeed is ſmall here between, it, viz. Egypt, and them, that is the Egyptians; but it may ſerve to expound and ſettle the Meaning of the ſame Word in Chap. x. 1. which has ſo much puzzled Interpreters.

21. I

21. I will alſo make this People be in Favour with the Egyptians; ſo that when you go away, you ſhall not go empty.

22. For each Woman ſhall aſk her Neighbour, and her who lodges at her Houſe, for Veſſels both of Silver and Gold, together with Cloaths; which you ſhall put on your Sons and Daughters: thus ſhall you ſpoil the Egyptians.

CHAP. IV.

HOWEVER Moſes made anſwer; But behold they may not believe me, nor hearken to what I ſay: for they may object, The Lord has not appeared to thee.

2. And the Lord aſked him, What is that in thy Hand? Who anſwered, A Staff.

3. Then replied he, Throw it on the Ground; which he did, and it became a Serpent: whereupon Moſes fled from the Face of it.

4. Next the Lord ſaid to him, Reach out thy Hand, and take hold of its Tail (and when he did ſo, it became a Staff in his Hand)

5. In order for them to believe, that there has appeared to thee the Lord God of their Fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Iſaac, and God of Jacob.

6. More than that the Lord ſaid to him, Put now thy Hand into thy Boſom: which he did; and when he pulled it out, behold it was leprous, being like Snow.

7. He ſaid further, Put thy Hand again into thy Boſom (which he did; and pulling it out thence, lo it was turned like his other Fleſh)

8. So that if they will not believe thee, nor hearken to what the former Sign declares, they may believe what the latter one does.

9. But if they will not however believe theſe two Signs, nor hearken to what thou ſayeſt, thou ſhalt take ſome of the Water of the River, and pour out on the dry Ground; that the Water which thou takeſt out thence may become, as it ſhall, Blood upon the dry Ground.

10. Yet Moſes complained to the Lord, O my Lord! I am not a Man of Speech, either heretofore, or ſince thou haſt ſpoken to thy Servant: for I am of a ſlow Mouth and Tongue.

11. But the Lord replied to him; Who makes a Mouth for Man? Or who makes the dumb, the deaf, the ſeeing, or the blind? Is it not I the Lord?

12. Now therefore go, and I will be with thy Mouth, and teach thee what thou ſhalt ſpeak.

13. Nevertheleſs he rejoined, O my Lord! vouchſafe to ſend, by him thou wilt ſend by.

14. Incenſed againſt Moſes at this, the Lord ſaid; Is there not Aaron thy Brother, the Levite? I know that he can ſpeak well: and even behold he ſhall come forth to meet thee; and when he ſees thee, he will be glad at his Heart.

15. To whom thou ſhalt ſpeak, putting the Words in his Mouth; and I will be both with thy Mouth and his, that I may teach you what you ſhall do.

16. Thus he ſhall ſpeak to the People for thee; and it ſhall come to paſs, he ſhall be to thee for a Mouth, as thou ſhalt to him for a God.

Ver. 22. aſk] Look to Chap. xii. 36.

Ib. Veſſels] See Gen. xxiv. 53. Our Tranſlators have added them to make it ſeem Jewels, which the Word does not ſignify. Veſſels too might be more plauſibly aſked, for Uſe in the Sacrifice and Feaſt, Ver. 18. Chap. v. 1.

Ver. 1. may] For Moſes was propoſing his Doubt, not telling a Certainty. Our Auxiliaries may, ſhall, will, &c. find no Difference in the Heb. Verbs.

Ver. 2. Staff] Which is more likely for Moſes to have, rather than a Rod or little Stick, ſince he was now about 80 Years old. His Shepherd's Staff, ſays Patrick, it is moſt likely. It is rendered baculus in the Tig. Tranſ. and that of Jun. and Trem. as alſo by Buxt. in Lexic. and in Gram. Theſ. Lib. ii. Cap. xiv. by Coverdale, ſtaffe; and by Ælfric in the Sax. or old Eng. Tranſ. Yard.

Ver. 5. appeared] In Ver. 15. of the preceding Chap. the Verb is put after the Lord God, &c. at the next Verſe between, and here before. An Inſtance of the Elegancy of thoſe ſupernal Writings.

Ver. 6. being] This the Senſe here plainly requires, otherwiſe and as at Ver. 15. of the laſt Chap. or a Comma between leprous and like, that was may belong to both; but the latter would be more obſcure. Aware that Snow was not leprous, Caſtalio choſe the ſecond, Jun. and Trem. have erat alba, ſicut nix, was white like Snow; Onkelos turned leprous into חִוָּרָא white; and the Seventy left it out, ſaying, ἐγενήθη ἡ χεὶρ αυτῦ ὡσεὶ χιών, his Hand was like Snow.

Ver. 8. may] They will believe, and if they will not believe, in the com. Tranſ. are inconſiſtent.

Ver. 9. as it ſhall] not without Elegance, though a Blank in our Bible.

Ver. 10. of a ſlow Mouth and Tongue] Utterly unfit for a publick Speaker; but he was an eloquent Writer. So Will. Tyndal, who is to be counted the Principal of the Engliſh Reformers, writes of himſelf to John Frith, God hath made me evil-favoured in this World, and without Grace in the Sight of Men, ſpeechleſs and rude, dull and ſlow-witted.

Ib. Mouth] Speech might rather be put for Tongue; but Mouth eſpecially ſhould be kept in tranſlating, becauſe repeated in the two following Verſes, and again Ver. 15, 16.

Ver. 13. wilt] Gen. ſhouldeſt.

Ver. 14. Is there not Aaron] To what purpoſe ſhould God aſk, Is not Aaron the Levite thy brother?

Ib. ſhall come forth] That is I will ſend him, as Ver. 27.

Ver. 16. ſhall come to paſs—ſhall be] This is not the ſame repeated, as יִהְיוּ ſhall become, in the 9th Ver. but in different Tenſes, הָיָה and יִהְיֶה the former of which at the Beginning of a Diviſion is uſually rendered ſhall

17. Beſides

17. Beſides thou ſhalt take this Staff in thy Hand, with which thou ſhalt do the Signs.

18. Moſes then went away back to Jether his Father-in-law, and ſaid to him, Do let me go back to my Brethren who are in Egypt, and ſee whether they be ſtill living; and Jethro anſwered him, Go in Peace.

19. The Lord alſo ſaid to Moſes in Midian, Go back to Egypt: for all the Men who ſought thy Life are dead.

20. Accordingly he took his Wife and Sons, and carried them upon an Aſs, that he might return to that Country; taking the Staff of God in his Hand.

21. Moreover the Lord ſaid to him; When thou goeſt away, returning to Egypt, ſee that thou doeſt before Pharaoh all the Miracles which I have put in thy Power: but I will let his Heart be ſo ſtout, that he will not let the People go.

22. Upon which thou ſhalt tell him; Thus ſays the Lord, Iſrael is my firſt-born Son:

23. Therefore ſince I have ſaid to thee, Let my Son go, that he may ſerve me, and thou haſt refuſed to let him go; behold I will ſlay thy firſt-born one.

24. Afterwards the Lord met him in the Way at a Lodging-place, and ſought to kill him.

25. With that Zipporah took a ſharp Stone, and cut off the Foreſkin of her Son, and threw down at his Feet: For thou art, ſaid ſhe, a bloody Bridegroom to me.

26. So he let him alone; then ſhe ſaid, A bloody Bridegroom, for the Circumciſions.

27. The Lord likewiſe ſaid to Aaron, Go to the Wilderneſs to meet Moſes; accordingly he went, and met him at the Mountain of God, and kiſſed him.

28. Who told Aaron all the Words of the Lord, by which he had ſent him, with all the Signs that he had commanded him.

29. They next went, and gathered all the Elders of the Iſraelites.

30. When Aaron ſpoke all the Words which the Lord had ſpoken to Moſes; and he did the Signs in the Sight of the People.

31. Convinced by which, and withal hearing that the Lord had viſited the Iſraelites, and that he had looked at their Affliction; the People bowed, and worſhipped.

CHAP. V.

AFTER which Moſes and Aaron went in, and declared to Pharaoh; Thus ſays the Lord God of Iſrael, Let my People go, that they may keep a Feaſt to me in the Wilderneſs.

2. But Pharaoh taunted, Who is the Lord, that I ſhould hearken to his Word, to let Iſrael go? I know not the Lord, nor indeed will I let them go.

3. However they replied, The God of the Hebrews has met with us; be pleaſed to let us go three Days Journey into the Wilderneſs, that we may ſacrifice to the Lord our God; leſt he ſhould fall on us, either with Peſtilence or Sword.

Ver. 18. went away] From Horeb where he had received this Commiſſion. Went and returned ſeems a Tautology, both ſignifying his going to his Father-in-law; ſo go—and return, juſt after.

Ver. 20. that he might] See the like Chap. ii. 15.

Ver. 21. let his Heart be ſtout] Biſh. holde hys hart.

Ib. ſtout] Look forward to Chap. vii. for this and the Word Miracles.

Ver. 23. ſince I have ſaid to thee, Let my Son go] That is to ſay, him who is my Son, viz. Iſrael; according to what was ſaid before, Chap. iii. 18. and as the Lord did by Moſes and Aaron, Chap. v. 1, &c. before the Death of the Firſt-born was threatened, Chap. xi. 5. The Heb. Diviſion of the Verſe is after refuſed to let him go; not before, as in the com. Bible.

Ver. 24. Lodging-place] It is not likely there were Inns then, eſpecially in or by the Wilderneſs, Judg. xix. 15. and as there is no Mention of other People, and Zipporah uſed a Stone; they ſeem rather to have lodged abroad, as Jacob did, Gen. xxviii. 11. and the Word properly ſignifies but a Lodging-place, as tranſlated Joſh. iv. 3.

Ib. ſought to kill him] Probably ſtruck him with ſome violent Diſeaſe, for not circumciſing his Son, which his Wife would not conſent to; but did it now her ſelf in great Anger, either becauſe Moſes was unable, or afraid to do it of his own Mind after God had ſmitten him, according to Num. xiv. 41, 43. which Act of hers however, like that of Phinehas, Num. xxv. 11. turned away God's Wrath.

Ver. 25. For] Look Chap. iii. 12.

Ver. 26. let—alone] As it is turned, Deut. ix. 14. Judg. xi. 37. Job vii. 19.

Ib. then ſhe ſaid, A bloody Bridegroom, for] To excuſe her foregoing haſty Words.

Ib. Circumciſions] of her two Sons, of the firſt as at Chap. ii. 22.

Ver. 28. by which] It is agreeable for אשר to be here the Relative of the Words, as it is in the next Verſe, and in this of the Signs; ſo the Seventy, the old Lat. Tranſlator, with Jun. and Trem. underſtood it: for who had ſent him would be redundant.

Ver. 30. he] That is Moſes did, as was appointed, Ver. 17. Theſe are Ainſworth's Words. Jun. and Trem. with Caſt. have added Moſes in the Text. It appears that Moſes himſelf did the Signs before the Iſraelites, but thoſe before Pharaoh were Part of them done by Aaron. Our laſt Tranſlators indiſcreetly left out he, which was in the Eng. Bib. before, by which is read that Aaron did the Signs, which controuls what God ſaid, Ver. 17.

Ver. 1. keep] Gen. celebrate.

them, Why, Moſes and Aaron, do you make the People withdraw from their Works? Go to your own Burdens.

5. Lo the People of the Country, added he, are now many, and you make them ceaſe from their Burdens.

6. That Day alſo he commanded the Exactors of the People, and their Officers, as follows;

7. You ſhall no more give the People Straw to make Bricks, as in time paſt: let them go, and pick it up for themſelves.

8. Yet ſhall you put upon them the Sum of the Bricks which they made in time paſt, without abating any of it: for they are lazy; therefore they cry out, that they may go ſacrifice to their God.

9. Let the Service be heavy upon the Men, and let them work in it; and not regard falſe Words.

10. So the Exactors of the People, with their Officers, went forth, and ſpoke to them as follows, Thus ſays Pharaoh, I will give you no Straw.

11. Go, get it for your ſelves, from whence you can find it; though not any thing of your Service ſhall be abated.

12. Upon this the People were diſperſed over all the Country of Egypt, to pick up Stubble for Straw.

13. The Exactors too were urgent, that they ſhould perform their Works, of each Day's Buſineſs the very ſame Day, as when there was Straw.

14. Nay the Officers of the Iſraelites, whom Pharaoh's Exactors had ſet over them, were beat, it being ſaid, Why have you not performed your Taſk of Brick-making as in time paſt, neither Yeſterday nor to Day?

15. Whereupon they went in, and cried in this manner to Pharaoh; Why doſt thou do thus to thy Servants?

16. There is no Straw given to thy Servants, yet they ſay to us, Make Bricks; and behold thy Servants are beat, when it is the Fault of thy own People.

17. But he ſaid; You are lazy, lazy Folk: therefore you ſay, Let us go, ſacrifice to the Lord.

18. And now go, do the Service; and there ſhall be no Straw given you: yet ſhall you give the Sum of Bricks.

19. Then the Officers of the Iſraelites looking ill on them, ſaid, You muſt not abate from your Bricks, of each Day's Buſineſs the very ſame Day.

20. Now they met with Moſes and Aaron ſtanding in their Way, when they went out from Pharaoh.

21. To whom they ſaid, The Lord look upon you, and judge; who have made us have a ſtinking Smell in the Sight both of Pharaoh and his Servants, to put a Sword into their Hands to kill us.

22. Moſes therefore returns to the Lord, complaining; My Lord, Why haſt thou done ill to this People? Why didſt thou ſend me?

23. For ſince I went in to Pharaoh, to ſpeak in thy Name, he has done ill to this People; and thou haſt not delivered thy People at all.

Ver. 9. falſe] vain Words is made from the Greek ἀργοὺς κενοῖς, and not from the Heb. Original. Pharaoh did not believe what Moſes and Aaron ſpoke, that God had met with them, and ſaid what they told the People and him.

Ver. 13. urgent] or preſſing. All the Lat. Tranſlations have it expreſſed from the Verb urgeo, excepting the Vulgate from inſto, of the ſame Meaning; ſo the French has les preſſoient: Sol. Jar. alſo expounds it by דוחקים the Targ. דחקין

Ib. Buſineſs] Heb. Word, Thing, Matter or Buſineſs, &c. different from Taſk in the following Verſe; ſee on 2 Chron. viii. 14.

Ver. 14. Brick-making] Hailebenim, Bricks is here left out, which was in Ver. 7.

Ver. 18. And now go] Spoken in Deriſion of Let us go.

Ver. 19. looking ill on them] or beholding them in an ill Manner: or rather with Evil, i. e. as Munſter renders it, cum mœrore, with Grief; who being Profeſſor of Hebrew at Baſil writes in his Annotations, Hebraice, cum malo, ſcilicet aſpectu: It is in Hebrew, with evil, that is with an evil or ill Look. And Caſtalio has tranſlated it, vultu triſti, with a ſorrowful Countenance. But this Manner of ſpeaking is more fully explained by Buxtorf, Munſter's Succeſſor, in his Heb. Gram. Lib. ii. Chap. 20. where he ſays, "ב often makes a Periphraſis of Adverbs: as "בְּמִרְמָה with deceit, that is deceitfully; בְּעָרְמָה in craft, "craftily; בְּצֶדֶק in righteouſneſs, righteouſly; בֶּאֱמֶת in "truth, truly, &c." So here, with, or in evil, that is, ill or badly, or as we ſay, pitifully; ſee the like Chap. xiv. 25.

Ib. them] The two Tranſlators abovenamed have added the Iſraelites, however אֹתָם them being accuſative determines it. If themſelves had been meant, the Verb might have been put in Hithpahel.

Ib. ſaid] Rendering this common Word ſo ſingularly, after it was ſaid, is a Shift to piece out the other Way of tranſlating.

Ver. 20. they met] or they had met, which is the ſame in Heb. as Gen. xii. 1. had ſaid, &c. Moſes's returning and ſpeaking to the Lord, is ſo cloſely connected with the Officers Words in Ver. 21. and God's Anſwer with his, that it was neceſſary to put what is in the 19th Ver. before it; whereby that might alſo be joined to Pharaoh's Speech, which it properly follows in the Narration, though not in Time: unleſs the Officers (Ver. 19.) ſpoke to ſome of the Iſraelites who were with them, or came to them, before they met Aaron and Moſes.

Ver. 21. who] See Ver. 2. Jun. and Trem. with Munſt. and the Tig. Verſion have qui.

Ver. 23. done ill to] Tynd. and Biſh. fared foulle wythe, Gen. vexed.

CHAP. VI.

BUT the Lord ſaid to him, Now thou ſhalt ſee what I will do to Pharaoh: for he ſhall let them go by a ſtrong Hand, nay by that ſhall drive them out of his Country.

2. God moreover ſpoke to Moſes in theſe terms: I am the Lord.

3. And I appeared to Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob, for God Almighty; but according to my Name the Lord was I unknown to them.

4. With whom I alſo confirmed my Covenant, to give them the Country of Canaan, that of their Sojournings, wherein they lodged.

5. And I have likewiſe hearkened to the Groaning of the Iſraelites, whom the Egyptians make to ſerve; and I remember my Covenant.

6. Therefore tell the Iſraelites; I am the Lord, who will bring you out from under the Burdens of the Egyptians, and deliver you from their Slavery: for I will redeem you by an Arm ſtretched out, and by great Judgments.

7. Nay I will take you for a People to my ſelf, as I will be to you a God: ſo you ſhall know that I am the Lord your God, who bring you out from under their Burdens.

8. I will further bring you to the Country, which I lifted up my Hand to give Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob; and will give it an Inheritance to you, who am the Lord.

9. However when Moſes ſpoke ſo to the Iſraelites, they did not hearken to him, for Want of Courage, as well as hard Slavery.

10. The Lord again ordered Moſes as follows,

11. Go in, tell Pharaoh King of Egypt, that he ſhould let the Iſraelites go out of his Country.

12. But he anſwered thus before him, Behold the Iſraelites do not hearken to me; and how ſhould Pharaoh hear me, ſince I am of uncircumciſed Lips?

13. Then the Lord ſpoke both to Moſes and Aaron, and gave them command, as well to the Iſraelites, as Pharaoh King of Egypt; that they ſhould bring the Iſraelites out of that Country.

14. The following were the Heads of each Family of their Fathers. The Sons of

---

Ver. 1. By beginning the Chap. with this Ver. and the like, it ſeems apparent that thoſe who made the Chapters were ignorant of the Partitions in the Heb. this Verſe being the Concluſion of a great one.

Ver. 3. for God Almighty] or for an Almighty God: a God able to ſave and deliver, which they believed, and his Appearance manifeſted to them the Attribute of his Power; but they did not know him according to his Eſſence, and Infinite Attributes, which his Name here rendered the Lord ſignifies, and comprehends. He was to them as God Almighty, but now as the Lord; not only Powerful by his Appearance, Chap. xxxii. but alſo Holy by his Preſence, Ver. 5. True in fulfilling his Promiſes, Faithful in not forſaking his People, Compaſſionate in hearing their Cry, Merciful in delivering them, Wiſe in finding Means to do it, Zealous in their Cauſe, Juſt to puniſh their Perſecutors, Liberal to give them a good Inheritance, Friendly to be near them, Unchangeable to be with them, Wonderful in his Doings, Prudent in his Counſels, Righteous in his Laws, Terrible in his Judgments, Glorious in his Being, Perfect in himſelf, &c. &c.

Ib. according to] Something muſt be here ſupplied in a Tranſlation, to compleat the Senſe; for there is no Prefix to my Name, beſides the Conjunction but; though our Tranſlators have boldly added [by] without diſtinguiſhing it with another Character; which Supplement may by no means be allowed, for God was known by his Name here rendered the Lord to Abraham, Gen. xiii. 4. & xv. 7. & xxi. 33. & xxii. 14. & xxiv. 3, 7. Iſaac, Chap. xxvi. 22, 25. & xxvii. 27. and Jacob, Chap. xxviii. 13, 16. & xxx. 30. & xxxii. 9. & xlix. 18. as well as to many others in and before their Time. So that the Words in our Bibles, by my Name Jehovah was I not known to them, are directly wrong; though it has been diſguiſed to common Readers, by making it different in Geneſis and here.

The Letters ל and ב are ſeveral Times left out in Scripture, after the Manner of the Heb. Tongue, which are uſed to ſignify according to, and ſurely that ſhould be ſupplied to make Senſe, rather than by to make the Expreſſion not true. See according to added in the laſt Tranſlation, Chap. xvi. 16. & xxxvii. 29. Jer. xi. 13. Hab. iii. 9. Neh. v. 19. 1 Sam. vi. 4, 18. 1 King. v. 10. though all ſuch are omitted by the indefatigable Noldius.

I may juſt mention a little of what is ſaid concerning this in that paltry bold Pamphlet, ſtiled Critical Notes on ſome Paſſages of Scripture, pr. 1747, the Author of which (ſuppoſed to be M—n of the Charter-houſe) would have לא not changed to לי without the Authority of any Copy or Verſion, to make, And my Name Jehovah I made it known to them; whereas לי inſtead of it would be to it, and even it would be improper; nay this Hebrician takes נודעתי paſſ. I was known to be act. I made known.

Ib. the Lord] Origen putting the original Word יהוה in the Margin of his famous Hexapla, Tranſcribers took it for the Greek ΠΙΠΙ PIPI; which however are not exactly alike, as ſaid to be in Simeon's Crit. Hiſt. B. ii. Chap. 10.

Ver. 7. who bring] It is a Heb. Participle, but if turned into a Verb ſhould be the firſt Perſon, who bring; according as other Tranſlators have put it.

Ver. 8. lifted up my Hand] So the original Words are kept to in the com. Bib. Gen. xiv. 22. Deut. xxxii. 40. Ezek. xx. 5, 6, 15, 23, 28, 42. & xxxvi. 7. & xlvii. 14.

Ver. 9. Want of Courage] which well expreſſes the Heb. Shortneſs, not Anguiſh, of Spirit, as the Seventy have turned it, ἀπὸ τῆς ὀλιγοψυχίας, for faint-heartedneſs. Ruah is tranſlated courage, Joſh. ii. 11. ſee alſo Dan. xi. 25. This Verſe concludes one of the leſſer Sections, and the Succeſs of the firſt Viſit to Pharaoh, though made to begin a Partition in the Eng. Bible.

Ver. 12. do not hearken] now when he ſpoke to them, for they had hearkened before, Chap. iii. 18. & iv. 31.

Ver. 13. both to Moſes and Aaron] Since Moſes had made that Complaint of himſelf.

Ver. 14. their] This was the proper Place to introduce the following Genealogy, and whet up the Reader's Appetite, by holding him a little in Suſpenſe; becauſe of the Mention of the Iſraelites juſt before, whereby it is brought in by their: the Relation alſo of the firſt going in to Pharaoh, with the Conſequences of it, being ended; and the momentous Affair of going the ſecond Time coming on, the Charge for that being given, to rouſe the

THEN the Lord replied to him; See I make thee a God to Pharaoh, and Aaron thy Brother ſhall be thy Prophet.

2. Thou ſhalt tell all that I command thee; which thy Brother Aaron ſhall ſpeak to Pharaoh, that he may let the Iſraelites go out of his Country.

3. But I will let Pharaoh's Heart be hard,

Expectation of the Hearer. The Elegancy of falling into this Digreſſion is ſo great in the pious and prudent Caſtalio's Verſion, that I longed to repeat, Iſraelitarum autem (ad quos Jova et ad Pharaonem Moſi et Aharoni præcepta de eis ex Ægypto educendis dedit) familiarum capita ſic ſe habent: but would not venture to tranſlate it.

Ib. Enoch] Concerning ſome of thoſe Names I refer the Reader to Gen. xlvi.

Ver. 17. Shimei] The ſame Name is in 2 Sam. xvi. 5, &c. and of this ſame Perſon, 1 Chron. vi. 17. Num. iii. 18.

Ver. 18. Izhar] In the Eng. Bib. Num. iii. 19. Izehar, but in the Heb. all one.

Ver. 19. Mahli] This is the true Name, as it is called elſewhere in the com. Verſion, viz. 1 Chron. vi. 19, 29. Num. iii. 20.

Ver. 20. who bore] I have made a probable Gueſs or Suppoſition of her Age now, with that of her Father when ſhe was born, in my Chronology. It is ſaid in Uſher's Annals, that ſhe bore Moſes 41 Years after the Death of her Father; but that is a Miſtake of ſeven Years too little, as may be ſeen by the Annals themſelves.

Ver. 23. Eliſheba] with the Septuagint Ελισαβὲθ, Elizabeth, of which this may therefore be counted the Heb. and original Name.

Ib. Nahſhon] So it is truly written Num. i. 7. & ii. 3. 1 Chron. ii. 10.

Ver. 24. Korhites] This very Heb. Word we have been taught to read Korathites, Num. xxvi. 58. and Korahite, 1 Chron. ix. 31. ſo have need of better Preceptors.

Ver. 26. That] In Ver. 20. and to be underſtood elegantly as if repeated to Moſes, it being ſingular in the Heb. as the that in the com. Tranſ. muſt, for which the Original has Nothing.

Ver. 27. that they might bring] The old Lat. Bib. Munſter, Leo Judæ and Caſtal. have all ut educerent; Coverdale and the Gen. Tranſ. that they might bring; which Ver. 13. ſhews. The com. Reading is as if Pharaoh was to bring them out.

Ver. 28. Which was] Heb. And it was; ſhewing that what God ſaid from the 1ſt to the 9th Verſe, was on the ſame Day that Moſes and Aaron had ſpoken to Pharaoh; which gives great Light to the whole, the Order of which is otherwiſe loſt. This is neceſſarily the Meaning, becauſe this Verſe ends a Heb. Paragraph, ſignally noted by the Letter Samech; and does not begin one, as in the com. Bible. So in the Sept. Tranſ. is read, Ἡ ἡμέρα ἐλάλησε κύριος Μωυσῆ, on which Day the Lord ſpoke to Moſes, the Verſe before ending with a Comma; the ſame in the Vulg. Lat. which has, in die qua locutus eſt Dominus ad Moyſen. In our Bible this Verſe is made worſe than a Tautology.

Ver. 29. Afterwards when] Moſes having made this Digreſſion from the End of the 13th Verſe, which is an entire Paragraph in the Original, to ſhew that he returns to his Matter before, he repeats with a little Variation the laſt Part of it; ſuch Recapitulations being not ſtrange in the Scripture.

Ver. 2. tell] as the Word is in the com. Verſion, Chap. ix. 1. The 70, who were rather Expoſitors than Tranſlators, ſay λαλήσεις αὐτῷ, ſhalt ſpeak to him.

Ver. 3. let] Which Avenarius, ſays Patrick, tranſlates, I will permit his heart to be harden'd. The Heb. Word קשה to be hard is here in the Conjunction Hiphil, and that let or ſuffer ſometimes ſhews the Property of a Verb that

that I may multiply my Signs and Miracles in the Country of Egypt.

4. For when he does not hearken to you, I will put my Hand on Egypt, and bring my Armies, my People the Iſraelites, out of that Country, by great Judgments.

5. So the Egyptians ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I ſtretch out my Hand upon Egypt, and bring forth the Iſraelites from among them.

6. Thus Moſes and Aaron did, doing juſt as the Lord commanded them.

7. And Moſes was in his eightieth Year, as was Aaron in his eighty third, when they ſpoke to Pharaoh.

8. Moreover the Lord ſpoke to them both as follows;

9. When Pharaoh tells you, that ye ſhould do a Miracle for your ſelves; thou ſhalt ſay to Aaron, Take thy Staff, and throw down before Pharaoh; which ſhall become a Serpent.

10. Accordingly they went in to him, and did ſo, as the Lord commanded: for Aaron threw down his Staff before him and his Servants, and it became a Serpent.

11. However Pharaoh called alſo the wiſe Men and Wizards, that thoſe Magicians of Egypt might likewiſe do ſo by their Inchantments.

12. And they threw down their reſpective Staves, which became Serpents; but Aaron's Staff devoured theirs.

13. Yet the Heart of Pharaoh was ſo ſtout, that he would not hearken to them; as the Lord had ſpoken.

14. Hereupon the Lord ſaid to Moſes: Pharaoh's Heart being heavy, he refuſing to let the People go;

15. Go to him in the Morning, who behold will come forth to the Water, and thou ſhalt ſtand to meet him at the Bank of the River; the Staff alſo, which was turned into a Serpent, ſhalt thou take in thy Hand.

16. And thou ſhalt tell him; The Lord God of the Hebrews has ſent me to thee to ſay, Let my People go, that they may ſerve me in the Wilderneſs: but behold thou haſt not hearkened hitherto.

17. By this, as he ſays, thou ſhalt know that he is the Lord; behold I will ſtrike, with the Staff that is in my Hand, upon the Water which is in the River, and it ſhall be turned into Blood:

18. Inſomuch that the Fiſh which are in the River ſhall die, and the River ſtink; whereby the Egyptians ſhall have much ado to drink the Water out of it.

19. The Lord likewiſe ordered Moſes; Say to Aaron, Take thy Staff, and ſtretch

Ver. 18. have much ado] full to the Heb. which loathe is a Stranger to.

Ver. 19. The Author of the Preſent State of the Heb. Text, lately printed at the Theatre in Oxford, and privileged by the Vice-Chancellor, holds for the Samaritan Reading to be genuine, which expreſſes every Speech of God to Moſes, and of him to Pharaoh, twice, but the Heb. once only. His Arguments however ſeem too weak to be repeated, unleſs it be the Impropriety which he out thy Hand upon the Waters of the Egyptians, upon their Streams, Rivers, Ponds, and every Collection of Water, that they may become Blood; and that there may be Blood in all the Country of Egypt, both in Things of Wood and Stone.

20. Moſes and Aaron therefore did according as the Lord commanded: for he lifted it up with the Staff, and ſtruck the Water that was in the River, in the Sight both of Pharaoh and his Servants; and all of it there was turned into Blood:

21. Inſomuch that the Fiſh which were in the River died, and the River ſtunk; whereby the Egyptians could not drink the Water out of it; and there was Blood in all the Country of Egypt.

22. But the Magicians of Egypt doing thus by their Inchantments, the Heart of Pharaoh was ſo ſtout, that he would not hearken to them, as the Lord had ſpoken.

23. Nay he turned away, and went into his Houſe; for he did not regard this neither.

24. And all the Egyptians dug Water round about the River to drink; becauſe they could not drink of that in it.

25. At length ſeven Days were fully up, after the Lord ſmote the River;

CHAP. VIII.

WHEN he ſaid to Moſes: Go in to Pharaoh, and tell him; Thus ſays the Lord, Let my People go, that they may ſerve me.

2. Whom if thou refuſeſt to let go, behold I will ſmite all thy Bounds with Frogs.

3. For the River ſhall produce them abundantly, which ſhall come up, and get into thy Houſe and Bed-chamber, even upon thy Bed, as alſo into the Houſes of thy Servants and People, nay into thy very Ovens and Kneading-troughs.

4. Moreover to thee, thy People, and all thy Servants, ſhall the Frogs come up.

5. The Lord likewiſe ordered Moſes; Say to Aaron, Stretch out thy Hand with thy Staff upon the Streams, Rivers and Ponds; and make Frogs come up on the Country of Egypt.

6. Aaron accordingly ſtretched out his Hand upon the Waters of the Egyptians; and the Frogs came up, ſo that they covered the Country of Egypt.

7. However the Magicians did ſo by their Inchantments, and brought up Frogs upon the ſame.

8. Now Pharaoh called Moſes and Aaron, urges againſt the Heb. and that with me (though not allowing it to be ſuch an Impropriety) contains a good Argument of the contrary: for as the Matter is ſo large, it muſt be done deſignedly either Way; and is it not much more likely for improper to be altered into proper, than otherwiſe? Is it not much more likely the Original Text ſhould be inlarged where brief, eſpecially by Marginal Notes, than be directly ſhortened, without ſo much as the Pretence of an Abridgment? But how is it ſo inſufficient to have the Commiſſions to Pharaoh recorded only once, and yet ſufficient to have them not recorded at all, as three of them at Ch. viii. 16. & Ch. ix. 8. & x. 21? If from the mentioning them twice they had been curtailed to once, why were not all of them ſerved ſo, contrary to what we find Ch. x. 1, 3. & xi. 1, 4, 8? See further on Ch. xi. 1.

Ver. 19. Egyptians] Their in the preſ. Bib. muſt belong to Waters before, or it will be falſe Engliſh, for Egypt is ſingular, by which their Pools of Water, will be the Waters Pools of Water.

Ib. Collection] See this Heb. Word, Gen. i. 10. Pools will exclude Floods, Ditches, Puddles. &c. all which were comprehended; it ſignifying a gathering together, as Ainſw. turns it in Engliſh.

Ver. 20. he lifted it up] That is Aaron lifted up his Hand; it being referred to Aaron and Hand in the preceding Verſe: for there is with before Staff, though Tranſlators have loſt it; ſo Ch. viii. 5.

Ib. Blood] Of which Cowley writes in his Plagues of Egypt,

What Plague more juſt could on thy Waters fall?
The Hebrew Infants Murder ſtains them all.

And Milton with an ingenious Epithet,

To Blood unſhed the Rivers muſt be turn'd,
Parad. loſt, B. xii.

Ver. 21. the Water] Our principal public Tranſlations having [of] before this, it appears that מ the firſt Letter of the Heb. Word for Water, was taken for a Prepoſition, and ſo continued, eſpecially as neither the old Latin, nor the Greek has it; and to be of, it would be of the Sea.

Ver. 24. dug Water] There is not for in the Heb. which is added to make it ſeem that they could get no Water; but how then did the Magicians turn it into Blood? This being the moſt likely Way they had it; for which ſee Juſtin Martyr, Quæſt. & Reſpon. 26, ad Orthodox. And the Reaſon why all dug for it, ſeems becauſe they got it by digging. The Interlineary and Tigurin Verſions have, foderunt aquas, dug waters, the old Lat. aquam, water; Caſtal. aquam effoderunt, dug out water.

Ver. 3. produce them abundantly] Tynd. and the Biſh. ſcrale wythe frogges, Gen. ſcrall full of frogs.

Ib. come up] מן היאור out of the River, ſays Jarhi; the like Ben Ez. There is no need to ſuppoſe they muſt go up, or, as the old Eng. is, climb up, the Houſe to get in.

Ib. and People] Jun. and Trem. add domos, the Houſes; but the Seventy had before turned it more ſkilfully, into the Houſes of thy Servants and of thy People; and ſo Caſtalio makes Houſes belong to both; ſee Chap. xiv. 5. It would be childiſh to ſay upon thy people, but more ſo to ſay the ſame in the next Verſe.

Ver. 4. to] From in ſome following Verſes may direct ſo to tranſlate; elſe the Heb. Affix might be turned among, to be, among thee and thy People, &c. In the Vulg. Lat. Bib. is ad, to; Caſt. has given it by pervado, get to; Jun. and Trem. have contra, againſt. The Subſtance of this Verſe is to ſhew that none of the Egyptians ſhould be free from the Frogs.

Ver. 5. ordered] By inward Inſtinct or Suggeſtion to his Mind; for he was now in the King's Preſence, Poole's Annotat.

Ver. 6. Egyptians] as Chap. vii. 19.

and ſaid, Make ſupplication to the Lord, that he may take away the Frogs from me and my People; ſo will I let the People go, that they may ſacrifice to him.

9. And Moſes propoſed to Pharaoh, Honour thy ſelf above me, for when it is, I ſhall make ſupplication for thee, thy Servants and People, to have the Frogs deſtroyed from thee and thy Houſes; that they may be left only in the River.

10. Who anſwered, To Morrow; and he replied, It ſhall be according to thy Word, in order for thee to know, that there is none like the Lord our God.

11. For the Frogs ſhall depart from thee, thy Houſes, Servants and People; being left only in the River.

12. So they both went out from Pharaoh; and Moſes cried to the Lord, upon account of the Frogs which he had cauſed to him.

13. And the Lord did according to his Word; for they died out of the Houſes, Courts and Fields:

14. Which they gathered up by Heaps, inſomuch that the Country ſtunk.

15. But when Pharaoh ſaw that there was Relief, he made his Heart heavy, ſo that he would not hearken to them; as the Lord had ſpoken.

16. Upon this the Lord commanded Moſes; Say to Aaron, Stretch out thy Staff, and ſtrike the Duſt of the Earth; that it may become Lice in all the Country of Egypt.

17. And they did ſo; for Aaron ſtretched out his Hand with his Staff, and ſtruck the Duſt of the Earth, which became Lice both on Man and Beaſt; all the Duſt of the Ground being Lice in that whole Country.

18. Whereas the Magicians doing ſo, to bring forth Lice by their Inchantments, could not: thus there were Lice both on Man and Beaſt.

19. Therefore the Magicians acknowledged to Pharaoh, It is the Finger of God; yet was his Heart ſo ſtout, that he would not hearken to them, as the Lord had ſpoken.

20. In the next place the Lord ſaid to Moſes: Riſe early in the Morning, and ſtand before Pharaoh, who behold will come forth to the Water, and tell him the Lord ſays thus; Let my People go, that they may ſerve me.

21. For if thou doſt not let them go, behold I will let a Mixture of noiſome Creatures come to thee, thy Servants, People and Houſes; ſo that the Houſes of the Egyptians ſhall be full of them, and even the Ground which they are upon.

22. Yet will I ſeparate on that Day the Country of Goſhen, wherein my People remain, for thoſe Creatures not to be there; in order for thee to know that I am the Lord within the Country.

Ver. 9. Honour thy ſelf] This ſhews Moſes exceedingly pleaſed at Pharaoh's firſt yielding, ſo that he would do what he could to oblige him: it is likely he did not think he would draw back again. I ſhall add, that I have the ſatisfaction to make this difficult Place intelligible without a Paraphraſe; and in the ſame Senſe as I find others underſtand it, of which ſee Patrick's Commentary.

Ib. from thee and thy Houſes] This elegantly anſwers to the 3d and 4th Verſes; one comprehending the Perſons, the other what belonged to them.

Ver. 10. It ſhall be] The Son of Ezra on Ver. 12. rehearſes it with יהיה it ſhall be; ſo Trem. and Jun. with Caſt. choſe fiet. This is more agreeable to the Matter than Be it, or Let it be, and to ſhall in the next Verſe. Of this look back to Gen. i. 4.

Ver. 13. Courts] One may admire that our Tranſlators would chooſe the other Signification of the Word Villages, which is extraneous to the Context, being ill poſited between Houſes and Fields. It is rendered with the Prep. by Buxt. and Montan. ex atriis, Munſt. and Leo Judæ, de atriis, out of and from the Courts; by Coverdale, in the Courtes; and Tynd. has, as here, out of the houſes, courtes and feldes; the Targ. likewiſe has דרתא courts: Jun. and Trem. put ex vivariis, out of the Yards or Bartons, where any living Creatures are kept.

Ver. 18. doing ſo] That is ſmote the Duſt, as Aaron did. Not endeavoured to do ſo, as both Poole and Patrick interpret it: for it is not ſaid Aaron made the Lice; and what is the Senſe of the Magicians endeavoured to do ſo to bring forth Lice?

Ver. 21. let—come] The Speech elegantly turns on the Verb uſed juſt before.

Ib. a Mixture of noiſome Creatures] Divers or all Sorts of Creatures hurtful to Man; ſo that it was needleſs, as it would be tedious, to name them. Theſe three were Puniſhments to the People themſelves by noxious Animals, and as the Lice exceeded the Frogs, ſo this to the utmoſt ſurpaſſed the Lice, to end the Plagues of that Kind; and the Locuſts were to finiſh in like manner, what the Hail left growing on the Ground, Chap. x. 12, 15.

Ainſworth obſerves that the Hebrew and Chaldee Words ſignify only a mixed multitude: notwithſtanding Pagninus, in his Treaſ. of the Holy Tongue, ſays of the former, that it is, miſtio diverſorium animalium aut beſtiarum, a mixture of Animals or Beaſts; and in his Tranſlation he has, omne ferarum genus, every kind of wild Beaſts; as likewiſe Mercerus on him, ferarum diverſi generis, wild Beaſts of different Kinds: and the latter Buxtorf in his Chald. Lex. expounds, Colluvies, mixtura animalium mixtorum, a baſe Company of living Creatures mingled together; as alſo in Pſa. lxxviii. 45. the Targum is, עֲרֵבוּבִי חֵיוָת בָּרָא a mingled Company of the Beaſts of the Field; which Text moreover ſays they devoured the Egyptians. To theſe add Joſephus, calling them θηρία παντοῖα καὶ πολύφορα, all manner of wild Beaſts; and Sol. Jar. who explains it, כל מיני חיות רעות ונחשים ועקרבים all Sorts of ill Beaſts, Serpents, Scorpions, &c. Ab. Ezra ſays, כמו אריות ואבים דובים ונמרים ſuch as Lions, Wolves, Bears and Leopards; in like manner other of the Jewiſh Writers, particularly the Author of The Wiſdom of Solomon in the Apocrypha, Chap. xi. 15, 17, 18. Moreover Jun. and Trem. interpret it by colluviem animalium, a vile Herd of live Things; ſee beſides the Margins of our Eng. Tranſlations. Some other Interpreters turn it inſects in general, but our Engliſh have dwindled it into flies.

Ib. to thee, &c.] Concerning this look Ver. 4.

Ver. 22. within the Country] Trem. and Jun. hujus terræ, this Country; Gen. Marg. land of Egypt.

23. Thus

23. Thus will I make the Difference of Redemption between my People and thine: to Morrow there ſhall be this Sign.

24. And the Lord did ſo; for there came a grievous Mixture of noiſome Creatures to Pharaoh's Houſe, and thoſe of his Servants; ſo that throughout the Country of Egypt the Ground was ſpoiled by reaſon of them.

25. Whereupon Pharaoh calling Moſes and Aaron, ſaid, Go, ſacrifice to your God in the Country.

26. But anſwered Moſes; It is not fit to do ſo; becauſe we ſhould ſacrifice what is abominable with the Egyptians to the Lord our God: behold ſhould we do ſo in their Sight, would not they ſtone us?

27. Let us go three Days Journey into the Wilderneſs, that we may ſacrifice to the Lord our God, according as he ſhall bid us.

28. To which Pharaoh replied, I will let you go, that you may ſacrifice to the Lord your God in the Wilderneſs; only you ſhall by no means go far off: make ſupplication for me.

29. Behold, ſaid Moſes, when I go out from thee, I will make ſupplication to the Lord; and the Mixture of noiſome Creatures ſhall depart from Pharaoh, his Servants and People, to Morrow; only let Pharaoh delude no more, in not letting the People go to ſacrifice to the Lord.

30. Then going out from him, he made ſupplication to the Lord.

31. Who did according to the Word of Moſes; for he cauſed them to depart from him, and his; there being not one left.

32. Nevertheleſs Pharaoh made his Heart heavy alſo this Time; ſo that he would not let the People go.

CHAP. IX.

AGAIN the Lord charged Moſes: Go in to Pharaoh, and declare to him; Thus ſays the Lord God of the Hebrews, Let my People go, that they may ſerve me.

2. For if thou refuſeſt it, and yet holdeſt them faſt;

3. Behold the Hand of the Lord ſhall be on thy Cattle which are in the Field, on the Horſes, Aſſes, Camels, Herds and Flocks, by a very grievous Murrain.

4. But the Lord will make a Separation between the Cattle of Iſrael, and thoſe of the Egyptians; ſo that there ſhall not any Thing die, of all which the Iſraelites have.

5. The Lord alſo ſet the appointed Time, that on the next Day he would do this Thing in the Country.

6. Which he did at that Time: for the Cattle of the Egyptians in general died; but there did not die one of the Iſraelites Cattle.

7. And though Pharaoh ſent, and behold not even one of the latter was dead; he made his Heart heavy, ſo that he would not let the People go.

8. Next the Lord ſaid to Moſes and Aaron; Take Aſhes of the Kiln your Hands

Ver. 23. Redemption] Redeem my People, and not thine, from my Judgments. So it is expreſſed by the ſame Word, Pſa. cxi. 9. Gen. make a deliverance of my people from. It does not in the leaſt ſignify diviſion; that is the old Lat. diviſionem: which was needleſs here, having been told in the preceding Verſe; ſee alſo Gell's Eſſay, p. 199, 200.

Ver. 24. ſo that] Here is the Heb. Partition of the Sentence, which proves the laſt Eng. Bible wrong; and is one Inſtance, among many which might be brought, of K. James's Tranſlators making it worſe, this being before, ſo that through all the land of Egypt, &c.

Ib. ſpoiled] Sept. ἐξωλοθρεύθη, deſtroyed; Caſt. devaſtaretur, waſted; Coverd. marred. The Heb. and Chald. Verbs may be rendered either to corrupt, ſpoil or deſtroy.

Ver. 26. abominable] on which Elwood thus paraphraſes, "It would be abominable to them to ſee us ſacrifice their gods to our God;" it being a Tradition that they worſhipped Beaſts. The Targum of Onkelos here runs in this Manner, becauſe the Cattle which the Egyptians reverence, we ſhould take of them to ſacrifice before the Lord our God, &c.

Ver. 27. Let us go—that we may] The learned Broughton, who for Defence of the Scripture was an Honour to our Nation, in an Epiſtle to the Nobility of England about tranſlating the Bible, has theſe Words, 'Conſtant Memory to tranſlate the ſame often repeated in the ſame ſort is moſt needful.' The Reader may obſerve from Chap. iii. 18. and abundantly elſewhere, that this has been my Endeavour; unleſs the Elegancy of a different Expreſſion, eſpecially when there have been more than one of the ſame in Heb. near together, has overruled it, as in Gen. xxix. 32, 33, 34, 35.

Ver. 28. by no means] as Trem. and Jun. ſay, non ullo pacto. The Verb רדק being ſingle, would have made it, you ſhall not go far off, being doubled it becomes ſtronger, of which Expreſſion look Gen. iii. 4. but very turns it the other way, and inſtead of binding the Reſtriction harder gives more Liberty; yet our laſt Tranſlators turned the Idiom thus, Pſa. xlix. 7. none can by any means redeem.

Ver. 29. ſhall depart] which did according to the Word of Moſes, Ver. 31. confirms; as alſo Chap. ix. 29.

Ver. 3. ſhall be on] Here is a Heb. Participle like thoſe in the Verſe before, but ſhould not be rendered like them in the preſent Time; for behold has uſually a Participle after it, which is to be underſtood in the future; however Ver. 5. determines this to be ſo.

Ib. Herds and Flocks] See Gen. iv. 2. & xii. 16. the Kinds here ſpecified inform us what was comprehended under the Term Cattle; ſeveral Sorts of which, according to the com. Bib. were or might be excluded, ſuch as Goats, Cows, &c. The Tigurin Tranſ. accordingly has, in armentis & gregibus; Jun. and Trem. in armenta, & in greges.

Ver. 6. in general] For all did not die, Ver. 19, 20, 21. Thoſe who expound it of all Sorts of Cattle, do but trifle; ſince doubtleſs there would have died of all Sorts of Cattle in the whole Country of Egypt, if this Plague had not been ſent to them.

Ver. 8. Kiln] For Bricks, &c. of which ſee Gen. xix. 18. whereby the Egyptians were moſt juſtly and full;

full; and let Moſes ſprinkle them towards Heaven in Pharaoh's Sight;

9. That they may be Duſt over all the Country of Egypt; which may become, both upon Man and Beaſt, a Boil breaking forth in Bliſters, throughout that Country.

10. Accordingly they took Aſhes of the Kiln, and ſtanding before Pharaoh, Moſes ſprinkled them towards Heaven; and there was a Boil in Bliſters breaking forth, both on Man and Beaſt.

11. Inſomuch that the Magicians could not ſtand before Moſes, by reaſon of the Boil: for it was on them incluſive with all the Egyptians.

12. However the Lord let Pharaoh's Heart be ſo ſtout, that he would not hearken to them; as he had ſpoken to Moſes.

13. Upon which the Lord ſaid to him: Riſe early in the Morning, and ſtanding before Pharaoh, tell him; Thus ſays the Lord God of the Hebrews, Let my People go, that they may ſerve me.

14. For this Time I will ſend all my Plagues to thy Heart, and on thy Servants and People; in order for thee to know that there is none like me on all the Earth.

15. For now I might have ſtretched out my Hand, and ſmitten thee and thy People with the Peſtilence; ſo thou wouldeſt have been cut off from thence.

16. But indeed becauſe of this I have made thee ſtand, to the end that I might ſhew thee my Power, and that my Name might be declared throughout the World:

17. Who yet exalteſt thy ſelf againſt my People, not to let them go.

18. Behold I will rain down, about this Time to Morrow, very grievous Hail; ſuch as there has not been in Egypt, from the Day it was founded even till now.

19. Therefore now ſend, gather together thy Cattle, and all that thou haſt in the Field; where all the Men and Beaſts that ſhall be found not gotten into the Houſe, the Hail ſhall come down upon, ſo that they ſhall die.

20. He of Pharaoh's Subjects who feared the Word of the Lord, made his Servants and Cattle flee into the Houſes;

21. Whereas he who did not mind it, left them in the Field.

22. Afterwards the Lord ſaid to Moſes, Stretch out thy Hand towards Heaven, that there may be Hail in all the Country of Egypt; upon Man, Beaſt, and every Herb of the Field there.

23. He accordingly ſtretched out his Staff ſo; and the Lord gave forth Thunder, and Hail, nay Fire ran along on the Ground: thus he rained down the Hail upon the Country of Egypt.

24. With the Hail alſo was Fire flaſhing within it; very grievous, ſuch as there had not been in all the Country of Egypt, ſince it became a Nation.

25. So the Hail ſmote, in the whole Country of Egypt, all that was in the Field, both Man and Beaſt; as it did alſo every Herb of the Field, and broke every Tree of it.

ſtrangely puniſhed, the Aſhes of their Oppreſſion rekindling on their Fleſh.

Ver. 9. That they may] See Chap. vii. 19.

Ib. Bliſters] Coming from a Root which ſignifies to bubble or boil up.

Ver. 10. there was] not ſtrictly it was, or it became, becauſe it is not conſtrued with ל as in the foregoing Ver.

Ver. 14. ſend all my Plagues to thy Heart] All my former Plagues which thou wouldeſt not regard ſhall now, by means of this Plague that I will ſend, reach thy Heart, and the Hearts of the Egyptians, (for which ſee Ch. viii. 3.) as we find was done, Ver. 27, 34.

Ver. 15. Any Reader may ſee that this Verſe in our Bibles is abſolutely wrong; for the enſuing Plague was not the Peſtilence, nor were Pharaoh and his People cut off with that, but drowned in the Sea. Jun. and Trem. with Caſtal. and our Ainſworth, tranſlate in the Manner I have done it; and ſo the French Bib. has it. Patrick alſo owns he does not ſee how the com. Tranſlation can be maintained; Hammond calls it that Paſſage wherein our common Tranſlation hath ſo much miſtaken, Annot. on Rom. ix. 18. Moreover the Heb. Verb for ſtretched out, which directs the other, is in the preterite Tenſe; and Whitby on Rom. ix. 17. ſays, it cannot be rendered in the future Tenſe, as our Tranſlation doth.

Ver. 16. ſtand] It is the ſame common Heb. Verb which is thus rendered in the preſ. Bible, Ver. 10, 11. only here it is in the Conjugation Hiphil, to make or let another ſtand; as Wall on Rom. ix. 17. ſays Paul underſtands it by his arguing at Ver. 22. The Septuagint regarding the Senſe, tranſlated it, ἕνεκεν τούτου διετηρήθης, becauſe of this thou haſt been preſerved or kept alive; ſo the Biſhops, have I kept thee: which agrees exceeding well with the foregoing Verſe in this Tranſlation. The literal Lat. Verſion has, ſtare feci te, I have made thee ſtand; ſo the Marg. of the preſ. Tranſlat. ſays it is in Heb. made thee ſtand; Jun. and Trem. feci ut reſtares, I have cauſed that thou ſhouldeſt remain; the French Tranſ. je t'ai fait ſubſiſter, I have made thee ſubſiſt. An Inſtance of what Men will do in Favour of their own Opinions, is here in the Geneva Bible, which has appoynted, a Word foreign to any Meaning of the Original; nor will that which the Apoſtle repeats it by, Rom. ix. 17. bear ſuch a Signification, which is ἐξήγειρά σε, I have ſtirred thee up; the ſame Verb which is in the Greek Bible where we read, the Lord ſtirred up the Spirit of Cyrus, 2 Chron. xxxvi. 22. Ezra i. 1. and David ſaid to God in Prayer, ſtir up thy ſelf, Pſa. xxxv. 23. ſo in Pſa. lxxx. 2. ſtir up thy ſtrength; ſee alſo 1 Kings xi. 14. Iſa. x. 26. & xiii. 17. & xlii. 13. Acts xiv. 2. where is the ſimple Verb, or another Compound: which ſtirring up might well be the Conſequence of Pharaoh's Wickedneſs committed before, as Hammond on Rom. ix. 18. circumſtantially ſhews it was.

Ver. 17. This has no Mark of a Queſtion in the Hebrew.

Ver. 23. Hail] which was very uncommon there. Perry remarks that he ſaw one Shower of Hail when he was at Grand Cairo, which they told him, had not been obſerved before in any Man's Memory, View of the Levant, p. 255.

26. Only in the Country of Goſhen, where the Iſraelites were, there was none.

27. At length Pharaoh ſent for Moſes and Aaron, and ſaid to them; I have ſinned this Time: the Lord is righteous, but I and my People are wicked.

28. Make ſupplication to the Lord, ſince there has been much, that there may not be the Thunder of God and the Hail: then will I let you go, and you ſhall remain no longer.

29. To whom Moſes ſaid; As ſoon as I go out of the City, ſpreading forth my Hands to the Lord, the Thunder will ceaſe, and the Hail be no more, in order for thee to know that the Earth is the Lord's.

30. As for thee and thy Servants, I knew that you would firſt be afraid, becauſe of the Lord God.

31. Both the Flax and Barley were ſmitten; for this was in ear, and that out of the ſtalk.

32. But the Wheat and Rye were not ſmitten; becauſe they were not come out in ear.

33. And Moſes going out of the City from Pharaoh, ſpread forth his Hands to the Lord; upon which the Thunder and Hail ceaſed, and the Rain was not poured out on the Earth.

34. When Pharaoh therefore ſaw that the Rain, Hail, and Thunder were ceaſed; he ſinned again, making his Heart heavy, with his Servants.

35. Thus his Heart was ſo ſtout, that he would not let the Iſraelites go; as the Lord had ſpoken by the Miniſtry of Moſes.

CHAP. X.

TO him the Lord ſaid further; Go in to Pharaoh: though I have let his Heart be heavy, and the Hearts of his Servants; to the end that I might put theſe my Signs amongſt them;

2. And in order for thee to declare in the Hearing of thy Son and Grandſon, what I have done in Egypt, and my Signs which I have put among them; that you may know that I am the Lord.

3. Accordingly Moſes and Aaron went in to Pharaoh, and told him: Thus ſays the Lord God of the Hebrews; How long wilt thou refuſe to be humbled becauſe of me? Let my People go, that they may ſerve me.

4. For if thou refuſeſt to let them go, behold to Morrow I will bring Locuſts into thy Bounds.

Some expound it, not yet, which Ab. Ezra and Maimonides (two of the moſt noted and learned Jewiſh Rabbies) diſprove. Arias Montan. turns it here antequam; the Tigurin Verſ. has priuſquam; and the Gen. Bib. afore; as likewiſe Gell expounds it, and remarks that טרם is quite left out by our Tranſlators, Eſſay, p. 200, 201. I ſuppoſe the laſt Words of this Chapter might miſlead ſome, which may very well be underſtood of what was ſpoken by Moſes to the Iſraelites, and not to Pharaoh; compare Chap. iii. 19. with Chap. iv. 30.

Ver. 32. not come out in ear] Heb. obſcure. Patrick from Bochart expounds it not yet eared, by which it received leſs Harm; as there was but a Month's Difference between the Growth of Wheat and Barley. Uſher in his Annals, A. M. 2513, has this Plague on the 5th of the Month Abib, after which to the Feaſt of Weeks or Pentecoſt at the End of Wheat-harveſt was but ſixty Days, Lev. xxiii. 16. and as Harveſt began ſeven Weeks ſooner, Deut. xvi. 9. the Harveſt of Wheat and Rye, which was there the latter Part, would probably begin about five Weeks after this; ſo that they muſt needs be out of the Ground now, though Uſher himſelf ſays the contrary, and muſt be obſcure as above; and even by the Time of the Year, Pentecoſt in that Year by Uſher's Computation falling on the 25th of the Month now called June. Nay Benjamin in his Itinerary ſays, that in Egypt, באדר קוצרים חשערים ובניסן החטי׳ they reap Barley in Adar (the 12th Month) and Wheat in Niſan (or Abib, the 1ſt;) thoſe Months ſometimes falling ſooner; ſee likewiſe Fuller's Miſcel. Lib. iii. Cap. 11.

Ver. 1. though] Patrick ſays, 'ki is not to be tranſ-'lated for, but although, as it many times is uſed in theſe 'Books, and then the Senſe is clear,' Comment. in loc.

Ib. among ſt them] For which the Heb. Idiom is in the midſt &c. This has proved difficult to Tranſlators; ſome underſtanding it in the midſt of Egypt, as Trem. and Jun. with our Tranſlators of the Bible, put out by Authority before K. James, in which it is, in the middeſt of his realme: but ſince there is no Egypt for the antecedent to it, that Expoſition muſt needs be wrong; Egypt alſo is feminine, and the Pronoun here maſculine. Others render it, in the midſt of him, or in him, or in his inward parts; which would be to affect him, or make his Heart ſenſible, as before in Ver. 14. of the preceding Chap. this alſo is quite amiſs, for it is utterly inconſiſtent with the Words immediately before; that his Heart ſhould be made unapt and unfit to receive any Thing, that it might receive it. Beſides the Heb. Word no how ſignifies before, and the King's Tranſlators might much better have revived the Reading in Coverdale's Bib. under K. Edw. VI. which was among them. One may wonder none of them thought, as they muſt know, of the Heb. Singulars being uſed collectively for more; however Ch. iii. 26. confirms this Interpretation by the ſame Word, which ſee; and eſpecially the Verſe following this, where we find the Expreſſion varied, as is uſual, for the ſake of Elegancy, theſe my Signs by my Signs, שתי by שמתי I put, and in the midſt of them from the ſing. collectively, as the Grammarians ſpeak, by in them, that is among them; as in Chap. ix. 31, & 32., there is firſt was ſmitten ſpoken of two things, and then were ſmitten.

Ver. 2. you] Biſh. 1575, they.

Ver. 5. Proſpect] Heb. eye, not face; ſee further Ver. 15.

Ib. the reſt that] For what was the reſt or reſidue of that, as in the com. Tranſ. but not in the Heb. or what that which it was the reſidue of? Does any Diſtinction appear? And is it not abſurd? ſee alſo Ver. 12, 15.

Country,

Country, ſo that the Ground cannot be ſeen; and ſhall eat the reſt that is eſcaped, which is left you from the Hail, even every Tree that ſprings forth to you out of the Field.

6. Nay they ſhall fill thy Houſes, and the Houſes of all thy Servants, with all thoſe of the Egyptians; which neither thy Fathers nor Grandfathers have ſeen, from the Day they were firſt upon the Earth to this Day. So he turned away, and went out from Pharaoh.

7. At which Pharaoh's Servants expoſtulated with him, How long ſhall he be a Snare to us? Let the Men go, that they may ſerve the Lord their God: wouldeſt thou firſt know, that Egypt is deſtroyed?

8. Upon this Moſes and Aaron were brought back to him, who ſaid to them, Go, ſerve the Lord your God; who and who are to go?

9. We ſhall go, anſwered Moſes, with our Youths and Elders; ſhall go with our Sons and Daughters, with our Flocks and Herds; becauſe we have a Feaſt of the Lord.

10. But he replied to them, Let the Lord be ſo with you, as I ſhall let you and your Children go; take notice that there is Harm before your Faces.

11. Not ſo; go now, you Men, and ſerve the Lord; for that you have been requeſting. Whereupon they were driven out from his Preſence.

12. The Lord then ſaid to Moſes, Stretch out thy Hand over the Country of Egypt for Locuſts, that they may come up on it; and eat every Herb of the Ground, all which the Hail has left.

13. So Moſes ſtretched out his Staff over the ſame; and the Lord brought an Eaſt-wind into the Country, all that Day and all the Night; which, when it was Morning, brought up Locuſts.

14. And they came up over all the Country of Egypt, reſting in the whole Bounds of it; being ſo very grievous, that before them were no ſuch Locuſts as they, nor after them will there be ſuch.

15. For they covered the Proſpect of all the Country, ſo that the Country was darkened; and eat every Herb of it, with all the Fruit of the Trees, which the Hail had left; inſomuch that there did not remain any Greenneſs on the Trees, or on the Herbs of the Field, in the whole Country of Egypt.

16. With that Pharaoh made haſte to call Moſes and Aaron, and ſaid, I have ſinned both againſt the Lord your God, and you.

17. However now forgive, I pray, my Sin only this Time, and ſupplicate the Lord your God; that he may take away from me only this Death.

18. The former accordingly went out from him, and made ſupplication to the Lord.

19. Who turned the Wind to the Weſt very ſtrongly, which took away the Locuſts, and fixed them in the Red Sea; there being not one left in all the Borders of Egypt.

Ver. 6. were firſt] or began to be; as the Heb. Verb for reigned, ſignifies alſo began to reign or reigning, as often in the Books of the Kings.

Ver. 7. firſt] The Word commented on at the 30th Verſe of the laſt Chap. by the Interlineary Verſion as here, num antè ſcies, for which laſt Word Pagnin. had ſcire vis; which he more fully explains in his Lexic. thus, wouldeſt thou know before thou letteſt them go, that Egypt is periſhed? In the Tigurin Bib. is, viſne prius experiri Ægyptum eſſe perditam? Wouldeſt thou experience firſt, that Egypt is periſhed? As likewiſe in the French, ſauras-tu auparavant, wouldeſt thou know firſt? and in the Gen. wilt thou firſt know? Ab. Ezra expounds it by theſe Words, הטרם תרצה שיתברר לך כי אבדה מצרים Wouldeſt thou make it clear to thy ſelf firſt, that Egypt is periſhed? Our Tranſlators ſhould have been conſiſtent with themſelves, who render the ſame Word before in Chap. xii. 34. Gen. ii. 5. & xxiv. 45. Pſa. cxix. 67. and ere, 1 Sam. iii. 3.

Ver. 10. Let the Lord be ſo with you, as I ſhall let you and your Children go] That is not at all; meaning he would not let their Children go, as the next Verſe ſhews. The Senſe in the preſent Reading muſt be this, As I will let you and your little ones go, ſo let the Lord be with you, and accept of your going in that Manner; but not ſo which follows contradicts this, and makes it evident that the Words were an Irony.

Ib. take notice that] as Ver. 2. know that; threatening by it Something bad to them: conſonant to the Annotations of Jun. and Trem. Poole, &c.

Ver. 13. Locuſts] in our former Tranſ. graſhoppers.

Ver. 15. If the Locuſts covered the face of the whole earth, as our Tranſlators have told us, how did a Weſt-wind blow thoſe into the Red Sea, which were on the eaſt Side of it, Egypt lying on the weſt of that Sea?

Ver. 19. Red Sea] This through which the Iſraelites paſſed is in Heb. the Sea of Weeds, upon which perhaps the Locuſts faſtened. But the Ocean on the South of Arabia, from whence this Sea comes, being of a reddiſh Colour, as alſo the Banks, Sand, Stones and Trees of it, Raleigh's Hiſt. Chap. 3. 8. nay the Water of this Sea it ſelf, as Neitzſchitz ſays it ſeems, and the more ſo the clearer the Sun ſhines, hence it might obtain the Name of the Red Sea; but this Fuller earneſtly oppoſes, and brings others denying any ſuch Redneſs, while himſelf claims the Diſcovery of its being ſo named from Edom, which ſignifies red, Miſc. Sacr. L. iv. 20. being the Opinion that I think now prevails; and thus Red Sea ſhould mean but Sea of Edom, which is an Affront to common Senſe: nay thus it muſt have riſen from a Miſtake of Edom for red (which does not ſignify ſo in other Languages) but how could that be, when the Heb. has Sea of Suph, not Edom? The Notion of its being named ſo from an unknown King, may be juſtly rejected, with Fuller. And Balthazar Tellez the Jeſuit, in The Travels of the Jeſuits in Ethiopia, B. i. 6. pleads partly for its taking the Name from the Slaughter of the Egyptians there, and making the Sea red with their Blood; but what Effuſion of Blood does Drowning cauſe? As for his ſaying it was never called the Red Sea before, neither was it now, as above in the Original, and even this here was before that was done. Such Abſurdities are the Effect of interpreting Scripture by Tranſlations, without the Original.

20. Yet

20. Yet the Lord let Pharaoh's Heart be ſo ſtout, that he would not let the Iſraelites go.

21. Whereupon the Lord ſaid to Moſes, Stretch out thy Hand towards Heaven, that there may be ſuch Darkneſs upon the Country of Egypt, that it may be felt.

22. And he doing ſo, there was thick Darkneſs in all that Country three Days.

23. During which they did not ſee one another, nor any one riſe up from his Seat; whereas all the Iſraelites had Light in their Habitations.

24. Therefore Pharaoh called Moſes, and ſaid, Go, ſerve the Lord; only your Flocks and Herds ſhall be ſtayed: your Children too may go with you.

25. Nevertheleſs Moſes declared, Thou muſt alſo allow with us Sacrifices and Burnt-offerings; that we may ſacrifice to the Lord our God.

26. So that our Cattle alſo ſhall go with us, not a Hoof ſhall be left; becauſe we muſt take of them to ſerve the Lord our God: and we know not what we ſhall ſerve him with, till we come thither.

27. But the Lord let Pharaoh's Heart be ſo ſtout, that he did not conſent to let them go.

28. Pharaoh further exclaimed to him, Be gone from me: take heed to thy ſelf, thou ſee my Face no more; for on the Day thou doſt, thou ſhalt die.

29. And Moſes replied, Thou ſpeakeſt right: I ſhall ſee thy Face again no more.

CHAP. XI.

LASTLY the Lord ſaid to Moſes; I will yet bring one Plague upon Pharaoh and the Egyptians; after that he ſhall let you go from hence: when he does, he will haſtily drive you out hence altogether.

2. Speak now in the Hearing of the People, that they ſhould aſk each Man his Acquaintance, and each Woman hers, for Veſſels both of Silver and Gold.

3. For the Lord had made the People be in Favour with the Egyptians: the Man Moſes alſo was very great in the Country of Egypt, in the Regard both of Pharaoh's Servants and the People.

4. And he delcared: Thus ſays the Lord; About Midnight will I go forth into the midſt of Egypt.

5. And all the Firſt-born in that Country ſhall die, from the Firſt-born of Pharaoh who ſits upon his Throne, to that of the Servant-maid who is behind the Mill; with all the Firſtlings of the Beaſts.

6. So that there ſhall be a great Cry in all the Country of Egypt; ſuch as there has not been, nor ſhall be like it any more.

Ver. 22. thick] Gen. blacke.

Ib. Darkneſs] Of this Milton in Parad. Loſt, B. xii.

Darkneſs muſt overſhadow all his Bounds,
Palpable Darkneſs, and blot out three Days.

Ver. 23. nor any one riſe up] which might be from the Terror they were ſtriken with, as well as the Darkneſs; which Terror of the Darkneſs they felt, not the Thickneſs of it, as ſome have ignorantly imagined; for Darkneſs is nothing but the Abſence of Light.

Ver. 24. called Moſes] This ſeems to be after the Darkneſs was over, by their not ſtirring out of their Places while that continued, and by ſeeing his Face, Ver. 28.

Ib. your Children too may go] which he would not permit before, Ver. 10. Thus Pharaoh yielded unwillingly by little and little, Chap. viii. 25, 28. & xii. 32.

Ver. 25. with us] as Prov. vii. 20. 1 Sam. xvi. 2. for in our Hand. So that our Tranſlators have let with ſlip, but I ſuppoſe by taking in to be into.

Ver. 27. conſent] This Verb ſpeaks for my rendering it by would in the other Places.

Ver. 29. ſhall] For will ſounds too wilful.

Ver. 1. the Lord ſaid] This was while Moſes was with Pharaoh, according to the 8th Ver. compared with Chap. x. 29. conſequently it was an inward Revelation; the like to which ſee 2 Kings xx. 4. notwithſtanding Expoſitors write uncertainly of the Time when it was. Although the Author of State &c. p. 384. thinks we may fairly preſume, that the whole Speech of God here to Moſes was expreſſed originally, Part of which we have in the printed Heb. yet to me it ſeems quite otherwiſe; that if all had been in at firſt, all would have remained, or none: far better, and therefore I ſuppoſe only genuine, we have that alone which is not repeated in the Speech of Moſes, Ver. 4—8. At the End of our 3d Verſe the Sam. ſubjoins, to it's peculiar Honour, ſays our Critick, but ſay I, to its Suſpicion, Then ſaid Moſes to Pharaoh; Thus ſays the Lord, repeating that in Chap. iv. 22, 23.

Ib. haſtily] So Jun. has celeriter, which Chap. xii. 33. ſhews to be meant by repeating the Heb. Verb. This with drive out the Gen. render by chaſe.

Ver. 2. Acquaintance] Thoſe that they were familiar with, of whom they might get moſt; as Chap. iii. 22. it was Neighbours and Lodgers.

Ver. 3. had made] Reddiderat by Jun. and Trem. God had made the People be in Favour with the Egyptians, by thoſe great Things he had done for them; ſo that they would let the Iſraelites have what they ſhould aſk of them. This looks like Something out of joint in the preſent Tranſlation, or very ſtrange that it ſhould be done in that inſtant, between the Times of God's revealing to Moſes what he ſpoke to Pharaoh. By the Biſh. ſhall give.

Ib. the Man Moſes] Nothing unſuitable for Moſes himſelf to write; ſo far from it, that it is well known Julius Cæſar calls himſelf Cæſar, in the Hiſtory of his Wars.

Ver. 4. declared] "To Pharaoh, before he went out "of his Preſence," Ver. 8. & Exod. x. 29. Ainſw. in Annotat. "Quando ſcilicet adhuc ſtabat coram Pharaone; "That is when he yet ſtood before Pharaoh," Munſt. in Annotat.

Ver. 5. from &c.] Under this ſeems to be elegantly included the Firſt-born of both Sexes.

Ib. ſits] One may wonder to find Authors, as Ainſw. Poole, &c. applying this, when it will bear it ſo unaptly, to the Firſt-born of Pharaoh inſtead of himſelf; and yet aſcribe being behind the Mill to the Maid-ſervant, and not to her Firſt-born.

Ib. Firſtlings] Biſh. firſt gendred.

7. Whereas

7. Whereas a Dog ſhall not wag his Tongue at any of the Iſraelites, whether at Man or Beaſt; that you may know what Separation the Lord makes between the Egyptians and Iſrael.

8. Then ſhall all theſe thy Servants come down to me, and bowing to me, ſay, Go out, thou and all the People who accompany thee; after which I will go out. So he went forth from Pharaoh very angry.

9. For the Lord had ſaid to him, Pharaoh will not hearken to you; that I may multiply my Miracles in the Country of Egypt.

10. Accordingly when Moſes and Aaron did all theſe Miracles before Pharaoh, the Lord let his Heart be ſo ſtout, that he would not let the Iſraelites go out of his Country.

CHAP. XII.

AND the Lord ſpoke to Moſes and Aaron, in the Country of Egypt as follows:

2. This Month ſhall be to you the Beginning of the Months, the Firſt of thoſe in the Year.

3. Speak to all the Aſſembly of Iſrael, that on the tenth of it, they ſhould each Man take them a Lamb apiece, for every Family of their Fathers.

4. However if a Family is too little for there to be a Lamb, let him and his Neighbour next to his Houſe take one by the Sum of the Perſons: you ſhall each man reckon according to his eating for it.

5. Which ſhall be perfect for you, a Male in its firſt Year; you may take it either from the Sheep or Goats.

6. And you ſhall have it in Keeping till the fourteenth Day of this Month, when all the Aſſembly of Iſrael gathered together ſhall kill it within the Evening.

7. Next they ſhall take ſome of the Blood, and put upon the two Poſts, and the Lintel of the Door, at the Houſes in which they eat it.

8. They ſhall eat the Fleſh too that Night; which you ſhall do roaſted at the Fire, and with unleavened Cakes, as alſo bitter Herbs.

9. You ſhall not eat of it raw, or at all boiled in Water; but roaſted with Fire, the Head of it, together with its Legs and inward Parts.

10. Beſides you ſhall leave none of it till the Morning; but what is left of it till then ſhall burn with Fire.

11. And thus ſhall you eat it, with your Loins girded, your Shoes on your Feet, and your Staff in your Hand; as you ſhall alſo in Haſte, it being the Lord's Paſſover.

12. For I will paſs through the Country of Egypt that Night, and ſmite all the Firſt-born therein, both of Man and Beaſt; on all the gods likewiſe of the Egyptians will I execute Judgments, who am the Lord.

13. But the Blood ſhall be a Sign for you,

Ver. 9. For the Lord had ſaid] After this Sort ſome others tranſlate, which carries its own Evidence with it: for God did not now ſay to Moſes, Pharaoh ſhall not hearken to you, ſince they had no farther Meſſage to him.

Ver. 2. to you] For Chronology, Feſtivals, &c. 1 Kings vi. 1. Lev. xxiii. 39. Abib, which ſignifies green Corn, being thus made the firſt Month, anſwerable to ours called March, the 7th Month would be after the Fruit-gathering, as in the Text cited; but that is called the going out or end of the Year, Chap. xxiii. 16. and the Revolution of it, Chap. xxxiv. 22. which proves that the common Year began at Autumn. The following Quotations are from the celebrated Iſaac Newton, in his Obſervations upon the Prophecies of Daniel, "The Jews began their civil "Year from the autumnal Equinox, and their ſacred "Year from the vernal: and the firſt Day of the firſt "Month was on the viſible new Moon, which was neareſt "the Equinox, i. e. either before or after;" Chap. 10. Many Writers however ſuppoſe the firſt of the Evenings to be meant at twelve in the Day; for which Prideaux gives this Reaſon, quia media eſt inter veſperas præcedentis diei & conſequentis, becauſe it is the middle between the Evenings of the foregoing and following Days, Not. 13. to *Maimon. Ver. 8. that Night] not the Night with which the 14th Day began, but that following it, as Hammond ſhews on Mark xiv. 12.

upon the Houſes where you are; that when I ſee it, I may paſs over you: ſo the Plague ſhall not be on you for Deſtruction, when I ſmite in the Country of Egypt.

14. That Day ſhall therefore be to you for a Memorial, that you may keep it a Feaſt to the Lord; which you ſhall do in your Generations by a laſting Ordinance.

15. Seven Days you ſhall eat unleavened Cakes, but on the firſt Day ſhall you put away Leaven from your Houſes: for when any Perſon eats leavened Bread, from the firſt Day to the ſeventh, he ſhall be cut off from Iſrael.

16. There ſhall alſo be for you on the firſt Day a holy Aſſembling, and on the ſeventh Day the ſame: on them ſhall not any Work be done by you; only that alone which ſhall be done in eating by every Perſon.

17. Thus ſhall you obſerve the Day of unleavened Cakes, becauſe on that very Day I brought your Armies out of the Country of Egypt: therefore ſhall you obſerve it in your Generations by a laſting Ordinance.

18. In the firſt Month, on the fourteenth Day in the Evening, you ſhall eat unleavened Cakes, till the one and twentieth Day of the Month in the Evening.

19. Seven Days ſhall no Leaven be found in your Houſes: for when any Perſon eats that which is leavened, he ſhall be cut off from the Aſſembly of Iſrael, whether it is a Stranger, or a Native of the Country.

20. Not any thing leavened ſhall you eat; in all your Habitations you ſhall eat unleavened Cakes.

21. Moſes accordingly called all the Elders of Iſrael, and ſaid to them: Draw out, and take you thoſe of the Flock after your Families, and kill the Paſſover.

22. You ſhall likewiſe take a Bundle of Hyſſop, and dip in the Blood which is in the Baſon, then put ſome of it on the Lintel of the Door, and the two Poſts; and you ſhall not any one go out of the Door of his Houſe till the Morning.

23. For as the Lord paſſes to ſmite the Egyptians, and ſees the Blood upon the Lintel of the Door, and the two Poſts, he will paſs over the Door, and not let the Deſtruction come to ſmite in your Houſes.

24. Therefore ſhall you obſerve this Thing, for an Ordinance to thee and thy Children for ever.

25. In particular when you are come to the Country which the Lord will give you, as he has ſpoken, you ſhall obſerve this Service.

26. When your Children alſo aſk you, Why have you this Service?

27. You ſhall anſwer, It is the Sacrifice of the Lord's Paſſover, who paſſed over the Houſes of the Iſraelites in Egypt, when he ſmote the Egyptians, and delivered our Houſes. At this the People bowed, and worſhipped.

28. Moreover the Iſraelites went, and did, even according as the Lord commanded Moſes and Aaron.

29. And at Midnight the Lord ſmote all the Firſt-born in the Country of Egypt, from the Firſt-born of Pharaoh who ſate upon his Throne, to that of the Captive who was in

Ver. 14. in your Generations] The Scripture in Engliſh abounds with Inaccuracies, and ſometimes greater Faults, by not obſerving the Pointing. The Biſhops Bible before the preſent having for ever, explains it by theſe Words in the Margin, "That is, untill Chriſt's comming: for then Ceremonies had an end."

30. Inſomuch that Pharaoh roſe by Night, and all his Servants, with all the Egyptians, and there was a great Cry in Egypt: for there was not a Family where none was dead.

31. Upon this he called Moſes and Aaron by Night, and ſaid; Get ready, go out from among my People, both you and the Iſraelites; and go, ſerve the Lord as you have required.

32. According to which take your Flocks and Herds, and go; that you may alſo bleſs me.

33. Nay the Egyptians were earneſt concerning the People, to make haſte to let them go out of the Country: for they ſaid, All of us ſhall be dead.

34. So the People took up their Dough before it was leavened, their Kneading-troughs being bound up in their Cloaths upon their Shoulders.

35. Yet the Iſraelites did according to the Word of Moſes: for they aſked the Egyptians for Veſſels both of Silver and Gold, together with Cloaths.

36. And the Lord had made the People be in ſuch Favour with the Egyptians, that they gave them what was aſked: thus they ſpoiled the Egyptians.

37. Then the Iſraelites marched from Rameſes to Succoth, about ſix hundred thouſand Men on foot, beſides the Children.

38. And a great Mixture of People alſo went up with them; as likewiſe Flocks and Herds, Cattle very numerous.

39. Afterwards they baked the Dough, which they brought out of Egypt, in unleavened Cakes, ſince it was not leavened; becauſe they were driven out of Egypt, and could not ſtay, and beſides had not made Proviſion for themſelves.

40. Now the dwelling of the Iſraelites which they had in Egypt, was four hundred and thirty Years.

41. At the End of which Time, even on that very Day, all the Armies of the Lord came out of that Country.

42. That Night is a Night of Things to be obſerved to the Lord, for bringing them out thence; and this for all the Iſraelites in their Generations.

43. The Lord ſaid further to Moſes and Aaron: This is the Ordinance of the Paſſover; there ſhall no Son of a Stranger eat of it.

Ib. to make haſte to let them go] This is the literal Reading: ſo that Pharaoh conſented at laſt by means of the Egyptians, but hypocritically attributed it to himſelf, that you may bleſs me; which ſhews his deſperate Wickedneſs. I think Tranſlators have wreſted this Place by having too much, or rather too little, Regard to what was foretold, Chap. xi. 8. turning this in ſuch a manner as to ſhew that was fulfilled: but if they had obſerved the former more narrowly, and Ver. 31. of this Chap. they might have ſeen the Words of Moſes muſt be verified when Pharaoh's Servants went down to call him.

Ver. 34. leavened] Tynd. ſowered.

Ver. 36. they gave them what was aſked] I preſume it cannot be proved that שאל ever ſignifies to borrow or lend, though our Tranſlators have rendered it by both in this and the preceding Verſe. In the former all my Lat. Verſions have aſked, with the Genev. Tranſ. and Ainſworth's in Engliſh. Here being the ſame Verb in another Conjugation, Jun. and Trem. turn it, dederint eis petentibus, they gave them the Things aſked; ſo the Tigur. Tranſlator, petita darent eis; Munſter has, poſtulata concederent eis, they granted them the Things aſked; Caſtal. petitis & impetratis, the Things being aſked and obtained, in his free Manner of tranſlating; but our Bible, which the King's Tranſlators were to amend, had they granted their requeſt; Ainſworth more exactly, they gave them their aſking. What Pains have ſome taken by reading only the com. Bible, to juſtify the Iſraelites in borrowing and not paying again! Concerning the Action Mercer on Hoſ. i. 2. writes well, Non furtum fuit, ſed juſta merces debita Iſraelitis pro longa ſervitute quam Deus juſtiſſimus judex inſis tribuit: It was not Theft, but the juſt Pay owed to the Iſraelites for their long Service, which God the moſt juſt Judge rendered to them.

Ver. 40. dwelling] It comes from the Verb here following it, which ſignifies to ſit, dwell or abide, but not to ſojourn.

Ib. which they] In this manner the Vulg. Latin, Pagninus, Montanus, Caſtalio, Munſter, Junius and Tremellius, the Lat. Tranſ. of the Targum, the Tigurin Verſion, Tyndal, Coverdale, and the Gen. and Biſh. Bibles have it. The Reader may ſee it explained at the End of this Book: who dwelt betrays it ſelf not to be right, by its aukward Appearance, being odd and ſuperfluous. Nay if we read, the dwelling of the Iſraelites was 430 Years, it will be inſignificant: for to reckon only back, it takes in Part of Abraham's Life before he had any Children; and we might well ſay according to this, Why not all? Since he dwelt ſomewhere, before the Promiſe of God was given to him, as well as after; for this makes the dwelling indefinitively to be ſo much; the Heb. Word alſo being not ſojourning. Nay to date it as uſual, from his going firſt into Canaan, he dwelt or ſojourned in Haran before, as he did there. Beſides the tranſlating in this ſort diſagrees with the Greek and Samaritan Copies, and rejects the Helps we have from thence; the latter of which runs in this manner, "The dwelling of the Iſraelites "and their Fathers, by which they dwelt in the Country "of Canaan, and in the Country of Egypt, was 430 "Years;" ſo the Greek adds, and in the Country of Canaan.

Ib. had] Heb. dwelt.

Ver. 42. of Things to be obſerved] Heb. of Obſervations.

Ver. 43. Son of a Stranger] who was not of the Race of Iſrael (for that was the Criterion) though he himſelf was no Stranger to them; ſo that our Tranſlators ſhould not have been ſo officious in leaving out, as here and Ver. 29.

46. In one Houſe ſhall it be eat, without thy carrying of the Fleſh thence abroad; nor ſhall you break a Bone of it.

47. All the Aſſembly of Iſrael ſhall keep the Paſſover.

48. And when a Perſon ſojourns with thee, who will keep it to the Lord, every Male that he has ſhall be circumciſed; and then he may come near to keep it, and ſhall be as a Native of the Country: but none who is uncircumciſed ſhall eat of it.

49. There ſhall be one Law for a Native, and for a Perſon who ſojourns among you.

50. Thus all the Iſraelites did, even according as the Lord commanded Moſes and Aaron.

51. It was alſo on that very Day, the Lord brought the Iſraelites out of the Country of Egypt by their Armies.

CHAP. XIII.

MOREOVER the Lord ſpoke thus to Moſes,

2. Conſecrate to me all the Firſt-born, that open every Womb among the Iſraelites, both of Man and Beaſt; which ſhall be mine.

3. Accordingly Moſes ſaid to the People: Remember this Day on which you came out of Egypt, from the Place of Slaves; for by Strength of Hand has the Lord brought you out from thence; and there ſhall be no leavened Bread eat.

4. To day you came out, in the Month of Abib.

5. When the Lord therefore brings thee to the Country of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, Hivites and Jebuſites, which he ſware to thy Fathers he would give thee, a Country that flows with Milk and Honey, thou ſhalt do this Service in this Month.

6. Seven Days ſhalt thou eat unleavened Cakes: and on the ſeventh Day there ſhall be a Feaſt to the Lord.

7. Unleavened Cakes ſhall not only be eat ſeven Days, but there ſhall be no leavened Bread ſeen with thee, nor yet Leaven in all thy Bounds.

8. Beſides thou ſhalt tell thy Son at that Time, that it is becauſe of what the Lord did for thee, when thou cameſt out of Egypt.

9. It ſhall further be to thee for a Sign upon thy Hand, and a Memorial between thy Eyes, that the Law of the Lord may be in thy Mouth; becauſe by a ſtrong Hand he has brought thee out of Egypt.

10. Therefore ſhalt thou obſerve this Ordinance at its appointed Time from Year to Year.

11. And when the Lord brings thee into the Country of the Canaanites, as he ſware to thee and thy Fathers, that he would give it to thee;

12. Thou ſhalt make all that open the Womb paſs to the Lord: as alſo the Males of all the Young of Beaſts, that open, which thou haſt, ſhall be his.

13. Nevertheleſs him that opens of an Aſs thou ſhalt redeem with a Lamb; or if thou wilt not, ſhalt cut off his Head: all the Firſt-born likewiſe of Man among thy Sons ſhalt thou redeem.

14. When thy Son too aſks thee thus hereafter, Why is this? Thou ſhalt ſay to him; By Strength of Hand the Lord brought us out of Egypt, from the Place of Slaves.

15. For when Pharaoh made it hard to let us go, the Lord ſlew all the Firſt-born in the Country of Egypt, both that of Man and the Firſtlings of the Beaſts: therefore I ſacrifice to the Lord the Males of all that open the Womb, but all the Firſt-born of my Sons I redeem.

16. So it ſhall be for a Sign upon thy Hand, and Frontlets between thy Eyes; becauſe by Strength of Hand the Lord brought us out of Egypt.

17. Now upon Pharaoh's letting the People go, God did not lead them the Way of the Philiſtines Country, though it was near; leſt, as he ſaid, the People ſhould repent when they ſaw War, and return to Egypt.

18. But God had them about the Way of the Wilderneſs of the Red Sea; and the Iſraelites went up in military Order out of the Country of Egypt.

19. And Moſes took Joſeph's Bones with him: for he had charged the Iſraelites ſtrictly by Oath as follows, When God viſits you throughly, you ſhall carry up my Bones from hence with you.

20. Then they marched from Succoth, and encamped in Etham, at the End of the Wilderneſs.

21. The Lord alſo went before them by Day in a Pillar of a Cloud, to lead them in the Way, and at Night in a Pillar of Fire to give them light, that they might go on both by Day and Night.

22. He neither took away the former by Day, nor the latter by Night; which was before the People.

CHAP. XIV.

AND the Lord ſpoke to Moſes as follows;

2. Tell the Iſraelites that they ſhould turn away, and encamp before the Mouth of Hiroth, between Migdol and the Sea; encamping before Baal-zephon over againſt it, by the Sea.

3. Then Pharaoh will ſay of them; They are entangled in the Country, the Wilderneſs has ſhut them up.

4. And I will let his Heart be ſo ſtout, that he ſhall purſue after them; whereby I will be honoured on him, and all his Army, and the Egyptians ſhall know that I am the Lord. And they did ſo.

5. Accordingly when it was told this King of Egypt that the People were fled, the Heart of him and his Servants was turned towards them, and they ſaid, What is this we have done, that we have let Iſrael go from ſerving us?

6. Upon which he harneſſed his Chariot, and took his People with him;

7. As he did alſo ſix hundred choſen Chariots, and all thoſe of Egypt, with Captains over them all.

8. For the Lord let his Heart be ſo ſtout, that he might purſue after the Iſraelites; who went out with a high Hand.

9. So all the Horſes, the Chariots of Pharaoh, as well as his Egyptian Horſemen and Army, purſued after them, and overtook them encamping by the Sea, againſt the Mouth of Hiroth, before Baal-zephon.

10. Which when Pharaoh brought near; the Iſraelites looked up, and behold the Egyptians were marching after them: exceedingly afraid at this, they cried out to the Lord.

11. Nay they ſaid to Moſes; Was it becauſe there were no Graves at all in Egypt, that thou tookeſt us away to die in the Wilderneſs? What is it thou haſt done to us, to bring us out of Egypt?

12. Is not this the very Expreſſion which we uſed to thee there, Let us alone, that we may ſerve the Egyptians: for it is better for us to do that, than to die in the Wilderneſs?

13. But Moſes anſwered the People, Be not afraid, ſtand ſtill, and ſee the Salvation of the Lord, which he will perform for you to Day: for ſuch as you have ſeen the Egyptians to Day, you ſhall ſee them again no more for ever.

14. The Lord will fight for you; ſo do you be ſilent.

15. And the Lord ſaid to Moſes; Why doſt thou cry to me? Tell the Iſraelites, that they ſhould go on.

16. Do thou alſo lift up thy Staff, and ſtretch out thy Hand upon the Sea, and cleave it aſunder; that the Iſraelites may go into the midſt of it on dry Ground.

17. I my ſelf too, behold, will let the Egyptians Hearts be ſo ſtout, that they ſhall nal Root does not afford ſuch a Meaning, and as it is indiſputable that the Iſraelites were not now armed, ſome other Signification is to be ſought. It being evidently derived from the Heb. Word for five, appears alſo by the other Texts to denote Something belonging to an Army, beſides that Hottinger derives the Word (which would be hamuſh in the ſingular Number) from the Arabick hamis, ſignifying an Army of five Parts, the Center, Front, Rear, and both Wings, Smegma Orient. p. 71. ſo that it is properly rendered as above. Harneſſed belongs to Horſes, which others would have girded, as if at the fifth Rib, to bear ſome Likeneſs to the Root: which ſeems too weak, and would rather in that manner have been derived from Loins; why moreover ſhould Moſes mention the Iſraelites being girded only? Nay by their going out in ſuch Haſte as they did, and at Night too, Chap. xii. 31, 33, 34, 37, 42. it is unlikely they were ſo dreſſed, that Moſes ſhould make particular Mention of it.

Ver. 2. the Mouth] which is expounded, and by ſome of the beſt Tranſlators rendered, the Streights; Coverdale ſays, the valley of Hyroth. Ha is a Heb. Article put before proper Names of Places.

Ver. 3. entangled] Old Tranſlations tangled.

Ver. 7. over] Biſh. upon.

Ver. 8. with a high Hand] boldly, as appears by Num. xxxiii. 3. & xv. 30.

Ver. 9. againſt] beſide diſagrees with before, Ver. 2.

Ver. 10. brought near] that is his Army beforementioned; and the Verb being in Hiphil makes it of that Meaning.

Ver. 12. it is better] I do not ſee how any could underſtand this to be added now, and not to be Part of what ſome of the Iſraelites ſaid to Moſes in Egypt; ſince they knew before they were to go into the Wilderneſs, and doubtleſs they gave their Reaſon for being unwilling.

Ver. 13. ſuch as] or what; and this is the Order of the Heb. Words, as well as what the Meaning requires; ſince the Iſraelites did ſee the Egyptians again the next Day, Ver. 30. though different as here, from what they were now.

Ver. 16. into the midſt] It is the ſame Ver. 22.

go in after them: whereby I will be honoured on Pharaoh and all his Army, on his Chariots and Horſemen.

18. And the Egyptians ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I am honoured on him and them.

19. Beſides the Angel of God, who went before the Camp of Iſrael, removed, and went behind them: the Pillar of the Cloud likewiſe removed from before them, and ſtood behind them;

20. Which coming between the Camp of the Egyptians and that of Iſrael, was a Cloud and Darkneſs behind, yet made the Night light before: whereby the former came not near the latter all the Night.

21. So Moſes ſtretched out his Hand upon the Sea, and the Lord made it go away by a ſtrong Eaſt-wind all the Night, by which he made it dry Land: thus the Water was cleaved aſunder.

22. And the Iſraelites went into the midſt of the Sea on dry Ground, the Water being a Wall to them both on their right Hand and left.

23. However the Egyptians purſued, and went in after them, all the Horſes of Pharaoh, his Chariots and Horſemen, to the midſt of the Sea.

24. But in the Morning Watch, the Lord looking at the Egyptians Army, through the Pillar of Fire and the Cloud, routed it.

25. For he pulled off the Wheels of their Chariots, ſo that they got them along heavily: whereupon the Egyptians ſaid, Let us flee from the Preſence of Iſrael, becauſe the Lord fights for them againſt the Egyptians.

26. Moreover the Lord ſaid to Moſes, Stretch out thy Hand upon the Sea; that the Waters may return upon the Egyptians, their Chariots and Horſemen.

27. Which he did accordingly, and the Sea returned to its Force at the Appearance of the Morning, while the Egyptians were fleeing againſt it: ſo the Lord ſhook them off into the midſt of the Sea.

28. And the Waters returning, covered the Chariots and Horſemen of all Pharaoh's Army, that went into the Sea after them: there was not even one of them left.

Ver. 20. behind] from Ver. 19. and before by Antitheſis; or was there: being light on one Side, and dark on the other, as in the Jeruſalem Targum.

Ver. 21. Eaſt-wind] The Manner of this extraordinary Work of the Almighty Power ſeems to have been thus: An impetuous Eaſt-wind, extending as wide as the Paſſage was to be, agreeable to what we may obſerve in a Storm, would drive the Water where it paſſed againſt the weſtern Shore; by which it being ſtopped, muſt conſequently ſwell up, and make its Way at the Sides, Ver. 22. Chap. xv. 8. this being done, the Wind might continue to keep it there, till the Iſraelites were got through, and the Egyptians entered into the Sea. Then the Wind abating firſt at the weſt Side, perhaps by meeting an oppoſite Wind from the Atlantick Ocean, and being rebounded back by the Mountains, the Waters there would run in behind the Egyptians; which they finding, and diſcovering their Situation by the morning Light, Ver. 27. endeavoured in vain to get back before the Flood was too high, Ver. 25, 27. and the falling of the Wind from the Weſt to the Eaſt, would direct the Courſe of the returning Water that Way; by the violent Force of which the dead Bodies being carried towards the eaſtern Shore, the Iſraelites ſaw them, as related Ver. 30. The Egyptians too in the Eagerneſs of Purſuit, might go in a leſs Breadth than the Iſraelites (which latter might ſpread a Mile) and it being Night, as well as the Cloud making it dark, Ver. 20. might not ſee the Water at their Sides, and ſo not know they were in the Sea till it was behind them, as already mentioned; and from Egypt acroſs the Red Sea is eaſtward, which the more confirms this Account. As to the Pretence that the Iſraelites went a ſort of ſemicircular Journey in the Sea, at the Ebbing of the Water, and came out on the ſame Side they went in, it is inconſiſtent with an Eaſt-wind making the Paſſage. And the Plea of their being in the Wilderneſs of Etham both before and after, from Chap. xiii. 20. & Num. xxxiii. 8. may amount to no more than this; that the Wilderneſs of Etham, otherwiſe called that of Shur, Chap. xv. 22. being on the eaſt Side of the Red Sea, reached to or round the End of the Sea, and at that End of the Wilderneſs was the Town of Etham, Chap. xiii. 20. from whence the Iſraelites turned, going on the weſt Side of the Sea, farther from the End of it, before they croſſed over, Ver. 2. on purpoſe to bring this great Thing to paſs, as appears by Ver. 3, 4. ſo all agrees together; ſee alſo 1 Cor. x. 1. Joſ. Antiq. ii. 7.

Any Pretence indeed of this wonderful Affair being performed by the uſual Ebbing and Flowing of the Tide, might be neglected as unworthy of an Anſwer; ſince ſome of the Egyptian Army at leaſt, muſt needs know the Courſe and Time of their own adjacent Tides; and as the natural Tide there after an Ebb would flow northward (the Ocean from whence it comes being on the South) the dead Bodies would have been driven to the North, away from the Sight of the Iſraelitiſh Army, which went on eaſtward, and the Egyptians contrary to all Senſe would have fled ſouthward, Ver. 27.

According to Diodorus Sicul. Lib. iii. 3. there was an old Tradition with the Ichthyophagites, that is Fiſh-eaters, who dwelt by the Red Sea, to the very End of it, and were the ancient Natives, Ibid. Cap. 1. that formerly, as they had it from their Foreſathers, there was ſuch a great Ebbing of the Sea to the other Side, that the whole Bottom became dry, and appeared green (which might rationally be, ſince it is called in Heb. the Weedy Sea) but by a huge Tide the Water returned again to the old Channel.

Now as this King was Amenophis (as will be ſhewn in the Catalogue at Exod. xl.) from the End of whoſe Reign backward to the Beginning of that of Salatis, was 592 Years and 10 Months, conſequently Salatis began reigning in the Month called July, at Harveſt-time, eſpecially as it is forward in that

29. Whereas the Iſraelites walked on dry Ground in the middle of the Sea, the Waters being a Wall to them, both on their right Hand and left.

30. Thus the Lord ſaved Iſrael that Day from the Power of the Egyptians; whom they ſaw dead upon the Sea-ſhore.

31. And when they ſaw the great Hand by which the Lord wrought againſt the Egyptians, the People feared him; they alſo believed the Lord, and his Servant Moſes.

CHAP. XV.

THEN Moſes and the Iſraelites ſung this Song to the Lord, ſaying as follows: I will ſing to the Lord, ſince he is highly exalted; the Horſes and Horſemen has he thrown down in the Sea.

2. Of the Lord is my Power and Praiſe, and of him is Preſervation to me: this is my God, and I will make him a Habitation; the God of my Father, and I will extol him.

3. The Lord is a Warrior, whoſe Name is the Lord.

4. The Chariots of Pharaoh, and his Army it ſelf, has he flung down in the Floods; and the Choice of his Captains ſunk within the Red Sea.

5. The gulfy Grave whelmed them over: they, lifeleſs like a Stone, deſcended the Deep.

6. Thy right Hand, O Lord, is magnificent in Power: thy right hand, O Lord, daſhes the Enemy to pieces.

7. And by the Greatneſs of thy Excellency thou overthroweſt thoſe who riſe up againſt thee: when thou ſendeſt forth thy burning Wrath, it conſumes them as eaſily as Stubble.

8. Even by thy breathing upon them, the Waters were piled up mountainous, the Floods as it were heaped up one on another, the liquid Abyſs was ſtiffened to the very Heart of the Sea.

9. Though the Enemy boaſted, I will purſue, overtake, divide the Spoil: my Deſire ſhall be filled with them, I will draw forth my Sword, my Hand ſhall impoveriſh them;

10. Thou blowing with thy Wind, the Sea rolled over them: now ponderous like Lead, they were immerſed in the watery downward Death.

11. Who among the gods is like thee, O Lord? Who like thee, in ſuch Splendor of Holineſs, awefully admired, working wonderful Things?

12. Upon thy ſtretching out thy right Hand, the yawning Earth ſwallowed them up.

13. This thy ranſomed People thou leddeſt out by thy Kindneſs; and guideſt along by thy Strength, to thy holy Habitation.

14. People who hear, muſt be moved; Anguiſh will ſeize the Inhabitants of Philiſtia.

15. Then will the Dukes of Edom be troubled, Moab's ſtrong Men ſhall Trembling take hold of, and all that dwell in Canaan be diſſolved.

Ver. 2. make him a Habitation] Tynd. glorifye him, as alſo the Biſh. from the Vulg. Lat. or Gr. as that by taking the Meaning of the Verb נוה from a Noun of the ſame Letters, ſignifying beautiful or pleaſant.

Ver. 3. Warrior] as I tranſlate elſewhere, when ſpoken of Men; and God is not a Man, Num. xxiii. 19.

Ver. 5. deſcended the Deep] How far ſank into the bottom, or ſank ſo as a ſtone, may be right, had the Heb. been thus, and then how conſonant to Chap. xiv. 30. the Reader may conſider.

Ver. 6. daſhes the Enemy to pieces] Tynd. and Biſh. hath all to daſhed the enymye.

Ib. daſhes] Since the Heb. Tenſe changes from the paſt in this and the next Verſe, and then returns to it again, and as theſe Verſes may well ſpeak of Enemies in general; I thought it beſt to image this Turn of the Original.

Ver. 7. burning] as the Heb. Word ſignifies.

Ver. 8. breathing] with no Irreverence, as Arm or Hand for Power, Eye for Knowledge, and the like, but not diminutive Parts.

Ver. 9. Though the Enemy boaſted] being no other than The Enemy ſaying.

Ib. impoveriſh] or diſpoſſeſs them (for the Word ſignifies both, but not deſtroy) of the Riches which they had got from the Egyptians at their Departure, the Spoil that thoſe now thought to divide: accordingly the literal Interlineary Verſion has, depauperabit; and by Ch. xiv. 5. the Egyptians did not intend to deſtroy them.

Ver. 11. Splendor of Holineſs] The heathen gods being ſcandalouſly unholy, not only as repreſented by their own Poets, but as being Tyrants and Debauchees deified; ſuch were alſo feared without being loved, and could not act ſupernaturally.

Ver. 12. the yawning Earth ſwallowed] as the Cavity of the Sea may well be called, and compared to a Mouth of the Earth.

Ver. 13. This] which the Heb. has here and in Ver. 16.

Ver. 14. moved] as Gen. xlv. 24. from whence ſome turn it here angry, others trembled; Coverdale raged.

Ib. Philiſtia] Thus it is read in the Pſalms, viz. lx. 8. & lxxxvii. 4. & cviii. 9.

16. Terror

16. Terror and Dread will fall down upon them, by the Greatneſs of thy Arm they will be as ſilent as a Stone; till thy People paſs through, O Lord, till this People paſs through, thoſe of thy purchaſing.

17. Them wilt thou bring in, them plant on the Mountain thou poſſeſſeſt, the Settlement thou haſt made for thy ſelf, Lord, to inhabit; the Sanctuary, O Lord, thy own Hands have eſtabliſhed.

18. The Lord will reign for ever and evermore.

19. For Pharaoh's Horſes, of his Chariots and Horſemen, marched into the Sea, whoſe Waters the Lord brought back upon them: whereas the Iſraelites walked on dry Land through the middle of the fluid Profound.

20. Miriam alſo the Propheteſs, Aaron's Siſter, taking a Timbrel in her Hand, and all the Women going out after her with Timbrels and Dances;

21. She anſwered them, Sing to the Lord, ſince he is highly exalted: the Horſes and Horſemen has he thrown down in the Sea.

22. Afterwards Moſes made Iſrael march from the Red Sea, that they might go forth into the Wilderneſs of Shur; in which going three Days, they found no Water.

23. And they came to Marah, the Name of which was ſo called, by reaſon they could not drink the Water of it, becauſe it was bitter.

24. At this the People murmured againſt Moſes, aſking what they ſhould drink?

25. With that he cried to the Lord, who ſhewing him a Tree, that he ſhould throw into the Water, whereby it became ſweet; he there made for them an Ordinance and a Rule, and there he tried them.

26. For he ſaid; If you will at all hearken to what the Lord your God ſays, ſo that you will do what he approves of, and give ear to his Commandments, ſo that you will obſerve all his Ordinances; I will not put upon you any Diſeaſe which I did on the Egyptians, for I the Lord am your Healer.

27. So they came to Elim, and there were twelve Fountains of Water, with ſeventy Palm-trees; and they encamped there by the Water.

CHAP. XVI.

NEXT they marched from thence, and the whole Aſſembly of the Iſraelites went into the Wilderneſs of Sin, which is between Elim and Sinai; on the fifteenth Day of the ſecond Month, of their coming out of the Country of Egypt.

2. Where they all murmured againſt Moſes, and Aaron.

3. To whom they ſaid, Oh that we had died by the Hand of the Lord in the Country of Egypt, when we ſate by the Pots of Fleſh, when we eat Bread to the full! for you have brought us forth into this Wilderneſs, to make all this Congregation die for Hunger.

4. Upon which the Lord ſaid to Moſes; Behold I will rain down Bread for you from Heaven; ſo that the People ſhall go out, and gather each Day's Quantity the very ſame Day, that I may try them, whether they will walk in my Law, or not.

5. And on the ſixth Day they ſhall dreſs what they bring in, which ſhall be the double of what they gather Day by Day.

6. So Moſes and Aaron told all the Iſraelites; When it is Evening you ſhall know that the Lord brought you out of the Country of Egypt.

7. As alſo when it is Morning you ſhall ſee the Glory of the Lord, by his hearing your Murmurings againſt himſelf (for what are we, that you ſhould murmur againſt us?)

Ver. 16. ſilent] for ſtill rather carries another Meaning.

Ver. 17. Settlement] It comes from the Verb rendered eſtabliſhed at the End of the Verſe.

Ver. 19. of his] Beth is in this Manner of when two Genitives follow each other, as Chap. xiii. 2. & xii. 19. otherwiſe it would be in; not with a Conjunction, much leſs and with.

Ver. 21. them] the Men, as the Heb. Gender ſhews.

Ver. 22. no Water] So in the Stages from Grand Cairo to Mecha, the Road of which muſt be hereabout, ſeveral are mentioned to have no Water, in Ray's Collect. of Travels, Tom. ii. Ch. 3. others to have it bitter like Marah, Ver. 23. and one with freſh Water called the Caſtle of Palms, which by the Name and Situation ſeems to be Elim, Ver. ult.

Ver. 23. Marah] Bitterneſs.

Ver. 25. them] This and the following Pronouns, as alſo the Verbs, through the next Verſe, are indeed ſingular, but for an obvious and common Reaſon, becauſe People, the Antecedent that is ſpoken of is ſo; and not as Shuckford has lately and ſtrangely written, that Moſes himſelf was here applied to, Connect. Vol. iii. B. 10. As for the Statute and Judgment, they are eaſily found in the following Verſe, and much more likely than Moſes's putting a Bough into the Waters, as he has it. How evidently alſo is it the People who ſhould not have the Egyptians Diſeaſes, &c?

Ver. 26. Healer] Having then healed the Water, as 2 Kings ii. 21, 22. from whence the Term of this Covenant.

Ver. 1. went into] as in Chap. xix. 1. Num. xxxiii. 11. and here the Tranſlations of Pagn. Mont. Caſt. Jun. and Trem. with the Vulg. Lat. have in with an Accuſ. Caſe for into.

Ib. of their coming] The Months being reckoned by that, Chap. xii. 2.

Ver. 3. Oh that] ſo the Gen.

Ver. 5. dreſs] See Ver. 23.

Ver. 6. the Lord] Becauſe they murmuring, ſaid Moſes and Aaron brought them out, Ver. 3.

8. When

8. When the Lord gives you, added Moſes, Fleſh to eat in the Evening, and Bread in the Morning to the full, by his hearing your Murmurings which you make againſt him: for what are we? They are not againſt us, but againſt the Lord.

9. For Moſes had bid Aaron ſay to the whole Aſſembly of the Iſraelites, Come near before the Lord, becauſe he has heard your Murmurings.

10. Aaron therefore ſpoke to them all; and they looking towards the Wilderneſs, behold the Glory of the Lord appeared in the Cloud.

11. Then the Lord ſpoke to Moſes as follows;

12. I have heard the Murmurings of the Iſraelites; tell them, that within the Evening they ſhall eat Fleſh, and in the Morning ſhall be filled with Bread; and ſo ſhall know that I am the Lord their God.

13. Accordingly in the Evening Quails came up, which covered the Camp; and in the Morning there was Dew lay round about it.

14. And when that went up, behold upon the Surface of the Wilderneſs was a little round Thing, as ſmall as the white Froſt upon the Ground.

15. Which the Iſraelites ſeeing, ſaid one to another, It is Manna; as they did not know what it was: but Moſes told them; It is the Bread which the Lord has given you to eat.

16. This is the Thing that the Lord has commanded, Gather you of it, each according to his eating; taking an Omer for a Head by the Number of your Perſons, each one for thoſe who are in his Tent.

17. And the Iſraelites did ſo; gathering more or leſs.

18. This they meaſured with an Omer, that he who got more might have none over, and he who got leſs might have none wanting; they having gathered according to their reſpective eating.

19. Moſes ſaid further to them, Let none leave of it till the Morning.

20. Nevertheleſs they did not hearken to him; for there were Men who left of it till then, but it bred Worms, and ſtunk: therefore Moſes was in a Wrath with them.

21. Thus they gathered it each Morning, every one according as his eating was: for when the Sun became hot, it melted.

22. And on the ſixth Day, they gathering double Bread, two Omers for one Perſon; all the Princes of the Aſſembly came, and told Moſes.

23. Who ſaid to them, It is what the Lord ſpoke; to Morrow is the Reſt of the holy Sabbath to him: bake what you will, and boil what you will; and all that is over, lay up for you to be kept till the Morning.

24. Which they doing as Moſes commanded; it neither ſtunk, nor was there a Worm in it.

25. And Moſes ſaid, Eat it to Day; for this is the Sabbath to the Lord: you ſhall not find it in the Field to Day.

26. Six Days ſhall you gather it; but on the ſeventh Day, the Sabbath, there will not be any.

27. So on that Day, when ſome of the People went out to gather, they found none.

28. Whereupon the Lord ſaid to Moſes; How long do you refuſe to obſerve my Commandments, and Laws?

29. See, becauſe the Lord has given you the Sabbath, therefore he gives you on the ſixth Day the Bread of two Days: abide you each one at his Seat, let not any one go out of his Place on the ſeventh Day.

30. The People accordingly reſted on the ſeventh Day.

Ver. 9. For Moſes had bid] I doubt not but the intelligent and conſiderate Reader will be of my Mind, that this and the three next Verſes in the Order of Hiſtory would have been before Ver. 4. eſpecially when he ſhall obſerve the many Inſtances that may be found of this Nature; a few of which ſee behind, Gen. ii. 19. & xii. 1. & xiv. 4. & xxiv. 65. Exod. xi. 3. with Ch. xix. 2. Such poſtponing of Matters might be for the ſake of Elegancy, and to exerciſe the Diligence of the Hearers, it being left doubtful in the Heb. Words.

Ver. 15. Manna] Heb. man; which ſignifies prepared Food, as Wiſd. xvi. 20. not what, as Shuckford aſſerts, Connect. B. x. (to be, what is it?) that being the Chald. man; nor is there any thing for a Queſtion, as in Heb. Thus alſo it will bear a good ſpiritual Meaning. Not knowing either Name or Nature belonging to it, they properly gave it this Name, ſignifying that Providence had prepared it: which is not a Contradiction to the next Words, as ſome have aſſerted, Stackh. Hiſt. iv. 1.

Ver. 16. an Omer] about the Quantity of ſix Engliſh Wine Pints: by Tynd. and Biſh. gomer.

Ver. 18. that he] See Shuckford's Connect. of Sacr. and Proph. Hiſt. Vol. iii. Lib. 10. where he blames the com. Tranſ. as if it hinted that God miraculouſly ordered it, by diminiſhing and increaſing the Quantities, for every one to have his exact Number of Omers, when it was meaſured; whereas there would then have been no Need of meaſuring it.

Ib. having gathered according to their reſpective eating] That is by gueſs before it was meaſured, to have ſo many Omers full as there were People in each Family, Ver. 16.

Ver. 19. to them] This it ſeems our laſt Tranſlators overlooked; ſee Gen. xli. 7.

Ver. 20. in a Wrath] as we ſay alſo in a Rage or Paſſion; wroth, as ſays Johnſ. in his great Dict. being out of uſe.

Ver. 23. It is what the Lord ſpoke] In Ver. 5. but the Remainder of this Verſe is not God's Words, as our Tranſlators put it; which that following, as Moſes commanded, ſhews, and the Want of theſe Words in what the Lord ſaid.

31. And the Family of Iſrael called the Name of it Manna: which was like Coriander Seed, but white, and the Taſte of it like Wafers with Honey.

32. Beſides Moſes ſaid; This is the Thing which the Lord has commanded, Fill an Omer of it to be kept for your Generations; that they may ſee the Bread which I made you eat in the Wilderneſs, when I brought you out of the Country of Egypt.

33. He likewiſe ſaid to Aaron, Take a Pot, and put in there an Omer full of Manna; and lay it up before the Lord, to be kept for your Generations.

34. As the Lord gave command to Moſes, ſo Aaron laid it up before the Teſtimony, to be kept.

35. And the Iſraelites eat Manna forty Years, till they came to a Country inhabited; eating it till they came to the Border of the Country of Canaan.

36. Now an Omer is the tenth Part of an Ephah.

CHAP. XVII.

ALL the Aſſembly too of the Iſraelites marched from the Wilderneſs of Sin, in their Journeys, at the Lord's Command; and encamping in Rephidim, there was no Water for the People to drink.

2. Therefore they quarrelled with Moſes, and demanded, Give us Water, that we may drink; to whom he ſaid, Why do you quarrel with me? Why do you tempt the Lord?

3. However as they were thirſty there for Water, they murmured againſt him, and aſked, Wherefore didſt thou bring us up from Egypt, to make us, our Children and Cattle, die with Thirſt?

4. At which Moſes cried to the Lord, What ſhall I do for this People? In a little while they will ſtone me.

5. And the Lord ſaid to him; Go on before them, and take with thee ſome of the Elders of Iſrael; taking withal the Staff that thou ſtruckeſt the River with in thy Hand, when thou goeſt.

6. Behold I will ſtand before thee there, upon the Rock at Horeb, and when thou ſtrikeſt on it, there ſhall come Water out of it, that the People may drink. And Moſes did ſo in the Sight of the Elders of Iſrael.

7. Beſides he called the Name of the Place Maſſah, and Meribah; for the Contention of the Iſraelites, and for their tempting the Lord in ſaying, Is the Lord amongſt us, or not?

8. Afterwards the Amalekites came, to fight with Iſrael at Rephidim.

9. Upon this Moſes ſaid to Joſhua, Chooſe us out Men, and go forth, fight againſt the Amalekites: to Morrow I will ſtand upon the Top of the Hill, with the Staff of God in my Hand.

10. So Joſhua did as he ordered him, by fighting againſt the Amalekites; while Mo-

Ver. 34. Teſtimony] the Ark ſo called, as Num. xvii. 10. but as that was not yet made, conſequently this was not done now.

Ver. 35. till] As Moſes muſt needs know that the Manna would ceaſe at forty Years End, what Wonder is it for him to write thus, though the Time was not expired?

Ver. 2. quarrelled] At firſt when they ſaw there was no Water, but afterwards when they became thirſty, underſtand them to murmur, and ſay as in the next Verſe.

Ver. 4. for this People] to help them; not do unto them, to hurt or deſtroy them; vid. Chap. xviii. 1. as alſo Chap. xxxii. 32. Num. xii. 3.

Ib. In a little while they will ſtone me] Becauſe they were worſe and worſe againſt him. Literally it is, yet a little while and they will ſtone me, like what we read John xvi. 16, 17, 19.

Ver. 6. Rock] It has been imagined from 1 Cor. x. 4. that the Water which flowed from this Rock, followed the Iſraelites to their ſeveral Stations in the Wilderneſs; ſo both Patrick and Poole on this Place, with others; and even Uſher ſays this Rock followed them throughout the Wilderneſs, Annal. ad A. M. 2513. Too great a Miracle, one may much rather think, to be omitted by Moſes, had it been really ſo; nor would there then have been Need afterwards, as may be ſeen there was, to have Water out of another Rock, Num. xx. 1, 2, 11. and to dig a Well, Num. xxi. 16, 18. Nay the Text ſays that was a ſpiritual Rock which followed them, and was Chriſt; whereas this which Moſes ſtruck was certainly a natural one. Though Paul alludes to this Rock, there is no Neceſſity he ſhould in the Circumſtance of following them, as Compariſons uſe not to agree in each Particular. But I ſhould not conceal how the great Authors above-mentioned would evade the Force of the Objection of wanting Water again, on Num. xx. The Water which followed them through all their former Journeys, ſays Poole, began now to fail them, where Waters might be had by ordinary Means, and therefore God would not uſe extraordinary, leſt he ſhould ſeem to proſtitute the Honour of Miracles: whereas God then, for the Want of Water by ordinary Means, wrought a freſh Miracle to bring ſome. Uſher on that Occaſion would have it, that the imaginary Water which had followed the Iſraelites, was ſwallowed up in the Red Sea, Annal. A. M. 2552. when he might better have fancied the Rock was ſtopped by ſome Mountain, ſince it was the Rock he ſaid before that followed them. Patrick however improves on him, gravely ſuppoſing the Water that followed them from this Rock in Horeb, about 39 Years, fell into the Red Sea at Ezion-geber, Comment. upon Num. xx. 2. and ſo, might they have added, the Red Sea had ſpiritual Water in it, to make their Notion agree with the Paſſage they would found it on. Such a Romance has Eliezer in Pirk 35. Whitherſoever our Fathers travelled, a Well went there before them.

Ver. 7. Maſſah, Temptation; Meribah, Contention.

Ver. 9. Joſhua] The ſame Name is read in ~~our~~ Bib. according to the Heb. Jehoſhua, Num. xiii. 16. 1 Chron. vii. 27.

Ver. 10. fighting] If it be aſked, where the Iſraelites had Weapons now to fight with? The Anſwer may be, from the dead Bodies of the Egyptians that were caſt up on the Shoar, Chap. xiv. 30. and for their future Battles they might now alſo take the Armour of the Amalekites.

ſes, ſes, Aaron and Hur, went up the Top of the Hill.

11. And when Moſes held up his Hand, the Iſraelites prevailed; but when he let it reſt, the Amalekites did.

12. At length his Hands being heavy, they took a Stone, and put under him, that he might ſit upon it: and Aaron and Hur ſtayed up his Hands, one on this, and the other on that Side, whereby they were ſteady till the ſetting of the Sun.

13. Thus Joſhua weakened Amalek and the People of it, by the Edge of the Sword.

14. Then the Lord ſaid to Moſes, Write this for a Memorial in a Book, and put for Joſhua to hear, that I will quite blot out the Remembrance of Amalek from under Heaven.

15. Moſes alſo built an Altar, calling the Name of it The Lord my Standard's.

16. And he ſaid, Becauſe their Hand is againſt the Throne of the Lord, he will have war with Amalek, from Age to Age.

CHAP. XVIII.

NOW Jethro Prince of Midian, the Father-in-law of Moſes, hearing all which God had done for him, and his People Iſrael; that the Lord had brought Iſrael out of Egypt;

2. He took Zipporah the Wife of Moſes, after he had ſent her;

3. Together with her two Sons: of whom one's Name was Gerſhom, for, ſaid he, I have been a Stranger in a foreign Country;

4. And, that of the other being Eliezer, for the God of my Father has become my Help, and delivered me from the Sword of Pharaoh.

5. So he came with them to Moſes into the Wilderneſs, where he encamped at the Mountain of God.

6. To whom he ſaid, I thy Father-in-law Jethro am come to thee, as likewiſe thy Wife, and her two Sons with her.

7. Moſes alſo going out to meet him, bowed down, and kiſſed him, and they aſked one another of their Welfare; after which they went into the Tent.

8. And he told him all that the Lord had done to Pharaoh, and the Egyptians, for the ſake of Iſrael; the whole Fatigue which had come on them in the Way, and the Lord's delivering them.

9. With that Jethro was joyful for all the Good which the Lord had done to Iſrael, whom he had delivered from the Power of the Egyptians.

10. Therefore he ſaid; Bleſſed be the Lord, who has delivered you from the Power of the Egyptians, and that of Pharaoh; who

In the Verſion of Jun. and Trem. it ſtands in theſe Words, quia manus Hamaleki fuit contra ſolium Jah, becauſe the Hand of Hamalek has been againſt the Throne of the Lord; Shuckford after two or three unneceſſary Alterations of the Text, and not making it agree with it ſelf then, brings it nearly to the ſame Meaning, Connect. B. x. Our Tranſlators were far enough from Exactneſs, and indeed Truth; ſee their Margin, which is Witneſs againſt them: and כי does not only ſtand in the wrong Place to make it ſwearing, but there is Nothing to connect the Form and Matter, as in Gen. xiv. 23. and I ſuppoſe in all Kinds and Inſtances of Heb. Oaths, where our Tranſlators have added in that. Tynd. too has the hand is on the ſeate of the lord, whom the Biſh. follow.

Ver. 4. being] Thus ſaid he before, at the former, extends to the latter alſo, and preſerves the Beauty of the Original.

Ib. Eliezer] My God is Help. The Meaning of Gerſhom ſee Chap. ii. 22.

Ver. 5. came] In order to clear the Way for coming at the right Time of this Affair, it may not be improper to take notice of the Judgment of two learned Biſhops of this Nation concerning it, as being noted Writers on the Holy Scripture. Cumberland, in the Pref. to his 9th Tract in Latin of Orig. Gent. Antiquiſ. would have the coming of Jethro, with his Advice to Moſes, and Moſes's Anſwer, to be juſt after the Battle with Amalek, before the Law was given at Sinai: but the Iſraelites being then at Rephidim, Chap. xvii. 1, 8. were evidently now got to Mount Sinai, as in this Ver. & Chap. xix. 2. and that it was after the Promulgation of the Law, appears by Ver. 16. and by comparing Ver. 12. with Chap. xx. 24. However Cumberland owns that the Performance of Jethro's Counſel, was not till after the giving of the Law, as is indeed clear by Deut. i. 6, 9, 15. whereas ſuch a Separation does not ſeem to accord with Ver. 24. Patrick makes a different Separation, in his Commentary on the 6th Ver. for ſuppoſing the coming of Jethro like the other, he ſtates his Advice to Moſes to be given after the Law was; which is altogether as inconſiſtent with Ver. 13, 14. We may diſcover that the true Time of Jethro's Viſit, was a little before the Iſraelites went from Horeb or Sinai, which was the ſame Mountain, by Deut. i. 6, 9. Num. x. 11, 12, 29, 30, 33. of which Mind ſee alſo Uſher, Annal. A. M. 2514; and Lightfoot, Spicelegia in Exod. § 23. & Harm. Old Teſt. And as Zipporah the Wife of Moſes was then brought to him, Ver. 2. we may eaſily account for the Complaint of Miriam and Aaron concerning her a little while after, Num. xii. 1.

Ver. 6. I] From ſome Copies only of the Sam. with the Gr. and Syr. the Author of State of the Hebr. conteſts for this to be Behold, and that before to be rendered it was told Moſes: Strange, ſays he, that Moſes ſhould go out to meet Jethro, after that Jethro had been with him, and talked to him. What can be more captious? Who ever ſaid or thought it was after? The being told after does not make it ſo. Nay, more ſtrange! our nice Critick in his new Tranſ. does not alter the 5th and 7th Verſes in the com. Eng. and ſo leaves it ſtrange ſtill, p. 401.

delivered the People from under their Power.

11. Now I know that the Lord is the greateſt of all Gods; becauſe he was in the Matter wherein theſe did proudly againſt them.

12. Nay he got a Burnt-offering and Sacrifices for God; when Aaron, and all the Elders of Iſrael, came to eat Victuals with him before God.

13. Who the next Day, when Moſes ſate to judge the People, and they ſtood by him from Morning till Evening;

14. Upon ſeeing all which he did to them, enquired, What is this Thing that thou doeſt to the People? Why doſt thou ſit alone, and they all ſtand by thee from Morning till Evening?

15. Becauſe, ſaid Moſes to him, the People come to me to enquire of God:

16. When they have a Matter, each comes to me, that I may judge between one and the other; and I make known God's Ordinances, and Laws.

17. But his Father-in-law replied to him: The Thing is not well which thou doeſt.

18. Thou wilt quite wear away, both thy ſelf and this People who are with thee: for the Affair is too heavy for thee; thou canſt not do it alone.

19. Now hearken to what I ſay, who will adviſe thee, and may God be with thee; Be thou for the People towards God, that thou mayeſt bring the Matters to him.

20. Thou ſhalt likewiſe admoniſh them of the Ordinances, and Laws; and make known to them the Way wherein they ſhould walk, and the Work which they ſhould do.

21. But thou ſhalt provide out of them all, Men of Ability fearing God, Men of Veracity hating Covetouſneſs; whom thou ſhalt ſet over them for Rulers of Thouſands, Hundreds, Fifties and Tens.

22. Thus ſhall they judge the People at all Times; and bring every great Matter to thee, but every little one judge themſelves: which will make it light for thee, when they bear it with thee.

23. If thou ſhalt do this Thing, and God command thee, thou wilt be able to ſtand; and all this People will moreover go to their Place well.

24. And Moſes hearkening to what his Father-in-law ſaid, did all that he ſpoke.

25. For he choſe Men of Ability out of all Iſrael, whom he made Heads over the People; Rulers of Thouſands, of Hundreds, Fifties and Tens.

26. And they judged the People at all Times: a hard Matter they brought to Moſes, but every little one they themſelves judged.

27. At length Moſes let his Father-in-law go, and he went away to his own Country.

IN the third Month of the Iſraelites coming out of the Country of Egypt, on the ſame Day they entered the Wilderneſs of Sinai.

Ver. 10. under the Power] Biſh. the captivitie.

Ver. 11. greateſt] Look Gen. iii. and Caſtalio's Verſion.

Ib. againſt them] Among Tranſlations the verbal one of Montanus is, in re qua ſuperbierunt contra eos, in the Thing wherein they were proud againſt them; that of San. Pagnine, ſuperbè egerunt contra eos, they did proudly againſt them; as likewiſe the Vulgar Latin, ſuperbè egerint contra illos: Munſter turned it, in re qua inſolenter egerunt contra illos (perierunt;) and Leo Judæ, in ea re qua illi inſolenter egerunt contra illos (perierunt;) i. e. in the Thing wherein they did haughtily againſt them they periſhed; meaning that the Egyptians were drowned, as they drowned the Iſraelites Children. But this is a little too far ſtrained in adding they periſhed: the Reference is much nearer, and more natural, to the foregoing Verſe, in this manner, 'Bleſſed be the Lord, who delivered 'the People from the Egyptians, in the Thing wherein 'they did proudly againſt them;' by which might be chiefly intended the Egyptians purſuing after the Iſraelites into the Sea, as moſt agreeable to did proudly, according to Chap. xv. 9. Nay this Interpretation is juſtified and confirmed by Neh. ix. 10. the Words of which they did proudly againſt them being plainly taken from hence. Both Tyndal and Coverdale rendered it, they dealt proudly with them; the Geneva Tranſlators, as they have dealt proudly with them, ſo are they recompenſed; the Biſhops widely, in the thyng whereby they dealt cruelly with them, were they deſtroyed themſelves. And W. Croſs ſhews by the Accents, that did or dealt proudly muſt belong to the following, Tagh. Art. p. 104.

Ver. 12. Sacrifices] of Peace-offerings; ſee Num. xv. 3.

Ver. 19. may] for let, not to be inconſiſtent with Ver. 23.

Ib. be with] not ſhall be, to contradict Ver. 23.

Ver. 1. ſame] namely the ſame Day or Number with the 3d Month, i. e. upon the 3d of the 3d Month; as Fr. Ribera, Lib. v. De Templo, at large declares, Uſher, Annals A. M. 2513. Then Moſes going up and down the Mountain the next Day, it would be the 6th of the Month when the Law was given, Ver. 10, 11. Selden de Jure Nat. & Gent. L. iii. 11. look further to Lev. xxiii. 16. Some others ſuppoſe this was the firſt or ſecond Day of the Month, but what ſame was either of them, which refers to Something ſaid before? Patrick makes choice of the former, yet counts the Promulgation of the Law to be on the 6th, by reckoning three Days in which Moſes went forwards and backwards twice; ſo that the laſt Time he muſt ſtay all Night on the Mountain, for the Order given him Ver. 10. on the 4th Day, as Patrick has it; which has no Face of Probability.

Ver. 2. for they had] This being before Jethro came to them, Chap. xviii. 5.

3. And

3. And Moſes went up to God; at which the Lord called to him from the Mountain, ſaying: Thus ſhalt thou ſay to the Family of Jacob, and declare to the Poſterity of Iſrael;

4. You have ſeen what I did to the Egyptians; and that I have carried you as upon Eagles Wings, and brought you to me.

5. Now therefore if you will at all hearken to what I ſay, ſo that you will keep my Covenant; you ſhall be my Property the moſt of any People, though all the Earth is mine.

6. Nay you ſhall be to me a Kingdom of Prieſts, and a holy Nation. Theſe are the Words which thou ſhalt ſpeak to the Iſraelites.

7. Accordingly Moſes came, and calling the Elders of the People, laid before them all theſe Words which the Lord commanded.

8. And all the People made anſwer together, All that the Lord has ſpoken we will do: ſo Moſes reported their Words to the Lord.

9. Upon which he ſaid to him, Behold I will come to thee in a thick Cloud, that the People may hear when I ſpeak with thee, and alſo believe thee for ever; when Moſes had told the Lord the Words of the People.

10. Moreover the Lord ſaid to him; Go to the People, whom thou ſhalt ſanctify to Day and to Morrow, and they ſhall waſh their Cloaths;

11. And let them be prepared againſt the third Day: for on that the Lord will come down in the Sight of them all upon Mount Sinai.

12. But thou ſhalt make Bounds for them round about, ſaying, Take heed to your ſelves of coming up to the Mountain, and touching the Border of it: every one who touches the Mountain ſhall be quite put to death.

13. Let the Hand of none touch it, for he ſhall be ſtoned or ſhot to death; whether a Beaſt or Man does, he ſhall not live: when a Cornet ſounds long, they ſhall come up to the Mountain.

14. So Moſes went down from thence to the People; whom he ſanctified, and they waſhed their Cloaths.

15. He alſo ſaid to them, Be you prepared againſt the third Day: go not nigh a Wife.

16. And on the third Day when it was Morning, there was Thunder, Lightnings, and a heavy Cloud, upon the Mountain, with the Sound of a Trumpet very ſhrill; ſo that all the People who were in the Camp quaked.

17. However Moſes brought them out thence to meet God, and they placed themſelves at the Bottom of the Mountain.

18. Now Mount Sinai ſmoaked all of it, by reaſon that the Lord came down upon it in Fire; the Smoak of which went up like that of a Kiln, and all the Mountain quivered exceedingly.

19. At length when the Sound of the Trumpet going on was very ſhrill; Moſes ſpoke, and God anſwered him by a Voice.

20. For the Lord was come down upon Mount Sinai, to the Top of it; whither calling Moſes, he went up.

21. The Lord likewiſe ſaid to him; Go down, charge the People; leſt they ſhould break through to the Lord to ſee, and many of them fall.

22. And let the Prieſts alſo, who come nigh to the Lord, ſanctify themſelves; leſt he ſhould break forth on them.

Ver. 5. at all hearken] It is the ſame Verb reiterated as there was Chap. xv. 26. though different in the pref. Tranſlation; of which ſee on 1 Kings ix. 6.

Ver. 9. when Moſes had told] Trem. and Jun. poſtquam renunciaſſet Moſche, after Moſhe had told; Vulg. Lat. nuntiavit ergo Moyſes, Moyſes therefore told; French Verſ. car Moyſe avoit rapporte, for Moyſes had told, which are the Words of our Bib. under Q. Eliz. But the King's Tranſlators threw it again into Obſcurity. Patrick annotating on the Words of the pref. Tranſ. ſays, "Or rather, "for Moſes had told."

Ver. 12. of coming up] Heb. to come up. For they were to go up to the Mountain, when they had heard the Sound of the Trumpet long, Ver. 13, 17. but not upon or into the Mountain, Ver. 23. There is the Letter Beth before har, mountain, in Ver. 12, 13. but Ver. 23. it is אל prefixed. The com. Tranſ. is palpably wrong, by having not added.

Ib. quite] Trem. and Jun. omnino.

Ver. 13. does] i. e. touch it, as before. So the Verſe is made grammatical, which in the Vulg. Tranſ. is incoherent enough.

Ver. 16. there was] To engage them by ſo majeſtic a Repreſentation, to a more exact Obſervance of his Will, now made known, Howe's Living Temple, Part i. Ch. 5.

Ver. 19. Moſes ſpoke] ſaying according to Heb. xii. 21. I exceedingly fear and quake; as thoſe Words may be well, and beſt, applied to this.

Ver. 20. Mount Sinai] Benjamin the Jew writes, חוא הר קטן רחוק ממצרים המשה ימי׳ That Mountain is but ſmall, and diſtant five Days Journey from Egypt (round by the End of the Red Sea) וים סוף רחוק מהר סיני דרך יום and one Day's from the Red Sea, L'Emp. Edit. p. 125. But Neitzſchitz, who was there in his Travels, A. D. 1636, and may be more credited, tells us it is about three Days Journey from the Red Sea, and by his Account ſeems a great Mountain, having two Tops, one of which, as well as the lower Part of the Mountain, is called Sinai, and the other Top Horeb; that there is now a Path to go up as it were by Steps, that there are ſeveral Chapels about on it, and one on the very Top, with a Convent at the Bottom founded by the Empreſs Helena, &c. which ſee in Eng. in the 2d Vol. of Comp. Libr. ſee alſo more Chap. xxxiii. 22.

Ver. 22. who come nigh] that is at other Times by their Office.

23. But Moſes anſwered him; The People cannot come up on Mount Sinai; for thou haſt charged us that we ſhould make Bounds to the Mountain, and ſanctify it.

24. To whom the Lord replied; Go along down, and come up thy ſelf and Aaron with thee; but let not the Prieſts and People break through to come up to the Lord, leſt he ſhould break forth on them.

25. Moſes accordingly went down to the People, and told them.

CHAP. XX.

AND God ſpoke all theſe following Words:

2. I am the Lord thy God, who brought thee out of the Country of Egypt, from the Place of Slaves.

3. Thou ſhalt have no other gods in my Preſence.

4. Thou ſhalt not make thee a carved Image, nor any Likeneſs either of what is in the Heaven above, on the Earth below, or in the Water under it;

5. Shalt neither bow down to them, nor ſerve them: for I am the Lord thy God, a zealous God, who puniſh Children for the Iniquity of the Parents, to the third and fourth Generation of them that hate me;

6. But ſhew Kindneſs to thouſands, of thoſe who love me, and keep my Commandments.

7. Thou ſhalt not take up the Name of the Lord thy God vainly: for the Lord will not let him be quit who does ſo.

8. Remember to keep the Sabbath Day holy.

9. Six Days ſhalt thou work, and do all thy Buſineſs.

10. But the ſeventh Day being the Sabbath of the Lord thy God, neither ſhalt thou, thy Son, Daughter, Servant-man, Maid, Cattle, nor Sojourner who is within thy Gates, do any Buſineſs.

11. For in ſix Days the Lord made the Heaven and Earth, the Sea, and all that is in them, and reſted on the ſeventh Day; therefore he bleſſed the Sabbath Day, and made it holy.

12. Honour thy Father and Mother; that thy Time may be long, in the Country which the Lord thy God gives thee.

13. Thou ſhalt not murder.

14. Thou ſhalt not commit Adultery.

15. Thou ſhalt not ſteal.

16. Thou ſhalt not give Evidence againſt thy Neighbour falſely.

17. Thou ſhalt not covet thy Neighbour's Houſe; nor ſhalt thou his Wife, Servant-man, Maid, Ox, Aſs, or any Thing that he has.

18. And the Thunder, Flaſhes of Lightning, and the Sound of a Trumpet, with the Mountain ſmoaking, were apparent to all the People; which being ſo, they removed, and ſtood far off.

19. Nay they intreated Moſes, Speak thou to us, and we will hear; but let not God ſpeak to us, leſt we ſhould die.

Ver. 23. on] Thus אֶל ſignifies, and is rendered elſewhere.

Ver. 24. break through] Tynd. preſume.

Ver. 2. Place] So the Word is ſometimes uſed, Poole's Annot. and plainly ſignifies here.

Ver. 3. in my Preſence] as with me, Ver. 23. declaring here his Unity, as he had already his Verity.

Ver. 4. carved Image] Notwithſtanding the Stir that is made by the Papiſts againſt rendering this by Image, yet graven thing in their Tranſ. is more extenſive, and muſt include all graven Images, unleſs they are not Things; nor do they think that other graven Things are forbid: ſo here the Chald. צֵילֵם is Image. I uſe carved, as graven is cut in, like the ten Commandments, though uſed for carved formerly.

Ver. 5. I am] Of the Lat. Interpreters who uſe ſum, am (for moſt omit it like the Heb.) Caſt. puts it to be read in this Manner; and ſo the Greek εἰμι is placed, with the French ſuis: which is like the 2d Verſe, and agrees beſt with the former Part of this, carrying the ſame Reaſon with the preſ. Tranſ. of God's Zeal, and puniſhing for Sin.

Ib. zealous] I have choſen this rather than jealous, as the Heb. Word may ſignify either. Sol. Jar. in his Annotations on this Place, expounds it מקנא לפרע zealous to revenge; the Targum of Jonathan paraphraſes on it thus, אלה קנאן ופורען ומתפרע בקנאה a zealous God, and a Revenger, and revenging with Zeal; the Tigur. Bib. has indignabundus, angry, for which the Margin pleads; ſee Deut. iv. 24. & vi. 15. Joſh. xxiv. 19. Zech. viii. 2. which corroborate this Interpretation: and zeal of the Lord of hoſts is ſeveral times in the preſ. Verſion.

Ib. puniſh Children] The Attempts to turn this into other Meanings are needleſs, as well as weak and foreign to the Original, of which ſee Univer. Hiſt. B. i. vii. Sect. 2. ſince it is certain that Children ſuffer on Earth for their Fathers Sins; as when the Father by Pride, Luxury, &c. ſpends the lawful Patrimony, which would otherwiſe deſcend to them; or on the contrary, leaves them what he has unlawfully gotten, which corrupts the reſt, and the like; ſee alſo Stack. Hiſt. Bib. iv. 1. p. 436. 2d Edit. Our preſ. Tranſ. is expreſſed in this manner, Jer. xxv. 12. look Jer. xxxii. 18.

Ver. 7. take up] as the Heb. Word ſignifies, viz. in the Mouth, Pſa. xvi. 4. & xv. 3. & l. 16. Iſa. xiv. 4. Hab. ii. 6. Ezek. xxvi. 17. and as it is uſed with the Matter or Diſcourſe: ſo Addiſon in his fine Ode,

The Moon takes up the wond'rous Tale.

Ver. 13. murder] How much better than the latter Eng. Tranſlations was the ancient one, Part of which is extant in the Book of Common Prayer, Thou ſhalt do no murder? For all killing of Men was not forbid, Gen. ix. 6. and kill without Reſtriction would alſo comprehend other living Creatures; ſee too Gell's Eſſay for Amend. of the laſt Tranſ. p. 450, 653.

Ver. 16. give] or anſwer, viz. when interrogated by the Judge.

Ver. 18. were apparent] Two of the four being heard, not ſeen.

20. But he anſwered them, Do not fear, for God came in order to try you; and for his Fear to be before yout Faces, that you may not ſin.

21. The People therefore ſtood far off, while Moſes went nigh to the Darkneſs where God was.

22. And the Lord ſaid to him: Thus ſhalt thou tell the Iſraelites; You have ſeen that I have ſpoken to you from Heaven.

23. You ſhall neither make with me, gods of Silver, nor even make you gods of Gold.

24. An Altar of Earth ſhalt thou make me, and ſacrifice upon it thy Burnt-offerings and Peace-offerings, thy Flocks and Herds: ſo in all Places wherein I make my Name be remembred, I will come to thee, and bleſs thee.

25. And if thou wilt make me an Altar of Stones, thou ſhalt not build them up hewn: for when thou moveſt thy Tool upon it, thou wilt profane it.

26. Beſides thou ſhalt not go up by Stairs upon my Altar, on which thou muſt not diſcover thy Nakedneſs.

CHAP. XXI.

AND theſe are the Rules which thou ſhalt put before them.

2. When thou buyeſt a Hebrew Servant, he ſhall ſerve thee ſix Years, and in the ſeventh ſhall go out free for nothing.

3. If he came in by himſelf, ſo ſhall he go out: if he was a married Man, his Wife ſhall go out with him.

4. If his Maſter has given him a Wife, and ſhe has born him Sons or Daughters, the Wife and her Children ſhall be her Maſter's, and he ſhall go out by himſelf.

5. However if the Servant ſays expreſsly, I love my Maſter, my Wife and Children, I will not go out free;

6. His Maſter ſhall have him to the Magiſtrates, and then bring him to the Door, or the Poſt; where he ſhall bore his Ear through with an Awl, and he ſhall be his Servant for ever.

7. But when a Man ſells his Daughter to be a Servant-maid, ſhe ſhall not go out as the Servant-men do.

8. If her Maſter diſlike her, who has not eſpouſed her, he ſhall let her be redeemed: he ſhall not have Power to ſell her to ſtrange People, by his being treacherous to her.

9. Whereas if he has eſpouſed her to his Son, he ſhall do for her after the manner of Daughters.

10. Though he take him another, he ſhall neither diminiſh her Diet, Cloathing, nor Dwelling.

11. Nay if he will not do theſe three Things for her, ſhe ſhall go out for no Money at all.

Ver. 22. him] παρὰ δὲ τοῖς Ἰουδαίοις Μωυσῆν τὴν Ιαω ἐπικαλέμενον Θεόν, writes Diodorus Sicul. Lib. i. 7. among the Jews Moſes aſcribes his Laws to the God Jao; as the Gentiles called Jehovah.

Ver. 25. not build] that it might not be a Place for future Offerings, and ſo be abuſed to Idolatry.

Ver. 26. not diſcover] Men anciently wearing Coats as Women do now: thus I find Theophraſtus deſcribing a Clown, ἀναζεζωμένον ἄνω τὸ γόνατος καθιζάνειν, ὥστε τὰ γυμνὰ αὐτῦ φαίνεσθαι, He will ſit tucked up above the Knees, ſo that his Nakedneſs may be ſeen, Charact. 5.

Ver. 2. ſeventh] from the foregoing Sabbatical Year, and not from the Beginning of each one's particular Service, as appears by Jer. xxxiv. 8—16. The Caſe however here ſeems to be, when one was ſold by another, Deut. xv. 12. for Debt or Theft, Chap. xxii. 3. 2 Kings iv. 1. Matt. xviii. 25. or when a Man ſold his Child for Poverty, or perhaps bad Behaviour, Ver. 7. ſee Lev. xxv. 40.

Ver. 6. an Awl] Tynd. and Biſh. a naule.

Ver. 7. not go out as] For as Grotius writes on the next Verſe, Puellæ ſemper jus erat ſe redimendi, ſi facultas eſſet: A Maid had a Right to be redeemed at any Time, if there was Ability for it.

Ver. 8. not eſpouſed] Our Tranſlators follow the Margin, which has לו to him, but the Text לא not: that the latter is right appears by its being put before the Verb, whereas לו would come after, as alſo by the Senſe of the Place, and the beſt and almoſt all Tranſlators; nay if the Maſter had eſpouſed her himſelf, ſhould not he let her go away for nothing as well as the Son, Ver. 11. or rather? Tynd. has, ſo that he hath geven her to no man to wyfe, alſo negatively.

Ib. eſpouſed her] unto himſelfe, or to his ſonne, Ainſw.

Ib. People] The Heb. Word not ſignifying nation; and moreover Grotius ſays, Strange People here means any one who is not of the Buyer's Houſe: for no Hebrew Servant muſt be ſold to other Nations, as Joſephus remarks, Antiq. Lib. xvi.

Ib. being treacherous] in violating the Law of God that he was engaged by, when he bought the young Woman, Jun. and Trem.

Ver. 10. he take] viz. the Son, as alſo Grotius orders to be ſupplied.

Ib. Dwelling] as appears by the Meaning of מעון from the ſame Root; accordingly Montan. renders it habitationem, as do likewiſe Jun. and Trem. in their latter Edit. and certainly ſhe was not to have the duty of marriage when not married, but only eſpouſed or betrothed, that is contracted to be married. The Gen. have it recompenſe of her virginitie.

Ver. 11. theſe three Things] let her have Food, Apparel and Houſe-room, Ver. 10.

12. He who ſtrikes a Man, ſo that he dies, ſhall be quite put to death.

13. As for him who does not ſeek it, but God lets it fall out to his Hand, I will appoint a Place for thee whither he ſhall flee.

14. But when a Man is ſo haughty againſt his Neighbour as to kill him craftily, thou ſhalt take him from my Altar to put him to death.

15. And whoever ſtrikes his Father or Mother, ſhall be quite put to death.

16. He alſo who ſteals any one, and ſells him, or elſe he is found in his Cuſtody, ſhall be quite put to death.

17. As likewiſe whoſoever curſes his Father or Mother, ſhall be quite put to death.

18. And when Men ſtrive, and one ſtrikes the other with a Stone or the Fiſt, ſo that he does not die, but lies in Bed,

19. Getting up again, and walking about abroad upon his Staff; he who ſtruck ſhall be quit, only he ſhall give for his lying ſtill, and have him throughly cured.

20. Moreover when a Man beats his Servant-man or Maid, with a Stick in ſuch a manner, that he dies under his Hand, it ſhall be throughly revenged.

21. Yet if he remain a Day or two, it ſhall not, becauſe he was for his Money.

22. Thus when Men contend, and ſtrike a Woman who is breeding, ſo that ſhe miſcarries of her Child, and yet there is no other Miſchief, he ſhall be altogether puniſhed as her Huſband ſhall inflict on him, and give what the Judges order.

23. Nevertheleſs if there ſhall be Miſchief, thou ſhalt give Life for Life,

24. Eye for Eye, Tooth for Tooth, Hand for Hand, Foot for Foot,

25. Burning for Burning, Wound for Wound, Sore for Sore.

26. When a Man too ſtrikes the Eye of his Servant-man, or that of his Maid, and it be ſpoiled, he ſhall let him go free for his Eye.

27. Even if he cauſe a Tooth, either of his Servant-man or Maid, to fall out, he ſhall let him go free for it.

28. Beſides when an Ox gores a Man or Woman, ſo that he dies, it ſhall be ſtoned to death, and its Fleſh not be eat, but the Owner of it ſhall be quit.

29. Yet if it is an Ox which gored in time paſt, and that has been teſtified to his Owner, who has not taken care of him, and he kills a Man or Woman; he ſhall be ſtoned, and the Owner alſo put to death.

30. If there be a Ranſom put upon him, he ſhall give that to redeem his Life, according to the whole of it.

31. Whether it has gored a Son or a Daughter, according to this Judgment ſhall it be done to him.

32. If the Ox gores a Servant-man or Maid, he ſhall give his Maſter thirty Shekels of Silver, and the Ox ſhall be ſtoned.

33. And when a Man opens a Pit, or when he digs one, and does not cover it, and an Ox or Aſs falls in there;

34. The Owner of the Pit ſhall make recompence, by paying Money to the other Owner, but he ſhall have the dead one.

35. Further when a Perſon's Ox puſhes another's, ſo that he dies; they ſhall ſell the live Ox, and part both the Money of that and the dead one equally.

36. Or ſhould it be known that he was an Ox which gored in time paſt, and his Owner has not taken care of him; he ſhall wholly recompenſe Ox for Ox, but ſhall have the dead one.

CHAP. XXII.

WHEN a Man ſteals an Ox or a Sheep, and kills it, or ſells it, he ſhall reſtore five Oxen for one, and four Sheep for one.

2. If a Thief is found breaking through, and be ſmitten, ſo that he dies, there ſhall be no Bleeding for him;

Ver. 15. ſtrikes] though he neither kills, nor hurts very much, Jun. and Trem. ſee Ver. 12. which ſmiteth leaves doubtful.

Ver. 19. be quit] go quite in former Tranſlations.

Ver. 22. Judges] Tynd. and Biſh. dayes men.

Ver. 34. the other] Heb. his, as proper, not of them.

Ver. 1. kills it, or ſells it] this making the Crime double, Ver 4. without which the ſtealing of Beaſts and other Things, was ſubject to the ſame Penalty, Ver. 4, 7. though Patrick ſays, "There is a ſmaller Satisfaction "required in other Things, Ver. 9." when the Verſe by him quoted clearly expreſſes the contrary. So that his and Poole's reaſoning might have been ſpared, concerning the Difference of ſtealing Cattle and other Things. The Reaſon of the Penalty here impoſed might be, not only the additional Sin of the Thief in killing or ſelling what was another Man's, but becauſe he had deprived himſelf of the Power, and the Owner of the Benefit of his reſtoring it, to whom the Thing loſt might be of ſome peculiar Value or Eſteem. And the Fine for an Ox ſeems to exceed that of a Sheep, becauſe he was a labouring Beaſt in Tillage, &c. by which his being ſtolen would cauſe a farther Loſs than the mere Worth of him. The Reſtitution of the fifth Part more (notwithſtanding what Patrick ſays) was for leſs Crimes than Theft, Lev. vi. 2, 3, 4, 5. Num. v. 6, 7.

Ver. 3. he] who is a Thief, but not one that is killed; ſo the latter Part of the Verſe ſeems ill connected to the former, eſpecially with [for] which is of the Tranſlators own making; ſince a Thief's being bound to make recompence or reſtitution, is no reaſon why a Man ſhould be put to death, for killing him in the Day and not in compence;

compence; and if he has Nothing, ſhall be ſold for the Thing ſtolen by him.

4. If that be at all found in his Cuſtody alive, whether Ox, Aſs or Sheep, he ſhall reſtore double.

5. When a Man cauſes a Field or Vineyard of another to be fed, by ſending his Beaſt to graze there; with the beſt of his own Field, or Vineyard, ſhall he make recompence.

6. When Fire comes out, and meets with Thorns, ſo that a Shock, ſtanding Corn, or a Field is conſumed; he who made the Burning ſhall throughly pay for the Damage.

7. When one delivers to another Man Money or Things to be kept, and it is ſtolen out of his Houſe; if the Thief be found, he ſhall reſtore double:

8. If he is not, the Maſter of the Houſe ſhall be brought to the Magiſtrates, for Enquiry that he has not taken his Neighbour's Effects.

9. In every Matter of Treſpaſs, concerning Ox, Aſs, Sheep, Apparel, any thing that is loſt, of which it is ſaid that it is ſo, the Affair of the two Parties coming before the Magiſtrates; he, whom they condemn, ſhall reſtore double to his Neighbour.

10. When one delivers to another either an Aſs, Ox, Sheep, or any Beaſt to keep, and it die, or has Somewhat broken, or be driven away, none ſeeing it;

11. There ſhall be an Oath of the Lord between them both, that the latter has not taken his Neighbour's Effects, which the Owner of it ſhall accept, and he ſhall not make recompence.

12. But if it be at all ſtolen from him, he ſhall recompenſe the Owner of it.

13. If it be torn in pieces, he ſhall bring it for a Witneſs; he ſhall not make recompence for that.

14. And when one borrows of another what has Something broken, or dies, the Owner of it being not with it, he ſhall fully make recompence;

15. Which if its Owner is with it, he ſhall not: if it be hired, it comes for his Hire.

16. Moreover when a Man entices a Virgin who is not eſpouſed, and lies with her, he ſhall throughly endow her to be his Wife.

17. If her Father utterly refuſe to give her to him, he ſhall pay Money according to the Dowry of Virgins.

18. Thou ſhalt not let a Witch live.

19. Whoever lies with a Beaſt, ſhall be quite put to death.

20. He ſhall be deſtroyed who ſacrifices to gods, beſides the Lord alone.

21. Thou ſhalt neither wrong a Stranger, nor oppreſs him: for you were Strangers in the Country of Egypt.

22. You ſhall not afflict any Widow or Orphan.

23. If thou doſt at all afflict him (for if he cry out to me, I ſhall throughly hear his Cry)

24. Then ſhall I be incenſed, and will ſlay you with the Sword; ſo that your Wives ſhall be Widows, and your Children fatherleſs.

25. If thou lendeſt Money to a poor one of my People with thee, thou ſhalt not be to him like an Uſurer, by putting Uſury upon him.

26. If thou at all receiveſt thy Neighbour's Cloaths in pawn, thou ſhalt reſtore it to him againſt the ſetting of the Sun.

Ver. 12. ſtolen] Here is a twofold nice Diſtinction, of this with the two preceding Verſes, and with Ver. 7, 8. The Caſes mentioned Ver. 10. are to be eſteemed providential or caſual, not owing to the Want of proper Care, when he who had the keeping of the Beaſt was acquitted, Ver. 11. but the Matter being otherwiſe when it was ſtolen, recompence was to be made. However as this was only for Cattle, not other Things, Ver. 7, 8. the Reaſon alſo of ſuch diſtinguiſhing (as we are to account it reaſonable) is to be ſought: which I ſuppoſe was; 1. Becauſe he who kept another's Cattle was paid for it, which comprehended his preſerving them from being ſtolen; ſo that if they were, he was juſtly bound to recompenſe it: whereas a Perſon was paid Nothing, for letting Money or Goods lie in his Cuſtody till called for; and ſo ought not to make amends if it was ſtolen. 2. Well looking after Things might prevent their being ſtolen abroad, where Cattle were, which would not preſerve thoſe within from Houſe-breakers, Ver. 7.

Ver. 13. bring it for a witneſs] Tynd. bring recorde of the teeringe.

Ver. 14. make recompence] Poole ſays, This may ſeem hard, whom Patrick as uſual follows; but one may wonder why he that borrowed a Thing to have the Uſe of it gratis, as is clearly the Caſe by the Diſtinction of hired afterwards, ſhould not make good the Damage it received with him; eſpecially ſince he would have been excuſed from it, had the Owner been preſent.

Ver. 15. Hire] So the Borrower was not then to make up the Damage.

Ver. 16. endow] I ſuppoſe ſettle a Dowry or Jointure on her, in caſe he ſhould either die firſt, or divorce her.

29. Thou ſhalt not delay with thy ripe Fruit and Liquor; thou ſhalt give the Firſt-born of thy Sons to me.

30 So ſhalt thou do with thy Oxen, with thy Sheep: ſeven Days it ſhall be with its Dam, on the eighth Day ſhalt thou give it to me.

31. And you ſhall be holy Perſons to me; not eating Fleſh that is torn in the Field, you ſhall throw it to the Dogs.

CHAP. XXIII.

THOU ſhalt not take up a falſe Report: do not put thy Hand with the Wicked to be an injurious Witneſs.

2. Thou ſhalt not follow great Perſons in what is bad, nor anſwer in a Cauſe to turn it aſide, by declining after them.

3. Neither ſhalt thou reſpect a poor one in his Cauſe.

4. When thou meeteſt thy Enemy's Ox or Aſs going aſtray, thou ſhalt bring it quite back to him.

5. When thou ſeeſt the Aſs of one who hates thee lying down under his Burden, and by forſaking doſt let him alone, thou ſhalt be utterly forſaken with him.

6. Thou ſhalt not turn aſide the Judgment of thy Needy in his Cauſe.

7. Be far off from a falſe Matter; and do not kill the Innocent and Righteous, for I will not acquit the Wicked.

8. Nor ſhalt thou take a Bribe: for that blinds thoſe who ſee, and perverts the Words of the Juſt.

9. Beſides thou ſhalt not oppreſs a Stranger: as you know the Mind of ſuch a one, becauſe you were Strangers in the Country of Egypt.

10. And ſix Years thou ſhalt ſow thy Land, and gather the Crop of it.

11. But the ſeventh thou ſhalt let it have an Intermiſſion, and leave it, of which the Needy of thy People ſhall eat, and their Leavings the Beaſts of the Field ſhall: ſo ſhalt thou do with thy Vineyard, with thy Olive-yard.

12. Six Days ſhalt thou do thy Work, and on the ſeventh Day thou ſhalt reſt; that thy Ox and Aſs may reſt, as alſo the Son of thy Handmaid and the Stranger be refreſhed.

13. And in all that I ſay to you take heed: and make no mention of the Name of other gods, let it not be heard in thy Mouth.

14. Three times in a Year ſhalt thou keep a Feaſt to me:

15. Namely that of unleavened Cakes, eating them ſeven Days, as I commanded thee, at the appointed Time of the Month Abib, becauſe in it thou cameſt out of Egypt; and none ſhall appear empty in my Preſence:

16. As likewiſe the Feaſt of Harveſt, of the Firſt-fruits of what thou haſt been working to ſow in the Field; and that of gathering at the going out of the Year, when thou gathereſt that which thou haſt wrought upon out of the Field.

17. Three Times in a Year, ſhall all thy Males appear in the Preſence of the Sovereign Lord.

18. Thou ſhalt not offer the Blood of my Sacrifice with leavened Bread, nor ſhall the Fat of my Feaſt abide all Night till the Morning.

19. The Beginning of the Firſt-fruits of thy Ground ſhalt thou bring to the Houſe of the Lord thy God. Thou ſhalt not boil a Kid in the Milk of his Dam.

20. Behold I ſend an Angel before thee to keep thee in the Way, and to bring thee to the Place which I have prepared.

21. Take heed by reaſon of him, and hearken to what he ſays, do not vex him: for he will not forgive your Crime, ſince my Name is within him.

So Jun. and Trem. render potentiores. This too is confirmed by the parallel Text, Lev. xix. 15. ſee alſo Deut. i. 17.

23. For my Angel ſhall go before thee, and bring thee to the Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites and Canaanites, the Hivites and Jebuſites, whom I will cut off.

24. Thou ſhalt not bow down to their gods, nor ſerve them, nor do according to their Works; but ſhalt utterly demoliſh them, and wholly break down their Statues.

25. And you ſhall ſerve the Lord your God, who will bleſs thy Victuals and Drink; and I will put away Sickneſs from within thee.

26. There ſhall be Nothing that caſts its Young, or is barren in thy Country; I will fill up the Number of thy Days.

27. My Terror will I ſend before thee, and rout all the People againſt whom thou ſhalt go; giving thee the Necks of all thy Enemies.

28. Nay will ſend the Hornet before thee; which ſhall drive out the Hivites, Canaanites, and Hittites from thy Preſence.

29. I will not drive them out thence in one Year; leſt the Country ſhould be deſolate, and the wild Beaſts ſhould multiply againſt thee.

30. By little and little will I do it; till thou art ſo fruitful, that thou mayeſt poſſeſs the Country.

31. And I will ſet thy Bounds from the Red Sea even to that of the Philiſtines, and from the Wilderneſs to the River: for I will deliver the Inhabitants of the Country into your Power, and thou ſhalt drive them out from thy Preſence.

32. Thou ſhalt make no Treaty with them, nor with their gods.

33. They ſhall not ſo much as dwell in thy Country, leſt they ſhould make thee ſin againſt me: for thou wilt ſerve their gods, becauſe they will inſnare thee.

CHAP. XXIV.

HE ſaid further to Moſes; Come up to the Lord thy ſelf and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, with ſeventy of the Elders of Iſrael; and you ſhall worſhip far off.

2. But Moſes alone ſhall come nigh to the Lord, and they ſhall not; nor ſhall the People come up with him.

3. Whereupon Moſes came, and told the People all his Words, and all the Rules; to which they all made anſwer with one Voice, We will do all the Things that the Lord has ſpoken.

4. Then he wrote all the Words of the Lord, and riſing early in the Morning, built an Altar under the Mountain, and twelve Pillars for the twelve Tribes of Iſrael.

5. And he ſent young Men of the Iſraelites, who offered up Burnt-offerings, and ſacrificed Sacrifices, Bullocks for Peace-offerings to the Lord.

6. Moſes alſo took half the Blood, and put into Bowls, and half of it he ſprinkled upon the Altar.

7. Moreover he took the Book of the Covenant, and read in the Hearing of the People; who ſaid, We will do, and hearken to, all that the Lord has ſpoken.

8. Again he took the Blood, and ſprinkled upon the People; and ſaid, Behold the Blood of the Covenant which the Lord has made with you, concerning all theſe Matters.

9. Afterwards Moſes and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, with ſeventy of the Elders of Iſrael, went up.

10. And they ſaw the God of Iſrael; under whoſe Feet there was like the Work of a Pavement of Sapphire, and like the very Sky for Pureneſs.

11. However he put not forth his Hand to the Nobles of the Iſraelites; but they beheld God, and did eat, and drink.

12. Beſides the Lord ſaid to Moſes, Come thou up to me on the Mountain, and be there; and I will give thee Tables of Stone, with a Law and Commandments, which I have written for thee to teach them.

13. Accordingly he got ready, with his Miniſter Joſhua, that he might go up on the Mountain of God.

14. And he ordered the Elders, Abide ye here for us, till we return to you: and behold Aaron and Hur being with you, whoſoever has any Matters, let him come to them.

15. Now as Moſes went up on the Mountain, there was a Cloud covered it.

Ver. 27. giving the Necks] as Pſa. xviii. 40. which might be for them to take hold of their Enemies there, either for Slaughter or Captivity; as is vulgarly ſaid to collar them.

Ver. 33. inſnare] Tynd. be decaye, Gen. deſtruction.

Ver. 9. went up] Part of the Mountain, Ver. 1, 2, 13, 14.

Ver. 11. put not forth his Hand] Did not hurt them, Patrick and others. But it might be interpreted, did not give them any thing, as he did Moſes, Ver. 12. there being no Diſtinction in the other Caſe; ſince he did not hurt Moſes, and it is ſpoken of the Nobles, which by the Change of the Word ſeems to include the others beſides the Elders, Ver. 9.

16. The

16. The Glory of the Lord too remained upon Mount Sinai, and the Cloud covered it ſix Days; and on the ſeventh Day he called to Moſes from within it.

17. And the Appearance of the Lord's Glory was like conſuming Fire on the Top of the Mountain, in the Sight of the Iſraelites.

18. Yet Moſes went into the midſt of the Cloud, when he went up on the Mountain; which he was on forty Days and forty Nights.

CHAP. XXV.

AND the Lord ſpoke to him as follows.

2. Tell the Iſraelites, that they ſhould take an Offering for me; which you ſhall do of every Man whom his Heart moves freely.

3. And this is the Offering which you ſhall take of them; Gold, Silver, Braſs,

4. Blue, purple and ſcarlet Thread, fine Linen, Goats Hair,

5. Rams Skins dyed red, Badgers Skins, and Shittim-wood,

6. Oil for Light, Spices for anointing Oil, and for Incenſe of Odours,

7. Onyx-ſtones, and Stones to be ſet in the Ephod and Breaſt-plate.

8. And let them make me a Sanctuary, that I may dwell amongſt them.

9. According to all which I ſhew thee, the Shape of the Tabernacle, and that of all its Utenſils, juſt ſo ſhall you make.

10. Moreover they ſhall make an Ark of Shittim-wood: two Cubits and a half ſhall be its Length, a Cubit and a half its Breadth, and ſo much the Height of it.

11. Which thou ſhalt cover with pure Gold, covering it both on the inſide and outſide; and ſhalt make upon it a Border of Gold round about.

12. Thou ſhalt alſo caſt for it four Rings of Gold, and put on its four Corners; namely two Rings upon one Side of it, and two upon its other.

13. Beſides thou ſhalt make Poles of Shittim-wood, and cover them with Gold.

14. Theſe ſhalt thou put into the Rings, by the Sides of the Ark, to carry it with them.

15. They ſhall be in the Rings of it, without being taken from it.

16. And thou ſhalt put into the Ark the Teſtimony which I will give thee.

17. Thou ſhalt further make an Atonement-covering of pure Gold; two Cubits and a half its Length, and a Cubit and a half the Breadth of it.

18. As thou ſhalt likewiſe two Cherubs of Gold; making them ſolid, at the two Ends of it.

19. For do thou make one Cherub at one End, and another at the other; upon the two Ends of it ſhall you make them.

20. The Cherubs too ſhall ſpread forth their Wings on high, covering it over with them, and their Faces ſhall be one towards another, which ſhall be towards the Atonement-covering.

21. And this ſhalt thou put upon the Ark above, as well as put into the Ark the Teſtimony which I will give thee.

Ver. 18. was on] As I have a particular Veneration for Providence, I ſhall relate the Jewiſh Tradition mentioned by Addiſon; that Moſes here in a Conference with the Supreme Being, was permitted to aſk him ſome Queſtions concerning his Management of the World, and amongſt the ſame was commanded to look down on the Plain below; where at a Spring which iſſued out of the Mountain, he ſaw a Soldier alight from his Horſe to drink; who being gone, a little Boy came, and found a Purſe of Gold which the Soldier had dropped, and taking it up, went away with it. Next came an infirm old Man, weary with Age and Travelling, and he having quenched his Thirſt, ſate down to reſt himſelf by the Spring; when the Soldier miſſing his Purſe, returned to ſeek for it, and demanded it of the old Man, upon whoſe proteſting that he had not ſeen it, the Soldier killed him. Moſes ſtruck with Horror and Amazement, the Divine Voice thus prevents his Expoſtulation, Be not ſuprized, Moſes, nor enquire why the Judge of the whole Earth has ſuffered this to be. The Child indeed was the Occaſion that the old Man loſt his Life; but know that the ſame old Man had murdered that Child's Father.

Ver. 4. ſcarlet Thread] agreeable to Gen. xxxviii. 28. Chap. xxxix. 3, 24. and thoſe Colours could not be Colours of Nothing; nay it was this after it was ſpun, Chap. xxxv. 25. our Tranſlators alſo quite omitted one Word. Patrick ſays, Yarn dyed of theſe Colours, on Chap. xxvi. 1. and the com. Tranſlation has ſcarlet wool, Heb. ix. 19.

Ver. 10. Ark] This was put into the very holy Place, or inner Part of the Tabernacle, Ch. xxvi. 33.

Ib. Shittim-wood] Jerome in his Commentary on Mic. vi. writes, Ligna Sethim habent ſimilitudinem Arboris quam nos vulgo Spinam albam dicimus, Shittim-wood is like what is commonly called White-thorn: and on Joel iii. more particularly, that it is like White-thorn in the Colour and Leaves, but not in Bigneſs, the Trees of it being ſo great that very large Boards are made out of them, and it is alſo very ſtrong, as well as exceeding light and beautiful, growing no where abſque Arabiæ Solitudine, but in the Wilderneſs of Arabia. And divers Travellers relate, that the Acacia or Thorn is the only Tree which is found in thoſe Parts, as that it is of a tall and handſome Growth: we may therefore conclude it was the ſame, though their Deſcriptions may vary a little. Of the Arabian Thorn likewiſe Pliny ſpeaks, Lib. xxiv. Cap. 12. That this was the Shittim-wood, Dr. Shaw too obſerves in his late Travels.

Ver. 16. Teſtimony] the two Tables of Stone on which the ten Commandments were written, Chap. xxxi. 18. At it were alſo repoſited the Pot of Manna and Aaron's Staff, Chap. xvi. 33, 34. Num. xvii. 10. Heb. ix. 4.

Ver. 17. Atonement-covering] from the Root to make atonement, the high Prieſt going in before it once a Year to make atonement, Lev. xvi. and it was a Covering or Lid to the Ark, Ver. 21. of the ſame Length and Breadth, Ver. 10. So Sept. ἱλαστήριον ἐπίθεμα.

22. Where

22. Where I will meet with thee, and ſpeak to thee from off the Atonement-covering, from between the two Cherubs that ſhall be upon the Ark of the Teſtimony, all which I ſhall command thee for the Iſraelites.

23. Thou ſhalt alſo make a Table of Shittim-wood; the Length of which ſhall be two Cubits, its Breadth one, and the Height of it a Cubit and a half.

24. This thou ſhalt cover with pure Gold; and make to it a Border of Gold round about;

25. As thou ſhalt in like manner an Incloſing of a Hand's-breadth, and a golden Border to that.

26. Thou ſhalt moreover make for it four Rings of Gold, and put them upon the four Corners which ſhall be to the four Feet of it.

27. The Rings ſhall be by the Incloſing, for Places to the Poles, to carry the Table.

28. Theſe latter ſhalt thou make of Shittim-wood, and cover them with Gold; that the Table may be carried by them.

29. Next thou ſhalt make its Plates, Spoons, Covers and Cups, that it ſhall be covered with, each of pure Gold.

30. Then ſhalt thou put upon the Table the Preſence-bread before me continually.

31. Beſides thou ſhalt make a Candleſtick of pure Gold, and that ſolid; its Shank and Branches, its Bowls, Balls, and Flowers being of the ſame.

32. And ſix Branches ſhall come out of the Sides of it; three of them out of one Side of it, and three out of its other.

33. There ſhall be three Bowls made like Almonds, with a Ball and a Flower in one Branch, and three ſuch, with the like in another; ſo ſhall there be to the ſix Branches that come out of the Candleſtick.

34. And in it ſhall be four Bowls, made like Almonds, with its Balls and Flowers;

35. As alſo a Ball under two of its Branches, another under two more, and a third under the other twain; to the ſix Branches that come out thence.

36. Their Balls and Branches ſhall be of the ſame, all of it one ſolid Work of pure Gold.

37. And thou ſhalt make its ſeven Lamps; which one ſhall cauſe to burn up, that he may make it light over againſt the Forepart of it;

38. With its Snuffers and Snuff-diſhes, of pure Gold.

39. Of a Talent of pure Gold ſhall one make it, including all theſe Things.

40. Which do thou ſee, and make, by their Shape that thou art ſhewn on the Mountain.

CHAP. XXVI.

Ver. 39. ſhall one make] The Heb. having only the Verb jangaſeh, without the Pronoun, the Maſorah has a proper and commendable Note (as many ſuch elſewhere) to guard againſt its being altered to tangaſeh, ſhalt thou make; which might ſeem to Some more conformable to the Context, in which manner the elegant Prominences of Divine Writ would be melted down into a mere Lump.

Ver. 1. See this done Ch. xxxvi. 8, &c. being before other Things, which it is after here.

Ib. Curtains] Here is the Heb. Partition of the Verſe.

Ib. fine twiſted Linen] Biſh. white twyned ſilke.

Ib. Thread] See Ver. 4. of laſt Chap.

2. The Length of a Curtain ſhall be eight and twenty Cubits, and four the Breadth of it; they all having one Meaſure.

3. Five Curtains ſhall be joined one to another, as the other five ſhall in the ſame manner.

4. For which End thou ſhalt make blue Loops upon the Edge of one Curtain, at the Border in the joining; and ſo ſhalt thou do on the utmoſt Edge of another there.

5. Fifty Loops ſhalt thou make on one Curtain, as thou ſhalt ſo many on the Border of another, which ſhall be in the joining; the Loops taking hold of one another.

6. Thou ſhalt alſo make fifty Claſps of Gold; and ſhalt join the Curtains one to another with them, ſo that it ſhall be one Tabernacle.

7. Nay ſhalt make Curtains of Goats Hair, for a Tent over the Tabernacle; making eleven of them.

8. The Length of a Curtain ſhall be thirty Cubits, and the Breadth of it four; the eleven having one Meaſure.

9. Of theſe thou ſhalt join together five by themſelves, and ſix by themſelves; doubling the ſixth Curtain before the Face of the Tent.

10. For this end thou ſhalt make fifty Loops upon the Edge of one Curtain which is uttermoſt at the joining, and ſo many upon that of another there.

11. And ſhalt make fifty Claſps of Braſs; and putting them into the Loops, join the Tent together, that it may be one.

12. That which is over and above too, in the half Curtain, of thoſe of the Tent, ſhall hang over it at the hinder Parts of the Tabernacle.

13. As alſo a Cubit on one Side, and a Cubit on the other, of what is over in the Length of the Curtains of the Tent, ſhall hang over at the Sides of the Tabernacle, both on one Side and the other, to cover it.

14. Thou ſhalt moreover make a Covering to the Tent of Rams Skins dyed red, and another of Badgers Skins above.

15. And thou ſhalt make Boards to the Tabernacle, of Shittim-wood, ſtanding up.

16. Ten Cubits ſhall be the Length of a Board, and a Cubit and half the Breadth of one:

17. To which there ſhall be two Tenons, ſet like Steps one to another: ſo ſhalt thou make to all the Boards of the Tabernacle.

18. Of theſe Boards thou ſhalt make twenty on the ſouth Side, to the right Hand.

19. Thou ſhalt further make forty Sockets of Silver under them; a couple under each particular Board, for the two Tenons of it.

20. And for the other Side of the Tabernacle, that on the North, ſhall be twenty Boards;

21. With their forty Sockets of Silver, a couple under each particular Board.

Ver. 23. two] The ſix Boards, Ver. 22. being nine Cubits wide, and theſe two making another Cubit, is agreed to be the Breadth of the Tabernacle. Of which I find a Proof in Ver. 13. as the Curtains that were thirty

24. Theſe

24. Theſe ſhall be double below, and compleat together upon the Top of it, in one Ring: ſo ſhall it be to both of them, they being for the two Corners.

25. Thus ſhall there be eight Boards, and their Sockets of Silver ſixteen: two Sockets under each particular Board.

26. And thou ſhalt make five Rails of Shittim-wood, for the Boards of one Side of the Tabernacle:

27. As likewiſe five for thoſe of its other Side, and five more for the Boards at the End of the Tabernacle, to the two Sides weſtward;

28. The middle Rail at the midſt of the Boards paſſing from End to End.

29. And the Boards ſhalt thou cover with Gold, and make their Rings of Gold, Places for the Rails; which thou ſhalt cover with the ſame.

30. So thou ſhalt ſet up the Tabernacle, according to the Manner of it, which thou art ſhewn on the Mountain.

31. Beſides thou ſhalt make a Hanging of blue, purple and ſcarlet Thread, and fine twiſted Linen; which ſhall be done of artificial Work of Cherubs.

32. This ſhalt thou put upon four Pillars of Shittim-wood covered with Gold; their Hooks being Gold, upon four Sockets of Silver.

33. And ſhalt put the Hanging under the Claſps, and bring thither on the inſide of it the Ark of the Teſtimony; and the Hanging ſhall make a Separation for you, between the Holy and the very Holy Place.

34. Then ſhalt thou put the Atonement-covering upon the Ark of the Teſtimony, in the very Holy Place.

35. But the Table thou ſhalt ſet without the Hanging, and the Candleſtick over againſt it, on the Side of the Tabernacle ſouthward; and ſhalt put the Table on the north Side.

36. Thou ſhalt make a Covering too for the Door of the Tent, with blue, purple and ſcarlet Thread, and fine twiſted Linen; embroidered Work.

37. And for the Covering ſhalt thou make five Pillars of Shittim-wood, and cover them with Gold, their Hooks being Gold: thou ſhalt alſo caſt for them five Sockets of Braſs.

CHAP. XXVII.

AND thou ſhalt make an Altar of Shittim-wood; the Length of five Cubits, and ſo much in Breadth, it being ſquare, with three Cubits the Height of it.

2. Horns to it ſhalt thou alſo make upon the four Corners of it, which ſhall be of the ſame; and ſhalt cover it with Braſs:

3. As likewiſe make the Pots of it to take away its Aſhes, and the Shovels, Bowls, Forks and Cenſers of it; making all its Inſtruments of Braſs.

4. Beſides thou ſhalt make for it a Grate of Net-work; as thou ſhalt upon the Net four Rings of Braſs, on the four Ends of it.

5. And ſhalt put it under the Compaſs of the Altar below, ſo that the Net may be to the middle of the Altar.

6. Thou ſhalt further make Poles to the Altar, which ſhall be of Shittim-wood; and cover them with Braſs.

7. Then the Poles of it ſhall be put into the Rings, and they ſhall be upon the two Sides of the Altar when it is carried.

8. Hollow with Boards ſhalt thou make it: which they ſhall do juſt as it is ſhewn thee on the Mountain.

9. Afterwards thou ſhalt make the Court of the Tabernacle; at the ſouth Side, to the right Hand; the Tapeſtry for the Court being of fine twiſted Linen, a hundred Cubits long for one Side.

Cubits long, Ver. 8. covered the Tabernacle by reaching down the two Sides which took up twenty Cubits, and covering it at the Top with the reſt.

Ver. 24. double] Heb. twins, that the Corners might be ſtrong to hold the whole firm. How could the two Corner Boards that were at leaſt nine Cubits apart be coupled together, and that to one Ring, as in com. Tranſ?

Ib. compleat together] according to the Heb. the double Board, I ſuppoſe, being held cloſe together and to the Side, at the Top by a Ring, as it was at the Bottom by the Sockets, Ver. 25. and held faſt to the other Boards by the Rails, as they were to one another, Ver. 27. The Reſult of my conſidering this for my own Satisfaction, and the curious Reader's, as I found none among the Commentators (who are often wiſe enough however to let alone what they do not underſtand) is, that the outer Part of thoſe double Boards, being even or ſtraight with the ſix end-ones, extended the Thickneſs of the ſide Boards farther than their inner Part, to receive the Ends of the ſide Boards, which would exactly fit or fill up ſuch Places, and make the Corners both ſtrong and ſquare.

Ib. upon] See Chap. xxxvi. 29. as it could not be above, ſo neither would it have been made as ordered.

11. So alſo for the Length at the north Side ſhall be Tapeſtry a hundred long: and its Pillars ſhall be twenty, with their Sockets ſo many of Braſs; the Hooks of the Pillars, and their Bindings Silver.

12. And for the Breadth of the Court at the weſt Side ſhall be fifty Cubits of Tapeſtry; their Pillars and Sockets each of them ten.

13. The Breadth of the Court likewiſe at the eaſt Side, to the Sun-riſing, ſhall be fifty Cubits.

14. But the Tapeſtry at a Side of the Gate ſhall be fifteen Cubits: their Pillars and Sockets each of them three.

15. And at the other Side the Tapeſtry ſhall be fifteen; their Pillars and Sockets each of them three.

16. For the Gate of the Court too ſhall be a Covering of twenty Cubits, of blue, purple and ſcarlet Thread, and fine twiſted Linen, embroidered Work; their Pillars and Sockets each of them four.

17. All the Pillars of the Court round about ſhall be bound with Silver, their Hooks being Silver; and their Sockets Braſs.

18. The Length of the Court ſhall be a hundred Cubits, and the Breadth by fifties, the Height being five Cubits, of fine twiſted Linen; and their Sockets Braſs.

19. Thus ſhall there be to all the Things of the Tabernacle, for all its Service: moreover all the Pins of it, and all thoſe of the Court ſhall be Braſs.

20. And thou ſhalt command the Iſraelites, that they ſhould fetch thee pure Oil of Olives beaten for the Light; to make the Lamp burn up continually.

21. In the publick Tent, without the Hanging which is againſt the Teſtimony, ſhall Aaron and his Sons put it in order from Evening to Morning before the Lord. It ſhall be a laſting Ordinance for their Generations, from the Iſraelites.

CHAP. XXVIII.

AND do thou bring near to thee Aaron thy Brother, and his Sons with him, Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar, from among the Iſraelites, for him to execute the Prieſthood to me.

2. Thou ſhalt moreover make him holy Garments, both for Glory and Comelineſs.

3. So thou ſhalt ſpeak to all thoſe of a wiſe Heart, whom I have filled with the Spirit of Wiſdom, that they ſhould make Aaron's Garments to conſecrate him, for him to execute the Prieſthood to me.

4. Theſe being the Garments that they ſhall make, a Breaſt-plate, Ephod, Cloak and chequered Coat, a Mitre and Bells; which they ſhall make holy ones for him and his Sons, that he may do ſo:

5. For which end they ſhall take Gold, with blue, purple and ſcarlet Thread, and fine Linen.

6. And they ſhall make the Ephod, with Gold, blue, and purple, ſcarlet Thread, and fine twiſted Linen, artificial Work.

7. It ſhall have two Shoulders joined at its two Borders, and ſo it ſhall be joined together.

8. Nay the Girdle of his Ephod which is upon it, ſhall be like its Work, of the ſame, Gold, blue, purple and ſcarlet Thread, and fine twiſted Linen.

9. And taking two Onyx-ſtones, thou ſhalt engrave upon them the Names of the Sons of Iſrael.

10. Six of their Names ſhall be upon one Stone, and the ſix that are left upon the other, according to their Births.

11. With the Work of an Artificer of Stone, the Engravings of a Seal, ſhalt thou engrave the two Stones with the Names of the Sons of Iſrael; making them incloſed about with Sockets of Gold.

12. And ſhalt put them upon the Shoulders of the Ephod, to be Stones of Memorial for the Iſraelites; that Aaron may bear their Names before the Lord, upon his two Shoulders, for a Memorial.

Ver. 19. to all] for ſo the Heb. is; and is not the Aſſertion here of Tranſlations in general obviouſly untrue, when even the Veſſels in, and ſo of, the Tabernacle, were not Braſs? ſee Chap. xxvi. 1, 35. with xxv. 23, 29, 31, 38, 39. & xxxix. 36, 37.

Ver. 20. continually] See Chap. xxv. 37.

Ver. 21. from the Iſraelites] See Lev. xxiv. 8.

Ver. 2. Garments] of which I may be ſparing, as Patrick has beſtowed above a Dozen Pages of Commentary in Folio, on this Chapter of the Prieſts Dreſs. There are ſix of them named, Ver. 4. beſides the Drawers, Ver. 42. and Plate of Gold, Ver. 36. if the latter (as it is counted) was a Garment, and a Bonnet, Ver. 40. may be reckoned another.

Ver. 4. which] not and, as if they were other Garments.

Ib. Breaſt-plate] Tynd. and the Biſh. call it breſtlap.

Ib. Cloak] and this tunicle.

Ver. 7. It ſhall have] Heb. There ſhall be to it, and Shoulders has no thereof.

Ver. 12. Memorial for] being a Memorial for the Iſraelites to the Lord, when the high Prieſt went into the holy Place, Ver. 29. where it could not be a Memorial unto them, ſince they were not admitted there.

13. Beſides

13. Beſides thou ſhalt make Sockets of Gold;

14. And make two Chains of pure Gold of equal Length, twiſted Work, putting them twiſted into the Sockets.

15. And thou ſhalt make a Breaſt-plate of Judgment of artificial Work, which thou ſhalt do according to the Work of the Ephod; with Gold, blue, purple and ſcarlet Thread, and fine twiſted Linen.

16. It ſhall be ſquare, being doubled; a Span the Length of it, and ſo much its Breadth.

17. Thou ſhalt ſet in it alſo a Setting of four Rows of Stone: the Row that is firſt ſhall be a Ruby, a Topaz, and a Carbuncle;

18. And the ſecond an Emerald, a Sapphire, and a Diamond;

19. As likewiſe the third a Ligure, an Agate, and an Amethyſt:

20. And the fourth a Beryl, and an Onyx, and a Jaſper: they ſhall be with Sockets made of Gold in their Settings.

21. Theſe twelve Stones ſhall be with the Names in particular of the Sons of Iſrael; being with the Engravings of a Seal, each with its Name, according to the twelve Tribes.

22. And having made upon the Breaſt-plate the Chains of equal Length, twiſted Work, of pure Gold;

23. Thou ſhalt alſo make there two Rings of Gold, and put theſe upon the two Ends of the Breaſt-plate;

24. Putting the two twiſted Chains of Gold into thoſe Rings, at the Ends of it;

25. As thou didſt the two Ends of thoſe Chains into the two Sockets; which thou ſhalt put upon the Shoulders of the Ephod, towards the Face of it.

26. Moreover thou ſhalt make two Rings of Gold, and put them on the two Ends of the Breaſt-plate, on the Edge of it which is at the inſide of the Ephod.

27. Thou ſhalt likewiſe make two Rings of Gold, and put them upon the two Sides of the Ephod, below over againſt its Face, by the joining of it, above the Girdle of the Ephod.

28. And they ſhall tie the Breaſt-plate by its Rings, to thoſe of the Ephod, with a blue Lace, to be above the Girdle of that; as it ſhall not be lifted up from off the Ephod.

29. Aaron ſhall thus bear the Names of the Sons of Iſrael in the Breaſt-plate of Judgment upon his Heart, when he goes into the Holy Place, for a Memorial before the Lord continually.

30. On which Breaſt-plate thou ſhalt put Urim and Thummim, that they may be upon Aaron's Heart when he goes in before the Lord: ſo he ſhall bear the Judgment of the Iſraelites upon his Heart before the Lord continually.

31. Thou ſhalt further make a Cloak to the Ephod wholly blue.

32. At the Top of which, in the midſt of it, ſhall be a Hole; that ſhall have a Hem round about of woven Work, there being to it like the Hole of a Habergeon, that it may not be torn.

33. And upon its Skirts round about, ſhalt thou make Pomegranates of blue, purple and ſcarlet Thread; as alſo Bells of Gold in the midſt of them round about.

Ver. 14. of equal Length] The com. Tranſ. has it at the ends, but of what? The Forepart of the Shoulders of the Ephod, where thoſe Chains were put, Ver. 25. was but one End of it, nor properly that. Beſides if the Chains were made there, how were they put or faſtened afterwards, as follows? Jun. and Trem. render it æquabiles, equal; as alſo Buxt. explains this, and that at the 22d Verſe.

Ver. 17. Ruby] It is plain this Stone was of a red Colour by the Heb. Root of the Word, which a Ruby indiſputably was; ſo Jun. and Trem. have Pyropus: whereas according to Robert Ainſworth, in his late excellent Dictionary, a Sardius was black, though rather by Pliny's Account of ſome other Colour, *Nat. Ib. Topaz] which Pliny at the Beg. of Lib. xxxvii. 8. ſays is of a peculiar green, and accordingly the Chald. Interpreter renders it יְרָקָן denoting the Stone to be green.

Ib. Carbuncle] being like Lightning, as appears by the Noun ſo ſignifying which this is derived from, and as a glittering Carbuncle is; therefore ſeems to be ill rendered an Emerald by divers, which is green, and would unſuitably make two of the ſame Colour together.

Ver. 18. Emerald] As Onkelos tranſlates it in the Chald. Targum, viz. אזמרגדין and though taken by ſeveral for a Carbuncle, has not ſuch a Claim to it as the foregoing.

34. A golden Bell and a Pomegranate, a golden Bell and a Pomegranate, ſhall there be upon the Skirts of the Cloak round about.

35. It ſhall then be upon Aaron to miniſter with; that his Sound may be heard when he comes into the Holy Place before the Lord, and when he goes out, that he may not die.

36. And thou ſhalt make a Plate of pure Gold; and engrave upon it with the Engravings of a Seal, Holineſs to the Lord.

37. Thou ſhalt alſo put it upon a blue Lace, and it ſhall be upon the Mitre; being towards the Face of it.

38. Thus ſhall it be upon Aaron's Forehead, that he may bear the Iniquity of the conſecrated Things, which the Iſraelites conſecrate for all ſuch Gifts of theirs; nay ſhall be upon his Forehead continually, for Favour for them before the Lord.

39. And thou ſhalt chequer a Coat of fine Linen, and make a Mitre of the ſame, as thou ſhalt likewiſe a Belt of embroidered Work.

40. For Aaron's Sons too ſhalt thou make Coats, and make for them Belts; as thou alſo ſhalt Caps, both for Glory and Comelineſs.

41. With which thou ſhalt cloath Aaron thy Brother, and his Sons with him; and ſhalt anoint them, fill their Hands, and conſecrate them, that they may execute the Prieſthood to me.

42. And ſhalt make them linen Drawers to cover the Fleſh of Nakedneſs; from the Loins to the Thighs ſhall they be.

43. Which ſhall be upon Aaron, and his Sons, when they go into the publick Tent, or when they go nigh the Altar to miniſter in the Holy Place, that they may not bear Iniquity, and die. It ſhall be a laſting Ordinance to him, and to his Offspring after him.

CHAP. XXIX.

NOW this is the Thing which thou ſhalt do to them, to ſanctify them, that they may execute the Prieſthood to me: take one young Bullock of the Herd, and two perfect Rams;

2 As alſo unleavened Loaves, and unleavened Cakes tempered with Oil, and unleavened Biſcuits waſhed over with Oil; making them with the fine Flour of Wheat.

3. Which thou ſhalt put into a Baſket, and bring them near in it, with the Bullock, and the two Rams.

4. Aaron and his Sons ſhalt thou alſo bring near to the Door of the publick Tent, and waſh them with Water.

5. When thou ſhalt take the Garments, and cloath Aaron with the Coat, the Cloak of the Ephod, the Ephod and Breaſt-plate; and place the Ephod on him with the Girdle of it.

6. And ſhalt ſet the Mitre upon his Head, putting the holy Crown upon that.

7. Moreover thou ſhalt take Oil for anointing, and pour upon his Head, and anoint him.

8. So having brought his Sons near, thou ſhalt cloath them with the Coats.

9. And ſhalt gird with the Belts him and them, tying the Caps on them, and they ſhall have the Prieſthood for a laſting Ordinance; nay thou ſhalt fill his Hand, with thoſe of his Sons.

10. Beſides thou ſhalt bring near a Bullock before the publick Tent, and Aaron with his Sons ſhall preſs their Hands upon the Head of it.

11. And that ſhalt thou kill before the Lord, at the Door of the publick Tent.

12. Then ſhalt thou take ſome of his Blood, and put upon the Horns of the Altar with thy Finger; pouring out all of it at the Bottom of the Altar.

13. And ſhalt take all the Fat that covers the Entrails, the Caul upon the Liver, and the two Kidneys, with the Fat which is upon them, and burn on the Altar.

14. But the Bullock's Fleſh, its Skin, and Dung ſhalt thou burn with Fire without the Camp: which ſhall be a Sin-offering.

15. Thou ſhalt take likewiſe one Ram, and Aaron with his Sons ſhall preſs their Hands upon his Head.

16. This ſhalt thou kill; and taking his Blood, ſhalt ſprinkle upon the Altar round about.

17. Afterwards thou ſhalt divide the Ram in his Pieces, waſhing his Entrails and Legs, which thou ſhalt put upon his Pieces and Head.

18. And thou ſhalt burn the whole Ram on the Altar, which ſhall be a Burnt-offering to the Lord; being a pleaſant Smell, a Sacrifice by Fire to him.

19. Thou ſhalt take too the other Ram, and Aaron with his Sons ſhall preſs their Hands upon his Head.

20. This ſhalt thou kill, and taking ſome of his Blood, ſhalt put upon the Tip of Aaron's right Ear, and the Tips of thoſe of his Sons, as alſo upon the Thumbs of their right Hands, and the great Toes of their right Feet; then ſhalt ſprinkle the Blood upon the Altar round about.

21. Next thou ſhalt take ſome of that which is upon the Altar, and of the Oil for anointing, and ſprinkle upon Aaron, his Garments, Sons, and their Garments with him; thus ſhall he be conſecrated, with his Garments, Sons, and their Garments together.

22. Thou ſhalt further take of the Ram the Fat, and Rump, with the Fat that covers the Entrails, and the Caul of the Liver, the two Kidneys, the Fat which is upon them, and the right Shoulder; for it is the Ram of filling:

23. And one Loaf of Bread, one Cake of Bread with Oil, and one Biſcuit, out of the Baſket of unleavened Cakes that is before the Lord.

24. All which putting upon Aaron's Hands, and the Hands of his Sons, thou ſhalt wave them for a Waved-offering before the Lord.

25. Again thou ſhalt take them from their Hands, and burn at the Altar beſides the Burnt-offering; which ſhall be for a pleaſant Smell before the Lord, a Sacrifice by Fire to him.

26. And thou ſhalt take the Breaſt of the Ram of filling that is for Aaron, and wave it for a Waved-offering before the Lord; which ſhall be a Part for thee.

27. Thus ſhalt thou ſanctify the Breaſt of the Waved-offering, with the Shoulder of the Lifted-offering, which is waved, and which is lifted up; of the Ram of filling, of that which is for Aaron, and of that which is for his Sons.

28. Whoſe it ſhall be for a laſting Ordinance, from the Iſraelites, for it is a Lifted-offering; which it ſhall be from the Iſraelites, from the Sacrifices of their Peace-offerings, their Lifted-offering to the Lord.

29. The Garments of Holineſs moreover which are Aaron's, ſhall be his Sons after him, to be anointed in them, and their Hands to be filled in them.

30. He who is Prieſt in his room of his Sons, ſhall be cloathed with them the ſeven Days in which he goes into the publick Tent, to miniſter in the Holy Place.

31. And thou ſhalt take the Ram of filling, and boil his Fleſh in the Holy Place.

32. Then ſhall Aaron and his Sons eat the Fleſh of him, and the Bread which is in the Baſket, at the Door of the publick Tent.

33. They ſhall even eat thoſe Things that atonement was made with, to fill their Hands, to conſecrate them; which a Stranger ſhall not eat, becauſe they are holy.

34. And if there be left of the Fleſh of filling, or of the Bread till the Morning, thou ſhalt burn what is left with Fire: it ſhall not be eat, becauſe it is holy.

35. Now thus ſhalt thou do to Aaron, and his Sons, according to all that I command thee: thou ſhalt fill their Hands ſeven Days.

36. And ſhalt offer a Bullock of Sin-offering daily for Atonements, cleanſing the Altar when thou makeſt atonement for it; as alſo anoint it, to conſecrate it.

37. Seven Days ſhalt thou make atonement for the Altar, and conſecrate it; and the Altar ſhall be very holy, all that touches it ſhall be ſo.

38. And this is what thou ſhalt offer upon the Altar, two Lambs in their firſt Year each Day continually.

39. One Lamb thou ſhalt offer in the Morning, and ſhalt the other within the Evening.

40. And there ſhall be the tenth Part of an Ephah of fine Flour, tempered with beaten Oil the fourth Part of a Hin, and a Drink-offering the fourth Part of a Hin of Wine, to one Lamb.

CHAP. XXX.

AND thou ſhalt make an Altar of Incenſe of Perfuming, which thou ſhalt do with Shittim-wood.

2. A Cubit ſhall be the Length of it, and ſo much its Breadth, being ſquare, and two Cubits the Height of it: its Horns ſhall be of the ſame.

3. This thou ſhalt cover with pure Gold, its Top, Sides round about, and Horns; making to it a Border of Gold round about.

4. Two Rings of Gold ſhalt thou alſo make to it, below the Border of it, which thou ſhalt do againſt the two Ribs of it, upon its two Sides; and they ſhall be Places for the Poles, to carry it with them.

5. And thou ſhalt make the Poles of Shittim-wood, covering them with Gold.

6. Thou ſhalt then put it before the Hanging, which is by the Ark of the Teſtimony, before the Atonement-covering, that is upon the Teſtimony, where I ſhall meet with thee.

7. And Aaron ſhall burn Incenſe of Odours upon it; which he ſhall do Morning by Morning, when he puts the Lamps in good order.

8. When he likewiſe lights up the Lamps within the Evening, he ſhall do the ſame: which ſhall be an Incenſe continually before the Lord, in your Generations.

9. You ſhall not offer up ſtrange Incenſe on it, Burnt-offering, or Oblation; nor ſhall you pour out a Drink-offering upon it.

10. And Aaron ſhall make atonement upon the Horns of it once in a Year: which he ſhall do with the Blood of the Sin-offering of Atonements, in your Generations; it ſhall be very holy to the Lord.

11. The Lord ſpoke further to Moſes as follows:

12. When thou takeſt the Sum of the Iſraelites in numbering them, they ſhall then each one give a Ranſom for his Soul to the Lord; that there may be no Plague among them, at doing it.

13. This ſhall they give every one that paſſes of thoſe who are numbered, half a Shekel by the holy Shekel: twenty Gerahs being a Shekel, half a Shekel ſhall be the Offering to the Lord.

14. Every one that paſſes of thoſe who are numbered, from their twentieth Year upward, ſhall give an Offering to the Lord.

15. The Rich ſhall not exceed, nor the Poor abate of half a Shekel, in giving the Offering to the Lord, to make atonement for your Souls.

16. And thou ſhalt take the Money of Atonements from the Iſraelites, and give it for the Service of the publick Tent; that it

17. Again the Lord ſpoke thus to Moſes:

18. Thou ſhalt make a Waſhing-veſſel too, and its Baſe, both of Braſs, to waſh with; and putting it between the publick Tent and the Altar, ſhalt put in Water there:

19. That Aaron and his Sons may waſh out of it, their Hands and Feet.

20. When they go into the publick Tent, they ſhall waſh with Water, that they may not die; or when they come near the Altar to miniſter, to burn Sacrifice by Fire to the Lord.

21. They ſhall even waſh their Hands and Feet, that they may not die: and it ſhall be to him and his Offspring, a laſting Ordinance in their Generations.

22. In the next place the Lord ſpoke to Moſes as follows:

23. Do thou alſo take thee principal Spices, fine Myrrh five hundred Shekels, and fragrant Cinnamon half as much as that, with fragant Cane the ſame;

24. As likewiſe Caſſia five hundred, by the holy Shekel, and Oil of Olives a Hin.

25. This ſhalt thou make an Oil of holy anointing, an Ointment made by the Work of the Apothecary; which ſhall be ſuch an Oil.

26. With which thou ſhalt anoint the publick Tent, and the Ark of the Teſtimony,

27. And the Table with all its Inſtruments, and the Candleſtick with its Inſtruments, and the Altar of Incenſe,

28. And the Altar of Burnt-offering with all its Inſtruments, and the Waſhing-veſſel with its Baſe.

29. Thus ſhalt thou conſecrate them, and they ſhall be very holy: all that touches them ſhall be holy.

30. Aaron and his Sons likewiſe ſhalt thou anoint; whereby thou ſhalt conſecrate them, to execute the Prieſthood to me.

31. And thou ſhalt ſpeak thus to the Iſraelites; This ſhall be an Oil of holy anointing to me, in your Generations.

32. Upon the Fleſh of Man it ſhall not anoint, nor ſhall you make the like of it in its Quantities: it being holy, let it be holy to you.

33. The Man who makes Ointment like it, or who puts any of it upon a Stranger, ſhall be cut off from his People.

34. Moreover the Lord ſaid to Moſes; Take thee Stacte, Onyx, and Galbanum, theſe Odours, with pure Frankincenſe; each being by it ſelf.

35. And thou ſhalt make it a Perfume, an Ointment by the Work of the Apothecary; ſeaſoned, pure, holy.

36. Then ſhalt thou beat ſome of it ſmall by pounding, and put before the Teſtimony, in the publick Tent, where I ſhall meet with thee: it ſhall be very holy to you.

37. And the Perfume which thou ſhalt make, ſhall you not make for your ſelves in the Quantities of it: it ſhall be holy to thee for the Lord.

38. The Man who makes the like of it, to ſmell to it, ſhall be cut off from his People.

CHAP. XXXI.

BESIDES the Lord ſpoke as follows to Moſes:

2. See, I have called by Name, Bezaleel the Son of Uri, the Sun of Hur, of the Tribe of Judah.

3. And have filled him with the Spirit of God, in Wiſdom, Underſtanding, Knowledge and all Work;

4. To contrive Devices, to make in Gold, Silver and Braſs;

5. And in artificial Work of Stone for ſetting, and in that of Wood, to make in all Work.

6. And I behold have given with him, Aholiab the Son of Ahiſamach, of the Tribe of Dan; and in the Minds of all thoſe of a wiſe Heart have I put Wiſdom, that they may make all which I have commanded thee;

7. The publick Tent, the Ark of the Teſtimony, and the Atonement-covering which ſhall be upon it, with all the Inſtruments of the Tent,

12. The Lord continued ſpeaking to Moſes as follows:

13. Do thou alſo ſpeak thus to the Iſraelites; Yet you ſhall keep my Sabbaths: for it ſhall be a Sign between me and you in your Generations, that you may know that I the Lord ſanctify you.

14. And you ſhall keep the Sabbath, becauſe it is holy to you: he that profanes it ſhall be quite put to death, for every Perſon who does Work on it ſhall be cut off from among his People.

15. Six Days ſhall Work be done, but on the ſeventh Day ſhall be the holy Sabbath of Reſt to the Lord; every one who does Work on the Sabbath Day ſhall be quite put to death.

16. Therefore the Iſraelites ſhall keep the Sabbath, by making it a laſting Covenant in their Generations.

17. It ſhall be a Sign between me and the Iſraelites for ever: for in ſix Days the Lord made the Heaven and Earth, and on the ſeventh Day he reſted, and was refreſhed.

18. And he gave Moſes, when he had made an end of ſpeaking to him on Mount Sinai, two Tables of Teſtimony, Tables of Stone written with the Finger of God.

CHAP. XXXII.

BUT when the People ſaw that Moſes delayed to come down from the Mountain, they gathered together againſt Aaron, and ſaid to him, Get ready, make us a god that may go before us, for as to this Man Moſes who brought us up from the Country of Egypt, we know not what has befallen him.

2. At this he anſwered them, Break off the golden Ear-rings which are in the Ears of your Wives, Sons and Daughters, and bring to me.

3. Accordingly all the People broke off the golden Ear-rings which were in their Ears, and brought to Aaron.

4. Which he receiving of them, made a Mould for it with an engraving Inſtrument, and made it a molten Calf; and they ſaid, This is thy god, O Iſrael, who brought thee up from the Country of Egypt.

It may however be proper to ſay Something of another Way or two of tranſlating it: as to the common one in our Bible, the after is made but from ו the frequent Heb. for and; nor is there any Shadow of Proof that the Melting or Caſting was done firſt, but only to make it ſuit with that Notion of faſhioning it afterwards, which muſt be needleſs, or rather abſurd, to do what was done already; unleſs the Ear-rings were only melted into a Lump or ſome oblong Piece; yet that it was made then into a Calf with a graving Tool is unaccountable, and this too done the ſame Day, Ver. 5, 6. Stackhouſe, following the Author of An Eſſay for a new Tranſlation (the worſt Pretender to it that I ever met with) has it tied in a Bag; but has not told us what the Ear-rings were to be tied up for, when they were immediately uſed, or why the Scripture ſhould mention ſuch a trifling Thing; nor Patrick, who was of the ſame Mind.

Hear Pomponius Mela, Lib. i. 9. Apis populorum omnium numen eſt; bos niger, certis maculis inſignis, & cauda linguaque diſſimilis aliorum: raro naſcitur, nec coitu pecoris, ut ajunt, ſed divinitus & cæleſti igne conceptus. The god of all the Egyptians is Apis, a black Ox, with certain notable Spots, as alſo a Tail and Tongue not like others: ſuch a one is ſeldom produced, and then not by the Copulation of a Beaſt, as they pretend, but bred divinely by celeſtial Fire. As Plutarch relates it, De Iſide, they believed, τελευτήσαντ@ Οσίριδος εἰς τοῦτον ἡ ψυχὴ ἀυτῦ μετέστη, the Soul of Oſiris (of whom ſee Gen. x. 13.) when he was dead paſſed into this Creature: Diodorus ſays the like of them, Lib. i. 6. So Strabo, Lib. xvii. Ὁ Βᾶς Απις, ὅ ἐστιν ὁ ἀυτὸς Οσιρις, the Ox Apis, which is the ſame as Oſiris. To what theſe Heathen Writers ſay, may be adjoined that of Philo the Jew, in his Life of Moſes, Lib. iii. τεκτηνάμενοι ταῦρον χρυσῆν, Αἰγυπτιακῦ μίμημα τύφω, χορὸς ἴσασαν, they (the Iſraelites) danced to the golden Ox or Calf that was made, in Imitation of the Egyptian Superſtition.

Cambyſes, the Son of Cyrus, King of Perſia, having conquered Egypt, purſued the War againſt Ethiopia; but great Part of his Army being buried in the Sands, and the reſt ready to be ſtarved, upon his coming back to Memphis, he found great Rejoicing for a new Apis, which the Egyptians had then got, after the Death of a former. Cambyſes would not be perſuaded but that they rejoiced for his Miſcarriage, till he had the Ox brought before him, when at the Indignation of ſuch a god, he ſtabbed him in the Thigh with his Dagger, of which he died, being not god enough to cure himſelf. The King however dying afterwards by a Wound in his own Thigh, it is no wonder that the Egyptians reckoned it an eſpecial Judgment from Heaven upon him; but it is ſomething ſtrange that ſuch a one as Prideaux ſhould remark on it, perchance they were not much out in it, going on to plead for it, Connect. An. 524, 522. whereas it is inconſiſtent with Scripture, Reaſon and common Senſe, that the true God ſhould puniſh the Contempt of a falſe one, and ſlay a Man for an Ox. What Affront was given (to uſe Patrick's Words) to the falſe gods and heathen Religion by Elijah and other Prophets, 1 Kings xviii. 27, &c?

5. This

5. This he ſeeing, built an Altar before it; he alſo made Proclamation, To Morrow is a Feaſt to the Lord.

6. So they roſe early the next Day, and offered up Burnt-offerings, and brought Peace-offerings; when they ſate down to eat and drink, and roſe up to play.

7. Whereupon the Lord ſaid to Moſes; Go deſcend, for thy People are corrupted, whom thou haſt brought up from the Country of Egypt.

8. They are departed quickly from the Way which I commanded them, have made them a molten Calf; to which they bow down, and ſacrifice, ſaying, This is thy god, O Iſrael, who brought thee up from the Country of Egypt.

9. The Lord alſo added to him, I have ſeen plainly that this People are of a ſtiff Neck.

10. Therefore now let me alone, that I may be ſo angry with them, as to conſume them; then will I make thee be a great Nation.

11. But Moſes made ſupplication before the Lord his God as follows: Why, O Lord, art thou angry with thy People, whom thou haſt brought out of the Country of Egypt, with great Might, and a ſtrong Hand?

12. Why ſhould the Egyptians ſpeak thus, He had them out for Harm, to kill them on the Mountains, and to conſume them from the Surface of the Ground? Return from thy fervent Anger, and be ſorry for the Harm againſt thy People.

13. Remember Abraham, Iſaac and Iſrael, thy Servants, to whom thou ſwareſt by thy ſelf, and ſaideſt to them, I will multiply your Offspring, to be like the Stars of Heaven; and all this Country which I have ſpoken of will I give them, and they ſhall poſſeſs for ever.

14. And the Lord was ſorry for the Harm which he ſpoke of doing to his People.

15. Then Moſes turned about, and went down from the Mountain, with the two Tables of the Teſtimony in his Hands; they being written on both their Sides, which they were not only on one but the other.

16. And the Tables were the Work of God, as the Writing was that of him, engraved upon them.

17. Now when Joſhua heard the Noiſe of the People in their ſhouting, he ſaid to Moſes, There is a Noiſe of War in the Camp.

18. Who anſwered, It is neither a Noiſe of crying out for Strength, nor that for Weakneſs; it is a Noiſe of Singing I hear.

19. And as they got near the Camp, he ſaw the Calf, and the Dancing; incenſed at which, Moſes threw the Tables out of his Hands, and broke them under the Mountain.

20. Nay he took the Calf that they had made, and not only burnt in the Fire, but ground till it was ſmall; and then ſtrewing it atop of the Water, gave the Iſraelites to drink.

21. Moreover he aſked Aaron, What did this People do to thee, that thou haſt brought great Sin upon them?

22. To which he anſwered; Let not my Lord be angry: thou knoweſt that the People will be in Something bad.

23. Therefore they ſaid to me, Make us a god that may go before us; for as to this Man Moſes who brought us up from the Country of Egypt, we know not what has befallen him.

24. Upon this I ſaid to them, Whoever has Gold, let them break it off, and give to me; then I caſt it into the Fire, and there came out this Calf.

25. And when Moſes ſaw that the People were ſtript, as they were by Aaron, to their Shame, among ſuch as might riſe up againſt them;

26. He ſtood at the Gate of the Camp, and ſaid, Whoever is for the Lord, come to me: accordingly there gathered to him all the Levites.

30. And the next Day he ſaid to the People, You have committed a great Sin; now therefore I will go up to the Lord, perhaps I ſhall make atonement for your Sin.

31. Accordingly he returns to the Lord, and ſays, I beſeech thee, this People having committed a great Sin, making them a god of Gold;

32. That now if thou wilt forgive their Sin, do; or if not, blot me, I pray, out of thy Book which thou haſt written.

34. Yet now go, lead the People whither I told thee, behold my Angel ſhall go before thee; but at the Time of my puniſhing, I will puniſh them for their Sin.

35. Thus the Lord ſmote the People, becauſe they made the Calf which Aaron made up.

CHAP. XXXIII.

THE Lord ſaid further to Moſes; Go aſcend from hence, with the People whom thou haſt brought up from the Country of Egypt, to that of which I ſware thus to Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob, I will give it to thy Offspring;

2. And I will ſend an Angel before you, and drive out the Canaanites, Amorites, and Hittites, with the Perizzites, Hivites and Jebuſites:

3. To a Country flowing with Milk and Honey; for I will not go up among you, becauſe you are a People of a ſtiff Neck, leſt I ſhould conſume you in the Way.

4. And when the People heard this ill Account, they mourned; and did not any one put his Ornaments upon him.

5. For the Lord bade Moſes ſay to the Iſraelites, You are a People of a ſtiff Neck; in one Moment, ſhould I come up among you, I ſhall conſume you: therefore now take off your Ornaments from you, that I may know what I ſhall do for you.

6. So the Iſraelites ſtript themſelves of their Ornaments by Mount Horeb.

7. And Moſes taking a Tent, pitched it without the Camp, far off from it, which he called the publick Tent; and every one who ſought the Lord, went forth to it thither.

8. When Moſes alſo went forth to the Tent, all the People got ready, and ſtood each at the Door of his own Tent; and looked after him till he was gone into that.

9. Whither when he was gone in, the Pillar of the Cloud came down, and ſtood at the Door of the Tent: thus he ſpoke with Moſes.

10. Therefore all the People ſeeing the Pillar of the Cloud ſtand at the Door of the Tent, they all addreſſed themſelves, and bowed down at their reſpective Tent-doors.

11. And the Lord ſpoke to Moſes Face to Face, as a Man ſpeaks to his Friend; who returned to the Camp, but his Waiting-man Joſhua the Son of Nun the Servant, did not depart from within the Tent.

12. Beſides Moſes ſaid to the Lord; See, thou ſayeſt to me, Have up this People; but thou doſt not let me know what thou wilt ſend with me; notwithſtanding thou haſt ſaid, I know thee by Name, and thou art alſo in Favour with me.

13. Now therefore, if I am now in favour with thee, make known now to me thy Ways; that I may know thee, to be in thy Favour; and do thou ſee, that this Nation is thy People.

14. To which he anſwered, My Preſence ſhall go, and I will give thee reſt.

15. And he replied to him, If thy Preſence do not go, have us not up from hence.

16. For by what is it now known, that I, and thy People, are in Favour with thee? Is it not by thy going with us? Thus ſhall I and they be diſtinguiſhed from all People who are upon the Surface of the Earth.

17. With that the Lord ſaid to Moſes, I will alſo do this Thing which thou haſt ſpoken: for thou art in Favour with me, and I know thee by Name.

18. He then intreated, Shew me, I beſeech thee, thy Glory.

19. And he anſwered, I will make all my Goodneſs paſs before thee, proclaiming the Name of the Lord there; and will be gracious to whom I will be gracious, as likewiſe have mercy upon whom I will have mercy.

20. But added he, Thou canſt not ſee my Face: for no Man ſhall ſee me, and live.

21. Nevertheleſs the Lord ſaid; Behold there is a Place by me, where thou ſhalt ſtand upon the Rock.

22. Into a Cavity of which I will put thee, when my Glory paſſes by; and cover thee over with my Hand, till I am paſſed by.

23. Then will I take away my Hand, and thou ſhalt ſee the Back-part of me; but my Face ſhall not be ſeen.

CHAP. XXXIV.

SO the Lord ſaid to Moſes; Carve thee out two Tables of Stone like the former, and I will write upon them the Words that were upon the former ones which thou brokeſt.

2. And being ready at the Morning, come up then to Mount Sinai, and ſtay there for me upon the Top of the Mountain.

3. But no Man ſhall come up with thee, nay there ſhall not ſo much as a Man be ſeen on all the Mountain; nor ſhall even the Flocks and Herds feed before the ſame.

4. Accordingly when he had carved out two Tables of Stone like the former, Moſes roſe early in the Morning, and went up to Mount Sinai, as the Lord commanded him; taking thoſe Tables in his Hand.

5. And the Lord came down in a Cloud, and ſtood with him there, proclaiming the Name of the Lord.

6. For he paſſing before him, proclaimed; The Lord, the Lord God, merciful and gracious, delaying of Anger, and of great Kindneſs and Truth;

7. Keeping Kindneſs for Thouſands, forgiving Iniquity, Treſpaſs and Sin; however not at all quitting, but puniſhing, for the Iniquity of the Parents, the Children and Grandchildren, in the third and fourth Generation.

8. Whereupon Moſes made haſte, and bowing to the Ground, worſhiped,

9. And ſaid, If now I am in Favour with thee, O Lord, let the Lord, I pray, go among us; though they are a People of a ſtiff Neck, and not only pardon our Iniquity and Sin, but have us in Poſſeſſion.

10. To which he replied: Behold I make a Covenant, that before all thy People I will do ſuch Wonders, as have not been performed in the whole Earth, and all Nations; and all the People whom thou art among ſhall ſee that the Work of the Lord is terrible, which I will do with thee.

11. Obſerve what I command thee to Day: behold I will drive out from thy Preſence, the Amorites, Canaanites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivites and Jebuſites.

12. Take heed that thou doſt not make a Treaty with the Inhabitants of the Country to which thou comeſt, leſt it ſhould become a Snare within thee.

ever are ſtretched in the Tranſ. of Jun. and Trem. to ſignify it was the Lord did not depart, which Opinion Patrick too eſpouſes; but beſides it being improbable that the Verb ſhould belong to ſuch a diſtant Antecedent when the foregoing Verb does not, לא not clearly ſhews it to belong to Joſhua the Servant, which ſhould have been ולא but not to be otherwiſe.

Ver. 12. what] As the Tent of the Lord, and his Preſence there, was gone from the People, Ver. 7. which Moſes might therefore fear would not be ſent with them, and as appears by Ver. 15. he did. Beſides מי might rather have ſignified whom; which to apply to the Angel, Ver. 2. is incongruous, ſince Moſes knew he was to be ſent with him.

Ver. 13. be] for the future, which is intended, is otherwiſe too obſcure.

Ver. 16. now] It does not appear by Noldius's Concordance of the Heb. Particles, that this ever ſignifies here, but now moſt frequently, if not always, as Gen. xxvii. 37. & xliii. 11. Judg. ix. 38. Iſai. xxii. 1, &c.

Ver. 21. Rock] Greaves mentions the Rocks at Mount Sinai being ſpeckled with black, white and red, and the Monument of the great Pyramid being of it. And Neitzſchitz ſays, Horeb is a Rock of brown and red Stone, rough as if it had been broke all over.

Ver. 6. proclaimed] See Chap. xxxiii. 19. Num. xiv. 17, 18.

Ver. 7. forgiving,] i. e. the penitent: not at all quitting, i. e. the impenitent.

13. But you ſhall deſtroy their Altars, break in pieces their Statues, and cut down its Groves.

14. For thou ſhalt not bow down to another God; ſince the Lord whoſe Name is zealous, is a zealous God:

15. Leſt thou ſhouldeſt make a Treaty with the Inhabitants of the Country, and when they go a whoring after their gods, and ſacrifice to them, one ſhould invite thee, and thou eat of his Sacrifice;

16. And thou ſhouldeſt take of his Daughters for thy Sons, and his Daughters going a whoring after their gods, ſhould make thy Sons do the ſame.

17. Thou ſhalt make thee no molten gods.

18. The Feaſt of unleavened Cakes ſhalt thou keep, eating thoſe which I commanded thee ſeven Days, at the appointed Time of the Month Abib; becauſe in that Month thou cameſt out of Egypt.

19. All that opens the Womb ſhall be mine, even every one of thy Cattle that is brought forth a Male, which opens of Oxen and Sheep.

20. But he that opens of an Aſs, thou ſhalt redeem with a Lamb, and if thou doſt not redeem, ſhalt cut off his Head: every Firſt-born of thy Sons ſhalt thou redeem, and none ſhall appear in my Preſence empty.

21. Six Days ſhalt thou work, and on the ſeventh Day ſhalt reſt: which thou ſhalt both in Ploughing-time and Harveſt.

22. Thou ſhalt likewiſe keep thee the Feaſt of Weeks, of the Firſt-fruits of Wheat-harveſt, and that of gathering at the Revolution of the Year.

23. Three times in a Year, ſhall all thy Males appear in the Preſence of the Sovereign Lord, the God of Iſrael.

24. For I will expel the Nations from thy Face, and make thy Bounds large: and no Man ſhall deſire thy Country, when thou goeſt up to appear in the Preſence of the Lord thy God, at thoſe Times.

25. Thou ſhalt not have the Blood of my Sacrifice killed with leavened Bread, nor ſhall the Sacrifice of the Feaſt of the Paſſover abide all Night till the Morning.

26. The Beginning of the Firſt-fruits of thy Ground ſhalt thou bring to the Houſe of the Lord thy God. Thou ſhalt not boil a Kid in the Milk of his Dam.

27. Next the Lord ſaid to Moſes, Write theſe Words: for according to them I make a Covenant with thee and Iſrael.

28. And he was there with the Lord forty Days and forty Nights, neither eating nor drinking any Thing; who wrote upon the Tables the Words of the Covenant, the ten Commandments.

29. At laſt when Moſes came down from Mount Sinai, the two Tables of the Teſtimony being in his Hand when he did, he knew not that the Skin of his Face ſhone by his ſpeaking to him.

30. Whereas Aaron and all the Iſraelites ſaw plainly that it did, and were afraid of coming nigh him.

31. Therefore he called to them, and Aaron with all the Princes in the Aſſembly returned to him; and he ſpoke to them.

32. So after that all the Iſraelites went nigh, and he commanded them all which the Lord had ſpoken to him on Mount Sinai.

33. However till Moſes made an end of ſpeaking to them, he put a Veil upon his Face.

34. Yet when he went in before the Lord to ſpeak to him, he put it away till he came out; and coming out, he ſpoke to the Iſraelites what he was commanded.

35. But as the Iſraelites ſaw that the Skin of his Face ſhined; he put the Veil upon his Face, till he went in to ſpeak to him.

CHAP. XXXV.

AND Moſes gathered together all the Aſſembly of the Iſraelites, and ſaid to them; Theſe are the Things which the Lord has commanded that they ſhould be done.

2. Six Days ſhall Work be done, and on the ſeventh Day it ſhall be holy to you, a Sabbath of Reſt to the Lord: every one who does Work on it ſhall be put to death.

3. You ſhall kindle no Fire in all your Dwellings on the Sabbath Day.

4. Beſides Moſes ſpoke thus to all the Aſſembly of the Iſraelites: This that follows is the Thing which the Lord has commanded:

Ver. 13. its] the Country's, as growing in it; the Pronoun being here ſingular, as before plural.

Ib. by] what follows being the Cauſe of its ſhining, which the Structure of the Word allows, and God was not ſpeaking to him then; as I underſtand the Words, by Ver. 27. and before, with Jun. and Trem. who render ſecum, to himſelf, and the Gen. add in God; and by the Propriety of it, rather than by his ſpeaking to God.

Ver. 1. Things] for Words are ſpoken, not done; ſee Ver. 4.

Ib. they] ye being not in the Heb.

5. Take

5. Take of your ſelves an Offering for the Lord, which let every one who is liberal in his Heart bring to him; Gold, Silver, Braſs,

6. Blue, purple and ſcarlet Thread, fine Linen, Goats Hair,

7. Rams Skins dyed red, Badgers Skins, and Shittim-wood,

8. Oil alſo for Light, and Spices both for anointing Oil, and Incenſe of Odours,

9. With Onyx-ſtones, and Stones to be ſet, as well for the Ephod as the Breaſt-plate.

10. Moreover let all who are of a wiſe Heart among you, come and make all that the Lord has commanded;

11. The Tabernacle, its Tent and Covering, Claſps and Boards, Rails, Pillars and Sockets,

12. The Ark and its Poles, the Atonement-covering, and the Veil of covering,

13. The Table and its Poles, with all its Inſtruments, and the Preſence-bread,

14. As likewiſe the Candleſtick for Light and its Inſtruments, Lamps, and the Oil for Light,

15. And the Altar of Incenſe, with its Poles, the Oil for anointing, the Incenſe of Odours, and the Covering of the Door at the Entrance of the Tabernacle,

16. The Altar of Burnt-offering, and the Grate of Braſs which belongs to it, its Poles, and all its Inſtruments, the Waſhing-veſſel and its Baſe,

17. The Tapeſtry of the Court, its Pillars, and the Sockets of it, and the Covering of the Court-gate,

18. The Pins of the Tabernacle, and thoſe of the Court, with their Cords,

19. The Cloths of Miniſtry, to miniſter in the Holy Place, the holy Garments for Aaron the Prieſt, and his Sons Garments, to execute the Prieſthood.

20. Then all the Aſſembly of the Iſraelites went out from before Moſes.

21. And they came, every Man whoſe Heart ſtirred him up, and every one whoſe Spirit moved him freely, bringing the Offering of the Lord for the Work of the publick Tent, for all the Service of it, and for the holy Garments.

22. They even came both Men and Women, every one who was of a liberal Heart, bringing Hooks, Ear-rings, Rings and Girdles, all Things of Gold, and every Man who waved a Waved-offering, it was of Gold to the Lord.

23. Every Man likewiſe with whom was found blue, purple and ſcarlet Thread, fine Linen, Goats Hair, Rams Skins dyed red, and Badgers Skins, brought them.

24. All who lifted up a Lifted-offering of Silver or Braſs, brought one for the Lord; and every one with whom was found Shittim-wood, for any Work of the Service, brought it.

25. And all the Women who were of a wiſe Heart ſpun with their Hands; and brought the Spinning-work, blue, and purple, ſcarlet Thread, and fine Linen.

26. All the Women too whoſe Hearts ſtirred them up in Wiſdom, ſpun Goats Hair.

27. The Princes further brought Onyx-ſtones, and Stones to be ſet, both for the Ephod and Breaſt-plate,

28. As alſo Spice, and Oil for Light, for anointing Oil, and for Incenſe of Odours.

29. Every Man and Woman of the Iſraelites, whoſe Hearts moved them freely, to bring aught for any of the Work which the Lord had commanded to be done by the Miniſtry of Moſes, brought a Free-offering to the Lord.

30. And Moſes ſaid to the Iſraelites; See, the Lord has called by Name, Bezaleel the Son of Uri, the Son of Hur, of the Tribe of Judah.

31. Whom he has filled with the Spirit of God, in Wiſdom, Underſtanding and Knowledge, and all Work;

32. Even to contrive Devices, to make in Gold, Silver and Braſs;

33. And in artificial Work of Stone to ſet, as likewiſe in artificial Work of Wood, to make in all Work of Device.

34. Nay he has put in his Heart that he, and Aholiab the Son Ahiſamach, of the Tribe of Dan, may inſtruct:

35. Having filled them with Wiſdom of Heart, to do all Buſineſs of a Workman, Artificer and Embroiderer, in blue and purple, ſcarlet Thread, and fine Linen, and of

CHAP. XXXVI.

THEREFORE Bezaleel and Aholiab ſhall do it, with all Men who are of a wiſe Heart, in whom the Lord has put Wiſdom and Underſtanding, to know how to do all the Work for the Service of the Holy Place, entirely as he has commanded.

2. So Moſes called thoſe two, and every Man who was of a wiſe Heart, in which the Lord had put Wiſdom, every one whoſe Mind ſtirred him up to approach to the Work to do it.

3. And they took from before Moſes all the Offering, which the Iſraelites brought for the Work of the Service of the Holy Place, to do it; who brought to him ſtill Free-offerings Morning by Morning.

4. Whereupon all the wiſe Men, who did all the Work of the Holy Place, came, Man by Man from his Work which they were doing;

5. And ſpoke thus to Moſes, The People bring more, than is ſufficient for the Service of the Work, which the Lord has commanded to do.

6. Moſes then commanded, and they made the following Proclamation through the Camp, Let neither Man nor Woman do any more Work for the Offering of the Holy Place: thus the People were reſtrained from bringing.

7. The Things being not only ſufficient for them, to do all the Work, but there were ſome left.

8. And all thoſe of a wiſe Heart, among them who did the Work of the Tabernacle, made ten Curtains; which he made up with fine twiſted Linen, blue, purple and ſcarlet Thread, with Cherubs of artificial Work.

9. The Length of a Curtain was eight and twenty Cubits, and four the Breadth of it; they all having one Meaſure.

10. And he joined five Curtains one to another, as he did the other five in the ſame Manner.

11. For which end he made blue Loops upon the Edge of one Curtain, at the Border in the joining; ſo he did in the utmoſt Edge of another there.

12. Fifty Loops made he on one Curtain, as he did ſo many on the Border of another, which was in the joining; the Loops taking hold of one another.

13. He made alſo fifty Claſps of Gold; and joined the Curtains one to another with them, ſo that it was one Tabernacle.

14. Nay he made Curtains of Goats Hair for a Tent over the Tabernacle; making eleven of them.

15. The Length of a Curtain was thirty Cubits, and four the Breadth of it; the eleven having one Meaſure.

16. Of theſe he joined together five by themſelves, and ſix by themſelves.

17. For this end he made fifty Loops upon the Edge of a Curtain which was uttermoſt at the joining, as he did ſo many upon that of another there.

18. And made fifty Claſps of Braſs, to join the Tent together, to be one.

19. He moreover made a Covering to the Tent of Rams Skins dyed red, and another of Badgers Skins above.

20. And he made Boards to the Tabernacle, of Shittim-wood, ſtanding up.

21. Ten Cubits was the Length of a Board, and a Cubit and a half the Breadth of one:

22. To which there were two Tenons, ſet like Steps one to another: ſo he made to all the Boards of the Tabernacle,

23. Of theſe Boards he made twenty on the ſouth Side, to the right Hand.

24. He further made forty Sockets of Silver under them; a couple under each particular Board, for the two Tenons of it.

25. And for the other Side of the Tabernacle, that on the North, he made twenty Boards;

26. With their forty Sockets of Silver, a couple under each particular Board.

27. Moreover for the Sides of the Tabernacle weſtward, he made ſix Boards.

Eng.* is very particular, to have two tenons equally diſtant one from another, becauſe every two Things muſt be ſo.

Ib. one to another] that is one above the other, when the Boards ſtood up. This is finely varied from Ch. xxvi. 17. but the Prepoſition לְ to is the ſame in both, notwithſtanding what the Eng. Reading affords.

Ver. 24. under] ſo that the Boards ſtood upon the Sockets, Ver. 20. which Sockets or Mortiſes might be made in a Plate of Silver, that went under the Boards, to hold them together there.

28. As

28. As he did two more for the Corners of the Tabernacle, at the two Sides.

29. Theſe were double below, and compleat together on the Top of it, in one Ring: ſo did he to both of them, for the two Corners.

30. Thus were there eight Boards, and their Sockets of Silver ſixteen; two Sockets under each Board.

31. And he made five Rails of Shittim-wood, for the Boards of one Side of the Tabernacle,

32. As likewiſe five for thoſe of its other Side, and five more for the Boards of the Tabernacle, to the two Sides weſtward;

33. Making the middle Rail to paſs at the midſt of the Boards from End to End.

34. And the Boards he covered with Gold, and made their Rings of Gold Places for the Rails; which he covered with the ſame.

35. Beſides he made a Hanging of blue, purple and ſcarlet Thread, and fine twiſted Linen; which he did of artificial Work of Cherubs.

36. To this he made four Pillars of Shittim-wood, and covered them with Gold, their Hooks being Gold; he alſo caſt for them four Sockets of Silver.

37. He made a Covering too for the Door of the Tent, with blue, purple and ſcarlet Thread, and fine twiſted Linen; embroidered Work;

38. And the five Pillars of it, with their Hooks, and covered their Tops and Bindings with Gold: their five Sockets being Braſs.

CHAP. XXXVII.

MOREOVER Bezaleel made the Ark of Shittim-wood: two Cubits and a half was its Length, a Cubit and a half its Breadth, and ſo much the Height of it.

2. Which he covered with pure Gold both on the inſide and outſide; and made to it a Border of Gold round about.

3. He alſo caſt for it four Rings of Gold, on its four Corners; namely two Rings upon one Side of it, and two upon its other.

4. Beſides he made Poles of Shittim-wood, and covered them with Gold.

5. Theſe he put into the Rings, by the Sides of the Ark, to carry it.

6. He further made the Atonement-covering of pure Gold; two Cubits and a half its Length, and a Cubit and a half the Breadth of it.

7. As he did likewiſe two Cherubs of Gold; making them ſolid, at the two Ends of it.

8. One Cherub at one End, and another at the other; at the two Ends of it did he make them.

9. The Cherubs too did ſpread forth their Wings on high, covering it over with them, and their Faces were one towards another, which was towards the Atonement-covering.

10. He alſo made the Table of Shittim-wood; the Length of which was two Cubits, its Breadth one, and the Height of it a Cubit and a half.

11. This he covered with pure Gold, and made to it a Border of Gold round about;

12. As he did in like manner an incloſing of a Hand's-breadth, and a golden Border to that.

13. He moreover caſt for it four Rings of Gold, and put them upon the four Corners which were to the four Feet of it.

14. The Rings were by the incloſing, Places for the Poles, to carry the Table.

15. Theſe latter he made of Shittim-wood, and covered them with Gold, to carry the Table.

16. Next he made the Inſtruments that were upon the Table, its Plates, Spoons, Cups and Covers, that it was covered with, of pure Gold.

17. Beſides he made the Candleſtick of pure Gold, and that ſolid; its Shank and Branches, its Bowls, Balls, and Flowers, being of the ſame.

18. And ſix Branches came out of the Sides of it; three of them out of one Side of it, and three out of its other.

19. There were three Bowls made like Almonds, with a Ball and a Flower in one Branch, and three ſuch, with the like in another; ſo was there to the ſix Branches that came out of the Candleſtick.

20. And in it were four Bowls, made like Almonds, with its Balls and Flowers;

21. As alſo a Ball under two of its Branches, another under two more, and a third under the other twain; to the ſix Branches that came out of it.

22. Their Balls and Branches were of the ſame, all of it one ſolid Work of pure Gold.

23. And he made its ſeven Lamps, with its Snuffers and Snuff-diſhes, of pure Gold.

25. And he made the Altar of perfuming of Shittim-wood: a Cubit was the Length of it, and ſo much its Breadth, being ſquare, and two Cubits the Height of it; its Horns were of the ſame.

26. This he covered with pure Gold, its Top, Sides round about, and Horns; making to it a Border of Gold round about.

27. Two Rings of Gold he alſo made to it, below the Border of it, againſt the two Ribs of it, upon its two Sides; for Places for the Poles, to carry it with them.

28. And he made the Poles of Shittim-wood, covering them with Gold.

29. He beſides made the holy anointing Oil, and the pure Incenſe of Odours, the Work of an Apothecary.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

AND he made the Altar of Burnt-offering of Shittim-wood; the Length of it five Cubits, and ſo much its Breadth, being ſquare, with three Cubits the Height of it.

2. Horns to it he alſo made upon the four Corners of it, which were of the ſame; and covered it with Braſs.

3. As likewiſe he made all the Inſtruments of the Altar, the Pots, Shovels and Bowls, Forks and Cenſers; making all its Inſtruments of Braſs.

4. Beſides he made for the Altar a Grate of Net-work of Braſs; under the Compaſs of it below, to the middle of it.

5. On the four Ends of which Grate he caſt four Rings, to be Places for the Poles.

6. He further made Poles of Shittim-wood; and covered them with Braſs.

7. Then he put the Poles into the Rings upon the Sides of the Altar, to carry it with them; hollow with Boards he made it.

8. He made too the Waſhing-veſſel and its Baſe both of Braſs, with the Looking-glaſſes of the Women aſſembling, who aſſembled at the Door of the publick Tent.

9. Afterwards he made the Court, at the ſouth Side, to the right Hand; the Tapeſtry of the Court being of fine twiſted Linen, a hundred Cubits.

10. Their Pillars were twenty, with their Sockets ſo many of Braſs; the Hooks of the Pillars, and their Bindings Silver.

11. At the north Side alſo it was a Hundred Cubits: their Pillars were twenty, with Sockets ſo many of Braſs; the Hooks of the Pillars, and their Bindings Silver.

12. And at the weſt Side were fifty Cubits of Tapeſtry; their Pillars and Sockets each of them ten; the Hooks of the Pillars, and their Bindings Silver.

13. At the eaſt Side likewiſe, to the Sunriſing, were fifty Cubits.

14. The Tapeſtry was fifteen Cubits at a Side of the Gate; their Pillars and Sockets each of them three.

15. And at the other Side, on this and that Hand of the Gate of the Court, the Tapeſtry was fifteen Cubits; their Pillars and Sockets each of them three.

16. All the Tapeſtry of the Court round about was of fine twiſted Linen.

17. And the Sockets for the Pillars were Braſs, the Hooks of the Pillars, and their Bindings, as likewiſe the Covering of their Tops, Silver; nay all the Pillars of the Court were bound with Silver.

18. The Covering of the Gate of the Court too was embroidered Work, blue, purple and ſcarlet Thread, and fine twiſted Linen; twenty Cubits the Length, and the Height in the Breadth five Cubits, over againſt the Tapeſtry of the Court:

19. With their Pillars and Sockets of Braſs each of them four; their Hooks, as likewiſe the Covering of their Tops, and their Bindings Silver.

20. Moreover all the Pins for the Tabernacle, and for the Court round about were Braſs.

21. Theſe are the Things which were counted of the Tabernacle, that of the Teſtimony, which was done at the Command of Moſes; for the Service of the Levites, by the Miniſtry of Ithamar the Son of Aaron the Prieſt.

22. And Bezaleel the Son of Uri, the Son of Hur, of the Tribe of Judah, made all that the Lord commanded Moſes:

23. With whom was Aholiab the Son of Ahiſamach, of the Tribe of Dan, a Workman and Artificer; nay an Embroiderer in blue, purple and ſcarlet Thread, and in fine Linen.

24. All the Gold, namely that of the Offering, which was wrought for the Work, in the whole Work of the Holy Place, was twenty nine Talents, and ſeven hundred and thirty Shekels, by the Shekel of the Holy Place.

25. And the Silver of thoſe who were numbered of the Aſſembly was a hundred Talents, and a thouſand ſeven hundred ſeventy five Shekels, by the ſame Shekel.

26. There was a Bekah for a Head, being half a Shekel by the Shekel of the Holy Place; for every one that paſſed of thoſe who were numbered, from their twentieth Year upward, for ſix hundred and three Thouſand five hundred and fifty.

27. Now the hundred Talents of Silver were to caſt the Sockets of the Holy Place, and thoſe of the Hanging; there being a hundred Sockets for the hundred Talents, a Talent for a Socket.

28. And with the thouſand ſeven hundred ſeventy five Shekels he made Hooks for the Pillars, as alſo covered their Tops, and bound them.

29. The Braſs of the Offering further was ſeventy Talents, and two thouſand four hundred Shekels.

30. With which he made the Sockets of the Door of the publick Tent, and the Altar of Braſs, as likewiſe the Grate of Braſs that was to it, and all the Inſtruments of the Altar;

31. And the Sockets of the Court round about, with thoſe of the Gate of the Court, nay all the Pins of the Tabernacle, with all thoſe of the Court round about.

CHAP. XXXIX.

OF the blue alſo, purple and ſcarlet Thread, they made Cloths of Miniſtry, to miniſter in the Holy Place; and they made the holy Garments which were for Aaron, as the Lord had commanded Moſes.

2. And he made the Ephod, with Gold, blue, purple and ſcarlet Thread, and fine twiſted Linen.

3. Beſides they beat Plates of Gold, and he cut off Threads, to work amongſt the blue, purple and ſcarlet Thread, and the fine Linen, with artificial Work.

4. They made the Shoulders joined to it upon its two Borders, it being joined together.

5. Nay the Girdle of his Ephod which was upon it, was of the ſame, like its Work, Gold, blue, purple and ſcarlet Thread, and fine twiſted Linen; as the Lord had commanded Moſes.

6. And they wrought Onyx-ſtones incloſed about in Sockets of Gold, engraved with the Engravings of a Seal, with the Names of the Sons of Iſrael.

7. Which he put upon the Shoulders of the Ephod, to be Stones of Memorial for the Iſraelites; as the Lord had commanded Moſes.

8. And he made the Breaſt-plate of artificial Work, according to the Work of the Ephod, with Gold, blue, purple and ſcarlet Thread, and fine twiſted Linen.

9. It was ſquare, they making it double; a Span the Length of it, and ſo much its Breadth, being doubled.

10. They ſet in it alſo four Rows of Stone: the Row that was the firſt was a Ruby, a Topaz, and a Carbuncle;

11. And the ſecond an Emerald, a Sapphire, and a Diamond;

12. As likewiſe the third a Ligure, an Agate, and an Amethyſt;

13. And the fourth a Beryl, an Onyx, and a Jaſper: they were incloſed about with Sockets of Gold in their Settings.

14. Theſe twelve Stones were with the Names in particular of the Sons of Iſrael; being with the Engravings of a Seal, each with its Name, according to the twelve Tribes.

15. And making upon the Breaſt-plate Chains of equal Length, twiſted Work, of pure Gold:

16. They alſo made two Sockets of Gold, and two Rings of Gold, and put the latter upon the two Ends of the Breaſt-plate;

17. Putting the two twiſted Chains of Gold into thoſe Rings, upon the Ends of it;

Ver. 25. Talents] By comparing this Verſe with the next, a Talent was three thouſand Shekels.

Ver. 26. half a Shekel] as ordered before, Chap. xxx. 12—16.

Ver. 1. Cloths] Theſe clearly appear to be the ſame with them in Ver. 41. Chap. xxxv. 19. & xxxi. 10. and are as clearly diſtinguiſhed from the Prieſts Garments, nay are agreed by Interpreters to ſignify the Cloths mentioned Num. iv. 6, &c. and in Chap. xxxi. 10. yet Patrick here expounds them to be the Cloaths the Prieſts wore when they miniſtred in their Office; ſo confounding them with their prieſtly Garments, even when he himſelf expounded them to be what the Ark, Table, Candleſtick and golden Altar were covered with, on Chap. xxxi. 10. the Proof of which ſee in the Lexicons of Pagninus and Buxtorf. As for what is added to miniſter in the holy Place, though it may ſeem at the firſt Glance to denote the Prieſts Apparel; by obſerving that diſtinguiſhed from executing the Prieſthood, Ver. 41. & Chap. xxxv. 19. it appears quite otherwiſe, and the whole unanimous.

Ver. 8. Breaſt-plate] See Chap. xxviii. 15.

18. As

18. As they did the two Ends of thoſe Chains into the two Sockets; which they put upon the Shoulders of the Ephod, towards the Face of it.

19. Moreover they made two Rings of Gold, and put on the two Ends of the Breaſt-plate, on the Edge of it, which was at the inſide of the Ephod.

20. They likewiſe made two Rings of Gold, and put them upon the two Sides of the Ephod, below over againſt its Face, by the joining of it, above the Girdle of the Ephod.

21. And they tied the Breaſt-plate by its Rings, to thoſe of the Ephod, with a blue Lace, to be above the Girdle of that, as it was not lifted up from off the Ephod; according as the Lord had commanded Moſes.

22. He further made a Cloak to the Ephod of woven Work, wholly blue.

23. And the Hole of the Cloak in the midſt of it, was like that of a Habergeon; which had a Hem round about, that it might not be torn.

24. And upon the Skirts of the Cloak they made Pomegranates of blue, purple and ſcarlet Thread, twiſted.

25. As they did alſo Bells of pure Gold; which they put in the midſt of the Pomegranates, upon the Skirts of the Cloak round about amongſt them.

26. A Bell and a Pomegranate, a Bell and a Pomegranate, were there upon the Skirts of the Cloak round about; to miniſter with, as the Lord had commanded Moſes.

27. They likewiſe made Coats of fine Linen of woven Work, for Aaron and his Sons,

28. With the Mitre of fine Linen, comely Caps of the ſame, and linen Drawers of fine twiſted Linen,

29. The Belt too of fine twiſted Linen, blue, purple and ſcarlet Thread, embroidered Work; as the Lord had commanded Moſes.

30. And they made the Plate of the holy Crown of pure Gold; and wrote upon it a Writing with the Engravings of a Seal, Holineſs to the Lord.

31. They alſo put to it a blue Lace, to put upon the Mitre above; as the Lord had commanded Moſes.

32. Now was all the Service of the Tabernacle of the publick Tent finiſhed: thus the Iſraelites did, doing entirely as the Lord had commanded Moſes.

33. And they brought the Tabernacle to Moſes, the Tent, and all its Inſtruments; its Claſps, Boards, Rails, and Pillars, and Sockets,

34. And the Covering of Rams Skins dyed red, the Covering of Badgers Skins, and the Veil of Covering,

35. The Ark of the Teſtimony with its Poles, and the Atonement-covering,

36. The Table, all its Inſtruments, and the Preſence-bread,

37. The pure Candleſtick, the Lamps of it, thoſe that are put in order, and all its Inſtruments, with the Oil for Light,

38. As likewiſe the Altar of Gold, the Oil for anointing, the Incenſe of Odours, and the Covering of the Door of the Tent,

39. The braſen Altar, and the Grate of Braſs which belonged to it, its Poles, and all its Inſtruments, the Waſhing-veſſel and its Baſe,

40. The Tapeſtry of the Court, the Pillars and Sockets of it, and the Covering for the Gate of the Court, its Cords and Pins, and all the Inſtruments of the Service of the Tabernacle, for the publick Tent.

41. The Cloths of Miniſtry to miniſter in the Holy Place, the holy Garments for Aaron the Prieſt, with his Sons Garments, to execute the Prieſthood.

42. Entirely as the Lord had commanded Moſes, ſo the Iſraelites did the whole Service.

43. And Moſes ſaw plainly that they had made all the Work, even according as the Lord commanded; whereupon he bleſſed them.

CHAP. XL.

AND the Lord ſpoke to Moſes as follows:

2. On the firſt Day of the firſt Month, ſhalt thou ſet up the Tabernacle of the publick Tent.

3. Where thou ſhalt put the Ark of the Teſtimony, and cover it over with the Hanging.

4. As alſo put in the Table, ſet in order what is to be in order of it, put in the Candleſtick, and make its Lamps burn up.

5. And the Altar of Gold ſhalt thou put for Incenſe, before the Ark of the Teſtimony, and put the Covering of the Door to the Tabernacle.

6. Moreover thou ſhalt put the Altar of Burnt-offering, before the Door of the Tabernacle of the publick Tent.

7. And ſhalt put the Waſhing-veſſel between the publick Tent and the Altar, putting Water there.

Ver. 21. tied] Tynd. ſtrayned.
Ver. 31. put to it] See Chap. xxviii. 37.
Ver. 4. is to be] What it was, ſee Ver. 23.

8. Beſides

8. Beſides thou ſhalt ſet the Court round about, and put the Covering of the Gate of it.

9. And ſhalt take the Oil for anointing, and anoint the Tabernacle, with all which is in it; conſecrating it, and all its Inſtruments, that it may be holy.

10. And thou ſhalt anoint the Altar of Burnt-offering, with all its Inſtruments; and conſecrate the Altar, that it may be very holy.

11. Shalt likewiſe anoint the Waſhing-veſſel, and its Baſe; and conſecrate it.

12. Thou ſhalt alſo bring near Aaron and his Sons, to the Door of the publick Tent, and waſh them with Water.

13. When thou ſhalt cloath Aaron with the holy Garments; and anoint him, conſecrating him, that he may execute the Prieſthood to me.

14. So having brought his Sons near, thou ſhalt cloath them with the Coats.

15. And ſhalt anoint them as thou didſt their Father, that they may execute the Prieſthood to me: whoſe anointing ſhall be, that they may have a laſting Prieſthood in their Generations.

16. Thus Moſes did, doing entirely as the Lord commanded him.

17. And on the firſt of the firſt Month, in the ſecond Year, was the Tabernacle ſet up.

18. For Moſes ſet it up, put its Sockets, ſet the Boards of it, put its Rails, and ſet up its Pillars.

19. Next he ſpread the Tent upon the Tabernacle, and put the Covering of the Tent over it above; as the Lord had commanded him.

20. And he took, and put the Teſtimony into the Ark, putting the Poles upon the Ark, as he did the Atonement-covering over it above.

21. He alſo had the Ark into the Tabernacle, and put the Hanging of the Covering, and covered over the Ark of the Teſtimony; as the Lord had commanded him.

22. And he put the Table into the publick Tent, upon the Side of the Tabernacle northward, without the Hanging.

23. Nay he ſet in order upon it the Bread that was to be ſo before the Lord; as he had commanded him.

24. He put the Candleſtick too into the publick Tent, over againſt the Table, upon the Side of the Tabernacle ſouthward:

25. Making the Lamps burn up before the Lord; as he had commanded him.

26. And the golden Altar he put into the publick Tent, before the Hanging:

27. Upon which he burnt Incenſe of Odours; as the Lord had commanded him.

28. And he put the Covering of the Door to the Tabernacle.

29. As he did the Altar of Burnt-offering at the Door of the Tabernacle of the publick Tent; and offered up on it the Burnt-offering and Oblation, as the Lord had commanded him.

30. He further ſet the Waſhing-veſſel between the publick Tent and the Altar; and put in Water there, to waſh.

31. Out of which Moſes, with Aaron and his Sons, waſhed their Hands and Feet.

32. When they went into the publick Tent, and when they went near to the Altar, they waſhed; as the Lord had commanded Moſes.

33. And he ſet up the Court round about the Tabernacle and Altar, and put the Covering of the Gate of the Court: thus Moſes finiſhed the Work.

34. Then a Cloud covered the publick Tent, and the Glory of the Lord filled the Tabernacle:

35. Inſomuch that Moſes could not enter into the publick Tent, becauſe the Cloud remained upon it, and the Glory of the Lord filled the Tabernacle.

36. And when the Cloud aſcended from off the Tabernacle, the Iſraelites marched, in all their Journeys.

37. But if the Cloud did not aſcend, they marched not till the Day it did.

38. For the Cloud of the Lord was upon the Tabernacle by Day, and the Fire was on it by Night, in the Sight of the whole Family of Iſrael in all their Journeys.

3214	2530	865										83	80	52	Iſraelites went from Egypt, Ex. xii. 40, 41.

The principal Point here is to find the Beginning of the 430 Years ſpoken of Exod. xii. 40, 41. Kohath the Son of Levi was born before Jacob and his Family went into Egypt, Gen. xlvi. 11. who lived 133 Years, Exod. vi. 18. Amram his Son and the Father of Moſes 137, Ver. 20. and Moſes was 79 at the Expiration of this Term, which all make but 349; ſo that we muſt look much further back for the Commencement of it, than the Iſraelites going to Joſeph in Egypt. The firſt Account of any of that People dwelling or ſojourning there, was of Abraham, Gen. xii. who ſeems to have gone thither ſoon after his going from Haran, when he was 74 Years old, Ver. 4. by his paſſing and going on, Ver. 6, 9. Here then I fix the Beginning of the 430 Years, which I ſhall ſtrengthen or confirm by the following Obſervations.

1. There is a great deal of Reaſon to believe that by the dwelling in Exod. xii. 40. (for moſhab is not ſojourning) was meant the whole Time, from the Beginning to the End of their dwelling there, eſpecially if we conſider it is Moſes names the Years, who wrote the whole Hiſtory; which will therefore take in and begin with that of Abraham.

2. The Apoſtle Paul mentions theſe 430 Years, Gal. iii. 17. ſhewing it was ſo long from the Time of the Covenant or Promiſe God made to Abraham, till the giving of the Law, which was at the Iſraelites Departure from Egypt. He likewiſe tells what Covenant he meant, even God's ſaying to Abraham, In thee ſhall all Nations (or Families of the Earth) be bleſſed, Ver. 8. which was ſpoken to Abraham a little before his going into Egypt, Gen. xii. 3. and that Expreſſion is not that we find uſed to him at any other Time; or if it had, Paul's Argument led him to ſpeak of the firſt, which took in the longeſt Time; look Chap. xii. Beg.

3. God declared to Abraham, Gen. xv. 13. that his Offspring ſhould be afflicted by the People of that Land 400 Years, this being after the above-mentioned Promiſe or Covenant; which pretty ſtrongly implies that the 430 Years were begun before, as I have ſtated it. From the Beginning of the dwelling in Egypt was 430, of the Affliction 400, till their Deliverance. Which Affliction may well be thought to begin, when Iſaac was mocked or made ſport with by Iſhmael, who was an Egyptian by his Mother, Gen. xxi. 9. which was a Matter of ſome Conſequence, as the Apoſtle ſpeaks of it, who ſays, he perſecuted him, Gal. iv. 29. and ſo it appears to be by Iſhmael and Hagar being both turned quite out of doors, which would ſcarce have been done for a Jeſt, or even once falling out. But it is probable that Iſhmael, abetted by his Egyptian Mother, might do what he could againſt Iſaac; who was five Years old by this Computation, at the Beginning of the 400 Years, which was as ſoon as we may well ſuppoſe Iſhmael could act much againſt him: but how long he continued in it before Sarah got them ſent off, we cannot tell. If any ſhould yet be backward in thinking this Affliction of one Perſon remarkable enough to be reckoned in the 400 Years, let them conſider the reſt of it was but the Affliction of other Perſons, of all whom Iſaac was the Father, and therefore his Suffering might well be numbered with theirs; ſee alſo Tobit iii. 7, &c. Beſides what was done to him, might be ſaid to be done to them; as we find Hoſea ſaying, Chap. xii. 4. ſpoke with us, when it was only with Jacob their Forefather; ſee Acts vii. 35, 27. This 400 Years alſo Stephen ſpeaks of, Acts vii. 6. where as a Confirmation of what has been ſaid, it is put to the being treated ill, which Iſaac was. And in Egypt the Iſraelites were treated well a great while, and their Affliction there appears to be but a little before the Birth of Moſes, as Aaron three Years older was ſaved; ſee Exod. i. 6, 8.

4. By this Calculation the Iſraelites were in Egypt the laſt Time 216 Years. Let us ſuppoſe now Kohath was born one Year before they went thither, becauſe there was Merari after him, Gen. xlvi. 11. Amram when Kohath was 69 Years old, and Moſes at the ſame Age of Amram; which with 79, the Age of Moſes when they went out of Egypt, make up the Time. Jochebed alſo being the Daughter of Levi, and Mother of Moſes, Exod. ii. 1. & vi. 20. we may compute her Birth, which was after the going to Egypt, Numb. xxvi. 59. when her Father was 120 Years of Age, about 10 younger than Terah when Abram was born; and that ſhe was 80 at the Birth of Moſes her youngeſt Child, about 10 Years leſs than Sarah's Age when ſhe bore Iſaac (their Age, as it is ſaid by Moſes, our, Pſal. xc. 10. being not ſhortened to 70, as it ſeems, till God did it for their Provocation in the Wilderneſs, related in Numb. xiv) this would likewiſe compleat the ſaid Term of Years: and moreover Amram the Father of Moſes would be dead above 10 Years before the Departure from Egypt.

I now proceed to form a rational Table of ſeveral remarkable Circumſtances, to ſhew from thence the groſs Abſurdities Interpreters have run into in Point of Chronology.

The

The Scripture is very clear that Jacob ſerved Laban the firſt 7 Years agreed on, before he was married; and was not married at the Beginning of that Term: for after they had made the Agreement, Gen. xxix. 18, 19. it is ſaid, Jacob ſerved ſeven Years for Rachel, Ver. 20. and then that he demanded her, ſaying, his Days were fulfilled, Ver. 21. afterwards he ſaid, Ver. 25. Did not I ſerve (which is the preterite Tenſe in Heb.) with thee for Rachel? and yet ſeven other Years, Ver. 27, 30. further confirms it. So our Countryman Shuckford ſays; "The Place does ſurely prove that he ſerved Laban "ſeven Years, and then ſaid give me my Wife, &c." Connect. Vol. ii. Book vii. p. 203. 2d Edit. The idle interpreting my Days are fulfilled, to ſignify I am old enough to be married, the Targum confutes, if it needs confuting, which has it, אורי שלימו יומי־פולחני for the Days of my Service are fulfilled; and the Greek, πεπλήρωνται γὰρ αἱ ἡμέραι, for the Days are fulfilled; as likewiſe Ainſworth from Pirke Eliezer, Chap. 36. which in the Genev. Bib. is read, my terme is ended. It follows then that Jacob had all his Children, excepting Benjamin, born in the firſt ſeven Years of his Marriage, being the ſecond Seven of his living with Laban, which is according to Shuckford, Connect. Lib. vii. but what wonder is that, ſince he had four Wives? Of theſe, ſeven were Leah's, and it is ſaid once ſhe ſtaid from bearing, Ver. 35. the reſt of the Time when ſhe did not ſtay, ſhe would have a Child in a Year, as by the Table: which may be counted thus more particularly; Reuben born at the End of 9 M. Simeon 1 Y. 8 M. Levi 2 Y. 7 M. Judah 3 Y. 6 M. Iſſachar 5 Y. 1 M. Zebulun 6 Y. Dinah 6 Y. 11 M. (though Demetrius a Greek Hiſtorian in Euſebius, Præp. Evang. Lib. ii. 21. has the Births of ſeveral of Leah's Children but ten Months apart) and if ſhe had ſtaid any other Time, it would have been improper to have mentioned that alone. For that ſtaying I allow about another Year, which compleats the Time; and her ſtaying only one Year, is leſs ſtrange than if ſhe had ſtaid many. For a farther Proof that they were not born in the firſt ſeven Years of Jacob's being with Laban, we find him telling Eſau, the Children were tender, Gen. xxxiii. 13. which ſhews they were not towards twenty Years old.

I come next to the Marriage of Judah and Birth of Er, which I have placed with the reſt in the Order of the Sacred Hiſtory; and am of Opinion that Judah being of a noble Spirit and Behaviour, by which he gained the Precedency of his Brothers next to Joſeph, Gen. xlix. 1 Chron. v. 2. was ſo diſpleaſed with what his Brothers did to Joſeph, and affected with his Father's Grief (ſee Gen. xxxvii. 26, 27. & xliv. 34.) that he left them, and ſo met with Shua's Daughter his Wife, Ch. xxxviii. 1, 2. Doubtleſs Moſes would not have interrupted the Hiſtory of Joſeph with this of Judah, if the Story of Judah had been firſt; however he ſays it was at that Time, of Joſeph's being ſold, that Judah went from his Brothers, and took a Wife. Therefore Judah did not lie with Tamar ten Years before, as the Index of the Great Bible places it, when he was ſixteen Years old: from which computing for Judah's Marriage and Er's Birth one Year, Er's Marriage and Death one Year, Onan's one Year, and Shelah's growing up three Years, there remain but ten Years to be parted between Judah and Er till the Time of their being married; the Concluſion of which will be, that Judah was married when he was five Years old, and had a Child the ſame Year (which was before they went from Padan-aram) as alſo that Er and Onan were both married, and Shelah was grown up fit for Marriage, about the ſame Age.

The third Point is concerning the Commencement of the ſeven Years of Fulneſs or Plenty, which I cannot find to be determinable by the Scripture, but judge it muſt be at leaſt twenty Years after Joſeph's Promotion, as by the Table; otherwiſe there is not Time ſufficient for Pharez to have two Sons, before they went into Egypt; which Time cannot be allowed between the Years of Fulneſs and Famine, if it was only for this Reaſon, that the Corn laid up would have been ſpoiled. All other Chronologers, I think, ſuppoſe the Years of Plenty began when Joſeph interpreted Pharaoh's Dreams; from whence ariſe ſuch Computations as theſe which follow: Bedford puts both Judah and Pharez to have a Child in their fifteenth Year; and both Er and Onan after Marriage to die in their fourteenth, with that remarkable Circumſtance of Virility in the latter, Gen. xxxviii. 9. and would alſo have Shelah grown up after Onan's Death, as Chap. xxxviii. 11, 14. Judah then lie with Tamar, and the Children be born, all in the next Year, yet puts Jacob's Marriage ſeven Years too ſoon, Script. Chron. Tab. 31. Uſher in his laſt Reſult, Chron. Sacra. Cap. 10. p. 170. reckons Er to be married before he was quite fourteen Years old, Onan at but fourteen; and for the Time Onan lived after he was married, and Shelah's growing up fit for Marriage, he allows but about three Quarters of a Year; as he alſo computes, that Pharez had Hezron born at the Beginning of his 15th Year, and Hamul at the End, or both born Twins at the latter. Broughton calculates that Judah might beget Er at 13 Years of Age, &c. Works, p. 387. and Lightfoot counts Judah but 10 Years old or under, when he begot his eldeſt Son, Harm. of Old Teſt. on 2 Kings xviii. Now were I to count in their Way, it ſhould be thus:

Jacob went to Syria when he was	77	Years old.
Judah born,	80
Er and Onan born,	96
Shelah born,	97
Er and Onan married, and died,	112
Pharez born,	114
Hezron and Hamul born, and they went to Egypt,	130

By which no Child might be born till his Father was ſixteen Years old, &c. Yet this contains too many and great Improbabilities; and with thoſe being ſo very young, Jacob himſelf is made vaſtly old, when he had ſo many Children. We may further take notice, that Jacob's eleven Sons had all their Children that we read of beſides Jochebed, Exod. vi. 20. Numb. xxvi. 59. before they went down to Egypt, which ſhews them not to be young; and Aſher had alſo two Grandchildren by his fourth Son, Gen. xlvi. 17. nay ſome of thoſe in Ver. 21. prove to be Benjamin's Grandſons, as Gera, 1 Chron. viii. 3. Naaman, 1 Chron. viii. 4. Numb. xxvi. 40. and Ard, Numb. xxvi. 40. So the Septuagint tranſlate in Gen. xlvi. 21. Ἐγένοντο δὲ υἱοὶ Βαλὰ· Γηρὰ, καὶ Νοεμὰν, and the Sons of Bala were Gera, and Noeman, &c. which will run Chronologers into much the ſame Difficulties and Abſurdities as before; and is a farther Confirmation that there was a conſiderable Space of Time after Joſeph was promoted in his thirtieth Year, Gen. xli. 46. before the Iſraelites went into Egypt, beſides the ſeven Years of Plenty and two of Famine. Such who would have Hezron, &c. born in Egypt, expreſsly contradict Holy Writ, Gen. xlvi. 8, 15, 26. without ſo much as the Pretence of any Corruption or Miſtake in the Hebrew Code. And it is the utmoſt Height of Stupidity to attempt to prove a Chronology from the Scripture, on the Suppoſition that the Scripture it ſelf is not true. Moreover Jochebed Levi's Daughter being left out in Gen. xlvi. becauſe born in Egypt, Numb. xxvi. 59. ſhews that the reſt named in that Chap. were born before Jacob went thither, ſince Aſher's Daughter is reckoned in, Ver. 17. To this let me add, that the Increaſe of the Iſraelites was prodigiouſly large for 216, or as others compute but 215 Years in Egypt, and about one after, Numb. i. 1. from 70 Perſons to 603550 Men that were above 19 Years old, beſides the Tribe of Levi; who, with Women and Children, might probably amount to 1850000 or more. But if they were not 70 at their entering Egypt; and if the Grand-children were young, as they muſt have been by leaving out the 20 Years allowed above, ſuch a vaſt Increaſe might exceed Belief; for ſuch a Difference at the Beginning would make a great deal at the End.

If we look now to Joſeph's Interpretation, Gen. xli. we find him telling Pharaoh that God would ſhortly bring it to paſs, in the com. Tranſ. which ſhews the Time of Plenty was not begun, nor to begin preſently: the like was ſaid to John, Rev. i. 1. of Things which were not fulfilled in twenty Years. But in Heb. it is, God will make haſte to do it, a ſimilar Expreſſion to that which was ſpoken to Jeremiah, Chap. i. 12. of which it may be ſaid as of the other. The Manner of relating it alſo in Acts vii. 11. does not beſpeak the immediate Commencement of it, ἦλθε δὲ λιμὸς, But there came a Famine; as if a good while after. And Juſtin ſays of Joſeph, Lib. xxxvi. 2. ſterilitatem agrorum ante multos annos providerit, he foreknew a Scarcity of the Ground many Years beforehand. And if Noah was 120 Years building the Ark, is it ſtrange that Joſeph ſhould be 20 Years providing Store-houſes, &c. throughout the Land of Egypt? As for Pharaoh's believing Joſeph ſo long, the greateſt Difficulty was at firſt, and he might often be confirmed in it afterwards, by what he heard and ſaw of him. Nay the like Objection might be made concerning Daniel and other Prophets, whoſe Declarations of future Things were received and believed.

The Chronology has already been brought to the Iſraelites Departure from Egypt, before which, and to the ſame Time, as well as in that Country, there is a Liſt of the Kings, with their Time of reigning by Manetho, which is preſerved from his Greek Hiſtory in Syncellus, as alſo in Joſephus againſt Apion, as follows:

The laſt being he who was drowned in the Red Sea purſuing the Iſraelites, (as appears by Manetho himſelf, and Cheræmon, as cited by Joſephus againſt Apion, Lib. i.) fixes the Time to that remarkable Period; and from hence it appears that the firſt King Salatis began reigning in the 2621 Year of the Jul. Per. 272 Years after the Flood, that it was Janias who took Sarai, Gen. xii. and Mephramuthoſis, in whoſe Time the Iſraelites went to Egypt. The Eng. Reader may here be cautioned of miſtaking by Sir Roger L'Eſtrange's Tranſlation of Joſephus, which has the Reign of Apophis 60 Years and 1 Month, when it is Απωφις ἒν καὶ ἑξήκονλα, threeſcore and one Years.

Theſe being Kings of Lower Egypt, there is alſo a Catalogue of thoſe of Upper Egypt who reigned at Thebes, from Eratoſthenes, Library-keeper of Ptolemy Euergetes, (Succeſſor to Manetho, above 200 Years before the Time of Chriſt) by whoſe Order it was taken out of the Records of that Country, and is likewiſe preſerved as follows by *Georg. Syncellus relates that Apollodorus had a Liſt of fifty three Kings, the reſt of which he himſelf omitted. In the Table to Cumberland's Orig. Gent. Antiquiſſimæ, printed 1724 (from whence Bedford ſeems to have copied his Reckoning in Script. Chron. Tab. 13. printed 1730) the Reign of Chnubus Gneurus is counted twenty ſeven Years, making the whole 1055; but how wrong it is, may be ſeen by looking no further than Sir John Marſham's Canon Chronicus, Tab. 1. and his twice mentioning, ad Secul. 11. p. 313. Franeq. Edit. that Eratoſthenes aſcribes 1050 Years to thoſe Kings.

To the Reign of Mares are theſe Words affixed, Παὸ Αἰγυπτίοις ἐτύγχανεν δυνάστεια καθ' ἣν ἐβασίλευσαν Θηβαῖοι, With the Egyptians, (i. e. the other of Lower Egypt) was now the Dynaſty in which the Thebans reigned; and Scaliger's Euſebius in Greek, pag. 18. ſays that the Thebans reigned in the Dynaſty begun by Amoſis or Tethmoſis. From hence it follows, that Tethmoſis King of Lower Egypt began reigning in the Time of Mares the 9th King of Upper Egypt, who reigning 26 Years, fixes the Catalogue of Eratoſthenes to that of Manetho, and conſequently by what has been already delivered, to the Scripture Chronology, within the Compaſs of twenty ſix Years. In the next place Manetho the Egyptian Hiſtorian tells us (in a Fragment of his preſerved by Joſephus againſt Apion, Lib. i. as he ſays in the Author's own Words) that a ſtrong People from the Eaſt called Hycſos, the latter Part of the Word ſignifying Shepherds, invaded Egypt in the Reign of Timaus, and ſet up Salatis King there. Now there being an Account from Plato in Phædo, p. 1240, that Βασιλέως Αἰγυπτὶα ὅλης Θαμός, Thamus was a King of all Egypt; who by the Likeneſs of the Names is the ſame, and as Thamus is deſcribed there to be King before Theut or Thoth, it appears to be Mizraim; eſpecially as it is thought he was the Tammuz mentioned Ezek. viii. 14. for Mizraim being Oſiris, as ſhewn on Gen. x. 13. Diodorus relates his being killed by his Brother Typhon, that he was afterwards honoured as a God, and the Ceremonies performed with Mourning and Lamentation, Lib. i. 2. as Ezekiel ſaw. According to this Account, and as thoſe Shepherds appear to have come out of the Country of Canaan, Typhon was probably Canaan the Brother of Mizraim, Gen. x. 6. and Joſephus ſays further from Manetho, that Avaris where the Shepherds encamped was called Typhon, as ſeems likely from the Name of their King, who might then defeat and kill Oſiris or Mizraim, and make Salatis King there. Salatis thus beginning to reign at the Death of Mizraim, fixes his Death to the Year 2621, and conſequently ſettles the Time of the reſt, as in the Catalogue. Cumberland, Orig. Gent. Ant. and Bedford, Scrip. Chron. ſtate the Beginning of the Reign of Salatis 9 Years after the Death of Menes, and ſo far in the Reign of Athothes, but ſeemingly with far leſs Reaſon.

The firſt of theſe Writers endeavours pretty much to ſhew, that Aſo, Queen of Ethiopia, whom Plutarch ſays aſſiſted in the War againſt Oſiris, was Semiramis Queen of Aſſyria, pag. 91, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97. but if we look into the Chronological Table in the ſame Treatiſe, we ſee the Beginning of Semiramis's Reign put 87 Years after Salatis was made King, which, as I compute, are too few; yet Cumberland aſcribes that particular Act to her Aid, pag. 96. and that the Chronological Table was of his own making, appears by his mentioning it juſt after this Part of the Diſcourſe, pag. 98. nay he ſays expreſsly further, "By my Accounts the Time of Semiramis's "Reign in the Aſſyrian Empire, falls in with the Time "of Apophis's Reign in the Lower Egypt," p. 112. ſee after the Table of the Sicyonian Kings. Athothes I. is plainly the ſame whom Sanchon. calls Thoth, the Son of Miſor by Contraction from Mizraim, on Chap. iv. es being the Greek Termination, and A might be arbitrarily prefixed, Cumberland's Sanchon. in Pref. That Mizraim began the Kingdom of Egypt is not to be doubted, Egypt being every where called Mizraim in the Hebrew.

As at the Diſtribution of Mankind after the Flood, Lower Egypt muſt be entered by Land before the Upper, and the firſt being the more fruitful Country, I cannot imagine that Mizraim went and ſettled in Upper Egypt, and left the other; but reigned a while in the Lower, and then over the whole, till the Canaanite Shepherds, as Manetho relates, invaded it, and got the lower and nearer Part of Egypt, and then made Salatis their King; who had five Succeſſors, as in the Catalogue, when Tethmoſis the Son of Aliſphragmuthoſis, as Manetho calls him, expelled them thence, and had that for his Kingdom, leaving Upper Egypt to the next Heir. And Euſebius, Syncellus, and latter Writers, join the Reign of Tethmoſis or Amoſis to that of Aſſis, in their Accompts. As for Manetho's ſaying the Shepherds kept Lower Egypt 511 Years, it may be looked upon as the firſt of his Dynaſties, the Years of which extend to long before the Creation, making his own Country, where he was a Heathen Prieſt, ſeem very ancient; and he does not ſeem able to tell any more than thoſe ſix Kings. Joſephus is alſo evidently miſtaken in thinking thoſe Canaanite Paſtors were the Iſraelites; it being long before they were in Egypt, and very wide of Agreement otherwiſe: but Joſephus too was endeavouring againſt Apion, to make his own Nation appear ancient; and perhaps to juſtify the Length of the Septuagint Accompt; and ſo he alſo ſeeks to diſcredit the true Account that Manetho gives further, as to Time, of the Iſraelites going out of Egypt in the Time of Amenophis, 333 Years after.

For the Time of the Egyptian Monarchy together, Conſtantine Manaſſes, whoſe Greek Annals in Verſe are turned into Latin by John Leunolaius, reckons it 1663 Years; which counted backwards from the Conqueſt of Egypt by Cambyſes King of Perſia, in the Year of the Jul. Per. 4189, makes the Beginning in 2526, and that is 33 Years before Menes began reigning in Upper or all Egypt, as in the Table; which Space of Time he may well be thought firſt to have reigned in Lower Egypt, whither he muſt come before he got to the other, as already ſaid; nay Syncellus, pag. 91. puts his Reign in Lower Egypt 35 Years. Diod. Siculus likewiſe tells us, L. i. 2. ſome of the Egyptians reckoned little leſs than twenty three thouſand Years from Oſiris, who as we have ſeen was Mizraim, to Alexander the Great, that built a City after his own Name in Egypt; between which Time of Alexander in the Year of the Jul. Per. 4382, and the Year 2526 above, are 1856 Years, being about 22955 Lunar Years or Months, by which as it ſeems they counted, according to Plutarch in the Life of Numa, Pliny, Nat. Hiſt. L. vii. 48. Macrob. Sat. L. i. 14. Lactant. Inſtit. ii. 12. and ſo is a farther Confirmation of our Chronology. The ſame Diodorus alſo informs us, Lib. i. 6. that the Egyptians aſſert their native Kings reigned above 4700 Years; whoſe Government ceaſing when the Perſians under Cambyſes conquered the Country in the Year of the Jul. Per. 4189, and not only Plutarch, but Solinus, Polybiſt. Cap. 3. and Auguſtine, Civitat. Dei, Lib. xii. 10. relating the Egyptians had Years of four Months, this reduces thoſe Years to one third of their Number, viz. between 1566 and 1567. Now from that Year back to the End of the Reign of Menes, who being the firſt King of Egypt was not a Native, but came thither, was by the foregoing Catalogue 1568 Years; ſo well does it agree.

The following Words of Diodor. Sicul. may alſo claim Notice for the ſame Purpoſe, Lib. i. 4. Ἄρξαι λέγεται τῦ Μηνᾶ τῆς ἀπογόνες ἔτη πλείω τῶν χιλίων καὶ τετρακοσίων, they ſay the Poſterity of Menes reigned above 1400 Years. Adding theſe Years to the Beginning of his Reign in the Table, himſelf being included, it ariſes to the Year of the Jul. Per. 3959; and as the Egyptian Line of Kings ended, and gave place to the Ethiopian at the Year 3986, according to the Catalogue on the 1 King. xii. 23. there were very agreeably 27 Years above 1400. Next as Diod. Sicul. mentions ſome of thoſe Kings in Chap. 4. of his firſt Book, I would try how ſucceſsfully I can find it quadrate with this Rank of Eratoſthenes; as I have never yet ſeen it done, and it may be ſtill a farther Eſtabliſhment of ſo material a Part, of ſuch ancient, and as has been thought, uncertain Chronology. Myris reigning after Uchoreus and his twelve Succeſſors, agrees with Maris and Ocaras, which the Names both reſemble. Then Uchoreus being the 8th King from Buſiris II. incluſive, this anſwers to the prior Diſtance of Biyris, with the like Reſemblance of Names; where note by the Way, that the Lat. Tranſlator of Diodorus took the Greek Word for eighth to be a proper Name Ogdous. It follows now that the Buſiris I. of Died. Buſiris II. being his 8th Deſcendant, was Toegar Amachus Momchiri.

The Scholiaſt upon the Argonautics of Apollonius, Lib. iv. Ver. 272. writes, Δικαίαρχος ἐν πρώτῳ λέγει, γίνεσθαι ἀπὸ τῆς Νείλε Βασιλείας μέχρι τῆς πρώτης Ὀλυμπιάδος ἔτη υλς, Dicæarchus ſays in Book the firſt, there were from the Kingdom of Nilus to the firſt Olympiad 436 Years. This claims the more Regard, as Dicæarchus being the Scholar of Ariſtotle was a very ancient Author, and of ſo much Authority, that his Book of Government was yearly read in publick to the Spartan or Lacedæmonian Youth; nay he is to be held, ſays Marſham, ad Secul. 10. among the firſt Fathers of Greek Chronology; and claims ſpecial Notice here, ſince I have obſerved no Chronologer who could make it ſuit with his Numbers. The Deſtruction of Troy being then in the Year of the J. P. 3530, as in the Table at Judg. iii. 8. the Death of Siphoas was three Years before, whence the Reign of Nilus might be dated, as the fourteen Years were a Sort of Interregnum, or at leaſt without the King's Name. In the next place it is to be conſidered, that there are diverſe Reckonings of the Space of Time from the Fall of Troy to the firſt Olympiad, which according to the Parian or Arundelian Marble was 433 Years; theſe Words being legible on it, Ἀφ' ἧς Τροία, ἔτη ΙΗΙΗΗΗΗΔΔΔΔΠ, Βασιλεύοντος Ἀθηνῶν . . . . . ἕως δευτέρυ ἔτους, Since Troy was taken 245 Years (viz. to the Year Diognetus was the Athenian Archon, of the Jul. Per. 4450) in the 22*d Year of the Reign of* Meneſteos at Athens; as by the ſame the War began, τρισκαιδεκάτυ ἔτους, in his 13*th Year*: by which Computation it was in the Year of the Jul. Per. 3505, as the firſt Olympiad is agreed to be in 3938. Suppoſing now that Dicæarchus reckoned according to this, by adding the three Years between the Beginning of the Reign of Nilus as above, and the Deſtruction of Troy, (which he might know independently of the Olympiad) to the 433 ſo computed, the the Sum is the exact Number mentioned, Note, that the 436 Years were not counted from the End of Nilus's Reign, appears becauſe Dicæarchus had juſt before related another Term of Years to the Kingdom of Nilus, which would rationally be the Beginning of it, to which he connects this, and then adds them both together.

Syncellus, p. 147. has 124 Years from the Confuſion of Languages to the Reign of Menes; this Shuckford, Connec. B. xi. computes to his building Memphis, as Herodotus writes he did, Lib. ii. the Metropolis of his Kingdom; which will agree aptly with my Tables, where it is 105 Years from the Diſperſion at Babylon to the Beginning of the Reign of Menes, as he might ſuitably build the City about twenty Years after. Since it is certain Menes is counted to begin reigning ſooner, and Addition has been made to the Number, for elſewhere it is 1124, I have thought perhaps the twenty likewiſe might be added, which would bring it but a Year from my Tables: either Way may do.

There remains to be ſettled from hence, the Line of the Thinitæ, exhibited at Chap. xii. 17. Menes and Athothes I. being the ſame, it appears that when Athothes had reigned 57 Years, Part of the Theban Nation on one ſide the great River Nile divided from the other, over which Cencenes became King, while Athothes continued reigning on the eaſtern Side two Years longer, and afterwards it went to their Succeſſors, till the Theban Government got the whole again.

Athothes I. the Son of Menes, whom the Egyptians call Thouth, and the Greeks Hermes, as in Euſeb. Præp. Evang. L. iii. to whom, with Plato, in Phædro and Philebo, is aſcribed, under the Name of Theuth, the Invention of Arithmetick, Geometry, Aſtronomy, Grammar, &c. is ſaid to have Writings now extant in Gr. which Bedford, Chron. p. 132. ſays he ſaw in the Bodleian Library in Oxford; but I have them in Engliſh, tranſlated, as there ſaid, by that learned Divine Dr. Everard, and turned out of Arabick into Greek: wherein he ſpeaks to his Son Tat or Thoth.

To fix thoſe Catalogues the firmer, I will alſo inſert that of the Kings of the Argives in Peloponneſus, in the South of Greece, according to Caſtor of Rhodes, who lived in the Time of Julius Cæſar, from a Piece of his Χρονικὰ ἀγνοήματα in Euſebius's Greek Chron. Lib. i. p. 19. and Lat. Col. 5. Tatianus Orat. ad Græcos, and Pauſanias in Corinthiacis, C. 15, 16.

Euſebius leaves a Blank of ſix Years between Acriſius and Euriſtheus, putting the Reign of the latter two Years more, which amounts to the ſame.

As this ended at the Deſtruction of Troy, in the Year of the Jul. Per. 3530, of which ſee the Table at Judg. iii. Agamemnon being the Grecian General, who was ſlain when he got home, the Beginning would be in 2855, four Years after the Death of Shem. Now Clemens Alexandrinus in Stromat. Lib. i. Juſtin Martyr in Paranet. ad Græcos, Tatian in Orat. contra eoſdem, and Apion in Hiſt. of the Egyptian Affairs, Lib. iv. from Ptolomæus Mendeſius, an Egyptian Writer of their Antiquities in the Time of Auguſtus Cæſar, report that Amoſis or Tethmoſis likewiſe lived in the Time of Inachus; the former accordingly began reigning, by the Number in thoſe Succeſſions, 26 Years after the latter. It likewiſe being above 1100 Years from the Beginning of Inachus, to that of Romulus or the Building of Rome, by Varro, De Rebus Human. Lib. xvii. as cited by Aulus Gellius, *Noct. The ſeven laſt being Prieſts.

This Monarchy failed by the coming of the Heraclides thither, as Velleius Paterculus relates, Lib. i. Cap. 2. which was 80 Years after the Deſtruction of Troy, by Eratoſthenes, Diodorus Siculus in his Preface, and Thucydides, Lib. i. whom Plutarch, Clemens Alexandrinus, and Euſebius follow; Paterculus ſays, about that Year. From hence, by ſubſtracting 985 from that Year of the Jul. Per. 3610, there remains 2625 for the Year when Ægialeus began reigning, 4 Years after Salatis. Now Pliny writes in his Nat. Hiſt. Lib. vii. 56. ſpeaking of the Invention of Letters, Anticlides in Ægypto inveniſſe quendam nomine Menona tradit, 15 annis ante Phoroneum, antiquiſſimum Greciæ; idque monumentis approbare conatur: Anticlides relates that one Menon (or Menes) invented them, 15 Years before Phoroneus the moſt ancient King of Greece, which he endeavours to prove by Records. And according to Apollodorus, Lib. ii. at Beg. Phoroneus was the Brother of Ægialeus; before whoſe Reign Menes dying four Years, it agrees very well.

NOTES

NOTES upon the BOOK called LEVITICUS.

CHAP. I.

AND the Lord called to Moſes, and ſpoke to him from the publick Tent;

2. That he ſhould tell the Iſraelites what follows: When a Man of you brings his Oblation to the Lord, it ſhall be of the Cattle, either of the Herd or Flock.

3. If it be a Burnt-offering of the Herd, he ſhall bring it a perfect Male, to the Gate of the publick Tent, for his Favour before the Lord.

4. And he ſhall lean his Hand upon the Head of the Burnt-offering; which ſhall be accepted of him, to make atonement for him.

5. Then the young one of the Herd ſhall be killed before the Lord; and Aaron's Sons the Prieſts ſhall bring the Blood, and ſprinkle it round about upon the Altar, which is at the Door of the publick Tent.

6. Moreover the Burnt-offering ſhall be ſtript, and divided into its Pieces.

7. And, when they have put the Fire upon the Altar, and the Wood in order upon that;

8. Thoſe Prieſts ſhall put in order the Pieces, the Head, and the Fat, upon the Wood, which is on the Fire upon the Altar.

9. And his Entrails and Legs being waſhed with Water, let the Prieſt burn all on the Altar, for a Burnt-offering, a Sacrifice by Fire, of a pleaſant Smell to the Lord.

10. If his Oblation likewiſe be of the Flock, either Sheep or Goats, for a Burnt-offering, he ſhall bring it a perfect Male.

11. Which ſhall be killed by the Side of the Altar northward before the Lord; and the forementioned Prieſts ſhall ſprinkle his Blood upon the Altar round about.

12. And he ſhall be divided into his Pieces, with his Head and Fat; and the Prieſt ſhall put them in order upon the Wood, which is on the Fire upon the Altar.

13. The Entrails too and Legs being waſhed with Water, let the Prieſts bring all, and burn on the Altar: which ſhall be a Burnt-offering, a Sacrifice by Fire of a pleaſant Smell to the Lord.

14. If his Oblation alſo to the Lord be a Burnt-offering of Fowls, he ſhall bring it of Turtle-doves or young Pigeons.

15. Which the Prieſt ſhall bring to the Altar, and pinching off his Head, burn it on the ſame; and his Blood ſhall be ſqueezed out by the Side of the Altar.

16. Beſides his Crop, with the Filth of it, he ſhall take away, and caſt it near the Altar eaſtward, at the Place of the Aſhes.

Ver. 1. And the Lord] This properly begins another Book, as the Tabernacle was now juſt ſet up, and the Utenſils put in order; ſo that the Levitical Law now commenced, which is here given.

Ver. 2. either] as Ver. 3. & 10. ſhew.

Ver. 3. Burnt-offering] It may be obſerved, that this Chapter treats of Burnt-offerings, peculiarly ſo called, when the whole Body was burnt, excepting the Skin of Beaſts, Ver. 9, 13. Chap. vii. 8. the Crop, &c. of Birds, Ver. 15, 16, 17. the next Chap. of Meat-offerings, the following of Peace-offerings, the 4th of Sin-offerings, and the 5th, with the 6th to Ver. 8. of Treſpaſs-offerings. Then beginning again with Burnt-offerings, there is a farther Account of them all, in relation to the Prieſts eſpecially, which is ſummed up, Chap. vii. 37.

Ib. bring] according as the Word properly ſignifies, and is rendered, Ver. 2, 5, 10, 13, 14, 15. & ii. 4, 11. & xxvii. 9. Num. ix. 13. & xv. 9, 27. & xvi. 17.

Ib. bring it] the very ſame as in Ver. 10.

Ib. perfect] the ſame as ſo rendered, Chap. xxii. 21. ſee alſo Gell in Eſſay, p. 238. who takes up our Tranſlators ſmartly about it.

Ib. for his Favour] or Acceptation: the like Chap. xxii. 19. & xxiii. 11. Exod. xxviii. 38. and negative, Lev. xxii. 20. Jer. vi. 20. which the Verſe after this confirms, by the Verb from whence this Noun comes, and Chap. xxii. 20, 21. & xxiii. 11. by the Noun repeated; the Order of the Heb. being alſo here kept. And it may plainly be ſeen this is not reſtricted to Freewill-offerings. Accordingly it is rendered in the Tigurin Verſion, ut acceptus ſit ipſe, that he may be accepted; by Ainſworth, for his favourable acceptation; as the like in the Greek, Chaldee, Syriack and Arabick Tranſlations; ſee likewiſe Gell's Eſſay, p. 238.

Ver. 4. lean] as Maimonides ſaith, with all his Might, Patrick's Comment. ſee Ainſw. Annot.

Ver. 5. the young one of the Herd] So the Heb. and Ainſw. a great Expounder of the Law, ſays, of the firſt yeere, not older; as indeed appears by Mic. vi. 6. being for a Burnt-offering; and ſo not old enough for a Steer, much leſs to be a Bullock.

Ib. ſhall be killed] by one of the Prieſts or Levites, as it appears. In the latter Edit. of Jun. and Trem. it is rendered, jugulabit Sacerdos, the Prieſt ſhall kill; agreeable to 2 Chron. xxix. 24. and perhaps to Exod. xxix. 11. ſo 1 Chron. xxiii. 31. 2 Chron. xxx. 17. & xxxv. 11. ſhew it was done by the Levites.

Ver. 6. ſtript] which the Levites did, 2 Chron. xxxv. 11.

Ver. 12. Fat] Gen. Tranſ. kall.

Ver. 14. be a Burnt-offering] According to Ver. 3.

Ver. 16. Filth of it] the Gender of the Pronoun manifeſtly ſhewing that it belonged to the Crop; and thus the beſt of the ancient and modern Interpreters have rendered it.

17. And

17. And let the Prieſt cleave him with his Wings, but not aſunder, and burn him on the Altar, upon the Wood that is on the Fire: which ſhall be a Burnt-offering, a Sacrifice by Fire of a pleaſant Smell to the Lord.

CHAP. II.

AND when a Perſon brings an Oblation of Meat-offering to the Lord, it ſhall be fine Flour; upon which he ſhall pour Oil, and put Frankincenſe.

2. This being brought to Aaron's Sons the Prieſts, one of them ſhall take from thence his Handful of the fine Flour and Oil of it, with all its Frankincenſe; which Memorial of it let him burn on the Altar, for an Offering by Fire of a pleaſant Smell to the Lord.

3. And what is left of the Meat-offering ſhall be for Aaron and his Sons; it being very holy of the Lord's Offerings by Fire.

4. Moreover when thou bringeſt an Oblation of Meat-offering baked in the Oven, it ſhall be unleavened Cakes of fine Flour tempered with Oil, and unleavened Biſcuits waſhed over with Oil.

5. And if thy Oblation be a Meat-offering upon a Pan; it ſhall be of fine Flour unleavened, tempered with Oil.

6. Thou ſhalt break it in Bits, and pour Oil upon it; which ſhall be the Meat-offering.

7. If thy Oblation alſo be a Meat-offering in a Pot, it ſhall be made of fine Flour with Oil.

8. And thou ſhalt bring the Meat-offering that is made of theſe to the Lord; which being brought to the Prieſt, he ſhall carry it to the Altar.

9. He ſhall take up from it too a Memorial of it, and burn on the Altar; which ſhall be an Offering by Fire of a pleaſant Smell to the Lord.

10. And what is left of it ſhall be for Aaron and his Sons; it being very holy of the Lord's Offerings by Fire.

11. No Meat-offering which you bring to the Lord ſhall be leavened: for you ſhall burn neither of any Leaven, nor Honey, in an Offering by Fire to him.

12. In the Oblation of the Firſt-fruits you muſt bring them to the Lord, but they ſhall not be offered up on the Altar for a pleaſant Smell.

13. And thou ſhalt ſeaſon every Oblation of thy Meat-offering with Salt, not letting the Salt of the Covenant of thy God ceaſe from thy Meat-offering: with all thy Oblations ſhalt thou bring Salt.

14. And if thou bringeſt a Meat-offering of thy Firſt-fruits to the Lord, it ſhall be that which is ground of green Ears of Corn dried with Fire.

15. Upon which thou ſhalt put Oil, and Frankincenſe: that ſhall be the Meat-offering.

16. And the Prieſt ſhall burn a Memorial of it, ſome of that which is ground, and of the Oil, with all the Frankincenſe: which ſhall be an Offering by Fire to the Lord.

CHAP. III.

MOREOVER if his Oblation be a Sacrifice of Peace-offerings, if he bring it of the Herd, whether it be Male or Female, he ſhall bring it perfect before the Lord.

2. And ſhall lean his Hand upon the Head of it, which ſhall be killed at the Door of the publick Tent; and Aaron's Sons the Prieſts ſhall ſprinkle the Blood upon the Altar round about.

3. Beſides he ſhall bring with the Sacrifice of Peace-offerings, for an Offering by Fire to the Lord, all the Fat that lies upon the Entrails.

4. He ſhall alſo take off the two Kidneys, and the Fat which is upon them, on the Flanks, and the Caul upon the Liver, along with the Kidneys.

5. Which let the Sons of Aaron burn on the Altar, with the Burnt-offering that is on the Wood upon the Fire: it ſhall be a Sacrifice by Fire of a pleaſant Smell to the Lord.

Ver. 1. Oblation] Omitted here by our Tranſlators, though not in Ver. 4, 13. and his Oblation left out Ch. iv. 32.

Ver. 4. and] as Exod. xxix. 2.

Ver. 7. a Meat-offering in a Pot] Biſh. a thing broyled upon the gredíron. And baken is added ſo abſurdly by our laſt Tranſlators.

Ver. 12. them] viz. Leaven and Honey, Ch. xxiii. 17. 2 Chron. xxxi. 5.

Ib. not be offered] they being for the Prieſts, Num. xviii. 13.

Ver. 14. that which is ground] from the Verb rendered breaketh and broken in the com. Bib. Pſa. cxix. 20. Lam. iii. 16. where only it occurs. Ainſworth tranſlates it ground-corne; and quotes Sol. Jar. expounding it, broken whiles it is moyſt. Geres (ſaith he) meaneth breaking and grinding, broken with the mill: and juſt before, they dryed them with the fire, in the green-ears, becauſe elſe they would not be ground in the mill, for that they were moyſt.

Ver. 1. Peace-offerings] the Purpoſe of which may the better be underſtood, by knowing the Heb. Words for Peace comprehend Welfare or Proſperity; and it is explained, and diſtinguiſhed, Chap. vii. 11, 12, 16.

Ib. Herd] Gen. drove, Biſh. droues.

Ver. 5. with] as rendered by Ainſworth, Jun. and Trem. una cum, the Meaning that Noldius likewiſe gives this, in his Concordance of the Heb. Particles; and it is the ſame Prepoſition that is thus uſed and engliſhed, Chap. vii. 13.

6. And if his Oblation for a Sacrifice of Peace-offerings to the Lord, be of the Flock, Male or Female, he ſhall bring it perfect.

7. If he brings a Sheep for his Oblation, he ſhall bring it before the Lord.

8. And ſhall lean his Hand upon the Head of it, which ſhall be killed before the publick Tent; and Aaron's Sons ſhall ſprinkle the Blood of it upon the Altar round about.

9. Beſides he ſhall bring with the Sacrifice of Peace-offerings, for an Offering by Fire to the Lord the Fat of it, the entire Rump, which he ſhall take away by the Back-bone, and all the Fat that lies upon the Entrails.

10. He ſhall alſo take off the two Kidneys, and the Fat which is upon them, on the Flanks, and the Caul upon the Liver, along with the Kidneys.

11. Which let the Prieſt burn on the Altar: it ſhall be the Meat of a Sacrifice by Fire to the Lord.

12. If his Oblation likewiſe be a Goat, he ſhall bring it before the Lord.

13. And ſhall lean his Hand upon the Head of it, which ſhall be killed before the publick Tent; and Aaron's Sons ſhall ſprinkle its Blood upon the Altar round about.

14. Beſides he ſhall offer his Oblation of it, for a Sacrifice by Fire to the Lord, all the Fat that lies upon the Entrails.

15. He ſhall alſo take off the two Kidneys, and the Fat which is upon them, on the Flanks, and the Caul upon the Liver, along with the Kidneys.

16. And let the Prieſt burn them on the Altar: it ſhall be the Meat of a Sacrifice by Fire, for a pleaſant Smell; all the Fat being the Lord's.

17. By a laſting Ordinance throughout your Generations, in all your Dwellings, you ſhall eat no Fat, nor any Blood.

CHAP. IV.

AND the Lord bade Moſes,

2. To tell the Iſraelites as follows: When a Perſon ſins by Miſtake, doing contrary to any one of the Lord's Commandments, what ſhould not be done;

3. If it be an anointed Prieſt who ſins in the Offence of the People, he ſhall bring for his Sin which he has committed, a perfect young Bullock of the Herd to the Lord, for a Sin-offering.

4. And having brought it to the Door of the publick Tent, before the Lord, he ſhall lean his Hand upon the Head of it, and it ſhall be killed there.

5. Moreover the ſame Prieſt ſhall take ſome of the Bullock's Blood, and bring it into the publick Tent.

6. Where the Prieſt ſhall dip his Finger in it, and ſprinkle ſome of it ſeven times before the Lord, before the Veil of the Holy Place.

7. He ſhall put ſome of the Blood too upon the Horns of the Altar of the Incenſe of Odours, before the Lord, which is in the publick Tent; and all the Blood of the Bullock ſhall he pour out at the Bottom of the Altar of Burnt-offering, which is at the Door of the publick Tent.

8. Beſides he ſhall take up from it all the Fat of the Bullock of Sin-offering, all the Fat that lies upon the Entrails.

9. He ſhall alſo take off the two Kidneys, and the Fat which is upon them, on the Flanks, and the Caul upon the Liver, along with the Kidneys:

10. According as it is taken up from the Ox of the Sacrifice of Peace-offerings; and let the Prieſt burn them upon the Altar of Burnt-offering.

11. And the Skin of the Bullock, and all his Fleſh, with his Head, Legs, Entrails and Dung,

12. Nay the whole Bullock let him carry forth without the Camp, to a clean Place, where the Aſhes are poured out, and burn him there upon the Wood with Fire.

13. If all the Aſſembly of Iſrael likewiſe err, the Matter being hid from their Sight, and do Something contrary to any of the Lord's Commandments, what ſhould not be done, and be guilty;

14. When the Sin which they have committed againſt it is known, the Congregation ſhall bring a young Bullock of the Herd for the Sin, before the publick Tent.

15. And the Elders of the Aſſembly ſhall

CHAP. V.

WHEN a Perſon alſo ſins, by hearing an Expreſſion of Curſing, of which he is a Witneſs, having either ſeen or known it, and does not tell it, he ſhall bear his Iniquity.

2. Or the Perſon who touches any unclean Thing, either a Carcaſe of an unclean Beaſt, Cattle, or creeping Thing; though it be hid from him, yet ſhall he be unclean, and guilty.

3. Or when one touches any Uncleanneſs of Man, in which he is unclean; whether it be hid from him, or he knows it, he ſhall be guilty.

4. Or when a Perſon ſwears, pronouncing with his Lips, either to do ill or well, in any thing which Man pronounces with an Oath, and it is hidden from him: when he knows that he is guilty in one of theſe Things,

5. Then ſhall he confeſs in what he has ſinned;

6. And bring his Treſpaſs-offering to the Lord, for his Sin which he has committed, a Female out of the Flock, a Lamb, or a Kid of the Goats for a Sin-offering: thus ſhall the Prieſt purge him from his Sin.

7. But if he cannot obtain ſufficient for a Lamb, he ſhall bring for his Treſpaſs in which he has ſinned, two Turtle-doves, or two young Pigeons to the Lord; one for a Sin-offering, and the other for a Burnt-offering.

8. Theſe let him bring to the Prieſt, who ſhall offer that which is for the Sin-offering firſt; pinching off his Head at his Neck, but not dividing him aſunder.

9. Next he ſhall ſprinkle ſome of the Blood of the Sin-offering upon the Side of the Altar, and what is left of it ſhall be ſqueezed out at the Bottom of the ſame: which ſhall be a Sin-offering.

10. And he ſhall make the ſecond a Burnt-offering according to the Manner: thus let the Prieſt purge him from his Sin which he has committed, and it ſhall be forgiven him.

11. But if he cannot obtain two Turtle-doves, or two young Pigeons, he who has ſinned ſhall bring his Oblation, the tenth part of an Ephah of fine Flour for a Sin-offering: upon which he ſhall neither put Oil, nor Frankincenſe, becauſe it is a Sin-offering.

12. And he ſhall bring it to the Prieſt, who ſhall take his Handful of the ſame, a Memorial of it, and burn on the Altar, with the Lord's Sacrifices by Fire: it ſhall be a Sin-offering.

13. Thus let the Prieſt make atonement for him, for his Sin which he has committed, in one of theſe Things, and it ſhall be forgiven him; the Prieſt too ſhall have as in the Meat-offering.

14. Moreover the Lord ſpoke to Moſes as follows:

15. When a Perſon does amiſs, and ſins by Miſtake, contrary to the holy Things of the Lord, he ſhall bring to him for his Treſpaſs, a perfect Ram of the Flock, by thy Eſtimation in Shekels of Silver after the holy Shekel, for a Treſpaſs-offering.

16. And what he has ſinned in contrary to the holy Thing he ſhall recompenſe, and adding the fifth part of the ſame to it, give it to the Prieſt; who ſhall make atonement for him with the Ram of Treſpaſs-offering, and it ſhall be forgiven him.

17. So if a Perſon when he ſins, and does Something contrary to any of the Lord's Commandments, what ſhould not be done, does not know it; yet he ſhall be guilty, and bear his Iniquity.

18. Therefore ſhall he bring a perfect Ram of the Flock, by thy Eſtimation for a Treſpaſs-offering to the Prieſt; who ſhall make atonement for him, for his Error in which he has erred, and did not know it, and it ſhall be forgiven him.

19. This ſhall be a Treſpaſs-offering; he being quite guilty towards the Lord.

Ver. 2. touches any unclean Thing] As ſuch a one was only to waſh, and be unclean till the Evening, Ch. xi. 27, 28, 31. Something further muſt be implied here, ſince a Treſpaſs-offering was to be brought for this, and it was reckoned a Sin, Ver. 4, 5, 6, &c. which the Hebrew Writers take to be his going into the Sanctuary, or eating of the holy Things, while he was thus unclean, Maimonides in Shegagoth, Ch. 10. 1, 5.

Ver. 6. Treſpaſs-offering] Commentators have found a great Difficulty in diſtinguiſhing the Crimes for which this and a Sin-offering were offered; of which ſee Gell on Chap. vii. 7. and Patrick on Ver. 15. of this Chap. To tell my own Opinion of it, which turns on a Diſtinction different from any of thoſe they mention, it ſeems to me that a Sin-offering was for Sin and Uncleanneſs in general, and a Treſpaſs-offering for ſome particular Offences and Uncleanneſs, moſtly of an inferior Sort; whereby, as the Treſpaſs was a Sin, ſo the Treſpaſs-offering is called a Sin-offering, as in this Verſe; and likewiſe both were offered for the ſame Thing, Chap. xiv. 10, 12, 13, 19. Num. vi. 11, 12.

CHAP. VI.

AND the Lord ſpoke thus to Moſes:

2. When a Perſon ſins, and does amiſs againſt the Lord, lying to his Neighbour about a Thing committed, or taking it, or concerning a Thing taken by force, or wrongs his Neighbour,

3. Or finds a Thing loſt, and lyes about it, or ſwears falſely:

4. When a Man ſins in any one of theſe, and is guilty, he ſhall reſtore the Thing which he has taken by force, or what he has wronged another of, or that which was committed to him, or the loſt Thing which he has found,

5, Or all concerning which he has ſworn falſely; the Principal of which he ſhall make recompence for, and add its fifth part to it, giving the ſame to whom it belongs, on the Day of his Treſpaſs-offering.

6. Which he ſhall bring for the Lord, to the Prieſt, a perfect Ram of the Flock, by thy Eſtimation.

7. So let the Prieſt make atonement for him before the Lord, and it ſhall be forgiven him; for any one Thing which he has done, to be guilty in it.

8. The Lord further told Moſes,

9. That he ſhould command Aaron and his Sons as follows: This ſhall be the Law of the Burnt-offering; which is ſo called for the Burning upon the Altar all Night till the Morning, where the Fire of the Altar ſhall burn.

10. Firſt the Prieſt ſhall put on his Linen Garment, as he ſhall alſo Linen Drawers upon his Fleſh, and take up the Aſhes to which the Fire conſumes the Burnt-offering upon the Altar; and ſhall put them by the Altar.

11. Afterwards he ſhall pull off his Garments, and putting on others, carry forth the Aſhes without the Camp, to a clean Place.

12. And the Fire upon the Altar ſhall be burning there, without being quenched, upon which the Prieſt ſhall burn Wood Morning by Morning; and put the Burnt-offering in order on it, and burn upon it the Fat of the Peace-offerings.

13. The Fire ſhall be burning continually upon the Altar, without being quenched.

14. And this is the Law of the Meat-offering: the Sons of Aaron ſhall offer it before the Lord, before the Altar.

15. And he ſhall take up from it his Handful, of the fine Flour of the Meat-offering, and of its Oil, with all the Frankincenſe which is upon it, and burn on the Altar, for a pleaſant Smell, a Memorial of it to the Lord.

16. But what is left of it Aaron and his Sons ſhall eat; and that in unleavened Cakes, in the Holy Place, in the Court of the publick Tent.

17. It ſhall not be baked with Leaven; I give it for their Part of my Offerings by Fire: it being very holy, like both the Sin-offering, and the Treſpaſs-offering.

18. Every Male of the Children of Aaron ſhall eat of it; that ſhall be a laſting Ordinance in your Generations, of the Lord's Offering by Fire: all that touches them ſhall be holy.

19. The Lord alſo ſpoke to Moſes in the following manner:

20. This ſhall be the Oblation of Aaron and his Sons, which they ſhall bring to the Lord on the Day they are anointed; the tenth part of an Ephah of fine Flour for a Meat-offering continually; one half of it in the Morning, and the other in the Eveing.

21. Upon a Pan with Oil ſhall it be made, thou ſhalt bring it bliſtered in baking; preſenting the baked Pieces of the Meat-offering for a pleaſant Smell to the Lord.

22. And let the Prieſt who is anointed in his room, of his Sons, do it: which ſhall be a laſting Ordinance to the Lord, it ſhall be wholly burnt.

23. As every Meat-offering of the Prieſt ſhall be; it muſt not be eat.

24. Beſides the Lord ordered Moſes,

25. To tell Aaron and his Sons thus: This ſhall be the Law of the Sin-offering; in the Place where the Burnt-offering is killed, the Sin-offering ſhall before the Lord; it being very holy.

26. The Prieſt who offers it for Sin ſhall eat it; and that in the Holy Place, in the Court of the publick Tent.

Ver. 2. taking it] This being omitted in the 4th and 5th Verſes, and no Mention made of what putting the Hand, in the Heb. Idiom, is for; it ſeems apparent enough to me, that it belongs to the foregoing, which is otherwiſe imperfect in Ver. 4. and according to Exod. xxii. 7, 8. Interpreters varying in other Senſes, beſides the *preſ. Ver. 10. to which] for the Fire would not conſume the Aſhes; nay if it had, how were they then to be taken up? And Burnt-offering has the Sign or Article of the Accuſative Caſe in Heb.

Ver. 16. in unleavened Cakes] or unleavened, but the Heb. Word is plural; rendered by Jun. and Trem. azymis factis, being made unleavened Cakes. There is nothing for with in the Original; and which, ſays Patrick, makes the Senſe unaccountable: and Poole ſays, "diſturbs the Senſe; "for ſince the Meat-offering it ſelf was fine Flour, "Lev. ii. 1. it is not likely that they eat it with unlea-"vened bread."

Ib. in the Court] See Num. xviii. 10.

Ver. 18. all that] according to Ver. 27.

27. All that touches the Fleſh of it ſhall be holy: and when he ſprinkles ſome of the Blood of it upon a Garment, thou ſhalt waſh that on which it is ſprinkled, in the Holy Place.

28. Nay the earthen Veſſel in which it is boiled ſhall be broke; whereas if it be boiled in a braſen Veſſel, that ſhall be ſcoured, and rinſed in Water.

29. Every Male of the Prieſts ſhall eat of it; the ſame being very holy.

30. But every Sin-offering, of which any of the Blood is brought into the publick Tent, to make atonement in the Holy Place, ſhall not be eat; it ſhall be burnt with Fire.

CHAP. VII.

THIS ſhall likewiſe be the Law of the Treſpaſs-offering; which is very holy:

2. In the Place where they kill the Burnt-offering, they ſhall the Treſpaſs-offering; and the Blood of it he ſhall ſprinkle upon the Altar round about.

3. And he ſhall bring of it all its Fat, the Rump, and the Fat that covers the Entrails.

4. He ſhall alſo take off the two Kidneys, and the Fat which is upon them, on the Flanks, and the Caul upon the Liver, along with the Kidneys.

5. Theſe let the Prieſt burn on the Altar for a Sacrifice by Fire to the Lord: it ſhall be a Treſpaſs-offering.

6. Every Male of the Prieſts ſhall eat of it; and that in the Holy Place, it being very holy.

7. The Treſpaſs-offering ſhall be even as the Sin-offering, there ſhall be the ſame Law for them: the Prieſt who makes atonement with it, ſhall have it.

8. And the Prieſt who brings a Man's Burnt-offering, ſhall have the Skin of that himſelf.

9. All the Meat-offering too which is baked in an Oven, with all that is made in a Pot, and upon a Pan, the Prieſt who brings it ſhall have.

10. But every Meat-offering tempered with Oil, or dry, ſhall be for all the Sons of Aaron, one as well as another.

11. And this ſhall be the Law of the Sacrifice of Peace-offerings, which one brings to the Lord:

12. If he brings it for Thankſgiving, he ſhall bring with the Sacrifice of that unleavened Cakes tempered with Oil, unleavened Biſcuits waſhed over with Oil, and fine Flour in Cakes bliſtered in baking, tempered with Oil.

13. Beſides the Cakes, he ſhall bring leavened Bread for his Oblation, with the Sacrifice of Thankſgiving of his Peace-offerings.

14. And let him bring one of it out of all the Oblation, for a Lifted-offering to the Lord: which the Prieſt who ſprinkles the Blood of the Peace-offerings ſhall have.

15. And the Fleſh of the Sacrifice for Thankſgiving, of his Peace-offerings, ſhall be eat on the Day of his Oblation; he ſhall not leave of it till the Morning.

16. But if the Sacrifice of his Oblation be a Vow or a Free-offering, it ſhall be eat on the Day that he brings his Sacrifice; and on the next Day ſhall that which is left of it be alſo eat.

17. For what is left of the Fleſh of the Sacrifice, ſhall on the third Day be burnt with Fire.

18. And if the Fleſh of the Sacrifice of his Peace-offerings be at all eat of on the third Day, it ſhall not be accepted, nor counted to him who brings the ſame, it ſhall be abominable; and the Perſon who eats of it, ſhall bear his Iniquity.

19. Nor ſhall the Fleſh which touches any Thing unclean be eat, it ſhall be burnt with Fire; otherwiſe every one who is clean may eat of it.

20. But that Perſon who eats of the Fleſh of the Sacrifice of Peace-offerings which belongs to the Lord, with his Uncleanneſs upon him, ſhall be cut off from his People.

21. As in particular a Perſon ſhall, when he eats of it, having touched any Thing unclean, either Uncleanneſs of Man, unclean Beaſt, or any unclean Abomination.

22. Moreover the Lord bade Moſes,

23. Speak to the Iſraelites as follows; You ſhall not eat any Fat of Ox, Sheep, or Goat.

24. However the Fat of a Carcaſe, and the Fat of that which is torn, may be uſed for any Buſineſs; but you ſhall not at all eat of it.

25. For what Perſon ſoever eats the Fat of a Beaſt, of which he brings a Sacrifice by Fire to the Lord, ſhall be cut off from his People.

26. Neither ſhall you eat any Blood in all your Habitations, of Fowl, or of Beaſt.

27. Every individual Perſon who does, ſhall be cut off from his People.

28. And the Lord told Moſes,

29. To

29. To ſpeak thus to the Iſraelites: He who brings the Sacrifice of his Peace-offerings to the Lord, ſhall bring his Oblation to him of the ſame.

30. With his own Hands ſhall he bring the Sacrifices of the Lord by Fire, namely the Fat with the Breaſt, the latter to wave it for a Waved-offering before him.

31. And let the Prieſt burn the Fat on the Altar, but Aaron and his Sons ſhall have the Breaſt.

32. The right Shoulder you ſhall alſo give for a Lifted-offering to the Prieſt, of the Sacrifices of your Peace-offerings.

33. He of the Sons of Aaron who brings the Blood of the Peace-offerings, and the Fat, ſhall have the right Shoulder for a Share.

34. For I have taken the waved Breaſt, and lifted Shoulder of the Iſraelites, from the Sacrifices of their Peace-offerings, and given them to Aaron the Prieſt and his Sons, for a laſting Ordinance from the Iſraelites.

35. This was for the anointing both of Aaron, and his Sons, out of the Sacrifices of the Lord by Fire, on the Day he brought them to execute the Prieſthood to him:

36. Which the Lord commanded to be given them, on the Day of his anointing them, by the Iſraelites, for a laſting Ordinance in their Generations.

37. This was the Law for the Burnt-offering, Meat-offering, Sin-offering, Treſpaſs-offering, for filling their Hands, and for the Sacrifice of Peace-offerings;

38. Which the Lord commanded Moſes on Mount Sinai, at the Time he commanded the Iſraelites to bring their Oblations to himſelf, in the Wilderneſs of Sinai.

CHAP. VIII.

AGAIN the Lord ſpoke to him as follows;

2. Take Aaron and his Sons with him, the Garments, Oil for anointing, a Bullock for a Sin-offering, two Rams, and a Baſket of unleavened Cakes;

3. And gather together all the Aſſembly, to the Door of the publick Tent.

4. Thus Moſes did as the Lord commanded him, and the Aſſembly was gathered together there.

5. Whereupon he ſaid to them, This is the Thing which the Lord has commanded to be done.

6. So having brought Aaron and his Sons, he waſhed them with Water;

7. As alſo put the Coat upon him, girded him with the Belt, cloathed him with the Cloak, put the Ephod upon him, and girding him with the Girdle of the ſame, placed the Ephod on him with it.

8. And he put the Breaſt-plate upon him, putting on it the Urim and Thummim.

9. Beſides he ſet the Mitre upon his Head, and put upon that at his Face the Plate of Gold, the holy Crown; as the Lord had commanded him.

10. Moſes further took the Oil for anointing, and anointed the Tabernacle, with all that was in it, that he might conſecrate them.

11. And he ſprinkled ſome of it upon the Altar ſeven Times, anointing that and all its Inſtruments, with the Waſhing-veſſel and its Baſe, to conſecrate them.

12. He poured ſome of the Oil for anointing too upon Aaron's Head, and anointed him, to conſecrate him.

13. And Aaron's Sons being brought, he cloathed them with the Coats, girded them with the Belts, and tied the Caps on them; as the Lord had commanded him.

14. Moreover he brought nigh the Bullock for the Sin-offering, and Aaron with his Sons leaned their Hands upon the Head of it.

15. Which being killed, Moſes took ſome Blood, and put upon the Horns of the Altar round about with his Finger, and purified it; pouring out the reſt at the Bottom of the Altar, and conſecrating it, to make atonement upon it.

16. And he took all the Fat that was upon the Entrails, the Caul of the Liver, and the two Kidneys, with their Fat, which he burnt on the Altar.

17. But the Bullock, with his Skin, Fleſh and Dung, he burnt with Fire without the Camp; as the Lord had commanded him.

18. He likewiſe brought the Ram for the Burnt-offering, upon whoſe Head Aaron and his Sons leaned their Hands.

19. This was killed, and Moſes ſprinkled the Blood upon the Altar round about.

20. Next he divided the Ram into his Pieces; which he burnt with the Head, and the Fat.

21. And waſhing the Entrails and Legs with Water, he burnt the whole Ram on the Altar: which was a Burnt-offering for a

22. Afterwards he brought the other Ram, that for filling; when Aaron and his Sons leaned their Hands upon his Head.

23. Which being killed, Moſes took ſome of his Blood, and put upon the Tip of Aaron's right Ear, upon the Thumb of his right Hand, and the great Toe of his right Foot.

24. As likewiſe bringing Aaron's Sons, he put ſome of it upon the Tips of their right Ears, upon the Thumbs of their right Hands, and the great Toes of their right Feet; and ſprinkled the Blood upon the Altar round about.

25. He alſo took the Fat, the Rump, all the Fat which was upon the Entrails, the Caul of the Liver, the two Kidneys, with their Fat, and the right Shoulder;

26. And out of the Baſket of unleavened Cakes, that was before the Lord, he took one unleavened Cake, one Cake of Bread with Oil, and one Biſcuit; laying them on the Fat, and the right Shoulder:

27. All which he put upon the Hands of Aaron, and thoſe of his Sons, and waved them for a Waved-offering before the Lord.

28. Moſes took them off again from their Hands, and burnt them on the Altar with the Burnt-offering: they were fillings for a pleaſant Smell, it was a Sacrifice by Fire to the Lord.

29. And taking the Breaſt, he waved it for a Waved-offering before the Lord: which was a Part for himſelf of the Ram of filling, as the Lord had commanded him.

30. Beſides he took ſome of the Oil for anointing, and of the Blood which was upon the Altar, and ſprinkled upon Aaron, and his Garments, together with his Sons, and their Garments: thus were he and they, with their Garments, conſecrated.

31. And Moſes ſaid to him and them: Boil the Fleſh at the Door of the publick Tent, and there eat it, with the Bread which is in the Baſket of filling; as I commanded, that Aaron and his Sons ſhould eat it.

32. But what is left both of the Fleſh and Bread, you ſhall burn with Fire.

33. Nor ſhall you go out of the Door of the publick Tent ſeven Days, till the Time of the Days of your filling is fulfilled: your Hands ſhall be filled ſeven Days.

34. As it has been done this Day, the Lord has commanded to do, to make atonement for you.

35. Therefore you ſhall abide at the Door of the publick Tent, Day and Night ſeven Days, and keep the Charge of the Lord, that you may not die: for ſo am I commanded.

36. And Aaron and his Sons did all Things, which the Lord commanded by the Miniſtry of Moſes.

CHAP. IX.

WHO on the eighth Day called them, and the Elders of Iſrael,

2. And ſaid to Aaron; Take thee a young Calf of the Herd for a Sin-offering, and a Ram for a Burnt-offering, of them that are perfect, and bring before the Lord.

3. Moreover thou ſhalt ſpeak thus to the Iſraelites; Take you a Kid of the Goats for a Sin-offering, with a Calf and a Lamb in their firſt Year, that are perfect, for a Burnt-offering,

4. As likewiſe an Ox and a Ram for Peace-offerings, to ſacrifice before the Lord, and a Meat-offering tempered with Oil: for to Day the Lord will appear to you.

5. Accordingly they fetched what Moſes commanded before the publick Tent; and all the Aſſembly came near, and ſtood before the Lord.

6. When Moſes ſaid, This is the Thing which the Lord has commanded you ſhould do, and his Glory will appear to you.

7. He ſaid alſo to Aaron, Go to the Altar, and offer thy Sin-offering and Burnt-offering; making atonement for thy ſelf, as well as the People: for thou ſhalt offer their Oblation, and make atonement for them, as the Lord has commanded.

8. So Aaron went to the Altar, and killed the Calf of the Sin-offering which was for himſelf.

9. And his Sons bringing the Blood to him, he dipt his Finger in it, and put upon the Horns of the Altar; at the Bottom of which he poured it out.

10. But the Fat, the Kidneys, and the Caul of the Liver, of the Sin-offering, he burnt on the Altar; as the Lord had commanded Moſes.

11. And the Fleſh, and Skin, he burnt with Fire without the Camp.

12. He likewiſe killed the Burnt-offering; and his Sons getting the Blood for him, he ſprinkled it upon the Altar round about.

13. And they got the Burnt-offering for him, with its Pieces, and the Head; which he burnt upon the Altar:

14. As alſo waſhed the Entrails, and Legs; and burnt with the Burnt-offering there.

15. Then he brought the Oblation of the People, taking the Goat of the Sin-offering that was for them, which he killed, and offered for Sin as the former.

16. And he brought the Burnt-offering, doing it as the Manner was.

17. He further brought the Meat-offering, and filling his Hand with it, burnt it upon the Altar; beſide the Burnt-offering of the Morning.

18. And he killed the Ox and Ram, of the Sacrifice of Peace-offerings that was for the People; and his Sons got the Blood for him (which he ſprinkled upon the Altar round about)

19. The Fat too of the Ox, and of the Ram the Rump, as alſo the Covering, with the Kidneys, and the Caul of the Liver.

20. And when they had laid the Fat upon the Breaſts, he burnt it on the Altar.

21. But the Breaſts and right Shoulder he waved for a Waved-offering before the Lord, as Moſes commanded.

22. Afterwards Aaron lifted up his Hands to the People, and bleſſed them; and came down from doing the Sin-offering, Burnt-offering and Peace-offerings.

23. Next Moſes and he went into the publick Tent, and coming out, bleſſed the People; when the Glory of the Lord appeared to them all.

24. Beſides there came out a Fire from before the Lord, and conſumed upon the Altar the Burnt-offering and Fat; which all the People ſeeing, they cried out, and fell upon their Faces.

CHAP. X.

BUT Aaron's Sons, Nadab and Abihu, took each his Cenſer, and putting Fire into them, and laying Incenſe upon it, they offered ſtrange Fire before the Lord, which he did not command them.

2. At this there went out Fire from before the Lord, and conſumed them; ſo that they died before him.

3. And Moſes ſaid to Aaron; It is what the Lord thus ſpoke, I will be ſanctified in thoſe who come near me, and will be glorified before all the People; and Aaron was ſilent.

4. Then Moſes called Miſhael and Elzaphan, the Sons of Uzziel Aaron's Uncle, and ſaid to them, Come hither, carry your Kinſmen from the Preſence of the Holy Place without the Camp.

5. They approached accordingly, and carried them in their Coats thither; as he ordered.

6. He ſaid further to Aaron, to Eleazar and Ithamar his Sons; Do not make your Heads bald, nor rent your Garments, leſt you ſhould die, and the Lord be in a Wrath with all the Aſſembly; yet let your Brethren, all the Family of Iſrael, weep for the Burning which he has made.

7. Nor ſhall you go out of the Door of the publick Tent, leſt you ſhould die; for the anointing Oil of the Lord is upon you. And they did as he ſaid.

8. And the Lord ſpoke to Aaron as follows;

9. Do not drink Wine, nor ſtrong Drink, thy ſelf and Sons with thee, when you go into the publick Tent, leſt you ſhould die; which ſhall be a laſting Ordinance for your Generations:

10. Both to make a Separation between holy and common, and between unclean and clean;

11. And that you may teach the Iſraelites, all the Ordinances which the Lord has ſpoken to them by the Miniſtry of Moſes.

12. And Moſes ſaid to Aaron, to Eleazar and Ithamar his Sons who were left; Take the Meat-offering that is left of the Lord's Offerings by Fire, and eat it in unleavened Cakes by the Altar: for it is very holy.

13. You ſhall eat it in the Holy Place, becauſe it is thy own and thy Sons Allowance,

CHAP. XI.

THE Lord alſo ſpoke to him and Aaron, bidding them,

2. To ſay thus to the Iſraelites: Theſe are the living Creatures that you may eat, of all Beaſts which are upon the Earth:

3. Namely every one that divides the Hoof, having a Cleft all through, and that brings up the Cud.

4. But theſe you ſhall not eat, of them that bring up the Cud, or of ſuch as divide the Hoof: the Camel though he brings up the Cud, yet not dividing the Hoof, is unclean to you.

5. And the Rabbit though he brings up the Cud, yet not dividing the Hoof, is unclean to you.

6. The Hare likewiſe though he brings up the Cud, yet not dividing the Hoof, is unclean to you.

7. On the other hand the Hog though he divides the Hoof, having a Cleft all through, yet not chewing the Cud, is unclean to you.

8. You ſhall neither eat of their Fleſh, nor touch their Carcaſes; they being unclean to you.

10. But all which have no Fins nor Scales, in the Seas, or Brooks, of all that creep in the Waters, and of all living Creatures which are there; ſhall be abominable to you:

11. So abominable that you ſhall not eat any of their Fleſh, but abhor their Carcaſes.

12. Every one that has no Fins nor Scales in the Waters, ſhall be abominable to you.

13. And theſe you ſhall abhor of the Fowls, which ſhall not be eat, being abominable: the Eagle, Oſſifrage, Oſprey,

The Application to particular Animals I leave. It has alſo been thought to be ſpoken in a ſpiritual Signification from the Nature of thoſe Creatures, as of the Hog being filthy, the Birds moſtly rapacious, &c. nay it has been carried ſo far as if that was the only Meaning, particularly in the Epiſtle aſcribed to Barnabas, Sect. 10.

CHAP. XII.

AND the Lord told Moſes,

2. That he ſhould ſpeak to the Iſraelites as follows: When a Woman conceives Seed, and bears a Male, ſhe ſhall be unclean ſeven Days, even according to thoſe of the Separation for her Infirmity.

3. And on the eighth Day let the Fleſh of his Foreſkin be circumciſed.

4. And then ſhall ſhe abide thirty three Days in the Blood of Cleanſing: ſhe ſhall neither touch any conſecrated Thing, nor go into the Sanctuary, till the Time of her Cleanſing is fulfilled.

5. But if ſhe bear a Female, ſhe ſhall be unclean two Weeks, according to her Separation; and ſhall abide in the Blood of her Cleanſing ſixty ſix Days.

6. And when the Time of her Cleanſing is fulfilled for a Son, or a Daughter, ſhe ſhall bring a Lamb in his firſt Year for a Burnt-offering, and a young Pigeon, or a Turtle-dove for a Sin-offering; to the Door of the publick Tent, to the Prieſt.

7. Who ſhall bring it near before the Lord, and making atonement for her, ſhe ſhall be cleanſed from the Fountain of her Blood: this is the Law for her who bears a Male, or a Female.

8. But if ſhe cannot get a Lamb, let her take two Turtle-doves, or two young Pigeons, one for a Burnt-offering, and the other for a Sin-offering; and the Prieſt ſhall make atonement for her, ſo ſhe ſhall be clean.

CHAP. XIII.

THE Lord alſo ſpoke thus to Moſes and Aaron:

2. When there is a Man, in the Skin of whoſe Fleſh is a Swelling, Scab, or bright Spot, which is like the Sore of the Leproſy there; he ſhall be brought to Aaron the Prieſt, or to one of his Sons the Prieſts.

3. Who ſhall look at the Sore in the Skin of the Fleſh, and the Hair in the Sore being turned white, and it appearing deeper than the Skin of his Fleſh, it is the Sore of the Leproſy; and when the Prieſt ſees ſuch a one, he ſhall declare him unclean.

4. But if the bright Spot be white in the Skin of his Fleſh, and appear no deeper than the Skin, and the Hair of it be not turned white; he ſhall ſhut up him who has the Sore ſeven Days.

5. And on the ſeventh Day ſhall look at him, when behold if the Sore appear to him to ſtand ſtill, without ſpreading in the Skin; he ſhall ſhut him up ſeven Days again.

Ver. 4. of Cleanſing] without her here, that is made in the next only by a ſmall Point in ה thus ה which may be an Inſtance of the Uſefulneſs of the leaſt Heb. Points, as her or not her would be undiſtinguiſhed without it. All our principal Tranſlations have her likewiſe wrong in the next Verſe.

Ver. 2. Sore] as in Ver. 42.

Ver. 3. Leproſy] The white Leproſy, as this is deſcribed, Pliny ſays in his Natural Hiſtory, B. xxvi. 1. though not ſeen in Italy before the Time of Pompey, was peculiar and natural to the Egyptians; which agrees well with the Scripture, as the Iſraelites might have it from them.

Ver. 4. him who has] him of or with the Sore, which therefore need not be Italick.

Ver. 5. appear to him] Heb. in his Eyes. Patrick, as it ſeems taking the Hint from Poole, rather than from Ainſworth, pleads for the Expreſſion being tranſlated, If it continue in the ſame Colour: but though the Heb. Word ſing. for Eye ſometimes ſignifies Colour, as in Ver. 55. yet here it is plural, and ſo muſt needs mean the Prieſt's Eyes, as Ver. 37. eſpecially as the Colour of the Sore beforementioned is but one, Ver. 4. next the Original having no Conjunction for and between this and the following Member, ſhews they are to the ſame Effect, as Ver. 23, 28. where alſo is Place for Eyes; 3dly, it appears by Ver. 6. compared with Ver. 4. that it is ſpoken of as altering its Colour.

6. He

6. He ſhall alſo look at him on the next ſeventh Day, and behold if the Sore is darkiſh, without ſpreading in the Skin; the Prieſt ſhall declare him clean, it being a Scab; he ſhall waſh his Cloaths, and be clean.

7. Yet if the Scab ſpread about in the Skin, after he has been ſeen by the Prieſt for his cleanſing, he ſhall be ſeen by him again.

8. And upon his ſeeing plainly, that the Scab ſpreads in the Skin; he ſhall declare him unclean, it is the Leproſy.

9. When the Sore of the Leproſy is in a Man, he ſhall be brought to the Prieſt.

10. Who ſhall ſee, and behold if the Swelling is white in the Skin, and has not only turned the Hair white, but there is the Subſtance of proud Fleſh in the Swelling;

11. It is an old Leproſy in the Skin of his Fleſh, and the Prieſt ſhall declare him unclean; by reaſon of which he ſhall not ſhut him up.

12. And if a Leproſy breaks out abroad in the Skin, ſo that it covers all the Skin of him who has the Sore, from his Head to his Feet, where-ever the Prieſt looks with his Eyes;

13. Upon his ſeeing plainly that the Leproſy covers all his Fleſh, he ſhall declare him who has the Sore clean: all of it being turned white, he is clean.

14. Nevertheleſs on the Day there appears proud Fleſh in it, he ſhall be unclean.

15. Which when the Prieſt ſees, he ſhall declare him unclean: proud Fleſh being ſo, which is the Leproſy.

16. Or when the proud Fleſh is reſtored, and turned white, he ſhall come to the Prieſt.

17. Who ſhall look at him, and behold the Sore being turned white, ſhall declare him who has the Sore clean; he being ſo.

18. Further when there is Fleſh, in the Skin of which is a Boil, that has been healed;

19. And there be in the Place of the Boil a white Swelling, or a white reddiſh bright Spot, it ſhall be ſeen by the Prieſt.

20. At whoſe ſeeing plainly, that it appears lower than the Skin, and the Hair of it is turned white; he ſhall declare him unclean, it is the Sore of the Leproſy broke out in the Boil.

21. But if when he ſees it, behold there is no white Hair in it, and it is not lower than the Skin, and is darkiſh; he ſhall ſhut him up ſeven Days.

22. Then if it ſpread about in the Skin; the Prieſt ſhall declare him unclean, it is the Sore.

23. On the contrary if the bright Spot ſtand ſtill in its Place, not ſpreading, it is a burning Boil; and he ſhall declare him clean.

24. Or when in the Skin of the Fleſh there is ſcorching of Fire, and in the Subſtance of that a white bright Spot, reddiſh or white;

25. The Prieſt ſhall look at it, and behold the Hair being turned white in the bright Spot, and appearing deeper than the Skin, it is the Leproſy broke out in the Scorching: therefore he ſhall declare ſuch a one unclean, it is the Sore of the Leproſy.

26. But if when he ſees it, behold there is no white Hair in the bright Spot, and it is not lower than the Skin, and is darkiſh; he ſhall ſhut him up ſeven Days.

27. And looking at him on the ſeventh Day, if it be ſpread about in the Skin; he ſhall declare him unclean, it is the Sore of the Leproſy,

28. However if the bright Spot ſtand ſtill in its Place, not ſpreading in the Skin, and is darkiſh, it is a Swelling of the Scorching; and the Prieſt ſhall declare him clean, for it is an Inflammation of that.

29. Beſides when there is a Man or Woman in whom is a Sore, on the Head, or the Beard;

30. The Prieſt ſhall ſee the Sore, and behold it appearing deeper than the Skin, and there being in it yellow thin Hair; he ſhall declare him unclean, it is a Scurf, it is the Leproſy of the Head or Beard.

31. But when he ſees the Sore of the Scurf, and behold it appears no deeper than the Skin, and there is no black Hair in it; he ſhall ſhut up him who has it ſeven Days.

32. And ſhall look at the Sore on the ſeventh Day, when behold the Scurf not ſpreading, nor yellow Hair being in it, and it appearing no deeper than the Skin;

33. He ſhall ſhave himſelf, but not the Scurf, and the Prieſt ſhall ſhut up him who has it another ſeven Days.

34. Again he ſhall ſee it on the ſeventh Day, and behold it not ſpreading in the Skin, and appearing no deeper than that; the Prieſt ſhall declare him clean, and he ſhall waſh his Cloaths, and be ſo.

35. Whereas if the Scurf ſpread about in the Skin, after his cleanſing;

36. He ſhall look at him, and behold the Scurf ſpreading there, the Prieſt need not ſeek for yellow Hair, he is unclean.

Ver. 24. Fire] which has burnt there, as Expoſitors agree.

37. But if the Scurf appear to him to ſtand ſtill, and black Hair grow therein, it is healed, he is clean; and the Prieſt ſhall declare him ſo.

38. And when there is a Man or Woman, in the Skin of whoſe Fleſh are bright Spots, white bright ones;

39. The Prieſt ſhall look, and behold if they are there darkiſh white, it is a freckled Spot broke out in the Skin, ſuch a one is clean.

40. When there is likewiſe a Man whoſe Head is become bare, he being bald, is clean.

41. And if his Head is become bare on the Side towards his Face, he being bald before, is clean.

42. Nevertheleſs when there is in his Baldneſs, or Baldneſs before, a white reddiſh Sore, it is the Leproſy broke out in either of them.

43. Therefore the Prieſt ſhall look at him, and behold if the Swelling of the Sore be white reddiſh in either of theſe, as the Leproſy looks in the Skin of the Fleſh;

44. He is a leprous Man, he is unclean: the Prieſt ſhall declare him wholly unclean, his Sore being in his Head.

45. As for the Leper in whom the Sore is, his Cloaths ſhall be ripped, and his Head bald, nay he ſhall cover over his Lip; and proclaim, Unclean, unclean.

46. All the Days that the Sore is on him he ſhall be defiled, being unclean: he ſhall dwell alone, having his Habitation without the Camp.

47. And when there is a Garment in which is the Sore of the Leproſy, either in a woolen or a linen one,

48. In the Warp, or Woof, of Linen, or Woolen, in a Skin, or any Work of Skin;

49. The Sore being greeniſh, or reddiſh, in the Garment, Skin, Warp, Woof, or any Thing of Skin, it is the Sore of the Leproſy; and ſhall be ſhewn to the Prieſt.

50. Who having ſeen the Sore, ſhall ſhut up that which has it ſeven Days.

51. And looking at it on the ſeventh Day, when it is ſpread in the Garment, Warp, Woof, or Skin, with any Work which is made of Skin; the Sore is a fretting Leproſy, it is unclean.

52. He ſhall therefore burn the Garment, Warp, or Woof, in Woolen, or Linen, or any Thing of Skin in which the Sore is: for it is a fretting Leproſy, it ſhall be burnt with Fire.

53. But if the Prieſt look, and behold the Sore is not ſpread in the Garment, Warp, Woof, or any Thing of Skin;

54. He ſhall command that they ſhould waſh that which the Sore is in, and he ſhall ſhut it up again ſeven Days.

55. And after it is waſhed the Prieſt ſhall look at the Sore, and behold it having not changed its Colour, though it be not ſpread, it is unclean, thou ſhalt burn it with Fire: it is a deep fretting in its bare Outſide, or in its bare Inſide.

56. If the Prieſt however ſees plainly, that the Sore is darkiſh after the waſhing of it; he ſhall tear it out of the Garment, Skin, Warp, or Woof.

57. And if it appear ſtill in the Garment, Warp, Woof, or any Thing of Skin, it is broke out: thou ſhalt burn that in which the Sore is with Fire.

58. But the Garment, Warp, Woof, or any Thing of Skin which thou waſheſt, and the Sore departs from the ſame; ſhall then be waſhed again, and be clean.

59. This is the Law of the Sore of the Leproſy, in a woolen or linen Garment, Warp, Woof, or any Thing of Skin; to declare it clean, or to declare it unclean.

CHAP. XIV.

THE Lord alſo ſpoke to Moſes as follows:

2. This ſhall be the Law of the Leper on the Day of his Cleanſing. Firſt he ſhall be brought to the Prieſt.

3. Who ſhall go forth without the Camp, where he ſhall look, and behold the Sore of the Leproſy being healed of the Leprous;

4. The Prieſt ſhall command that there ſhould be taken for him who is to be cleanſed, two live clean Birds, Cedar Wood, ſcarlet Thread and Hyſſop.

5. He ſhall likewiſe command that one Bird ſhould be killed, in an earthen Veſſel over Spring Water.

Ver. 55. Colour] See Ver. 5. to which the Caſe here is different in the Particulars there remarked. This Colour was greeniſh or reddiſh, Ver. 49. which becoming darkiſh, Ver. 56. was changed, and ſo the next Verſe has a different Caſe from this.

Ver. 3. who ſhall go forth] before the Leper comes to him, having firſt received Notice of it; ſee Ch. xiii. 46.

Ver. 5. Spring Water] as we call it; in Heb. living Waters.

6. As

6. As for the live Bird, he ſhall take that, with the Cedar Wood, ſcarlet Thread and Hyſſop; which he ſhall dip, along with the live Bird, into the Blood of the other that is killed over the Spring Water.

7. And he ſhall ſprinkle upon him who is to be cleanſed from the Leproſy ſeven times; then ſhall he declare him clean, and let the live Bird go out in the Field.

8. Moreover he who is to be cleanſed ſhall waſh his Cloaths, ſhave off all his Hair, and bathe in Water, that he may be clean, after which he ſhall come into the Camp; but ſhall abide without his Tent ſeven Days.

9. Then on the ſeventh Day he ſhall ſhave off all his Hair, particularly that of his Head, Beard and Eye-brows; as alſo waſh his Cloaths, and bathe his Fleſh in Water, that he may be clean.

10. And on the eighth Day he ſhall take two perfect Ram-lambs, one perfect Ewe-lamb in its firſt Year, three tenth Parts of fine Flour for a Meat-offering tempered with Oil, and one Log of Oil.

11. Them and the Man who is to be made clean, ſhall the Prieſt who cleanſes place before the Lord, at the Door of the publick Tent.

12. The Prieſt too ſhall take one Ram-lamb, and offer him for a Treſpaſs-offering, with the Log of Oil; and wave them for a Waved-offering before the Lord.

13. And he ſhall kill the Lamb in the Place where he kills the Sin-offering, and the Burnt-offering, in the Holy Place: for the Treſpaſs-offering is the Prieſts like the Sin-offering, it being very holy.

14. Afterwards he ſhall take ſome of the Blood of the Treſpaſs-offering, and put upon the Tip of the right Ear of him who is to be cleanſed, upon the Thumb of his right Hand, and the great Toe of his right Foot.

15. The Prieſt ſhall further take ſome of the Log of Oil, and pour into his own left Hand:

16. Into which he ſhall dip his right Finger, and ſprinkle ſome of the Oil with it, ſeven times before the Lord.

17. Some of the reſt of the Oil alſo that is in his Hand, ſhall he put upon the Tip of the right Ear of him who is to be cleanſed, upon the Thumb of his right Hand, and the great Toe of his right Foot, on the Blood of the Treſpaſs-offering.

18. And what is left of the Oil which is in the Prieſt's Hand, he ſhall put upon the Head of him who is to be cleanſed; that he may make atonement for him before the Lord.

19. For he ſhall offer the Sin-offering, and make atonement for him who is to be cleanſed from his Uncleanneſs; after which he ſhall kill the Burnt-offering.

20. As he ſhall likewiſe offer it up, and the Meat-offering on the Altar: thus the Prieſt ſhall make atonement for him, and he ſhall be clean.

21. But if he is poor, and cannot obtain it, he ſhall take one Lamb, a Treſpaſs-offering for waving, to make an atonement for him, one tenth Part of fine Flour tempered with Oil for a Meat-offering, and a Log of Oil;

22. And two Turtle-doves, or two young Pigeons, which he can obtain, one being for a Sin-offering, and the other for a Burnt-offering.

23. Theſe he ſhall bring on the eighth Day for his Cleanſing to the Prieſt, to the Door of the publick Tent before the Lord.

24. Where the Prieſt ſhall take the Lamb for the Treſpaſs-offering, with the Log of Oil; and ſhall wave them for a Waved-offering before the Lord.

25. And he ſhall kill the Lamb of the Treſpaſs-offering, ſome of the Blood of which the Prieſt ſhall take, and put upon the Tip of the right Ear of him who is to be cleanſed, upon the Thumb of his right Hand, and the great Toe of his right Foot.

26. Beſides the Prieſt ſhall pour of the Oil into his own left Hand:

27. Some of which he ſhall ſprinkle with his right Finger, ſeven times before the Lord.

28. Nay he ſhall put ſome of the Oil which is in his Hand, upon the Tip of the right Ear of him who is to be cleanſed, upon the Thumb of his right Hand, and the great Toe of his right Foot, on the Place of the Blood of the Treſpaſs-offering.

29. And what is left of the Oil which is in the Prieſt's Hand, he ſhall put upon the Head of him who is to be cleanſed; to make atonement for him before the Lord.

30. Laſtly he ſhall offer of the Turtle-doves, or of the young Pigeons, which he can obtain,

Ver. 17. on the Blood] See Ver. 28.

Ver. 18. that he] like Ver. 29.

Ver. 19. Sin-offering] The Jewiſh Rabbi Levi Barcelonita, Præcept. 168. obſerving, that a Leper ſhould not look on his Diſeaſe as a caſual Thing, but conſider ſeriouſly, and acknowledge ſome grievous Sin was the Cauſe of it.

31. And

31. And has procured, one for a Sin-offering, and the other for a Burnt-offering, with the Meat-offering: thus ſhall the Prieſt make atonement for him who is to be cleanſed, before the Lord.

32. This is the Law for him in whom is the Sore of the Leproſy, who cannot procure the Things for his cleanſing.

33. And the Lord ſpoke thus to Moſes and Aaron:

34. When you are come into the Country of Canaan, which I give you for a Poſſeſſion, and I put the Sore of the Leproſy into a Houſe of the Country which you poſſeſs;

35. He to whom the Houſe belongs ſhall come, and tell the Prieſt, that there appears to him as it were a Sore in the Houſe.

36. Upon this the Prieſt ſhall command that they ſhould remove the Things of it, before he goes in to ſee the Sore, that all which is in the Houſe may not be made unclean; and after that he ſhall go in to ſee the Houſe.

37. And looking at the Sore, behold if it is in the Walls of the Houſe, with hollow Streaks greeniſh or reddiſh, appearing to be farther in than the Outſide;

38. He ſhall go out of the Houſe by the Door of it, and ſhut up the Houſe ſeven Days.

39. And he ſhall return on the ſeventh Day, and ſeeing plainly, that the Sore is ſpread in the Walls of the Houſe;

40. Shall command that they ſhould pull out the Stones in which the Sore is, and throw them without the City, into an unclean Place.

41. Moreover he ſhall have the Houſe ſcraped on the Inſide round about; and they ſhall pour out the Duſt which they ſcrape off, into a Place as before.

42. They ſhall alſo take other Stones, and put in the room of thoſe; and other Mortar ſhall be taken, and the Houſe plaiſtered.

43. But if the Sore come again, and break out in the Houſe, after he has pulled out the Stones, and after the Houſe is ſcraped and plaiſtered;

44. The Prieſt ſhall come, and look, and behold the Sore being ſpread in it, it is a fretting Leproſy there, it is unclean.

45. Therefore he ſhall break down the Houſe, the Stones, Timber, and all the Mortar of it; which he ſhall carry forth without the City into an unclean Place.

46. And he who goes into the Houſe on any of the Days that he has ſhut it up, ſhall be unclean till the Evening.

47. He likewiſe who lies in the Houſe ſhall waſh his Cloaths, as ſhall he who eats in it.

48. On the contrary if the Prieſt, when he finally comes, ſees plainly, that the Sore does not ſpread in the Houſe after it is plaiſtered; he ſhall declare it clean, for the Sore is healed.

49. So he ſhall take to cleanſe the Houſe two Birds, Cedar-wood, ſcarlet Thread, and Hyſſop:

50. And ſhall kill one Bird, in an earthen Veſſel over Spring Water;

51. Next he ſhall take the Cedar-wood, Hyſſop, ſcarlet Thread, and the live Bird, and dipping them into the Blood of that which is killed, and into the Spring Water, ſhall ſprinkle on the Houſe ſeven times.

52. Thus ſhall he cleanſe it with the Blood of the Bird, with the Spring Water, the live Bird, Cedar-wood, Hyſſop, and ſcarlet Thread.

53. And he ſhall let the live Bird go without the City, out in the Field: ſo ſhall he make atonement for the Houſe, and it ſhall be clean.

54. This is the Law, for every Sore of the Leproſy, and for a Scurf.

55. For the Leproſy of a Garment, and a Houſe,

56. As alſo for a Swelling, Scab, and bright Spot;

57. To teach on what Day it is unclean, and on what Day it is clean: this is the Law of the Leproſy.

CHAP. XV.

THE Lord ordered Moſes, and Aaron further,

2. That they ſhould ſpeak to the Iſraelites, and ſay to them: When there is any Man from whoſe Fleſh there is a Flux, he is unclean by it.

3. And this ſhall be his Uncleanneſs in his Flux; his Fleſh either running with his Flux, or ſtopping from it.

4. Every Bed on which he who has the Flux lies, ſhall be unclean; and every Thing that he ſits upon, ſhall be the ſame.

5. And the Perſon who touches his Bed, ſhall waſh his Cloaths, bathe in Water, and be unclean till the Evening.

Ver. 34. I put] The Author of Sepher Coſri, Part ii. Sect. 58. as quoted by Patrick, ſays, God inflicted this Plague of Leproſy upon Houſes and Garments (ſee Chap. xiii. 47.) as a Puniſhment for leſſer Sins: and when Men continued ſtill to multiply Tranſgreſſions, then it invaded their Bodies.

6. He

6. He too that ſits upon a Thing on which he who has the Flux ſate, ſhall waſh his Cloaths, bathe in Water, and be unclean till the Evening.

7. And he that touches the Fleſh of him who has the Flux, ſhall waſh his Cloaths, bathe in Water, and be unclean till the Evening.

8. Thus when he who has the Flux ſpits on a clean Perſon, he ſhall waſh his Cloaths, bathe in Water, and be unclean till the Evening.

9. Any Saddle likewiſe, which he rides upon who has the Flux, ſhall be unclean.

10. And whoever touches any Thing which was under him, ſhall be unclean till the Evening; and he who carries it, ſhall waſh his Cloaths, bathe in Water, and be unclean till the Evening.

11. And every one whom he that has the Flux touches, having not rinſed his Hands in Water, ſhall alſo waſh his Cloaths, bathe in Water, and be unclean till the Evening.

12. Beſides the earthen Veſſel, which he who has the Flux touches, ſhall be broke; but every Veſſel of Wood ſhall be rinſed in Water.

13. And when he who had the Flux is clean from it, he ſhall count him ſeven Days for his cleanſing, and waſh his Cloaths, bathe his Fleſh in Spring Water, and ſhall be clean.

14. On the eighth Day moreover he ſhall take him two Turtle-doves, or two young Pigeons; and coming before the Lord to the Door of the publick Tent, ſhall give them to the Prieſt.

15. Who ſhall offer them, one for a Sin-offering, and the other for a Burnt-offering: thus ſhall he purge him from his Flux before the Lord.

16. When there is a Man alſo from whom ſeminal Matter is emitted, he ſhall bathe all his Fleſh in Water, and be unclean till the Evening.

17. And every Garment, and Skin on which it is, ſhall be waſhed too in Water, and be unclean till the Evening.

18. As likewiſe when there is a Woman with whom a Man lies carnally, they ſhall bathe in Water, and be unclean till the Evening.

19. Next when there is a Woman has a Flux, which is ſanguinary in her Fleſh, ſhe ſhall be in her Separation ſeven Days, and every one who touches her ſhall be unclean till the Evening.

20. Every Thing too upon which ſhe lies in her Separation ſhall be unclean, and every Thing which ſhe ſits upon ſhall be ſo.

21. And whoever touches her Bed, ſhall waſh his Cloaths, bathe in Water, and be unclean till the Evening.

22. Whoever alſo touches any Thing on which ſhe ſits, ſhall waſh his Cloaths, bathe in Water, and be unclean till the Evening.

23. And if Somewhat be upon the Bed, or upon a Thing which ſhe ſits on, when he touches it, he ſhall be unclean till the Evening.

24. Nay if a Man lies with her at all, and her Separation be upon him, he ſhall be unclean ſeven Days; and all the Bed on which he lies ſhall be unclean.

25. And when a Woman has a ſanguinary Flux many Days, not in the Time of her Separation, or when ſhe has it over her Separation; all the Days of the Flux of her Uncleanneſs ſhall be as thoſe of her Separation, ſhe ſhall be unclean.

26. Every Bed on which ſhe lies all the Days of her Flux, ſhall be to her as that of Ver. 11. his Hands] who has the Flux, as one might think is not doubtful; yet Patrick repreſents it, and Poole ſays it may be underſtood, rather of the Perſon touched. To take off which Uncertainty or Miſunderſtanding, let it be conſidered, that it is not who does not rinſe, as would have been proper for the other Meaning; 2dly, the Verb is in the preterperfect Tenſe, and of what Service could be the rinſing of his Hands who was touched before the touching was? whereas by cleanſing the Hands of the other, they might be prevented from giving Uncleanneſs to him whom they touched; 3dly, ſomething elſe is ordered for him who was touched, viz. to waſh his Cloaths, and bathe in Water; 4thly, 'I do not ſee, ſays 'Patrick, how waſhing of his Hands could cleanſe him; 'when the Man that had the Iſſue, touched perhaps ſome 'other Part of his Body.' Which laſt, though it may not be the ſtrongeſt Reaſon, becauſe the like may be retorted on the oppoſite Perſon, who might touch with another Part of his Body, the Biſhop brings as what convinced him without obſerving the other. Ainſworth indeed interprets Hands to be put for the whole Body, according to the Sentence of Maimonides in Mikvaoth, Ch. 1. but they ſeem rather put for any Part of the Body which touched another Perſon, the Hands being the principal Members for touching, and ſo more applicable to the Toucher than to the Touched.

---

Ver. 13. had] not hath.

Ver. 18. a Man] Poole expounds it, The Man that had ſuch an Iſſue as beforementioned: but this cannot be, becauſe he was to be ſeven Days in cleanſing, Ver. 13. beſides that the Account of ſuch a one was finiſhed, and two different Matters delivered ſince, this being the third. The Injunction here laid may not appear too troubleſome, if it be conſidered how wholeſome and agreeable Bathing might be in that warm Country; as a principal Uſe of it might be, to keep People from approaching the Sanctuary, or meddling with holy Things at ſuch a Time; ſee Exod. xix. 15. 1 Sam. xxi. 4. So the Poet Tibullus, diſcedat ab aris, cui tulit heſterna gaudia nocte Venus; let ſuch depart from the Altars, to whom Venus brought Joys laſt Night, Lib. ii. Eleg. 1.

Ver. 24. lies with her] in the ſame Bed, not carnally, as Chap. xx. 18. which may appear by the great Diſparity of the Puniſhments, and the Expreſſions ſuitable to each in both Places; agreeable to the Aſſembly's Annotations: better than expounding this to be done ignorantly, which would ſcarce be; or might always be pleaded, and ſo none found guilty of the other.

her Separation; and every Thing which ſhe ſits upon ſhall be unclean, like the Uncleanneſs of her Separation.

27. And whoever touches them ſhall be unclean, ſo that he ſhall waſh his Cloaths, bathe in Water, and be unclean till the Evening.

28. But if ſhe is cleanſed from her Flux, ſhe ſhall count for her ſelf ſeven Days, and after ſhall be clean.

29. Then on the eighth Day ſhe ſhall take her two Turtle-doves, or two young Pigeons; and bring them to the Prieſt, at the Door of the publick Tent.

30. Who ſhall offer one for a Sin-offering, and the other for a Burnt-offering: thus ſhall the Prieſt purge her before the Lord, from the Flux of her Uncleanneſs.

31. So ſhall you ſeparate the Iſraelites from their Uncleanneſs; that they may not die in it, by their defiling my Tabernacle which is amongſt them.

32. This is the Law for him who has a Flux, and him from whom ſeminal Matter is emitted, to defile with it;

33. As alſo for her who has the Infirmity in her Separation, for ſuch as have their Flux of Male and Female, and for the Man who lies with her that is unclean.

CHAP. XVI.

AND the Lord ſpoke to Moſes, after the Death of Aaron's two Sons, when they offered before the Lord, and died;

2. Saying to him: Speak to Aaron thy Brother, that he ſhould not come at all Times into the Holy Place, on the Inſide of the Hanging, before the Atonement-covering which is upon the Ark, leſt he ſhould die; for I ſhall appear in the Cloud upon the Atonement-covering.

3. Thus ſhall Aaron come into the Holy Place, with a young Bullock of the Herd for a Sin-offering, and a Ram for a Burnt-offering.

4. He ſhall put on the holy linen Coat, the linen Drawers ſhall be upon his Fleſh, he ſhall be girded with the linen Belt, and attired with the linen Mitre: theſe being holy Garments, he ſhall bathe his Fleſh in Water, when he puts them on.

5. And from the Aſſembly of the Iſraelites ſhall he receive two Kids of the Goats for a Sin-offering, and one Ram for a Burnt-offering.

6. Aaron ſhall alſo bring the Bullock of the Sin-offering which is for himſelf; that he may make atonement for himſelf, and his Family.

7. Next he ſhall take the two Kids, and place them before the Lord at the Door of the publick Tent.

8. And he ſhall put Lots for them, one Lot for the Lord, and the other for the departing Goat.

9. Then ſhall he bring the Kid for which the Lot comes up for the Lord, and do him for a Sin-offering.

10. But the Kid for which the Lot comes up to be the departing Goat, ſhall be placed alive before the Lord, to make atonement with him, by ſending him for ſuch a Goat into the Wilderneſs.

11. And Aaron ſhall bring the Bullock of the Sin-offering which is for himſelf, that he may make atonement for himſelf, and his Family, and ſhall kill the ſame.

12. He ſhall further take off a Cenſer full of Coals of Fire from the Altar before the Lord, with his Hands full of Incenſe of ſmall Odours, and carry in on the Inſide of the Hanging.

13. And ſhall put the Incenſe upon the Fire before the Lord, that the Cloud of the Incenſe may cover the Atonement-covering which is upon the Teſtimony, that he may not die.

14. As he ſhall alſo take ſome of the Bullock's Blood, and ſprinkle with his Finger upon the Forepart of the Atonement-covering eaſtward; doing the ſame ſeven times before it.

Ver. 2. appear] Patrick following Campegius Vitringa in Obſervat. Sacr. Lib. i. 11. ſays it may very well be rendered, I will be approached in a Cloud; though the Verb has certainly no ſuch Meaning. However the Reaſon offered for it is, that the Word is uſed 23 Exod. xv. not for God's appearing, but the People's; which is a mere non ſequitur, for there the Verb is the third perſ. plur. and here the firſt perſ. ſing.

Ib. Cloud] that of Incenſe, Ver. 13. to wit the Smoak of it.

Ver. 3. with a young Bullock] to be offered in the Court, not carried into the Holy Place. Poole underſtood by it the Bullock's Blood, which was carried in, Ver. 14. but as with alſo belongs to the Ram, that Meaning fails.

Ver. 4. linen Coat] ſee Exod. xxviii. 4, 39. and the Note on Ver. 2. of that Chap.

Ver. 6. bring] This whole Verſe is repeated in the ſame Words, Ver. 11. and certainly the Bullock was not to be offered, as in the preſent Tranſlation, before it was brought, and killed.

Ver. 9. comes up] out of the Urn or Pot, whence it was taken; and as the Verb ſignifies, not fell.

Ver. 14. Forepart] Heb. Face, omitted in the Vulg. Tranſlation.

Ib. eaſtward] Poole ſays, with his face eaſtward; but Patrick, blaming Gregory for the ſame, ſays it could not be done without looking towards the Weſt; and quotes Selden, De Synedr. Lib. iii. 16. that he ſtood eaſtward of the Mercy-ſeat, with his Face towards it. Doubtleſs Aaron did not turn his Back to it, and that to ſprinkle the Blood upon it; but eaſtward ſeems rather to denote that Side of the Atonement-covering.

15. Afterwards

15. Afterwards he ſhall kill the Kid of the Sin-offering which is for the People, and carry in his Blood to the Inſide of the Hanging; with which he ſhall do as he did with that of the Bullock, ſprinkling it upon the Atonement-covering, and before it.

16. So he ſhall purge the Holy Place from the Pollutions of the Iſraelites, and from their Treſpaſſes in all their Sins: and thus ſhall he do to the publick Tent remaining with them, amongſt their Pollutions.

17. Nor ſhall there be any Man in the publick Tent, when he goes in to make atonement in the Holy Place, till he comes out; and has made atonement for himſelf, his Family, and all the Congregation of Iſrael.

18. And he ſhall come out to the Altar which is before the Lord, and purge it: for he ſhall take ſome of the Blood of the Bullock, and of the Kid, and put upon the Horns of it round about.

19. He ſhall likewiſe ſprinkle ſome of the Blood upon it with his Finger ſeven times, cleanſing and ſanctifying it from the Pollutions of the Iſraelites.

20. And when he has made an end of purging the Holy Place, the publick Tent, and Altar, he ſhall bring near the live Kid.

21. Upon whoſe Head Aaron ſhall lean both his Hands, and confeſs upon him all the Iniquities of the Iſraelites, and all their Treſpaſſes in all their Sins; putting them upon the Head of the Kid, which he ſhall ſend by the Hand of a timely Man into the Wilderneſs.

22. Whereby the Kid ſhall bear upon him all their Iniquities to ſeparated Ground; and he ſhall let it go in the Wilderneſs.

23. Aaron ſhall then come into the publick Tent, and pull off the linen Garments which he put on when he went into the Holy Place, and leave them there.

24. And he ſhall bathe his Fleſh in Water in the Holy Place, put on his Garments, and coming forth, do his Burnt-offering, and that of the People, to make atonement for himſelf, and them.

25. Moreover he ſhall burn the Fat of the Sin-offering on the Altar.

26. And he who lets the Kid go for the departing Goat, ſhall waſh his Cloaths, and bathe his Fleſh in Water; after which he ſhall come into the Camp.

27. The Bullock too of the Sin-offering, and the Kid of it, whoſe Blood is brought in to make atonement in the Holy Place, ſhall be had forth without the Camp; and they ſhall burn with Fire their Skins, Fleſh and Dung.

28. Beſides he who burns them ſhall waſh his Cloaths, and bathe his Fleſh in Water; after which he ſhall come into the Camp.

29. And it ſhall become a laſting Ordinance to you, that on the tenth of the ſeventh Month, you ſhall afflict your Souls, and do no Work, the Native, and the Stranger who ſojourns amongſt you.

30. For on that Day ſhall atonement be made for you, that you may be cleanſed; which you ſhall be from all your Sins before the Lord.

31. It ſhall be a Sabbath of Reſt to you, that you may afflict your Souls; which ſhall be a laſting Ordinance.

32. And the Prieſt whom he ſhall anoint, and whoſe Hand he ſhall fill, to execute the Prieſthood in the room of his Father, ſhall make atonement; and ſhall put on the linen Garments, the holy ones.

33. He ſhall even purge the Holy Sanctuary, as he ſhall alſo the publick Tent, and the Altar; nay for the Prieſts, and all the People of the Aſſemhly ſhall he make atonement.

34. And this ſhall become to you a laſting Ordinance, to purge the Iſraelites from all their Sins once in a Year. And he did as the Lord commanded Moſes.

CHAP. XVII.

THE Lord ſpoke further to Moſes,

2. Bidding him ſay to Aaron, his Sons, and all the Iſraelites, that this which follows was the Thing that the Lord commanded:

3. Any Man of the Family of Iſrael, who kills an Ox, Lamb or Goat, either in the Camp, or without it;

Ver. 16. from the Pollutions] the ſame as Ver. 19. and the Noun is plural.

Ver. 18. to the Altar] of Incenſe in the Holy Place, as Ver. 20. ſhews.

Ver. 20. purging] the ſame Verb that is elſewhere rendered thus, and make atonement in this Chap. but reconciling muſt needs be improper.

Ver. 27. ſhall be had forth] Four Men, ſays R. Solomon, carried them forth upon two Staves or Bars, one being not able to do it: and accordingly the LXX tranſlate theſe Words ἐξοίσουσι, they ſhall carry forth, Patr. Com. agreeable to the following Verb, which is plural.

Ver. 29. tenth] beginning at the Evening of the ninth Day, Chap. xxiii. 32.

Ver. 3. kills] According to my Perception of it, this was univerſal to thoſe Creatures, while the Iſraelites were in the Wilderneſs, abiding nigh the Tabernacle; that all ſuch Beaſts might be killed there (being not very many, as they lived chiefly on Manna) to have their Blood ſprinkled, and Fat burnt on the Altar, Ver. 6. and to

4. And does not bring it to the Door of the publick Tent, to bring the Oblation near to the Lord, before his Tabernacle; the Blood ſhall be counted to that Man, he having ſhed it, who ſhall be cut off from among his People:

5. To the end that the Iſraelites may bring their Sacrifices, which they offer out in the Field, as they ſhould bring them, for the Lord, at the Door of the publick Tent to the Prieſt; and offer them for Sacrifices of Peace-offerings to the Lord.

6. And the Prieſt ſhall ſprinkle the Blood upon the Lord's Altar, at the Door of the publick Tent; and burn the Fat for a pleaſant Smell to the Lord.

7. So ſhall they no more offer their Sacrifices to Devils, after whom they have gone a whoring. This ſhall be a laſting Ordinance to them in their Generations.

8. Thou ſhalt alſo ſay to them: Any Man of the Family of Iſrael, or of the Strangers that ſojourn among you, who offers up a Burnt-offering or a Sacrifice;

9. And does not bring it to the Door of the publick Tent, to offer it to the Lord, ſhall be cut off from his People.

10. As to any Man of the Family of Iſrael, or of the Strangers that ſojourn among you, who eats any Blood, I will put my Face againſt him who does it, and cut him off from amongſt his People.

11. For the Life of the Fleſh is in the Blood, and I put it upon the Altar for you, to make atonement for your Souls: for it is the Blood makes atonement for the Soul.

12. Therefore I ſay to the Iſraelites, There ſhall not any Perſon of you eat Blood, nor ſhall the Stranger that ſojourns among you.

13. And any Man of the Iſraelites, or of the Strangers that ſojourn among you, who catches in hunting Beaſt or Fowl, which may be eat, ſhall pour out the Blood of it, which he ſhall cover with Earth.

14. For it is the Life of all Fleſh, its Blood being for the Life of it: ſo I ſay to the Iſraelites, You ſhall not eat the Blood of any Fleſh, becauſe that is the Life of all Fleſh; every one who eats it ſhall be cut off.

15. And every Perſon who eats any of a Carcaſe, or what is torn, of Natives or Strangers, ſhall waſh his Cloaths, bathe in Water, and be unclean till the Evening, when he ſhall be clean.

16. But if he does not waſh, nor bathe his Fleſh, he ſhall bear his Iniquity.

CHAP. XVIII.

AND the Lord ſpoke to Moſes as follows:

2. Speak to the Iſraelites, and tell them; I am the Lord your God.

3. You ſhall not do according to the Deeds of the Country of Egypt wherein you dwelt; nor yet according to thoſe of the Country of Canaan whither I am bringing you, nor go in their Ordinances.

4. My Rules ſhall you do, and obſerve my Ordinances, by going in them; who am the Lord your God.

5. Therefore you ſhall obſerve my Ordinances, and Rules, which let a Man do, and he ſhall live by them; who am the Lord.

6. You ſhall no Man go near to any Kindred of his own Fleſh, to uncover the Nakedneſs; I being the Lord.

prevent either of them from being eat, Chap. iii. 17. & vii. 23. Ver. 11, 12. of this Chap. as alſo to hinder the ſacrificing to Devils, Ver. 7. This general Prohibition ſeems quite confirmed by the Liberty granted afterwards, Deut. xii. 21. Annotators however expound this killing to be, not for common Eating, but Sacrifice; though when they come to the laſt mentioned Text, they are put to their Shifts, become dumb, or change their Note: and beſides the Ineffectualneſs of preventing thoſe Things above, if it had been ſo, it is not to be ſuppoſed the Beaſts for Sacrifice were killed away from the Tabernacle, which is contrary to the plain Law, Chap. i. 5, 11. & iii. 2, 8, 13. & iv. 4, &c.

Ver. 4. does not bring] This was to prevent Idolatry at other Places, as appears by Ver. 7. and ſo excluding that, they might on ſome Occaſions offer elſewhere, eſpecially after they were come into the Country of Canaan, and did not live ſo near the Tabernacle, Judg. xiii. 16. 1 Sam. vii. 9. & ix. 13. & xi. 15. & xvi. 5. 2 Sam. xxiv. ult. ſee alſo Exod. xx. 24.

Ib. the Blood] of the Ox, Lamb or Goat, which was ſhed, that ſhould have been ſprinkled on the Altar, Ver. 6. for ſpilling of which he was to be culpable. Whereas to repreſent it like Murder, as Interpreters do, ſhocks inſteads of convinces it was ſo; for what Equality is there between the Life of a Man and a Beaſt?

Ver. 8. Sacrifice] of Peace-offerings, Ver. 5. ſee alſo Num. xv. 3.

Ver. 5. let] literal and apt, here being not if; ſee Ezek. xx. 11.

Ver. 6. Kindred of his own Fleſh] So the Heb. is literally, not remainder of his fleſh, as it is put in the Eng. Margin. In this Manner the former Word is rendered, in the com. Tranſ. Chap. xxi. 2. Num. xxvii. 11. and with the Addition of near, Ver. 12, 13. Chap. xx. 19. thoſe Heb. Words alſo come together as here, Ch. xxv. 49. where is Nothing in that Margin, nor is it turned remainder in any other Place; for ſhear, not this ſheer, ſignifies ſo. Jun. and Trem. with Munſt. tranſlate as I do, propinquum carnis ſuæ, as likewiſe Onkelos in the Targ. It appears by Chap. xxv. 49. that it comprehends a firſt Couſin, and even extends further.

Ib. I being the Lord] and ſo having Authority, and Right, to command, according to Chap. xxii. 30, 31.

7. Thy Father's Nakedneſs, and thy Mother's, thou ſhalt not uncover; ſhe being thy Mother, thou muſt not do it.

8. Thou ſhalt not uncover the Nakedneſs of thy Father's Wife; it being thy Father's own.

9. The Nakedneſs of thy Siſter, either thy Father's or Mother's Daughter, whether the Offspring of the Family, or that which is without, is what thou ſhalt not uncover.

10. The Nakedneſs of thy Son's, or Daughter's Daughter, is what thou ſhalt not uncover: for theirs is thy own Nakedneſs.

11. The Nakedneſs of thy Father's Wife's Daughter, born to thy Father, is what thou ſhalt not uncover; ſhe being thy Siſter.

12. Thou ſhalt not uncover the Nakedneſs of thy Father's Siſter; ſhe being one of thy Father's Kindred.

13. Thou ſhalt not uncover the Nakedneſs of thy Mother's Siſter: for ſhe is one of thy Mother's Kindred.

14. Thou ſhalt not uncover the Nakedneſs of thy Father's Brother, by going near to his Wife; ſhe being thy Aunt.

15. The Nakedneſs of thy Daughter-in-law is what thou ſhalt not uncover; ſhe being thy Son's Wife.

16. Thou ſhalt not uncover the Nakedneſs of thy Brother's Wife; it being thy Brother's Nakedneſs.

17. Thou ſhalt not uncover the Nakedneſs of a Woman, and her Daughter: ſhalt not take her Son's or Daughter's Daughter, to uncover her Nakedneſs; they being her Kindred, it is Lewdneſs.

18. Nor ſhalt thou marry a Wife's Siſter; to diſtreſs, to uncover her Nakedneſs with the other in her Life.

19. And to a Woman in the Separation of her Uncleanneſs, thou ſhalt not go near, to uncover her Nakedneſs.

20. Beſides thou ſhalt not lie carnally with thy Neighbour's Wife, to be defiled by her.

21. And thou ſhalt not give of thy Offſpring to paſs through the Fire to Molech; nor profane the Name of thy God, who am the Lord.

22. Thou ſhalt not lie with a Male as with a Woman: it is Abomination.

23. Moreover thou ſhalt not lie with any Beaſt, to be defiled by it; nor ſhall a Woman ſtand before a Beaſt to engender with it: which is Confuſion.

24. Be not defiled in any of theſe Things: becauſe in all theſe the Nations are, which I will expel from your Preſence.

Ver. 7. and] The ſame Fact being uncovering both; as both are reduced into one in the following Words, and as the Nakedneſs of the Mother was the Father's, according to Ver. 8, 14, 16. & xx. 11.

Ver. 9. Offspring] by lawful Marriage, or otherwiſe, according to the Talmudiſts; ſee Selden, De Jure Nat. & Gent. Lib. v. 11. The Difference of being born at home or abroad, ſhows too trifling to diſtinguiſh or mention.

Ver. 11. born to] The ſame Word in Heb. ſignifying either born or begotten, and as the Connection may be made either by to or of, for which there is Nothing in the Original; it is to be tried by the Senſe of the Context. Now it is evident that by the Daughter is not meant a Man's own Siſter both by Father and Mother, becauſe ſhe is called by Diſtinction the Wife's Daughter, which ſhews that Wife was not the Man's own Mother to whom this is ſpoken; and that it was not the Father's Daughter by another Mother, appears by the Prohibition being laid on ſuch before, Ver. 9. conſequently this Daughter could not be begotten of the Father, as in the com. Tranſlation, therefore the other Meaning takes place. Notwithſtanding this Article has been much ſifted, and has obtained divers various Interpretations, I cannot ſay any of them ſatisfy me. Moſt ſeem to underſtand the Wife's Daughter by a former Huſband is intended, which deſtroys the reading begotten of thy Father; nay the Heb. Doctors ſay it is lawful to marry ſuch a one, Maimon. in Iſſure biah, Chap. 2. Sect. 3, 4. However it is ſcarce poſſible for any other to be meant, only theſe Words born to thy Father, and being thy Siſter, lay a Reſtriction on it, which, as I ſuppoſe, points out the right Senſe, and is conſiſtent with both the other Opinions; by ſignifying that the Daughter here mentioned, is one born to the latter Huſband after her Mother's Marriage with him, who was pregnant with this Daughter by another Man before, that either died, or divorced her; as ſuch a Daughter would be a Siſter in Marriage, to the Father's former Son here ſpoken to. Our great Annotator Poole, in aiming at ſuch a Reſtriction, was unhappily ingenious in explaining it, "He ſeems to ſpeak of the daughter of "the father's brother by his wife, whom the father here "ſpoken of, being brother to the deceaſed perſon, mar-"ried by vertue of that law, Deut. xxv. 5." Which Law was in caſe the firſt Brother died childleſs, and ſo could not have a Daughter: as was Selden, De Uxore Hebraica, Lib. i. 4. in rendering it, for ſhe that is born of thy Father is thy Siſter, which makes thoſe Words uſeleſs, and incoherent with the reſt.

Ver. 16. Wife] See Chap. xx. 21.

Ver. 18. Siſter] Several or moſt explain this to mean any other Woman, that a Man might have but one Wife. Againſt which however Grotius, Patrick and ſome others, offer, as I ſuppoſe, unanſwerable Objections: for it is conſiſtent that Siſter ſhould be underſtood properly, like Brother, &c. here, and may be obſerved that the Lord is forbidding different Degrees of Kindred to marry; and the following Places ſhew that more than one Wife was then lawful, Deut. xxi. 15, 16, 17. 2 Sam. xii. 8. Judg. viii. 30. & xii. 9, 14. 1 Sam. i. 2. 1 Chron. iii. 1,—9. & xiv. 3.

Ib. to diſtreſs] as may be obſerved of Leah and Rachel, Gen. xxix. 31, 32. & xxx. 1, 8, 15. and as Solomon remarks concerning Brothers, Prov. xviii. 19.

Ib. her Life] Though the Prohibition of marrying a Wife's Siſter may be abſolute of it ſelf, and the latter Part only particular Circumſtances; as the firſt certainly was, ſince a Man muſt not have married thus, if he did not do it to diſtreſs his firſt Wife: yet it ſeems to be implied that then a Man after his Wife's Death might have her Siſter, as a Woman might her Huſband's Brother in ſome Caſe, Deut. xxv. 5. Gen. xxxviii. 8, 11. and a Man had more Privilege in Marriage than a Woman, as he might divorce his Wife, and have more than one at a Time.

Ver. 19. go near] See Chap. xx. 18. Ezek. xviii. 6. & xxii. 10.

Ver. 21. the Fire] as expreſſed Deut. xviii. 10. where ſee further. The Septuagint, without the Vowel-Points, and alſo by Miſtake of ד for ר tranſlate, Thou ſhalt not give of thy Seed to ſerve a Prince.

25. And the Country being defiled, I will bring the Viſitation of its Iniquity upon it: for it vomits out its Inhabitants.

26. But you ſhall obſerve my Ordinances and Rules, and not do any of theſe Abominations; the Native, and the Stranger who ſojourns among you.

27. For all theſe Abominations have the Men of the Country done, who were before you, and it is defiled.

28. So the Country ſhall not vomit you out by your defiling it, as it did the Nations that were before you.

29. For what Perſons ſoever do any of theſe Abominations, ſhall be cut off from among their People.

30. You ſhall therefore obſerve my Charge, not to do any of the abominable Ordinances which are done before you, that you may not defile by them; I being the Lord your God.

CHAP. XIX.

THE Lord alſo ordered Moſes,

2. To ſpeak to the whole Aſſembly of the Iſraelites, ſaying to them: You ſhall be holy; for I the Lord your God am holy.

3. You ſhall each one fear his Mother and Father, and obſerve my Sabbaths; who am the Lord you God.

4. Turn not to Idols, nor make you molten gods; I being the Lord your God.

5. So that when you offer a Sacrifice of Peace-offerings to the Lord, you ſhall do it for your Favour.

6. It ſhall be eat in the Day you offer, and on the Morrow; and what is left till the third Day ſhall be burnt with Fire.

7. For if it be eat at all on the third Day, it ſhall be abominable, ſhall not be accepted.

8. Nay he who eats it ſhall bear his Iniquity, for he profanes the holy Thing of the Lord; and that Perſon ſhall be cut off from his People.

9. And when you reap the Harveſt of your Land, thou ſhalt not finiſh reaping the Corner of thy Field; nor ſhalt thou gather up the Gleaning of thy Harveſt.

10. As likewiſe thou ſhalt not glean thy Vineyard, nor gather the ſingle Grapes of it: thou ſhalt leave them for the Poor and the Stranger; I being the Lord your God.

11. You ſhall not ſteal, lye, nor deal falſely any one with his Neighbour.

12. And you ſhall not ſwear by my Name falſely, nor ſhalt thou profane the Name of thy God, who am the Lord.

13. Thou ſhalt not wrong thy Neighbour, nor take by force: the Pay of him who is hired, ſhall not abide with thee all Night till the Morning.

14. Thou ſhalt not curſe the Deaf, nor put a Stumbling-block before the Blind; but ſhalt fear thy God, who am the Lord.

15. You ſhall do no Iniquity in Judgment, thou ſhalt not reſpect the Face of the Poor, nor honour that of the Great: in Righteouſneſs ſhalt thou judge thy Neighbour.

16. Thou ſhalt not go about backbiting among thy People, ſhalt not ſtand up againſt the Blood of thy Neighbour; I being the Lord.

17. Thou ſhalt not hate thy Brother in thy Heart: ſhalt fully reprove thy Neighbour, and not bear Sin for him.

18. Thou ſhalt not revenge, nor keep anger to thoſe of thy People, but ſhalt love thy Neighbour as thy ſelf; I being the Lord.

19. My Ordinances ſhall you obſerve, thou ſhalt not make thy Beaſt engender with diverſe kinds, ſhalt not ſow thy Field with ſuch; nor ſhall a Garment mixed with diverſe kinds come upon thee.

20. Next when a Man lies with a Woman carnally, who is a Servant-maid eſpouſed to another, and not at all redeemed, or her Freedom not given her; there ſhall be Scourging, they ſhall not be put to death, becauſe ſhe is not free.

Ver. 3. fear his Mother] The Mother might be put firſt, becauſe Children are not ſo apt to fear or reverence her, as the Father.

Ver. 5. for your Favour] according to Ver. 7. look Ch. i. 3.

Ver. 6. Morrow] viz. the Peace-offerings mentioned Chap. vii. 16. not that Ver. 15.

Ver. 10. ſingle Grapes] as appears by the Chald. Word of the ſame Letters, this being found no where elſe. The Prohibition of taking every Grape would have ſignified little.

Ver. 13. all Night] This may be underſtood as general, and that in Deut. xxiv. 15. ſpecial, when the Labourer was poor, as there mentioned; ſo that he might want his Money to buy a Supper: which may be a better Diſtinction, than one Place ſpeaking of a Labourer by Night, and the other by Day.

Ver. 17. not bear Sin for him] 'This is the uſuall and 'proper Meaning of the Hebrew Words as after in Lev. 'xxii. 9. Num. xviii. 32. and the Greeke and Chaldee 'Verſions ſo explaine it: and Chazkuni confirmeth it by 'the like,' Ainſw. To bear, which the Verb ſignifies, is not to ſuffer, but to carry.

Ver. 18. keep anger] as Pſa. ciii. 9. Jer. iii. 12. Nah. i. 2. where is the ſame Word.

Ver. 19. diverſe kinds] for which there is the ſame Heb. Word thrice in this Verſe.

Ver. 20. eſpouſed to another] Vulgate, nobilis, noble; by Corruption probably of nubilis, marriageable, as in the Clementine Edition.

Ib. Scourging] 'viz. of them both, as the Vulgar Latin, 'with great Reaſon, underſtands it,' ſays Patrick.

21. Moreover

21. Moreover he ſhall bring his Treſpaſs-offering to the Lord, to the Door of the publick Tent, which ſhall be a Ram.

22. And the Prieſt ſhall make atonement for him with it before the Lord, for his Sin that he has committed, which ſhall be forgiven him.

23. When you are come alſo into the Country, and have planted all Trees for Food, you ſhall count the Fruit of it its Foreſkin, that is uncircumciſed; three Years it ſhall be ſo to you, not to be eat;

24. And in the fourth Year all the Fruit of it ſhall be holy, for Praiſes to the Lord;

25. But in the fifth Year you ſhall eat the Fruit of it, to make it add to you its Increaſe; I being the Lord your God.

26. You ſhall not eat with Blood; ſhall not divine, nor uſe Aſtrology:

27. Shall not cut round the Corners of your Heads; nor ſhalt thou ſpoil the Corners of thy Beard.

28. You ſhall not make Cuts in your Fleſh for the Dead, nor ſhall you a Mark of Inſcription on you; I being the Lord.

29. Do not profane thy Daughter, by making her commit Whoredom; leſt the Country ſhould go a whoring, and be full of Lewdneſs.

30. You ſhall obſerve my Sabbaths, and reverence my Sanctuary; who am the Lord.

31. Turn not to thoſe who have familiar Spirits, nor ſeek to Sorcerers, to be defiled by them; I being the Lord your God.

32. Thou ſhalt riſe up at the Face of the Aged, and honour the Face of the Elder; and ſhalt fear thy God, who am the Lord.

33. Beſides when a Stranger ſojourns with thee in your Country, you ſhall not oppreſs him.

34. As a Native of your ſelves, ſhall the Stranger be to you, who ſojourns with you, and thou ſhalt love him as thy ſelf, ſince you were Strangers in the Country of Egypt; I being the Lord your God.

35. You ſhall do no Injuſtice in Judgment, Dimenſion, Weight or Meaſure.

36. Juſt Balances, juſt Weights, a juſt Ephah, and a juſt Hin ſhall you have; I being the Lord your God, who brought you out of the Country of Egypt.

37. Therefore ſhall you obſerve all my Ordinances, and all my Rules, doing them; who am the Lord.

CHAP. XX.

AND the Lord ſpoke to Moſes as follows.

2. Thou ſhalt ſay alſo to the Iſraelites: Any Man of the Iſraelites, or of the Strangers that ſojourn in Iſrael, who gives any of his Offspring to Molech, ſhall be quite put to death: the People of the Country ſhall ſtone him with Stones.

3. Elſe I will put my Face againſt that Man, and cut him off from among his People; becauſe he has done ſo, that he may defile my Sanctuary, and to profane my holy Name.

4. Nay if the People of the Country do at all hide their Eyes from that Man, when he does thus, not to put him to death;

5. I will not only ſet my Face againſt that Man, and his Family, and cut him off, but all who go a whoring after him, that they may after Molech, from among their People.

6. As for that Perſon who turns to ſuch as have familiar Spirits, or to Sorcerers, to go a whoring after them, I will likewiſe put my Face againſt him, and cut him off from among his People.

7. Therefore you ſhall ſanctify your ſelves, and be holy: for I am the Lord your God.

8. And you ſhall obſerve my Ordinances, and do them; who am the Lord that ſanctify you.

9. For any Man who curſes his Father or Mother, ſhall be quite put to death: he who does ſo, his Blood is chargeable on himſelf.

10. And there being a Man who commits Adultery with another's Wife, a Neighbour of his, the Adulterer and Adultereſs ſhall be quite put to death.

Ver. 25. to make it] By Obedience in all the foregoing, as the Pointing here inſtructs; not by the eating only. The Heb. being in the Conjug. Hiphil for make.

Ver. 26. with Blood] for which the Seventy render ἐπὶ τῶν ὀρέων, upon the Mountains; miſtaking ר for ר as in Gen. x. 4.

Ib. Aſtrology] See Buxt. Lexic. under עין

Ver. 3. Elſe] So Jun. and Trem. have aut; as the Senſe ſhews it ſhould be, eſpecially compared with Ver. 4, 5.

Ver. 9. For] 'This, ſays Ainſworth, is inferred upon 'the former Precept, be holy: For otherwiſe Judgments 'abide you.' Jun. and Trem. to the ſame Purpoſe.

Ib. who does ſo] which Pope Sixtus took upon him to leave out, though it will not thus read ſo well.

Ver. 10. put to death] The Jewiſh Doctors ſay by Strangling, which might be to diſcredit the Evangeliſt's Account, that has it Stoning, John viii. 5. but though their Authority has betrayed Patrick, &c. into that Opinion, it appears likewiſe by Deut. xxii. 23, 24. that ſuch were ſtoned: for however the Caſe there may be diſtinguiſhed a little from this, yet as being ſtoned to death was worſe than to be ſtrangled, we are not to think that the Crime here being the greater, had a lighter Puniſhment, notwithſtanding any trifling Pretence not worth mentioning. Beſides as the Manner of putting to death was told

11. Moreover the Man who lies with his Father's Wife, he uncovering his Father's Nakedneſs, they ſhall both of them be quite put to death, their Blood is chargeable on themſelves.

12. The Man too who lies with his Daughter-in-law, they ſhall both of them be quite put to death: they doing Confuſion, their Blood is chargeable on themſelves.

13. And the Man who lies with a Male as with a Woman, both of them do Abomination: they ſhall be quite put to death, their Blood is chargeable on themſelves.

14. As for the Man who takes a Wife and her Mother, it is Lewdneſs: they ſhall burn him and them with Fire, that there may not be Lewdneſs among you.

15. The Man alſo who lies with a Beaſt, ſhall be quite put to death; and you ſhall kill the Beaſt.

16. When there is a Woman who goes near to any Beaſt to engender with it, thou ſhalt kill them both; they ſhall be quite put to death, their Blood is chargeable on themſelves.

17. So when a Man takes his Siſter, the Daughter either of his Father or Mother, and ſees her Nakedneſs, and ſhe his; it is a Reproach, and they ſhall be cut off in the Sight of thoſe of their People: he having uncovered the Nakedneſs of his Siſter, ſhall bear his Iniquity.

18. And the Man who lies with a Woman that has the Infirmity, and uncovers her Nakedneſs, he makes naked her Spring, and ſhe uncovers the Spring of her Blood; therefore both of them ſhall be cut off from among their People.

19. Nor ſhalt thou uncover the Nakedneſs either of thy Mother's or Father's Siſter: for ſuch a one makes naked his Kindred; they ſhall bear their Iniquity.

20. And the Man who lies with his Aunt, uncovers his Uncle's Nakedneſs: they ſhall bear their Sin, ſhall die childleſs.

21. The Man likewiſe who takes his Brother's Wife, it is Separation: he uncovering his Brother's Nakedneſs, they ſhall be childleſs.

22. Thus ſhall you obſerve all my Ordinances and Rules, doing them; that the Country may not vomit you out, whither I am bringing you to dwell in it.

23. And you ſhall not go in the Ordinances of the Nations which I will expel from your Preſence: for they doing all theſe Things, I abhor them.

24. I have ſaid to you therefore, You ſhall inherit their Land, which I will give you to inherit, a Country flowing with Milk and Honey; who am the Lord your God, that have parted you from other People.

25. You ſhall further make a ſeparation between clean Beaſts and unclean, and betweeen unclean Fowls and clean; that you may not make your ſelves abominable by Beaſt or Fowl, or any Thing that creeps on the Ground, which I have put apart for unclean to you.

26. And you ſhall be holy to me, for I the Lord am holy; and have parted you from other People, to be mine.

27. Beſides a Man or Woman when there is in them a familiar Spirit, or who is a Sorcerer, ſhall be quite put to death: they ſhall ſtone them with Stones, their Blood being chargeable on themſelves.

before to be Stoning, Ver. 2. it may well be underſtood here. Nay Patrick himſelf ſays on the next Verſe, All the Hebrew Doctors agree that whereſoever we meet with the Phraſe, that a Perſon's Blood ſhall be upon him, it is meant of ſtoning; which being in the foregoing Verſe, might be omitted here.

Ver. 11. their Blood is chargeable on themſelves] I flatter my ſelf, with Thanks to the Giver of Underſtanding, that this is none of the leaſt of Knots in Scripture now thus untied. Ainſworth ſays, that is, they were ſtoned; but every one was not of whom this is ſaid, as he in 2 Sam. i. 16. and Shimei, 1 Kings ii. 37, 46. Jun. and Trem. tranſlate it, cædis ipſorum cauſa eſt in ipſis, they are the Cauſe of their own Death; whereas the Children of thoſe Jews, who made uſe of this Heb. Idiom in Matt. xxvii. 25. could not be the Cauſe of the Death of Chriſt. The Gr. of the Sept. is ἀμφότεροι ἔνοχοι εἰσι, they are both guilty; and the Chald. קְטוֹלָא חַיְבִין guilty to be put to death: ſo the Tig. Verſ. at Ver. 9. capitali pœna dignus eſt, he deſerves capital Puniſhment, or as in Ver. 12. ultimo ſupplicio, the utmoſt Puniſhment, and in Ver. 13. morte, Death; but here differently, uterque capitali pœna plectantur, let them be &c. as likewiſe Caſt. variouſly, all inconſiſtent with the Text above; while this is juſtified by Deut. xix. 10. and agrees well with the reſt.

Ver. 17. Reproach] as the ſame Word is tranſlated, Prov. xiv. 34. and never ſignifies a wicked thing, but as a Reproach may be ſo.

Ver. 18. cut off] as Onan was, Gen. xxxviii. 9, 10. ſince both Actions prevented or ſpoiled the having of Children. And that cutting off was done by God, Ver. 3, 5. where it is diſtinguiſhed from capital Puniſhment by Man: ſo Ainſworth explains it, "to weet by the "Hand of God." Therefore the Expoſition of Poole, &c. on Chap. xv. 24. that ſuch Perſons were by this Verſe to be judicially puniſhed with Death, is unwarrantable.

Ver. 21. Brother's Wife] except when he dies childleſs, Deut. xxv. 5, 6. Gen. xxxviii. 8. by which thoſe Paſſages are reconciled.

CHAP. XXI.

THE Lord moreover ordered Moſes to ſpeak to the Prieſts, Aaron's Sons, and ſay to them: None ſhall defile himſelf for the Dead among his People;

2. Excepting for one of his Kindred that is near to him; for his Mother, Father, Son, Daughter or Brother;

3. As alſo for his Siſter a Virgin that is near to him, who has not had a Huſband, he ſhall defile himſelf.

4. A Huſband among his People ſhall not be defiled, to profane himſelf.

5. They ſhall not make Baldneſs on their Heads, nor ſhave the Corners of their Beards, nor yet make Cuts in their Fleſh.

6. They ſhall be holy to their God, and not profane his Name: for they offer the Sacrifices of the Lord by Fire, the Meat of their God; therefore they ſhall be holy.

7. A Wife who is a Harlot, or profane, ſhall they not take, nor take a Woman divorced from her Huſband: for each is holy to his God.

8. And thou ſhalt conſecrate him, becauſe he offers the Meat of thy God: he ſhall be holy to thee, for I the Lord who ſanctify you am holy.

9. When the Daughter of a Man alſo who is a Prieſt is profane by committing Whoredom, ſhe profanes her Father, ſhe ſhall be burnt with Fire.

10. So the chief Prieſt of his Brethren, upon whoſe Head the Oil of anointing is poured, and his Hand filled, to put on the Garments, ſhall not make his Head bald, nor rip his Cloaths.

11. Nor ſhall he go in to any dead Perſon; he ſhall not defile himſelf for his Father or Mother.

12. And he ſhall not go out of the Sanctuary, nor profane the Sanctuary of his God: for the Crown of the anointing Oil of his God is upon him; I am the Lord.

13. Moreover he ſhall take a Wife in her Virginity.

14. A Widow, or one divorced, or profane, a Harlot, theſe ſhall he not take; but it ſhall be a Virgin of his People for a Wife.

15. And he ſhall not profane his Offspring among his People: for I the Lord ſanctify him.

16. Beſides the Lord bade Moſes,

17. Speak as follows to Aaron: The Man of thy Offspring in their Generations in whom there is a Blemiſh, ſhall not have Acceſs to bring the Meat of his God.

18. For no Man in whom there is a Blemiſh muſt come near: a Man blind, lame, defective, or ſuperfluous,

19. Or a Man who has either a Foot or Hand maimed,

20. Or one crooked, or a Dwarf, or with a Fault in his Eye, having the Scurvy, ſcabbed, or hurt in the Teſticles.

21. No Man in whom there is a Blemiſh, of the Offspring of Aaron the Prieſt, ſhall come nigh to bring the Sacrifices of the Lord by Fire: there being a Blemiſh in him, he ſhall not come near to bring the Meat of his God.

22. He may eat it, as well that of the very holy as the holy.

23. But he ſhall not come to the Hanging, nor come nigh the Altar, becauſe there is a Blemiſh in him; that he may not profane my Sanctuaries, for I the Lord ſanctify them.

24. Moſes ſpoke accordingly to Aaron, his Sons, and all the Iſraelites.

CHAP. XXII.

AND the Lord ſaid to him as follows:

2. Tell Aaron, and his Sons, that they muſt be ſeparated from the Iſraelites holy Things, that they may not profane my holy Name, in the Things which thoſe conſecrate to me, who am the Lord.

3. Say to them, Every individual Man in your Generations who goes near, of all your Offspring, to the holy Things which the Iſraelites conſecrate to the Lord, with his Uncleanneſs upon him, ſhall be cut off from before me, who am the Lord.

Ver. 3. ſhall defile] See Ainſworth.

Ver. 4. A Huſband] So Sol. Jar. and Jun. & Trem. with me the beſt Expoſitor and Tranſlators: to which the Context agrees, שאר in the 2d Ver. ſignifying Kindred by Nature, as it were own Fleſh, and Wife being left out among thoſe for whom they might defile themſelves by Mourning. The preſ. Eng. Reading bears little or no Senſe. As to putting it with ſome, for a chief Man; ſince there is nothing of for in the Heb. and the Word ſcarce ſignifies any higher Degree than Maſter, for which a Prieſt would not have mourned, that Meaning ſeems void.

Ib. be defiled] for his Wife, as the Eng. Margin adds, and Huſband may imply.

Ver. 6. Meat] to wit the Sacrifices juſt mentioned, which ſhould not therefore be made diſtinct by adding and; ſee Patrick, Comment.

Ver. 8. thou] Moſes, Ver. 1.

Ver. 10. By altering the Heb. Diviſion a wrong Senſe appears, viz. that the not making bald, &c. was meant for a Daughter being burnt; to bring in which it ſeems to have been altered.

Ib. bald] See Chap. x. 16.

Ver. 12. not go out] upon any Occaſion of Death as before.

Ver. 14. See Ezek. xliv. 22.

Ib. defective] as oppoſed to ſuperfluous, according to Chap. xxii. 23. ſee Buxt. Lex.

4. Any Man of Aaron's Offspring who is leprous, or has the Flux, ſhall not eat of the holy Things, till he is clean; nor he who touches any Thing unclean by the Dead, or a Man from whom ſeminal Matter is emitted,

5. Or the Man who touches any creeping Thing, or a Man, for either of which he is unclean, in any of his Uncleanneſs;

6. He who does, ſhall not only be unclean till the Evening, but ſhall not eat of the holy Things, except he bathe his Fleſh in Water.

7. But when the Sun is ſet, he ſhall be clean; after which he may eat of the holy Things, for it is his Food.

8. He ſhall not eat of a Carcaſe, or what is torn, to be defiled by it; I being the Lord.

9. Therefore they ſhall keep my Charge, that they may not bear Sin for it, and die by the ſame, becauſe they profane it: I the Lord ſanctify them.

10. And there ſhall no Stranger eat what is holy; nor ſhall a Sojourner of the Prieſt, or one hired.

11. Yet when a Prieſt buys a Perſon at the Coſt of his Money, he may eat of this Meat of his, as alſo he who is born of his Family.

12. And when a Man who is a Stranger has a Prieſt's Daughter, he ſhall not eat of an Offering of the holy Things.

13. When a Prieſt's Daughter however is a Widow, or divorced, and has no Offſpring, and is returned to her Father's Houſe as in her Youth, ſhe ſhall eat of his Meat; but no Stranger ſhall eat of it.

14. Moreover when a Man eats what is holy by Error, he ſhall add its fifth Part to it, and give as much as was holy to the Prieſt.

15. Thus they ſhall not profane the holy Things of the Iſraelites, which they offer up to the Lord;

16. Or let them bear the Iniquity of Treſpaſs, when they eat their holy Things: for I the Lord ſanctify them.

17. Next the Lord ordered Moſes,

18. To ſpeak thus to Aaron, his Sons, and all the Iſraelites: Any Man of the Family of Iſrael, or of the Strangers in Iſrael, who brings his Oblation, for any either of their Vows or Free-offerings, which they bring to the Lord for a Burnt-offering:

19. For your Favour, it ſhall be a perfect Male, of Oxen, Lambs, or Goats.

20. You ſhall not bring any wherein there is a Blemiſh; ſince it will not be for Favour to you.

21. When a Man likewiſe brings a Sacrifice of Peace-offerings to the Lord, in putting apart by a Vow, or for a Free-offering, of the Herd, or of the Flock; it ſhall be perfect for Favour, there ſhall be no Blemiſh in it.

22. Blind, broken, maimed, with Warts, having the Scurvy, or ſcabbed, theſe you ſhall not bring to the Lord; nor make of them an Offering by Fire upon the Altar to him.

23. Either a Bullock or a Sheep ſuperfluous, or defective; thou mayeſt make it a Free-offering, but for a Vow it ſhall not be accepted.

24. For you ſhall not bring to the Lord the cruſhed, bruiſed, broken, or cut; nor make them ready in your Country.

25. And from a Stranger ſhall you not bring the Meat of your God of any of theſe; becauſe their Corruption, namely a Blemiſh, being in them, they ſhall not be accepted for you.

26. The Lord told Moſes too as follows:

27. When a Bullock, Sheep or Goat is brought forth, it ſhall be ſeven Days under its Dam; and from the eighth Day forward, it ſhall be accepted for an Oblation by Fire to the Lord.

28. And a Cow, or a Sheep, you ſhall not kill, with its Young in one Day.

29. Beſides when you offer a Sacrifice of Thankſgiving to the Lord, you ſhall do it for your Favour.

30. It ſhall be eat on the ſame Day, you ſhall not leave of it till the Morning; I being the Lord.

31. So you ſhall obſerve my Commandments, and do them; who am the Lord.

32. And you ſhall not profane my holy Name, ſince I will be ſanctified among the Iſraelites: I the Lord ſanctify you;

33. Who brought you out of the Country of Egypt, to be a God to you: I am the Lord.

Ver. 10. Stranger] that is not of a Prieſt's Family, Ver. 11, 12, 13. Matt. xii. 4.

CHAP. XXIII.

AGAIN the Lord ſpoke to Moſes,

2. Bidding him ſay that which follows to the Iſraelites: The Lord's appointed Times, which you ſhall proclaim for holy Aſſemblings, are theſe, they being mine.

3. Six Days ſhall Work be done, and on the ſeventh Day, it being a Sabbath of Reſt, for a holy Aſſembling, you ſhall not do any Work; it ſhall be a Sabbath to the Lord in all your Dwellings.

4. Theſe are the Lord's appointed Times, for holy Aſſemblings, which you ſhall proclaim at their appointed Time:

5. On the fourteenth of the firſt Month, within the Evening, ſhall be the Paſſover to the Lord.

6. And on the fifteenth Day of that Month, ſhall be the Feaſt of unleavened Cakes to him; which you ſhall eat ſeven Days.

7. On the firſt Day you ſhall have a holy Aſſembling, doing no labouring Buſineſs.

8. You ſhall alſo bring an Offering by Fire to the Lord ſeven Days: on the ſeventh Day ſhall be a holy Aſſembling, you ſhall do no labouring Buſineſs.

9. And the Lord bade Moſes,

10. Speak to the Iſraelites as follows: When you are come to the Country which I give you, and reap the Harveſt of it, you ſhall bring a Sheaf of the Firſt-fruits of your Harveſt to the Prieſt.

11. Who ſhall wave the Sheaf before the Lord for your Favour: the next Day after the Sabbath ſhall he do it.

12. You ſhall offer too on the Day of your waving the Sheaf, a perfect Lamb in his firſt Year, for a Burnt-offering to the Lord;

13. With its Meat-offering, two tenth Parts of fine Flour tempered with Oil, an Offering by Fire to the Lord for a pleaſant Smell; and its Drink-offering, the fourth Part of a Hin of Wine.

14. And you ſhall not eat Bread, parched Corn, or green Ears till that very Day, till you bring the Oblation of your God. It ſhall be a laſting Ordinance for your Generations, in all your Dwellings.

15. Afterwards you ſhall count up to your ſelves from the Day after the Sabbath, when you bring the Sheaf of the Waved-offering, to be ſeven entire Sabbaths;

16. To the next Day after the ſeventh Sabbath ſhall you count up fifty Days: then ſhall you bring a new Meat-offering to the Lord.

Ver. 2. appointed Times] I do not find the Word ſignifies Feaſts, nor would be proper for a Day of Faſting, &c. Ver. 27.

Ver. 3. Aſſembling] Convocation is an Aſſembly by the Uſe of the Word, which we are to follow, if we would be underſtood; and the learned Cowel defines it to be an Aſſembly of the Clergy, which does not appear intended by the Tranſlators who have it. Nor need our national Church be offended at my leaving a Jewiſh Term, when the Original has the Word alſo in Iſai. i. 13. In the com. Tranſ. a day is here a convocation, which it is diſtinguiſhed from in Ver. 7, 8. and feaſts are convocations, Ver. 2, 4. what Idea then muſt an intelligent Reader, who has any Idea, have of them?

Ver. 10. Sheaf] By the Account that is given of it, this Sheaf was of Barley, as being firſt ripe; and was reaped after Sun-ſet when the 15th Day of Niſan was ended, and the 16th begun, whether it was ripe or not, by Order of the great Council, who deputed Perſons to do it; then being threſhed and prepared, it was offered the 16th Day as directed, Ver. 11, 12, 13. Maimonides in Talmidin, Ch. 7. Babylonian Talmud in Menachoth, Ch. 10. and that Harveſt began ſo ſoon may be ſeen by Joſh. iii. 15. & iv. 19. & v. 10. 1 Chron. xii. 15. Accordingly Rauwolff in his Travels, Pt. iii. Ch. 10. ſays, Their Harveſt begins in the Beginning of April, and ends in May; Maundrell, that on May 11, the People were gathering their Corn, being Harveſt-time; and Corten thus, They ſow their Corn in November and December; in April and May all is ripe: and Dr. Ruſſel, Their Harveſt is generally over by the 20th of May.

Ver. 11. Sabbath] which ſignifies Reſt, and is agreed to be the Day mentioned Ver. 7. viz. the 15th of the firſt Month, Abib or Niſan, Ver. 5, 6. the firſt of the ſeventh Month being called a Sabbath in the ſame Manner, Ver. 24. as alſo the tenth, Ver. 32. and the fifteenth, Ver. 39. which would not be 7thday Sabbaths together in any Year, reckoning the Months either 30 Days each, or 30 and 29 alternately.

Ver. 14. till you bring] So Pliny obſerves that the ancient Romans, ne guſtabant quidem novas fruges aut vina, antequam ſacerdotes primitias libaſſent, would not even taſte the new Corn or Wine, till the Prieſts had offered the Firſt-fruits, Nat. Hiſt. Lib. xviii. 2. at the End.

Ver. 15. Day after] namely the 16th of the firſt Month, Ver. 11. and Joſephus, Antiq. Lib. iii. 10.

Ver. 16. next Day after] to wit the 6th of the third Month, Buxtorf, Synag. Judaic. Cap. 20. being fifty Days, reckoning the former Morrow, i. e. the 16th of the firſt Month for the firſt of them, and the Months being lunar, one of 30, the other of 29 Days. This was called the Feaſt of Weeks, Exod. xxxiv. 22. Deut. xvi. 10, 16. 2 Chron. viii. 13. from its being counted by ſeven (or a Week of) Weeks; and Penteceſt, Acts ii. 1. & xx. 16. 1 Cor. xvi. 8. becauſe pentecoſtos is Greek for fiftieth; as alſo the Feaſt of Harveſt, Exod. xxiii. 16. and of the Firſt-fruits of Wheat-harveſt, Exod. xxxiv. 22. for all the Harveſt being ended about this Time, the latter Part of which was Wheat-harveſt, Exod. ix. 31, 32. Ruth i. 22. & ii. 23. 2 Sam. xxi. 9. an Offering was brought of the firſt new Wheat that was uſed, Ver. 17. Deut. xxvi. 2. upon which Account it is likewiſe called the Day of the Firſt-fruits, Num. xxviii. 26. The modern Jews keep the Feaſt two Days, Leo de Modena, Ceremon. Jud. Pt. iii. Cap. 4. but as Buxtorf ſays, ubi ſupra, leſt they ſhould miſtake the right. I have obſerved that ſeveral of our eminent Writers do not undertake to tell us what Day of the Month the Pentecoſt, or giving of the Law, was, but ſilently ſlide over it, while others put it on the 5th or 4th Day; ſee on Exod. xix.

Ib. Sabbath] being the Concluſion of the ſeventh Week, as a real Sabbath was the laſt Day of a Week. The ſame Time is ordered to be counted by Weeks, Deut. xvi. 9.

17. You

17. You ſhall bring from your Habitations two Loaves for Waving, two tenth Parts of fine Flour ſhall they be, baked with Leaven: they being Firſt-fruits to the Lord.

18. And you ſhall bring with the Bread ſeven perfect Lambs in their firſt Year, one young Bullock of the Herd, and two Rams: they ſhall be a Burnt-offering to the Lord, with their Meat-offering, and Drink-offerings, an Offering by Fire of a pleaſant Smell to him.

19. You ſhall further do one Kid of the Goats for a Sin-offering, and two Lambs in their firſt Year for a Sacrifice of Peace-offerings.

20. And the Prieſt ſhall wave them with the Bread of the Firſt-fruits, for a Waved-offering before the Lord, with the two Lambs: they ſhall be holy to the Lord for the Prieſt.

21. Moreover you ſhall proclaim on the very ſame Day, that it muſt be to you for a holy Aſſembling, for you to do no labouring Buſineſs. It ſhall be a laſting Ordinance in all your Dwellings, for your Generations.

22. And when you reap the Harveſt of your Land, thou ſhalt not finiſh the Corners of thy Field in thy Reaping, nor gather up the Gleaning of thy Harveſt: thou ſhalt leave them for the Poor and Stranger; I being the Lord your God.

23. The Lord alſo ſpoke to Moſes as follows;

24. Tell the Iſraelites, that on the firſt of the ſeventh Month, they ſhall have a Sabbath, a Memorial of Sounding, a holy Aſſembling;

25. Not doing any Work of Servitude, but bringing an Offering by Fire to the Lord.

26. And the Lord continued ſpeaking thus to Moſes:

27. But the tenth of this ſeventh Month ſhall be a Day of Atonements, a holy Aſſembling ſhall there be to you, when you ſhall afflict your Souls, and bring an Offering by Fire to the Lord.

28. And you ſhall do no Work on that ſame Day: for it ſhall be a Day of Atonements, to make atonement for you before the Lord your God.

29. For every Perſon who is not afflicted on it, ſhall be cut off from his People.

30. And every Perſon in particular who does any Work then, will I deſtroy from among his People.

31. You ſhall do no Work; that ſhall be a laſting Ordinance for your Generations, in all your Dwellings.

32. It ſhall be a Sabbath of Reſt to you, and you ſhall afflict your Souls: on the ninth of the Month in the Evening, from one Evening to another ſhall you keep your Sabbath.

33. The Lord likewiſe bade Moſes,

34. Say to the Iſraelites as follows: On the fifteenth Day of this ſeventh Month, ſhall be the Feaſt of Booths ſeven Days to the Lord.

35. On the firſt Day ſhall be a holy Aſſembling, you ſhall do no labouring Buſineſs.

36. Seven Days ſhall you bring an Offering by Fire to the Lord: on the eighth Day you ſhall have a holy Aſſembling, and do the ſame; which ſhall be a ſolemn Day, you ſhall do no labouring Buſineſs.

37. Theſe are the Lord's appointed Times, which you ſhall proclaim for holy Aſſemblings, to bring an Offering by Fire to the Lord, a Burnt-offering and Meat-offering, a Sacrifice and Drink-offerings, each Day's Matter the very ſame Day;

38. Beſides the Sabbaths of the Lord; and beſides your Gifts, all your Vows and Free-offerings, which you give to him.

39. But on the fifteenth Day of the ſeventh Month, when you have gathered the Crop of the Land, you ſhall keep a Feaſt to the Lord ſeven Days: on the firſt Day there ſhall be Reſt, and the ſame on the eighth Day.

40. And you ſhall take you on the firſt Day Fruit of handſome Trees, Branches of Ver. 17. Habitations] as being a common Offering for all the People.

Ver. 18. one young Bullock and two Rams] The Account given of two young Bullocks and one Ram, Num. xxviii. 27. does not contradict this, if according to Joſephus both were offered, viz. three Bullocks, &c. Antiq. Lib. iii. 10. thoſe mentioned in Numbers being the Offerings for this Day (I imagine as kept in memory of the Law) and theſe as belonging to the two Loaves, Ver. 17. (offered in Thankfulneſs for the Harveſt, I ſuppoſe, and as with the Bread here ſhews) Maimon. in Talmidin, Ch. 8. 1.

Ver. 24. Memorial] This being the Beginning of the civil Year, and is ſuppoſed alſo to be kept for the Creation of the World at that Time.

Ver. 27. Offering] See of it largely Chap. xvi.

Ver. 32. in the Evening] when the tenth Day began, Ver. 27. Chap. xvi. 29.

Ver. 36. a ſolemn Day] called the laſt and great Day, John vii. 37. howſoever it was that our Tranſlators turned it ſolemn aſſembly.

Ver. 40. Fruit] So this Heb. Word ſignifies, as in many other Places, and never boughs; we may underſtand the Fruit was to be on the Branches, that being alſo the Time of the Year for it. Accordingly the Jews now uſe a Fruit they call Attrog, almoſt like a Citron or Lemon, with Unevenneſs on the Rind, which they fancy Eve made with her Teeth, and that it was the forbidden Fruit: they have it out of Greece againſt that Time, and ſometimes a Sprig will coſt a Guinea; carrying it in their Hands to the Synagogues, where it may be ſeen on that Feſtival, Univerſ. Hiſt. B. ii. Ch. 2. 4.

Palm-

Palm-trees, Boughs of thick Trees, and Willows of the Brook; and ſhall rejoice before the Lord your God ſeven Days.

41. Thus ſhall you keep it a Feaſt to the Lord ſeven Days in a Year: it ſhall be a laſting Ordinance for your Generations, to be kept in the ſeventh Month.

42. You ſhall dwell in Booths ſeven Days; all who are Natives of Iſrael ſhall dwell there:

43. In order for your Generations to know that I made the Iſraelites dwell in Booths, when I brought them out of the Country of Egypt; who am the Lord your God.

44. Accordingly Moſes told the Lord's appointed Times to the Iſraelites.

CHAP. XXIV.

MOREOVER the Lord ſpoke as follows to him:

2. Command the Iſraelites, that they ſhould fetch thee pure Oil of Olives beat for the Light; to make the Lamp burn up continually.

3. Without the Hanging of the Teſtimony, in the publick Tent, ſhall Aaron put it in order from Evening to Morning before the Lord continually: which ſhall be a laſting Ordinance for your Generations.

4. He ſhall put the Lamps in order upon the pure Candleſtick, before the Lord continually.

5. And thou ſhalt take fine Flour, and bake it in twelve Cakes; there ſhall be two tenth Parts in one Cake.

6. Then ſhalt thou ſet them in two Ranks, ſix in a Rank, upon the pure Table before the Lord.

7. And thou ſhalt put pure Frankincenſe upon the Ranks; that it may be on the Bread for a Memorial, an Offering by Fire to the Lord.

8. On every Sabbath Day he ſhall put it in order before the Lord continually; being from the Iſraelites, by a laſting Covenant.

9. And it ſhall be for Aaron, and his Sons, who ſhall eat it in the Holy Place; ſince it is very holy for him, of the Lord's Offerings by Fire, by a laſting Ordinance.

10. Now there went forth the Son of an Iſraelitiſh Woman, but of an Egyptian Man, among the Iſraelites, which Man and another of Iſrael contended in the Camp.

11. And the former blaſphemed the Divine Name, and curſed, whom they brought to Moſes; the Name of his Mother being Shelomith, the Daughter of Dibri, of the Tribe of Dan,

12. They alſo put him in Priſon, that it might be expounded to them according to the Lord's Command.

13. Who ſpoke to Moſes as follows:

14. Bring forth him who curſed without the Camp, and let all the Hearers lean their Hands upon his Head; and let the whole Aſſembly ſtone him.

15. Thou ſhalt likewiſe ſpeak thus to the Iſraelites; When any Man curſes his God, he ſhall bear his Sin.

16. And he who blaſphemes the Name of the Lord ſhall be quite put to death, all the Aſſembly ſhall throughly ſtone him: as well a Stranger as a Native, when he does it, ſhall be put to death.

17. When a Perſon too deſtroys the Life of any Man, he ſhall be quite put to death.

18. Nay he who deſtroys the Life of a Beaſt ſhall recompenſe it, Life for Life.

19. And when a Man makes a Blemiſh in his Neighbour; as he has done, ſo ſhall it be done to him:

20. Breaking ſhall be for Breaking, Eye for Eye, Tooth for Tooth; as he makes a Blemiſh in a Man, ſo ſhall there be made in him.

21. So he who kills a Beaſt, ſhall recompenſe it; and he who kills a Man, be put to death.

22. There ſhall be the ſame Judgment to you, as well for a Stranger as a Native ſhall it be: for I am the Lord your God.

23. And Moſes ſpoke to the Iſraelites, that they ſhould bring forth the Curſer without the Camp, and ſtone him with Stones; and they did as the Lord had commanded him.

CHAP. XXV.

BESIDES the Lord ordered Moſes at Mount Sinai,

2. That he ſhould ſpeak to the Iſraelites in this manner: When you are come to the Country which I give you, it ſhall keep a Sabbath to the Lord.

Ver. 7. by Fire] the Frankincenſe being afterwards burnt.

Ver. 9. it ſhall be] the old Bread that was taken away.

Ver. 18. Life for Life] a live one in the room of that which is killed; the Heb. Words being the ſame as ſo rendered juſt before, and never ſignifying Beaſt: thus Pagnine and the beſt Latin Tranſlators turn it animam pro anima.

Ver. 1. at] or by, where the Iſraelites then were, not in, as Expoſitors obſerve.

3. Six Years ſhalt thou ſow thy Field, and ſo long prune thy Vineyard: and gather the Crop of it.

4. But on the ſeventh Year there ſhall be a Sabbath of Reſt for the Country, a Sabbath to the Lord: thou ſhalt neither ſow thy Field, nor prune thy Vineyard.

5. Thou ſhalt not reap that which grows of it ſelf of thy Harveſt, nor gather in thy ſeparated Grapes: it ſhall be a Year of Reſt for the Country.

6. And there ſhall be that of the Sabbath of the Country for you to eat, namely thee, thy Servant-man, Maid, hired one, and thoſe who ſojourn with thee:

7. Nay for thy Cattle, and the Beaſt which is in thy Country, ſhall all the Crop of it be to eat.

8. Thou ſhalt alſo count thee ſeven Sabbaths of Years, ſeven times ſeven, which Time will be to thee nine and forty Years.

9. Then ſhalt thou cauſe a Trumpet to ſound, on the tenth of the ſeventh Month, on the Day of Atonements, even throughout all your Country.

10. And you ſhall conſecrate the fiftieth Year, proclaiming Liberty in the Country to all the Inhabitants of it: which ſhall be the Jubile to you, when you ſhall return each one to his Poſſeſſion, as you ſhall to your reſpective Families.

11. That fiftieth Year being the Jubile to you; ye ſhall neither ſow, nor reap the Things of it which grow of themſelves, nor gather in its ſeparated Grapes.

12. For being the Jubile, it ſhall be holy to you: ye ſhall eat the Crop of it out of the Field;

13. Returning in the Year of this Jubile to your ſeveral Poſſeſſions.

14. And when thou ſelleſt a Bargain to thy Neighbour, or buyeſt of him, you ſhall not wrong one another.

15. By the Number of Years after the Jubile, ſhalt thou buy of thy Neighbour: by the Number of Years of the Fruits, ſhall he ſell to thee.

16. According to the Multitude of the Years ſhalt thou increaſe the Purchaſe of it, and according to the Fewneſs of them leſſen it: for by the Number of the Fruits he ſells to thee.

17. So you ſhall not wrong any one his Neighbour, but thou ſhalt fear thy God: for I am the Lord your God.

18. Thus ſhall you do my Ordinances, obſerve my Rules, and do them; then ſhall you dwell in the Country ſecurely.

19. And it ſhall yield its Fruit, ſo that you ſhall eat to Fulneſs, as well as dwell ſecurely in it.

20. Even when you ſay, What ſhall we eat in the ſeventh Year? Behold we muſt not ſow, nor gather our Crop;

21. I will command my Bleſſing for you in the ſixth Year, and it ſhall yield Fruit for three Years.

22. And you ſhall ſow the eighth Year, and eat of the old Fruit; eating it until the ninth Year, till the Fruit of that comes.

23. Nor ſhall the Land be ſold to be cut off: for it is mine; and you are Strangers and Sojourners with me.

24. Therefore in all the Country of your Poſſeſſion, you ſhall grant a Redemption for the Land.

25. When thy Brother becomes poor, and ſells any of his Poſſeſſion; he that is to redeem, who is kin to him may come, and redeem what his Brother ſold.

26. As likewiſe when a Man has none to redeem, and he obtains what is ſufficient for the Redemption of it;

27. He ſhall count the Years of what he ſold, and reſtore that which is over to the Man to whom he ſold it; ſo ſhall he return to his Poſſeſſion.

28. But if he does not get ſufficient to reſtore to him, what he ſold ſhall be in the Cuſtody of him who bought it, till the Year of Jubile; and then it ſhall go out, and he ſhall return to his Poſſeſſion.

29. Again when a Man ſells a Dwelling-houſe in a walled City, the Redemption of Ver. 3. the Crop of it] viz. of each, by the Heb. Partition, and it not being fruit.

Ver. 4. to] as Ver. 2.

Ver. 5. ſeparated] as no more belonging then to the Owner of the Ground, than to another. It neither ſignifies undreſſed, nor is there any thing for vine in the Hebrew.

Ver. 6. that of the Sabbath] like thoſe of Jeruſalem, &c. as neceſſary.

Ib. to eat] as in the literal Verſion of Pagninus and Montanus, ad veſcendum, and in that of Jun. and Trem. ad comedendum.

Ver. 8. will be] for mind how ſhall be reads.

Ver. 9. ſound] not Jubile, which is quite another Word.

Ver. 10. fiftieth] The Uſe of the Sabbatical Years and Jubiles to us being in Chronology, that is referred to 1 Kings xii. 23.

Ver. 11. the Things] being plural as at Job xiv. 19. but there of it is left out.

Ver. 15. Years of the Fruits] The ſeventh Years being not ſuch, Ver. 3, 4. and ſo were not to be reckoned in the Sale.

Ver. 23. mine] which the Iſraelites were kept to the Senſe and Acknowledgment of, by not having Power to ſell their Land entirely. And as God gave or entailed it to their continued Generations, and that of each Tribe ſeparately, that the late as well as early Poſterity of the Patriarchs, to whom it was promiſed, might enjoy it, and thereby be incited to Gratitude and Obedience, this Prohibition was proper.

Ver. 27. what he ſold] Heb. his Sale; not the Sale of the Poſſeſſion, according to the com. Tranſ. which the Gender of the Pronoun diſproves.

it

it may be till the Year of what he ſold is compleated: in which Time it ſhall be.

30. And if it is not redeemed till an entire Year is fulfilled to it, the Houſe that is in a City which has a Wall, ſhall be confirmed to be cut off to him who bought it, for his Generations: it ſhall not go out in the Jubile.

31. But the Houſes of the Villages, to which there is no Wall round about, ſhall be reckoned with the Fields of the Country: there may be Redemption for them, elſe they ſhall go out in the Jubile.

32. Nevertheleſs to the Levites for their Cities, the Houſes of them which they poſſeſs, there may be a perpetual Redemption.

33. And whoever is of the Levites may redeem, elſe the Sale of the Houſe, and the City of his Poſſeſſion ſhall go out in the Jubile: for the Houſes of their Cities are their Poſſeſſion among the Iſraelites.

34. However the Fields of the Suburbs of their Cities ſhall not be ſold; for they ſhall be a perpetual Poſſeſſion to them.

35. And when thy Brother becomes poor, and cannot work with thee; thou ſhalt maintain him, whether a Stranger or a Sojourner, that he may live with thee.

36. Take not Uſury nor Intereſt of him, but fear thy God; that thy Brother may live with thee.

37. Thou ſhalt not give him thy Money on Uſury, nor give thy Food on Intereſt.

38. I am the Lord your God, who brought you out of the Country of Egypt; to give you the Country of Canaan, that I might be a God to you.

39. Moreover when thy Brother with thee becomes poor, and is ſold to thee, thou ſhalt not make him do the Service of a Slave.

40. Like a hired one, like a Sojourner ſhall he be with thee: he ſhall ſerve with thee till the Year of Jubile.

41. Then ſhall he go out from thee, and his Children with him; and ſhall return to his Family, as he ſhall to the Poſſeſſion of his Fathers.

42. For they are my Servants, whom I brought out of the Country of Egypt; they ſhall not be ſold with the Sale of a Slave.

43, Thou ſhalt not rule over him with Rigour, but fear thy God.

44. Both thy Men-ſlaves and Maids, whom thou ſhalt have, ſhall be of the Nations that are round about you, of them you ſhall buy ſuch.

45. And alſo any of the Children of thoſe who ſojourn with you may you buy, and of their Families which are with you, that they beget in your Country; and they ſhall be for a Poſſeſſion to you.

46. And you ſhall give them to be poſſeſſed by your Children after you, that they may inherit them for a Poſſeſſion, you ſhall make them ſerve for ever; but one over another, of your Brethren the Iſraelites, thou ſhalt not rule with Rigour.

47. When a Stranger too, or Sojourner with thee, gets, and thy Brother with him becomes poor, and is ſold to him, or the Stock of the Stranger's Family;

48. After he is ſold there may be a Redemption for him, by one of his Relations.

49. Either his Uncle, or Uncle's Son may redeem him, or ſome other of the Kindred by Blood of his own Family may do it; or he getting, may redeem himſelf.

50. And he ſhall reckon with him who bought him, from the Year of his being ſold to him, till that of Jubile: and the Money of his Sale ſhall be with him, according to the Number of the Years, as the Time of one hired.

51. If there be yet many Years, according to them ſhall he reſtore for a Redemption, out of the Money of his Purchaſe.

Ver. 29. Time] Heb. Days.

Ib. ſhall] not to be a Tautology.

Ver. 31. Houſes of the Villages] as neceſſarily belonging to the Land of Tillage and Paſture there, which was not in Cities.

Ib. elſe] not and, as is clear.

Ver. 33. whoever] that is not a near Kinſman as before, Ver. 25. ſtrangely tranſlated if a man, being the Heb. Relative.

Ib. redeem] widely rendered purchaſe, eſpecially after the like Words had been ſo often turned redeem, &c. juſt before, in the com. Tranſlation.

Ver. 35. cannot work] Heb. his Hand is removed, as if from working; not faileth, as in the Eng. Margin.

Ib. maintain him] Heb. hold him up.

Ver. 40. Jubile] I find little or nothing to the Purpoſe ſaid to conciliate this with Exod. xxi. 2. which has indeed its Difficulty: for how could Servants that were bought be releaſed the ſeventh Year, ſuppoſing it either the Sabbatical Year or the ſeventh Year of their Service, and yet not be freed till the fiftieth Year? Excepting only when the Jubile fell in thoſe ſeven Years, to which it is plain this was not reſtricted, Ver. 51. Patrick, on Ver. 54. makes a Diſtinction contradictory to this Place, that if the Maſter was not a Hebrew, he who was ſold to him muſt ſtay with him till the Jubile, and had not the benefit of the ſeventh Year of Releaſe, as Hebrew Servants had who ſerved Hebrew Maſters: whereas thy Brother, Ver. 39. ſhews that both the Maſter and Servant here ſpoken of were Hebrews, of whom it is ſaid, he ſhall ſerve with thee till the Year of Jubile. But the right Diſtinction may be thus; thoſe who were to be releaſed at the ſeventh Year, were ſuch as were ſold by others, as ſhewn on Exod. xxi. 2. and they who were to continue in Servitude till the Jubile, ſuch as ſold themſelves, by reaſon of Poverty, which is the Cauſe ſhewn in both Caſes here mentioned, Ver. 39, 47. And it looks juſt and equivalent, that the latter doing it voluntarily, ſhould ſerve longer than the others who were conſtrained.

Ver. 46. thou ſhalt] according to the frequent Change of the Heb. Verbs.

Ver. 49. Blood] For which the Heb. here uſes Fleſh, and ſometimes Bone with it.

52. And

52. And if there be a few Years left to that of Jubile, he ſhall reckon with him; reſtoring for his Redemption according to his Years.

53. He ſhall be with him as a hired one Year by Year; who ſhall not rule him with Rigour in thy Sight.

54. Now if he is not redeemed by theſe, yet he ſhall go out in the Year of Jubile, and his Children with him.

55. For the Iſraelites are Servants to me, my Servants are they whom I brought out of the Country of Egypt; who am the Lord your God.

CHAP. XXVI.

YOU ſhall not make you Idols, or a carved Image, raiſe you up a Statue, nor put a Figure of Stone in your Country, to bow down to it: for I am the Lord your God.

2. You ſhall obſerve my Sabbaths, and reverence my Sanctuary; who am the Lord.

3. If you will go in my Ordinances, obſerve my Commandments, and do them;

4. I will give you Showers in their Time; whereby the Land ſhall yield its Increaſe, and the Trees of the Field their Fruit.

5. And the Threſhing ſhall reach for you to the Vintage, as the Vintage ſhall to the Sowing; and you ſhall eat your Victuals to Fulneſs, dwelling ſecurely in your Country.

6. And I will give Peace there, inſomuch that you ſhall lie down, and none make afraid; I will alſo make ill Beaſts ceaſe from it, and the Sword ſhall not paſs through it.

7. Beſides you ſhall purſue your Enemies; and they ſhall fall before you by the Sword.

8. Even five of you ſhall purſue a hundred, as a hundred of you ſhall ten thouſand; ſo that your Enemies ſhall fall in that Manner.

9. I will further have regard to you, and make you fruitful, increaſing you; and will confirm my Covenant with you.

10. And you ſhall not only eat that which is become old, but bring out the old becauſe of the new.

11. Nay I will put my Tabernacle amongſt you, and my Soul ſhall not loath you.

12. And I will go about in the midſt of you, and be a God to you, as you ſhall a People to me.

13. I am the Lord your God who brought you out of the Country of Egypt, from being Slaves to them; when I broke the Beams of your Yoke, and made you go upright.

14. But if you will not hearken to me, nor do all theſe Commandments;

15. And if you reject my Ordinances, and your Souls loath my Rules, not to do all my Commandments, ſo that you break my Covenant;

16. I will do this to you, I will bring upon you the Viſitation of Trouble, the Conſumption and Fever, which ſhall conſume the Eyes, and make the Soul ſorrowful; and you ſhall ſow your Seed in vain, for your Enemies ſhall eat it.

17. And I will put my Face againſt you, ſo that you ſhall be beat before them; and thoſe who hate you ſhall rule over you, nay you ſhall flee, when none purſues you.

18. Moreover if yet for theſe Things you will not hearken to me, I will chaſtiſe you ſevenfold more for your Sins.

19. For I will break the Excellency of your Strength; making your Heaven as Iron, and your Earth as Braſs.

20. And your Might ſhall be conſumed in vain; ſince your Land ſhall not yield its Increaſe, nor the Trees of it their Fruit.

21. If you notwithſtanding go with me caſually, and will not hearken to me; I will add upon you Plagues ſevenfold according to your Sins.

22. For I will ſend wild Beaſts among you, which ſhall deprive you of your Children, deſtroy your Cattle, and leſſen you; and your Ways ſhall be deſolate.

23. Next if you will not be corrected to me by theſe Things, but will go with me caſually;

24. I will alſo go with you caſually,

Ver. 5. Threſhing] being in the Summer after their Harveſt, as on Chap. xxiii. 10.

Ver. 10. bring out the old] to make room for the new.

Ver. 12. in the midſt] according to the Heb. and alſo 2 Cor. vi. 16.

Ver. 13. upright] becauſe a Yoke made to bend down.

Ver. 16. upon you] 'cauſing the following Diſeaſes to 'ſeize upon them, as the Phraſe ſignifies,' Patrick's Anotation.

Ver. 21. caſually] from the Verb, its Root ſignifying to happen or fall out, but not to be contrary; which Trem. and Jun. render temerè, at hap hazard, or as Buxtorf expounds it utut accidat, juſt as it falls out. Thus the Word is expounded by Kimhi in the Book of Heb. Roots, and by Maimonides in Miſhn. taanioth, Ch. 1. 3. in More Nevoch. Pt. iii. Ch. 36. It is found only in this Chapter ſeven times. Munſter indeed in his Annotation here, pretends it has the Signification of occurſum, meeting, from that of the Verb to meet; on which Suppoſition, meeting would but faintly ſhew it was contrary. But as the Heb. Prepoſition is עם with, and neither את unto, nor על againſt, to walk or go with is the very oppoſite of meet, ſo that it cannot have that Meaning. Accidentally may be underſtood as contradiſtinct to conſtantly and deſignedly, to mean here their ſerving God only on ſome Occaſions, or precariouſly at their own Wills; ſee alſo Gell's Eſſay, p. 329, 330.

and will ſmite you too ſevenfold for your Sins.

25. For I will bring the Sword upon you, which ſhall execute the Vengeance of the Covenant, ſo that you ſhall be gathered into your Cities; then will I ſend the Peſtilence amongſt you, and you ſhall be delivered into the Power of the Enemy.

26. When I have broken the Staff of Bread to you, ten Women ſhall bake your Bread in one Oven, and reſtore it by Weight; thus you ſhall eat, and not be ſatisfied.

27. Laſtly if for this you will not hearken to me, but will go with me caſually;

28. I will go with you caſually in Wrath, and I will alſo chaſtiſe you ſevenfold for your Sins.

29. For you ſhall eat the Fleſh of your Sons, as you ſhall alſo that of your Daughters.

30. And I will deſtroy your Chappels, cut off your ſunny Images, and put your Carcaſes upon thoſe of your filthy Idols; nay my Soul ſhall loath you.

31. I will too make your Cities waſte, cauſe your Sanctuaries to be deſolate; and will not ſmell your pleaſant Smell.

32. The Country likewiſe will I make ſo deſolate, that your Enemies who dwell therein ſhall be aſtoniſhed at it.

33. And I will diſperſe you in the Nations, drawing forth a Sword after you; while your Country ſhall be Deſolation, and your Cities be Waſting.

34. Then ſhall the Country accept its Sabbaths all the Time it is deſolate, and you are in your Enemies Country; then will it reſt, accepting its Sabbaths.

35. All the Time it is deſolate it will reſt, which it did not do in your Sabbaths, when you dwelt upon it,

36. And thoſe who are left of you, I will alſo make ſo fainthearted in their Enemies Country, that the Sound of a driven Leaf purſuing them, they ſhall flee as with the Flight of a Sword, and fall when none purſues.

37. They ſhall even ſtumble one on another, as by reaſon of the Sword, when none purſues; and there ſhall be no riſing up for you before your Enemies.

38. Thus ſhall you periſh in the Nations, and your Enemies Country ſhall devour you.

39. And thoſe who are left of you ſhall waſte away in their Iniquity in your Enemies Countries, as they ſhall alſo in the Iniquities of their Fathers with them.

40. However ſhould they confeſs their Iniquity and that of their Fathers, by their falſe Dealing wherein they have dealt falſely with me, and alſo wherein they have gone with me caſually;

41. (Whereupon I went with them caſually, and brought them into their Enemies Country) their uncircumciſed Hearts being either then humbled, or they then accepting the Puniſhment of their Iniquity;

42. I will remember my Covenant with Jacob, and alſo my Covenant with Iſaac, and likewiſe that with Abraham will I remember, as I will the Country.

43. When the Country is forſaken by them, and accepts its Sabbaths, while it is deſolate from them, and they accept the Puniſhment of their Iniquity, foraſmuch as they have rejected my Rules, and their Souls loathed my Ordinances;

44. Even for this too, when they are in their Enemies Country, I will not reject them, nor loath them, to conſume them, to break my Covenant with them: for I am the Lord their God.

45. But I will remember for them the Covenant of the former ones, whom I brought out of the Country of Egypt in the Sight of the Nations, that I the Lord might be a God to them.

46. Theſe are the Ordinances, Rules and Laws, which the Lord made between himſelf and the Iſraelites, at Mount Sinai by the Miniſtry of Moſes.

It may be obſerved that the Iſraelites are here ſpoken of as in Captivity, and not returned, Ver. 33, 34, 36, 38, 39. Though ſome underſtand this for another and the Jews preſent Diſperſion, it does not appear according to the Words; becauſe there is no Mention of a Return between, and as the Jews kept their Sabbatical Years after the Babylonian Tranſmigration, as may be ſeen by Joſephus, a Retribution on that Account was unneceſſary, and ſhews this is partly a Repetition of what was ſaid before, to terminate with the Chaldean Captivity; beſides they ſhall accept is incoherent not only with Ver. 41. but with the Senſe requiſite here, as this accepting is the only Condition on their Part, to obtain Favour.

Ver. 45. for them] 'The Meaning cannot be, ſays 'Patrick, that God would be ſo gracious for their ſakes, 'who were ſo very wicked; but as the Words in the 'Hebrew are, he would for them, i. e. for their good and 'advantage, remember the Covenant, &c.' Poole to the ſame Purpoſe.

CHAP. XXVII.

AND the Lord bade Moſes,

2. Speak to the Iſraelites, and ſay to them: When a Man puts apart with a Vow; by thy Eſtimation of the Perſons, there ſhall be for the Lord.

3. And thy Eſtimation of a Male, which ſhall be from his twentieth to his ſixtieth Year, ſhall be fifty Shekels of Silver, by the holy Shekel.

4. And if it is a Female, thy Eſtimation ſhall be thirty Shekels.

5. Moreover if it be from its fifth to its twentieth Year, thy Eſtimation of a Male ſhall be twenty Shekels, and for a Female ten.

6. And if he is from a Month to his fifth Year, thy Eſtimation of a Male ſhall be five Shekels of Silver; as it ſhall for a Female three.

7. On the other hand if he is from his ſixtieth Year upward, if a Male, thy Eſtimation ſhall be fifteen Shekels, and for a Female ten.

8. But if he is poorer than thy Eſtimation, he ſhall preſent himſelf before the Prieſt, who ſhall value him; doing it according to what he who vowed can obtain.

9. And if it is a Beaſt ſome of which they bring for an Oblation to the Lord, all that any one gives of it to him ſhall be holy.

10. He ſhall neither alter, nor change it, a good for a bad, or a bad for a good; and if he does at all change Beaſt for Beaſt, that and the Exchange of it ſhall both be holy.

11. If it is alſo any unclean Beaſt of which they do not bring an Oblation to the Lord, he ſhall cauſe the Beaſt to ſtand before the Prieſt.

12. Who ſhall value it between good and bad: according to thy Eſtimation, O Prieſt, ſo ſhall it be.

13. But if he will at all redeem it, he ſhall add the fifth Part of it to thy Eſtimation.

14. And when a Man conſecrates his Houſe to be holy to the Lord, the Prieſt ſhall value it between good and bad: according as he values it, ſo ſhall it ſtand.

15. Afterwards if he who has conſecrated will redeem his Houſe, he ſhall add the fifth Part of the Money of thy Eſtimation to it, and it ſhall be his.

16. And if a Man conſecrates ſome of the Land of his Inheritance to the Lord, thy Eſtimation ſhall be according to the Seed of it, that of a Homer of Barley Seed at fifty Shekels of Silver.

17. If he conſecrates his Land from the Year of Jubile, it ſhall ſtand according to thy Eſtimation.

18. But if he conſecrate it after the Jubile, the Prieſt ſhall reckon the Silver for him, according to the Years which are left till that of Jubile; and it ſhall be abated from thy Eſtimation.

19. And if he at all redeem the Land who has conſecrated it, he ſhall add the fifth Part of the Silver of thy Eſtimation to it, and it ſhall be confirmed to him.

20. Whereas if he will not redeem the Land, and if it is then ſold to another Man, it ſhall not be redeemed any more.

21. So that when the Land goes out in the Jubile, it ſhall be holy to the Lord, as devoted Land; the Prieſt ſhall have the Poſſeſſion of it.

Ver. 2. puts apart] Buxtorf and Montan. have it ſeparaverit, as Munſter has ſegregaverit, ſhall ſeparate; which latter are likewiſe the Words of Ainſworth's Eng. Verſion; the Verb ſignifying to ſeparate, or put apart.

Ib. thy Eſtimation of the Perſons] which not only by the Heb. Accents of a Servant and his King (as they are called) belong to one another, and according to the Remark made by Croſs, in Taghm. p. 105. Perſons and Lord are disjoyned; but the Perſon was not to be for the Lord, as ſaid in the com. Eng. but as much as he was valued at, according to the following Verſes.

Ver. 11. they bring an Oblation] The ſame as in Ver. 9.

Ver. 12. between good and bad] that is at a middling Price; and what Senſe does whether it be good or bad convey, when a Perſon vowed to give a Beaſt? And who ever vowed to give a bad one?

Ver. 16. Homer] Our two famous and popular Commentators, Poole and Patrick, both count this Meaſure for the ſame as that mentioned in Exod. xvi. 36. which is an Omer (the Heb. Letters being different) the tenth Part of an Ephah, as there ſaid; whereas this Homer was ten Ephahs, Ezek. xlv. 11. and conſequently as much as a hundred Omers. According to which Reckoning of theirs, the latter ſays it was about a Pottle of our Meaſure, when on Exod. xvi. 36. though he here refers to it, he had ſaid it was near three Quarts; Poole ſays it is not above a Pottle of our Meaſure: however by the Biſhop of Peterborough's Computation in the Index of the great Bible, which has been thought the moſt correct, an Omer contained ſomething more than three Quarts, and a Homer above 9 Buſh. 3 Gall. and 5 Pints. Nevertheleſs I agree with them that the Conſecration Money here named was not to be paid yearly, but once like the reſt, the fifty Shekels being the whole Eſtimation from one Jubile to another, Ver. 17. as Land was then cheap, and the Eſtimation moderate; from which there was Abatement if the Years were fewer, Ver. 18. So Maimonides ſays, The Eſtimation of every Place, whether beſt or worſt, that is fit to have a Homer of Barley ſowed on it, is 50 Shekels for all the Years of the Jubile, in Erachin, Ch. 4. 2. Now the Heb. Maneh or Mina of ſixty Shekels being in Value a little above ſeven Pounds, or as Prideaux has it in the Pref. of his Connection nine Pounds; according to the firſt fifty Shekels were worth about ſix Pounds, by the latter $7\frac{1}{2}$, and a Homer of Seed might ſow about $2\frac{1}{2}$ Acres; which is 3*l.* or leſs for an Acre.

Ver. 20. is then ſold] According to the Senſe, as Expoſitors obſerve, and the Conjunction may well ſignify and then. It is not likely the Prieſts might ſell it without the Refuſal before, as or denotes.

22. If

22. If Land too of his Purchaſe, which is not that of his Inheritance, he ſhould conſecrate to the Lord;

23. The Prieſt ſhall reckon for him the Sum of thy Eſtimation till the Year of Jubile; and he ſhall give thy Eſtimation on that Day, to be holy to the Lord.

24. In the Year of Jubile ſhall the Land return to him of whom it was bought, who had the Poſſeſſion of the Ground.

25. And all thy Eſtimation ſhall be by the holy Shekel; that being twenty Gerahs.

26. Only a Firſtling of a Beaſt, which being firſt brought forth to the Lord is his, a Man ſhall not conſecrate, whether it be Bullock or Lamb.

27. But if it is of an unclean Beaſt, he ſhall ranſom by thy Eſtimation, and add its fifth Part to it; and if it is not redeemed, it ſhall be ſold by thy Eſtimation.

28. Only all that is devoted by a Man to the Lord, of whatever he has, of Man, Beaſt, or Land of his Poſſeſſion, ſhall not be ſold, nor redeemed: it is all very holy to the Lord.

29. No devoted Thing which is devoted by Men, ſhall be ranſomed; it ſhall be quite put to death.

30. And all the Tenth of the Ground, that of its Seed, that of the Fruit of the Trees, ſhall be the Lord's; to whom it is holy.

31. However if a Man will at all redeem any of his Tenth, he ſhall add its fifth Part to it.

32. All the Tenth likewiſe of the Herd and Flock, all that paſſes under the Rod, ſhall be a Tenth holy to the Lord.

33. He ſhall not enquire between good and bad, nor change it: for if he at all change it, that and the Exchange of it ſhall be holy, it ſhall not be redeemed.

34. Theſe are the Commandments which the Lord gave Moſes in command for the Iſraelites, at Mount Sinai.

Ver. 26. not conſecrate] by Vow as in this Chap. becauſe it was the Lord's already.

Ver. 27. is of] If it be the Firſtling of an unclean Beaſt that is conſecrated by Vow, then, &c. ſee Exod. xiii. 13. which ſo does well conſiſt with this.

Ib. ranſom] another Verb here, and in Ver. 29. than that uſed elſewhere for it.

Ver. 28. devoted] which being confirmed with a Curſe, could not be bought off like a ſimple Vow before.

Ib. be ſold] Vulg. Lat. veniet, come; which ſeems to be ſome Blunder from vendetur, with its Termination contracted, as in the Manuſcripts.

Ver. 29. Thing] The three Kinds of Things that might be devoted to the Lord being named in the foregoing Verſe, and all declared to be very holy, there is here a farther particular Direction given for one of the Sorts, which did not belong to the others; hitherto Interpreters ſeem agreed. It is ſo ſhocking that a Man might devote his Child or Servant to death, that few underſtand it in ſuch a Manner, but ſeveral expound it of the Canaanites or Criminals: whereas if thoſe, eſpecially the former as Num. ii. 2. might be devoted, it was not to the Lord, to be holy as in the laſt Verſe, but to Deſtruction; which Diſtinction ſhould have been conſidered. It remains therefore that a Beaſt was here intended, as Jun. and Trem. tranſlate, omnis beſtia, every Beaſt.

Ib. by Men] it following a Verb paſſive here, which was active in the Verſe before.

NOTES

NOTES upon the BOOK called NUMBERS.

CHAP. I.

AND the Lord ſpoke to Moſes in the Wilderneſs of Sinai, in the publick Tent, on the firſt of the ſecond Month, in the ſecond Year of their coming out of the Country of Egypt, as follows:

2. Take you the Sum of the whole Aſſembly of the Iſraelites, after their Families, throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers, by the Number of the Names, even of all the Males after their Reckoning,

3. From their twentieth Year upward, being all who are to go out to War of Iſrael; thoſe ſhall thou and Aaron number, throughout their Armies.

4. With whom there ſhall be a Man of every Tribe, each one the Head of his Father's Houſhold.

5. And the Names of the Men who ſhall ſtand with you are theſe: of Reuben, Elizur the Son of Shedeur;

6. Of Simeon, Shelumiel the Son of Zuriſhaddai;

7. Of Judah, Nahſhon the Son of Amminadab;

8. Of Iſſachar, Nethaneel the Son of Zuar;

9. Of Zebulun, Eliab the Son of Helon;

10. Of the Sons of Joſeph: of Ephraim, Eliſhama the Son of Ammihud; of Manaſſeh, Gamaliel ths Son of Pedahzur;

11. Of Benjamin, Abidan the Son of Gideoni;

12. Of Dan, Ahiezer the Son of Ammiſhaddai;

13. Of Aſher, Pagiel the Son of Ocran;

14. Of Gad, Eliaſaph the Son of Deuel;

15. Of Naphtali, Ahira the Son of Enan.

16. Theſe were they who were called of the Aſſembly, being Princes of the Tribes of their Fathers, Heads of the Thouſands of Iſrael.

17. Now Moſes and Aaron having taken theſe Men, who were expreſsly named as above;

18. They gathered together all the Aſſembly on the firſt of the ſecond Month, who ſhewed their Genealogy according to their Families, throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers, by the Number of the Names, from their twentieth Year upward, after their Reckoning.

19. In the Wilderneſs of Sinai did Moſes number them, as the Lord commanded him.

20. And the Poſterity of Reuben the Firſtborn of Iſrael, their Generations after their Families, throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers, by the Number of the Names after their Reckoning, even all the Males from their twentieth Year upward, being all that were to go out to War;

21. Who were numbered of that Tribe, were forty ſix thouſand and five hundred.

22. The Poſterity of Simeon, their Generations after their Families, throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers, that were counted by the Number of the Names after their Reckoning, even all the Males from their twentieth Year upward, being all that were to go out to War;

23. Who were numbered of that Tribe, were fifty nine thouſand and three hundred.

24. The Poſterity of Gad, their Generations after their Families, throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers, by the Number of the Names, from their twentieth Year upward, being all that were to go out to War;

25. Who were numbered of that Tribe, were forty five thouſand ſix hundred and fifty.

26. The Poſterity of Judah, their Generations after their Families, throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers, by the Number of the Names, from their twentieth Year upward, being all that were to go out to War;

27. Who were numbered of that Tribe, were ſeventy four thouſand and ſix hundred.

28. The Poſterity of Iſſachar, their Generations after their Families, throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers, by the Number of the Names, from their twentieth Year upward, being all that were to go out to War;

29. Who were numbered of that Tribe, were fifty four thouſand and four hundred.

Ver. 2. by] The Eng. Tranſlation has ב here with, and Ver. 18, 20, &c. according to, neither of which it ſignifies.

Ver. 16. called] ſo the Word undeniably means.

30. The

30. The Poſterity of Zebulun, their Generations after their Families, throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers, by the Number of the Names, from their twentieth Year upward, being all that were to go out to War;

31. Who were numbered of that Tribe, were fifty ſeven thouſand and four hundred.

32. Of the Sons of Joſeph: the Poſterity of Ephraim, their Generations after their Families, throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers, by the Number of the Names, from their twentieth Year upward, being all that were to go out to War;

33. Who were numbered of that Tribe, were forty thouſand and five hundred.

34. The Poſterity of Manaſſeh, their Generations after their Families, throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers, by the Number of the Names, from their twentieth Year upward, being all that were to go out to War;

35. Who were numbered of that Tribe, were thirty two thouſand and two hundred.

36. The Poſterity of Benjamin, their Generations after their Families, throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers, by the Number of the Names, from their twentieth Year upward, being all that were to go out to War;

37. Who were numbered of that Tribe, were thirty five thouſand and four hundred.

38. The Poſterity of Dan, their Generations after their Families, throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers, by the Number of the Names, from their twentieth Year upward, being all that were to go out to War;

39. Who were numbered of that Tribe, were ſixty two thouſand and ſeven hundred.

40. The Poſterity of Aſher, their Generations after their Families, throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers, by the Number of the Names, from their twentieth Year upward, being all that were to go out to War;

41. Who were numbered of that Tribe, were forty one thouſand and five hundred.

42. The Poſterity of Naphtali, their Generations after their Families, throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers, by the Number of the Names, from their twentieth Year upward, being all that were to go out to War;

43. Who were numbered of that Tribe, were fifty three thouſand and four hundred.

44. Theſe are the Numbers of them whom Moſes, and Aaron, numbered, with the Princes of Iſrael, being twelve Men, each one for the Houſhold of his Fathers.

45. Thus all the Iſraelites that were numbered, throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers, from their twentieth Year upward, being all that were to go out to War of Iſrael,

46. Even the whole Number, were ſix hundred and three thouſand, five hundred and fifty.

47. But the Levites, after the Tribe of their Fathers, were not numbered amongſt them.

48. For the Lord had ſaid thus to Moſes:

49. However thou ſhalt not number the Tribe of Levi, nor take the Sum of them, among the Iſraelites.

50. But thou ſhalt ſet the Levites over the Tabernacle of the Teſtimony, over all the Inſtruments of it, and all that belongs to it; which they ſhall carry, with all its Furniture, miniſter to it, and encamp round about it.

51. And when the Tabernacle is to go on, they ſhall take it down, as likewiſe when it is to be pitched, they ſhall ſet it up; and the Stranger who goes near ſhall be put to death.

52. Let the Iſraelites alſo encamp, each in his own Camp, and at his Standard, throughout their Armies.

53. But let the Levites encamp round about the Tabernacle of the Teſtimony, and take care of the Buſineſs of it, that there may not be Wrath upon the Aſſembly of the Iſraelites.

54. And the Iſraelites did entirely according as the Lord commanded Moſes.

CHAP. II.

THE Lord ſpoke further to Moſes, and Aaron thus:

2. Let the Iſraelites encamp, doing it each at his Standard, with Enſigns according to the Houſhold of their Fathers, at a diſtance round about the publick Tent.

3. And thoſe of the Standard of the Camp of Judah, throughout their Armies, ſhall encamp eaſtward towards the Sun-riſing; and the Prince of his Poſterity ſhall be Nahſhon the Son of Amminadab:

Ver. 46. ſix] the ſame Number that was counted a little while before, Exod. xxxviii. 26.

Ver. 2. at a diſtance] perhaps that mentioned Joſh. iii. 4.

Ver. 3. Prince] by the Heb. Word, and as in Ch. vii. otherwiſe Colonel, as the higheſt of the particular Officers in an Army, and over the Captains, might be moſt ſuitable to this Station.

4. His Army, namely thoſe who are numbered of them, being ſeventy four thouſand and ſix hundred.

5. By him ſhall alſo encamp the Tribe of Iſſachar, the Prince of whoſe Poſterity ſhall be Nethaneel the Son of Zuar:

6. His Army, namely thoſe who are numbered of it, being fifty four thouſand and four hundred.

7. Then the Tribe of Zebulun, the Prince of whoſe Poſterity ſhall be Eliab the Son of Helon:

8. His Army, namely thoſe who are numbered of it, being fifty ſeven thouſand and four hundred.

9. All that are numbered for the Camp of Judah, being a hundred eighty ſix thouſand and four hundred, throughout their Armies; who ſhall march firſt.

10. They of the Standard of the Camp of Reuben ſhall be ſouthward, after their Armies; and the Prince of his Poſterity ſhall be Elizur the Son of Shedeur:

11. His Army, namely thoſe who are numbered of it, being forty ſix thouſand and five hundred.

12. By him likewiſe ſhall encamp the Tribe of Simeon, the Prince of whoſe Poſterity ſhall be Shelumiel the Son of Zuriſhaddai:

13. His Army, namely thoſe who are numbered of them, being fifty nine thouſand and three hundred.

14. Next the Tribe of Gad, the Prince of whoſe Poſterity ſhall be Eliaſaph the Son of Reuel:

15. His Army, namely thoſe who are numbered of them, being forty five thouſand ſix hundred and fifty.

16. All that are numbered for the Camp of Reuben, being a hundred fifty one thouſand four hundred and fifty, throughout their Armies; who ſhall march ſecond.

17. And the publick Tent ſhall go on with the Camp of the Levites, in the midſt of the other Camps: as they encamp, ſo ſhall they march, each at his Side, according to their Standards.

18. They of the Standard of the Camp of Ephraim, throughout their Armies, ſhall be weſtward; and the Prince of his Poſterity ſhall be Eliſhama the Son of Ammihud:

19. His Army, namely thoſe who are numbered of them, being forty thouſand and five hundred.

20. By him too ſhall be the Tribe of Manaſſeh, the Prince of whoſe Poſterity ſhall be Gamaliel the Son of Pedahzur;

21. His Army, namely thoſe who are numbered of them, being thirty two thouſand and two hundred.

22. Moreover the Tribe of Benjamin, the Prince of whoſe Poſterity ſhall be Abidan the Son of Gideoni:

23. His Army, namely thoſe who are numbered of them, being thirty five thouſand and four hundred.

24. All that are numbered for the Camp of Ephraim, being a hundred and eight thouſand and a hundred, throughout their Armies; who ſhall march third.

25. They of the Standard of the Camp of Dan ſhall be northward, throughout their Armies; and the Prince of his Poſterity ſhall be Ahiezer the Son of Ammiſhaddai:

26. His Army, namely thoſe who are numbered of them, being ſixty two thouſand and ſeven hundred.

27. By him further ſhall encamp the Tribe of Aſher, the Prince of whoſe Poſterity ſhall be Pagiel the Son of Ocran:

28. His Army, namely thoſe who are numbered of them, being forty one thouſand and five hundred.

29. Laſtly the Tribe of Naphtali, the Prince of whoſe Poſterity ſhall be Ahira the Son of Enan:

30. His Army, namely thoſe who are numbered of them, being fifty three thouſand and four hundred.

31. All that are numbered for the Camp of Dan, being a hundred fifty ſeven thouſand and ſix hundred; who ſhall march hindermoſt, according to their Standards.

32. Theſe are the Numbers of the Iſraelites, after the Houſhold of their Fathers; all that were numbered of the Camps, throughout their Armies, being ſix hundred and three thouſand five hundred and fifty.

33. But the Levites were not numbered amongſt them, as the Lord commanded Moſes.

34. And the Iſraelites did entirely as the Lord commanded him, encamping thus after their Standards, and marching thus each after their Families, according to the Houſhold of their Fathers.

CHAP.

CHAP. III.

NOW theſe were the Generations of Aaron and Moſes, at the Time that the Lord ſpoke to the latter on Mount Sinai.

2. The Names of Aaron's Sons were, Nadab the Firſt-born, with Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar.

3. They were the anointed Prieſts; whoſe Hands he filled to execute the Prieſthood.

4. But Nadab and Abihu died before the Lord, when they offered ſtrange Fire before him in the Wilderneſs of Sinai, having no Sons; ſo Eleazar and Ithamar executed the Prieſthood in the Preſence of Aaron their Father.

5. And the Lord ſpoke to Moſes as follows:

6. Bring the Tribe of Levi near, and cauſe them to ſtand before Aaron the Prieſt, that they may miniſter to him.

7. For they ſhall take care of his Buſineſs, and that of the whole Aſſembly, before the publick Tent, in doing the Service of the Tabernacle;

8. As they ſhall alſo of all the Inſtruments of the publick Tent, as well as the Buſineſs of the Iſraelites, in doing that Service.

9. Thus ſhalt thou give the Levites to Aaron and his Sons, and that wholly from the Iſraelites.

10. And thou ſhalt appoint him and his Sons to take care of the Prieſthood; and let the Stranger who goes near be put to death.

11. The Lord ſpoke further to Moſes thus;

12. Behold even I take the Levites from among the Iſraelites, inſtead of all their Firſt-born who open the Womb; therefore they are mine.

13. For on the Day I ſlew all the Firſt-born in the Country of Egypt, I conſecrated all thoſe in Iſrael to my ſelf, both of Man and Beaſt; ſo they became mine, who am the Lord.

14. Beſides the Lord ſaid this to him in the Wilderneſs of Sinai,

15. Number the Poſterity of Levi, throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers, after their Families; which thou ſhalt every Male of them from his Month upward.

16. Who numbered them as he was commanded by the Lord.

17. And the Sons of Levi were theſe by their Names, Gerſhon, Kohath and Merari.

18. Moreover the Names of the Sons of Gerſhon, after their Families, were Libni and Shimei;

19. The Sons alſo of Kohath, after their Families, Amram and Izhar, Hebron and Uzziel;

20. And the Sons of Merari, after theirs, Mahli and Muſhi: theſe were the Families of the Levites, throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers.

21. Of Gerſhon were the Family of the Libnites, and that of the Shimeites; theſe were the Families of the Gerſhonites.

22. Of whom were numbered, in the Number of all the Males from their Month upward, ſeven thouſand and five hundred.

23. Thoſe Families encamped behind the Tabernacle weſtward.

24. And the Prince of the Houſhold of the Father of the Gerſhonites, was Eliaſaph the Son of Lael.

25. Now the Charge of the Sons of Gerſhon at the publick Tent, was the Tabernacle, the Tent, its Covering, the Hanging of the Door of the publick Tent,

26. The Tapeſtry of the Court, and the Hanging of the Court-door, which was by the Tabernacle, and by the Altar round about, with the Cords of it, for all its Service.

27. Of Kohath likewiſe were the Family of the Amramites, with thoſe of the Izharites, Hebronites and Uzzielites; theſe were the Families of the Kohathites.

28. In the Number of all whoſe Males from their Month upward, were eight thouſand and ſix hundred, who looked after the Affairs of the Holy Place.

29. Thoſe Families encamped at the Side of the Tabernacle ſouthward.

30. And the Prince of the Houſhold of the Father of the Families of the Kohathites, was Elizaphan the Son of Uzziel.

31. Their Charge too was the Ark, Table, Candleſtick, Altars, and the Inſtruments of the Holy Place with which they miniſtred, as alſo the Curtain, and all the Service of it.

33. Of Merari were the Family of the Mahlites, and that of the Muſhites; theſe were the Families of the Merarites.

34. And of them were numbered, in the Number of all the Males from their Month upward, ſix thouſand and two hundred.

35. Next the Prince of the Houſhold of the Father of the Families of the Merarites, was Zuriel the Son of Abihail: they encamped at the Side of the Tabernacle northward.

36. And the Office of the Charge of Merari's Sons, was the Boards of the Tabernacle, its Bars, Pillars, Sockets, and all its Inſtruments, with all the Service of it,

37. As alſo the Pillars of the Court round about, with their Sockets, Pins and Cords.

38. And Moſes, with Aaron and his Sons, encamped before the Tabernacle eaſtward, at the Front of the publick Tent towards the Sun-riſing, looking after the Affairs of the Sanctuary in the Iſraelites Buſineſs; and the Stranger who went near was to be put to death.

39. All the Males that were numbered of the Levites, from their Month upward, by Moſes and Aaron at the Command of the Lord, after their Families, were twenty two thouſand.

40. The Lord likewiſe ſaid to Moſes; Number all the firſt-born Males of the Iſraelites, from their Month upward, by taking the Number of their Names;

41. Inſtead of whom thou ſhalt receive the Levites for me the Lord, and the Beaſts of the Levites inſtead of all the Firſtlings among the Beaſts of the Iſraelites.

42. And Moſes numbered, as the Lord commanded him, all the Firſt-born among the Iſraelites.

43. Of which Males were numbered, in the Number of the Names, from their Month upward, twenty two thouſand two hundred and ſeventy three.

44. Then the Lord ſpoke to Moſes as follows;

45. Take the Levites inſtead of all the Firſt-born among the Iſraelites, and the Beaſts of the Levites inſtead of their Beaſts; that the Levites may be mine, who am the Lord.

46. And for the Redemption of the two hundred and ſeventy three, who are over and above the Levites, of the Firſt-born of the Iſraelites,

47. Thou ſhalt take five Shekels apiece for a Head, by the holy Shekel which is twenty Gerahs.

48. And thou ſhalt give Aaron and his Sons, the Silver of the Redemption of thoſe, who are over and above of them.

49. Accordingly Moſes received it from them, who were over and above the Redemption of the Levites:

50. From the Firſt-born of the Iſraelites he received a thouſand three hundred and ſixty five Shekels of Silver, by the holy Shekel.

51. Which Money of Redemption he gave to Aaron and his Sons, at the Command of the Lord, as he ordered him.

CHAP. IV.

BESIDES the Lord ſaid thus to Moſes, and Aaron:

2. Take the Sum of the Kohathites from among the Levites, after their Families, throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers;

3. From their thirtieth Year upward to their fiftieth Year, being all who are to enter into the Buſineſs, to do the Work in the publick Tent.

4. The following ſhall be the Service of the Kohathites in the publick Tent, about the very holy Things:

5. Firſt Aaron and his Sons ſhall come

Ver. 32. was Eleazar] as the ſecond Prieſt, 2 Kings xxv. 18.

Ver. 34. two hundred] For this the Sept. has fifty.

Ver. 38. towards the Sun-riſing] as Chap. ii. 3.

Ver. 39. thouſand] The 300 more that the Numbers of the Levites amounted to, Ver. 22, 28, 34. are ſuppoſed to be their Firſt-born, who being the Lord's already, Ver. 13. were not to be taken for the Firſt-born of the other Iſraelites, Ver. 41, 45.

Ver. 40. all the firſt-born] who were born ſince the Lord conſecrated them to be his, Ver. 13. Exod. xiii. 2. which may account for the Smallneſs of the Number, Ver. 43. for 600000, Exod. xii. 37. being divided by 22273, produces about 27; which Number of Men may well be ſuppoſed among that fruitful People, to have one Son born in above a Year, Ch. i. 1. and their Redemption at five Shekels apiece, Ver. 47. ſhews they were Children, Lev. xxvii. 6.

Ver. 41. Beaſts] which probably were not counted one for one as the Perſons, but altogether whether more or fewer.

Ver. 48. the Silver] It does not appear by the com. Tranſ. whether it was Silver or Gold, the Shekels of which being the ſame Weight, would be vaſtly different in Value.

Ver. 3. thirtieth Year] when they were to begin doing the Service that follows, but were to enter into their Office five Years ſooner, to do ſome Buſineſs, as well as learn this, Chap. viii. 24. ſee Gell's Eſſay, p. 431.

Ib. Buſineſs] The ſame Word as in Ver. 23, 30, 35, 39.

when

when the Camp is to go on, and taking down the covering Veil, cover the Ark of the Teſtimony with it.

6. Next they ſhall put upon it a Covering of Badgers Skin, ſpreading a Cloth all blue above, and place its Poles.

7. Moreover they ſhall ſpread a blue Cloth upon the Preſence-table, and put upon it the Plates, Spoons, Cups, and the Covers for covering; the continual Bread ſhall alſo be on it.

8. And they ſhall ſpread upon them a Cloth of ſcarlet Thread, ſhall cover it with a Covering of Badgers Skin, and place the Poles of it.

9. They ſhall likewiſe take a blue Cloth, and cover the Candleſtick for the Light, as alſo its Lamps, Tongs, Snuff-diſhes, and all the Veſſels for its Oil, with which they miniſter to it.

10. And they ſhall put it, with all its Veſſels, into a Covering of Badgers Skin, and put it upon a Leaver.

11. Upon the Altar of Gold too ſhall they ſpread a blue Cloth, and cover it with a Covering of Badgers Skin, placing its Poles.

12. And they ſhall take all the Inſtruments of miniſtring, that they miniſter with in the Holy Place, and put into a blue Cloth; then ſhall they cover them with a Covering of Badgers Skin, and put it upon a Leaver.

13. They ſhall further take away the Aſhes of the Altar, and ſpread upon it a purple Cloth.

14. As they ſhall alſo put on it all its Inſtruments, with which they miniſter at it, the Cenſers, Forks, Shovels, and Bowls, all the Inſtruments of the Altar; and ſhall ſpread upon it a Covering of Badgers Skin, and place the Poles of it.

15. And when Aaron and his Sons have made an end of covering the Holy Place, with all the Inſtruments of it, when the Camp is to go on, after that the Kohathites ſhall come to carry the ſame; but they muſt not touch a holy Thing, leſt they ſhould die. Theſe Things ſhall be the Burden of the Kohathites at the publick Tent.

16. And the Office of Eleazar the Son of Aaron the Prieſt, ſhall be about the Oil for the Light, the Incenſe of Odours, the continual Meat-offering, and Oil for anointing; the Office of the whole Tabernacle, and all that is in it, both in the Holy Place, and the Veſſels of it.

17. The Lord alſo ſaid to Moſes, and Aaron as follows;

18. You ſhall not cut off the Tribe of the Families of the Kohathites, from among the Levites.

19. Therefore you ſhall do this for them, that they may live, and not die, when they go near to the very holy Things; let Aaron and his Sons come, and put them each Man upon his Service, and to his Burden.

20. And let them not go in to ſee when a holy Thing is covered, leſt they ſhould die.

21. The Lord likewiſe ſpoke as follows to Moſes:

22. Take the Sum of the Gerſhonites too, throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers, after their Families;

23. From their thirtieth Year upward to their fiftieth Year ſhalt thou number them, being all who are to enter in to perform Buſineſs, to do the Service in the publick Tent.

24. This ſhall be the Service for the Families of the Gerſhonites to do, and for Burdens:

25. Namely they ſhall carry the Curtains of the Tabernacle, and the publick Tent, its Covering, and the Covering of Badgers Skin which is upon it above, as alſo the Hanging of the Door of the publick Tent,

26. The Tapeſtry of the Court, the Hanging of the Entrance at the Gate of the Court, which is by the Tabernacle, and by the Altar round about, and their Cords, with all the Inſtruments of their Service; nay they ſhall do all which is to be done to them.

27. The whole Service of the Gerſhonites, in all their Burdens, and other Buſineſs, ſhall be at the Command of Aaron and his Sons, who ſhall commit all their Burdens into their Charge.

28. The foregoing ſhall be the Service of the Families of the Gerſhonites in the publick Tent; whoſe Charge ſhall be in the Cuſtody of Ithamar the Son of Aaron the Prieſt.

Ver. 6. place] in order for carrying: not put in, ſince they were never to be taken out, Exod. xxv. 15. ſee Patrick in locum.

Ver. 13. Altar] of Burnt-offering, or braſen Altar.

Ver. 14. of the Altar] the Waſhing-veſſel may be omitted after this, becauſe not covered; ſee Exod. xxxv. 16. & xl. 30.

Ver. 16. Office—ſhall be] Or as Patrick has it turned, the Over-ſight of Eleazar—ſhall be the Oil, &c.

Ver. 18. not cut off] by neglecting to do what follows, whereby the Kohathites might be tempted, or have an Occaſion, to tranſgreſs; which if they did, they would deſervedly die like Uzzah, 2 Sam. vi. 6, 7. ſo that I cannot think the Lord repreſents it in a frightful manner, as Patrick irreverently writes in his Commentary here.

Ver. 26. by] Patrick ſays, the Senſe would have been more plain, had it been tranſlated upon, or over; for the Court encompaſſed both the Tabernacle and the Altar: but how the Court's encompaſſing them, was being upon or over them, I do not conceive; nor indeed the Propriety of Jun. and Trem. rendering ante—circumquaque, before—round about.

Ib. nay they ſhall do] by the Heb. Pointing.

29. The Merarites thou ſhalt alſo number, after their Families, throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers;

30. And that from their thirtieth Year upward to their fiftieth Year; being all who are to enter into the Buſineſs, to do the Service of the publick Tent.

31. The Charge of whoſe Burdens, with all their Service in the publick Tent, ſhall be the Boards of the Tabernacle, its Poles, Pillars, and Sockets,

32. With the Pillars of the Court round about, their Sockets, Pins, Cords, and all their Inſtruments, as alſo their whole Service; and you ſhall number the Inſtruments of the Charge of their Burdens by Name.

33. This ſhall be the Service of the Families of the Merarites, with all their Service in the publick Tent, in the Cuſtody of Ithamar the Son of Aaron the Prieſt.

34. So Moſes, Aaron, and the Princes of the Aſſembly numbered the Kohathites, after their Families, and throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers;

35. From their thirtieth Year upward to their fiftieth Year; being all that entered into the Buſineſs, for the Service in the publick Tent:

36. Who were numbered after their Families, two thouſand ſeven hundred and fifty.

37. This is the Number of the Families of the Kohathites, all that ſerved in the publick Tent, whom Moſes and Aaron numbered, at the Command of the Lord by the Miniſtry of Moſes.

38. And thoſe who were numbered of the Gerſhonites, after their Families, and throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers;

39. From their thirtieth Year upward to their fiftieth Year, being all that entered into the Buſineſs, for the Service in the publick Tent;

40. Were numbered after their Families, throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers, two thouſand ſix hundred and thirty.

41. This is the Number of the Families of the Gerſhonites, all that ſerved in the publick Tent, whom Moſes and Aaron numbered, at the Command of the Lord.

42. And thoſe who were numbered of the Families of the Merarites, after their Families, throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers;

43. From their thirtieth Year upward to their fiftieth Year, being all that entered into the Buſineſs, for the Service in the publick Tent;

44. Were numbered after their Families, three thouſand and two hundred.

45. This is the Number of the Families of the Merarites, whom Moſes and Aaron numbered, at the Command of the Lord by the Miniſtry of Moſes.

46. All the Levites who were numbered by Moſes, Aaron, and the Princes of Iſrael, after their Families, and throughout the Houſhold of their Fathers;

47. From their thirtieth Year upward to their fiftieth Year, being all who entered in to do the Service of the Miniſtry, and that of the Burdens, in the publick Tent;

48. Were numbered eight thouſand five hundred and eighty.

49. At the Command of the Lord by the Miniſtry of Moſes they numbered them, each Man both for his Service, and Burden; who were thoſe that the Lord ordered him to be numbered.

CHAP. V.

AND the Lord ſpoke to Moſes as follows;

2. Command the Iſraelites that they ſhould ſend out of the Camp every Leper, every one who has the Flux, and whoever is defiled by a dead Body:

3. Whom you ſhall ſend out, both Male and Female; that they may not defile their Camps, among which I dwell.

4. This the Iſraelites accordingly did, without the Camp, as the Lord ſaid to Moſes.

5. Who alſo ſpoke thus to him:

6. Tell the Iſraelites; When a Man or Woman has committed any of the Sins of Mankind, by doing amiſs againſt the Lord, ſo that he is become guilty;

7. Let ſuch confeſs their Sin which they have done, and reſtore the Principal of the Treſpaſs, with its fifth Part added to it, giving it to him againſt whom he has treſpaſſed.

8. And if the other being dead has no Kinſman for him to reſtore the Treſpaſs to, it ſhall be reſtored to the Lord for the Prieſt; beſides the Ram of Atonements, with which he ſhall make atonement for him.

9. Every Lifted-offering likewiſe belonging to any of the holy Things of the Iſraelites, which they bring to the Prieſt, ſhall be his.

10. So ſhall a Man's conſecrated Things, which he gives to the Prieſt, be his.

Ver. 31. with] like as in Ver. 19, 24, 27, 47, 49. Jun. and Trem. præter, beſides.

Ver. 3. I dwell] Vulgate, they dwell.

Ver. 8. Ram] viz. that ſpoken of Lev. vi. 6.

11. Beſides the Lord ordered Moſes,
12 That he ſhould ſpeak to the Iſraelites in the following manner: When any Man's Wife turns away, and does amiſs againſt him;
13. Inſomuch that a Man lies with her carnally, and ſhe is defiled, which is hid from the Eyes of her Huſband, and concealed, there being no Witneſs againſt her, nor ſhe taken in it;
14. And a jealous Temper comes on him, ſo that he is jealous of his Wife, who is defiled; or the ſame comes on him, ſo that he is jealous of her, who is not defiled:
15. Then ſhall the Man bring his Wife to the Prieſt, as he ſhall alſo her Oblation for her, the tenth Part of an Ephah of Barley Meal; on which he ſhall pour no Oil, nor put Frankincenſe upon it, becauſe it is an Offering of Jealouſy, an Offering of Remembrance, bringing Iniquity to remembrance.
16. And the Prieſt ſhall bring her near, and cauſe her to ſtand before the Lord.
17. He ſhall further take holy Water in an earthen Veſſel, and ſome of the Duſt which is on the Floor of the Tabernacle, and put into the Water.
18. After having placed the Woman before the Lord, he ſhall uncover her Head, and put the Offering of Remembrance into her Hands, which is the Offering of Jealouſy; and there ſhall be in the Prieſt's Hand the bitter Water that makes the Curſe.
19. And he ſhall cauſe her to ſwear in this manner; If no Man has lain with thee, and thou haſt not turned away to Uncleanneſs, with another inſtead of thy Huſband, be thou quit by this bitter Water that makes the Curſe.
20. But if thou haſt turned away to another inſtead of thy Huſband, and art defiled, a Man having lain with thee beſides him;
21. (Thus ſhall the Prieſt go on cauſing her to ſwear with an Oath of Curſing) the Lord make thee a Curſe and an Oath among thy People, by his making thy Thigh fall, and thy Belly ſwell;
22. And let this Water that cauſes the Curſe go into thy Bowels, to make the Belly ſwell, and the Thigh fall: to which the Woman ſhall ſay, So let it be, ſo let it be.
23. The Prieſt ſhall write theſe Curſes too in a Book, and blot out with the bitter Water;
24. That when he makes the Woman drink the bitter Water which cauſes the Curſe, it may go into her with Bitterneſs.
25. And he ſhall take the Offering of Jealouſy out of her Hand, which he ſhall wave before the Lord, and offer it on the Altar.
26. The Prieſt ſhall alſo take a Handful of the Offering, a Memorial of it, and burn on the Altar; and afterwards he ſhall make the Woman drink the Water.
27. Which when he has done, it ſhall come to paſs if ſhe is defiled, and has acted amiſs againſt her Huſband, that the Water which cauſes the Curſe going into her with Bitterneſs, her Belly ſhall ſwell, and her Thigh fall; whereby the Woman ſhall become a Curſe among her People.
28. And if ſhe is not defiled, but is clean; ſhe ſhall be quit, nay ſhall bear Iſſue,
29. This is the Law of Jealouſies, when a Woman turns away to another inſtead of her Huſband, and is defiled:
30. Or for a Man on whom a jealous Temper comes, ſo that he is jealous of his Wife; whom he ſhall cauſe to ſtand before the Lord, and the Prieſt ſhall perform all this Law to her.
31. So ſhall the Man be quit from Iniquity, and that Woman ſhall bear her Iniquity.

CHAP. VI.

MOREOVER the Lord ſpoke to Moſes,
2. And bade him ſay thus to the Iſraelites: When a Man, or a Woman, is ſeparated to the Lord, by making the Vow of a Nazirite;
3. He ſhall be ſeparated from Wine and ſtrong Drink, not drinking the Vinegar of either, nor any Liquor of Grapes; neither ſhall he eat green Grapes, or dried.
4. All the Days of his Separation, he ſhall eat Nothing which is made of the Vine, from the Kernels to the Huſk.
5. That whole Time of his Vow his Head ſhall not be ſhaved: till the Days are fulfilled which he is ſeparated to the Lord he ſhall be holy, the Locks of the Hair on it ſhall grow.

Ver. 14. a jealous Temper] being inconteſtably the Meaning.

Ver. 17. holy Water] This Onkelos explains by rendering it מֵי כִיּוֹר Water of the Waſhing-veſſel, which was conſecrated, Exod. xl. 11.

Ver. 18. having placed] his doing it being ordered before, Ver. 16. ſo that it ſhould not be bring it, Ver. 16. as Patrick ſays rather: for the Pronoun is feminine in Heb.

Ver. 27. going into her] for is it not abſurd to be, when he hath made her to drink the Water, then it ſhall enter into her?

Ib. her Belly ſhall ſwell, &c.] There appears no Neceſſity, that this ſhould be preſently; nor at all, if ſhe afterwards rightly repented, as the Ninevites in Jonah.

Ver. 5. ſhaved] as Chap. viii. 7. in com. Tranſ. the Heb. being verbally there ſhall not a Razor paſs upon or over.

6. In

6. In all which Space of his being ſeparated, he ſhall not come to a dead Perſon.

7. He ſhall not be defiled for his Father, Mother, Brother or Siſter, when they die; becauſe the Separation of his God is upon his Head.

8. All the Time of his Separation he ſhall be holy to the Lord.

9. And when one dies by him very ſuddenly, ſo that he defiles the Head of his Separation; he ſhall ſhave his Head on the Day of his Cleanſing, even the ſeventh Day.

10. Next on the eighth Day he ſhall bring two Turtle-doves, or two young Pigeons, to the Prieſt, at the Door of the publick Tent.

11. One of which the Prieſt ſhall offer for a Sin-offering, and the other for a Burnt-offering, that he may purge him from what he has ſinned by the dead Body; and he ſhall ſanctify his Head that Day.

12. Thus ſhall he put apart to the Lord the Time of his Separation, and bring a Lamb of the firſt Year for a Treſpaſs-offering; but the former Days ſhall be loſt, becauſe his Separation was defiled.

13. The following is alſo the Law for a Nazirite: When the Days of his Separation are fulfilled, the Prieſt ſhall bring him to the Door of the publick Tent.

14. And ſhall bring his Oblation near to the Lord, one perfect Ram-lamb of the firſt Year for a Burnt-offering, one perfect Ewe-lamb of the Firſt Year for a Sin-offering, and one perfect Ram for Peace-offerings,

15. A Baſket of unleavened Bread, Cakes of fine Flour tempered with Oil, and unleavened Biſcuits waſhed over with Oil, as likewiſe their Meat-offerings, and Drink-offerings.

16. Which the Prieſt having brought before the Lord, he ſhall offer his Sin-offering, and Burnt-offering;

17. As he ſhall the Ram for a Sacrifice of Peace-offerings to the Lord, and the Baſket of unleavened Bread; the Prieſt too ſhall offer his Meat-offering, and Drink-offering.

18. Beſides the Nazirite ſhall ſhave the Head of his Separation at the Door of the publick Tent, and ſhall take the Hair of it, and put upon the Fire, which is under the Sacrifice of the Peace-offerings.

19 Then the Prieſt ſhall take the boiled Shoulder of the Ram, one unleavened Cake out of the Baſket, and one unleavened Biſcuit, and put into the Hands of the Nazirite, after he has ſhaved himſelf for his Separation.

20. The Prieſt ſhall alſo wave them for a Waved-offering before the Lord, which ſhall be holy for himſelf, over and above the Breaſt of the Waved-offering, and the Shoulder of the Lifted-offering: afterwards the Nazirite may drink Wine.

21. This is the Law of a Nazirite that vows, and his Offering to the Lord for his Separation, beſides what he gets; who muſt do according to the Manner of his Vow which he makes, over and above the Law of his Separation.

22. And the Lord ſaid thus to Moſes:

23. Bid Aaron, and his Sons, bleſs the Iſraelites in the following manner;

24. The Lord bleſs thee, and keep thee.

25. The Lord make his Face light to thee, and be gracious to thee.

26. The Lord lift up his Face to thee, and make thee proſperous.

27. So ſhall they put my Name upon the Iſraelites, that I may bleſs them.

CHAP. VII.

AND at the Time that Moſes made an end of ſetting up the Tabernacle, as alſo anointed, and ſanctified that, and the Altar, with all their Inſtruments;

2. The Princes of the Tribes of Iſrael, the Heads of the Houſhold of their Fathers, who were placed over them that were numbered,

3. Brought their Oblation before the Lord at the Tabernacle, ſix tilted Wagons, and twelve Oxen, a Wagon for two Princes, and an Ox for one.

Ver. 7, 9. Separation] the ſame as at Ver. 8, 12, &c.

Ver. 13. bring him] The Pronoun in Heb. being Accuſative, or the Object of the Verb, and the Verb it ſelf Active, even in the Conjug. Hiphil; and who ſhould do this but the Prieſt? So Patrick on the Eng. Tranſ. he ſhall be brought, ſays, By the Prieſt. Nay it being the ſame who was to bring what is mentioned in the two next Verſes, that was the Prieſt, Ver. 16.

Ver. 14. bring] the ſame Verb as in Ver. 16. Beſides the Prieſt was to offer it, and it was certainly to be offered after it was brought, not before, both of which Ver. 16. ſhews.

Ver. 19. boiled Shoulder] namely the left, the other in Ver. 20. being the right, Lev. vii. 32.

Ver. 21. gets] to fulfil what he has vowed further.

Ib. over and above] as in the foregoing Verſe, and according to the Words before, as he might alſo vow more than the Law ordered to be done. Jun. and Trem. have præter, beſides. If the Meaning had been after, and the Vow reſtricted to the Law, what need was there of mentioning the former?

Ver. 1. Time] The following Oblations being not done the ſame Day, and by the Order of the Hiſtory this was above a Month after the Tabernacle was ſet up, Exod. xl. 17. Num. i. 1. eſpecially as it was after the People were numbered, Ver. 2.

Ib. anointed] as Lev. viii, 10, 11. after which this was Ver. 88. ſee Ver. 10, 84.

4. Which

4. Which the Lord ordered Moſes,

5. To receive of them, that they might be to do the Service of the publick Tent, and give them to the Levites, each according to his Service.

6. So Moſes took the Wagons, and Oxen, and gave them to the Levites:

7. Two Wagons and four Oxen to the Gerſhonites, according to their Service;

8. As he did four Wagons and eight Oxen to the Merarites, according to theirs; in the Cuſtody of Ithamar the Son of Aaron the Prieſt.

9. But he gave none to the Kohathites, becauſe they were to carry on their Shoulders what belonged to their Service of the Holy Place.

10. And the Princes brought their Oblation before the Altar, for the Dedication of it, at the Time it was anointed.

11. For the Lord ſaid to Moſes, Let them bring their Oblation, one Prince each Day, for the Dedication of the Altar.

12. Now he that brought it the firſt Day, was Nahſhon the Son of Amminadab, of the Tribe of Judah:

13. Whoſe Oblation was one ſilver Plate, the Weight of which was a hundred and thirty Shekels, one ſilver Bowl of ſeventy Shekels by the holy Shekel, both of them full of fine Flour tempered with Oil, for a Meat-offering;

14. One Spoon of ten Shekels of Gold, full of Incenſe;

15. One young Bullock of the Herd, one Ram, one Lamb of the firſt Year, for a Burnt-offering;

16. One Kid of the Goats for a Sin-offering.

17. And for a Sacrifice of Peace-offerings, two Oxen, five Rams, five He-goats, five Lambs of the firſt Year. This was the Oblation of Nahſhon the Son of Amminadab.

18. On the ſecond Day Nethaneel the Son of Zuar, the Prince of Iſſachar,

19. Brought his Oblation, one ſilver Plate, the Weight of which was a hundred and thirty Shekels, one ſilver Bowl of ſeventy Shekels by the holy Shekel, both of them full of fine Flour tempered with Oil for a Meat-offering;

20. One Spoon of ten Shekels of Gold, full of Incenſe;

21. One young Bullock of the Herd, one Ram, one Lamb of the firſt Year, for a Burnt-offering;

22. One Kid of the Goats, for a Sin-offering;

23. And for a Sacrifice of Peace-offerings, two Oxen, five Rams, five He-goats, five Lambs of the firſt Year. This was the Oblation of Nethaneel the Son of Zuar.

24. On the third Day the Prince of the Zebulunites, Eliab the Son of Helon,

25. Brought his Oblation, one ſilver Plate, the Weight of which was a hundred and thirty Shekels, one ſilver Bowl of ſeventy Shekels by the holy Shekel, both of them full of fine Flour tempered with Oil, for a Meat-offering:

26. One Spoon of ten Shekels of Gold, full of Incenſe;

27. One young Bullock of the Herd, one Ram, one Lamb of the firſt Year, for a Burnt-offering;

28. One Kid of the Goats, for a Sin-offering;

29. And for a Sacrifice of Peace-offerings, two Oxen, five Rams, five He-goats, five Lambs of the firſt Year. This was the Oblation of Eliab the Son of Helon.

30. On the fourth Day the Prince of the Reubenites, Elizur the Son of Shedeur,

31. Brought his Oblation, one ſilver Plate, the Weight of which was a hundred and thirty Shekels, one ſilver Bowl of ſeventy Shekels by the holy Shekel, both of them full of fine Flour tempered with Oil, for a Meat-offering;

32. One Spoon of ten Shekels of Gold, full of Incenſe;

33. One young Bullock of the Herd, one Ram, one Lamb of the firſt Year, for a Burnt-offering;

34. One Kid of the Goats, for a Sin-offering;

35. And for a Sacrifice of Peace-offerings, two Oxen, five Rams, five He-goats, five Lambs of the firſt Year. This was the Oblation of Elizur the Son of Shedeur.

36. On the fifth Day the Prince of the Simeonites, Shelumiel the Son of Zuriſhaddai,

37. Brought his Oblation, one ſilver Plate, the Weight of which was a hundred and thirty Shekels, one ſilver Bowl of ſeventy Shekels by the holy Shekel, both of them full of fine Flour tempered with Oil, for a Meat-offering;

38. One Spoon of ten Shekels of Gold, full of Incenſe;

39. One young Bullock of the Herd, one Ram, one Lamb of the firſt Year, for a Burnt-offering;

40. One Kid of the Goats, for a Sin-offering;

Patrick. So that theſe Verſes are ill pointed in the com. Tranſlation.

41. And for a Sacrifice of Peace-offerings, two Oxen, five Rams, five He-goats, five Lambs of the firſt Year. This was the Oblation of Shelumiel the Son of Zuriſhaddai.

42. On the ſixth Day the Prince of the Gadites, Eliaſaph the Son of Deuel,

43. Brought his Oblation, one ſilver Plate, the Weight of which was a hundred and thirty Shekels, one ſilver Bowl of ſeventy Shekels by the holy Shekel, both of them full of fine Flour tempered with Oil, for a Meat-offering;

44. One Spoon of ten Shekels of Gold, full of Incenſe,

45. One young Bullock of the Herd, one Ram, one Lamb of the firſt Year, for a Burnt-offering;

46. One Kid of the Goats, for a Sin-offering;

47. And for a Sacrifice of Peace-offerings, two Oxen, five Rams, five He-goats, five Lambs of the firſt Year. This was the Oblation of Eliaſaph the Son of Deuel.

48. On the ſeventh Day the Prince of the Ephraimites, Eliſhama the Son of Ammihud,

49. Brought his Oblation, one ſilver Plate, the Weight of which was a hundred and thirty Shekels, one ſilver Bowl of ſeventy Shekels by the holy Shekel, both of them full of fine Flour tempered with Oil, for a Meat-offering;

50. One Spoon of ten Shekels of Gold, full of Incenſe;

51. One young Bullock of the Herd, one Ram, one Lamb of the firſt Year, for a Burnt-offering;

52. One Kid of the Goats, for a Sin-offering;

53. And for a Sacrifice of Peace-offerings, two Oxen, five Rams, five He-goats, five Lambs of the firſt Year. This was the Oblation of Eliſhama the Son of Ammihud.

54. On the eighth Day the Prince of the Manaſſehites, Gamliel the Son of Pedahzur,

55. Brought his Oblation, one ſilver Plate, the Weight of which was a hundred and thirty Shekels, one ſilver Bowl of ſeventy Shekels by the holy Shekel, both of them full of fine Flour tempered with Oil, for a Meat-offering;

56. One Spoon of ten Shekels of Gold, full of Incenſe;

57. One young Bullock of the Herd, one Ram, one Lamb of the firſt Year, for a Burnt-offering;

58. One Kid of the Goats, for a Sin-offering;

59. And for a Sacrifice of Peace-offerings, two Oxen, five Rams, five He-goats, five Lambs of the firſt Year. This was the Oblation of Gamliel the Son of Pedahzur.

60. On the ninth Day the Prince of the Benjaminites, Abidan the Son of Gideoni,

61. Brought his Oblation, one ſilver Plate, the Weight of which was a hundred and thirty Shekels, one ſilver Bowl of ſeventy Shekels by the holy Shekel, both of them full of fine Flour tempered with Oil, for a Meat-offering;

62. One Spoon of ten Shekels of Gold, full of Incenſe;

63. One young Bullock of the Herd, one Ram, one Lamb of the firſt Year, for a Burnt-offering;

64. One Kid of the Goats, for a Sin-offering;

65. And for a Sacrifice of Peace-offerings, two Oxen, five Rams, five He-goats, five Lambs of the firſt Year. Ths was the Oblation of Abidan the Son of Gideoni.

66. On the tenth Day the Prince of the Danites, Ahiezer the Son of Ammiſhaddai,

67. Brought his Oblation, one ſilver Plate, the Weight of which was a hundred and thirty Shekels, one ſilver Bowl of ſeventy Shekels by the holy Shekel, both of them full of fine Flour tempered with Oil, for a Meat-offering;

68. One Spoon of ten Shekels of Gold, full of Incenſe;

69. One young Bullock of the Herd, one Ram, one Lamb of the firſt Year, for a Burnt-offering;

70. One Kid of the Goats, for a Sin-offering;

71. And for a Sacrifice of Peace-offerings, two Oxen, five Rams, five He-goats, five Lambs of the firſt Year. This was the Oblation of Ahiezer the Son of Ammiſhaddai.

72. On the eleventh Day the Prince of the Aſherites, Pagiel the Son of Ochran,

73. Brought his Oblation, one ſilver Plate, the Weight of which was a hundred and thirty Shekels, one ſilver Bowl of ſeventy Shekels by the holy Shekel, both of them full of fine Flour tempered with Oil for a Meat-offering;

74. One Spoon of ten Shekels of Gold, full of Incenſe;

75. One young Bullock of the Herd, one Ram, one Lamb of the firſt Year, for a Burnt-offering;

76. One Kid of the Goats, for a Sin-offering;

77. And for a Sacrifice of Peace-offerings, two Oxen, five Rams, five He-goats, five Lambs of the firſt Year. This was the Oblation of Pagiel the Son of Ochran.

78. On the twelfth Day the Prince of the Naphtalites, Ahira the Son of Enan,

79. Brought his Oblation, one ſilver Plate, the Weight of which was a hundred and thirty thirty Shekels, one ſilver Bowl of ſeventy Shekels by the holy Shekel, both of them full of fine Flour tempered with Oil, for a Meat-offering;

80. One Spoon of ten Shekels of Gold, full of Incenſe;

81. One young Bullock of the Herd, one Ram, one Lamb of the firſt Year, for a Burnt-offering;

82. One Kid of the Goats, for a Sin-offering;

83. And for a Sacrifice of Peace-offerings, two Oxen, five Rams, five He-goats, five Lambs of the firſt Year. This was the Oblation of Ahira the Son of Enan.

84. Theſe were for the Dedication of the Altar, at the Time of anointing it, from the Princes of Iſrael; twelve ſilver Plates, twelve ſilver Bowls, twelve Spoons of Gold:

85. One ſilver Plate was a hundred and thirty Shekels, and one Bowl ſeventy, all the Silver of the Veſſels being two thouſand and four hundred, by the holy Shekel;

86. The twelve Spoons of Gold were full of Incenſe, each Spoon was ten Shekels by the holy Shekel, all the Gold of the Spoons being a hundred and twenty.

87. All the Herd for the Burnt-offering were twelve Bullocks, the Rams, the Lambs of the firſt Year the ſame, with their Meat-offering; and the Kids of the Goats for the Sin-offering ſo many.

88. And all the Herd for the Sacrifice of Peace-offerings were four and twenty Oxen, the Rams, He-goats, and Lambs of the firſt Year ſixty each. This was for the Dedication of the Altar after it was anointed.

89. And when Moſes went into the publick Tent to ſpeak to the Lord, he heard the Voice of him ſpeaking to him from the Atonement-covering, which was upon the Ark of the Teſtimony, between the two Cherubs.

CHAP. VIII.

AND he ſaid to Moſes;

2. Tell Aaron, that when he lights up the Lamps, the ſeven Lamps muſt give light towards the Forepart of the Candleſtick.

3. And Aaron did ſo, lighting up the Lamps towards the Forepart of the Candleſtick, as the Lord commanded Moſes.

4. Now this Work of the Candleſtick was of ſolid Gold, to the very Shank, and Flowers of it; Moſes having made it according to the Appearance which the Lord ſhewed him.

5. Moreover the Lord ſpoke to him as follows:

6. Take the Levites from among the Iſraelites, that thou mayeſt cleanſe them.

7. In order to which thou ſhalt ſprinkle upon them Water for Sin; and let them ſhave all their Fleſh, and waſh their Cloaths, cleanſing themſelves.

8. Beſides they ſhall take a young Bullock of the Herd, and his Meat-offering, fine Flour tempered with Oil; and another ſuch Bullock ſhalt thou take for a Sin-offering.

9. Then thou ſhalt bring the Levites before the publick Tent, and gather together all the Aſſembly of the Iſraelites.

10. So having brought the Levites before the Lord, the Iſraelites ſhall lean their Hands upon them.

11. And Aaron ſhall wave them for a Waved-offering, from the Iſraelites, before the Lord, that they may be to do his Service.

12. The Levites likewiſe ſhall lean their Hands upon the Bullocks Heads; and thou ſhalt offer one for a Sin-offering, and the other for a Burnt-offering to the Lord, to make atonement for them.

13. Again thou ſhalt cauſe the Levites to ſtand before Aaron and his Sons, and wave them for a Waved-offering to the Lord.

14. Thus ſhalt thou part them from among the Iſraelites, that they may be mine.

15. And after that they ſhall go in to ſerve at the publick Tent, when thou haſt cleanſed them, and waved them for a Waved-offering.

16. For they are wholly given to me from among the Iſraelites: I have received them for my ſelf inſtead of all their Firſt-born, who open every Womb.

17. Since all the Firſt-born of the Iſraelites were mine, of Man and Beaſt, I having conſecrated them to me on the Day I ſmote all the Firſt-born in the Country of Egypt:

18. Inſtead of whom I have received the Levites;

20. And Moſes, Aaron, and the whole Aſſembly of the Iſraelites did to the Levites, entirely according as the Lord commanded Moſes about them.

21. They having cleanſed themſelves, and waſhed their Cloaths, Aaron waved them for a Waved-offering before the Lord, and made atonement for them, to make them clean.

22. After which the Levites went in to do their Service at the publick Tent, before Aaron and his Sons; who had done to them as the Lord commanded Moſes concerning them.

23. The Lord further ſaid as follows to Moſes;

24. This alſo belongs to the Levites; from their twenty fifth Year upward, they ſhall go in to perform Buſineſs in the Service of the publick Tent.

25. And at their fiftieth Year ſhall they return from the Buſineſs of the Service, and ſerve no more.

26. Nevertheleſs they ſhall miniſter with their Brethren at the publick Tent, by looking after the Affairs, but ſhall not do the Service: thus ſhalt thou do concerning them in their Charge.

CHAP. IX.

AND the Lord told Moſes in the Wilderneſs of Sinai, in the ſecond Year of their coming out of the Country of Egypt, in the firſt Month;

2. That the Iſraelites ſhould keep the Paſſover at its appointed Time,

3. On the fourteenth Day of that Month, within the Evening, doing the ſame according to all the Ordinances, and Ceremonies of it.

4. Accordingly Moſes ſpoke to the Iſraelites to keep it.

5. Which they did at the Time beforementioned, in the Wilderneſs of Sinai; doing entirely according as the Lord commanded Moſes.

6. But there being Men who were defiled by the dead Body of a Perſon, ſo that they could not keep the Paſſover then, they came before Moſes, and Aaron the ſame Day,

7. And ſaid to him, Why ſhould we, who are defiled by the dead Body of a Perſon, be kept off, that we may not bring the Oblation of the Lord at its appointed Time, among the Iſraelites?

8. Whom Moſes ordered to ſtand ſtill, till he heard what the Lord commanded concerning them.

9. And the Lord bade him,

10. To tell the Iſraelites thus: When any Man of you, or your Generations, ſhall be defiled by a dead Body, or be on a Journey far off, he ſhall keep the Paſſover to the Lord,

11. On the fourteenth Day of the ſecond Month within the Evening, eating it with unleavened Cakes and bitter Herbs.

12. They ſhall leave none of it till the Morning, nor break a Bone of it; but keep it according to all the Ordinances of the ſame.

13. As for the Man who is clean, and not on a Journey, yet refrains from keeping the Paſſover, that Perſon ſhall be cut off from his People, and bear his Sin; becauſe he does not bring the Oblation of the Lord at its appointed Time.

14. When a Stranger alſo ſojourning with you, keeps the Paſſover to the Lord, he ſhall do according to the Ordinance, and Manner of it: you ſhall have the ſame Ordinance for him, as for a Native of the Country.

15. And on the Day that the Tabernacle was ſet up, the Cloud covered it, on the

After this it is thought not to have been kept in the Wilderneſs; for which I find a particular Reaſon, Exod. xii. 48. becauſe no uncircumciſed Perſon muſt eat of it, and the Iſraelites were not circumciſed in the Wilderneſs, Joſh. v. 5. and ſo when Circumciſion was renewed, the Paſſover was kept again, Joſh. v. 2, 10.

Ver. 3. Ceremonies] ſuch as thoſe mentioned, Exod. xii. 11. which I do not think, with Poole and Patrick, were afterwards omitted; but obſerved in Remembrance of the firſt Inſtitution, and Occaſion of it, as was now commanded for the future, Ver. 14.

Ver. 6. came] Though ſuch were not ſuffered to be in the Camp, Chap. v. 2, 4. yet that was after this, Chap. i. 1. compare with Ver. 1. and the Camp was not yet put in order, Chap. ii.

Tent

Tent of the Teſtimony; and there was upon it an Appearance as of Fire, from Evening till Morning.

16. So there was daily the Cloud covering it, and the Appearance of Fire at Night.

17. After the Cloud went up from the Tent, the Iſraelites marched; and in the Place where it remained, there they encamped.

18. They both marched and encamped at the Command of the Lord, encamping all the Time that the Cloud remained upon the Tabernacle.

19. Thus when the Cloud continued upon it many Days, the Iſraelites took care of the Buſineſs of the Lord, and did not march;

20. The ſame when it was a few Days upon the Tabernacle: they encamping as well as marching, at the Lord's Command.

21. Even when the Cloud abode but from Evening till Morning, and then went up, they marched; as they did, whether it was by Day or Night that it went up.

22. Whether it was two Days, a Month, or a Year, while the Cloud continued remaining upon the Tabernacle, they encamped, and did not march; but when it went up, they marched.

23. At the Command of the Lord they both encamped, and marched; taking care of his Buſineſs, according to his Command by the Miniſtry of Moſes.

CHAP. X.

AND the Lord ſpoke to Moſes as follows:

2. Make thee two Trumpets of ſolid Silver: which thou ſhalt have for the calling of the Aſſembly, and for the marching of the Camps.

3. And when they ſound them, all the Aſſembly ſhall come together to thee, at the Door of the publick Tent.

4. But if they ſound only one, the Princes, the Heads of the Thouſands of Iſrael, ſhall come together to thee.

5. Moreover when you blow a changeable Sound, the Camps that pitch eaſtward ſhall march.

6. As likewiſe when you do it the ſecond time, thoſe that pitch ſouthward ſhall march: they ſhall blow a changeable Sound for their Marchings.

7. Whereas when the Congregation is to be gathered together, you ſhall blow without a changeable Sound.

8. Thus ſhall Aaron's Sons the Prieſts ſound the Trumpets, which ſhall be to you a laſting Ordinance in your Generations.

9. When you alſo go into a Battle in your Country, againſt the Adverſary that oppoſes you, ye ſhall blow a changeable Sound with the Trumpets; ſo ſhall you be remembred before the Lord your God, and be ſaved from your Enemies.

10. On the Day too of your Rejoicing, at your appointed Times, and in the Beginnings of your Months, you ſhall ſound the Trumpets, over your Burnt-offerings, and the Sacrifices of your Peace-offerings; which Things ſhall be to you for a Memorial before your God, who am the Lord your God.

11. And in the ſecond Year, on the twentieth of the ſecond Month, the Cloud went up from the Tabernacle of the Teſtimony.

12. With that the Iſraelites went on in their Journeys, out of the Wilderneſs of Sinai; and the Cloud ſtaid in the Wilderneſs of Paran.

13. And they began marching according to the Command of the Lord by the Miniſtry of Moſes.

14. For the Poſterity of the Standard of the Camp of Judah marched firſt, throughout their Companies; over whom was Nahſhon the Son of Amminadab.

15. Over the Army of the Tribe of the Iſſacharites, was Nethaneel the Son of Zuar;

16. And over that of the Zebulunites Eliab the Son of Helon.

17. Beſides the Tabernacle was taken down; at which the Gerſhonites and Merarites marched, carrying the ſame.

18. Next they of the Standard of the Camp of Reuben marched, throughout their Companies; over whom was Elizur the Son of Shedeur.

19. Over the Army of the Tribe of the Simeonites, was Shelumiel the Son of Zuriſhaddai:

20. And over that of the Gadites Eliaſaph the Son of Deuel.

21. Moreover the Kohathites marched, carrying the Holy Place; and the others ſet up the Tabernacle againſt they came.

22. Then they of the Standard of the Camp of the Ephraimites marched, throughout their Companies; over whom was Eliſhama the Son of Ammihud.

23. Over the Army of the Tribe of the Manaſſehites, was Gamliel the Son of Pedahzur;

Ver. 14. throughout their Companies] the ſame as Ver. 25. ſo Ver. 18, 22.

Ver. 21. the others] before-named, Ver. 17.

24. And over that of the Benjaminites Abidan the Son of Gideoni.

25. Laſtly they of the Standard of the Camp of the Danites marched, the Rear-guard of all the Camps, throughout their Companies; over whom was Ahiezer the Son of Ammiſhaddai.

26. Over the Army of the Tribe of the Aſherites, was Pagiel the Son of Ochran;

27. And over that of the Naphtalites Ahira the Son of Enan.

28. Theſe were the Marchings of the Iſraelites, throughout their Armies, when they marched.

29. And Moſes ſaid to Hobab the Son of Reuel the Midianite, his Father-in-law, We are marching to the Place of which the Lord ſaid, that he would give it to us; go thou with us, and we will do well for thee, ſince the Lord has ſpoken well concerning Iſrael.

30. Who anſwered him, I will not go; but will go to my own Country, and Kindred.

31. To which he replied; Do not leave us, I pray: foraſmuch as thou knoweſt we ſhall encamp in the Wilderneſs, and thou wilt be as Eyes to us.

32. And it ſhall really be when thou goeſt with us, that the ſame in which the Lord does well to us, we will alſo do well for thee.

33. At length they marched from the Mountain of the Lord three Days Journey; and the Ark of his Covenant went on in their Preſence all the Way, to find out Reſt for them.

34. Nay his Cloud was over them by Day, when they marched out of the Camp.

35. And when the Ark went on, Moſes ſaid, Riſe up, O Lord, and let thy Enemies be diſperſed; and let thoſe who hate thee flee by thy Preſence.

36. As alſo when it reſted, he ſaid, Return, O Lord, to the ten Thouſands of the Thouſands of Iſrael.

CHAP. XI.

BUT the People as it were bemoaning themſelves, was ill for the Lord to hear; at hearing which, he was ſo angry, that his Fire burnt among them, and conſumed in the Outſide of the Camp.

2. Upon this they cried out to Moſes, who prayed to the Lord, and the Fire ſunk.

3. And that Place was named Taberah, becauſe the Fire of the Lord burnt among them.

4. They alſo who were gathered amongſt them had a longing Appetite; and even the Iſraelites wept again, and ſaid; Oh that we had Fleſh to eat!

5. We remember the Fiſh which we did eat in Egypt for nothing; with the Cucumbers, Melons, Leeks, Onions and Garlick.

6. But now we are dried up, there is Nothing at all beſides Manna in our Sight.

7. Now the Manna was like Coriander Seed, but was of the Colour of Chryſtal.

8. Which, the People going about, gathered up, and having ground in Mills, or pounded in a Mortar, and boiled in a Pot, made Cakes of it, and it had the Taſte of thin Oil.

9. Moreover it came down by the Camp along with the Dew at Night.

10. When Moſes heard the People weep, each Family at the Door of their Tent, and the Lord was very angry, he was diſpleaſed,

11. And ſaid to the Lord; Why didſt thou make it ſo ill to thy Servant, and why was I out of Favour with thee, to lay the Burden of this whole People upon me?

12. Did I conceive them all, did I bear them, that thou ſhouldeſt bid me carry them in my Boſom, as a Nurſe does a Sucking-child, to the Country of which thou ſwareſt to their Forefathers?

13. From whence ſhould I have Fleſh to give all theſe People? For they cry to me, and ſay, Give us Fleſh to eat.

14. I cannot bear the Burden of them all my ſelf, becauſe it is too heavy for me.

15. And if thou wilt deal thus with me, kill me quite, I pray, if I am in thy Favour; that I may not ſee my Miſery.

16. Whom the Lord anſwered, Bring me ſeventy Men together of the Elders of Iſrael, ſuch as thou knoweſt are Elders of the People, and their Magiſtrates; and having fetched them to the publick Tent, let them ſtand there with thee.

17. And I will come down, and ſpeaking to thee there, will ſet apart of the Spirit which is upon thee, and put upon them; that they may bear the Burden of the People with thee, and thou mayeſt not bear it alone.

18. Beſides ſay to the People; Conſecrate your ſelves againſt to Morrow, and you ſhall eat Fleſh, ſince you have wept in the Hearing of the Lord, and complained, Oh that we had Fleſh to eat! for it was well with us in Egypt; the Lord will therefore give you Fleſh, and you ſhall eat;

19. Not eating only one Day, nor two, five, ten, nor twenty Days;

20. But even a whole Month, till it comes out at your Noſtrils, and is loathſome to you; becauſe you have deſpiſed the Lord who is among you, and weeping before him, ſaid, Why did we come out of Egypt?

21. To which Moſes replied; The People whom I am among are ſix hundred thouſand Footmen; and thou ſayeſt, I will give them Fleſh, and they ſhall eat a whole Month:

22. Shall the Flocks and Herds be killed for them, that they may have enough? Or all the Fiſh of the Sea be gathered for them, that they may have ſufficient?

23. Nevertheleſs the Lord ſaid to him, Is the Lord's Hand diminiſhed? Now ſhalt thou ſee, whether my Word will come to paſs to thee, or not.

24. So Moſes came out, and told the People the Words of the Lord; and gathering together ſeventy Men of the Elders of the People, he ſet them round about the Tent.

25. At this the Lord came down in a Cloud, and ſpeaking to him, ſet apart of the Spirit which was upon him, and put upon the ſeventy Elders; on whom when it reſted, they propheſied, and made no addition.

26. Nay two of them remained in the Camp, one named Eldad and the other Medad, and when the Spirit reſted upon them (they being of thoſe who were written down, though they went not out to the Tent) they propheſied in the Camp.

27. Whereupon there ran a young Man, and told Moſes, that Eldad and Medad were propheſying in the Camp.

28. And Joſhua the Son of Nun, who waited on Moſes, one of his young Men, made anſwer, Stop them, my Lord Moſes.

29. But Moſes anſwered him, Doſt thou envy them for my ſake? I wiſh all the Lord's People were Prophets, that he would put his Spirit upon them.

30. Afterwards Moſes went into the Camp, and the Elders of Iſrael with him.

31. And there went a Wind from the Lord, which took away Quails from the Sea, and left by the Camp, about a Day's Journey on each Side round it, and about two Cubits above the Surface of the Ground.

Ver. 24. came out] of the Sanctuary, where he had been ſupplicating God, and God ſpeaking to him; ſee Ver. 16. & Chap. vii. 89. The Heb. Verb ſignifies equally either went out or came out: but as the com. Tranſ. has the former, Patrick writes on it very ignorantly, as if that was the Original; "If he had gone to conſult "God in the Sanctuary, it would not have been ſaid "that he went out, but that he came out: therefore "we may rather think he now went out of his own "Tent."

Ver. 25. put upon] as the like Words are in Ver. 29. and as is ſhewn in Ver. 17.

Ib. made no addition] to what the Spirit inſpired them with. The ſame Verb is uſed in the ſame Manner, Deut. v. 22. and ſignifies to add, not ceaſe. So Pagn. and Montan. non addiderunt, Ainſw. did not adde; the Septuagint, οὐκ ἔτι προσεθέντο, added no more.

Ver. 26. two] In the early Primitive Treatiſe called The Shepherd of St. Hermas it is ſaid, "The Lord is "nigh to thoſe who turn to him, as it is written in the "Books of Heldam and Modal (theſe two) who propheſied to the People of Iſrael in the Wilderneſs," B. i. Viſ. 2. Sect. 3.

Ver. 31. about two Cubits] Shuckford, in his late Connection of the Sacred and Prophane Hiſtory, Vol. iii. B. xi. ſays, "there is no Word in the Hebrew Text for the Number two: The Hebrew Word אמתים ſignifies, as it "were Cubits high, expreſſing no determinate Meaſure, "but in general a conſiderable Height." But, 1. The Word does not ſignify high at all, as may be ſeen by that being in Italick. 2. It is in the dual Number, and ſo ſignifies two Cubits, the ſame as it does, Exod. xxv. 10, 17, 23. & xxx. 2. & xxxvii. 1, 6, 10, 25. where it likewiſe ſtands ſingle without another Word for two, being ſomething like our Eng. Twins. 3. Cubits indeterminately is אמות Thus the Scripture may be reſcued from ſuch an Interpretation, while the Author has betrayed his Ignorance of the Hebrew Tongue.

Ib. two Cubits above] flying ſo high; as is obſerved in the Univerſal Hiſtory, Book i. Chap. 7. Sect. 2. with Schindler's Lexicon; and Jarhi ſays, they flew as high as againſt a Man's Heart.

32. Then

32. Then the People ſtood up all that Day, and all Night, with all the next Day, and gathered them, he who had leaſt gathering ten Homers; and they ſpread them abroad for themſelves round about the Camp.

33. However while the Fleſh was between their Teeth, before it was chewed, the Lord being angry with the People, ſmote them with a very great Plague.

34. And that Place was named Kibroth-hattaavah, becauſe there they buried the People who longed.

35. From thence the People marched to Hazeroth, where they ſtopped.

CHAP. XII.

FOR Miriam and Aaron ſpoke againſt Moſes, by reaſon of the Cuſhite Wife whom he took; ſince he had married a Woman of Cuſh.

2. Has the Lord, ſaid they, ſpoken only and alone by Moſes? Has not he alſo ſpoken by us? Which the Lord heard.

3. Now Moſes was a very meek Perſon, above all Men who were upon the Surface of the Earth.

4. So the Lord ſaid preſently to him, with Aaron and Miriam, Come out you three towards the publick Tent; accordingly thoſe three did.

5. And the Lord coming down in the Pillar of the Cloud, ſtood at the Door of the Tent, and called Aaron and Miriam, when they were both come forth.

6. And he ſaid; Hear now my Words, If there is a Prophet among you, I the Lord make my ſelf known to him by a Viſion, I ſpeak to him by a Dream.

7. My Servant Moſes is not ſuch, who is faithful in all my Houſe.

8. I ſpeak to him Mouth to Mouth in Sight, and that not with obſcure Words, and he beholds the Likeneſs of the Lord: why were you not afraid therefore to ſpeak againſt my Servant Moſes?

9. And the Lord being angry with them, went away.

10. The Cloud likewiſe went off from the Tent, and lo Miriam became leprous as white as Snow: at whom when Aaron looked, and behold ſhe was leprous,

11. He ſaid to Moſes; O my Lord, lay not the Sin upon us, I beſeech thee, in which we have been fooliſh, and have ſinned.

12. Let her not, I pray, be as a dead Child, whoſe Fleſh is half conſumed when it comes out of its Mother's Womb.

13. Upon which Moſes cried thus to the Lord; Heal her, O God, I earneſtly beſeech thee.

14. And the Lord anſwered him, If her Father had at all ſpit in her Face, would ſhe not be aſhamed ſeven Days? Let her be ſhut up ſo long without the Camp, after which ſhe may be brought in.

15. Accordingly Miriam was ſhut up without the Camp ſeven Days, and the People did not march till ſhe was brought in.

16. They afterwards went on from Hazeroth, and encamped in the Wilderneſs of Paran.

Ver. 32. ſtood up] to catch them as they flew along.

Ib. ſpread] If they had lain two Cubits high upon the Earth, a Day's Journey round about the Camp, how were they ſpread there?

Ver. 33. being angry] which he was before juſt then, Ver. 10.

Ver. 1. For] See Ver. 15, 16.

Ib. Cuſh] Midian, where Jethro dwelt, whoſe Daughter Zipporah Moſes married, being Part of Cuſh on the eaſt Side of the Red Sea, Hab. iii. 7. Joſephus indeed relates that Moſes had Tharbis the King's Daughter of Ethiopia for his Wife, before he left Egypt, Antiq. Lib. ii. 10. but the Story turns out fabulous by the Account which is given in Euſeb. Chron. ad Num. 402. that the Country of Ethiopia was firſt peopled from the Eaſt in the Reign of Amenophis; which being not twenty Years long, and ending at the Time of the Iſraelites Departure from Egypt, as on Exod. xl. by comparing it with Acts vii. 29, 30. that pretended Marriage of Moſes falls above 20 Years before Ethiopia was inhabited. And to confirm this Philoſtratus writes, in Vita Apollon. Tyan. Lib. iii. 6. there was no ſuch Country as Ethiopia beyond Egypt, before it was poſſeſſed as above. Againſt that Tale of Joſephus, and for tranſlating thus, ſee alſo Raleigh's Hiſt. of the World, Lib. i. 8. 10. For the Conſiſtency of this being Zipporah, who is mentioned here, ſee the Note on Exod. xviii. 5.

Ver. 2. Which the Lord heard] The Vulgate, Which when the Lord heard, he was angry; as it ſeems from Chap. xi. 1.

Ver. 4. Come out] They being in their Tents; but probably not all in Moſes his Tent, whither, as Patrick ſuppoſes, his Brother and Siſter were come to utter their Complaint; ſince Miriam and Aaron complained of him, not to him, by Ver. 2. and ſo it is ſaid, the Lord, not Moſes, heard it.

Ib. towards] For it is not conſiſtent that the Lord ſhould bid them come whither his Preſence would prevent their coming, and whither there was no need of their coming, as he declared his Mind to them before they got thither, Ver. 5.

Ver. 5. when] becauſe they came out before, Ver. 4. and the Heb. Conjunction is thus rendered, Exod. xii. 44. Judg. ii. 21. 1 Sam. xii. 12. 2 Sam. ii. 24. Lev. xxvi. 17. Num. x. 28. Joſh. ix. 22. Iſa. xliii. 12. 2 Chron. xix. 8. and particularly Judg. iii. 24. beſides in a Number of Places produced by Noldius in Concordant. under quum, quando. Among our learned Expoſitors however, Patrick ventures to interpret it according to the com. Eng. Tranſ. that when they were come with Moſes from his Tent, they came forth from that Place, or from Moſes; that is they came forth from without.

Ver. 12. I pray] omitted in the Vulg. Engliſh.

CHAP. XIII.

AND the Lord ſpoke thus to Moſes,
2. Send Men to view the Country of Canaan, which I will give to the Iſraelites; let them be one of each Tribe of their Fathers, and every one a Prince among them.
3. So he ſent from the Wilderneſs of Paran, at the Command of the Lord, ſuch as were all of them principal Men of the Iſraelites.
4. Whoſe Names were: Shammua the Son of Zaccur, of the Tribe of Reuben;
5. Shaphat the Son of Hori, of the Tribe of Simeon;
6. Caleb the Son of Jephunneh, of the Tribe of Judah;
7. Igal the Son of Joſeph, of the Tribe of Iſſachar;
8. Hoſhea the Son of Nun, of the Tribe of Ephraim;
9. Palti the Son of Raphu, of the Tribe of Benjamin;
10. Gadiel the Son of Sodi, of the Tribe of Zebulun;
11. Gaddi the Son of Suſi, of the Tribe of Joſeph, that which was of Manaſſeh;
12. Ammiel the Son of Gemalli, of the Tribe of Dan;
13. Sethur the Son of Michael, of the Tribe of Aſher;
14. Nahbi the Son of Vophſi, of the Tribe of Naphtali;
15. Geuel the Son of Machi, of the Tribe of Gad.
16. Theſe were the Names of the Men whom Moſes ſent to view the Country; but he called Hoſhea the Son of Nun Joſhua.
17. Which Country of Canaan he ſent them to view with the following Inſtructions; Go up there ſouthward, and up the Mountain.
18. And ſee what the Country is; and whether the People who dwell in it are ſtrong or weak, few or many;
19. Whether it be a good or bad Country, as alſo whether the Cities which they reſide in are Camps or Fortifications;
20. Beſides whether the Ground is fat or lean, whether there be Wood in it or not: and take courage to bring ſome of the Fruit of the Country. For it was the Time when Grapes are firſt ripe.
21. They went up accordingly, and viewed the Country, from the Wilderneſs of Zin to Rehob, going to Hamath.
22. And in their going up ſouthward, Caleb went to Hebron, where were Ahiman, Sheſhai and Talmai, the Sons of Anak: Hebron being built ſeven Years before Zoan in Egypt.
23. At length they came to the Brook of Eſhcol, and cut off there a Branch with a Bunch of Grapes, which they carried on a Pole between two; together with Pomegranates and Figs.
24. That Place was called the Brook of Eſhcol, by reaſon of the Bunch which the Iſraelites cut off there.
25. Thus they returned from viewing the Country at the End of forty Days;
26. When arriving, they came into the Wilderneſs of Paran, to Moſes, Aaron, and the whole Aſſembly of the Iſraelites at Kadeſh, and not only brought back word to them all, but ſhewed them the Fruit of the Country.
27. Directing their Speech to the former, they ſaid; We have been at the Country to which thou ſenteſt us, that flows indeed with Milk and Honey, and this is the Fruit of it.
28. Nevertheleſs the People who dwell in it are ſtrong, the Cities are fortified, nay very great, and withal we ſaw the Sons of Anak there.
29. The Amalekites dwell in the ſouth Country, as the Hittites, Jebuſites, and Amorites do on the Mountains, and the Canaanites by the Sea, and the Side of Jordan.
30. Caleb however kept the People ſilent to Moſes, by ſaying, Let us go quite up, and poſſeſs it; for we ſhall entirely prevail over it.
31. On the contrary the Men who accompanied him ſaid, We are not able to go up againſt the People, for they are ſtronger than we.
32. And they gave out this ill Report of the Country, which they had viewed, to the Iſraelites; The Country which we have paſſed through to view it, is a Country that conſumes its Inhabitants, and all the People whom we ſaw in it were large Perſons.

Ver. 1. ſpoke thus] upon the People's Requeſt, Deut. i. 22.

Ver. 19. Camps] to move from one Place to another, for Conveniency of Paſturage, &c. as the Arabians did.

Ver. 22. Caleb went] By this Verb being ſingular, and the reſt both before and after plural, it appears that but one of them went to Hebron, which was Caleb by Joſh. xiv. 9, 12, 13. And this is much confirmed by Joſhua's not being there, who was moſt likely to accompany him, and as it is thought they ſeparated to prevent Diſcovery: for Caleb tells him he heard of the Anakites being there, Joſh. xiv. 12. In ſhort it is certain that Caleb was there, and uncertain at leaſt that any of the reſt were.

Ver. 30. to Moſes] as the Heb. is; ſo that they forbore to ſpeak againſt Moſes while he was preſent, but murmured againſt him afterwards, Chap. xiv. 2.

Ver. 32. conſumes] Some of the Jewiſh Writers ſuppoſe there might be then a Plague there, or other Mortality, from whence they repreſented the Country to be unhealthy.

Ib. large] The ſame Word that in Jer. xxii. 14. is rendered wide in the com. Bib.

33. Nay there we ſaw Giants, the Sons of Anak one of the Giants; inſomuch that we appeared to our ſelves like Graſhoppers, and ſo we did to them.

CHAP. XIV.

UPON this the whole Aſſembly of the Iſraelites cried out aloud, and the People wept that Night.

2. And they all murmured againſt Moſes and Aaron, unanimouſly ſaying to them; Oh that we had died in the Country of Egypt, or elſe in this Wilderneſs!

3. For why did the Lord bring us into this Country, to fall by the Sword, for our Wives and Children to become a Prey? Is it not better for us to go back to Egypt?

4. So they propoſed one to another, Let us make a Captain, and return to Egypt.

5. At which Moſes and Aaron fell upon their Faces, before all the Congregation of the Iſraelites that were come together.

6. Of thoſe alſo who viewed the Country, Joſhua the Son of Nun, and Caleb the Son of Jephunneh, tore their Cloaths,

7. And ſaid thus to them all; The Country which we paſſed through to view it, is an exceeding good one.

8. If the Lord delights in us, he will bring us into this Country, which flows with Milk and Honey, and give it to us.

9. Only you muſt not rebel againſt him, therefore be not afraid of the People of it, for they will be as Bread to us; their Shelter is gone off from them, and the Lord is with us, do not fear them.

10. Notwithſtanding which the whole Aſſembly of the Iſraelites ſpoke of ſtoning them with Stones; but the Glory of the Lord appeared at the publick Tent to them all.

11. And he ſaid to Moſes; How long will this People contemn me? And how long will they not believe in me, for all the Signs which I have ſhewn among them?

12. Let me ſmite them with the Peſtilence, and diſinherit them; and I will make thee a Nation greater and ſtronger than they.

13. But Moſes anſwered him: When the Egyptians hear of it (becauſe thou broughteſt up this People from among them by thy Power)

14. They will tell it to the Inhabitants of this Country, who have heard that thou Lord art among this People, how thou, O Lord, art ſeen Eye to Eye, and thy Cloud remains over them, and thou goeſt before them in a Pillar of a Cloud by Day, and of Fire by Night.

15. Then, ſhouldeſt thou kill this People as one Man, the Nations that have heard thy Fame, will ſay thus,

16. Becauſe the Lord was not able to bring this People into the Country of which he ſware to them, he ſlew them in the Wilderneſs.

17. Now therefore let the Power of my Lord be great, I beſeech thee, as thou haſt ſpoken in the following manner;

18. The Lord is delaying of Anger, and of great Kindneſs, forgiving Iniquity and Treſpaſs; as well as not at all quitting, but puniſhing, for the Iniquity of the Fathers, the Children in the third and fourth Generation.

19. Vouchſafe to pardon the Iniquity of this People, according to the Greatneſs of thy Mercy, and as thou haſt forgiven them from Egypt to this Place.

20. And the Lord replied: I pardon according to thy Requeſt.

21. Yet ſurely, by my living, and the whole Earth being filled with the Glory of the Lord;

22. Becauſe all the Men, who when they had ſeen my Glory, and my Signs which I ſhewed in Egypt, and the Wilderneſs, have tempted me theſe ten times, and not hearkened to what I ſaid;

23. They ſhall not ſee the Country of which I ſware to their Forefathers, nor any of thoſe who have contemned me.

Ver. 33. Giants] Joſephus relates that monſtrous Bones of the Giants, afterwards ſlain by the Iſraelites in taking Hebron, were ſhewn to his Time, Antiq. Lib. v. 2. And Pauſanias a Heathen in his Atticis, as obſerved by Cumberland in his Sanchoniatho's Phœnician Hiſtory, pag. 477. makes mention of the Bones of a Son of Anax being in the Country of Mileſia, whoſe Body was ten Cubits long; which compare with 1 Sam. xvii. 4.

Ver. 9. Shelter] Heb. Shadow, being a Shelter from the Heat; but here uſed metaphorically, as Eccleſ. vii. 12.

Ver. 10. at] For in the Tabernacle the People could not have ſeen it, ſays Patrick.

Ver. 11. contemn] So this Verb is rendered in the ſame Conjugation Pihel (for in the other Conjugation Kal it is agreed to mean thus) Pſa. x. 13. deſpiſe, Jer. xxiii. 17. Iſai. v. 24. & lx. 14. and abhor, 1 Sam. ii. 17. Pſa. x. 3. and may be ſeen not to ſignify provoke.

Ver. 12. Let me] As by expreſſing it I will, a Condition muſt at beſt be implied, and ſince that Condition was Moſes's letting it be, by not interceeding for the People; how much fitter and more unexceptionable is it to have the Engliſh thus, which the Hebrew expreſſes as here?

Ver. 15. Then, ſhouldeſt thou kill] which Patrick unaccountably writes ſhould rather be, But thou haſt killed.

Ver. 17. let the Power—be great] in bringing them into the promiſed Country, Ver. 16. which would be a Favour and Bleſſing agreeable to the Divine Attributes following, Ver. 18.

Ver. 21. and] So it being in the Heb. as likewiſe Patrick expounds it.

24. But

24. But as for my Servant Caleb, becauſe he had another Spirit, and has followed me entirely, I will bring him into the Country whither he went, and his Offspring ſhall poſſeſs it.

25. Since the Amalekites and Canaanites dwell in the Vale, turn you about to Morrow, and march into the Wilderneſs, the Way to the Red Sea.

26. The Lord thus alſo ſaid to Moſes and Aaron:

27. How long do I hear what this wicked Aſſembly murmur againſt me, the Murmurings which the Iſraelites make at my ſelf?

28. Tell them the Lord ſays; By my living, I will do to you juſt as you have ſpoken in my Hearing.

29. Your dead Bodies ſhall fall in the Wilderneſs, all the whole Number of you who were counted from the twentieth Year upward, who have murmured againſt me.

30. None of you ſhall enter into the Country, for which I have lifted up my Hand, that I would make you dwell in, excepting Caleb the Son of Jephunneh, and Joſhua the Son of Nun.

31. As to your little ones, who you complained would be a Prey, I will have them in, and they ſhall know the Country which you deſpiſe.

32. But while your own Bodies are falling in this Wilderneſs,

33. Your Children ſhall be feeding in it forty Years, and bear your Whoredoms, till your dead Bodies are there conſumed.

34. According as you were viewing the Country the Number of forty Days, each Day being for a Year, you ſhall bear your Iniquities ſo many Years, and know a Rupture with me.

35. I the Lord affirm, I will do that to all this wicked Aſſembly, who are come together againſt me: they ſhall be conſumed in this Wilderneſs, where they ſhall die.

36. As for the Men that Moſes ſent to view the Country, who when they came back made the whole Aſſembly murmur againſt him, by giving out an ill Report concerning the ſame;

37. They who did it, died by a Plague before the Lord.

38. Whereas Joſhua the Son of Nun, and Caleb the Son of Jephunneh lived, of thoſe who went to view the Country.

39. And when Moſes told thoſe Words to all the Iſraelites, the People mourned exceedingly.

40. Afterwards they roſe early in the Morning, that they might go up to the Top of the Mountain, ſaying, Here we are, and will go up to the Place which the Lord has ſpoken of, for we have ſinned.

41. But Moſes replied; Why would you tranſgreſs the Lord's Command? For it will not proſper.

42. Go not up, that you may not be beat before your Enemies, becauſe the Lord will not be among you.

43. And as the Amalekites and Canaanites are before you there, you will fall by the Sword: for ſince you turn back from following the Lord, he will not be with you.

44. Nevertheleſs they reſolutely attempted to go up to the Top of the Mountain, though the Ark of the Lord's Covenant and Moſes did not remove out of the Camp.

45. But the Amalekites, and Canaanites who dwelt on that Mountain coming down, killed them, and beat them to Hormah.

CHAP. XV.

THE Lord afterwards told Moſes as follows:

2. Speak to the Iſraelites, ſaying to them; When you are come into the Country of your Habitations, which I will give you,

3. And prepare an Offering by Fire to the Lord, either a Burnt-offering, or a Sacrifice, in putting apart by a Vow, or for a Free-offering, or in your appointed Times; to make a pleaſant Smell to the Lord, out of the Herd, or the Flock;

Ver. 25. Since the Amalekites—dwell] Since you are afraid to go where they dwell: or according to Patrick, They lie in wait for you, therefore do not go forward. The Latin Tranſlators have it generally in the preſent Tenſe, as what the Lord ſaid; ſee Ver. 43.

Ver. 31. would] not ſhould.

Ver. 33. feeding] as the Heb. Word ſignifies, viz. on Manna, but not wander.

Ver. 34. Rupture] There is Nothing for of promiſe in the Original, though it ſtands with the ſame Character as the reſt in the preſent Tranſlation, and the Expreſſion ſeems ſhocking, that a Breach of Promiſe ſhould be aſcribed to God; the Condition of whoſe Promiſe to the Iſraelites being not kept by them, the Promiſe was conſequently void, and could not, as it certainly would not, be broke by him. Gell ſays the com. Engliſh muſt be moſt abſurd and falſe, Eſſay, p. 494.

Ver. 35. I will] The Subſtance of the ſecond Note on Gen. xxxi. 45. may ſerve for this, in relation to the ſurely of the com. Reading.

Ver. 40, 44. It appears by the 45th Ver. that they did not get up to the Top of the Mountain, and certainly were not gone up when they ſpoke to Moſes, Ver. 40.

Ver. 44. reſolutely attempted] Vulg. Lat. being blinded went up, through Miſtake of expounding the Verb by אפל when its Root עפל has a different Meaning.

Ver. 3. Sacrifice] of Peace-offerings, as Lev. vii. 15, 18, &c. Exod. xxix. 28. Num. x. 10. and as Ver. 8. & Lev. xvii. 5. ſhew.

Ib. putting apart] as Lev. xxii. 21. & xxvii. 2. Num. vi. 2.

4. Let

4. Let him who brings his Oblation to the Lord, bring a Meat-offering of the tenth Part of an Ephah of fine Flour, tempered with the fourth Part of a Hin of Oil;

5. And prepare for a Drink-offering the fourth Part of a Hin of Wine; with the Burnt-offering or Sacrifice of a Lamb.

6. For a Ram alſo prepare thou a Meat-offering of two tenth Parts of an Ephah of fine Flour, tempered with the third Part of a Hin of Oil;

7. And bring for a Drink-offering the third Part of a Hin of Wine; to be a pleaſant Smell to the Lord.

8. And when thou prepareſt a young one of the Herd for a Burnt-offering or Sacrifice, in putting apart by a Vow, or for Peace-offerings to the Lord;

9. Let there be brought with it a Meat-offering of three tenth Parts of an Ephah of fine Flour, tempered with half a Hin of Oil;

10. And thou ſhalt bring for a Drink-offering half a Hin of Wine; to be an Offering by Fire of a pleaſant Smell to the Lord.

11. Thus ſhall there be prepared for a Bullock, for a Ram, for either a Lamb or Kid;

12. And ſo ſhall you do, as their Number is, for every one, according to the Number that you prepare.

13. All the Natives ſhall do the like, when they bring an Offering by Fire of a pleaſant Smell to the Lord.

14. When one likewiſe who ſojourns with you, or ſhall be among you in your Generations, prepares ſuch an Offering, let it be as you your ſelves do it.

15. There ſhall be the ſame Ordinance for you of the Congregation, and for him who ſojourns, a perpetual one in your Generations; you ſhall be alike before the Lord,

16. The Law and the Manner ſhall be the ſame to both of you.

17. Again the Lord ſpoke thus to Moſes:

18. Charge the Iſraelites, by ſaying to them; When you come into the Country whither I will bring you,

19. And then eat of the Bread of it, you ſhall offer up a Lifted-offering to the Lord;

20. Which ſhall be a Cake of the firſt of your Dough, and you muſt offer it up like a Lifted-offering out of the Flour.

21. This Offering ſhall you give to the Lord in your Generations.

22. And when you err in not doing all theſe Commandments, which the Lord expreſſed to Moſes,

23. Whatever he has commanded you by his Miniſtry, ever ſince the Time that the Lord did it, in your Generations;

24. Then, if it be done by the Miſtake of the Aſſembly through Ignorance, all of them ſhall prepare a young Bullock of the Herd for a Burnt-offering, to be a pleaſant Smell to the Lord, with his Meat-offering and Drink-offering as uſual, and a Kid of the Goats for a Sin-offering.

25. And the Prieſt ſhall make atonement for the whole Aſſembly of the Iſraelites, that it may be forgiven them; ſince it was a Miſtake, and they have brought their Oblation, an Offering by Fire to the Lord, and their Sin-offering before him, for their Miſtake.

26. So ſhall they be all of them forgiven, and he who ſojourns among them, when all the People are in a Miſtake.

27. When a ſingle Perſon too ſins by Miſtake, he ſhall bring a She-goat of the firſt Year for a Sin-offering.

28. And the Prieſt ſhall make atonement for him, who has erred by ſinning in that Manner before the Lord; that by ſo doing, it may be forgiven him.

29. A Native of the Iſraelites, and he who ſojourns among them, ſhall have the ſame Law for committing Sin by Miſtake.

30. But that Perſon, either of the Natives or Strangers, who commits it with a high Hand, reproaches the Lord, and ſhall be cut off from among his People:

31. For he deſpiſing the Word of the Lord, as well as breaking his Commandment; that Perſon ſhall be utterly cut off, his Iniquity ſhall be upon him.

32. And while the Iſraelites were in the Wilderneſs, they found a Man gathering Wood on the Sabbath Day.

33. Whereupon thoſe that found him doing it, brought him to Moſes, Aaron, and the whole Aſſembly.

34. Who put him in Priſon, becauſe it was not explained what ſhould be done to him.

35. And the Lord ſaid to Moſes, The Man ſhall be quite put to death: Let all the Aſſembly ſtone him with Stones without the Camp.

36. Accordingly they had him out thither, and ſtoned him till he was dead; as the Lord commanded Moſes.

37. To him alſo ſpoke the Lord in the following manner;

38. Tell the Iſraelites, that they ſhould make them a Fringe upon the Skirts of their Garments, in their Generations, and put a blue Lace upon that.

39. And the Fringe ſhall be for you to look on, that you may remember all the Commandments of the Lord, and do them; and not ſeek to follow your own Heart and Eyes, which you go a whoring after:

40. That by remembring and doing all my Commandments, you may be holy to your God.

41. Who am the Lord your God, that brought you out of the Country of Egypt, to be a God to you: I am the Lord your God.

CHAP. XVI.

AND Korah the Son of Izhar, the Son of Kohath, the Son of Levi, took both Dathan and Abiram the Sons of Eliab, and On the Son of Peleth, Reubenites,

2. Who roſe up before Moſes, with two hundred and fifty Princes of the Aſſembly of the Iſraelites, famous renowned Men of the Congregation;

3. And being gathered together againſt Moſes and Aaron, they ſaid to them, You take a great deal upon you; for all the Aſſembly are holy every one of them, and the Lord is among them: therefore why do you lift up your ſelves above the Congregation of the Lord?

4. At the hearing of which Moſes fell down upon his Face.

5. He then ſpoke thus to Korah and all his Company; In the Morning the Lord will make known who is his, and is holy; and will, even he will, bring him whom he chooſes near to himſelf.

6. Do this, take you Cenſers, Korah, and all his Company;

7. And put Fire into them, and lay Incenſe upon them, before the Lord to Morrow; who will chooſe the Man that is holy: it is you Levites take a great deal upon you.

8. He ſaid further to Korah; Hear now, you Sons of Levi;

9. Is it too little for you, that the God of Iſrael has ſeparated you from the Aſſembly of Iſrael, to bring you near to himſelf, that you may do the Service of his Tabernacle, and ſtand before the Aſſembly to miniſter to them?

10. When he has thus brought thee, and all thy Brethren the Levites with thee near, do you ſeek the Prieſthood alſo?

11. For which reaſon thou and all thy Company are come together againſt the Lord: for what is Aaron, that you ſhould murmur at him?

12. Next Moſes ſent to call Dathan and Abiram, the Sons of Eliab: but they ſaid; We will not come up.

13. Was it a little Matter for thee to bring us up from a Country flowing with Milk and Honey, to cauſe us to die in the Wilderneſs, that thou haſt alſo entirely made thy ſelf a Prince over us?

14. Beſides thou haſt not brought us into a Country that flows with Milk and Honey, nor given us a Poſſeſſion of Fields and Vineyards. Wouldeſt thou put out the Eyes of theſe Men? We will not come up.

15. Very angry at this, Moſes prayed to the Lord, Have no regard to their Offering; I having not taken ſo much as an Aſs from them, nor hurt one of them.

16. To Korah he ſaid again; Do thou, and thy whole Company, be with Aaron before the Lord to Morrow;

17. And let each take his Cenſer, and bring it before the Lord, with Incenſe put into them, two hundred and fifty Cenſers, as likewiſe do thou and Aaron yours.

18. They accordingly took each his Cenſer, and putting Fire into them, and laying Incenſe upon them, ſtood at the Door of the publick Tent, with Moſes and Aaron.

20. And he ſpoke thus to Moſes and Aaron,

21. Get apart from among this Aſſembly, that I may conſume them in a Moment.

22. But they falling on their Faces, remonſtrated, O God, the God of the Spirits of all Fleſh, when one Man has ſinned, wilt thou be in a Wrath againſt the whole Aſſembly?

23. The Lord then ſaid to Moſes as follows,

24. Tell them, that they ſhould go up from about the Tabernacle of Korah, Dathan and Abiram.

25. So Moſes roſe up, and went to Dathan and Abiram, the Elders of Iſrael following him:

26. And he deſired the Aſſembly to depart from the Tents of thoſe wicked Men, and not touch any thing which belonged to them, leſt they ſhould be deſtroyed in all their Sins.

27. Therefore they went up from the Tabernacle of Korah, Dathan and Abiram all round; and the two latter came out, ſtanding at the Doors of their Tents, with their Wives, Children, and little ones.

28. And Moſes ſaid; By this you ſhall know that the Lord has ſent me to do all theſe Works, for it is not of my own Mind:

29. If theſe die as Men generally do, or are puniſhed with the Puniſhment of others in general, the Lord has not ſent me.

30. But if he performs Something new, that the Ground ſhall open its Mouth, and ſwallow them up with all that belong to them, and they go down into the Grave alive; you may know that theſe Men have contemned the Lord.

31. He had no ſooner done ſpeaking all theſe Words, but the Ground that was under them cleaved aſunder.

32. And the Earth having opened its Mouth, ſwallowed them up, their Families, and all the Men who belonged to Korah, with the whole Subſtance.

33. Both they and all theirs went down alive into the Grave, and the Earth covered them over, ſo they periſhed from among the Congregation.

34. And all Iſrael who were round about them ran away at their Noiſe, leſt the Earth, as they ſaid, ſhould ſwallow them up.

35. There came out Fire too from the Lord, and conſumed the two hundred and fifty Men who brought Incenſe.

36. After which the Lord ſpoke as follows to Moſes;

37. Bid Eleazar the Prieſt, Aaron's Son, take up the Cenſers out of the Burning, becauſe they are conſecrated, and ſcatter thou the Fire further.

38. As for the Cenſers of theſe who were Sinners againſt their own Lives, let them be made into broad Plates for a Covering to the Altar, ſince they have brought them before the Lord, and they are conſecrated; that they may be a Sign to the Iſraelites.

39. Accordingly Eleazar the Prieſt took the Cenſers of Braſs, which they who were burnt had brought, and they were beat out broad for a Covering to the Altar;

40. To be a Memorial to the Iſraelites, that no ſtrange Perſon, who is not of Aaron's Offſpring, may come to offer Incenſe before the Lord, leſt he ſhould be like Korah and his Company; as the Lord ſaid to him by the Miniſtry of Moſes.

41. Nevertheleſs the whole Aſſembly of the Iſraelites murmured againſt Moſes and Aaron the next Day, and ſaid, You have killed the Lord's People.

42. But when the Aſſembly were gathered together againſt Moſes and Aaron, as they looked towards the publick Tent, behold the Cloud covered it, and the Glory of the Lord appeared.

43. Then Moſes and Aaron came before the publick Tent.

44. Moreover the Lord ſaid to Moſes thus,

45. Get up from among this Aſſembly, that I may conſume them in a Moment: at which they fell on their Faces.

46. And Moſes ſaid to Aaron, Take a Cenſer, and put Fire into it from the Altar, and laying on Incenſe, go ſpeedily to the Aſſembly, and make atonement for them: for there is Wrath gone out from before the Lord, the Plague is begun.

47. Thus Aaron taking ſuch as Moſes ordered, ran into the midſt of the Congregation, and the Plague being indeed begun among the People, he put on the Incenſe, and made atonement for them;

48. And ſtanding between the Dead and the Living, the Plague was ſtopped.

CHAP. XVII.

BESIDES the Lord ſaid to Moſes as follows;

2. Speak to the Iſraelites, and take of all their Princes twelve Staves, one apiece for each Houſhold of their Fathers, writing every one's Name upon his Staff.

3. And write Aaron's Name upon the Staff of Levi; for there ſhall be one for the Head of a Family of their Fathers.

4. Thou ſhalt alſo put them in the publick Tent, before the Teſtimony, where I meet you.

5. And the Staff of the Man whom I chooſe ſhall bud out; that I may be quiet from the Murmurings of the Iſraelites, which they make againſt you.

6. This Moſes told to the Iſraelites, and all the Princes gave him twelve Staves, each Prince one, for the Houſhold of their Fathers, Aaron's Staff being among theirs.

7. And Moſes put them before the Lord, in the Tent of the Teſtimony.

8. Into which going the next Day, behold the Staff of Aaron for the Family of Levi was budded out; and not only brought forth Buds, but bloſſomed Flowers, and yielded Almonds.

9. He then brought out all the Staves from before the Lord to all the Iſraelites, who ſaw it, and they took each his own.

10. Next the Lord ſaid to him, Bring back Aaron's Staff before the Teſtimony, to be kept for a Sign to the rebellious; that thou mayeſt end their Murmurings to me, that they may not die.

11. Thus Moſes did, doing entirely according as the Lord commanded him.

12. But the Iſraelites uttered themſelves to Moſes; Behold, we are dying! we are periſhing, all of us periſh!

13. Every one who goes at all near to the Tabernacle of the Lord will be killed: ſhall we die entirely?

CHAP. XVIII.

UPON this the Lord ſaid to Aaron: Thou, with thy Sons, and thy Father's Family ſhall bear the Iniquity of the Sanctuary; thou and thy Sons your ſelves that of your Prieſthood.

2. So bring alſo thy Brethren, of the Tribe of Levi, that of thy Father, with thee, and let them be joined to thee, and wait on thee; but let thy Sons be with thee before the Tent of the Teſtimony.

3. And the former ſhall take care of thy Buſineſs, and that of the whole Tent; yet muſt not approach to the conſecrated Things, or the Altar, that both they and you may not die.

4. However they ſhall be joined with thee, ſo as to look after the Affairs belonging to all the Service of the publick Tent; and no Stranger ſhall come near you.

5. Thus ſhall you take care of the Buſineſs both of the Sanctuary, and the Altar; that there may no more be Wrath upon the Iſraelites.

6. Behold even I took your Brethren the Levites from among the Iſraelites: they are given to you a Gift for the Lord, to do the Service of the publick Tent.

7. But thou, and thy Sons with thee, ſhall take care of your Prieſthood, about every Matter of the Altar and within the Veil, as alſo ſerve: I make your Prieſthood a given Service, and the Stranger who comes near ſhall be put to death.

8. Lo I give to thee, and thy Sons by a laſting Ordinance, ſaid the Lord to Aaron, the Charge of my Offerings, with all the conſecrated Things of the Iſraelites, by reaſon of the Anointing.

9. The following ſhall be thine, and thy Sons, of the Things ſaved from the Fire that are very holy; all their Oblations, of all their Meat-offerings, Sin-offerings and Treſpaſs-offerings, which they render to me.

10. Thou and every Male ſhall eat them at the very Holy Place, they being holy to thee.

11. Theſe ſhall likewiſe be thine; their given Lifted-offering, with all the Waved-offerings of the Iſraelites, which I give both to thy Sons and Daughters, together with thee, by a laſting Ordinance: every one of thy own Family who is clean may eat of the ſame.

12. I give thee all the firſt and beſt of the Oil, as alſo of the new Wine and Wheat, which they ſhall give to the Lord.

13. The Firſt-fruits of all that is in their Country, which they bring to the Lord, ſhall be thine: every one of thy own Family who is clean may eat of them.

14. Thou ſhalt have every dedicated Thing in Iſrael.

15. Every one that comes firſt out of the Womb, of all Fleſh which they bring to the Lord, whether of Man or Beaſt, ſhall be thine: however a firſt-born Child, ſhalt thou redeem, as thou ſhalt the Firſtling of an unclean Beaſt.

16. And the Redemption of a Child ſhall be from his Month, which thou ſhalt value at five holy Shekels of Silver, each being twenty Gerahs.

17. But the Firſtling of a Cow, with that of a Sheep or Goat, ſhalt thou not redeem, they being conſecrated: thou ſhalt ſprinkle their Blood upon the Altar, and burn their Fat, to be an Offering by Fire, for a pleaſant Smell to the Lord.

18. And their Fleſh ſhall belong to thee, as both the waved Breaſt, and the right Shoulder do.

19. All the Offerings of the conſecrated Things, which the Iſraelites ſhall offer up to the Lord, do I give thee, together with thy Sons and Daughters, by a laſting Ordinance: it ſhall be a laſting Covenant of Salt before the Lord, both to thee, and thy Offſpring with thee.

20. Thou ſhalt not poſſeſs any Thing in the Country of the Iſraelites, added the Lord to Aaron, nor have a Part among them: I will be thy Part and Poſſeſſion there.

21. And behold, I give the Poſterity of Levi all the Tithe in Iſrael for a Poſſeſſion; for their Service of the publick Tent, which they do.

22. So let the Iſraelites no more approach the publick Tent, to die by bearing Sin.

23. For the Levites ſhall do the Service of it, and bear their Iniquity. It ſhall be a laſting Ordinance to your Generations, that they ſhall have no Poſſeſſion among the Iſraelites.

24. The reaſon, I ſay of them, that they ſhall have no Poſſeſſion among the Iſraelites is, becauſe I give them their Tithe for a Poſſeſſion, which the others ſhall offer up for an Offering to the Lord.

25. Beſides the Lord ſaid to Moſes as follows:

26. Speak alſo to the Levites, ſaying to them; When you receive the Tithe of the Iſraelites, which I give you for your Poſſeſſion from them, you ſhall offer up the Tithe of that, for an Offering out of it to the Lord.

27. And your Offering ſhall be counted to you as that of Corn out of the Floor, and of Liquor out of the Wine-preſs.

28. Now you muſt offer up ſuch an Offering to the Lord, out of all your Tithes which you receive of the Iſraelites, giving it to Aaron the Prieſt.

29. Every Offering that you offer up to the Lord out of all your Gifts, ſhall be of all the beſt of them, which is to be their conſecrated Part.

30. Say therefore to them; When you have offered up the beſt of them, let them be counted to the Levites as the Increaſe of the Floor, and that of the Wine-preſs.

31. Then you and your Families may eat them in any Place: for they ſhall be your Reward for your Service in the publick Tent.

32. And when you offer up the beſt of them, you ſhall bear no Sin concerning them, nor will you profane the Iſraelites conſecrated Things, and ſo ſhall not die.

THE Lord further ſaid thus, as well to Aaron as Moſes,

2. That the following was an Ordinance of the Law which he himſelf commanded: Tell the Iſraelites, that they ſhould fetch thee a perfect red Heifer, in which is no Blemiſh, and upon which there has come no Yoke.

3. And her you ſhall give to Eleazer the Prieſt, who ſhall have her forth without the Camp, and ſhe ſhall be killed before him.

4. Then let him take ſome of her Blood with his Finger, and ſprinkle it over againſt the Front of the publick Tent ſeven times.

5. Next the Heifer ſhall be burnt in his Sight, with her Skin, Fleſh, Blood and Dung.

6. Moreover the Prieſt ſhall take Cedar-wood, Hyſſop and ſcarlet Thread, and caſt into the midſt of her Burning.

7. As he ſhall alſo waſh his Cloaths, and bathe his Fleſh in Water; after which he may come into the Camp, but ſhall be unclean till the Evening.

8. Nay he who has burnt her, ſhall both waſh his Cloaths and bathe his Fleſh in Water, and be unclean till the Evening.

9. And a clean Perſon ſhall gather up, and lay the Aſhes of the Heifer in a clean Place without the Camp; ſo they ſhall be to the Aſſembly of the Iſraelites for a Water of Separation, which ſhall be kept for Sin.

10. He likewiſe who gathers up her Aſhes ſhall waſh his Cloaths, and be unclean till the Evening. This ſhall be a laſting Ordinance to the Iſraelites, and to him who ſojourns amongſt them.

11. He that touches the dead Body of any Man ſhall be unclean ſeven Days.

12. On the third Day he ſhall purify himſelf with this, and on the ſeventh Day be clean; but if he does not purify himſelf on the third Day, he ſhall not be clean on the ſeventh.

13. What Perſon ſoever touches the dead Body of a Man who is deceaſed, and does not purify himſelf, will defile the Tabernacle of the Lord, and ſhall be cut off from Iſrael: when the Water of Separation is not ſprinkled on him, he is unclean, with his Uncleanneſs ſtill upon him.

14. This ſhall be the Law when a Man dies in a Tent: All who come into the Tent, and all who are in it, ſhall be unclean ſeven Days.

15. And every open Veſſel, upon which there is no Cloth faſtened, ſhall be unclean.

16. Whoever alſo touches abroad upon the Ground, one who is killed with a Sword, or dead, a Bone of a Man, or a Grave, ſhall be unclean ſeven Days.

17. And after they have taken for the Unclean, ſome of the Aſhes of the Burning for Sin, and Spring Water is put into a Veſſel with them;

18. Let a clean Man take Hyſſop, and dip in the Water, and ſprinkle upon the Tent, upon all the Veſſels, and Perſons who were there; upon him likewiſe that has touched a Bone, or one that is ſlain or dead, or a Grave.

19. Thus when the Clean has ſprinkled upon him who is unclean, on the third Day and the ſeventh, he ſhall be purified on the ſeventh Day; and waſhing his Cloaths, and bathing in Water, be clean in the Evening.

20. Whereas that Perſon who is unclean, and does not purify himſelf, ſhall be cut off from among the Congregation; when he defiles the Sanctuary of the Lord, not having the Water of Separation ſprinkled upon him, and being unclean.

21. It ſhall be a laſting Ordinance to you, that he who ſprinkles the Water of Separation ſhall waſh his Cloaths, and he who touches it, be unclean till the Evening.

22. Nay all which an unclean Perſon touches ſhall be unclean, as ſhall the Perſon who touches that, till the Evening.

CHAP. XX.

AT length the whole Aſſembly of the Iſraelites came into the Wilderneſs of Zin, in the firſt Month, and the People ſtaid at Kadeſh; where Miriam died, and was buried.

2. And having no Water, they gathered together againſt Moſes and Aaron:

3. As alſo quarrelled with Moſes, ſaying thus; Oh that we had died when our Brethren did before the Lord!

4. Why did you bring the Congregation of the Lord into this Wilderneſs, for we and our Cattle to die here?

5. And why did you cauſe us to come up from Egypt, to bring us to this bad Place? Which is neither a Place of Corn, Figs, Vines, nor Pomegranates; nay there is no Water to drink.

6. Upon this Moſes and Aaron went from the Preſence of the Congregation, to the Door of the publick Tent, and fell on their Faces; to whom the Glory of the Lord appearing,

7. He ſaid to Moſes as follows,

8. Take the Staff, and thou with thy Brother Aaron having gathered the Aſſembly together, ſpeak you to the Rock in their Sight, that it ſhould yield its Water: ſo thou ſhalt bring them Water out of it, and make both the Aſſembly and their Cattle drink.

9. And Moſes taking the Staff from before the Lord, as he commanded him;

10. When he and Aaron had gathered the Congregation before the Rock, he ſaid to them; Hear now, you Rebels, can we make Water come out of this Rock for you?

11. Then lifting up his Hand, he ſtruck the Rock twice with his Staff; whereupon there came out much Water, ſo that the Aſſembly and their Cattle drank.

12. But the Lord declared to Moſes and Aaron, Becauſe you did not believe me, to ſanctify me in the Sight of the Iſraelites, therefore you ſhall not bring this Congregation into the Country which I give them.

13. This was the Water of Meribah, at which the Iſraelites contended with the Lord, and he was ſanctified through them.

14. And from Kadeſh Moſes ſent Ambaſſadors to the King of Edom, who ſpoke thus in the Name of his Brother Iſrael; Thou knoweſt all the Fatigue which we have met with;

15. That our Forefathers went down to Egypt, where we dwelt a long time, and the Egyptians dealt ill with us and our Fathers.

16. But when we cried to the Lord, he heard what we ſaid, and ſending an Angel, brought us out of Egypt. And behold we are at Kadeſh, a City on the outſide of thy Border.

17. Let us paſs through thy Country, we pray: we will not go through the Fields, or the Vineyards, nor drink Water out of the Wells; but go in the King's Highway, without turning aſide to the right Hand or the left, till we have paſſed thy Bounds.

18. To which the Edomite anſwered, You muſt not paſs through what is mine, leſt I ſhould come out to meet you with the Sword.

19. And though the Iſraelites replied to him, We will go up in the Road, and if we or our Cattle drink of thy Water, we will give to the Worth of it; we will do nothing elſe but paſs along on our Feet:

20. Yet he ſaid, You ſhall not paſs; beſides he came out to meet them with numerous People, and ſtrong Power.

21. So he refuſing to give Iſrael leave to paſs through his Bounds, they turned away from him.

22. The whole Aſſembly of Iſrael there-

25. Take Aaron and his Son Eleazar, and have them up Mount Hor.

26. And when thou haſt pulled off Aaron's Garments, and put them on Eleazar his Son, Aaron ſhall be taken away there by Death.

27. This Moſes did as the Lord commanded; and they went up Mount Hor in the Sight of the whole Aſſembly.

28. On the Top of which Aaron died, after Moſes had pulled off his Garments, and put them on his Son Eleazar; then Moſes and Eleazar went down from the Mountain.

29. And all the Aſſembly, the whole Family of Iſrael, finding that Aaron was dead, mourned for him thirty Days.

CHAP. XXI.

NOW the Canaanite King of Arad, who dwelt in the South, having heard that Iſrael was coming the Way of the Spies, fought againſt them, and took ſome of them Priſoners.

2. Whereupon they made a Vow to the Lord, that if he would at all deliver thoſe People into their Power, they would deſtroy their Cities.

3. And the Lord hearkening to what they ſaid, delivered up the Canaanites, and they deſtroyed them as well as their Cities: hence the Place was named Hormah.

4. But as the People were marching from Mount Hor, the Way to the Red Sea, that they might go round by the Country of Edom, their Souls ſhrunk at the Journey.

5. And they ſpoke againſt God and Moſes, Why did you bring us up from Egypt, to die in the Wilderneſs? For here is no Bread nor Water; and we are weary at our Hearts of this ſlight Food.

6. The Lord therefore ſent fiery Serpents among the People, which bit them, ſo that many People of Iſrael died.

7. They then came to Moſes, and ſaid, We have ſinned, becauſe we ſpoke againſt the Lord and thee; pray to him, that he may take away the Serpents from us. Accordingly he prayed for them.

8. And the Lord ſaid to him, Make thee a fiery Serpent, and put it on a Pole; and every one who is bit, when he looks at it, ſhall live.

9. So Moſes made a Serpent of Braſs, and having put it on a Standard, though a Serpent bit any one, yet if he looked at that, he lived.

10. And the Iſraelites marched on, and encamped at Oboth.

11. Marching from Oboth, they encamped at the Heaps of Abarim, in the Wilderneſs which is before Moab, towards the riſing of the Sun.

12. Whence they marched, and encamped at the Brook of Zered:

13. As they did after their next March at the Paſſage of Arnon, which is in the Wilderneſs coming out from the Border of the Amorites; for Arnon was the Border of Moab, between that and the Amorites.

14. Therefore in the Account of the Wars of the Lord, there is related that of Vaheb by a Whirlwind, and of the Brooks of Arnon,

15. As alſo of the Overflowing of the Brooks, which turns to the Habitation of Ar, and leans on the Border of Moab.

16. They went from thence to Beer, a Well to which the Lord ordered Moſes to gather the People, that he might give them Water.

17. Then Iſrael ſung this Song, Spring up, O Well; ſing to it:

18. The Well which the Princes have digged, the Nobles of the People by means of the Law-giver dug with their Staves. Out of the Wilderneſs they went on to Mattanah,

19. From thence to Nahaliel, thence to Bamoth;

20. And thence to the Valley which is in the Region of Moab, at the Beginning of Piſgah, which faces the Deſart.

21. Moreover Iſrael ſent Ambaſſadors to Sihon King of the Amorites, who ſaid,

22. Let us paſs through thy Country; we will neither turn aſide into the Fields, or the Vineyards, nor drink Water out of the Wells; but go on in the King's Highway, till we have paſſed thy Borders.

23. Nevertheleſs Sihon would not grant Iſrael to do it; but gathering all his People together, went out to the Wilderneſs to meet them; and when he came to Jahaz, fought with them.

24. But they put him to the Sword; and poſſeſſed his Country from Arnon to Jabbok, even to the Ammonites: for the Border of the Ammonites was ſtrong.

25. Thus Iſrael having taken all theſe Cities of the Amorites, dwelt in them, in Heſhbon and all its Towns.

26. For Heſhbon was the City of Sihon King of the Amorites; he having fought with the former King of Moab, and taken all his Country from him as far as Arnon.

27. They uſed to ſay therefore in a Proverb; Come to Heſhbon, the City of Sihon will be built, and eſtabliſhed.

28. For there is a Fire gone out of Heſhbon, a Flame out of the Town of Sihon; which has conſumed Ar of Moab, the Owners of the high Places of Arnon.

29. Wo is to thee, Moab; you are periſhed, O People of Chemoſh: he has delivered up his Sons who eſcaped, and his Daughters, for Priſoners to Sihon King of the Amorites.

30. We ſhooting at them, Heſhbon periſhed even to Dibon; and we laid them waſte as far as Nophah, which reaches to Medeba.

31. Now while Iſrael inhabited the Country of the Amorites,

32. Moſes ſent to ſpy Jazer, the Towns of which they took, and drove away the Amorites who were there.

33. After this they turned, and went up the Way to Baſhan; and Og the King of it came out with all his People, to meet them in Battle at Edrei.

34. Upon which the Lord ſaid to Moſes, Be not afraid of him: for I deliver him into thy Power, with all his People and Country; and thou ſhalt do to him, as thou haſt done to Sihon King of the Amorites, who dwelt at Heſhbon.

CHAP. XXII.

AFTERWARDS the Iſraelites marched, and encamped on the Plains of Moab, at the Side of Jordan againſt Jericho.

2. Now Balak the Son of Zippor ſaw all that Iſrael had done to the Amorites.

3. And the Moabite being exceedingly afraid, and vexed by reaſon of the People of Iſrael, becauſe they were many,

4. Said to the Elders of Midian, Now will this Company lick up all that is round about us, as an Ox does the Graſs of the Field; Balak the Son of Zippor being King of Moab at that Time.

5. So he ſent Meſſengers to Balaam the Son of Beor at Pethor, which was by the River of his People's Country, to call him as follows; Behold there are a People come out of Egypt, lo they cover the Ground as far as one can ſee, and abide over againſt me.

6. Therefore come now, I beſeech thee, curſe them for me, becauſe they are ſtronger than I; perhaps I ſhall be able to beat them, and drive them out of the Country: for I know that he whom thou bleſſeſt is bleſſed, and he that thou curſeſt is curſed.

7. And when the Elders of Moab and thoſe of Midian, who went with Pay for Divination in their Cuſtody, came to Balaam, and told him the Meſſage of Balak;

8. He bade them lodge there that Night, and he would return them Word, as the Lord ſhould ſpeak to him: accordingly the Princes of Moab ſtaid with him.

9. At which God coming to Balaam, ſaid, Who are thoſe Men with thee?

10. Whom he anſwered, that Balak the Son of Zippor King of Moab had ſent him Word,

11. Behold there are a People come out of Egypt, and cover the Ground as far as one can ſee: come now, curſe them for me; perhaps I ſhall be able to fight them, and drive them out.

12. But God replied to him; Do not go with them, nor curſe the People; for they are bleſſed.

13. Upon this Balaam aroſe in the Morning, and ſaid to Balak's Princes; Go to your Country, for the Lord refuſes to let me go with you.

14. And the Princes of Moab getting ready, and going to Balak, told that Balaam refuſed to come with them.

15. Balak then ſent Princes yet again, more and more honourable than thoſe.

16. Who coming to Balaam, told him that Balak the Son of Zippor ſaid as follows; Be not with-held, I pray, from coming to me;

17. For I will not only honour thee very highly, but do all that thou ſhalt ſay to me: come therefore, I beſeech thee, curſe this People for me.

18. And he made this Anſwer to Balak's Servants; If Balak would give me his Houſe full of Silver and Gold, I cannot tranſgreſs the Command of the Lord my God, by doing leſs or more;

19. Now therefore be pleaſed to ſtay here alſo to Night, that I may know what the Lord will ſpeak to me further.

20. And at Night God came to Balaam, and ſaid to him; If the Men come to call thee, riſe up, go with them; but thou muſt only do the Thing which I tell thee.

21. However Balaam roſe in the Morning, and ſaddled his Aſs, and went with the Princes of Moab.

22. So that God being angry becauſe he went, an Angel of the Lord placed himſelf in the Way to oppoſe him; as he rode upon his Aſs, having his two Servants with him.

Ver. 19. here] at Pethor, but not in Balaam's Houſe, ſince they muſt come to him, if they called him, Ver. 20.

Ver. 20. only] the principal Signification of אַךְ When God ſaw that Balaam was minded to go, contrary to his Command, Ver. 12. it ſeems he would divert him from it thus. What Balaam had ſaid already, Ver. 18. joined with the Conſideration of what he ſaid before, Ver. 13. might well be taken by the Princes for a ſufficient Anſwer: for as he was ſo poſitive, that he would not do otherwiſe than God ordered him, and had declared God would not permit him to go, how could they think God would alter his Mind? Beſides thoſe great Men might probably be too much affronted with Balaam's Anſwer, to wait on him again; and ſo while he was ſtaying for them, they might have went away in the Morning, if Balaam had done as God commanded: inſtead of which he might go to them, if not after them; eſpecially as he ſeems alone, or with the Servants only, when the Angel met him.

Ver. 22. becauſe he went] contrary to God's Will and Permiſſion, Ver. 20, 32.

23. And the Aſs ſaw the Angel of the Lord ſtanding there, with his Sword drawn forth in his Hand, at which ſhe turned aſide out of the Road, and went into the Field; though Balaam beat her, to turn her into the Way.

24. Next the Lord's Angel ſtood in a Lane among the Vineyards, where there was a Fence on each Side.

25. Whom the Aſs ſeeing, preſſed to the Wall, and ſqueezed Balaam's Foot againſt it; who beat her again.

26. Hereupon the Angel of the Lord went further, and ſtood in a narrow Place, in which there was no Way to turn aſide, to the right Hand nor the left.

27. And when the Aſs ſaw him, ſhe lay down under Balaam; incenſed at which, he beat her with a Staff.

28. But the Lord opened her Mouth to ſay to him; What have I done to thee, that thou haſt beat me theſe three times?

29. It was becauſe thou madeſt ſport with me, he anſwered her; I wiſh I had a Sword in my Hand, that I might now kill thee.

30. Whereas ſhe replied to him, Am not I thy Aſs whom thou haſt rode upon ever ſince I was thine to this Day? Have I been at all uſed to do ſo to thee? And he ſaid, No.

31. Then the Lord uncovered Balaam's Eyes, who ſeeing his Angel ſtand in the Way, with his Sword drawn forth in his Hand, bowed down on his Face.

32. And the Angel of the Lord ſaid to him; Why didſt thou beat thy Aſs theſe three times? Behold I came out to oppoſe thee, becauſe the Journey is wrong before me.

33. Thus the Aſs ſeeing me, turned aſide from my Face each time; unleſs ſhe had, I ſhould now alſo have killed thee, and let her live.

34. And Balaam anſwered him; I have ſinned, becauſe I did not know that thou ſtoodeſt in the Way to meet me; and now if thou art diſpleaſed, I will get me back again.

35. The Angel of the Lord notwithſtanding replied to him; Go with the Men, however ſpeak only that which I ſhall to thee. And Balaam went with the Princes of Balak.

36. When Balak alſo heard that he was coming, he went out to meet him to a City of Moab, which is upon the Border of Arnon, at the End of the Border.

37. And he ſaid to Balaam, Why wouldeſt not thou come to me, when I ſent to thee ſo earneſtly to call thee? Cannot I indeed dignify thee?

38. But Balaam anſwered him, Lo can I ſay any thing of my ſelf now I am come? I muſt ſpeak the Words which God puts into my Mouth.

39. Nevertheleſs going with Balak, they came to Kirjath-huzoth.

40. Where Balak killed Oxen and Sheep, and ſent for Balaam, and the Princes who were with him.

41. Beſides in the Morning he took Balaam, and had him up the high Places of Baal, from whence he might ſee the Outſide of the People.

CHAP. XXIII.

AND Balaam ſaid to him, Build me here ſeven Altars, and prepare here for me ſeven Bullocks, and ſo many Rams.

2. Balak having done as he ordered, they two offered up a Bullock and a Ram on each Altar.

3. Next Balaam ſaid to him, Stand by thy Burnt-offering while I go; perhaps the Lord will meet me, then will I tell thee what he ſhews me. So he went to a high Place;

4. Reciting to God when he met him, that he had put in order ſeven Altars, and offered up a Bullock and a Ram on each of them.

5. And the Lord put Words into Balaam's Mouth, bidding him return to Balak, and ſpeak them.

6. At his returning to him, behold he ſtood by his Burnt-offering, with all the Princes of Moab.

7. And he uttered his Speech as follows; From Syria has Balak the King of Moab brought me, from the Mountains of the Eaſt; Come, curſe Jacob for me, and come, diſdain Iſrael.

Ver. 30. thine] Noldius in Heb. Concordan. Annot. 1667. from ſome Jewiſh Writers, and comparing it with the like Words, Gen. xlviii. 15. as likewiſe Patrick in Com. would have it ever ſince thou waſt (ſupplying) a Rider; but as the latter obſerves, Balaam being now no young Man, it is not likely the Aſs had carried him ſo long, and inſtead of it my Maſter may be ſupplied, which brings it to the ſame as here rendered; which it may alſo literally ſignify.

Ver. 33. ſhould have killed] which the Aſs perceived.

Ver. 41. Baal] It ſeems likely that the Worſhip of this Idol was taken from the neighbouring Aſſyrians, who had deified their firſt King Belus; as Cedrenus writes, pag. 15. οἱ Ασσύριοι Βάαλ θεὸν ἤτοι Βῆλ μετονομάζοντες, καὶ ἀναστηλώσαντες σέβονται, that is the Aſſyrians call Baal or Bel a god, and worſhip an Image which they ſet up.

Ver. 3. high Place] according as the Word is rendered every where elſe, particularly Jer. iii. 2. and as the Root ſhews it ſignifies; notwithſtanding Patrick writes 'rather, into a Valley.'

Ver. 7. uttered] Heb. took up in his Mouth or Lips, Pſa. l. 16. & xvi. 4. that is uttered, or pronounced.

8. How

8. How ſhall I curſe, whom God has not curſed? And how ſhall I diſdain, the Lord having not diſdained?

9. When I ſee them from the Top of the Rocks, and obſerve them from the Hills, behold the People dwell alone, and are not reckoned among the Nations.

10. Who can count up the Duſt of Jacob, and the Number of the fourth Part of Iſrael? Let me die the Death of the Upright, and may my End be like his.

11. Upon this Balak ſaid to Balaam; What doſt thou do to me? I fetched thee to curſe my Enemies, whom behold thou entirely bleſſeſt.

12. Muſt not I, anſwered he, obſerve to ſpeak what the Lord puts into my Mouth?

13. Then ſaid Balak to him; Vouchſafe to go with me to another Place, whence thou mayeſt ſee them, which thou ſhalt only their Outſide, and not ſee them all; and curſe them for me from thence.

14. So bringing him into the Field of Zophim, to the Beginning of Piſgah, he built ſeven Altars, and offered up a Bullock and a Ram on each of them.

15. He again ſaid to Balak, Stand here by thy Burnt-offering, while I meet yonder.

16. And the Lord met Balaam, and put Words into his Mouth, bidding him return to Balak, and ſpeak them;

17. To whom when he came, behold he ſtood by his Burnt-offering, having the Princes of Moab with him, and aſked him, what the Lord had ſpoken?

18. At which he uttered his Speech as follows: Riſe up, Balak, and hear, liſten to me, thou Son of Zippor.

19. God is not a Man who may lye, or a Son of Man who may repent: Will not he do as he has ſaid? And will not he confirm what he has ſpoken?

20. Behold I am ordered to bleſs; and he having bleſſed, I cannot turn it back.

21. He does not behold Iniquity in Jacob, nor ſee Perverſeneſs in Iſrael: the Lord his God is with him, and the Shouting of a King in him.

22. God brought them out of Egypt: he has Strength like an Unicorn.

23. For there is no Soothſaying againſt Jacob, nor Divination againſt Iſrael: what God has done for Jacob and Iſrael, will be declared according to the Time.

24. Lo the People will get up like a ſtout Lion, and like a Lion rouſe themſelves up; not lying down till they have eat the Prey, and drunk the Blood of the Slain.

25. Balak therefore ſaid to Balaam, Neither curſe, nor yet bleſs, them at all.

26. But he made anſwer to Balak, Did not I tell thee, that I muſt do all which the Lord ſpeaks?

27. Who replied to him, Come, I pray, let me take thee to another Place: perhaps God will not be diſpleaſed, that thou ſhouldeſt curſe them for me from thence.

28. Thus he had Balaam to the Top of Peor, that faces the Deſart.

29. And Balaam ſaid to him, Build me here ſeven Altars, and prepare here for me ſeven Bullocks, and ſo many Rams.

30. Accordingly Balak did as he ordered, and offered up a Bullock and a Ram on each Altar.

CHAP. XXIV.

NOW Balaam ſeeing that the Lord was pleaſed he ſhould bleſs Iſrael, did not go as the Times before, to meet with Soothſayings; but ſet his Face towards the Wilderneſs.

Ver. 9. When] The com. Tranſ. has For; whereas the Reaſon of Balaam's not curſing Iſrael was ſhewn before, and does not appear to be his ſeeing them, which was done with a contrary Intent. So Trem. and Jun. with Caſtal. quum.

10. Upon which Balak was incenſed at Balaam, and ſtriking his Hands together, ſaid to him; I called thee to curſe my Enemies, whom behold thou haſt entirely bleſſed theſe three times.

11. Therefore get thee gone now ſpeedily to thy Place: I ſaid I would highly dignify thee, but lo the Lord with-holds thee from Dignity.

12. Did not I alſo tell thy Meſſengers, replied Balaam to him, when thou ſenteſt to me,

13. That if Balak would give me his Houſe full of Silver and Gold, I could not tranſgreſs the Command of the Lord, by doing Good or Bad of my own Mind, I muſt ſpeak that which the Lord ſaid?

14. And now behold I am going to my People, come, let me adviſe thee by what this People will do to thine in the latter Days.

15. So he uttered his Speech as follows: Balaam the Son of Beor ſays, even the Man whoſe Eye is opened does;

16. He that has heard the Sayings of God, and been acquainted with the Knowledge of the Supreme Being, who has ſeen a Viſion of the Almighty, falling down with the Eyes uncovered, ſays;

17. I ſee it, though not now, I obſerve it, though not near; a Star will come from Jacob, and a Scepter riſe from Iſrael, which will ſmite the Corners of Moab, and lay waſte all the Poſterity of Seth.

18. Edom and Seir will both be the Poſſeſſion of their Enemies, and Iſrael will do valiantly.

19. One from Jacob will rule, and deſtroy the Remainder from the City.

20. Next looking at Amalek, he uttered the following Speech; Amalek was the firſt of the Nations, but its End will be Deſtruction for ever.

Ver. 3. ſays] hath ſaid when beſides now?

Ib. Eye] of his Mind or Underſtanding perhaps, in Contradiſtinction to thoſe of the Body, Ver. 4.

Ver. 4. heard] He ſeems to deſcribe the Manner of his Revelation, to ſhew the Certainty of it: for his having divine Illuminations, ſee alſo Patrick's Append. to Job.

Ib. falling down] at the Sight of the Viſion, yet looking to ſee it.

Ver. 6. planted them] Thus Jun. and Trem. plantavit eos. And the Lord may rather be ſaid to have planted the Iſraelites, or their Tents in the Camp, as Chap. ii. than thoſe Trees, and not the Cedars, eſpecially as which is added in tranſlating, though not marked.

Ver. 7. The Water will] So in the Vulg. and Tigur. Verſions, with thoſe of Munſt. Caſtal. Pagn. and Montan. it is aqua the Subject, not aquam the Object of the Verb, nor is there the Article of the latter in Heb. Our Commentators Poole and Patrick expound as uſual from the Eng. Tranſlation, He to be God, as if it was not ſpoken of the ſame that the reſt of the Verſe is.

Ver. 11. ſaid] as Chap. xxii. 17. and the Verb uſually ſignifies.

Ver. 14. adviſe] His Advice is ſuppoſed to be what is mentioned Chap. xxxi. 16. and omitted here. 'The 'Heb. Word Jaatz conſtantly ſignifies to give counſel,' Patrick; ſee Rev. ii. 14. and Ainſw. Annot.

Ib. by what] q. d. ſince the Iſraelites will moleſt you, I will adviſe thee how to be beforehand with them.

Ver. 17. I ſee it] as repreſented in the Viſion.

Ib. not now] not as being now, but to be hereafter: thus Patrick.

Ib. lay waſte] The Obſervation of Prideaux is, that it ſhould not be tranſlated deſtroy. 'For if the Meſſiah, 'ſays he (who is underſtood to be meant) were to de-'ſtroy all the Sons of Men (as thoſe of Seth were after 'the Flood) where would then his Scepter be?' Connection, Part ii. B. viii. But I muſt do the Original Text Juſtice, againſt the Interpretation he puts upon it from the Jews, ſhall bear rule over: for קַרְקַר properly ſignifies to break down Walls, as Iſai. xxii. 5. from קִיר a Wall, or as Abarbinel ſays to unwall, in Maſhmiah Jeſhuah, f. 7. and ſo metaphorically lay waſte, agreeable to the ancient Latin vaſtabit. And whereas Prideaux cites the Targum for his Expoſition, which has שלוט he might have known that Verb ſometimes ſignifies to ruſh or fall upon, as in the Targum of Judg. viii. 21. 1 Sam. xxii. 17, 18. 2 Sam. i. 15, &c. This Place being underſtood of Chriſt the ſpiritual King, his laying waſte might be with reſpect to the Idolatry and Superſtition of Mankind, or breaking down the Wall of Partition between Jews and Gentiles, Eph. ii. 14. Nevertheleſs in the Senſe that this Text is reſtricted to Moab, it ſeems to be a Prophecy of David, 2 Sam. viii. 2. and the People of that Country might be called the Poſterity of Seth, becauſe they were ſo before the Flood. If our Tranſlators put it Sheth to make it ſeem another, it was a very poor Shift.

Ver. 20. firſt] This ſeems weakly expounded that Amalek firſt made war againſt Iſrael, eſpecially ſince Agag is ſpoken of as ſuch a great King, Ver. 7. who appears to be King of Amalek, by that being the common Name of its Kings, 1 Sam. xv. 8.

21. And

21. And looking at the Kenites, he continued his Speech thus; Your Habitation is ſtrong, by making your Neſt in a Rock;

22. Yet you will be taken away, till the Aſſyrians have carried you away captive.

23. He concluded his Speech too with this; Alas, who will live when God does it?

24. Afterwards Ships from the Coaſt of Chittim, will afflict both Aſſyria and Eber; and that too will periſh for ever.

25. And Balaam getting ready, went back to his Place, and Balak alſo went his Way.

CHAP. XXV.

THEN Iſrael ſtaying at Shittim, the People began to commit Fornication with the Women of Moab.

2. Who invited them to the Sacrifices of their gods, and the People eat, and bowed down to them.

3. Iſrael being thus joined to Baal-peor, the Lord was angry with them:

4. Inſomuch that he ſaid to Moſes, Take all the chief of thoſe People, and hang them up to the Lord before the Sun, that the Lord's fervent Anger may be turned away ſtom Iſrael·

5. So Moſes bade the Judges of Iſrael, each one ſlay his Men who were joined to Baal-peor.

6. And behold there came a Man of the Iſraelites, and brought a Woman of Midian near his Brethren, in the Sight both of Moſes and the whole Aſſembly of the Iſraelites, who were weeping at the Door of the publick Tent:

7. Which Phinehas, the Son of Eleazar, the Son of Aaron the Prieſt, ſeeing, he roſe up from among the Aſſembly, and took a Spear in his Hand;

8. And going into her Brothel-houſe after the Man of Iſrael, he ran both him and the Woman through there. Then was the Plague ſtopped from the Iſraelites:

9. In which there died four and twenty thouſand.

10. Whereupon the Lord ſpoke as follows to Moſes;

11. Phinehas, the Son of Eleazar, the Son of Aaron the Prieſt, has turned away my Wrath from the Iſraelites, ſo that I have not conſumed them in my Zeal, by his being zealous with the ſame among them.

12. Therefore declare that I give him my Covenant of Peace;

13. Even that of the laſting Prieſthood, which he and his Offspring after him ſhall have; foraſmuch as he has been zealous for his God, and made atonement for the Iſraelites.

14. Now the Name of that Man of Iſrael, who was ſlain with the Woman of Midian, was Zimri, the Son of Salu, a Prince of a Father's Houſhold belonging to the Simeonites:

15. And her Name was Cozbi, the Daughter of Zur; he was the Head of one of the Nations, of a Father's Houſhold in Midian.

16. The Lord ſaid further to Moſes thus;

17. Aſſault the Midianites, that you may ſlay them;

Ver. 22. taken away] according as the Verb is rendered in the ſame Conjugation, 2 Chron. xix. 3. 1 Kings xiv. 10. & xxi. 21. & xxii. 46. 2 Kings xxiii. 24. Deut. xiii. 5, &c. &c. & xxvi. 13, 14. 2 Sam. iv. 11. and ſeldom ſignifies to eat or feed on, then not metaphorically as our Tranſlators took it. Pagn. removendum.

Ver. 1. Shittim] called Abel-ſhittim Chap. xxxiii. 49. their laſt Station before they entered Canaan.

Ib. commit] That this was brought to paſs through Balaam's Advice, we may learn by Chap. xxxi. 16. Rev. ii. 14. and Joſephus has given, or rather framed, his Speech to Balak and the Midianites on this Occaſion, Antiq. Lib. iv. 6.

Ver. 4. thoſe] who committed Idolatry: for which the Heb. has the demonſtrative ה as Jer. xxiii. 21. Jun. and Trem. have tranſlated, iſtius populi, of that People.

Ver. 8. her] there being the Pronoun ſo ſignifying to the latter Word.

Ib. Brothel-houſe] It may ſeem ſomething ſtrange to have two Nouns both alike in the ſame Verſe, one ſignifying tent and the other belly, as in the com. Tranſ. whereas Jun. and Trem. have rendered it each Time by lupanar, as the Vulg. Lat. Tranſ. and Montan. have the former. The Heb. Root may denote it to be an execrable place, which does not appear in the other Words; ſee Leigh's Crit. Sacr. and Gell's Eſſay, p. 558.

Ver. 9. four and twenty thouſand] a thouſand leſs are mentioned 1 Cor. x. 8. who either might not die the ſame Day, or be ſlain as Ver. 4, 5. not by the Plague; ſee Chap. xxvi. 14.

Ver. 11. with the ſame] Heb. with my Zeal, my Zeal being the ſame as juſt before; not for my ſake.

Ver. 13. the laſting Prieſthood] that which was given to Aaron's Family, which was called ſo; not another diſtinct Prieſthood; ſee of this largely in Shuckford's Connect. Book ii. However as the Prieſthood belonged to Phinehas by Birth, this ſeems to be the high Prieſthood, which he ſhould have from among his Brothers, 1 Chron. xxiv. 3, 4. but the Poſterity of Ithamar having it ſome Time, his had not an everlaſting Prieſthood, but the &c. as above.

Ver. 14, 15. a Father's Houſhold] By ſuch a Father ſeems to be meant one of the Sons of the firſt Founder, as Midian had five Sons, Gen. xxv. 4. and five Kings or Heads, Num. xxxi. 8. of which Zur was one.

Ver. 15. Nations] he being a King, Chap. xxxi. 8.

Ver. 17. Aſſault] uſe hoſtility or act like enemies, as the Verb ſignifies, and the following Words may ſhew.

18. Becauſe they aſſault you, with their Contrivances which they made againſt you in the Affair of Peor, and that of Cozbi their Siſter, one of their Prince's Daughters, who was killed on the Day of the Plague that was for the Matter of Peor.

CHAP. XXVI.

AND after the Plague, the Lord ordered Moſes, and Eleazar the Son of Aaron the Prieſt,

2. To take the Sum of the whole Aſſembly of the Iſraelites, from their twentieth Year upward, after the Houſhold of their Fathers, being all that were to go out to War of Iſrael.

3. Accordingly they gave them order in the Plains of Moab, at Jordan againſt Jericho,

4. That it ſhould be at that Age; as the Lord commanded Moſes, and the Iſraelites who came out of the Country of Egypt.

5. Of the Sons of Reuben the Firſt-born of Iſrael were, of Enoch the Family of the Enochites, of Phallu the Family of the Phalluites,

6. Of Hezron the Family of the Hezronites, of Carmi that of the Carmites:

7. Theſe being the Families of the Reubenites, and of them there were numbered forty three thouſand ſeven hundred and thirty.

8. And the Sons of Phallu Eliab:

9. Whoſe Sons were Nemuel, Dathan and Abiram: they being the Dathan and Abiram that were famous in the Aſſembly, who contended with Moſes and Aaron among the Company of Korah, when they contended with the Lord.

10. Upon which the Earth opened its Mouth, and ſwallowed them up with Korah, when that Company was killed, when the Fire conſumed the two hundred and fifty Men, ſo that they became a Sign.

11. Nevertheleſs the Children of Korah were not killed.

12. Of the Sons of Simeon after their Families were, of Nemuel the Family of the Nemuelites, of Jamin the Family of the Jaminites, of Jachin the Family of the Jachinites,

13. Of Zerah the Family of the Zarhites, of Saul that of the Saulites:

14. Theſe being the Families of the Simeonites, who were twenty two thouſand and two hundred.

15. Of the Sons of Gad after their Families were, of Zephon the Family of the Zephonites, of Haggi the Family of the Haggites, of Shuni the Family of the Shunites,

16. Of Ozni the Family of the Oznites, of Eri the Family of the Erites,

17. Of Arod the Family of the Arodites, of Areli that of the Arelites:

18. Theſe being the Families of the Sons of Gad, of whom were numbered forty thouſand and five hundred.

19. Er and Onan, who were the Sons of Judah, dying in the Country of Canaan;

20. Of his Sons after their Families there were of Shelah, the Family of the Shelanites, of Pharez the Family of the Pharzites, of Zerah that of the Zarhites;

21. And of the Sons of Pharez were, of Hezron the Family of the Hezronites, of Hamul that of the Hamulites:

22. Theſe being the Families of Judah, of whom were numbered ſeventy ſix thouſand and five hundred.

23. Of the Sons of Iſſachar after their Families were, of Tola the Family of the Tolaites, of Phuvah the Family of the Phunites,

24. Of Jaſhub the Family of the Jaſhubites, of Shimron that of the Shimronites:

25. Theſe being the Families of Iſſachar, of whom were numbered ſixty four thouſand and three hundred.

26. Of the Sons of Zebulun after their Families were, of Sered the Family of the Sardites, of Elon the Family of the Elonites, of Jahleel that of the Jahleelites:

27. Theſe being the Families of the Zebulunites, of whom were numbered ſixty thouſand and five hundred.

Ver. 18. the Matter] or Affair, to wit of committing Idolatry with Baal-peor, Ver. 3. proper both to the Heb. and in Engliſh.

Ver. 2. take the Sum] this being the third Time of doing it, Exod. xxxviii. 26. Num. i. 2, 3.

Ver. 5. Enoch] of this and other Names ſee Gen. xlvi.

Ver. 10. with Korah] or and Korah: notwithſtanding which Annotators pretend he was burnt, as being with the 250 Men who oppoſed Aaron in burning Incenſe; but that Conteſt ſeems to have been determined by the Glory of the Lord appearing, &c. Chap. xvi. 19, 20, 21, compared with Ver. 5, 7. before the Earthquake; upon which Korah might go to Dathan and Abiram, and ſo be ſwallowed up with them. What can be plainer, when the Scripture tells he was ſwallowed up, and mentions only 250 Men that were burnt, Chap. xvi. 35. as well as here, of whom he was not one, Chap. xvi. 1, 2, 16, 17? And it is likely that when Moſes went to Dathan and Abiram, Chap. xvi. 25. Korah would likewiſe, to encourage them againſt him, agreeable to Chap. xvi. 1. there being moſt Need of his Preſence; ſee Carpzou's Defence of the Heb. Bib. againſt Whiſton, Objec. 16.

Ver. 14. thouſand] The great Decreaſe in this Tribe of 37100, Chap. i. 23. might be partly owing to the Slaughter, perhaps moſtly made there, for being like their Prince Zimri, Chap. xxv. 9, 14.

28. Joſeph's

28. Joſeph's Sons after their Families being Manaſſeh and Ephraim;

29. Of Machir the Son of Manaſſeh was the Family of the Machirites; and Machir begetting Gilead, of him was the Family of the Gileadites.

30. Of theſe Sons of Gilead were, of Jezer the Family of the Jezerites, of Helek the Family of the Helekites,

31. And of Aſriel the Family of the Aſrielites, of Shechem too the Family of the Shichmites,

32. As alſo of Shemida the Family of the Shemidaites, and of Hepher that of the Hephrites.

33. And Zelophehad the Son of Hepher had no Sons, but Daughters, whoſe Names were, Mahlah and Noah, Hoglah, Milcah and Tirzah.

34. Theſe were the Families of Manaſſeh, of whom were numbered fifty two thouſand and ſeven hundred.

35. Of the Sons of Ephraim after their Families were theſe, of Shuthelah the Family of the Shuthalhites, of Becher the Family of the Bachrites, of Tahan that of the Tahanites;

36. Moreover of Eran the Son of Shuthelah was the Family of the Eranites:

37. Theſe being the Families of the Sons of Ephraim, of whom were numbered thirty two thouſand and five hundred. The foregoing were the Sons of Joſeph after their Families.

38. Of the Sons of Benjamin after their Families were, of Bela the Family of the Balites, of Aſhbel the Family of the Aſhbelites, of Ahiram the Family of the Ahiramites,

39. Of Shephupham the Family of the Shuphamites, of Hupham that of the Huphamites;

40. And of the Sons of Bela, Ard and Naaman, there were the Family of the Ardites, and of Naaman that of the Naamites.

41. Theſe were the Sons of Benjamin after their Families, and of them were numbered forty five thouſand and ſix hundred.

42. Of the Sons of Dan after their Families were theſe, of Shuham the Family of the Shuhamites: theſe being the Families of Dan according to what they were.

43. They who were numbered of the whole Family of the Shuhamites, were ſixty four thouſand and four hundred.

44. Of the Sons of Aſher after their Families were, of Imnah the Family of Imnah, of Iſhvi the Family of the Iſhvites, of Beriah that of the Beriites;

45. Of the Sons of Beriah were, of Heber the Family of the Hebrites, of Malchiel that of the Malchielites.

46. And the Name of Aſher's Daughter was Serah.

47. Theſe were the Families of the Sons of Aſher, of whom were numbered fifty three thouſand and four hundred.

48. Of the Sons of Naphtali after their Families were, of Jahzeel the Family of the Jahzeelites, of Guni the Family of the Gunites,

49. Of Jezer the Family of the Jizrites, of Shillem that of the Shillemites:

50. Theſe being the Families of Naphtali according to what they were, and of them were numbered forty five thouſand and four hundred.

51. The foregoing who were numbered of the Iſraelites, were ſix hundred and one Thouſand ſeven hundred and thirty.

52. Then the Lord ſaid to Moſes as follows:

53. To theſe ſhall the Country be divided for a Poſſeſſion, by the Number of the Names.

54. The Poſſeſſion for many ſhall be made much, and for few little; each one's Poſſeſſion ſhall be given according to thoſe who are numbered of him.

55. However the Country ſhall be divided by Lot, they ſhall have poſſeſſion after the Names of the Tribes of their Fathers.

56. According to the Lot ſhall the Poſſeſſion of it be divided, betwixt many and few.

57. And theſe are they who were numbered of the Levites after their Families; of Gerſhon the Family of the Gerſhonites, of Kohath the Family of the Kohathites, of Merari that of the Merarites.

58. The Families of the Levites being, the Family of the Libnites, thoſe of the Hebronites, Mahlites, Muſhites, and Korehites. Now Kohath begot Amram.

59. And the Name of Amram's Wife was

60. To Aaron alſo were born, Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar.

61. But Nadab and Abihu died, when they offered ſtrange Fire before the Lord.

62. And thoſe who were numbered of them were twenty three thouſand, all the Males from their Month upward: for they were not numbered among the Iſraelites, becauſe they had a Poſſeſſion given among them.

63. Theſe are the Numbers of the Iſraelites, whom Moſes and Eleazar the Prieſt numbered in the Plains of Moab, at Jordan againſt Jericho.

64. Among whom there was not a Man of thoſe that were numbered by Moſes and Aaron the Prieſt, when they numbered the Iſraelites in the Wilderneſs of Sinai.

65. For the Lord ſaid of them, they ſhould quite die in the Wilderneſs: accordingly there was not a Man of them left, excepting Caleb the Son of Jephunneh, and Joſhua the Son of Nun.

CHAP. XXVII.

AND there came the Daughters of Zelophehad, the Son of Hepher, the Son of Gilead, the Son of Machir, the Son of Manaſſeh, of the Families of Manaſſeh the Son of Joſeph, whoſe Names were Mahlah, Nohah, Hoglah, Milcah and Tirzah;

2. And ſtanding before Moſes, Eleazar the Prieſt, the Princes, and the whole Aſſembly, at the Door of the publick Tent, they ſaid;

3. Our Father died in the Wilderneſs, and was not among thoſe who came together againſt the Lord in the Company of Korah; but died in his own Sin, and had no Sons.

4. Why ſhould our Father's Name be taken away from among his Family, becauſe he has no Son? Give us an Inheritance among his Brethren.

5. So Moſes brought the Judgment of them before the Lord.

6. Who gave him the following Anſwer:

7. The Daughters of Zelophehad ſpeak right; give them entirely an Inheritance to poſſeſs among their Father's Brethren, and make his Poſſeſſion paſs to them.

8. And thou ſhalt tell the Iſraelites thus; When a Man dies having no Son, you ſhall make his Poſſeſſion devolve to his Daughter;

9. If he has no Daughter, you ſhall give it to his Brothers;

10. If he has none, to his Father's Brothers;

11. And if his Father has none, to his Kinſman that is neareſt to him of his Family, who ſhall inherit it: which ſhall be a Statute of Judgment to the Iſraelites, as the Lord commanded Moſes.

12. And the Lord ſaid to him; Go up on this Mount Abarim, and ſee the Country that I give to the Iſraelites;

13. Which when thou haſt ſeen, thou ſhalt alſo be gathered to thy People, as thy Brother Aaron was:

14. Since you rebelled in the Wilderneſs of Zin, in the Strife of the Aſſembly, againſt my Command, that you ſhould ſanctify me at the Water in their Sight; namely the Water of Meribah at Kadeſh, in the Wilderneſs of Zin.

15. Moſes then ſaid to the Lord as follows;

16. Let the Lord God of the Spirits of all Fleſh ſet a Man over the Aſſembly,

17. Who ſhall go out and come in before them, having them out, and bringing them in; that the Lord's Aſſembly may not be like Sheep which have no Shepherd.

18. At this the Lord replied to him; Take thee Joſhua the Son of Nun, a Man in whom the Spirit is, and lean thy Hand upon him.

19. Next cauſing him to ſtand before Eleazar the Prieſt, and the whole Aſſembly, give him command in their Sight.

20. Thou ſhalt further put ſome of thy Dignity upon him, that all the Aſſembly of the Iſraelites may hearken to him.

21. He ſhall alſo ſtand before Eleazar the Prieſt, that he may aſk for him by the Judgment of Urim before the Lord; at whoſe Command he ſhall both go out and come in, and the whole Aſſembly of the Iſraelites with him.

22. And Moſes did as the Lord commanded him; taking Joſhua, and cauſing him to ſtand before Eleazar the Prieſt, and the whole Aſſembly,

23. Then leaning his Hands upon him, and giving him command; as the Lord ordered by the Miniſtry of Moſes.

TO whom he further ſpoke as follows:

2. Command the Iſraelites, that they ſhould obſerve to bring to me in its appointed Time, my Oblation, my Food, for my Sacrifices by Fire of a pleaſant Smell to me.

3. And ſay to them: This is the Sacrifice by Fire which you ſhall bring to the Lord, two perfect Lambs of the firſt Year daily, for a continual Burnt-offering.

4. Thou ſhalt offer one Lamb in the Morning, and the other within the Evening;

5. With the tenth Part of an Ephah of fine Flour for a Meat-offering, tempered with the fourth Part of a Hin of beaten Oil.

6. Which is the continual Burnt-offering that was made at Mount Sinai, for a pleaſant Smell, a Sacrifice by Fire to the Lord.

7. Moreover its Drink-offering ſhall be the fourth Part of a Hin of ſtrong Liquor for one Lamb, which thou ſhalt pour out to the Lord in the Holy Place.

8. And when thou offereſt the other Lamb within the Evening, let it be with a Meat-offering and Drink-offering as in the Morning, for a Sacrifice by Fire of a pleaſant Smell to the Lord.

9. On the Sabbath Day alſo there ſhall be two perfect Lambs of the firſt Year, and two tenth Parts of fine Flour for a Meat-offering tempered with Oil, and the Drink-offering of the ſame,

10. This ſhall be the Burnt-offering of each Sabbath, over and above the continual Burnt-offering, and its Drink-offering.

11. In the Beginnings of your Months alſo ſhall you bring for a Burnt-offering to the Lord, two young Bullocks of the Herd, one Ram, ſeven perfect Lambs of the firſt Year;

12. With a Meat-offering of three tenth Parts of an Ephah of fine Flour tempered with Oil for a Bullock, one of two tenth Parts of the ſame for the Ram,

13. And another of a ſingle tenth Part of it for one Lamb: which ſhall be a Burnt-offering of a pleaſant Smell, a Sacrifice by Fire to the Lord.

14. Their Drink-offerings too ſhall be half a Hin of Wine to a Bullock, the third Part of it to the Ram, and its fourth Part to a Lamb. This ſhall be the Burnt-offering of each Month throughout the Months of the Year.

15. And there ſhall be offered a Kid of the Goats for a Sin-offering to the Lord, with its Drink-offering, over and above the continual Burnt-offering.

16. Beſides on the fourteenth Day of the firſt Month ſhall be the Lord's Paſſover;

17. And the Feaſt on the fifteenth Day of the ſame Month; unleavened Bread being eat ſeven Days.

18. There ſhall be a holy Aſſembling on the firſt Day, you ſhall do no labouring Buſineſs.

19. But you ſhall bring for a Sacrifice by Fire, a Burnt-offering to the Lord, two young Bullocks, one Ram, and ſeven Lambs of the firſt Year, which you ſhall have perfect;

20. With their Meat-offering of fine Flour tempered with Oil: three tenth Parts of an Ephah you ſhall offer for a Bullock, two for a Ram;

21. A ſingle one ſhalt thou for each of the ſeven Lambs,

22. And one Kid for a Sin-offering, to make atonement for you.

23. Theſe you ſhall offer, beſides the Burnt-offering of the Morning, which is for a continual one.

24. After this manner ſhall you offer on each of the ſeven Days, the Food of the Sacrifice by Fire of a pleaſant Smell to the Lord, over and above the continual Burnt-offering, and its Drink-offering.

25. And on the ſeventh Day you ſhall have a holy Aſſembling, and do no labouring Buſineſs.

26. As alſo the very ſame ſhall you have on the Day of the Firſt-fruits, when you bring a new Meat-offering to the Lord, at the End of your Weeks.

27. You ſhall likewiſe bring for a Burnt-offering for a pleaſant Smell to the Lord, two young Bullocks, one Ram, ſeven Lambs of the firſt Year;

Ver. 2. Food] as Ver. 24. Lev. iii. 11. this ſeems to be the ſame with the Oblation, ſince there is no Conjunction between in the Hebrew, which had they been different, would have been proper to denote it; ſo that each may comprehend both the Sacrifice by Fire and the Meat-offering, Ver. 3, 5. as the Burnt-offering alſo does, Ver. 6. and may be called Oblation as offered by Man, and Food as received by God.

Ver. 6. made] as the Word ſignifies, and not ordained: ſo Ainſworth renders it; Pagn. factum eſt, was made; which Montan. only alters into facta, made; in the Tigur, Tranſ. with thoſe of Munſt. and Caſtal. is quale factum eſt, ſuch as was made; as in the Targ. of Jonathan, ſuch as was offered; Jun. and Trem. have paratum fuerat, had been prepared; the *old Lat. 30. And one Kid of the Goats, to make atonement for you.

31. Which you ſhall offer, beſides the continual Burnt-offering, and its Meat-offering; you ſhall have them perfect, with their Drink-offerings.

CHAP. XXIX.

ON the firſt of the ſeventh Month alſo you ſhall have a holy Aſſembling, and do no labouring Buſineſs; it ſhall be a Day of the Sounding of Trumpets to you.

2. And you ſhall offer for a Burnt-offering for a pleaſant Smell to the Lord, one young Bullock of the Herd, one Ram, ſeven perfect Lambs of the firſt Year;

3. With their Meat-offering of fine Flour tempered with Oil, three tenth Parts of an Ephah for the Bullock, two for the Ram,

4. Moreover one for each of the ſeven Lambs,

5. And one Kid of the Goats for a Sin-offering, to make atonement for you;

6. Beſides the Burnt-offering of the Month, with its Meat-offering, and the continual Burnt-offering, with its Meat-offering, and their Drink-offerings, according to the Manner of them, for a pleaſant Smell, a Sacrifice by Fire to the Lord.

7. So on the tenth of this ſeventh Month you ſhall have a holy Aſſembling, and afflict your Souls, doing no Buſineſs.

8. But you ſhall bring for a Burnt-offering to the Lord of a pleaſant Smell, one young Bullock of the Herd, one Ram, ſeven Lambs of the firſt Year, which you ſhall have perfect;

9. With their Meat-offering of fine Flour tempered with Oil, three tenth Parts of an Ephah for the Bullock, two for the Ram,

10. A ſingle one for each of the ſeven Lambs,

11. And one Kid of the Goats for a Sin-offering; beſides the Sin-offering of Atonements, and the continual Burnt-offering, with its Meat-offering, and their Drink-offerings.

12. On the fifteenth Day too of the ſeventh Month you ſhall have a holy Aſſembling, and do no labouring Buſineſs (but you ſhall keep a Feaſt to the Lord ſeven Days)

13. And you ſhall bring for a Burnt-offering, a Sacrifice by Fire of a pleaſant Smell to the Lord, thirteen young Bullocks of the Herd, two Rams, fourteen Lambs of the firſt Year, which ſhall be perfect;

14. With their Meat-offering of fine Flour tempered with Oil, three tenth Parts of an Ephah for each of the thirteen Bullocks, two for each of the two Rams,

15. Moreover a ſingle one for each of the fourteen Lambs;

16. And one Kid of the Goats for a Sin-offering; beſides the continual Burnt-offering, its Meat-offering, and its Drink-offering:

17. Nay on the ſecond Day twelve young Bullocks of the Herd, two Rams, fourteen perfect Lambs of the firſt Year;

18. With their Meat-offering and Drink-offerings, for the Bullocks, Rams and Lambs, by their Number, according to the Manner;

19. As alſo one Kid of the Goats, for a Sin-offering; beſides the continual Burnt-offering, with its Meat-offering, and their Drink-offerings:

20. And on the third Day eleven Bullocks, two Rams, fourteen perfect Lambs of the firſt Year;

21. With their Meat-offering and Drink-offerings, for the Bullocks, Rams and Lambs, by their Number, according to the Manner;

22. As alſo one Kid, for a Sin-offering; beſides the continual Burnt-offering, with its Meat-offering, and its Drink-offering:

23. And on the fourth Day ten Bullocks, two Rams, fourteen perfect Lambs of the firſt Year;

24. Their Meat-offering and Drink-offerings, for the Bullocks, Rams and Lambs, by their Number, according to the Manner;

25. As alſo one Kid of the Goats, for a Sin-offering; beſides the continual Burnt-offering, its Meat-offering, and its Drink-offering:

26. And on the fifth Day nine Bullocks, two Rams, fourteen perfect Lambs of the firſt Year;

27. With their Meat-offering and Drink-offerings, for the Bullocks, Rams and Lambs, by their Number, according to the Manner;

28. As alſo one Kid, for a Sin-offering; beſides the continual Burnt-offering, with its Meat-offering, and its Drink-offering:

29. And on the ſixth Day eight Bullocks, two Rams, fourteen perfect Lambs of the firſt Year;

30. With their Meat-offering and Drink-offerings, for the Bullocks, Rams and Lambs, by their Number, according to the Manner;

31. As alſo one Kid, for a Sin-offering; beſides the continual Burnt-offering, its Meat-

Meat-offering, and the Drink-offerings of the ſame:

32. And on the ſeventh Day ſeven Bullocks, two Rams, fourteen perfect Lambs of the firſt Year;

33. With their Meat-offering and Drink-offerings, for the Bullocks, Rams and Lambs, by their Number, according to their Manner;

34. As alſo one Kid, for a Sin-offering; beſides the continual Burnt-offering, its Meat-offering, and its Drink-offering.

35. On the eighth Day you ſhall have a ſolemn one, doing no labouring Buſineſs.

36. And you ſhall bring a Burnt-offering, a Sacrifice by Fire of a pleaſant Smell to the Lord, one Bullock, one Ram, ſeven perfect Lambs of the firſt Year;

37. Their Meat-offering and Drink-offerings, for the Bullock, Ram and Lambs, by their Number, according to the Manner;

38. As alſo one Kid, for a Sin-offering; beſides the continual Burnt-offering, with its Meat-offering, and its Drink-offering.

39. Theſe ſhall you offer to the Lord in your appointed Times; beſides your Vows, and Free-offerings of your Burnt-offerings, Meat-offerings, Drink-offerings, and Peace-offerings.

40. And Moſes told the Iſraelites entirely as the Lord commanded him.

CHAP. XXX.

MOSES alſo ſpoke to the Heads of the Tribes, for the Iſraelites, as follows: This is the Thing which the Lord has commanded.

2. When a Man makes a Vow to the Lord, or ſwears an Oath, to bind his Soul with a Bond, let him not profane his Word; he muſt do according to all that comes out of his Mouth.

3. And when a Woman makes a Vow to the Lord, and binds her Soul with a Bond in her Father's Houſe, in her Youth;

4. Which her Father hears, and holds his peace at her; then all her Vows, and every Bond with which ſhe binds her Soul, ſhall be confirmed.

5. But if her Father diſallows her on the Day that he hears, none of them ſhall be confirmed; and the Lord will forgive her, becauſe her Father diſallows her.

6. If ſhe has at all a Huſband likewiſe, when her Vows are upon her, or what ſhe pronounces with her Lips, which ſhe binds her Soul with;

7. And her Huſband hearing, holds his peace at her on that Day; then her Vows, and her Bond with which ſhe binds her Soul, ſhall be confirmed.

8. But if her Huſband diſallows her on the Day that he hears, he ſhall make void her Vow that is upon her, and what ſhe pronounces with her Lips, which ſhe binds her Soul with; and the Lord will forgive her.

9. Whereas every Vow of a Widow, or of her who is divorced, with which ſhe binds her Soul, ſhall be confirmed upon her.

10. Nay if ſhe vowed in her Huſband's Houſe, or bound her Soul with a Bond by an Oath;

11. And her Huſband hearing, held his peace at her, not diſallowing her; then all her Vows, and every Bond with which ſhe bound her Soul, ſhall be confirmed.

12. But if her Huſband at all made them void on the Day that he heard, none of that which came out of her Lips, of her Vows, or the Bond of her Soul, ſhall be confirmed; her Huſband having made them void, the Lord will forgive her.

Ver. 31. Drink-offerings] The Word being here plural, as quoted in Buxtorf's Lexicon, as it is in the Concordance, and the Form of it demonſtrates. So Pagn. and Montan. libamina; ſee Ver. 19.

Ib. the ſame] both the Sin-offering and Burnt-offering, which the Hebrew Pronoun may denote though ſingular, in the Manner of that Tongue eſpecially; and ſo it might be properly Drink-offerings.

Ver. 33. their Manner] So it is in the Original.

Ver. 35. ſolemn one] See Lev. xxiii. 36.

Ver. 1. for] Jun. and Trem. ut dicerent, that they ſhould tell.

Ver. 2. profane] as the Verb ſignifies, and as falſifying his Word, eſpecially when it was a Vow, would certainly be; ſee Gell in Eſſay, p. 574.

Ver. 6. has] I do not ſee what our Tranſlators intended by had; or why ſhould this of the Huſband be rendered in the paſt Time, and that of the Father in the preſent? Had the Women Huſbands before they were in their Father's Houſe in their Youth, Ver. 3? And fond is the Conceit of Poole to interpret this, when ſhe was in her Father's Houſe, becauſe there is Mention of being in the Huſband's Houſe, Ver. 10. which is of other Sort of Women out of Marriage, Ver. 9. yet Biſhop Patrick will follow him, though he would not diſcredit his Work by quoting a Preſbyterian Author.

Ver. 10. in her Huſband's Houſe] when they lived together, and the Vow was not performed then.

Ver. 11, 12. Theſe Verſes thus in a Manuſcript Bible ſeveral hundred Years old, If her Huſband heareth it, and is ſtill, and gainſaith not her beheeſt, ſhe ſhall yield whatever thing ſhe beheight; ſothely, if the Huſband gainſaid her anon, ſhe ſhall not be holden guilty of the biheeſt: For her Huſband againſaid it anon, and the Lord ſhall be merciful to her; ſee James's Corruption of the Scripture, &c. by the Prelats, p. 276, 277. But both of them left out of the famous Bible of Pope Sixtus, though reſtored ſince.

Ver. 12. at all] according to the com. Tranſ. Ver. 6, 15. which ſee explicitly on 1 Kings ix. 6. by which utterly here, and altogether Ver. 14. are wrong, and diſagreeable with the other two Verſes.

13. Every

13. Every Vow, and every binding Oath, to afflict the Soul; may be confirmed, or made void, by her Husband.

14. For if he at all holds his peace at her from Day to Day, he confirms all her Vows, or all her Bonds which are upon her; which he does, because he holds his peace at her on the Day that he hears:

15. So that if he at all makes them void afterwards, he shall bear her Iniquity.

16. These are the Ordinances which the Lord commanded Moses, between a Man and his Wife, between a Father and his Daughter in her Youth, being in his House.

CHAP. XXXI.

AND the Lord spoke thus to Moses,

2. Take the Vengeance of the Men of Israel on the Midianites; after which thou shalt be gathered to thy People.

3. Upon this he ordered the People, that some of them should be ready for War, who might be against Midian, to render the Vengeance of the Lord upon it;

4. Sending a thousand of each Tribe to the War, throughout all the Tribes of Israel.

5. Accordingly there were a thousand of a Tribe delivered out of the Thousands of Israel, twelve thousand made ready for War.

6. Whom Moses sent to it, and Phinehas the Son of Eleazar the Priest, with the holy Instruments, and the sounding Trumpets in his Hand.

7. And they going to war against Midian, as the Lord commanded Moses, killed all the Males;

8. As they did along with the rest of them, five Kings of Midian, Evi, Rekem, Zur, Hur and Reba: Balaam also the Son of Beor they killed with the Sword.

9. Besides the Israelites took the Women of Midian and their Children prisoners; and all their Cattle, with all that they possessed, even their whole Wealth, they took for plunder.

10. Nay all their Cities in their Habitations, and all their Palaces, they burnt with Fire;

11. Taking the whole Spoil, even all that was to be taken, both of Man and Beast.

12. And they brought the Prisoners, and what was taken, with the Spoil to Moses, Eleazar the Priest, and the Assembly of the Israelites, at the Camp, on the Plains of Moab which are at Jordan against Jericho.

13. But Moses, Eleazar the Priest, and all the Princes of the Assembly, going forth to meet them without the Camp;

14. Moses was in a Wrath with the Officers of the Army, the Captains of Thousands and Hundreds, who came from the Battle of the War;

15. And said to them: Have you let all the Females live?

16. Behold they were to the Israelites, by the Words of Balaam, the means of doing amiss against the Lord in the Matter of Peor; and there was a Plague among the Lord's Assembly.

17. Now therefore kill every Male among the Children, and every Woman who has had the knowledge of a Man by lying with him.

18. But all the Female-children, who have not known lying with a Male, keep alive for your selves.

19. And encamp you without the Camp seven Days; on the third and the seventh Day you shall purify your selves, every one who has killed a Person, or touched the Slain, with your Prisoners,

20. As likewise every Garment, and Thing of Skin, all Work of the Goat, and every wooden Thing.

21. Eleazar the Priest said further to the Men of War, who went to the Battle: This is the Ordinance of the Law which the Lord has commanded Moses;

22. That however the Gold, Silver, Brass, Iron, Tin and Lead,

23. Every Thing which will come through the Fire, you shall make pass through it,

---

Ver. 2. Midianites] For though the Moabites were in the Guilt, Chap. xxv. 1, 2. Balaam and the Midianites appear to be the Contrivers of it, and so deserved most to be punished, Chap. xxv. 17, 18.

Ver. 5. made ready] So Trem. and Jun. expeditis; which is the Meaning Buxtorf gives the Verb both in his Lexicon and Concordance, but never armed. And in the pref. Bib. it is rendered prepared, Josh. iv. 13. and ready prepared, 2 Chron. xvii. 18.

Ver. 6. the holy Instruments] which may be deemed most probably to be the Ark and its Utensils, as Jun. and Trem. annotate, arca fœderis cum iis quæ ad eam pertinebant; see Chap. xiv. 44. Josh. vi. 9. 1 Sam. iv. 4. & xiv. 18. since the Urim and Thummim belonged to Eleazar now the high Priest, who went to meet them, Ver. 13. and that they were the same with the Trumpets is unlikely to me, even though there may be such Expression in some other Places, where the Meaning is plainly so, and therefore that Liberty of Language might be safely taken, which here could not.

Ver. 9. that they possessed] from its Root to possess; and though it is sometimes put for Cattle, as being what was a principal Part of the Possession, in those Ages and Countries, yet never I suppose restricted to Flocks. So Cast. has facultatibus, Montan. acquisitionem.

Ib. Wealth] being a Word of a general, not particular Meaning.

Ver. 14. of the War] omitted in the com. Transl.

that

that it may be clean; yet it muſt be purified with the Water of Separation; and all which will not come through the Fire, you ſhall make paſs through the Water.

24. You ſhall waſh your Cloaths too on the ſeventh Day, and be clean, and afterwards come into the Camp.

25. The Lord alſo ſaid to Moſes as follows:

26. Take the Sum of thoſe that are taken Priſoners, both of Man and Beaſt, thou, and Eleazar the Prieſt, with the chief Fathers of the Aſſembly.

27. Then part what is taken equally between thoſe that were engaged in the Battle, who went out to War, and the whole Aſſembly.

28. And take up a Number for the Lord from the former, one out of five hundred, of the Perſons, Herds, Aſſes and Flocks;

29. Which having taken out of their half give to Eleazar the Prieſt for the Lord's Lifted-offering.

30. Next from the half of the Iſraelites thou ſhalt take one Portion out of fifty, of the Perſons, Herds, Aſſes and Flocks, of all the Cattle, and give them to the Levites who look after the Buſineſs of the Lord's Tabernacle.

31. And Moſes and Eleazar the Prieſt did as the Lord commanded the former.

32. Now what was left of the Prey which was taken by the Soldiers, was ſix hundred and ſeventy five thouſand of the Flocks,

33. Seventy two thouſand of the Herds,

34. Sixty one thouſand Aſſes;

35. And all the Perſons, namely Females who had not known lying with a Male, were two and thirty thouſand.

36. The Sum of half of which, being the Part of thoſe who went out to the War, was three hundred thirty ſeven Thouſand and five hundred of the Flock,

37. Out of which the Lord's Number was ſix hundred and ſeventy five;

38. Six and thirty thouſand of the Herds, of which the Lord's Number was ſeventy two;

39. Thirty thouſand five hundred Aſſes, of which the Lord's Number was ſixty one;

40. And ſixteen thouſand Perſons, of which the Lord's Number was two and thirty.

41. Theſe Numbers Moſes gave for the Lord's Lifted-offering to Eleazar the Prieſt, as the Lord commanded him.

42. The Iſraelites half likewiſe, which he parted from the Men who went to War,

43. Being three hundred thirty ſeven Thouſand and five hundred of the Flocks,

44. Six and thirty thouſand of the Herds,

45. Thirty thouſand and five hundred Aſſes,

46. And ſixteen thouſand Perſons;

47. Moſes took of it one Portion out of fifty, both of Man and Beaſt, and gave them to the Levites who looked after the Buſineſs of the Lord's Tabernacle, as the Lord commanded him.

48. And thoſe who were Officers to the Thouſands of the Army, the Captains of Thouſands and Hundreds, came to Moſes,

49. And ſaid to him; Thy Servants have taken the Sum of the Men of War who are in our Charge, and there is not a Man of us wanting.

50. We have therefore brought an Offering for the Lord, each what golden Things he has got, Jewels, Bracelets, Rings, Ear-rings, or Girdles, to make atonement for our Souls before the Lord.

51. So Moſes and Eleazar the Prieſt took the Gold of them, all the Things being made.

52. And all the Gold of the Lifted-offering which they offered up to the Lord, of the Captains of Thouſands and Hundreds, was ſixteen thouſand ſeven hundred and fifty Shekels:

53. The Men of War having plundered reſpectively for themſelves.

54. And Moſes and Eleazar the Prieſt, having taken the Gold of the Captains of Thouſands and Hundreds, brought it into the publick Tent, for a Memorial for the Iſraelites before the Lord.

CHAP. XXXII.

NOW the Reubenites and Gadites having a very numerous Multitude of Cattle, and ſeeing plainly that the Country of Jazer and Gilead, was a Place for Cattle;

2. They came and ſpoke to Moſes, Eleazar the Prieſt, and the Princes of the Aſſembly as follows;

Ver. 28. Number] from the Verb to number or ſum up, Exod. xii. 4. where a like Noun is alſo rendered Number; none of thoſe Words having any Signification of Tribute; ſee Buxt. Lexic. So Ver. 40.

Ib. Flocks] as Ver. 30. and as comprehending Goats with the Sheep.

Ver. 32. what was left] being not killed of the Cattle for the Soldiers Proviſion, nor of the Perſons in the Battle and Slaughter, Ver. 17.

Ver. 50. Girdles] as Exod. xxxv. 22.

3. Ataroth, Dibon, Jazer, Nimrah, Heſhbon, Elaleh, Shebam, Nebo and Beon,

4. The Country that the Lord ſmote before the Aſſembly of Iſrael, is a Country for Cattle, which thy Servants have;

5. If we are then in thy Favour, ſaid they, let it be given to thy Servants for a Poſſeſſion; make us not paſs over Jordan.

6. Whom Moſes anſwered: Shall your Brethren go to War, and you abide here?

7. And why will you diſcourage the Hearts of the Iſraelites, from paſſing over into the Country which the Lord has given them?

8. Your Fathers did thus, when I ſent them from Kadeſh-barnea to ſee it.

9. Who went up to the Brook of Eſhcol, and having ſeen the Country, diſheartened the Iſraelites from going into it, which the Lord gave them.

10. Upon which the Lord was angry at that Time, and ſware,

11. That the Men who came up from Egypt, from their twentieth Year upward, ſhould not ſee the Country of which he had ſworn to Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob, becauſe they did not follow him fully;

12. Beſides Caleb the Son of Jephunneh the Kenizite, and Joſhua the Son of Nun, becauſe they did.

13. And the Lord being angry with Iſrael, made them wander in the Wilderneſs forty Years, till all the Generation who had done that which diſpleaſed him were conſumed.

14. And behold you are riſen up in the room of your Fathers, an Increaſe of ſinful Men, to make a farther Addition to the fervent Anger of the Lord againſt Iſrael.

15. For ſhould you turn back from following him, he might yet again leave them in the Wilderneſs; ſo would you deſtroy all this People.

16. But they going nigh to him, ſaid; We will build Folds for our Cattle here, and Cities for our Children.

17. Nevertheleſs we will be ready ſpeedily to be before the Iſraelites, till we have brought them to their Place; and our Children ſhall abide in fortified Cities, by reaſon of the Inhabitants of the Country.

18. We will not come back to our Homes, till the Iſraelites have had their ſeveral Poſſeſſions.

19. Though we will have none with them any where beyond Jordan, becauſe our Poſſeſſion is come to us on this Side of it eaſtward.

20. With that Moſes replied to them; If you will do this Thing, if you will be ready for War before the Lord,

21. And will all of you paſs over Jordan ſo, till he has driven away his Enemies from his Face,

22. And the Country is ſubdued before him; you may afterwards return, and ſhall be blameleſs both with the Lord and Iſrael, and this Country ſhall be your Poſſeſſion before the Lord.

23. But if you will not do ſo, behold you ſin againſt the Lord; therefore acknowledge your Sin, which will find you out.

24. Build you Cities for your Children, and Folds for your Flocks; but do what has come out of your Mouth.

25. And the Gadites and Reubenites ſaid thus to Moſes; Thy Servants will do as our Lord commands.

26. Our Children, our Wives, what we poſſeſs, with all our Cattle, ſhall abide there in the Cities of Gilead.

27. But thy Servants will paſs over every one ready for War, before the Lord to Battle, as our Lord ſays.

28. So Moſes commanded Eleazar the Prieſt, Joſhua the Son of Nun, and the chief Fathers of the Tribes of the Iſraelites, concerning them,

29. To whom he ſaid, If the Gadites and Reubenites will paſs over Jordan with you, every one ready for Battle before the Lord, and the Country ſhall be ſubdued before you, then ſhall you give them the Province of Gilead for a Poſſeſſion:

30. But if they will not, they ſhall be Poſſeſſors among you in the Country of Canaan.

31. The Gadites and Reubenites too made anſwer; We will do according to what the Lord has ſpoken concerning thy Servants:

32. We will go on ready before the Lord into the Country of Canaan, that we may have the Inheritance of our Poſſeſſion on this ſide Jordan.

33. Moſes then gave to the Gadites, Reubenites, and to the half Tribe of Manaſſeh, the Son of Joſeph, the Kingdom of Sihon

King of the Amorites, and that of Og King of Baſhan, the Country with the Cities of the ſame in the Borders round about.

34. And the Gadites built Dibon, Ataroth, Aroer,

35. Atroth, Shophan, Jazer, Jogbehah,

36. Beth-nimrah and Beth-haran, fortified Cities, with Folds for Flocks.

37. Moreover the Reubenites built Heſhbon, Elale, Kirjathaim,

38. Nebo, Baal-meon, the Names being altered, and Shibmah; for they gave other Names to the Cities which they built.

39. The Poſterity of Machir alſo the Son of Manaſſeh went to Gilead, and took it, and drove away the Amorites who were in it.

40. Therefore Moſes gave Gilead to Machir the Son of Manaſſeh, and he dwelt in it.

41. And Jair the Deſcendant of Manaſſeh, went, and took their Towns, which he called The Towns of Jair.

42. Nobah went likewiſe, and took Kenath, with its Villages, and called it by his own Name Nobah.

CHAP. XXXIII.

THESE are the Journeys of the Iſraelites which they went out of the Country of Egypt by their Armies, in the Charge of Moſes and Aaron.

2. Which Journeys of theirs Moſes wrote down at the Command of the Lord, according as they went on, and thoſe were as follow:

3. Firſt they marched from Rameſes on the fifteenth Day of the firſt Month, the next Day after the Paſſover, going out with a high Hand in the Sight of all the Egyptians;

4. Who buried all the Firſt-born, that the Lord ſlew among them, and he executed Judgments on their gods.

5. And the Iſraelites marching from Rameſes, encamped at Succoth,

6. And marching from Succoth, they encamped at Etham, which is at the End of the Wilderneſs.

7. Then they marched from Etham, and turning back by the Mouth of Hiroth, which is over againſt Baal-zephon, they encamped before Migdol.

8. They alſo marched from before Hiroth, and paſſing through the midſt of the Sea into the Wilderneſs, went three Days Journey in that of Etham, and encamped at Marah.

9. Next they marched from Marah, and coming to Elim, where were twelve Fountains of Water, and ſeventy Palm-trees, they encamped there.

10. And marching from Elim, they encamped by the Red Sea.

11. And marching from the Red Sea, they encamped in the Wilderneſs of Sin.

12. And marching from the Wilderneſs of Sin, they encamped at Dophkah.

13. And marching from Dophkah, they encamped at Aluſh.

14. And marching from Aluſh, they encamped at Rephidim; where there was not Water for the People to drink.

15. And marching from Rephidim, they encamped at the Wilderneſs of Sinai.

16. And marching from the Wilderneſs of Sinai, they encamped at Kibroth-hattaavah.

17. And marching from Kibroth-hattaavah, they encamped at Hazeroth.

18. And marching from Hazeroth, they encamped at Rithmah.

19. And marching from Rithmah, they encamped at Rimmon-parez.

20. And marching from Rimmon-parez, they encamped at Libnah.

21. And marching from Libnah, they encamped at Riſſah.

22. And marching from Riſſah, they encamped at Kehelathah.

23. And marching from Kehelathah, they encamped at Mount Shapher.

24. And marching from Mount Shapher, they encamped at Haradah.

25. And marching from Haradah, they encamped at Makheloth,

42. And marching from Zalmonah, they encamped at Punon.

43. And marching from Punon, they encamped at Oboth.

44. And marching from Oboth, they encamped at the Heaps of Abarim, in the Border of Moab.

45. And marching from the Heaps, they encamped at Dibon-gad.

46. And marching from Dibon-gad, they encamped at Almon-diblathaim.

47. And marching from Almon-diblathaim, they encamped at the Mountains of Abarim, before Nebo.

48. And marching from the Mountains of Abarim, they encamped on the Plains of Moab, at Jordan againſt Jericho,

53. And when you have driven them out of the Country, you ſhall dwell in it: for I give it you to inherit it.

54. You ſhall poſſeſs it by Lot after your Families, and the Tribes of your Fathers, making the Poſſeſſion for many much, and for few little, the Lot for each being where it comes out for him.

55. But if you drive not away the Inhabitants of the Country from your Preſence, thoſe whom you leave of them will be Thorns in your Eyes, and pricking Goads in your Sides, and will diſtreſs you in the Country where you dwell.

CHAP. XXXIV.

AND the Lord told Moſes,

2. That he ſhould give the Iſraelites theſe Directions: When you are come into the Country of Canaan, the ſame which ſhall fall to you for a Poſſeſſion, with the Confines of it;

3. Your ſouth Side ſhall be at the Wilderneſs of Zin, by the Bounds of Edom, and at the End of the Salt Sea eaſtward.

4. And your Border ſhall turn about on the South to the Aſcent of Akrabbim, and paſs on to Zin, and the going out of it on the South ſhall be at Kadeſh-barnea; then going forth to Hazar-addar, it ſhall paſs on to Azmon;

5. From thence it ſhall turn about to the River of Egypt, and its going out ſhall be at the Sea.

6. Moreover your weſt Border ſhall be the great Sea.

7. From whence you ſhall make your north Border to Mount Hor,

8. Thence to the Entrance of Hamath, and the going out of it ſhall be at Zedad;

9. Next it ſhall go along to Ziphron, and its going forth ſhall be at Hazar-enan.

10. Beſides you ſhall make your eaſt Border from thence to Shepham;

11. From thence it ſhall go down to Riblah on the Eaſt of Ain, and reach down to the Side of the Sea of Cinnereth eaſtward;

12. So it ſhall go down to Jordan, and the going out of it ſhall be at the Salt Sea. This ſhall be your Country, with the Frontiers of it round about.

13. And Moſes ordered the Iſraelites as follows; This is the Country which you ſhall poſſeſs by Lot, which the Lord commanded to be given to the nine Tribes and the half:

14. Since the Tribes of the Reubenites and Gadites, throughout the Houſholds of their Fathers, and half the Tribe of Manaſſeh have received their Poſſeſſion;

15. Which they did on this ſide Jordan againſt Jericho, eaſtward towards the Sun-riſing.

16. The Lord further ſaid thus to Moſes:

17. Theſe are the Names of the Men who ſhall appoint the Poſſeſſion of the Country for you; Eleazar the Prieſt, and Joſhua the Son of Nun.

18. You ſhall likewiſe take one Prince of each Tribe to do it;

19. Whoſe Names are theſe: Caleb the Son of Jephunneh, of the Tribe of Judah;

20. And Shemuel the Son of Ammihud, of the Tribe of the Simeonites;

21. Elidad the Son of Chiſlon, of the Tribe of Benjamin;

22. And Bukki the Son of Jogli, Prince of the Tribe of the Danites;

23. Of the Poſterity of Joſeph, Hanniel the Son of Ephod, Prince of the Tribe of the Manaſſehites;

24. And Kemuel the Son of Shiphtan, Prince of the Tribe of the Ephraimites;

25. Elizaphan alſo the Son of Parnach, Prince of the Tribe of the Zebulunites;

26. And Paltiel the Son of Azzan, Prince of the Tribe of the Iſſacharites;

27. With Ahihud the Son of Shelomi, Prince of the Tribe of the Aſherites;

28. And Pedahel the Son of Ammihud, Prince of the Tribe of the Naphtalites.

29. Theſe were they whom the Lord commanded, to appoint the Poſſeſſion for the Iſraelites in the Country of Canaan.

CHAP. XXXV.

BESIDES the Lord ſpoke to Moſes on the Plains of Moab, at Jordan againſt Jericho, as follows:

2. Command the Iſraelites that they ſhould give the Levites Cities out of the Poſſeſſion of their Inheritance to dwell in, and Suburbs to the ſame round about them.

3. The Cities being for them to dwell in, whoſe Suburbs ſhall be for their Cattle, Subſtance, and all their Beaſts.

4. Now the Suburbs of the Cities which you ſhall give them, ſhall be a thouſand Cubits outward from the Wall of the City round about.

5. You ſhall alſo meaſure without the City two thouſand Cubits on each Side, Eaſt, South, Weſt and North, and the City ſhall be in the Middle: this ſhall be the Suburbs of the Cities for them.

6. And among the Cities which you give to the Levites, there ſhall be ſix for Refuge, that the Man-ſlayer may flee thither; to which you ſhall put two and forty others.

7. All the Cities which you ſhall give them ſhall be eight and forty, with their Suburbs.

8. And the ſame ſhall be of the Inheritance of the Iſraelites; out of many you ſhall give many, and few out of few: each ſhall give them of his Cities, according to his Poſſeſſion which he has.

9. Moreover the Lord ordered Moſes,

Ver. 4. on] this and the two contiguous Verſes deſcribing the ſouth Side.

Ver. 5. without the City] The Suburbs being counted Part of the City, ſo that the Extent was 3000 Cubits without the Wall; ſee Maimon. as quoted by Ainſw.

10. To ſpeak to the Iſraelites in the following manner: When you are paſſed over Jordan into the Country of Canaan,

11. You ſhall bring it to paſs that you may have Cities of Refuge, whither the Man-ſlayer may flee who kills a Perſon by Miſtake.

12. Which ſhall be ſuch Cities to you from the Revenger, that the Man-ſlayer may not die, till he ſtand before the Aſſembly for Judgment.

13. And there ſhall be ſix of them for you, of theſe which you give.

14. Of which three ſhall be on this ſide Jordan, and three in the Country of Canaan.

15. Theſe ſix Cities ſhall be for Refuge to the Iſraelites, and to the Stranger and Sojourner among them, that any one who kills a Perſon by Miſtake may flee thither.

16. Yet if he ſtrike him with an Inſtrument of Iron, ſo that he dies, he is a Murderer, who ſhall be quite put to death:

17. And the ſame ſhall he, if he ſtrikes him with a Stone,

18. Or an Inſtrument of Wood, with the Hand, by which he may, and does die.

19. The Revenger of Blood himſelf may kill the Murderer, when he meets with him.

20. So he may him who thruſts one down in Hatred, or throws at him deſignedly,

21. Or ſtrikes him with his Hand in Enmity, ſo that he dies: for the Striker ſhall be quite put to death, being a Murderer.

22. But if he thruſts him down on a ſudden without Enmity, or throws any Thing upon him not deſignedly;

23. Or ſhould it be any Stone that falls upon him, by which he may, and does die, the other neither ſeeing him, being his Enemy, nor ſeeking his Hurt;

24. Then the Aſſembly ſhall judge between the Striker and Revenger of Blood, by theſe Judgments.

25. And they ſhall deliver the Man-ſlayer out of the Power of the Revenger of Blood, and reſtore him to the City of his Refuge whither he fled; in which he ſhall abide till the Death of the high Prieſt, who is anointed with the holy Oil.

26. However if he does at all come out of the Bounds of that City,

27. And the Revenger of Blood finds him there, and ſlays him, no Blood ſhall be chargeable to him;

28. Becauſe the other ſhould abide in the City of his Refuge till the high Prieſt's Death, after which he may return to the Country of his Poſſeſſion.

29. And theſe Things ſhall be a Statute of Judgment to you throughout your Generations, in all your Dwellings.

30. Every Murderer who kills a Perſon, ſhall be ſlain by the Evidence of the Witneſſes; but one Witneſs ſhall not teſtify againſt a Perſon, ſo as to put him to death.

31. You ſhall take no Ranſom for the Life of a Murderer, who is ſo wicked that he muſt die; for he ſhall be quite put to death;

32. Nor ſhall you for him, who flees to the City of his Refuge, to dwell again in the Country, till the Death of the Prieſt:

33. That you may not pollute the Country which you are in, for Blood will do it; nor can the Country be purged of the Blood which is ſhed in it, but by his who ſheds it.

34. And thou ſhalt not defile the Country that you inhabit, within which I dwell: for I the Lord dwell amongſt the Iſraelites.

CHAP. XXXVI.

AND the chief Fathers belonging to the Families of the Poſterity of Gilead, the Son of Machir, Manaſſeh's Son, of the Families of Joſeph's Poſterity, came near, and ſpoke before Moſes, and the Princes, the chief Fathers of the Iſraelites,

2. And ſaid; The Lord having commanded our Lord to give the Country for a Poſſeſſion by Lot to the Iſraelites, he was commanded by the Lord to give the Eſtate of Zelophehad our Brother to his Daughters.

3. Now ſhould they be Wives to ſome of the Men of the other Tribes of the Iſraelites, their Eſtate would be taken away from that of the Tribe of our Fathers, and the Lot of our Poſſeſſion, and be added to the Eſtate of the Tribe to which they belong.

4. Nay even when the Jubile of the Iſraelites is, it will be the very ſame.

5. And Moſes told the Iſraelites at the Command of the Lord, that the Tribe of the Poſterity of Joſeph ſpoke right:

Ver. 17. ſtrikes him] No throwing in the Original.

Ver. 20. So] But in the com. Tranſ. being quite contrary, as the Caſes are parallel.

Ver. 31. wicked] ſo the Heb. and not guilty.

Ver. 34. thou ſhalt not] So the Heb. with the Liberties and Turns of that Language, as in other Places.

Ver. 3. to which they belong] So the Original is rightly and properly tranſlated, having no Signification of received.

6. What

6. What follows being the Matter which the Lord ordered concerning the Daughters of Zelophehad; Let them be Wives to whom they pleaſe, ſo it be in the Family of the Tribe of their Father.

7. For the Poſſeſſion of the Iſraelites will not go about from Tribe to Tribe, when each of them cleaves to that of the Tribe of his Fathers.

8. Every Daughter therefore who inherits an Eſtate of the Tribes of the Iſraelites, ſhall be Wife to one of the Family of her Father's Tribe; that the Iſraelites may reſpectively inherit the Poſſeſſion of their Fathers.

9. So an Eſtate will not go about from one Tribe to another, when the ſeveral Tribes of the Iſraelites cleave to their own.

10. As the Lord commanded Moſes, ſo the Daughters of Zelophehad did.

11. For Mahlah, Tirzah, Hoglah, Milcah and Nohah, his Daughters, became Wives to their Uncle's Sons;

12. Of the Families of the Poſterity of Manaſſeh, Joſeph's Son, by which their Eſtate remained in the Tribe of their Father's Family.

13. Theſe are the Commandments and Rules, which the Lord gave the Iſraelites in charge by the Miniſtry of Moſes, on the Plains of Moab, at Jordan againſt Jericho.

Ver. 6. Family] that Branch of the Tribe to which they belonged, as Ver. 8. and as was done, Ver. 11.

Ver. 8. Every Daughter] that was an Heireſs or Coheireſs; for this Law was to prevent Eſtates being tranſferred to another Family or Tribe.

Ver. 12. Tribe of] Patrick ſays, it may be rightly tranſlated Tribe, and; but beſides that there is no Partition, nor any thing for [and] in Heb. the Word is in the conſtructed Form for the Genitive Caſe. And the Senſe is good, being the Tribe of Manaſſeh to which their Father's Family belonged, Ver. 1. from which the Eſtate was not taken away, agreeable to Ver. 3, 7.

NOTES

NOTES upon the BOOK called DEUTERONOMY.

CHAP. I.

THESE are the Words which Moſes ſpoke to all Iſrael, on this ſide Jordan in the Wilderneſs, on the Plain over againſt Suph, between Paran, Tophel, Laban, Hazeroth and Di-zahab;

2. There being eleven Days Journey from Horeb, by the Way of Mount Seir, to Kadeſh-barnea.

3. Even in the fortieth Year, on the firſt of the eleventh Month, did Moſes ſpeak to the Iſraelites, entirely as the Lord commanded him for them;

4. After he had ſlain Sihon King of the Amorites, who dwelt in Heſhbon, and Og King of Baſhan, who dwelt in Aſhtaroth, at Edrei.

5. On this ſide Jordan in the Country of Moab, was Moſes pleaſed to declare this Law as follows.

6. The Lord our God ſpoke to us thus in Horeb; You have dwelt a great deal on this Mountain:

7. Turn about, take your journey, and go to the Mountain of the Amorites, and to all its neighbouring Places, on the Plain, on the Mountain, and in the Vale, as alſo in the South, and at the Harbour of the Sea; the Country of the Canaanites, and Lebanon, as far as the great River, the River Euphrates.

8. See, I have put the Country before you; go in, and poſſeſs the ſame which the Lord ſware to your Forefathers Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob, that he would give them, and their future Offſpring.

9. And I ſpoke thus to you at that Time; I am not able to bear you alone:

10. The Lord your God having multiplied you, ſo that behold you are this Day as the Stars of Heaven for Multitude;

11. (The Lord God of your Fathers add to you a thouſand times as many as you are, and bleſs you according as he has told you)

12. How can I alone bear the Fatigue of you, your Burden and Strife?

13. Provide you wiſe Men, even ſuch as underſtand and know of your Tribes, that I may put them for the chief of you.

14. And upon your making me this anſwer, The Matter which thou ſpeakeſt to be done is good;

15. I took the chief of your Tribes, wiſe and knowing Men, whom I made the chief over you, Captains of Thouſands, with thoſe of Hundreds, Fifties and Tens, as well as Magiſtrates of your Tribes.

16. Beſides I gave your Judges at the ſame Time the following Charge; Hear between your Brethren, and judge righteouſly between one Man and another, as alſo his Sojourner.

17. You ſhall not acknowledge Faces in Judgment, ſhall hear the little the ſame as the great, not be afraid of any one's Face, ſince the Judgment is God's; and the Matter which is too hard for you, bring to me, that I may hear it.

18. And at that Time I commanded you all the Things which you ſhould do.

19. After this we marched from Horeb, and went through all that great and terrible Wilderneſs which you ſaw, by the Way of the Mountain of the Amorites, as the Lord our God commanded us; and we came to Kadeſh-barnea.

20. When I ſaid to you; You are come to the Mountain of the Amorites, which the Lord our God gives us.

21. See, the Lord thy God has put the Country before thee: go up, inherit, as the Lord God of thy Fathers has ſpoken to thee; do not fear, nor be daunted.

22. And all of you came near to me, and propoſed, Let us ſend Men before us, that they may ſearch the Country for us, and bring us back Word in what Way we ſhould go up, and into what Cities we ſhould enter.

23. Which Thing pleaſing me, I took twelve Men from you, one Perſon of a Tribe;

24. Who turned, and aſcended the Mountain, and went to the Brook of Eſhcol, ſpying it.

Ver. 1. Suph] This is quite unlikely to be the Red Sea, which was a vaſt Way off, and there is not Sea in Heb. as Ver. 40. and elſewhere for it. Of the ſame Opinion ſee Lightfoot, Poole and Patrick; and ſo the original Word is given in the Verſion of Pagn. and Montan. with that of Jun. and Trem. latter Edit.

Ver. 5. pleaſed] So is this Verb rendered 1 Sam. xii. 22. 1 Chron. xvii. 27. 2 Sam. vii. 29. having never any Signification like began.

Ver. 24. Brook] As Num. xiii. 23, 24. being the ſame Hebrew Word.

25. And

25. And they took ſome of the Fruit of the Country with them, and brought down to us, as alſo brought us back Word, that the Country is good which the Lord our God gives us.

26. Nevertheleſs you would not go up, but rebelled againſt the Command of the Lord your God;

27. And murmuring in your Tents, ſaid; Through the Lord's Hatred to us, he has brought us out of the Country of Egypt, to deliver us into the Power of the Amorites, to deſtroy us.

28. Whither ſhould we go up? Our Brethren having made our Hearts faint, by ſaying, The People are greater and taller than we, the Cities great and fortified to Heaven, and we alſo ſaw the Sons of the Anakites there.

29. However I encouraged you; Be in no dread nor fear of them.

30. The Lord your God who goes before you will fight for you, according to all that he did for you in Egypt before your Eyes;

31. As likewiſe what thou haſt ſeen in the Wilderneſs, how the Lord thy God carried thee as a Man does his Child, all the Way which you went, till you came to this Place.

32. Yet in this Thing you did not believe in the Lord your God;

33. Who went before you in the Way, to find out a Place for you to encamp in, with Fire at Night to ſhew you in what Way you ſhould go, and with a Cloud by Day.

34. And the Lord hearing your Words pronounced, was in a Wrath, and ſware thus;

35. Not a Perſon among theſe Men of this evil Generation ſhall ſee the good Country, which I ſware to your Forefathers I would give:

36. Excepting Caleb the Son of Jephunneh, who ſhall ſee it, and to him will I give the Country which he has trod on, and to his Poſterity, becauſe he follows the Lord entirely.

37. The Lord was likewiſe angry with me for your ſakes, and ſaid; Thou alſo ſhalt not enter in there.

38. Joſhua the Son of Nun, who ſtands before thee, ſhall enter in thither: ſtrengthen him, for it is he ſhall make Iſrael poſſeſs it.

39. As to your little ones, who you complained would be a Prey, even your Children who now know not either Good or Evil, they ſhall go in thither, and to them will I give it, that they may inherit it.

40. But do you turn your ſelves about, and march into the Wilderneſs, the Way to the Red Sea.

41. Then you made me this anſwer, We have ſinned againſt the Lord, we will go up and fight, entirely as the Lord our God has commanded us; and girding on each his Weapons of War, you were ready to go up the Mountain.

42. Upon which the Lord ſaid to me; Bid them not go up, nor fight, ſince I am not among you, that you may not be ſmitten before your Enemies.

43. Accordingly I ſpoke to you, yet you would not hearken, but rebelling againſt the Lord's Command, you behaved proudly, and went up on the Mountain.

44. Whereas the Amorites who dwelt on that Mountain coming forth to meet you, purſued you as Bees do, and beat you in Seir to Hormah.

45. So you returned, and wept before the Lord; but he would not hearken to what you ſaid, nor give ear to you.

46. Afterwards you abode at Kadeſh many Days, as thoſe which you ſtaid were.

CHAP. II.

WE then turned about, and marched into the Wilderneſs, the Way to the Red Sea, as the Lord ordered me; and compaſſed Mount Seir many Days.

2. At length the Lord ſaid to me as follows:

3. You have compaſſed this Mountain a great deal; turn your ſelves about northward.

4. And command thou the People thus; You are about to paſs at the Bounds of your Brethren the Poſterity of Eſau, who dwell in Seir, and as they will be afraid of you, take great heed,

5. Not to make war with them: for I will not give you any of their Country, ſo far as to tread the Sole of the Foot on, becauſe I have given Mount Seir an Inheritance to Eſau.

6. You ſhall buy Food of them for Money, that you may eat; and alſo purchaſe Water of them for Money, that you may drink.

7. For the Lord thy God has bleſſed thee in all the Work of thy Hand, he has known thy going through this great Wilderneſs: theſe forty Years the Lord thy God having been with thee, thou haſt wanted Nothing.

8. And when we paſſed from our Brethren the Poſterity of Eſau who dwelt in Seir, from the Way of the Plain, from Elath and Ezion-geber, we turned about, and paſſed the Way of the Wilderneſs of Moab.

9. The Lord likewiſe ſaid to me; Thou ſhalt not diſtreſs the Moabites, nor make war with them: for I will not give thee an Inheritance of their Country, becauſe I have given Ar an Inheritance to the Poſterity of Lot.

10. Wherein the Emites dwelt heretofore, a People great, many and tall, like the Anakites.

11. They were alſo counted Giants like the Anakites, and the Moabites called them Emites.

12. The Horites too dwelt in Seir heretofore, but the Poſterity of Eſau ſucceeded them, when they had deſtroyed them from their Preſence, and dwelt in their room; as Iſrael has done to the Country of his Inheritance, which the Lord gave them.

13. Now get ready, paſs you over the Brook Zered: which we did accordingly.

14. And the Time which we were going from Kadeſh-barnea, until we paſſed over the Brook Zered, was thirty eight Years; till the whole Generation of the Warriors was conſumed from within the Camp, as the Lord ſware to them.

15. For even the Hand of the Lord was againſt them, to rout them from within the Camp, till they were conſumed.

16. And when all the Warriors were conſumed, by dying from among the People,

17. Then the Lord ſpoke to me as follows:

18. Thou art paſſing to Day by Ar, the Bounds of Moab.

19. When thou comeſt near over againſt the Ammonites, do not diſtreſs them, nor make war with them: for I will not give thee an Inheritance of the Ammonites Country, becauſe I have given it an Inheritance to the Poſterity of Lot.

20. A Country of Giants that was likewiſe counted, Giants dwelling in it heretofore, whom the Ammonites called Zamzummites;

21. A People great, many and tall, like the Anakites; but the Lord deſtroyed them from their Preſence, ſo that they ſucceeded them, and dwelt in their room.

22. As he did for the Poſterity of Eſau that dwell in Seir, from whoſe Preſence he deſtroyed the Horites, ſo that they ſucceeded them, and have dwelt in their room to this Day.

23. As for the Avites, that dwelt in Hazerim as far as Gaza, the Caphtorites who came out of Caphtor deſtroyed them, and dwelt in their room.

24. Get ready, march, and paſs over the River Arnon; ſee, I deliver into thy Power Sihon the Amorite King of Heſhbon, and his Country: begin to inherit, and make war with him.

25. This Day will I begin to put the Dread and Fear of thee, upon the Perſons of the People under the whole Heaven; who hearing the News of thee, ſhall tremble, and be in anguiſh by reaſon of thee.

26. And I ſent Meſſengers from the Wilderneſs of Kedemoth, to Sihon King of Heſhbon, with theſe peaceable Words;

27. Let me paſs through thy Country; I will go all along in the Way, neither turning aſide to the right Hand, nor the left.

28. Thou ſhalt ſell me Food for Money, that I may eat; and give me Water for Money, that I may drink: only let me paſs through on my Feet;

Ver. 7. For] God will provide Neceſſaries for you, as it is he who has done it all along: in which Manner I alſo find it expounded by Jun. and Trem. in Annot. The Expoſition of Poole and Patrick, that the Iſraelites were able or had wherewith to buy, falls ſhort of what is expreſſed that they wanted nothing, nor does it appear that they got Money in the Wilderneſs. But Patrick aſſerts another Meaning, that they ſhould not moleſt the Edomites, becauſe they were in no Need: which if it had been a Reaſon, would have been of a general Kind againſt their moleſting any People; and [for] muſt ſo be referred to the 5th Verſe, where as there is another Reaſon given, this would likely have been put if it had belonged to that.

did to me) till I ſhall paſs over Jordan, into the Country which the Lord our God gives us.

30. But that King would not let us paſs through what was his: for the Lord thy God let his Spirit be ſtubborn, and his Heart be ſtout, that he might deliver him into thy Power, as it is this Day.

31. And the Lord ſaid to me, See, I have begun to deliver up Sihon and his Country before thee; begin to inherit, that thou mayeſt do it.

32. So Sihon and all his People came out to meet us, in Battle at Jahaz.

33. And the Lord our God delivered him up before us, ſo that we killed him, his Children, and all his People.

34. We alſo took all his Cities at the ſame Time, and utterly deſtroyed of every City the Men, Women and Children, we left none remaining.

35. Only we made the Beaſts our prey, and the Spoil of the Cities which we took.

36. From Aroer which is upon the Bank of the River Arnon, and the City that is in the River, even to Gilead, there was not a Town which was ſuperior to us: the Lord our God delivered up all before us.

37. Only thou didſt not approach the Country of the Ammonites, any Place of the River Jabbok, or the Cities of the Mountain, or where-ever the Lord our God forbade us.

CHAP. III.

NEXT we turned about, and went up the Way to Baſhan; and Og King of it, with all his People, came out to meet us in War, at Edrei.

2. But the Lord ſaid to me, Do not fear him: for I will deliver him, with all his People, and Country into thy Power; to whom thou ſhalt do, as thou didſt to Sihon King of the Amorites, who dwelt in Heſhbon.

3. Accordingly the Lord our God delivered alſo into our Power Og King of Baſhan, and all his People; whom we killed, till there was none left remaining to him.

4. And we took all his Cities at the ſame Time, there was not a Town which we did not take away from them; being ſixty Cities, the whole Region of Argob, the Kingdom of Og in Baſhan.

5. All theſe Cities were fortified with a high Wall, Gates and Bars, beſides very many Towns.

6. And we utterly deſtroyed them, according to what we did to Sihon King of Heſhbon, namely the Men, Women, and Children of every City.

7. However we made all the Beaſts, and the Spoil of the Cities our prey.

8. Thus we took away at that Time out of the Power of the two Kings of the Amorites, the Country which is on this ſide Jordan, from the River Arnon to Mount Hermon;

9. (The Zidonians calling Hermon Shirion, and the Amorites calling it Shenir)

10. All the Cities of the Plain, with all Gilead, and all Baſhan, to Salchah and Edrei, Cities of the Kingdom of Og in Baſhan.

11. For only Og King of Baſhan was left of the Reſidue of the Giants; behold his Bedſtead was an iron one, is it not in Rabbah of the Ammonites? It being nine Cubits long, and four wide, by a Man's Cubit.

12. And this Country which we inherited at that Time, from Aroer which is by the River Arnon, and half Mount Gilead, with its Cities, I gave to the Reubenites and Gadites.

13. The reſt of Gilead, and all Baſhan, the Kingdom of Og, I likewiſe gave to half the Tribe of Manaſſeh; the whole Region of Argob in all Baſhan, which was called The Country of Giants.

14. Jair the Deſcendant of Manaſſeh took the whole Region of Argob, to the Bounds of the Geſhurites and Maachathites; and has called them by his own Name The Baſhan-Towns of Jair to this Day.

15. And on Machir I beſtowed Gilead:

16. As I did on the Reubenites and Gadites, from Gilead to the River Arnon, the middle of the River, being the Bounds, and to Jabbok a River the Bounds of the Ammonites;

17. With

17. With the Plain, and Jordan which was the Bounds, from Cinnereth to the Sea of the Plain, the Salt Sea, under the Streams of Piſgah eaſtward.

18. Whom I commanded at that Time as follows; The Lord your God having given you this Country to inherit it, you ſhall paſs over armed before your Brethren the Iſraelites, all who are able Perſons.

19. Only your Wives, Children and Cattle, of which laſt I know that you have many, ſhall abide in your Cities which I have given you;

20. Till the Lord has made your Brethren reſt like your ſelves, and they likewiſe inherit the Country which the Lord your God gives them beyond Jordan; when you ſhall return to your reſpective Inheritances, which I have conferred upon you.

21. Beſides I commanded Joſhua thus at that Time; Thy Eyes having ſeen all which the Lord your God did to theſe two Kings, ſo will the Lord do to all the Kingdoms whither thou art paſſing.

22. Do you not fear them: for the Lord your God himſelf will fight for you.

23. I alſo made the following ſupplication to the Lord at that Time;

24. O Sovereign Lord, thou haſt begun to ſhew thy Servant thy Greatneſs and ſtrong Hand; on which Account who is God in Heaven or Earth, that can do according to thy Works and Power?

25. Let me paſs over, I beſeech thee, and ſee the good Country which is beyond Jordan, that good Mountain, and Lebanon.

26. Nevertheleſs the Lord being in a Wrath with me by reaſon of you, would not hearken to me, but ſaid to me; It is a great deal for thee, ſpeak no more to me of this Matter.

27. Aſcend to the Top of Piſgah, and look up weſtward, northward, ſouthward and eaſtward, and ſee with thy Eyes; but thou ſhalt not paſs over this Jordan.

28. However command Joſhua, nay encourage and ſtrengthen him: for he ſhall paſs over before this People, and he ſhall make them poſſeſs the Country which thou ſhalt ſee.

29. So we abode in the Valley over againſt Beth-peor.

CHAP. IV.

NOW therefore, Iſrael, hearken to the Ordinances and Rules, which I teach you to do; in order that you may live, go in, and inherit the Country which the Lord God of your Fathers gives you.

2. You ſhall neither add to the Word which I command you, nor diminiſh from it; that you may obſerve the Commandments of the Lord your God, which I command you.

3. You ſaw with your own Eyes what the Lord did by reaſon of Baal-peor: for every Man who went after Baal-peor, him the Lord thy God deſtroyed from among you.

4. Whereas you who cleaved to the Lord your God, are all of you alive this Day.

5. See, I have taught you Ordinances and Rules, as the Lord my God commanded me; that you may do ſo within the Country, whither you are going in to inherit it.

6. Obſerve then, and do them, ſince it will be your Wiſdom and Underſtanding in the Sight of the People, who upon hearing all theſe Ordinances, will ſay, This great Nation only is a wiſe and underſtanding People.

7. For what great Nation is there that has a god ſo near to it, as the Lord our God is, in all that we call upon him for?

8. And what great Nation is there that has ſuch righteous Ordinances and Rules, as this whole Law which I put before you to Day?

9. Only take heed to thy ſelf, and keep thy Soul thoroughly, leſt thou ſhouldeſt forget the Things which thy Eyes have ſeen, and leſt they ſhould depart from thy Mind any of the Days of thy Life; but cauſe thy Children and Grandchildren to know them;

10. Particularly the Day that thou ſtoodeſt before the Lord thy God at Horeb, when the Lord ſaid to me, Gather me the People together, and I will let them hear my Words, that they may learn to fear me all the Days which they live upon the Earth, and may teach their Children.

11. So you came near, and ſtood under the Mountain; and it burnt with Fire to the midſt of Heaven, with Darkneſs, Clouds and Miſt.

Ver. 9. any] as it could not be all, conſiſtent with what is before.

12. And

12. And the Lord ſpoke to you from within the Fire, you hearing the Words pronounced, but ſaw no Likeneſs along with it.

13. And he declared to you his Covenant, which he commanded you to perform, the ten Commandments, and wrote them upon two Tables of Stone.

14. Beſides the Lord commanded me at that Time, to teach you Ordinances and Rules, that you might do them in the Country, whither you paſs over to inherit it.

15. Therefore take great heed to your Souls, ſince you ſaw no Likeneſs on the Day the Lord ſpoke to you at Horeb, from within the Fire:

16. Leſt you ſhould be corrupted, and make you a carved Image, the Likeneſs of any Image, the Shape of Male or Female,

17. The Shape of any Beaſt which is on the Earth, the Shape of any winged Fowl which flies in the Air,

18. The Shape of any Thing that creeps on the Ground, the Shape of any Fiſh which is in the Water under the Earth;

19. And leſt thou ſhouldeſt look up to Heaven, and ſeeing the Sun, Moon and Stars, the whole Army of it, ſhouldeſt be driven to bow down to them, and ſerve them; which the Lord thy God has diſtributed to all the People under the whole Heaven.

20. Whereas the Lord took you, and brought you out from the iron Furnace, out of Egypt, that you might be a People poſſeſſed by him, as it is this Day.

21. Moreover the Lord was angry with me upon your account, and ſware that I ſhould not paſs over Jordan, nor enter into the good Country which the Lord thy God gives thee for a Poſſeſſion.

22. Though I muſt die in this Country, not paſſing over Jordan; yet you are to paſs over, and inherit that good Country.

23. Take heed to your ſelves, leſt you ſhould forget the Covenant of the Lord your God, which he made with you, and make you a carved Image, the Likeneſs of any Thing that the Lord thy God has forbid thee.

24. For the Lord thy God is a conſuming Fire, a zealous God.

25. When thou haſt begot Children and Grandchildren, and you are become old in the Country, and are corrupt, making a carved Image, the Likeneſs of any Thing, and doing what the Lord thy God is diſpleaſed with, to provoke him;

26. I call to Day Heaven and Earth to give Evidence againſt you, that you ſhall ſpeedily quite periſh from the Country whither you paſs over Jordan to inherit it; you ſhall not have a long Time in it, but be utterly deſtroyed.

27. The Lord will alſo diſperſe you among the People, and you will be left a few Perſons in the Nations, whither he will lead you.

28. And there you will ſerve gods the Work of Men's Hands, Wood and Stone, that neither ſee, hear, eat, nor ſmell.

29. However upon thy enquiring for the Lord thy God from thence, thou ſhalt find him, when thou ſeekeſt him with thy whole Heart and Soul.

30. When thou art diſtreſſed, and all theſe Things meet with thee in the latter Days, and thou returneſt to the Lord thy God, hearkening to what he ſays;

31. As the Lord thy God is a merciful God, he will not neglect thee, nor deſtroy thee; neither forget the Covenant of thy Forefathers, which he ſware to them.

32. For aſk now of the former Days which were before thee, ſince the Day that God created Man upon the Earth, and from one End of the Heaven to the other, whether there has been the like of this great Thing, or been heard comparable to it.

33. Has a People heard the Voice of God ſpeaking from within the Fire, as thou haſt, and lived?

34. Or has God tried to come, to fetch him one Nation out of the midſt of another, by Trials, Signs, Miracles, War, a ſtrong Hand, an Arm ſtretched out, and great Terrors, according to all which the Lord your God did for you in Egypt before your Eyes?

35. It was ſhewn to thee, that thou mighteſt know that the Lord himſelf is God, there being none elſe beſides him.

36. He made thee hear his Voice from Heaven, that he might inſtruct thee; and ſhewed thee his great Fire upon the Earth, from within which thou heardeſt his Words.

37. And foraſmuch as he loved thy Forefathers, he choſe their Offspring after them, and brought thee out of Egypt in his own Preſence, by his great Power:

38. To expel Nations, greater and ſtronger than thou, from thy Preſence; that he may bring thee in, to give thee their Country for a Poſſeſſion, as it is this Day.

39. So know to Day, and recall to thy Mind, that the Lord himſelf is God in Heaven above, and upon the Earth below, there being none elſe.

40. Do thou therefore obſerve his Ordinances and Commandments, which I command thee to Day, that it may be well with thee, and thy Children after thee, and in order that thy Time may be long in the Country which the Lord thy God gives thee, continually.

41. Then Moſes put apart three Cities on this ſide Jordan, towards the Sunriſing;

42. For the Man-ſlayer to flee thither, who ſhould kill his Neighbour unawares, when he did not hate him in time paſt, that fleeing to one of them, he might live;

43. Namely Bezer in the Wilderneſs, in the Country of the Plain belonging to the Reubenites, Ramoth in Gilead belonging to the Gadites, and Golan in Baſhan to the Manaſſites.

44. And this is the Law which Moſes put before the Iſraelites:

45. Theſe are the Teſtimonies, Ordinances and Rules, which he ſpoke to them, when they were come out of Egypt;

46. On this ſide Jordan, in the Valley over againſt Beth-peor, in the Country of Sihon King of the Amorites who dwelt at Heſhbon, whom Moſes and the Iſraelites conquered, when they were come out of Egypt.

47. And they inherited his Country, with that of Og King of Baſhan, the two Kings of the Amorites, who were on this ſide Jordan, at the Sun-riſing;

48. From Aroer which is upon the Bank of the River Arnon, to Mount Sion, that is Hermon;

49. And the whole Plain on this ſide Jordan eaſtward, to the Sea of the Plain, under the Streams of Piſgah.

CHAP. V.

FOR Moſes called all Iſrael, and ſaid to them: Hear, O Iſrael, the Ordinances and Rules, which I ſpeak in your Hearing to Day; that you may learn them, and obſerve to do them.

2. The Lord our God made a Covenant with us at Horeb.

3. The Lord did not make this Covenant with our Forefathers, but with us, all theſe of our own ſelves who are alive here to Day.

4. The Lord ſpoke with you Face to Face on the Mountain, from within the Fire

5. (I ſtanding between the Lord and you at that Time, to declare his Word to you, becauſe you were afraid by reaſon of the Fire, and did not go up on the Mountain) as follows:

6. I am the Lord thy God, who brought thee out of the Country of Egypt, from the Place of Slaves.

7. Thou ſhalt have no other gods in my Preſence.

8. Thou ſhalt not make thee a carved Image, any Likeneſs either of what is in the Heaven above, on the Earth below, or in the Water under it;

9. Thou ſhalt neither bow down to them, nor ſerve them: for I am the Lord thy God, a zealous God, who puniſh Children for the Iniquity of the Parents, even to the third and fourth Generation of them that hate me;

10. But ſhew Kindneſs to Thouſands, of thoſe who love me, and keep my Commandments.

11. Thou ſhalt not take up the Name of the Lord thy God vainly: for the Lord will not let him be quit who does ſo.

12. Keep the Sabbath Day holy, as the Lord thy God has commanded thee.

13. Six Days ſhalt thou work, and do all thy Buſineſs.

14. But the ſeventh Day being the Sabbath of the Lord thy God, neither ſhalt thou, thy Son, Daughter, Servant-man, Maid, Ox, Aſs, any of thy Cattle, nor Sojourner who is within thy Gates, do any Buſineſs; that thy Servant-man and Maid may reſt as well as thy ſelf.

Tranſ.* conveys no better Meaning, than that thoſe who were preſent were all then alive, which is too trifling to be what Moſes intended; but it intimates another Meaning, far from being true, as if all whom the Lord made the Covenant with almoſt forty Years before, were alive there when Moſes ſpoke this.

Ver. 9. even] being here, though not in Exod. xx. 5.

15. And

15. And remember that thou waſt a Servant in the Country of Egypt, and the Lord thy God brought thee out from thence, by a ſtrong Hand, and an Arm ſtretched out; therefore he commands thee to keep the Sabbath Day.

16. Honour thy Father and Mother, as the Lord thy God commands thee; that thy Time may be long, and that it may be well for thee, in the Country which the Lord thy God gives thee.

17. Thou ſhalt not murder.

18. Nor ſhalt thou commit Adultery.

19. Nor ſhalt thou ſteal.

20. Nor ſhalt thou give Evidence againſt thy Neighbour falſely.

21. Nor ſhalt thou covet thy Neighbour's Wife; neither ſhalt thou covet his Houſe, Land, Servant-man, Maid, Ox, Aſs, or any Thing that he has.

22. Theſe Words the Lord ſpoke to your whole Congregation on the Mountain, from within the Fire, Cloud and Darkneſs, with a loud Voice, and made no Addition; he alſo wrote them upon two Tables of Stone, and gave them to me.

23. And when you heard the Voice from within the Darkneſs, the Mountain burning with Fire, you came near to me, all the Heads of your Tribes, and your Elders,

24. And ſaid; Lo the Lord our God has ſhewn us his Glory and Greatneſs, and we have heard his Voice from within the Fire: this Day we have ſeen that God ſpeaks to Man, and he lives.

25. Why therefore ſhould we now die? For this great Fire will conſume us: if we hear the Voice of the Lord our God any more, we ſhall die.

26. For who is there of all Fleſh that has heard the Voice of the living God, ſpeaking from within the Fire, like us, and has lived?

27. Go thou near, and hear all that the Lord our God ſhall ſay; then do thou ſpeak to us all which he does to thee, that we may hear and do it.

28. And the Lord hearkening to the Voice of your Words, when you ſpoke to me, ſaid to me; I have heard the Voice of this People's Words that they have ſpoken to thee, in all which they have done well.

29. Oh that they would have this Mind, to fear me, and obſerve all my Commandments at all Times; that it may be well for them, and their Children for ever.

30. Go, ſay to them, Return to your Tents.

31. But do thou ſtand here with me, that I may ſpeak to thee all the Commandments, the Ordinances and Rules, which thou ſhalt teach them, and they ſhall do in the Country that I give them to inherit it.

32. You muſt therefore obſerve to do as the Lord your God has commanded you, neither turning aſide to the right Hand, nor the left.

33. In all the Way which he has commanded you muſt ye go; that ye may live, and it may be well for you, and the Time may be long in the Country which you ſhall inherit.

CHAP. VI.

AND theſe are the Commandments, Ordinances and Rules, which the Lord your God commanded to teach you, to do in the Country whither you paſs to inherit it:

2. That thou mayeſt fear the Lord thy God, to obſerve all his Ordinances, and his Commandments, which I command thee, thy Son and Grandſon, all the Days of thy Life; and that thy Time may be long.

3. So thou muſt hear, O Iſrael, and obſerve to do; by which it will be well for thee, and by which thou wilt increaſe exceedingly: as the Lord God of thy Fathers promiſed thee, in a Country flowing with Milk and Honey.

4. Hear, O Iſrael, the Lord our God is one Lord,

5. And thou ſhalt love the Lord thy God with all thy Heart, with all thy Soul, and all thy Might.

6. Moreover theſe Things which I command thee to Day ſhall be in thy Heart.

7. Beſides thou ſhalt teach them ſtrictly to thy Children, and ſpeak of them, when thou art ſitting in thy Houſe, walking in the Way, lying down, and getting up.

8. As alſo tie them for a Sign upon thy Hand, and they ſhall be for Frontlets between thy Eyes.

9. Nay thou ſhalt write them upon the Poſts of thy Houſe, and on thy Gates.

10. And when the Lord thy God has brought thee into the Country, which he ſware to thy Forefathers, Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob, that he would give thee, great and good Cities which thou haſt not built,

11. As likewiſe Houſes full of every good Thing which thou haſt not filled, and Ciſterns hewn out which thou haſt not hewed, Vineyards

yards and Olive-yards which thou haſt not planted, ſo that thou eateſt, and art ſatisfied;

12. Take heed to thy ſelf, leſt thou ſhouldeſt forget the Lord, who brought thee out of the Country of Egypt, from the Place of Slaves.

13. Thou ſhalt fear the Lord thy God, ſerve him, and ſwear by his Name.

14. You ſhall not go after other gods, any of thoſe of the People who are round about you:

15. Since the Lord thy God is a zealous God among you, leſt he ſhould be angry with thee, and deſtroy thee from the Surface of the Ground.

16. You ſhall not tempt the Lord your God, as you did at Maſſah.

17. You ſhall diligently obſerve the Commandments of the Lord your God, with his Teſtimonies and Ordinances which he has commanded thee.

18. And thou ſhalt do what the Lord approves of and likes; that it may be well for thee, and thou mayeſt go in, and inherit the good Country of which he ſware to thy Forefathers;

19. That he would drive away all thy Enemies from thy Preſence, as he himſelf ſpoke.

20. When thy Son aſks thee thus hereafter, For what are the Teſtimonies, Ordinances and Rules, which the Lord our God commanded you?

21. Thou ſhalt ſay to him; We were Slaves to Pharaoh in Egypt, and the Lord brought us out from thence by a ſtrong Hand.

22. He alſo ſhewed great and grievous Signs and Miracles againſt Egypt, againſt Pharaoh and all his Family, in our Sight;

23. As well as brought us out thence, that he might have us in, to give us the Country of which he ſware to our Forefathers.

24. Thus the Lord commanded us to do all theſe Ordinances, to fear the Lord our God; for our Good at all Times, that he may keep us alive, as at this Day.

25. And it will be Righteouſneſs to us; when we obſerve to do all this Commandment before the Lord our God, as he has commanded us.

CHAP. VII.

WHEN the Lord thy God has brought thee into the Country, whither thou art going in to inherit it, and has caſt out many Nations from thy Preſence, the Hittites, Girgaſhites, Amorites, Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebuſites, ſeven Nations greater and ſtronger than thou;

2. Whom when the Lord thy God has delivered up before thee, that thou mayeſt ſmite them; thou ſhalt quite deſtroy them, ſhalt make no Agreement with them, nor be favourable to them.

3. Neither ſhalt thou be joined to them by Marriage, thou ſhalt not give thy Daughter to his Son, nor take his Daughter for thy Son.

4. For it will turn aſide thy Son from following me, that they may ſerve other gods; ſo the Lord will be angry with you, and deſtroy thee quickly.

5. But thus ſhall you do to them, you ſhall break down their Altars, break their Statues in Pieces, cut down their Groves, and burn their carved Images in the Fire.

6. For thou art a holy People to the Lord thy God: he has choſen thee to be a peculiar People to himſelf, above any other that are upon the Surface of the Ground.

7. The Lord neither had a love for you, nor choſe you, for the Multitude of you more than any other, ſince you were the feweſt of all People.

8. But for his mere Love to you, and becauſe he would obſerve the Oath which he ſware to your Forefathers, the Lord brought you out with a ſtrong Hand, and redeemed you from the Place of Slaves, from the Power of Pharaoh King of Egypt.

9. Do thou know then, that the Lord thy God is God himſelf, a faithful God, keeping Covenant and Kindneſs, with thoſe who love him, and keep his Commandments, to a thouſand Generations;

10. But recompenſing ſuch as hate him, to their Face, to deſtroy them: he will not delay to recompenſe ſuch a one to his Face.

11. Thou ſhalt therefore keep the Commandments, Ordinances and Rules, which I command thee this Day to do.

12. And becauſe you hearken to theſe Rules, keep and do them, the Lord thy God will keep with thee the Covenant and Kindneſs, which he ſware to thy Forefathers.

13. Nay he will love, bleſs, and multiply thee, as alſo bleſs the Fruit of thy Womb and that of thy Ground, thy Corn, Wine and Oil, the Young of thy Cows, and the Flocks of thy Sheep, in the Country which he ſware to thy Forefathers that he would give thee.

14. Thou wilt be bleſſed the moſt of all People: there will not be among you Male or Female barren, nor among thy Cattle.

15. And the Lord will take away all Sickneſs from thee, and will not lay any of the bad Diſeaſes of Egypt, which thou knoweſt, on thee; but will put them on all who hate thee.

16. And thou ſhalt conſume all the People whom the Lord thy God delivers to thee, thy Eye ſhall have no compaſſion upon them; nor ſhalt thou ſerve their gods, for it will be a Snare to thee.

17. Though thou mayeſt ſay in thy Heart, Theſe Nations are greater than I, how can I expel them?

18. Thou ſhalt not be afraid of them, remembering well what the Lord thy God did to Pharaoh and all Egypt;

19. The great Trials which thy Eyes ſaw, with the Signs, Miracles, the ſtrong Hand, and Arm ſtretched out, by which the Lord thy God brcught thee out: ſo will he do to all the People, of whoſe Preſence thou art afraid.

20. And the Lord thy God will alſo ſend the Hornet among them, till thoſe who are left, and hide from thy Face, periſh.

21. Thou ſhalt not be in dread of their Preſence: for the Lord thy God is in the midſt of thee, a great and aweful God.

22. And he will caſt out thoſe Nations from thy Preſence by little and little: thou ſhalt not be able to conſume them quickly, leſt the wild Beaſts ſhould multiply againſt thee.

23. However the Lord thy God will deliver them up before thee, and vex them with great Vexation, till they are deſtroyed.

24. He will even deliver their Kings into thy Power, and thou ſhalt make their Name periſh from under the Heaven: there ſhall not a Man ſtand before thee, till thou haſt deſtroyed them.

25. The carved Images of their gods ſhall you burn in the Fire: thou ſhalt not deſire the Silver or Gold that is upon them, and take for thy ſelf, leſt thou ſhouldeſt be inſnared by it; becauſe it is an Abomination to the Lord thy God.

26. Nor ſhalt thou bring an Abomination into thy Houſe, leſt thou ſhouldeſt be accurſed like it: thou ſhalt utterly deteſt it, and utterly abhor it, becauſe it is accurſed.

CHAP. VIII.

ALL the Commandments which I enjoin thee to Day, you ſhall obſerve to do; that you may live, multiply, go in, and inherit the Country of which the Lord ſware to your Forefathers.

2. And thou ſhalt remember the whole Way, wherein the Lord thy God has made thee go theſe forty Years in the Wilderneſs; in order to afflict thee, to try thee, that it might be known what was in thy Heart, whether thou wouldeſt obſerve his Commandments, or not:

3. When he afflicted thee, and making thee hungry, cauſed thee to eat Manna, which thou didſt not know, nor did thy Fathers; that he might let thee know that Man does not live upon Bread alone, for he lives upon all that proceeds out of the Lord's Mouth.

4. Thy Cloaths did not wear out upon thee, nor thy Foot ſwell, theſe forty Years.

5. So thou mayeſt know with thy Heart, that as a Man chaſtiſes his Son, the Lord thy God chaſtiſes thee.

6. Therefore thou ſhalt obſerve the Commandments of the Lord thy God, to go in his Ways, and to fear him.

7. For he is bringing thee into a good Country, one of Brooks of Water, Fountains and Lakes, that come out both of the Vallies and Mountains;

8. A Country of Wheat, Barley, Vines, Figs and Pomegranates; a Country of Olives for Oil, and Honey;

9. A Country wherein thou ſhalt eat Victuals without Scarcity, not wanting any Thing in it; a Country whoſe Stones are Iron, and out of whoſe Mountains thou ſhalt dig Braſs.

10. And when thou haſt eat, and art ſatisfied, thou ſhalt bleſs the Lord thy God, for the good Country which he has given thee.

11. Take heed to thy ſelf, leſt thou ſhouldeſt forget the Lord thy God, not to obſerve his Commandments, Rules and Ordinances, which I command thee to Day:

12. Leſt when thou haſt eat, and art ſatisfied, as alſo haſt built and dwelleſt in good Houſes,

13. When thy Herds and Flocks are multiplied, thy Silver and Gold is multiplied to thee, and all that thou haſt is ſo;

14. Thy Heart ſhould be exalted, and thou ſhouldeſt forget the Lord thy God, who brought thee out of the Country of Egypt, from the Place of Slaves;

15. Who made thee go in the great and terrible Wilderneſs, of fiery Serpents, Scorpions and Drought, wherein there was no Water; who brought Water for thee out of the Rock of Flint;

16. Who made thee eat Manna in the Wilderneſs, which thy Fathers did not know, that he might afflict thee, and that he might try thee, to do well for thee at thy End:

17. And ſhouldeſt ſay in thy Heart, My Power, and the Strength of my Hand has got me this Wealth.

18. Whereas thou ſhalt remember the Lord thy God, for it is he gives thee Power to get Wealth; that he may confirm his Covenant which he ſware to thy Forefathers, as it is this Day.

19. And if thou doſt at all forget the Lord thy God, go after other gods, ſerve them, and bow down to them; I teſtify againſt you to Day, that you will utterly periſh.

20. As the Nations that the Lord cauſes to periſh from your Preſence, ſo will you periſh, becauſe you do not hearken to what the Lord your God ſays.

CHAP. IX.

HEAR, O Iſrael, thou art now about to paſs over Jordan, that thou mayeſt go in to inherit Nations greater and ſtronger than thy ſelf, Cities great and fortified to Heaven;

2. A People great and tall, the Sons of the Anakites, whom thou knoweſt, and haſt heard ſay, Who can ſtand before the Sons of Anak?

3. Know therefore now, that the Lord thy God, he who paſſes on before thee, is a conſuming Fire, he will deſtroy them, and he will bring them down before thee; ſo that thou ſhalt expel them, and make them periſh quickly, as the Lord has ſpoken to thee.

4. Do not ſay thus in thy Heart, when the Lord thy God has driven them away from before thee, For my Virtue the Lord has brought me in to inherit this Country; whereas for the Wickedneſs of theſe Nations the Lord expels them from thy Preſence.

5. Neither for thy Virtue, nor the Uprightneſs of thy Heart, doſt thou go in to inherit their Country; but for the Wickedneſs of theſe Nations the Lord thy God expels them from thy Preſence, and that he may confirm the Matter which the Lord ſware to thy Forefathers, Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob.

6. So know that the Lord thy God does not give thee this good Country, to inherit it, for thy Virtue; ſince thou art a People of a ſtiff Neck.

7. Remember without forgetting, how thou didſt provoke the Lord thy God to wrath in the Wilderneſs: even from the Time that thou cameſt out of the Country of Egypt, till you arrived at this Place, you have been rebellious againſt the Lord.

8. At Horeb eſpecially you provoked the Lord to wrath, inſomuch that he was angry with you, to deſtroy you.

9. When I went up the Mountain to receive the Tables of Stone, thoſe of the Covenant which the Lord made with you, I ſtaid there forty Days and forty Nights, neither eating nor drinking any Thing.

10. And the Lord gave me two Tables of Stone written with the Finger of God, upon which was according to all the Words that the Lord ſpoke to you on the Mountain, from within the Fire, on the Day of the Congregation.

11. And at the End of forty Days and forty Nights, the Lord giving me the two Tables of Stone, thoſe of the Covenant;

12. He

12. He ſaid to me, Get ready, go down quickly from hence; for thy People whom thou haſt brought out of Egypt are corrupted: they are quickly turned aſide from the Way which I commanded them, having made them a molten Image.

13. Beſides the Lord ſaid to me as follows; I ſee plainly that this People are thoſe of a ſtiff Neck:

14. Let me alone, that I may deſtroy them, and blot out their Name from under Heaven; and I will make thee a Nation ſtronger and greater than they.

15. Accordingly I turned, and came down from the Mountain, which was burning with Fire, and the two Tables of the Covenant were in both my Hands.

16. And I ſaw plainly that you had ſinned againſt the Lord your God, having made you a molten Calf: you had quickly turned aſide from the Way which the Lord commanded you.

17. Upon this I took the two Tables, and throwing them out of both my Hands, broke them in your Sight.

18. Then I fell down before the Lord, as at firſt forty Days and forty Nights, neither eating nor drinking any Thing; for all your Sins which you had committed, by doing what the Lord was diſpleaſed with, to provoke him.

19. For I was afraid by reaſon of the Anger and Wrath, with which the Lord was enraged againſt you, to deſtroy you; however he hearkened to me alſo at that Time.

20. The Lord was likewiſe very angry with Aaron, to deſtroy him; but I prayed alſo for him at the ſame Time.

21. And I took your Sin, the Calf which you had made, and burning it in the Fire, pounded it, ground it well, till it was made ſmall into Duſt; then I threw the Duſt of it into the Brook that comes down from the Mountain.

22. Moreover at Taberah, Maſſah and Kibroth-hattaavah, you were provoking the Lord to wrath.

23. Nay when the Lord ſent you from Kadeſh-barnea, to go up, and inherit the Country which I have given you; ye rebelled againſt the Command of the Lord your God, neither believing him, nor hearkening to what he ſaid.

24. You have been rebellious againſt the Lord, ever ſince I knew you.

25. When I fell down before the Lord the forty Days and forty Nights which I did, becauſe he ſpoke of deſtroying you;

26. I prayed to the Lord in this manner; O Sovereign Lord, do not ſlay thy People and Poſſeſſion, that thou haſt redeemed by thy Greatneſs, that thou haſt brought out of Egypt by a ſtrong Hand.

27. Remember thy Servants, Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob; do not look at the Stubbornneſs of this People, at their Wickedneſs, or Sin:

28. Leſt thoſe of the Country from whence thou broughteſt us out ſhould ſay, By reaſon the Lord was not able to bring them into the Country which he promiſed them, and for his Hatred to them, he had them out to kill them in the Wilderneſs.

29. Whereas they are thy People and Poſſeſſion, that thou haſt brought out by thy great Power, and Arm ſtretched out.

CHAP. X.

AT that Time the Lord ſaid to me; Carve thee out two Tables of Stone like the former, and come up the Mountain to me; make thee alſo an Ark of Wood.

2. And I will write upon the Tables the Words that were upon the former ones, which thou haſt broke, and thou ſhalt put them in the Ark.

3. So I made an Ark of Shittim-wood, and carving out two Tables of Stone like the former, went up the Mountain, with the two Tables in my Hand.

4. And he wrote upon them, according to the former Writing, the ten Commandments, which the Lord ſpoke to you on the Mountain, from within the Fire, on the Day of the Congregation, and the Lord gave them to me.

5. Then I turned, and came down from the Mountain, putting the Tables in the Ark which I had made; where they are, as the Lord commanded me.

6. And the Iſraelites marched from the

Ver. 6. And the] This and the next Verſe being a Digreſſion from what Moſes was ſpeaking of, it may be accounted for, that it was to ſhew God's farther Reconciliation to the People, after they had ſinned by the Calf; ſince he led them on their Journey, and Eleazar was made to ſupply the Room of Aaron when he died; beſides on this Occaſion a more particular Account is given of thoſe Places, than was before, or perhaps could have conveniently been, in Num. xxxiii.

Wells

Wells of the Jaakanites to Moſerah: there Aaron died, and was buried there, whoſe Son Eleazar executed the Prieſthood in his room.

7. From thence they marched to Gudgodah, and thence to Jotbathah, a Country with Rivers of Water.

8. At that Time the Lord put apart the Tribe of Levi, to carry the Ark of his own Covenant, to ſtand before himſelf to miniſter to him, and to bleſs in his Name, to this Day.

9. Therefore Levi has no Share nor Poſſeſſion with his Brethren: the Lord himſelf is his Poſſeſſion, as the Lord thy God ſpoke to him.

10. And I ſtaid on the Mountain according to the former Days, forty Days and forty Nights; when the Lord hearkening to me alſo at that Time, would not ſlay thee.

11. On the contrary he ſaid to me, Get ready, go to march before the People, that they may go in, and inherit the Country, which I ſware to their Forefathers that I would give them.

12. And now, O Iſrael, what does the Lord thy God require of thee, but to fear himſelf, to go in all his Ways, as alſo to love him, and ſerve himſelf, with thy whole Heart and Soul,

13. To obſerve the Commandments of the Lord, and his Ordinances, which I command thee to Day, for thy own Good?

14. Lo the Heaven and Heaven of Heavens belong to the Lord thy God, the Earth and all that is in it:

15. However the Lord had affection for thy Fathers to love them; and choſe their Offspring after them, even you the moſt of all People, as it is this Day.

16. Circumciſe therefore the Foreſkin of your Heart, and make your Neck ſtiff no more.

17. For the Lord your God himſelf is the God of gods, and Lord of lords, a great, powerful and aweful God, who will not reſpect Faces, nor take a Bribe.

18. He does Juſtice to the Fatherleſs and Widow, and loves a Stranger, to give him Food and Raiment.

19. So do you love a Stranger, ſince you were ſuch in the Country of Egypt.

20. Thou ſhalt fear the Lord thy God, ſerve him, as alſo cleave to him, and ſwear by his Name.

21. He is thy Praiſe, and he thy God, who has done for thee theſe great and aweful Things, which thou haſt ſeen with thy Eyes.

22. Thy Forefathers went down to Egypt, being ſeventy Perſons; and now the Lord thy God has made thee as the Stars of Heaven for Multitude.

CHAP. XI.

THOU ſhalt therefore love the Lord thy God, and keep his Charge, Ordinances, Rules and Commandments, at all Times.

2. And know ye to Day: for it is not your Children, who have not known, and who have not ſeen the Chaſtiſement of the Lord your God, his Greatneſs, ſtrong Hand, and Arm ſtretched out;

3. As likewiſe his Signs and Deeds which he did within Egypt, to Pharaoh King of it, and his whole Country;

4. And what he did to the Egyptian Army, their Horſes and Chariots, how he made the Water of the Red Sea flow over their Heads, when they purſued after you, and the Lord has made them periſh to this Day;

5. Moreover what he has done for you in the Wilderneſs, till you arrived at this Place;

Ib. Wells] Being diſſatisfied with what Interpreters ſay to reconcile this Verſe with Num. xxxiii. 31. I obſerve thoſe Wells are there omitted, as the Owners of them are named at the Place where they lived, ſome of whoſe Wells for their Flocks might be come to before Moſera or Moſeroth; ſo that the Iſraelites might go from the Wells of the Jaakanites to Moſera as here, and from thence to Jaakan, as in Num. and one of theſe two, as they belonged to each other, might be ſufficient to mention in one Place. Jotbathah in the following Verſe being the ſame as in Num. and the other ſo much alike, it is incredible that they ſhould be all different Places. And if they had went back from one Place to the other, of which it is pretended one of the Accounts is, they muſt of courſe have returned to the Place they went back from, becauſe the Journey afterwards is the ſame. Nor is the Device of Jun. and Trem. allowable, to add and before Moſerah, for it makes both Abſurdity and Tautology; and to is here denoted the ſame as at the two Names in the next Verſe by final ה

This Hor-hagidgad, Num. xxxiii. 32. makes the more likely, which was probably not far from that Mountain, and therefore ſo diſtinguiſhed: for the Opinions of others, eſpecially Jews, on this Verſe, conſult Buxtorf, Vindic. p. 933, &c.

6. What

6. What he did alſo to Dathan and Abiram, the Sons of Eliab, the Son of Reuben, how the Earth opened its Mouth, and ſwallowed them up, together with their Families, Tents, and all living Subſtance that accompanied them, in the midſt of all Iſrael.

7. For you have ſeen with your own Eyes every great Deed of the Lord, which he has done.

8. So you ſhall keep all the Commandments, which I command thee to Day: that you may be ſtrong, go in, and inherit the Country, whither you are paſſing to inherit it;

9. And that you may have the Time long in the Country which the Lord ſware to your Forefathers, that he would give them and their Offspring, a Country flowing with Milk and Honey.

10. For the Country whither thou art going in to inherit it, is not like that of Egypt, from whence you came out; in which thou didſt ſow thy Seed, and water with thy Foot, like a Garden of Herbs.

11. But this whither you are paſſing to inherit it, is a Country of Mountains and Vallies, drinking Water of the Rain of Heaven;

12. A Country which is of the Lord thy God's ſeeking, whoſe Eyes are continually on it, from the Beginning of the Year to the End of it.

13. And if you at all hearken to my Commandments which I enjoin you to Day, to love the Lord your God, and to ſerve him with your whole Heart and Soul;

14. Then will I give Rain for your Land in its Seaſon, the firſt and latter Rain; that thou mayeſt gather thy Corn, Wine and Oil.

15. I will give Graſs too in thy Field for thy Cattle; and thou ſhalt eat, and be ſatisfied.

16. Take heed to your ſelves, leſt your Heart ſhould be enticed, and you ſhould turn aſide, ſerve other gods, and bow down to them.

17. When the Lord would be angry with you, and ſhut up the Heaven, ſo that there ſhould be no Rain, and the Ground would not yield its Increaſe: thus would you periſh quickly from the good Country which the Lord gives you.

18. Therefore you ſhall put theſe Words of mine in your Heart and Soul, as alſo tie them for a Sign upon your Hand, and they ſhall be for Frontlets between your Eyes.

19. Beſides you ſhall teach them to your Children, by ſpeaking of them, when thou art ſitting at home, walking in the Way, lying down, and getting up.

20. Nay thou ſhalt write them upon the Poſts of thy Houſe, and on thy Gates:

21. That your own Days and your Children's may be multiplied, in the Country which the Lord ſware to your Forefathers, that he would give them, as the Days of Heaven upon the Earth.

22. For if you will at all obſerve all theſe Commandments, which I order you to do, to love the Lord your God, to go in all his Ways, and to cleave to him;

23. Then will the Lord diſinherit all theſe Nations from your Preſence, and you ſhall inherit Nations greater and ſtronger than your ſelves.

24. Every Place which the Sole of your Foot ſhall tread on ſhall be yours: from the Wilderneſs and Lebanon, from that

25. No Man ſhall ſtand in your Preſence: the Lord your God will put the Dread of you, and the Fear of you, upon the Surface of the whole Country which you ſhall tread on, as he has ſpoken to you.

26. See, I put before you to Day, a Bleſſing and a Curſe:

27. A Bleſſing, when you hearken to the Commandments of the Lord your God, which I give you in charge to Day;

28. And a Curſe, if you do not, but turn aſide out of the Way which I command you to Day, to go after other gods, that you do not know.

29. And when the Lord thy God has brought thee into the Country, whither thou art going in to inherit it, thou ſhalt put the Bleſſing upon Mount Gerizzim, and the Curſe upon Mount Ebal.

30. Are they not beyond Jordan, behind the Way of the Sun's ſetting, in the Country of the Canaanites who dwell in the Plain, over againſt Gilgal, by the Oaks of Moreh?

31. For you ſhall paſs over Jordan, to go in to inherit the Country that the Lord your God gives you; which you ſhall inherit, and dwell in.

32. And you ſhall obſerve to do all the Ordinances and Rules, which I put before you to Day.

CHAP. XII.

THESE are they which you ſhall obſerve to do, in the Country which the Lord God of thy Fathers gives thee, to inherit it, all the Days that you live upon the Earth.

2. You ſhall quite deſtroy all the Places, where the Nations that you ſhall inherit ſerved their gods, upon the high Mountains, upon the Hills, and under every green Tree.

3. And you ſhall demoliſh their Altars, break their Statues, burn their Groves with Fire, cut down the carved Images of their gods, and deſtroy the Name of them from that Place.

4. You ſhall not do ſo to the Lord your God.

5. But to the Place which he ſhall chooſe out of all your Tribes, to put his Name there, being his Habitation, ſhall you ſeek, and thither thou ſhalt come.

6, Thither too ſhall you bring your Burnt-offerings, Sacrifices and Tithes, and the Lifted-offering that you have, as alſo what you vow, and your Free-offerings, with the Firſtlings of your Herds and Flocks.

7. And you ſhall eat there before the Lord your God, and be glad in all that you, and your Families, take in Hand, wherein he has bleſſed thee.

8. You ſhall not do according to all that we do here now, each one whatſoever he approves of.

9. For hitherto you are not come to the Reſt and Poſſeſſion, which the Lord thy God gives thee.

10. But you ſhall paſs over Jordan, and dwell in the Country which the Lord your God makes you poſſeſs; who will give you reſt from all your Enemies round about, and you ſhall dwell ſecurely.

11. And there will be a Place which the Lord your God will chooſe, to make his Name remain there; thither ſhall you bring all that I command you, your Burnt-offerings and Sacrifices, your Tithes, and the Lifted-offering that you have, with every choice Thing of your Vows which you make to the Lord.

12. And you ſhall be glad before the Lord your God, with your Sons, Daughters, Servant-men and Maids; as alſo the Levite who is within your Gates, becauſe he has no Part or Poſſeſſion with you.

13. Take heed to thy ſelf, that thou doſt not offer up thy Burnt-offerings in every Place which thou ſeeſt.

14. But in the Place that the Lord will chooſe in one of thy Tribes, there ſhalt thou offer up thy Burnt-offerings, and there do all which I command thee.

15. However thou mayeſt kill and eat Fleſh, whatever thy Mind deſires, according to the Bleſſing of the Lord thy God which he has given thee, within any of thy Gates:

the unclean and clean may eat it, like the Deer and Hart.

16. Only you ſhall not eat the Blood, you ſhall pour it out upon the Ground like Water.

17. Thou muſt not eat within thy Gates, the Tithe of thy Corn, Wine or Oil, the Firſtlings of thy Herd or Flock, any Thing of thy Vows which thou makeſt, thy Free-offerings, or the Lifted-offering that thou haſt.

18. But thou ſhalt eat them before the Lord thy God, in the Place which he ſhall chooſe, with thy Son, Daughter, Servant-man, Maid, and the Levite who is within thy Gates: and thou ſhalt be glad before the Lord thy God, in all that thou takeſt in Hand.

19. Take heed to thy ſelf, that thou doſt not forſake the Levite, all the Time thou haſt upon the Earth.

20. When the Lord thy God ſhall make thy Bounds large, as he has promiſed thee, and thou thinkeſt, I will eat Fleſh, becauſe thy Mind deſires to do it; thou mayeſt eat Fleſh whatever thy Mind does deſire.

21. If the Place where the Lord thy God ſhall chooſe to put his Name is far off from thee, thou ſhalt kill of thy Herd and Flock, which the Lord has given thee, as I have commanded thee; and ſhalt eat within thy Gates whatever thy Mind deſires.

22. Even as the Deer and Hart are eat, ſo ſhalt thou eat it: the unclean and clean may eat it together.

23. Only be reſolved not to eat Blood, becauſe the Blood is the Life; and thou ſhalt not eat the Life with the Fleſh.

24. Inſtead of eating it, thou ſhalt ſhed it upon the Ground like Water.

25. Thou ſhalt not eat it, that it may be well for thee and thy Children after thee, when thou doeſt what the Lord approves of.

26. Only thy holy Things which thou haſt, and thoſe of thy Vows, ſhalt thou take, and go to the Place that the Lord ſhall chooſe.

27. And ſhalt offer thy Burnt-offerings, the Fleſh and Blood, upon the Altar of the Lord thy God; on which the Blood of thy Sacrifices ſhall be poured out, and thou ſhalt eat the Fleſh.

28. Obſerve, as well as hear, all theſe Things which I command thee; that it may be well for thee and thy Children after thee for ever, when thou doeſt what the Lord thy God likes, and approves of.

29. When he has cut off the Nations, whither thou art going to inherit them, from thy Preſence, and thou ſucceedeſt them, dwelling in their Country;

30. Take heed to thy ſelf, that thou art not inſnared by following them, after they are deſtroyed from thy Preſence, and that thou doſt not ſeek to their gods, ſaying, How did theſe Nations ſerve their gods, that I may alſo do ſo?

31. Thou ſhalt not do ſo to the Lord thy God: for every Thing that is abominable to the Lord, which he hates, they do to their gods; for they even burn their Sons and Daughters in the Fire, to them.

32. Every Thing which I command you, obſerve to do it: thou ſhalt neither add to it, nor diminiſh from it.

CHAP. XIII.

WHEN there riſes up among you a Prophet, or a Dreamer of Dreams, and gives thee a Sign or Miracle,

2. And it comes to paſs for what he ſpeaks to thee thus, Let us go after other gods (whom thou doſt not know) and ſerve them;

3. Thou ſhalt not hearken to the Words of that Prophet, or that Dreamer of Dreams: for the Lord your God tries you, that it may be known whether you love him, with your whole Heart and Soul.

4. You ſhall go after the Lord your God, fear him, obſerve his Commandments, hearken to what he ſays, ſerve him, and cleave to him.

5. And that Prophet, or that Dreamer of Dreams, ſhall be put to death, becauſe he has ſpoken Apoſtaſy againſt the Lord your God, who brought you out of the Country of Egypt, and redeemed you from the Place of Slaves, to thruſt thee out of the Way which the Lord thy God commanded thee to go in: thus ſhalt thou take away the Evil from amongſt you.

6. When thy Brother the Son of thy Mother, or thy own Son or Daughter, or the Wife of thy Boſom, or thy Friend who is as thy ſelf, entices thee ſecretly, for you to go, and ſerve other gods; whom neither thou nor thy Fathers knew,

8. Thou ſhalt not conſent to him, nor hearken to him; nay thy Eye ſhall have no compaſſion upon him, thou ſhalt neither ſpare, nor conceal him.

9. But ſhalt kill him quite, thy own Hand being on him firſt to put him to death, and afterwards that of all the People.

10. Thou ſhalt even ſtone him with Stones, that he may die; becauſe he has attempted to thruſt thee away from the Lord thy God, who brought thee out of the Country of Egypt, from the Place of Slaves:

11. That all Iſrael may hear, and fear, and no more do ſuch an evil Thing as this among you.

12. When thou heareſt ſay in one of thy Cities, which the Lord thy God gives thee to dwell there;

13. There are ſome ungodly Men gone out from among you, and have thruſt away the Inhabitants of their City, by ſaying, Let us go, and ſerve other gods; whom thou doſt not know:

14. Then ſhalt thou enquire, ſearch, and aſk well, and behold it being Truth, a confirmed Thing, that this Abomination is done among you;

15. Thou ſhalt quite put the Inhabitants of that City to the Sword, deſtroying it utterly, and all that are therein, with its Cattle, in the ſame manner.

16. Beſides thou ſhalt gather all the Spoil of it into the midſt of its Street, and burn it entirely, as likewiſe the City, with Fire, to the Lord thy God; nay it ſhall be an everlaſting Heap, be no more built.

17. Thus ſhall there not cleave aught of the curſed Thing to thy Hand; that the Lord may turn back from his fervent Anger, and grant thee Mercies, having mercy upon thee, and may multiply thee, as he ſware to thy Forefathers:

18. When thou hearkeneſt to what the Lord thy God ſays, by obſerving all his Commandments which I bid thee to Day, by doing what he approves of.

CHAP. XIV.

YOU are Children of the Lord your God; you ſhall not cut your ſelves, nor make Baldneſs between your Eyes for the Dead.

2. For thou art a holy People to the Lord thy God; and the Lord has choſen thee to be a peculiar People to himſelf, above any other that are upon the Surface of the Ground.

3. Thon ſhalt eat no abominable Thing.

4. Theſe are the Beaſts which you may eat; the Ox, ſuch as belong either to the Sheep or Goats,

5. The Hart, Roe-buck, Fallow-deer, wild Goat, Stag, wild Bull, and wild Roe:

6. As you may every Beaſt that divides the Hoof, having it with a Cleft all through in two, that brings up the Cud of them.

7. But theſe you ſhall not eat, of them that bring up the Cud, or of ſuch as divide the cloven Hoof; the Camel, Hare and Rabbit, though they bring up the Cud, yet not dividing the Hoof, are unclean to you.

8. On the other hand the Hog though he divides the Hoof, yet not chewing the Cud, is unclean to you: you ſhall neither eat of their Fleſh, nor touch their Carcaſes.

9. Theſe you may eat of all which are in the Waters; all that have Fins and Scales.

10. But all which have no Fins nor Scales you ſhall not eat, it being unclean to you.

11. All clean Birds you may eat.

12. But theſe are they of which you ſhall not eat; the Eagle, Oſſifrage, Oſprey,

13. Glede, Vulture, and the Kite of each Kind,

14. And all Sorts of Ravens,

15. The Brood of the Oſtrich, the Night-hawk, Cuckow, and the Hawk of each Sort.

16. The Owl, Night-owl, Daw,

17. Pelican, Magpie, Cormorant,

18. Stork, the Heron of each Kind, the Lapwing and Bat.

19. And every creeping flying Thing, ſhall be unclean to you, it ſhall not be eat.

20. All clean Fowls you may eat.

21. You ſhall not eat any Carcaſe, thou ſhalt give it to the Stranger who is within thy Gates, that he may eat it, or ſell it to a Foreigner; becauſe thou art a holy People to the Lord thy God: thou ſhalt not boil a Kid in the Milk of his Dam.

22. Thou ſhalt throughly give the Tithe of all the Increaſe of thy Seed, that the Field brings forth Year by Year.

24. However when the Way is too much for thee, ſo as thou canſt not carry it; becauſe the Place where the Lord thy God ſhall chooſe to put his Name is far from thee, when he bleſſes thee;

25. Thou ſhalt make it into Money, and tying up that with thee, go to the Place which the Lord thy God ſhall chooſe.

26. And thou mayeſt give the Money for any Thing which thy Mind deſires, for Oxen, Sheep, Wine, ſtrong Drink, or whatever thy Mind requires; and thou ſhalt eat there before the Lord thy God, being glad, as likewiſe thy Family:

27. Not forſaking the Levite who is within thy Gates, becauſe he has no Part or Poſſeſſion with thee.

28. At the Term of three Years thou ſhalt bring out the whole Tithe of thy Increaſe in that Year, and lay it up within thy Gates.

29. And the Levite, becauſe he has no Part or Poſſeſſion with thee, the Stranger, Fatherleſs and Widow, who are within thy Gates, ſhall come, eat, and be ſatisfied; that the Lord thy God may bleſs thee, in all the Work of thy Hand which thou doeſt.

CHAP. XV.

AT the Term of ſeven Years thou ſhalt make a Releaſe,

2. And this is the Manner of it: every one who has a Debt in his Power, who lends to his Neighbour, ſhall releaſe, ſhall not exact of his Neighbour or Brother, becauſe it is called the Lord's Releaſe.

3. Thou mayeſt exact of a Foreigner; but what is thine with thy Brother, thy Hand ſhall releaſe:

4. Only when there is none poor among you; for the Lord will throughly bleſs thee, in the Country which the Lord thy God gives thee for a Poſſeſſion to inherit it:

5. But it will be if thou doſt at all hearken to what he ſays, by obſerving to do all theſe Commandments which I enjoin thee to Day.

6. For the Lord thy God bleſſes thee, as he promiſed thee: ſo that thou ſhalt take in pledge of many Nations, but not give in pledge; and rule over many Nations, but they ſhall not rule over thee.

7. When there is a poor Man among you, one of thy Brethren, within one of thy Gates in thy Country which the Lord thy God gives thee; thou ſhalt not make thy Heart ſtout, nor ſhut up thy Hand from thy poor Brother:

8. But ſhalt open thy Hand wide to him, and throughly lend him on pledge ſufficient for his Want, in what there is wanting to him.

9. Take heed to thy ſelf, that there be Nothing in thy ungodly Heart to ſay, The ſeventh Year, that of Releaſe approaches; upon which thy Eye is evil to thy poor Brother, ſo that thou wilt not give to him; and when he calls to the Lord againſt thee, it will be Sin in thee.

10. Thou ſhalt wholly give to him, and it ſhall not be ill to thy Heart when thou doſt: for by reaſon of this Thing the Lord thy God will bleſs thee in all thy Work, and in all that thou takeſt in Hand.

11. For the Poor will not ceaſe from within the Country: therefore I command thee, that thou ſhalt open thy Hand wide to thy afflicted and poor Brother there.

12. When thy Brother, a Hebrew Man or Woman, is ſold to thee, and has ſerved thee ſix Years, in the ſeventh thou ſhalt let him go free from thee.

13. And when thou doſt, thou ſhalt not let him go empty.

14. Thou ſhalt furniſh him liberally from thy Flock, Floor and Wine-preſs; giving him of what the Lord thy God has bleſſed thee with.

15. As thou ſhalt remember that thou waſt a Slave in the Country of Egypt, and

16. However if he ſays to thee, I will not go out from thee, becauſe he loves thee and thy Family, ſince it is well for him with thee;

17. Then ſhalt thou take an Awl, and thruſt through his Ear, at the Door, and he ſhall be a Servant to thee for ever; and to thy Servant-maid alſo thou ſhalt do ſo.

18. Thou ſhalt not think it hard, when thou letteſt him go free from thee, becauſe he has ſerved thee in ſix Years double what one who is hired does: ſo the Lord thy God will bleſs thee in all that thou doeſt.

19. Every Firſtling that is a Male, which is brought forth of thy Herd or Flock, ſhalt thou conſecrate to the Lord thy God: thou ſhalt not work with the Firſtling of thy Cow, nor ſhear the Firſtling of thy Sheep.

20. Before the Lord thy God ſhalt thou eat it Year by Year, in the Place which the Lord ſhall chooſe, as likewiſe thy Family.

21. But when there is a Blemiſh in it, it being either lame or blind, or having any ill Blemiſh, thou ſhalt not ſacrifice it to the Lord thy God.

22. Thou ſhalt eat it within thy Gates, the unclean and clean together, like the Deer and Hart.

23. Only thou ſhalt not eat the Blood of it, thou ſhalt ſhed it upon the Ground like Water.

CHAP. XVI.

OBSERVE the Month of Abib, and keep the Paſſover to the Lord thy God: for in that Month he brought thee out of Egypt at Night.

2. So thou ſhalt ſacrifice the Paſſover to the Lord thy God of the Flock and Herd, in the Place where the Lord ſhall chooſe to make his Name dwell.

3. Thou ſhalt not eat leavened Bread with it, but ſeven Days unleavened Cakes, the Bread of Affliction; becauſe thou cameſt out of the Country of Egypt in Haſte, that thou mayeſt remember the Day of thy coming out thence all the Days of thy Life.

4. Nay thou ſhalt have no Leaven ſeen in all thy Bounds ſeven Days; nor ſhall there abide all Night till the Morning, any of the Fleſh which thou ſacrificeſt in the Evening on the firſt Day.

5. Thou muſt not ſacrifice the Paſſover, within one of thy Gates which the Lord thy God gives thee.

6. But at the Place where the Lord thy God ſhall chooſe to make his Name dwell, ſhalt thou do it in the Evening, as the Sun is going down, at the appointed Time that thou cameſt out of Egypt.

7. Which thou ſhalt boil, and eat there; then turn in the Morning, and go to thy Tents.

8. Six Days ſhalt thou eat unleavened Cakes; and on the ſeventh it ſhall be a ſolemn Day to the Lord thy God, thou ſhalt do no Buſineſs.

9. Seven Weeks ſhalt thou count up for thy ſelf, and begin it from the Hook's firſt being in the ſtanding Corn.

10. Thou ſhalt alſo keep the Feaſt of Weeks to the Lord thy God, with the Tribute of a Free-offering that thou haſt, which thou ſhalt give; according as he bleſſes thee.

15. Seven Days ſhalt thou feaſt to the Lord thy God, in the Place which the Lord ſhall chooſe; becauſe he bleſſes thee in all thy Increaſe, and the Work of thy Hands, and ſhalt really be glad.

16. Three Times in a Year ſhall every Male of thine appear in the Preſence of the Lord thy God, at the Place which he ſhall chooſe; in the Feaſt of unleavened Cakes, the Feaſt of Weeks, and that of Tabernacles: and they ſhall not appear in the Lord's Preſence empty.

17. Each one ſhall give according to the Gift that he has, according to the Bleſſing which the Lord thy God has given thee.

18. Judges and Magiſtrates ſhalt thou appoint thee within all thy Gates, which the Lord thy God gives thee, throughout thy Tribes; and they ſhall judge the People with righteous Judgment.

19. Thou ſhalt not turn aſide Judgment, nor acknowledge Faces: nor ſhalt thou take a Bribe; becauſe that blinds the Eyes of the Wiſe, and perverts the Words of the Righteous.

20. Righteouſneſs it ſelf ſhalt thou follow; that thou mayeſt live, and inherit the Country which the Lord thy God gives thee.

21. Thou ſhalt not plant thee a Grove of any Wood near the Altar of the Lord thy God, which thou ſhalt make thee;

22. Nor ſhalt thou ſet thee up a Statue, which he hates.

CHAP. XVII.

THOU ſhalt not ſacrifice to the Lord thy God, a Bullock or Sheep in which there is a Blemiſh, any Thing ill: for it is Abomination to him.

2. When there is found among you, within one of thy Gates which the Lord thy God gives thee, a Man or Woman who has done what he is diſpleaſed with, by tranſgreſſing his Covenant;

3. Having gone, and ſerved other gods, and bowed down to them, whether the Sun, Moon, or any of the Army of Heaven, which I have not commanded;

4. And it is told thee, who upon hearing it, enquireſt well, and behold it is Truth, a confirmed Thing, that this Abomination is done in Iſrael:

5. Then ſhalt thou bring out that Man, or that Woman, who has done this evil Thing, which of them ſoever it is, to thy Gate; and ſtone them with Stones, that they may die.

6. Upon the Evidence of two or three Witneſſes ſhall he who deſerves to die be put to death, he ſhall not upon the Evidence of one Witneſs.

7. The Hand of the Witneſſes ſhall be on him firſt to put him to death, and afterwards the Hand of all the People: thus ſhalt thou take away the Evil from among you.

8. When a Matter for Judgment is too myſterious for thee, between different Sorts of Blood, between one Cauſe and the other, or between one Blow and another, Matters of Controverſy within thy Gates; thou ſhalt get ready, and go up to the Place which the Lord thy God ſhall chooſe;

9. And coming to the Prieſts, Levites, and to the Judge who ſhall be in thoſe Days, thou ſhalt enquire, and they ſhall tell thee the Manner of Judgment.

10. So thou ſhalt do according to the Sentence of the Matter, which they tell thee of that Place which the Lord ſhall chooſe, even obſerve to do entirely as they teach thee.

11. According to the Sentence of the Law which they teach thee, and the Judgment that they ſpeak to thee, ſhalt thou do, not turning aſide from the Matter which they tell thee, to the right Hand or left.

12. And that Man who does proudly, not hearkening to the Prieſt who ſtands to miniſter there to the Lord thy God, or to the Judge, ſhall die; ſo thou ſhalt take away the Evil from Iſrael.

13. Thus all the People ſhall hear, and fear, and behave proudly no more.

14. When thou art come into the Country which the Lord thy God gives thee, doſt inherit it, and dwell therein, and ſhalt ſay, I will put a King over me, like all the Nations that are round about me;

15. Thou ſhalt ſolely put the King over thee whom the Lord thy God ſhall chooſe: from among thy Brethren ſhalt thou put one; thou muſt not ſet a ſtrange Man over thee who is not thy Brother.

16. However he ſhall not have many Horſes, nor make the People return to Egypt, in order to get many; becauſe the Lord has enjoined you, to return that Way again no more.

17. Neither ſhall he have many Wives, that his Mind may not turn aſide; nor ſhall he have very much Silver and Gold.

18. And when he ſits upon the Throne of his Kingdom, he ſhall write him a Copy of this Law in a Book, from that which is before the Prieſts, the Levites.

19. Which ſhall be with him, and he ſhall read in it all the Days of his Life; in order that he may learn to fear the Lord his God, to obſerve all the Words of this Law and theſe Ordinances, to do them.

20. That his Mind may not be lifted up above his Brethren, and he turn aſide from the Commandment to the right Hand or left; in order that he and his Children may have a long Time, in his Kingdom within Iſrael.

CHAP. XVIII.

THE Prieſts, the Levites, being the whole Tribe of Levi, ſhall have no Share nor Poſſeſſion with Iſrael; they ſhall eat the Lord's Offerings by Fire, and what he poſſeſſes.

2. So he ſhall have no Poſſeſſion among his Brethren: the Lord himſelf being his Poſſeſſion, as he ſaid to him.

3. And this ſhall be the Due of the Prieſts from the People, from thoſe who offer Sacrifices, whether Bullock or Sheep; there ſhall be given to the Prieſt the Shoulder, the two Cheeks and Maw.

4. The firſt of thy Corn, Wine and Oil, as alſo the firſt of the Fleece of thy Flock ſhalt thou give him.

5. For the Lord thy God has choſen him out of all thy Tribes, that he may ſtand to miniſter in the Name of the Lord, and his Sons at all Times.

6. And when a Levite comes from one of thy Gates out of all Iſrael, where he ſojourned, and comes with the whole Deſire of his Soul, to the Place which the Lord ſhall chooſe;

7. He ſhall miniſter in the Name of the Lord his God, like all his Brethren the Levites, who ſtand there before the Lord.

8. They ſhall have Shares alike to eat, beſides each one's Sales from his Anceſtors.

9. When thou art come into the Country which the Lord thy God gives thee, thou ſhalt not learn to do according to the Abominations of thoſe Nations.

10. There ſhall not be found among you he who makes his Son or Daughter paſs through the Fire, uſes Divinations, is an Aſtrologer, Soothſayer, Wizard,

11. Uſes Enchantment, enquires of a familiar Spirit, is a Sorcerer, or ſeeks to the Dead.

Ver. 3. to the Prieſt] him who offers the Sacrifice, Lev. vii. 32, 33. ſo the Breaſt is omitted, as being given to the Prieſts in common, Lev. vii. 31. which ſhews the Breaſt is here rightly left out, notwithſtanding Expoſitors have found it an inſuperable Difficulty.

Ib. two Cheeks and Maw] being added as they were now about to enjoy the promiſed Country, and ſo a larger Share might be afforded to the Prieſts: which alſo makes this as rational, as the Commentators had left it before unmeaning.

Ver. 10. paſs through the Fire] When expreſſed thus, as it commonly is in Scripture, it is ſuppoſed by ſome not to be burning to death, as in Jer. vii. 31. or at leaſt ſometimes not; but Ezek. xvi. 21. & xx. 26. & xxiii. 37, 39. and its being called an Abomination, Jer. xxxii. 35. make it appear otherwiſe, and Jer. 7. 31. may be explanatory of this, eſpecially as it is allowed Children were burned to Molech; and clear enough it ſeems, that 2 Kings xxiii. 10. means the ſame as Jer. vii. 31. and that it was done otherwiſe than to Molech, Jer. xix. 5. Pſa. cvi. 38. nay 2 Chron. xxviii. 3. thus ſhews the Meaning of this Expreſſion in 2 Kings xvi. 3. Accordingly our learned Selden ſays, Non modo traductos, ſed etiam crematos in idoli ſacrificium pueros illos conſtanter affirmo: I firmly aſſert the Boys were not only had through, but alſo burnt in Sacrifice to the Idol, De Diis Syris Syntag. i. 6. where he proceeds to prove it by divers both profane and ſacred Teſtimonies.

12. For every one who does theſe Things is abominable to the Lord; and by reaſon of theſe Abominations the Lord thy God expels them from thy Preſence.

13. Thou ſhalt be perfect with the Lord thy God.

14. For thoſe Nations whom thou ſhalt ſucceed, hearkened to Aſtrologers and Diviners; but the Lord thy God does not ſo permit thee.

15. The Lord thy God will raiſe thee up a Prophet, from among you, of thy Brethren, like me; to whom you ſhall hearken.

16. According to all that thou didſt thus requeſt of him at Horeb, on the Day of the Congregation, Let me no more hear the Voice of the Lord my God, nor let me ſee this great Fire again, that I may not die.

17. And the Lord ſaid to me; They have done well in what they have ſpoken.

18. I will raiſe them up a Prophet, from among their Brethren, like thee; will put my Words in his Mouth, and he ſhall ſpeak to them all that I command him.

19. Nay the Man who will not hearken to my Words which he ſhall declare in my Name, I will require it of him.

20. But that Prophet who ſhall preſumptuouſly ſpeak a Matter in my Name, which I do not command him to ſpeak, or who ſhall ſpeak in the Name of other gods, ſhall die.

21. And if thou ſhalt ſay in thy Heart, How ſhall we know what Matter the Lord does not ſpeak?

22. What a Prophet ſpeaks in the Name of the Lord, and the Matter does not fall out, nor come to paſs, that is a Matter which the Lord has not ſpoken: the Prophet has done it preſumptuouſly, thou ſhalt not be afraid of him.

CHAP. XIX.

WHEN the Lord thy God has cut off the Nations, whoſe Country he gives thee, and thou ſucceedeſt them, dwelling in their Cities and Houſes;

2. Thou ſhalt ſet thee apart three Cities within thy Country, which the Lord thy God gives thee to inherit it:

3. Preparing thee a Way, and dividing the Bounds of thy Country into three Parts, which he makes thee poſſeſs, that it may be for every Man-ſlayer to flee thither.

4. And this is the Caſe of a Man-ſlayer who ſhall flee thither, that he may live: He who kills his Neighbour unawares, when he did not hate him in time paſt;

5. For inſtance, one who goes with his Neighbour into a Wood to fell Trees, and ſtriking his Hand with the Ax to cut down a Tree, the Iron comes off from the Wood, and hits his Neighbour, ſo that he dies; he ſhall flee to one of theſe Cities, that he may live:

6. Leſt the Revenger of Blood ſhould purſue after the Man-ſlayer when his Heart is hot, and overtaking him when the Way is long, ſhould deſtroy the Life of him; whereas he does not deſerve Death, becauſe he did not hate him in time paſt.

7. Therefore I command thee, that thou ſhalt ſet thee apart three Cities.

8. And when the Lord thy God ſhall enlarge thy Bounds, as he ſware to thy Forefathers, and ſhall give thee all the Country which he promiſed them he would;

9. If thou obſerveſt this whole Commandment to do it, which I command thee to Day, to love the Lord thy God, and go in his Ways at all Times; thou ſhalt add thee three Cities more, to thoſe three:

10. That there may not be innocent Blood ſhed within thy Country, which the Lord thy God gives thee for a Poſſeſſion, and Blood be charged upon thee.

11. But when a Man hates his Neighbour, and lying in wait for him, riſes up againſt him, and deſtroys the Life of him, ſo that he dies, and flees to one of theſe Cities;

12. The Elders of his City ſhall ſend, and fetching him from thence, deliver him into the Power of the Revenger of Blood, that he may die.

13. Thy Eye ſhall have no compaſſion upon him, but thou ſhalt take away the Guilt

Ver. 15. a Prophet] Chriſt Jeſus, Acts vii. 37. and as there was no other Prophet like Moſes, Ch. xxxiv. 10.

Ver. 2. three Cities] on the other ſide Jordan in the Country of Canaan, three being already ſet apart on that Side, Chap. iv. 41, 42, 43. and ſix appointed for both, Num. xxxv. 13, 14.

Ib. Bounds] For coaſt being by the Sea, could not well be enlarged.

Ib. promiſed them he would] to their Poſterity, as he did, and not to themſelves.

Ver. 9. Commandment] The Heb. is thus, and properly, it being the Love of God in Obedience of him, as follows; for which alſo read Gell's Serm. 16. in Eſſay towards Amend. of the laſt Eng. Tranſ.

of innocent Blood from Iſrael, that it may be well for thee.

14. Thou ſhalt not remove thy Neighbour's Bounds, which they have formerly made, in thy Poſſeſſion that thou ſhalt poſſeſs, in the Country which the Lord thy God gives thee to inherit it.

15. One Witneſs ſhall not riſe up againſt a Perſon, for any Iniquity or Sin, through any Sin which he commits: upon the Evidence of two Witneſſes, or that of three, ſhall a Matter be confirmed.

16. When an injurious Witneſs riſes up againſt a Perſon, to teſtify an unjuſt Thing againſt him;

17. Both the Men who have the Controverſy ſhall ſtand before the Lord, before the Prieſts and Judges who ſhall be in thoſe Days.

18. And the Judges ſhall enquire well, and behold if the Witneſs is a falſe one, who has given Evidence againſt his Brother falſely;

19. Then ſhall you do to him, as he intended to do to his Brother; ſo ſhalt thou take away the Evil from among you.

20. And thoſe who are left ſhall hear, fear, and do again no more ſuch an evil Thing as this among you.

21. Thus ſhall thy Eye have no compaſſion: there ſhall be Life for Life, Eye for Eye, Tooth for Tooth, Hand for Hand, Foot for Foot.

CHAP. XX.

WHEN thou goeſt out to a Battle againſt thy Enemies, and ſeeſt Horſes and Chariots, more People than you, be not afraid of them: for the Lord thy God is with thee, who brought thee up from the Country of Egypt.

2. And as you get near to the Battle, the Prieſt ſhall approach, and ſpeak to the People,

3. Saying to them; Hear, O Iſrael, you are got near now to Battle againſt your Enemies; let not your Heart be cowardly, be not afraid, neither tremble for fear, nor be in dread by reaſon of them.

4. For the Lord your God goes with you, to fight for you with your Enemies, to ſave you.

5. The Officers ſhall alſo ſpeak to the People as follows; What Man ſoever has built a new Houſe, and not dedicated it, let him go back to his Houſe; leſt he ſhould die in the Battle, and another Man dedicate it.

6. And what Man ſoever has planted a Vineyard, and not made uſe of it, let him go back home; leſt he ſhould die in the Battle, and another Man make uſe of it.

7. What Man ſoever too has eſpouſed a Woman, and not taken her, let him go back home; leſt he ſhould die in the Battle, and another Man take her.

8. Nay the Officers ſhall ſpeak further to the People thus, What Man is fearful, and of a cowardly Heart, let him go back home; that his Brethren's Heart may not be faint like his own.

9. And as ſoon as the Officers have done ſpeaking to them, they ſhall appoint Captains of the Army, for Heads of the People.

10. When thou art come near to a City to fight againſt it, thou ſhalt proclaim Peace to it.

11. And if it anſwers thee with Peace, and opens to thee; all the People who are found in it ſhall be tributary to thee, and ſerve thee.

12. And if it will not make peace with thee, but will make war with thee, thou ſhalt lay ſiege againſt it.

13. And when the Lord thy God delivers it into thy Power, thou ſhalt put every Male of it to the Sword.

14. However the Women, Children, Cattle, and all that is in the City, the whole Spoil of it, ſhalt thou make thee a prey of, and eat the Spoil of thy Enemies which the Lord thy God gives thee.

15. So ſhalt thou do to all the Cities that are very far off from thee, which are not ſome of the Cities themſelves of theſe Nations.

16. Only of the Cities of theſe People, which the Lord thy God gives thee for a Poſſeſſion, thou ſhalt not keep alive any that breathes;

17. But ſhalt quite deſtroy them, the Hittites, Amorites, Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivites and Jebuſites, as the Lord thy God has commanded thee:

18. In order that they may not teach you to do according to all their Abominations, which they do to their gods, whereby you will ſin againſt the Lord your God.

Ver. 5. dedicated it] Not a Queſtion, but as in Judg. vii. 3.

Ver. 6. make uſe of] or make common for the Uſe of the Owner, which was in the fifth Year, Lev. xix. 23, 24, 25. but the Word does not ſignify to eat of, nor gather the grapes of, as rendered Chap. xxviii. 30.

Ver. 9. for Heads] being a Prepoſition and Noun in Hebrew.

19. When

19. When thou beſiegeſt a City a long Time, by fighting againſt it to take it, thou ſhalt not deſtroy the Trees of it, by ſtriking an Ax againſt them, when thou mayeſt eat of them; ſo ſhalt not cut them down (becauſe the Trees of the Field are for Man) to go from before thee into the Siege.

20. However the Trees which thou knoweſt that they are not Trees of Food, thou mayeſt deſtroy, and cut them down, building Fortifications againſt that City which makes war with thee, till it is ſubdued.

CHAP. XXI.

WHEN there is one found ſlain in the Country which the Lord thy God gives thee to inherit it, having fallen in the Field, it being not known who killed him;

2. The Elders and Judges ſhall go out, and meaſure to the Cities which are round about him who is ſlain.

3. Next the Elders of that very City which is neareſt to the Slain, ſhall take a Heifer of the Herd that has not been worked with, which has not drawn in a Yoke;

4. And they ſhall have it down into a rugged Valley, which has not been tilled nor ſown, and ſhall cut off its Head there in the Valley.

5. Then the Prieſts the Sons of Levi ſhall go nigh (ſince the Lord thy God has choſen them to miniſter to him, and bleſs in the Name of the Lord, according to whoſe Command both every Controverſy and Blow ſhall be)

6. All the Elders of that City in the mean time who are neareſt to the Slain, waſhing their Hands over the Heifer, the Head of which is cut off in the Valley;

7. And they ſhall ſpeak in this manner, Our Hands did not ſhed this Blood, nor our Eyes ſee it:

8. Purge it from thy People Iſrael whom thou haſt redeemed, O Lord, and let not innocent Blood be put among thy People Iſrael. So the Blood ſhall be purged from them.

9. Thus wilt thou take away the Guilt of innocent Blood from among you, when thou doeſt what the Lord approves of.

10. When thou goeſt out to a Battle againſt thy Enemies, and the Lord thy God delivers them into thy Power, ſo that thou takeſt them priſoners;

11. And ſeeing among the Priſoners a Woman of beautiful Features, thou art ſo in love with her, that thou wouldeſt take her for thy Wife;

12. Thou ſhalt bring her home to thy Houſe, and ſhe ſhall ſhave her Head, and cut her Nails.

13. She ſhall alſo put away the Raiment of her Captivity from her, and abide in thy Houſe, weeping for her Father and Mother the Space of a Month; and after that thou ſhalt go in to her, when thou haſt married her to be thy Wife.

14. Afterwards if thou art not pleaſed with her, thou mayeſt ſend her away at her own Mind, but ſhalt not ſell her at all for Money, not make Merchandiſe of her, foraſmuch as thou haſt humbled her.

Ver. 19. Trees of the Field] It is plain they were ſuch as bore Fruit, becauſe they might eat of them, and for the Diſtinction that follows of others not bearing Fruit, which the adverſative or diſcretive Conjunction רַק however clearly ſhews; yet Poole interprets theſe to be unfruitful Trees, and the ſame with thoſe in the next Verſe, which requires no farther Anſwer. Beſides it is ſtrange ſo many, but that they follow one another as uſual, tranſlate after this crude Manner, Is the Tree of the Field a Man, that it ſhould come againſt thee in the Siege? as in Joſephus, the Greek, Chaldee, Arabick and Vulgar Tranſlations, by Patrick from Selden de Jure Nat. & Gent. Lib. vi. 12. eſpecially ſince it does not appear the Heb. Word ſignifies againſt: therefore Ainſworth (to omit others) renders, 'is the tree of the field a man, to go 'in from before thee (which he interprets flee from thee) 'into the bulwarke?' But this is ſtill more jejune and inſignificant; either of which would belong to other Trees as well as Fruit-trees, unleſs they only were ſuppoſed capable of fighting or running away. Nay ſome venture to add [not] only to make the ſame Meaning ſtronger in this Faſhion, the Tree of the Field is not a Man, Patrick, &c.

Ib. to go] or be carried, as they might when they were cut down; but the Heb. does not at all ſignify employ.

Ver. 2. meaſure] if it be not certain without it.

Ver. 3. which has not drawn] for that was working, ſo that and ſhould not be added in tranſlating.

Ver. 7. they] both the Prieſts and Elders; or rather the former on Behalf of the latter, theſe anſwering, as the Hebrew may denote, in Concord to the Affirmation and Supplication.

Ver. 8. Purge] and ſhall be purged, the ſame Verb paſſive; which I do not find ever ſignifies either to be merciful, or to forgive.

Ver. 12. ſhave] by Way of Purification, to join her with the Iſraelites.

Ib. cut] Heb. do, as there is the ſame Verb for dreſſed, 2 Sam. xix. 24.

Ver. 13. Captivity] be not like a Captive in her intended Huſband's Houſe.

Ib. go in to her] lie with her, as this means, Gen. xvi. 2, 4. & xix. 31, 32. & xxix. 23, 30. ſo not before they were married.

Ver. 14. Afterwards] for I cannot agree with ſome, that this was before Marriage.

Ib. humbled her] 'It muſt be acknowledged, ſays Pa'trick, that this is an uſual Phraſe, for having had carnal 'Knowledge of a Woman;' adding, 'from which I 'ſee no Reaſon why we ſhould depart in this Place:' yet preſently explains it of her being kept a Month, &c. in Hope of Marriage, and rejected at laſt. Ainſworth

15. When

15. When a Man has two Wives, one beloved and the other ſlighted, who both bear him Children, and ſhe who is ſlighted has the firſt-born Son;

16. At the Time that he makes his Sons poſſeſs what he has, he muſt not appoint the Son of the beloved for the firſt-born, before the Son of the ſlighted who is ſo.

17. But he ſhall acknowledge the latter to be the Firſt-born, by giving him a double Portion of all that it is found he has; becauſe he being the Beginning of his Power, the Right of the Firſt-born belongs to him.

18. When a Man has an unruly and rebellious Son, who will not hearken to what his Father or Mother ſays, not even though they correct him;

19. They ſhall then take hold of him, and have him out to the Elders of his City, at the Gate of his Place,

20. And ſhall ſay to the Elders of his City, This our Son is unruly and rebellious, he will not hearken to what we ſay, is a Glutton and a Drunkard.

21. Upon which all the Men of it ſhall ſtone him with Stones, ſo that he may die, thus ſhalt thou take away the Evil from among you; and all Iſrael ſhall hear, and fear.

22. Beſides when there is in a Man a Sin deſerving Death, and he is put to death, thou hanging him upon a Tree;

23. His dead Body ſhall not abide all Night upon it, but thou ſhalt wholly bury him the ſame Day, becauſe he who is hanged is curſed of God, that thy Country may not be defiled, which the Lord thy God gives thee for a Poſſeſſion.

CHAP. XXII.

THOU ſhalt not ſee thy Brother's Ox or his Sheep driven away, and hide thy ſelf from them; thou ſhalt throughly bring them back to him.

2. But if thy Brother is not near thee, or thou doſt not know him; thou ſhalt take it into thy Houſe, and it ſhall be with thee till he ſeeks for it, when thou ſhalt reſtore it to him.

3. And ſo ſhalt thou do with his Aſs, ſo alſo ſhalt thou do with his Raiment, nay thou ſhalt do ſo with any loſt Thing of thy Brother, which being loſt from him, thou findeſt it; thou muſt not hide thy ſelf.

4. Thou ſhalt not ſee thy Brother's Aſs or his Ox fall in the Way, and hide thy ſelf from them; thou ſhalt throughly help up with him.

5. A Woman ſhall not have on a Man's Things, nor ſhall a Man put on the Raiment of a Woman: for every one who does theſe Things is abominable to the Lord thy God.

6. When a Bird's Neſt happens to be before thee in the Way, in any Tree, or upon the Ground, with young ones or Eggs, and the Dam ſitting upon either of them; thou ſhalt not take the Dam together with the Brood.

7. Thou ſhalt quite let the Dam go, and take the Brood to thy ſelf; that it may be well for thee, and thou mayeſt have the Time long.

8. When thou buildeſt a new Houſe, thou ſhalt make a Breaſt-work to thy Roof; that thou mayeſt not cauſe Blood to be on thy Houſe, when any one falls from it.

9. Thou ſhalt not ſow thy Vineyard with diverſe Kinds; that the Product of thy Seed which thou ſoweſt, may not be conſecrated with the Increaſe of thy Vineyard.

10. Thou ſhalt not plough with an Ox and an Aſs together.

11. Thou ſhalt not wear a Thing mixed of Woolen and Linen together.

gives a very different Senſe, but with the ſame Deſign, to ſhew it was not after Marriage, that is he would have this Verb uſed for unlawful Copulations; which may be granted, not excluding the lawful, as certainly it cannot be proved but it might have been uſed for the latter, eſpecially with the Circumſtance here attending it of being put away by the Huſband, in which Caſe I believe the Scripture yields no Occaſion of uſing it elſewhere; but has it however for a married Woman, Judg. xix. 24. Lam. v. 11. and probably a Man's own Wife, Ezek. xxii. 10. (ſee Lev. xx. 18.) if not Ver. 11. To conclude, does the Holy Scripture repreſent unlawful Things, even Fornication, to be lawful? And did the Iſraelites raviſh all the Women they took captive? May I never ſo interpret.

Ver. 2. into] Heb. to the middle or midſt of, i. e. quite within the Outhouſe, Stall or Fold.

Ver. 3. hide thy ſelf] get away from it, pretending not to ſee it, Ver. 1, 4.

Ver. 7. let the Dam go] Diogenes Laertius writes in the Life of Xenocrates, that a Sparrow being purſued by a Hawk, fled into his Boſom, which he ſecured, ſaying he ought not to betray a Supplicant.

12. Thou ſhalt make thee Fringes upon the four Skirts of thy Covering which thou art covered with.

13. When a Man takes a Wife, and having gone in to her, hates her;

14. So that he makes Occaſions of Words againſt her, and puts out an ill Name upon her, ſaying, I took this Woman, and when I approached her, found her not a Virgin;

15. The Father and Mother of the young Woman ſhall take, and bring out that of her Virginity, to the Elders of the City at the Gate.

16. And her Father ſhall ſay to them; I gave my Daughter to this Man for a Wife, and he hates her;

17. So that behold he makes Occaſions of Words, ſaying, I found thy Daughter not a Virgin; and yet this is that of my Daughter's Virginity; and they ſhall ſpread the Cloth before the Elders of that City.

18. Who upon this ſhall take the Man, and chaſtiſe him.

19. Beſides they ſhall fine him a hundred Shekels of Silver, and give to the young Woman's Father, becauſe he has put out an ill Name upon a Virgin of Iſrael; and ſhe ſhall be his Wife, he muſt not ſend her away all his Days.

20. But if this Matter is true, that of Virginity being not found for the young Woman;

21. They ſhall bring her out to the Door of her Father's Houſe, and the Men of her City ſhall ſtone her with Stones, that ſhe may die; becauſe ſhe has done Vileneſs in Iſrael, by committing Whoredom at her Father's Houſe: ſo ſhalt thou take away the Evil from among you.

22. When a Man is found lying with a Woman who is married to a Huſband, they ſhall be put to death both of them; the Man who lies with the Woman, and ſhe her ſelf: ſo ſhalt thou take away the Evil from Iſrael.

23. When a young Woman who is a Virgin is eſpouſed to a Man, and a Man meeting with her in the City, lies with her;

24. You ſhall bring them both out to the Gate of that City, and ſtone them with Stones, that they may die; the young Woman by reaſon that ſhe did not cry out being in the City, and the Man by reaſon that he humbled his Neighbour's Wife: ſo ſhalt thou take away the Evil from among you.

25. But if a Man finds an eſpouſed young Woman in the Field, and forcing her, lies with her; the Man alone who lay with her ſhall die.

26. Whereas thou ſhalt do Nothing to the young Woman, who has no Sin for Death: ſince as a Man riſes up againſt his Neighbour, and kills him dead, ſo is this Matter;

27. Becauſe he found her in the Field, the eſpouſed young Woman cried out, and none ſaved her.

28. When a Man finds a young Woman that is a Virgin, who is not eſpouſed, and taking hold of her, lies with her, and they are found;

29. The Man who lay with her ſhall give her Father fifty Shekels of Silver; and ſhe ſhall be his Wife, foraſmuch as he has humbled her, he muſt not ſend her away all his Days.

30. A Man ſhall not take his Father's Wife, nor uncover his Father's Skirt.

CHAP. XXIII.

HE whoſe ſecret Part is wounded, bruiſed or cut off, ſhall not come into the Congregation of the Lord.

Things mixed together. Of which however the Commentators have written obſcurely and diſſatisfactorily, as if they did not know how it was ſanctified.

Ib. with] Vulg. Lat. pariter, together.

Ver. 17. this] The Word being plural in the Heb. only becauſe its Subſtantive Virginity is, which is there never ſingular.

Ib. that of] as comprehended in the Heb. Nouns, and here was to paſs for a full Proof or Demonſtration, more than mere tokens.

Ib. Cloth] As what ſhe either wore or lay in on the Wedding-night, where the ſanguinary Mark was; eſpecially in thoſe who were young, as the Iſraelites married their Daughters for the ſake of Increaſe. Of which other Commentators have ſaid too much, conſidering the Subject; and that to the Diſcredit of the Scripture, as if this Law was never uſed; though beſides what others relate, Dr. Perry gives a recent Inſtance of that Kind practiſed at Grand Cairo, and Pitts of Exon that it is ſtill the Cuſtom among the Turks or Moors: or as if it was not to be underſtood literally, but denoted the Proof of other Witneſſes; though this muſt be the only one that could be brought, and as ſuch the Inſertion of it in the Law is juſtifiable, beſides it being a great Means of keeping Women honeſt; and certainly the Law-giver would not have choſen to expreſs other more expreſſible Things in ſuch a Manner.

Ver. 28. taking hold] This being by Force, and that in Exod. xxii. 16, 17. by Perſuaſion, no wonder if the Penalties are not the ſame.

Ver. 1. bruiſed] This Heb. Word coming from a Verb that ſignifies to bruiſe, and is rendered contrite in the com. Tranſ. Iſa. lvii. 15. Pſa. xxxiv. 18. and in the other only Place where it is, viz. Pſa. xc. 3. deſtruction; can ſcarce, one may think, be ſuppoſed to ſignify as now it ſtands the ſtones, for which there appears no other Proof than mere Imagination.

Ver. 1, 2, 3. not come into the Congregation] not be married to an Iſraelite, as the Jewiſh Doctors generally expound it, Selden, De Jure Nat. & Gent. Lib. v. 16. & De Succeſſione in Pontif. Lib. ii. 2. and as may ſeem by Neh. xiii. 1, 3, 23, 25, 27, 30. beſides the Difficulty of applying it otherwiſe.

2. A Baſtard ſhall not come into the Congregation of the Lord, even to the tenth Generation ſhall not he who is of him come into it.

3. An Ammonite and Moabite ſhall not come into the Congregation of the Lord, even to the tenth Generation ſhall not he who is of them come into it for ever:

4. By reaſon that they did not meet you with Victuals and Drink, in the Way when you came out of Egypt; and becauſe they hired againſt thee Balaam the Son of Beor, from Pethor of Meſopotamia, to curſe thee.

5. Nevertheleſs the Lord thy God would not hearken to Balaam, but did himſelf turn the Curſe into a Bleſſing for thee; becauſe the Lord thy God loved thee.

6. Thou ſhalt never ſeek their Peace, nor Welfare all thy Days.

7. Thou ſhalt not abhor an Edomite, becauſe he is thy Brother: thou ſhalt not abhor an Egyptian, becauſe thou waſt a Stranger in his Country.

8. The Children who are born of them ſhall come into the Congregation of the Lord in their third Generation.

9. When the Army goes out againſt thy Enemies, thou ſhalt take heed of every evil Thing.

10. When there is among you a Man who is not clean by reaſon of what happens at Night, he ſhall go forth without the Camp, not coming within it.

11. But at the Appearance of the Evening he ſhall waſh in Water, and as ſoon as the Sun is ſet come within the Camp.

12. Moreover thou ſhalt have a Space without the Camp, whither thou ſhalt go out abroad;

13. And ſhalt have a Paddle upon thy Weapon, ſo that when thou eaſeſt thy ſelf abroad, thou ſhalt dig with it, and turning back, cover thy Excrements.

14. For the Lord thy God will go about within thy Camp, to deliver thee, and give up thy Enemies before thee, ſo thy Camp ſhall be holy; that he may not ſee a filthy Thing among you, and turn back from after thee.

15. Thou ſhalt not deliver up a Servant to his Maſter, who is got away from his Maſter to thee.

16. He ſhall dwell with thee among you, in the Place which he chooſes, within one of thy Gates where it is well to him: thou ſhalt not oppreſs him.

17. There ſhall be no Proſtitute of the Daughters of Iſrael, nor ſhall there be a Sodomite of the Sons of Iſrael.

18. Thou ſhalt not bring the Hire of a Harlot, nor the Price of a Dog, to the Houſe of the Lord thy God for any Vow; becauſe both of them are Abomination to him.

19. Thou ſhalt not lend on Uſury to thy Brother, whether with Uſury of Money, Food, or any Thing which is lent in that Manner.

20. To a Stranger thou mayeſt lend ſo, but ſhalt not to thy Brother; that the Lord thy God may bleſs thee in all that thou takeſt in Hand, in the Country whither thou art going to inherit it.

21. When thou makeſt a Vow to the Lord thy God, thou ſhalt not delay performing it: for he will fully require it of thee, and it would be Sin in thee.

22. But if thou refraineſt vowing, that will not be Sin in thee.

23. What comes out of thy Lips thou ſhalt obſerve, and do; when thou voweſt a Free-offering to the Lord thy God, which thou ſpeakeſt with thy Mouth.

24. When thou goeſt into thy Neighbour's Vineyard, thou mayeſt eat thy fill of Grapes according to thy Appetite; but ſhalt not put into thy Veſſel.

25. When thou goeſt into thy Neighbour's ſtanding Corn, thou mayeſt pluck off the Ears with thy Hand; but ſhalt not move a Hook in it.

CHAP. XXIV.

WHEN a Man takes a Woman, and having married her, if ſhe is not in Favour with him, becauſe he finds Something filthy in her; he may write her a Writing of Divorce, and giving it into her Hand, ſend her from his Houſe.

2. And when ſhe is gone out thence, ſhe may go, and be another Man's.

But to expound it as others do, that they ſhould never enter, makes no Senſe of ſaying, even to the tenth Generation. To inforce that Patrick obſerves, there were more than ten Generations paſt in Nehemiah's Time; whereas I don't ſuppoſe it was to be counted from the Time Moſes ſpoke this, but from an Ammonite or Moabite becoming a Proſelite to Iſrael, and ſo for ever conſiſts well with even to the tenth Generation.

4. Her former Huſband who ſent her away muſt not take her again to be his Wife, after ſhe is defiled, for that will be Abomination before the Lord: and thou ſhalt not make the Country ſin, which the Lord thy God gives thee for a Poſſeſſion.

5. When a Man takes a new Wife, he ſhall not go out to War, nor ſhall any Buſineſs be impoſed upon him: he ſhall be quit at home one Year, and chear his Wife whom he has taken.

6. The lower or upper Millſtone ſhall not be taken in pledge, becauſe that is taking the Life in pledge.

7. When a Man is found ſtealing a Perſon of his Brethren the Iſraelites, and makes merchandiſe of him, ſelling him, that Thief ſhall be put to death; ſo ſhalt thou take away the Evil from among you.

8. Take heed in the Plague of Leproſy to obſerve exceedingly, and to do, according to all that the Prieſts the Levites teach you; obſerving to do as I commanded them.

9. Remember what the Lord thy God did to Miriam, in the Way when you were come out of Egypt.

10. When thou lendeſt a Loan of any Thing to thy Neighbour, thou ſhalt not go into his Houſe to take his Pledge:

11. Thou ſhalt ſtand without, and the Man to whom thou lendeſt ſhall bring it out to thee abroad.

12. And if the Man is poor, thou ſhalt not lie down with his Pledge:

13. Thou ſhalt throughly reſtore it to him when the Sun ſets, that he may lie down in his own Cloaths, and bleſs thee; ſo it will be Righteouſneſs to thee before the Lord thy God.

14. Thou ſhalt not oppreſs one who is hired, poor and needy, whether of thy own Brethren, or thy Strangers who are in thy Country within thy Gates.

15. On his Day ſhalt thou give him his Wages, and not let the Sun ſet upon it, becauſe he is poor, and lifts up his Mind to it; that he may not call to the Lord againſt thee, and it be Sin in thee.

16. Fathers ſhall not be put to death for their Children, nor ſhall Children for the Fathers: each one ſhall be put to death for his own Sin.

17. Thou ſhalt not turn aſide the Judgment of the Stranger or Fatherleſs, nor take a Widow's Garment in pledge.

18. But ſhalt remember that thou waſt a Slave in Egypt, and the Lord thy God redeemed thee from thence: therefore I command thee to do this Thing.

19. When thou reapeſt thy Harveſt in thy Field, and forgetteſt a Sheaf there, thou ſhalt not return to fetch it; the Stranger, Fatherleſs, or Widow ſhall have it: that the Lord thy God may bleſs thee in all the Work of thy Hands.

20. When thou beateſt off thy Olives, thou ſhalt not bruſh the Branches behind thee; the Stranger, Fatherleſs, or Widow ſhall have ſuch.

21. When thou gathereſt in thy Vineyard, thou ſhalt not glean the Grapes behind thee; the Stranger, Fatherleſs, or Widow ſhall have ſuch.

22. And thou ſhalt remember that thou waſt a Slave in the Country of Egypt: therefore I command thee to do this Thing.

CHAP. XXV.

WHEN there is a Controverſy between Men, and they come to Judgment, that they may be judged; he who is righteous ſhall be juſtified, and he that is wicked condemned.

2. And if the wicked one deſerves to be beat, the Judge ſhall make him lie down, and cauſe him to be beat in his Preſence, by Stripes in Number according to his Wickedneſs:

3. He may beat him with forty, not more; leſt beating him more, with many above theſe, thy Brother ſhould appear vile to thee.

4. Thou ſhalt not muzzle the Ox when he treads out the Corn.

5. When Brothers dwell together, and one of them dies, having no Child, the Wife of the Deceaſed ſhall not be a ſtrange Man's abroad: her Huſband's Brother ſhall go in to her, having taken her for his Wife, and do a Huſband's Brother's Part to her.

6. And the Firſt-born whom ſhe bears ſhall ſtand up in the Name of his deceaſed Brother, that his Name may not be blotted out of Iſrael.

7. But if the Man does not like to take his Brother's Wife, ſhe ſhall go up to the Elders at the Gate, and ſay, My Huſband's Brother refuſes to raiſe up a Name for his Brother in Iſrael, he is not willing to do the Part of my Huſband's Brother.

10. And his Name ſhall be called in Iſrael, The Family of him whoſe Shoe was pulled off.

11. When Men contend together one with another, and the Wife of one going near to deliver her Huſband from the Hand of the other who beats him, puts forth her Hand, and takes hold of his ſecret Parts;

12. Thou ſhalt cut off her Hand, thy Eye ſhall have no compaſſion.

13. Thou ſhalt not have ſeveral Weights in thy Bag, a great and a little one.

14. Thou ſhalt not have ſeveral Meaſures in thy Houſe, a great and a little one.

15. Thou ſhalt have a perfect and juſt Weight, thou ſhalt have a perfect and juſt Meaſure; that thy Time may be long in the Country which the Lord thy God gives thee.

16. For abominable to him is every one who does theſe Things, doing Injuſtice.

17. Remember what Amalek did to thee, in the Way when you were come out of Egypt;

18. How he met thee there, and killed the hindermoſt of thee, all who were weak behind thee, when thou waſt faint and weary; and he did not fear God.

19. Therefore when the Lord thy God makes thee reſt from all thy Enemies round about, in the Country which he gives thee for a Poſſeſſion to inherit it, thou ſhalt not forget to blot out the Remembrance of Amalek from under Heaven.

CHAP. XXVI.

AND when thou art come into the Country which the Lord thy God gives thee for a Poſſeſſion, and doſt inherit it, dwelling therein;

2. Thou ſhalt take ſome of the firſt of all the Fruit of the Ground, which thou ſhalt bring of thy Country that the Lord thy God gives thee, putting it into a Baſket, and going to the Place which he ſhall chooſe, to make his Name dwell there.

3. And thou ſhalt come to the Prieſt who is in thoſe Days, and ſay to him, I declare this Day to the Lord thy God, that I am come into the Country which the Lord ſware to our Forefathers he would give us.

4. With that the Prieſt ſhall take the Baſket out of thy Hand, and ſet it before the Altar of the Lord thy God.

5. Before whom thou ſhalt make the following Declaration: My Father was a Syrian periſhing, and went down to Egypt, ſojourning there with a few Perſons; but became there a great, numerous, and large Nation.

6. At which the Egyptians dealt ill with us, afflicted us, and put hard Service upon us;

7. Yet when we cried to the Lord God of our Fathers, the Lord hearkened to what we ſaid, and looked on our Affliction, Labour and Oppreſſion.

8. Then he brought us out of Egypt by a ſtrong Hand, and an Arm ſtretched out, as likewiſe by great Fear, by Signs and Miracles.

9. He further brought us to this Place, and has given us this Country, a Country flowing with Milk and Honey.

10. And now behold I have brought the firſt Fruit of the Ground, which thou haſt given me, O Lord. So ſetting it before the Lord thy God, thou ſhalt worſhip before him.

11. Afterwards thou, with the Levite, and the Stranger who is among you, ſhalt be glad for all the Good, which the Lord thy God has given thee and thy Family.

12. When thou haſt done taking the Tithe of all thy Crop in the third Year, the Year of Tithe, and haſt given it to the Levite, Stranger, Fatherleſs and Widow, that they may eat within thy Gates, and be ſatisfied;

15. Look from Heaven thy holy Habitation, and bleſs thy People Iſrael, with the Ground which thou haſt given us, as thou didſt ſwear to our Forefathers, a Country flowing with Milk and Honey.

16. This Day the Lord thy God commands thee to do theſe Ordinances and Rules; thou ſhalt therefore obſerve and do them, with thy whole Heart and Soul.

17. Thou haſt affirmed to Day the Lord is a God to thee, that thou wilt go in his Ways, obſerve his Ordinances, Commandments and Rules, and hearken to what he ſays.

18. And the Lord has affirmed to Day thou art a peculiar People to him, as he ſpoke to thee, and muſt obſerve all his Commandments.

19. That he may put thee the higheſt of all Nations which he has made, in Praiſe, Name and Glory; and that thou mayeſt be a holy People to the Lord thy God, as he has ſpoken.

CHAP. XXVII.

AND Moſes, with the Elders of Iſrael, commanded the People as follows: Obſerve all the Commandments which I order you to Day.

2. And at the Time that you paſs over Jordan, to the Country which the Lord thy God gives thee, thou ſhalt ſet thee up great Stones, and plaiſter them with Lime.

3. Upon theſe thou ſhalt write all the Words of this Law, when thou art paſſed over; in order that thou mayeſt go into the Country which the Lord thy God gives thee, a Country flowing with Milk and Honey, as the Lord God of thy Fathers has ſpoken to thee.

4. So when you are paſſed over Jordan, you ſhall ſet up theſe Stones which I command you to Day at Mount Ebal, and thou ſhalt plaiſter them with Lime.

5. And ſhalt build there to the Lord thy God an Altar of Stones, moving no Iron upon them.

6. With whole Stones ſhalt thou build it, and offer up Burnt-offerings upon it to the Lord thy God.

7. Thou ſhalt alſo ſacrifice Peace-offerings, and eat there, being glad before him.

8. Moreover thou ſhalt write upon the Stones all the Words of this Law, expreſſing them well.

9. Beſides Moſes, and the Prieſts the Levites, ſpoke as follows to all Iſrael; Attend, and hearken, O Iſrael, this Day thou art become a People to the Lord thy God.

10. Therefore ſhalt thou hearken to what he ſays, doing his Commandments and Ordinances, which I command thee to Day.

11. Moſes further commanded the People thus on that Day:

12. Theſe ſhall ſtand upon Mount Gerizzim to bleſs the People, when you are paſſed over Jordan, Simeon, Levi, Judah, Iſſachar, Joſeph and Benjamin:

13. As theſe ſhall on Mount Ebal for curſing, Reuben, Gad and Aſher, with Zebulun, Dan and Naphtali.

14. And the Levites ſhall ſpeak, and ſay to all the Men of Iſrael with an exalted Voice:

15. The Man is curſed who makes a carved or molten Image, an Abomination to the Lord, the Work of the Artificer's Hands, and puts it into a ſecret Place; and all the People ſhall make anſwer, So let it be.

16. He is curſed who makes his Father or Mother baſe; and all the People ſhall ſay, So let it be.

17. He is curſed who removes his Neighbour's Bounds; and all the People ſhall ſay, So let it be.

CHAP. XXVIII.

AND if thou wilt at all hearken to what the Lord thy God ſays, to obſerve to do all his Commandments which I enjoin thee to Day, he will make thee the higheſt of all Nations of the Earth.

2. Nay all theſe Bleſſings will come to thee, overtaking thee, when thou hearkeneſt to what the Lord thy God ſays.

3. Thou ſhalt be bleſſed in the City, as thou ſhalt alſo in the Field.

4. The Fruit of thy Body ſhall be bleſſed, the Fruit of thy Land, and that of thy Cattle, the Young of thy Cows, and the Flocks of thy Sheep.

5. Thy Baſket and Kneading-veſſel ſhall be bleſſed.

6. Thou ſhalt be bleſſed when thou comeſt in, as thou ſhalt when thou goeſt out.

7. The Lord will make thy Enemies, who riſe up againſt thee, be ſmitten before thee: coming out againſt thee one Way, they will flee ſeven Ways before thee.

8. The Lord will command a Bleſſing to be with thee in thy Barns, and in all that thou takeſt in Hand, bleſſing thee in the Country which the Lord thy God gives thee.

9. The Lord will eſtabliſh thee for a holy People to himſelf, as he has ſworn to thee, when thou obſerveſt the Commandments of the Lord thy God, and goeſt in his Ways.

10. And all the People of the Earth, ſeeing that thou art called by the Name of the Lord, will be afraid of thee.

11. And the Lord will make thee abound in what is good, in the Fruit of thy Body, the Fruit of thy Cattle, and that of thy Ground, in the Country which the Lord ſware to thy Forefathers that he would give thee.

12. The Lord will open his good Treaſury to thee, the Heaven to give thy Land Rain in its Seaſon, and to bleſs all the Work of thy Hand; ſo that thou ſhalt lend to many Nations, but ſhalt not borrow.

13. Beſides the Lord will make thee the Head, and not the Tail, as thou ſhalt be only above, and not below; when thou hearkeneſt to the Commandments of the Lord thy God, which I give thee in charge to Day, to obſerve and do them;

14. And doſt not turn aſide from any of the Things which I command you to Day, to the right Hand or left, to go after other gods to ſerve them.

15. But if thou wilt not hearken to what the Lord thy God ſays, to obſerve to do all his Commandments and Ordinances, which I command thee to Day; all theſe Curſes will come to thee, overtaking thee.

16. Thou ſhalt be curſed in the City, as thou ſhalt alſo in the Field.

17. Thy Baſket and Kneading-veſſel ſhall be curſed.

18. The Fruit of thy Body ſhall be curſed, and that of thy Land, the Young of thy Cows, and the Flocks of thy Sheep.

19. Thou ſhalt be curſed when thou comeſt in, as thou ſhalt when thou goeſt out.

20. The Lord will ſend on thee Curſing, Vexation and Rebuke, in all that thou takeſt in Hand and doeſt; till thou art deſtroyed, and till thou periſheſt quickly, by reaſon of the Evil of thy Deeds, by which thou forſakeſt me.

Burning,

Burning, Sword, Blaſting and Mildew; and they ſhall purſue thee till thou periſheſt.

23. Thy Heaven alſo which is over thy Head will be like Braſs, and the Earth which is under thee like Iron.

24. The Lord will make the Rain of thy Country Duſt and Powder; it ſhall come down from Heaven upon thee, till thou art deſtroyed.

25. The Lord will make thee be ſmitten before thy Enemies: going out againſt them one Way, thou wilt flee ſeven Ways before them; and wilt be diſturbed in all the Kingdoms of the Earth.

26. Thy dead Body too will become Food to all the Fowls of the Air, and to the Beaſts of the Earth, none frightening them away.

27. The Lord will ſmite thee with the Boil of Egypt, the Piles, Scurvy and Itch, of which thou canſt not be cured.

28. The Lord will ſmite thee with Diſtraction, Blindneſs, and Aſtoniſhment of Heart.

29. So that thou wilt feel about at Noon, as the Blind does in Darkneſs, and not make thy Ways proſperous: nay thou wilt be only oppreſſed, and ſpoiled at all Times, none ſaving.

30. Thou wilt eſpouſe a Wife, and another Man will lie with her; wilt build a Houſe, and not dwell in it; plant a Vineyard, and not make uſe of it.

31. Thy Ox will be killed in thy Sight, and thou wilt eat none of it; thy Aſs will be taken by force from before thee, and not be reſtored to thee; thy Sheep will be given to thy Enemies, none ſaving them for thee.

32. Thy Sons and Daughters will be given to another People, for whom thy Eyes will look and fail every Day, and there will be Nothing in the Power of thy Hand.

33. A People whom thou doſt not know will eat the Fruit of thy Ground, and all that thou laboureſt for; whereas thou wilt be only oppreſſed, and cruſhed at all Times.

34. Inſomuch that thou wilt be diſtracted, for what thou ſeeſt with thy Eyes.

35. The Lord will ſmite thee with a grievous Boil, upon the Knees and Legs, nay from the Sole of thy Foot to thy Crown, of which thou canſt not be cured.

36. The Lord will cauſe thee, and thy King whom thou ſetteſt up over thee, to go to a Nation which neither thou nor thy Fathers have known; where thou mayeſt ſerve other gods, Wood and Stone.

37. And thou wilt become an Aſtoniſhment, Proverb and Taunt, among all the People whither the Lord leads thee.

38. Thou wilt carry out much Seed into the Field, and gather in little: for the Locuſts will conſume it.

39. Thou wilt plant and dreſs Vineyards, and not drink the Wine, nor gather: for the Worms will eat what there is.

40. Thou wilt have Olive-trees in all thy Borders, and not anoint thee with Oil: for thy Olive-tree will caſt off.

41. Thou wilt beget Sons and Daughters, and not have them: for they will go into Captivity.

42. All the Wood and Fruit of thy Ground, will the Locuſts inherit.

43. The Stranger who is among you, will get up very high above thee, and thou wilt come down very low.

44. He will lend to thee, and thou wilt not to him: he will be the Head, and thou wilt be the Tail.

45. Thus will all theſe Curſes come to thee, purſuing thee, and overtaking thee, till thou art deſtroyed; becauſe thou doſt not hearken to what the Lord thy God ſays, to obſerve his Commandments and Ordinances, which he enjoins thee.

46. And they ſhall be on thee for a Sign and Token, and on thy Offſpring for ever:

47. Foraſmuch as thou doſt not ſerve the Lord thy God, with Gladneſs and Chearfulneſs of Heart, for the Abundance of all Things.

48. And thou wilt ſerve thy Enemies, whom the Lord will ſend againſt thee, in Hunger, Thirſt, Nakedneſs, and Want of all Things; nay he will put an iron Yoke upon thy Neck, till he has deſtroyed thee.

49. The Lord will bring up a Nation againſt thee from far, from the End of the Earth, as an Eagle that flies ſwiftly, a Na-

58. If thou wilt not obſerve to do all the Things of this Law, written in this Book, to fear this glorious and fearful Name The Lord thy God;

59. The Lord will make thy own Plagues and thoſe of thy Offspring wonderful, great and confirmed ones, with grievous and confirmed Diſtempers.

60. Moreover he will bring on thee again all the Diſeaſes of Egypt, by reaſon of which thou art afraid, and they will cleave to thee.

61. Every Sickneſs and Plague likewiſe which is not written in the Book of this Law, will the Lord bring them upon thee, till thou art deſtroyed.

62. And you will be left few Perſons, whereas you were as the Stars of Heaven for Multitude; becauſe thou doſt not hearken to what the Lord thy God ſays.

CHAP. XXIX.

THESE are the Words of the Covenant, which the Lord commanded Moſes to make with the Iſraelites, in the Country of Moab, beſides the Covenant which he made with them at Horeb.

2. And Moſes called all Iſrael, and ſaid to them: You have ſeen all that the Lord did in your Sight in the Country of Egypt, to Pharaoh, all his Servants, and his whole Country;

3. The great Trials which thy Eyes ſaw, thoſe great Signs and Miracles.

4. Yet the Lord has not cauſed your Heart to know, Eyes to ſee, nor Ears to hear, to this Day.

5. And I having conducted you forty Years in the Wilderneſs, your Garments did not decay from you, nor thy Shoe decay from thy Foot.

6. You neither eat Bread, nor drank Wine or ſtrong Drink; in order for you to know that I am the Lord your God.

7. Upon your coming alſo to this Place, Sihon King of Heſhbon, and Og King of Baſhan, came out to meet us in Battle, and we beat them:

8. Whoſe Country we took, and gave it for a Poſſeſſion to the Reubenites, Gadites, and half the Tribe of Manaſſeh.

9. So obſerve the Things of this Covenant, and do them; that you may have ſucceſs in all which you do.

10. You ſtand to Day all of you before the Lord your God, your chief ones of your Tribes, your Elders and Magiſtrates, with all the Men of Iſrael,

11. Your Children, Wives, and thy Stranger who is within thy Camp, whether a Hewer of thy Wood, or a Drawer of thy Water;

12. To come into the Covenant of the Lord thy God, and into his Oath, which the Lord thy God makes with thee to Day:

13. That he may eſtabliſh thee to Day a People to himſelf, and he may be a God to thee, as he promiſed thee, and as he ſware to thy Forefathers, Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob.

14. Neither with you alone, do I make this Covenant and Oath:

15. For it is both with him who ſtands here with us to Day, before the Lord our God, and with him who is not here with us to Day;

16. Becauſe you know how we dwelt in the Country of Egypt, and how we paſſed within the Nations, through which you paſſed.

17. And you ſaw their Abominations and filthy Idols, Wood and Stone, Silver and Gold, which were with them:

18. Leſt there ſhould be among you Man, Woman, Family, or Tribe, whoſe Heart turns away to Day from the Lord our God, to go to ſerve the gods of thoſe Nations; leſt there ſhould be a Root among you, that bears Fruit of Hemlock and Wormwood:

19. Who upon his hearing the Words of this Curſe, bleſſes himſelf in his Heart thus, I ſhall have Peace, though I go in the Imagination of my own Heart, to add Drunkenneſs to Thirſt.

20. The Lord will not pardon him, but then his Anger and Zeal will ſmoak againſt that Man, every Curſe that is written in this Book will lie on him, and the Lord will blot out his Name from under Heaven.

21. Even the Lord will ſeparate him to what is ill, from all the Tribes of Iſrael, according to all the Curſes of the Covenant that are written in this Book of the Law.

22. And the following Generation of your Children will ſay, who ſhall riſe up after you, and the Foreigner who ſhall come from a Country far off, when they ſee the Plagues of that Country, and the Diſeaſes with which the Lord makes it ſick;

23. All the Land of it being burnt with Brimſtone and Salt, not ſown, nor ſprouting forth, nor any Graſs coming up on it, like the Overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah, Admah and Zeboim, which the Lord overthrew in his Anger and Wrath;

24. Nay all Nations will ſay, Wherefore has the Lord done thus to this Country? Why is the Heat of this great Anger?

25. To which it will be anſwered: Becauſe they have forſaken the Covenant of the Lord God of their Fathers, which he made with them, when he brought them out of the Country of Egypt.

26. As they have gone, and ſerved other gods, and bowed down to them, gods that that they did not know, nor he diſtribute to them.

27. Therefore was the Lord angry with that Country, to bring upon it every Curſe which is written in this Book.

28. And the Lord has rooted them out from their own Ground, in Anger, Wrath, and great Fury: throwing them out into another Country, as at this Time.

29. Secret Things belong to the Lord our God, but thoſe which are revealed to us and our Children for ever, that we may perform all the Things of this Law.

CHAP. XXX.

HOWEVER when all theſe Things come to thee, the Bleſſing and the Curſe which I put before thee, and thou recalleſt them to thy Mind, in all the Nations whither the Lord thy God has driven thee;

2. So that thou returneſt to him, and hearkeneſt to what he ſays, entirely as I command thee to Day, and thy Children, with thy whole Heart and Soul;

3. Then will the Lord thy God turn back thy Captivity, having compaſſion upon thee, and gather thee again from all the People, whither he has diſperſed thee.

4. If there is any of thine driven to the End of the Heaven, from thence will the Lord thy God gather thee, and from thence fetch thee;

5. And he will bring thee into the Country which thy Fathers inherited, and thou ſhalt inherit it; nay he will do ſo well for thee, that he will multiply thee more than thy Fathers.

6. The Lord thy God will alſo circumciſe thy Heart, and that of thy Offspring, to love himſelf with thy whole Heart and Soul, that thou mayeſt live.

7. Beſides the Lord thy God will put all theſe Curſes upon thy Enemies, and upon the Haters of thee who perſecute thee;

8. As thou returneſt, and hearkeneſt to what the Lord ſays, and doeſt all his Commandments which I order thee to Day.

9. Nay the Lord thy God will make thee abound in all the Work of thy Hand, in the Fruit of thy Body, in that of thy Cattle, and that of thy Ground for Good: for the Lord will again be joyful concerning thee for Good, as he was concerning thy Fathers;

10. When thou hearkeneſt to what the Lord thy God ſays, to obſerve his Commandments and Ordinances, that are written in this Book of the Law; when thou returneſt to him, with thy whole Heart and Soul.

11. For this Commandment which I enjoin thee to Day, is not hid from thee, nor is it far off.

12. It is not in Heaven, for thee to ſay, Who ſhall go up to Heaven for us, fetch it to us, and let us hear it, that we may do it?

13. Nor is it beyond the Sea, for thee to ſay, Who ſhall paſs over the Sea for us, fetch it to us, and let us hear it, that we may do it?

14. But the Word is very near thee, in thy Mouth and Heart, for thee to perform the ſame.

15. See I have put before thee to Day, Life, and what is good; as alſo Death, and what is ill:

16. Since I command thee to Day to love the Lord thy God, to go in his Ways, and to obſerve his Commandments, Ordinances and Rules; that thou mayeſt live, and multiply, and the Lord thy God may bleſs thee in the Country, whither thou art going in to inherit it.

17. On the contrary if thy Heart turns away, and thou wilt not hearken, but art driven away, ſo that thou worſhippeſt other gods, and ſerveſt them;

18. I declare to you to Day, that you will utterly periſh, will not have the Time long in the Country whither thou art paſſing over Jordan to go in to inherit it.

19. I call Heaven and Earth to bear witneſs againſt you to Day, that I have put Life and Death before thee, Bleſſing and Curſing: ſo chooſe Life, that thou and thy Offspring may live;

20. By loving the Lord thy God, by hearkening to what he ſays, and cleaving to

CHAP. XXXI.

AND Moſes went, and ſpoke theſe Words to all Iſrael,

2. Saying to them; I being now in my hundred and twentieth Year, can no more go out and come in, the Lord having ſaid to me, Thou ſhalt not paſs over this Jordan.

3. The Lord thy God himſelf will paſs over before thee, he will deſtroy theſe Nations from before thee, and thou ſhalt inherit them: Joſhua himſelf ſhall paſs over before thee, as the Lord has ſpoken.

4. And the Lord will do to them, as he did to Sihon and Og Kings of the Amorites, and to their Country, whom he deſtroyed.

5. For the Lord will deliver them up before you, that you may do to them, according to every Commandment which I have bid you.

6. Be you courageous, and valiant, do not fear, nor be afraid by reaſon of them: for the Lord thy God himſelf goes with thee, he will not neglect thee, nor forſake thee.

7. Beſides Moſes called to Joſhua, and ſaid to him in the Sight of all Iſrael; Be courageous, and valiant: for thou ſhalt go with this People into the Country which the Lord ſware to their Forefathers that he would give them, and thou ſhalt make them poſſeſs it.

8. And the Lord himſelf will go before thee, he will be with thee, will not neglect thee, nor forſake thee: do not fear, nor be daunted.

9. Moſes alſo wrote this Law, and gave it to the Prieſts, the Sons of Levi, who carried the Ark of the Lord's Covenant, and to all the Elders of Iſrael.

10. Whom he commanded as follows; At the Term of ſeven Years, in the Solemnity of the Year of Releaſe, in the Feaſt of Tabernacles,

11. When all Iſrael come to appear in the Preſence of the Lord thy God, in the Place which he ſhall chooſe, thou ſhalt read this Law before them in their Hearing.

12. Gather the People together, Men, Women and Children, with thy Stranger who is within thy Gates: that they may hear, and that they may learn, as alſo fear the Lord your God, and obſerve to do all the Things of this Law;

13. And that their Poſterity who do not know may hear, and learn to fear the Lord your God, all the Days that you live in the Country, whither you are paſſing over Jordan to inherit it.

14. And the Lord ſaid to Moſes, Lo thy Time draws near for thee to die; call Joſhua, and preſent your ſelves in the publick Tent, that I may command him. Accordingly Moſes and Joſhua went, and preſenting themſelves in the publick Tent,

15. The Lord appeared there in the Pillar of a Cloud, which ſtood at the Tent-door.

16. And he ſaid to Moſes: Behold when thou art laid down with thy Fathers, this People will riſe up, and go a whoring after the gods of the Strangers of the Country, whither they are going in among them, and forſake me, breaking my Covenant which I have made with them.

17. Upon which I ſhall be angry with them at that Time, when I will not only forſake them, and hide my Face from them, but they ſhall be conſumed, many Evils and Diſtreſſes coming on them; ſo that they will ſay at that Time, Are not theſe Evils come on us, becauſe our God is not among us?

18. I will even wholly hide my Face at that Time, for every Evil which they have done, becauſe they are turned away to other gods.

19. Now therefore write this Poem for your ſelves, and teach it to the Iſraelites, putting it in their Mouths; that it may be a Witneſs for me againſt them.

20. For when I have brought them into the Country, of which I ſware to their Fathers, that flows with Milk and Honey, and they have eat, are ſatisfied, and become fat; they will turn away to other gods, and ſerve them, contemning me, and breaking my Covenant.

21. So that when many Evils and Diſtreſſes come on them, this Poem will teſtify for a Witneſs to their Face, ſince it ſhall not be forgot out of the Mouths of their Offspring: for I know their Imagination which they practiſe at this Time, before I have had them into the Country of which I ſware.

22. Accordingly Moſes wrote this Poem that Day, and taught it to the Iſraelites.

23. He alſo commanded Joſhua the Son of Nun as follows: Be courageous, and valiant: for thou ſhalt have the Iſraelites into the Country of which I ſware to them, and I will be with thee.

24. And when Moſes had done, having written the Words of this Law in a Book till they were finiſhed,

25. He commanded the Levites who carried the Ark of the Lord's Covenant thus;

26. Take this Book of the Law, and put it at the Side of the Ark of the Covenant of the Lord your God, that it may be there for a Witneſs againſt thee.

27. For I know thy Rebellion and ſtiff Neck: lo while I am yet alive with you to Day, you are rebellious againſt the Lord, and much more after my Death.

28. Gather together to me all the Elders of your Tribes, and your Magiſtrates; that I may ſpeak theſe Words in their Hearing, and call Heaven and Earth to bear witneſs againſt them.

29. For I know that after my Death you will become quite corrupt, and turn aſide from the Way which I have commanded you; ſo that Evil will befal you in the latter Days, becauſe you do what the Lord is diſpleaſed with, by provoking him with the Work of your Hands.

30. So Moſes ſpoke in the Hearing of the whole Congregation of Iſrael, the Words of this Poem, till they were finiſhed.

CHAP. XXXII.

GIVE ear, high Heaven, while I ſhall ſpeak; and hear, thou Earth, the Matters of my Mouth.

2. My Doctrine ſhall drop as drops the Rain, my Speech diſtil as does the Dew: now mild like Miſts to tender Herbs, now ſharp like Showers on noxious Weeds.

7. Call to mind the ancient Days, conſider over the Years of Ages; aſk thy own Father, for he will inform his Son, thy Elders, and they will ſay the ſame:

Ib. ſuch and ſuch People] or Nations, being plural.

Ib. Poſterity of Iſrael] For which the 70 Interpreters have ſo widely as Angels of God; from whence, as Amama obſerves, ſome of the Fathers argued, ſo many Men were to be ſaved, as there fell, others as there ſtood, Angels.

Ver. 10. ſufficed] Thus the Gr. and Chald. and ſo the Heb. ſignifies as well as found, and this is apparently the fitteſt here; ſince God brought Iſrael thither, not found him there.

Ib. waſte] Herman Moll in his Atlas, Map 26. gives the following Deſcription of Part at leaſt of the Wilderneſs through which the Iſraelites paſſed; "A Country "that has neither Men, Beaſts, Birds, Trees, Graſs, "nor Paſture, and nothing but Sands and rocky Moun-"tains;" and Pitts of Exeter, who ſeems very careful to tell the Truth, having been at Mecca, about a Day's Journey beyond the Red Sea, and coming back into Egypt through that Deſart, ſays, "'Tis thirty ſeven "Days Journey from Mecca: and in all this Way there "is ſcarce any green Thing to be ſeen, neither Beaſt "nor Fowl to be ſeen or heard, Nothing but Sand and "Stones, excepting one Place," Account of the Mohametans, Ch. 8. as likewiſe Rauwolff, an approved Traveller, of another Part by the Euphrates, "You could ſee nei-"ther Plough-land nor Meadow, Tree nor Buſh, Leaf "nor Graſs, nor Path to go in," Part ii. Ch. 5.

hovers

hovers over its Young, expands its Pinions, takes them, carries them upon its Wings;

12. The Lord alone led him, when there was no ſtrange god with him.

13. He made him ride upon the high Places of the Earth, ſo that he eat the Fruit of the Field; nay cauſed him to ſuck forth Honey from the Rock, and out of the flinty Rock have Oil.

14. There was Butter of the Herd, and Milk of the Flock, with the Fat of Lambs, and Rams of the Breed of Baſhan, not excepting even Goats, with the Fat of Kidneys of Corn the Wheat; and thou didſt drink red Wine, the Blood of the Grape.

15. But Jeſhurun become fat, now kicks; thou art fattened, grown thick, covered over: ſo he has forſaken God his Maker, and ſlightly valued the Rock of his Salvation.

16. They make him jealous with ſtrange gods, provoke him with Abominations.

17. They ſacrifice to Devils, not to God, to gods that they did not know: to new ones lately come, whom your Forefathers were not afraid of.

18. Thou haſt forgotten the Rock that begat thee, and art unmindful of God who formed thee.

19. Which the Lord ſeeing, is irritated; for the Indignation of it to be by his Sons and Daughters,

20. And declares: I will hide my Face from them, I ſhall ſee what their End will be; as they are a Generation perverſe, Perſons in whom there is no Faith at all.

21. They make me jealous with what is not God, provoke me with their very Vanities: ſo will I make them jealous with thoſe who are not a People, will provoke them by a Nation very vile.

22, For a Fire is lighted in my Anger, which ſhall burn to the Bottom of Hell, conſume the Earth it ſelf with its Crop, and ſet on fire the Foundations of the mighty Hills.

23. Calamity to Calamity will I add againſt them, I will ſhoot out all my Arrows at them.

24. They ſhall be parched with corroding Famine, the inflammatory Fever ſhall feed upon them, and nameleſs direful Diſeaſes; nay commiſſioned by me the tearing Teeth of Beaſts ſhall attack them, with the rankling Venom of lurking Serpents.

25. War from without, and dreadful Danger from within, ſhall deprive both of young Man and Maid, ſucking Child with aged Perſon.

26. I ſay; I would drive them into diſtant Corners, would make the Remembrance of them periſh among Men;

27. But that I fear the Fury of the Foe, leſt their Enemies ſhould behave with ſtrange Extravagance, leſt they ſhould vaunt, Our own high Hand, and no offended Deity has done all this.

28. For theſe are a Nation void of Advice, and no Underſtanding dwells within them.

29. Oh that they were wiſe, would conſider this, would underſtand what will be their End!

30. How ſhould one purſue a thouſand, nay two make ten thouſand flee; if it was not becauſe their Rock had ſold them, and the Lord delivered them up?

31. For their Rock is not like ours, though our Enemies ſhould be Judges.

Ver. 13. He made] This being a Poem for Futurity.

Ib. ride upon the high Places of the Earth] What does this mean? The Commentators will tell you prevail over the fenced Cities, for which Iſa. lviii. 14. is produced; where the Expreſſion being alike, is doubtleſs to be allowed the like Senſe. But I utterly diſallow that to be it: let the Context of both together tell, that it is to enjoy the plentiful Product of the Hills of Canaan; ſee alſo Chap. viii. 7, 8, 9. & xi. 11, 12. Ezek. xxxvi. 1, 2. and Munſt. here.

Ver. 14. Kidneys] Corns of Wheat being like Kidneys.

Ver. 20. declares] in the preſent Tenſe, when this Poem was to be of ſpecial Uſe.

Ib. I will] conditionally, as to Nineveh by Jonah, to reclaim them.

Ib. them] not you, a Sign of his high Diſpleaſure in not ſpeaking to them.

Ver. 24. parched] This Verb mazah, which is no where elſe in the Scripture, appears to come from the Chald. aza, or that from this; which, though it has no other, may ſufficiently aſcertain its Meaning.

Ver. 25. deprive of] as at Gen. xxvii. 45. not deſtroy, which is alſo differently applied.

Ver. 28. For theſe] namely the Iſraelites, whom God would puniſh as before, becauſe they would not be adviſed and underſtand, which he wiſhes they would in the following Verſe.

Ver. 29. End]

One Eye on Death, and one full fix'd on Heaven, Becomes a Mortal and Immortal Man,

ſays the Author of the late Poem called Night-Thoughts, Night 5.

Ver. 30. one purſue] How ſhould the Iſraelites be beat ſo badly, as in the Time of the Judges, when this Poem was to be of particular Uſe; ſince their Rock here determines this to them, though it is expounded contrarily: for ſurely the Heathen might be defeated, without their Idols (which too would not be one Rock) ſelling, and delivering them up as to the Buyer.

Ib. delivered] which Meaning of the Word muſt needs be here, becauſe ſhut up is inconſiſtent with their being purſued and fleeing, but very agreeable to ſold; it is not the ſame as Ver. 36.

Ver. 31. ours] What the Lord ſays being ended with the preceding Verſe.

32. For their Vine is from that of Sodom, and from the Fields of Gomorrah: their Grapes are thoſe of Gall, the Bunches they bear are bitter.

33. Their Wine is the Venom of Dragons, and the deſperate Poiſon of Aſps.

34. Is not this laid up with me, ſealed up among my Stores?

35. To me belongs Vengeance, and to render it where due: their Foot ſo firm muſt remove at the Time; for the Day of their Calamity draws near to come, and of the Things prepared for them each haſtens on.

36. Since the Lord will judge for his People, and be ſorry for his Servants; when he ſees that their Power is gone, and there is none ſhut up or left.

37. Then will he ſay: Where are their gods, the Rock on which they relied;

38. Who do eat the Fat of their Sacrifices, drink the Wine of their Offerings? Let them get ready, and help you, let them keep you ſecure.

39. See now that I my ſelf am God, and there is no other with me: I put to death, and bring to life, make ill and well again; and none can reſcue from my Power.

40. When I lift up my Hand to Heaven, and ſwear By my living for ever;

41. If I whet my flaming Sword, and my Hand take hold of Judgment: I will render Vengeance to my Adverſaries, and recompenſe my ſpiteful Foes;

42. I will make my Arrows drunk with Blood (ſince my Sword ſhall conſume Fleſh) with the Blood of the Slain from the firſt Revenge on the Enemy, and of thoſe yet confined.

43. Sing, O Nations, you his People: for he will avenge the Slaughter of his Servants, and be vindictive to his Adverſaries; but will be pacified with his Country, his own People.

44. Thus Moſes went, and ſpoke all the Words of this Poem in the Audience of the People, with Hoſhea the Son of Nun.

45. And when Moſes had made an end of ſpeaking all theſe Words to all Iſrael,

46. He ſaid to them; Take notice of all the Things that I teſtify among you to Day, which you ſhall command your Children to obſerve to do, all the Things of this Law.

47. For it is not a Matter too vain for you, ſince it is your Life; as by this Matter you will have the Time long, in the Country whither you are paſſing over Jordan to inherit it.

48. The Lord alſo ſpoke to Moſes that ſame Day as follows;

49. Go up Mount Nebo at this Mountain of Abarim, that is in the Country of Moab before Jericho, and ſee the Country of Canaan which I give to the Iſraelites for a Poſſeſſion.

50. Then thou ſhalt die on the Mount whither thou goeſt up, and be gathered to thy People; as Aaron thy Brother died on Mount Hor, and was gathered to his People.

51. Becauſe you did amiſs againſt me among the Iſraelites, at the Water of Meribah-kadeſh in the Wilderneſs of Zin; becauſe you did not ſanctify me among the Iſraelites.

52. For thou ſhalt ſee the Country at a diſtance, but ſhalt not go thither, into that which I give to the Iſraelites.

Ver. 32. their Vine] Either ours, or the Enemies, in the Verſe before; therefore clearly the latter, whatever Interpreters pretend. Moſes having uſed Menaces, to keep and turn his People from Wickedneſs; may be underſtood now to prepare Comfort for them when in deep Diſtreſs, by the Conſideration that their Enemies were worſe than themſelves, and ſo that God would render Vengeance to them, and Compaſſion to Iſrael, as follows.

Ib. Vine] This to Wine incluſive, may denote their principal Manners or Production.

Ver. 34. this] their ripening Wickedneſs, according to Gen. xv. 16.

Ver. 36. ſhut up] look for at 1 Kings xiv. 10.

Ver. 38. eat the Fat] by the Fire conſuming it.

Ver. 40. When] ſuitable to If in the following Verſe.

Ib. By my living] Being the Manner of beginning an Oath, as in Jer. xxii. 24. Ezek. v. 11. & xiv. 16. &c. and this ſuch both by the Greek and Chaldee. And what Idea of Connection with the Context does I live convey?

Ver. 42. confined] to be ſlain, whoſe Blood ſhould make the Sword as it were drunk, when added to the Quantity before.

Ver. 43. his People:] The Relative may be eaſily underſtood, to be who are his People; which the Expreſſion as it lies ſeems literally and properly to ſignify, as alſo to agree well with what is before and after: otherwiſe and or with may be ſupplied before this, which is uſed Rom. xv. 10. from the Tranſlation of the Septuag. but that Tranſlation is very incorrect and ſuperfluous here; and this may ſeem not to agree ſo well to the Context, which ſets forth that God would favour his People, and puniſh their Adverſaries: the Apoſtle might notwithſtanding quote it beſt as he did, ſince it was a Teſtimony to the People out of their common received Bible; ſee on Gen. xlvii. ult. The Septuagint do not begin the Verſe with this Expreſſion, but have before it, Rejoice, O Heavens, with him, and let all the Angels of God worſhip him; which latter, as Patrick obſerves, is exactly cited in the Greek from hence, Heb. i. 6. and not from Pſa. xcvii. 7. or any where elſe. Now as theſe Words are not to be added here becauſe quoted in Heb. i. 6. neither is [with] becauſe quoted Rom. xv. 10.

Ver. 47. too] as ם properly ſignifies.

CHAP. XXXIII.

AND this is the Bleſſing with which Moſes the Man of God bleſſed the Iſraelites before his Death.

2. The Lord, ſaid he, came from Sinai, and roſe from Seir to them, ſhined from Mount Paran, and arrived with tens of thouſands of holy ones: from his right Hand there was a fiery Law for them.

3. He alſo loved the People, all the Saints of it being in thy Hand; and they were between thy Feet, each ſhall receive of thy Words, ſaying;

4. Moſes commanded a Law for us, what the Congregation of Jacob inherit.

5. And he was King in Jeſhurun, when the Heads of the People, the Tribes of Iſrael, were gathered together.

6. Reuben will live, and not die, nor his Men be few.

7. And this was for Judah, Hear, O Lord, ſaid he, the Voice of Judah, and bring him to his People: let his Hands be enough for him, and be thou a Help from his Adverſaries.

8. Of Levi alſo he ſaid; Let thy pious Man have thy Thummim and Urim, whom thou didſt try in Maſſah, with whom thou didſt ſtrive at the Water of Meribah:

9. Who could ſay of his Father and Mother, I do not mind them; he neither knew his Brothers, nor was acquainted with his Children; becauſe they obſerved thy Sayings, and kept thy Covenant.

10. They will teach Jacob thy Rules, and Iſrael thy Law: will put Incenſe in thy Preſence, and the whole Burnt-offering upon thy Altar.

11. Bleſs his Ability, O Lord, and accept the Work of his Hands: ſtrike the Loins of thoſe who riſe up againſt him, and ſuch as hate him, that they may not riſe up.

12. Of Benjamin he ſaid, The Beloved of the Lord will dwell ſecurely by him; who will cover him over every Day, and dwell between his Shoulders.

13. And of Joſeph he ſaid; His Country is bleſſed of the Lord, by the precious Things of Heaven, by the Dew, and the Deep that lies below,

14. By the precious Increaſe of the Sun, by the precious Things put forth of the Moons,

---

Ver. 2. Seir] This and Paran being not far from Sinai, or according to Hyde, in his Notes on Abraham Peritſol's Itinera Mundi, p. 73. Parts of the ſame Ridge of Mountains, there might be Signs of the Divine Preſence when the Law was given from Sinai; ſee Hab. iii. 3.

Ib. with tens of thouſands of holy ones] which the Author of the preſent State of the printed Heb. would make from Meribah-Kadeſh, by altering ב into ו without any Similitude, and by adding מ both without any Copy or Verſion, p. 425, 426, 427.

Ib. tens of thouſands] ſeveral ten thouſands.

Ib. holy ones] Angels, Pſa. lxviii. 17. Acts vii. 53.

Ib. right Hand] with which the ten Commandments were written.

Ib. fiery] being delivered in Fire, Chap. xix. 18.

Ib. a fiery Law] Heb. a Fire of Law. This the Author of the preſent State, &c. after the Samaritan, is for having to be a fire ſhone forth, and would have the preſent דת Law made from אורה p. 430. by leaving out the ו he knows not how nor why, and miſtaking ר for ת yet of the other two at Beginning and End to be miſtaken for ד at the Beginning he is ſilent, though this was as needful to be accounted for as they. But what if I ſuppoſe the Samaritan Tranſlator (for it is not ſo even in the Sam. Text) not underſtanding דת rendered it as a Verb ſuitable to Fire? and the whole is eaſily done.

Ver. 3. the People] plural, viz. the Tribes of Iſrael, as Judg. v. 14. Jun.

Ib. it] the People as one, or each of them as in Tribes; otherwiſe Iſrael from Ver. 1. as the firſt them in Ver. 2. is from Sons of Iſrael.

Ib. being in thy Hand] But the Author of the preſent State, &c. wants it to be he bleſſed, according as the Syr. Tranſlator has it, and probably miſtook by taking ר for ד ſince to take the Heb. from the Sam. muſt be more, with alſo adding another Letter, and that to make what this admired Writer counts ſo remarkably unintelligible; which then is moſt rational to ſuppoſe? He ridicules the Hebrew with aſking, Whoſe Saints? from the Eng. Tranſ. which he himſelf makes no other. The two following thys he would likewiſe turn into his, ſuppoſing ו has been changed to ך which is not only unlikely for the Diſſimilitude, but very unlikely to be done twice together, when that too would not have been deſignedly, becauſe of making a harder Senſe; but it is eaſy to think how thy might be altered to his, viz. to make the Paſſage plainer. N. B. This Book is ſo remarkable for Change of Perſons, that our Tranſlators have altered ſeveral, as ſpecified in theſe Notes.

Ib. were between] being a Verb made from a Noun ſignifying the midſt. Thus it may mean as Scholars learning, to which the People might well be compared when the Law was given, but did not ſit down, Exod. xix. 17. & xx. 21. as the Word alſo has no ſuch Meaning.

Ib. ſaying] as the following requires, and as elſewhere; not for Moſes to ſay, as the Author of the preſent State &c. well obſerves, Moſes commanded me and you, i. e. Moſes commanded Moſes and you; but he would throw out Moſes for it.

Ver. 6. will live] it being a Prophecy, not a Wiſh only, much leſs a Command.

Ver. 9. ſay of] as what is mentioned to be ſaid ſhews; ſo Jun. &c.

Ib. I do not mind] It is monſtrous for Levi to ſay he had not ſeen his Father, and that to the Father himſelf.

Ver. 12. Beloved] Benjamin called ſo, perhaps in Alluſion to his being the Beloved of his Father Jacob, as he is called little, Pſa. lxviii. 27.

Ib. by him] by the Temple, the peculiar Place of God's Preſence, where the Tribe of Benjamin was ſituate.

Ib. and dwell] the Lot of Benjamin being on both Sides of the Temple, compared to a Man's Shoulders with the Head between, covering the Body. Our Tranſlators by putting he ſeem to mean Benjamin ſhall dwell between; which appears inconſiſtent with dwelling by, and being covered, beſides making no good Senſe.

Ver. 14. Moons] in the different Lunations or Months of the Year.

15. By

15. By the chief Things of the ancient Mountains, by the precious ones of the lasting Hills,

16. As also by those of the Earth and what it is full of, and through the Favour of him who dwelt in the Bush; let it come on the Head of Joseph, and on the Crown of him who was separated from his Brothers.

17. He has Comeliness like the Firstling of his Cow, and his Horns are as those of an Unicorn, with them will he push the People together to the Limits of the Earth; they being the tens of thousands of Ephraim, and they the thousands of Manasseh.

18. Of Zebulun he likewise said; Be glad, O Zebulun, in thy going abroad; and thou Issachar, in thy staying at home.

19. They will invite the People to the Mountain, there will they offer righteous Sacrifices: for they will suck the Abundance of the Seas, and the hidden Things covered with the Sand.

20. And of Gad he said; Blessed is he who enlarges Gad: he dwells like a stout Lion, and tears the Arm, nay the Crown of the Head.

21. He also looks the first for himself, because he is covered there at the Part of the Law-giver, and comes with the Heads of the People, performs the Righteousness of the Lord, and his Rules with Israel.

22. Moreover of Dan he said, Dan will have the Intrepidity of a young Lion, that comes bounding down from Bashan.

23. As he did of Naphtali, O Naphtali, satisfied with Favour, and filled with the Blessing of the Lord, inherit thou the West and the South.

24. And of Asher he said: Asher will be blessed with Children, he will be acceptable to his Brothers, and dip his Foot in Oil.

25. Thy Shoes will be Iron and Brass, and thy Strength like thy Days.

26. There is none like the God of Jeshurun, who rides on the Heaven for thy Help, and in his Excellency on the Sky.

27. The eternal God is the Habitation, and the everlasting Arms are under: he will also drive away the Enemy from thy Presence, and say, Destroy.

28. Thus will Israel dwell securely alone, the Fountain of Jacob; on a Country of Corn and Wine: his Heaven too will drop Dew.

29. O Israel, thou art happy; who is like thee, a People saved by the Lord, the Shield of thy Help, and who is thy excellent Sword? So that thy Enemies will submit to thee, and thou wilt tread upon their high Places.

CHAP. XXXIV.

AFTERWARDS Moses went up from the Plains of Moab, to Mount Nebo at the Beginning of Pisgah, which is before Jericho; and the Lord shewed him the whole Country of Gilead, as far as Dan,

2. With all Naphtali, the Country of Ephraim and Manasseh, and all that of Judah, to the hindermost Sea,

3. As likewise the South and Plain of the Vale of Jericho, the City of Palm-trees, as far as Zoar.

4. And the Lord said to him, This is the Country of which I sware thus to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, I will give it to thy Offspring: I have let thee see it with thy Eyes, but thou shalt not pass thither.

5. Then Moses the Lord's Servant died there in the Country of Moab, according to the Saying of the Lord.

6. And he buried him in a Valley in that Country, over against Beth-peor; but no Man knows of his Grave to this Day.

7. Now Moses was in his hundred and twentieth Year when he died; his Eye was not dim, nor his Vigour gone away.

8. And the Israelites wept for him in the Plains of Moab thirty Days; then the Days of Weeping, of Mourning for Moses were ended.

9. However Joshua the Son of Nun was filled with the Spirit of Wisdom, for Moses had laid his Hands upon him: ſo the Iſraelites hearkened to him, doing as the Lord commanded Moſes.

10. And there no more roſe up ſuch a Prophet in Iſrael as Moſes, whom the Lord knew Face to Face;

11. In all the Signs and Miracles, which the Lord ſent him to do in the Country of Egypt, to Pharaoh, all his Servants, and his whole Country;

12. As well as with all the ſtrong Hand, and all the great Fear, which Moſes ſhewed in the Sight of all Iſrael.

Ver. 10. ſuch a Prophet] In Men. B. Iſrael's Reconciler of Scripture, are related ſeventy ſix Miracles of and concerning Moſes, againſt ſeventy four only of and for all the other Prophets.

Being arrived at the End of the Pentateuch, here may moſt properly be ſubjoined an Account of ſuch Things as the Scripture affords us the Day of, concerning the Iſraelites going from Egypt to Canaan, in the following Order:

Year	Mo.	Day
1	1	14	The firſt Paſſover kept, Exod. xii. 6, 28.
		15	The tenth Plague ſent, and Iſrael began to go from Egypt, Exod. xii. 29—37. Num. xxxiii. 3.
	2	15	Went into the Wilderneſs of Sin, Exod. xvi. 1.
	3	3	And that of Sinai, Exod. xix. 1.
		6	The ten Commandments given by God, Exod. xix. 11.
2	1	1	The Tabernacle ſet up, Chap. xl. 17.
		14	The ſecond Paſſover kept, Num. ix. 1, 5.
	2	1	The Iſraelites numbered, Num. i. 1, 18.
		20	Went from the Wilderneſs of Sinai, Ch. x. 11, 12.
40	5	1	Aaron died, Chap. xxxiii. 38.
	11	1	Moſes repeated the Law, Deut. i. 3.
41	1	10	The People paſſed through Jordan, Joſh. iv. 19.
		14	Kept the Paſſover, Chap. v. 10.
		16	Manna ceaſed, Ver. 11, 12.
			And of others as may be thus computed.
	12	19	The firſt Plague ſent on Egypt, Exod. vii. 20.
		26	The ſecond, Chap. vii. 25. & viii. 6.
		28	The third, Chap. viii. 10, 17.
		30	The fourth, Ver. 20, 23, 24.
1	1	3	The fifth, Chap. viii. 29. & ix. 1, 5, 6.
		5	The ſixth, Chap. ix. 7, 10.
		7	The ſeventh, Ver. 13, 18, 23.
		9	The eighth, Chap. ix. 29. & x. 4, 13.
		11	The ninth, Chap. x. 19, 22.
		14	The tenth Plague threatened, Chap. xi. 1, 4.
		21	Iſrael went through the Sea and the Egyptians were drowned in the Night, upon which the Day of it was kept ſolemn, as the laſt of unleavened Bread, Chap. xii. 16, 18. & xiii. 6.
		25	Came to Marah, Chap. xv. 22, 23. Num. xxxiii. 8.

Uſher in his Annals, An. Mun. 2513, and Bedford in his Scripture Chronology, p. 423. computing the firſt Plague, &c. one Day ſooner, by ſuppoſing the 7th was ſo, three Days before the 8th, ſeem neither concurrent with the Scripture, nor their own Reckoning: for firſt it may be obſerved, that Moſes uſed to go to Pharaoh, when not ſent for, in the Morning, Exod. vii. 15. & viii. 20. & ix. 13. and conſequently brought the Plagues at that Time of the Day, however the 7th of the Hail was early in the Morning, Chap. ix. 13, 18. which might very well do the Execution aſcribed to it, in an Hour or two, as may be obſerved by Hail-ſtones; beſides upon Pharaoh's ſending for Moſes and Aaron, Ver. 27. which he would doubtleſs ſoon do after ſuch a violent Devaſtation began, that Plague ceaſed when Moſes got out of the City, Ver. 29, 33. which muſt needs be the ſame Day; and not the next, as Uſher and Bedford ſay. Nay both theſe Authors count the 3d and 4th Plague, as likewiſe the 6th and 7th but two Days apart, though Moſes went to Pharaoh the Days after the 3d and 6th Plagues, and threatened him with another on the Morrow, Chap. viii. 20, 23. & ix. 13, 18. ſo that it is to be ſuppoſed the 3d and 6th Plagues were removed the ſame Days they came, with leſs Certainty or Probability than we have ſeen it to be of the 7th Plague, which they deny it to.

Uſher likewiſe, but not Bedford, does in my Opinion err in two more Calculations, which I would clear up, as the latter has not, and as the mere Authority of the former is ſo powerful. The firſt is his reckoning the 6th Plague, to be brought the next Day after the 5th: whereas the Cattle dying throughout the Country of Egypt, then the People ſending News of it to the King, and he afterwards ſending and having Word brought back concerning the Iſraelites Cattle, may well be allowed to take up more than one Day; beſides which the Plague was probably alſo removed before Pharaoh hardened his Heart that Time, Chap. ix. 6, 7. the 6th Plague too ſeems to be inflicted in the Morning, Ver. 8. compared with Chap. vii. 15. & viii. 20. The other that I mean is Uſher's counting the 9th Plague to be three Days after the 8th, for which there ſeems no Reaſon, but the Inſtitution of the Paſſover and taking the Lambs on the 10th Day: but what ſhould hinder that the 8th Plague might not be removed from the Egyptians the ſame Day, eſpecially as it is likely Moſes was with Pharaoh, and prayed for the Removal of it the Day or Evening before? On the other hand it appears unlikely there was a vacant Day, between the taking away the 8th and bringing the 9th Plague, ſince Moſes did not go to the King to threaten the 9th Plague on the Morrow, as he did the 5th that was three Days after the foregoing, Chap. ix. 1, 5.

I ſhall ſpare the uncertain fruitleſs Labour, of carrying the Computation into another Month: 1. by reaſon of the uncertain Lengths of the particular Months, of the new regulated Year, beginning from the firſt viſible new Moons, and the Years made up, no Body knows in what Manner, to agree with the Sun's Revolution, by intercalary Months or Days, which the Feaſts annexed to certain Seaſons of the Year made neceſſary; 2. becauſe the Writings of Moſes fix no Sabbath, that I remember, to any determinate Day of any Month, which might have been of great Help; 3. the general Want of other Circumſtances for ſuch a Purpoſe, may convince that the particular Days of ſeveral remarkable Things, were not deſigned to be conveyed to our Knowledge. And if the Days of the Iſraelitiſh Months are not to be known, much leſs are the Days of our Months when thoſe Things were done. 'And we cannot, ſays Prideaux in 'Connect. Pref. when we find the Day of any Jewiſh 'Month, mentioned either in the Scriptures or in Joſephus, 'reduce it exactly to its Time in the Julian Year, or 'there fix it any nearer, than within the Compaſs of a 'Month ſooner or later.'

This Book is perhaps the eaſieſt of all thoſe of the Old Teſt. according to the Length of it, to be tranſlated; notwithſtanding the peculiar Length of its Periods, and its being ſo much a Speech or Oration, both which in the Claſſics are particularly hard; but here the ſublime Compoſitions in Chap. xxxii. & xxxiii. are to be excepted.

NOTES upon the BOOK of JOSHUA.

CHAP. I.

NOW after the Death of his Servant Moſes, the Lord ſaid to Joſhua the Son of Nun, who had waited on him, as follows:

2. Moſes my Servant being dead, get ready now, paſs over this Jordan, with all this People, into the Country that I give to the Iſraelites;

3. Which is every Place there that the Soles of your Feet ſhall tread on, as I told him:

4. From the Wilderneſs, and that Lebanon, to the great River, that of Euphrates, all the Country of the Hittites, and to the great Sea at the ſetting of the Sun, ſhall be your Bounds.

5. No Man ſhall ſtand before thee all the Days of thy Life: I will be with thee, as I was with Moſes; I will not neglect thee, nor forſake thee.

6. Be courageous, and valiant: for thou ſhalt make this People poſſeſs the Country, which I ſware to their Forefathers that I would give them.

7. Only thou muſt be very courageous and valiant, in obſerving to do according to all the Law which my Servant Moſes commanded thee; turn not aſide from it, to the right Hand nor the left; that thou mayeſt have ſucceſs whitherſoever thou goeſt.

8. Let not this Book of the Law depart from thy Mouth, but meditate in it Day and Night; that thou mayeſt obſerve to do according to all that is written there: for then ſhalt thou make thy Way proſperous, and then have ſucceſs.

9. Do not I command thee? Be courageous, and valiant; be not afraid, nor daunted: for the Lord thy God will be with thee whitherſoever thou goeſt.

10. So Joſhua ordered the Officers of the People,

11. To go through the midſt of the Camp, and command them thus, Prepare Proviſion for your ſelves; for within three Days you muſt paſs over this Jordan, that you may go in to inherit the Country, which the Lord your God gives you to inherit.

12. Moreover to the Reubenites, Gadites, and the half Tribe of Manaſſeh, ſaid Joſhua as follows;

13. Remember the Matter which Moſes the Servant of the Lord commanded you; that the Lord your God having made you reſt, and given you this Country;

14. Your Wives, Children, and Cattle ſhould remain in it, which Moſes gave you on this ſide Jordan, but that all you, who are valiant Men, ſhould go on in military Order before your Brethren, and help them;

15. Till the Lord has made them reſt as well as you, and they have alſo inherited the Country which the Lord your God gives them: when you ſhall return to the Country of your Inheritance, which Moſes the Lord's Servant gave you on this ſide Jordan, at the riſing of the Sun, and inherit it.

16. And they made anſwer to Joſhua; We will do all that thou commandeſt us, and go whitherſoever thou ſendeſt us.

17. As we hearkened to Moſes in all Things, ſo we will to thee: only the Lord thy God be with thee, as he was with him.

18. Any Man who rebels againſt thy Command, and does not hearken to thy Words, in all that thou commandeſt him, ſhall be put to death: only be thou courageous, and valiant.

CHAP. II.

AND Joſhua the Son of Nun had ſent two Men from Shittim, for Spies ſecretly, with Orders, to go ſee the Country, in particular Jericho: accordingly they went, and entered into a Harlot's Houſe, whoſe Name was Rahab, where they lay.

Ver. 2. give to the Iſraelites] In the Arabick, as Simon notes, have promiſed to Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob.

Ver. 4. From] The Arabick Tranſlator, miſtaking מ for ב and joining the two Verſes together, has, as I ſaid to Moſes in the Wilderneſs.

Ver. 11. three Days] as was performed, Chap. iii. 2, 7, 17. ſo that it appears the Spies went away before this, Chap. ii. 1, 22.

Ver. 14. in military Order] as ſhewn on Exod. xiii. 18. or, according to the Engliſh Margin, by five in a Rank.

Ver. 1. had ſent] See Chap. i. 11. ſo both Poole and Patrick comment; Jun. and Trem. tranſlate, miſerat prius, had ſent before.

2. However

2. However it was told the King of Jericho thus, Behold there are Men of the Iſraelites come hither to Night, to ſearch the Country.

3. Upon this he ſent to Rahab, ordering her to bring out the Men who were come to her into her Houſe, becauſe they were come to ſearch all the Country.

4. But the Woman having taken them both, and hid them, ſaid thus; There came Men to me, but I did not know from whence;

5. And when the Gate was to be ſhut, it being dark, they went out, but I know not whither it was; purſue after them quickly, for you may overtake them.

6. Whereas ſhe had brought them up on the Roof, and concealed them in the Stalks of Flax, which were put in order for her there.

7. So the Men purſued after them in the Way to Jordan, as far as the Paſſages, and after they were gone out, the Gate was ſhut.

8. At length before thoſe lay down, ſhe went up to them on the Roof,

9. And ſaid to them; I am ſenſible that the Lord has given you the Country, that we are in dread of you, and that all the Inhabitants of it are quite diſcouraged by reaſon of you.

10. For we have been informed how the Lord dried up the Water of the Red Sea at your Preſence, when you came out of Egypt; and what you did to the two Kings of the Amorites, that were beyond Jordan, Sihon and Og, whom you deſtroyed.

11. And as ſoon as we heard, our Hearts fainted, ſo that no Man had Courage any more by reaſon of you: for the Lord your God is God both in Heaven above, and on Earth below.

12. Now therefore ſwear to me, I pray, by the Lord, ſince I have ſhewn you Kindneſs; that you will do the ſame to my Father's Family, and give me a certain Sign;

13. That you will let my Father, Mother, Brothers, and Siſters live, with all who belong to them, and deliver us from being put to death.

14. And the Men ſaid to her; We our ſelves will be put to death inſtead of you, if you do not tell this our Matter; and when the Lord has given us the Country, we will deal kindly and truly with thee.

15. Then ſhe let them down by a Cord through the Window: for her Houſe was at the Inſide of the Wall, where ſhe dwelt.

16. And ſhe ſaid to them; Go to the Mountain, that the Purſuers may not meet you, and hide your ſelves there three Days, till they are returned, after which you may go on your Way.

17. They ſaid to her further; That we may be blameleſs in this Oath of thine, which thou haſt made us ſwear;

18. Behold when we come into the Country, thou ſhalt tie this Line of ſcarlet Thread, which thou letteſt us down by, to the Window, and get thy Father, Mother, Brothers, and all thy Father's Family together at thy Houſe with thee:

19. And whoever goes abroad without the Doors of it, his Blood ſhall be chargeable on his own Head, and we will be quit; but as for every one who is with thee there, his Blood ſhall be chargeable on our Heads, if there is a Hand upon him.

20. Nevertheleſs if thou telleſt this Matter of ours, we will be quit of thy Oath, which thou haſt made us ſwear.

21. Let it be, ſaid ſhe, according to your Words; and ſent them away: who being gone, ſhe tied the ſcarlet Line to the Window.

22. And they went on, and got to the Mountain, where they ſtaid three Days, till the Purſuers were gone back; who ſought all along the Way, but could not find them.

23. Next the two Men returned, going down from the Mountain, and paſſing on, till they came to Joſhua the Son of Nun; to whom they rehearſed all which they had met with.

Ver. 4. having] as ſhe had heard a Rumour of it before the Officers came, according to Poole and Patrick. It is not indeed to be thought ſhe could take and hide the Spies, between the King's Meſſengers ſpeaking to her, and her anſwering them, as in the com. Tranſ. ſee Ver. 6.

Ver. 6. had brought] Patrick comments on the com. Tranſ. with ſo little Attention as to quote it, ſhe brought, and then writes, 'or rather, ſhe had brought.'

Ver. 8. before] The Biſhops Tranſ. has yer ever, after the Geneva with before, and Tyndal firſt or ever, as our preſ. Bible ſometimes; as though theirs, and by many other Inſtances, was purpoſely obſolete and uncouth.

Ver. 10. at your Preſence] the ſame as Chap. iv. 7, 23.

Ver. 15. down] they being at the Top of the Houſe, Ver. 6, 8. above or higher than the Wall.

Ib. at] which the Heb. Prepoſition denotes, as well as upon, and for that has another more proper; and if her Houſe was upon the Wall, how did the Wall fall down, and her Houſe ſtand, Chap. vi. 20, 22?

Ib. Inſide of the Wall] Heb. Wall of the Wall, which ſeems to mean thus.

Ver. 18. thou ſhalt tie this Line of ſcarlet Thread] Vulg. Lat. we will be blameleſs——if that ſcarlet Cord be a Sign; but it being contrary to Senſe, ſome few Copies had, be not a Sign: though both are wrong as to the Point of Exculpation, and adding Sign.

Ib. letteſt] or art about to let; according as Poole expounds it, who obſerves the Improbability of their ſpeaking this after they were let down.

Ib. get] to let them down by the ſame Line.

24. Moreover

24. Moreover they told him, that the Lord had delivered the whole Country into their Power, and all the Inhabitants of it were even wholly diſcouraged by reaſon of them.

CHAP. III.

SO Joſhua roſe up early in the Morning, and marching with all the Iſraelites from Shittim, came to Jordan, where they lodged before they paſſed over.

2. And at the Term of three Days, the Officers going through the middle of the Camp,

3. Commanded the People thus; When you ſee the Prieſts, the Levites carry the Ark of the Covenant of the Lord your God, do you march out of your Place, and go after it.

4. But let there be the Diſtance of about two thouſand Cubits by Meaſure, between you and that: come not near it, that you may know what Way you muſt go, ſince you have never gone there before.

5. Beſides Joſhua had ſaid to the People, Conſecrate your ſelves; for to Morrow the Lord will do Wonders among you.

6. He alſo ordered the Prieſts, to take up the Ark of the Covenant, and go on before the People; which they did.

7. And the Lord ſaid to him; This Day I will begin to magnify thee in the Sight of all Iſrael; by which they ſhall know, that I will be with thee, as I was with Moſes.

8. Command the Prieſts who carry the Ark of the Covenant, that when they come to the Brink of the Water of Jordan, they ſhould ſtand ſtill there.

9. Joſhua then bidding the Iſraelites come thither, that they might hear the Words of the Lord their God;

10. By this ſhall you know, ſaid he, that the living God is among you, and will drive quite away the Canaanites, Hittites, Hivites, Perizzites, Girgaſhites, Amorites, and Jebuſites from your Preſence:

11. Behold the Ark of the Covenant of the Lord of the whole Earth, is about to paſs over Jordan before you;

12. Now therefore take you twelve Men out of the Tribes of Iſrael, one of each Tribe:

13. And when the Soles of the Prieſts Feet, who carry the Ark of the Sovereign Lord of the whole Earth, reſt in the Water of Jordan, it ſhall be parted from the Water that comes down from above, which ſhall ſtand on a Heap.

14. So when the People had marched from their Tents, to paſs over Jordan, and the Prieſts, who carried the Ark of the Covenant before them,

15. Were come thither, and their Feet were dipt in the Edge of the Water (Jordan being full over all its Banks the whole Time of Harveſt)

16. The Water which came down from above ſtood ſtill, riſing up on a Heap very far, to the City of Adam that is at the Side of Zarethan, and that which went down to the Sea of the Plain, the Salt Sea, was quite parted off; ſo that the People paſſed through againſt Jericho.

17. And the Prieſts who carried the Ark of the Lord's Covenant, ſtood firm in the middle of Jordan, on dry Ground, while all Iſrael paſſed through on the ſame, till every one had done.

CHAP. IV.

AND when they had finiſhed doing it, the Lord ſaid thus to Joſhua;

2. Take you the twelve Men of the People, one out of each Tribe;

Ver. 2. at the Term] As theſe three Days were doubtleſs the ſame mentioned Chap. i. 11. or elſe would be inſignificant; ſee the like, 2 Kings xviii. 10.

Ib. middle] ſo the Hebrew.

Ver. 5. had ſaid] the Day before, Ver. 2. which to Morrow here mentioned ſhews.

Ver. 6. Covenant] The Biſhops have covenante the firſt Time, teſtamente the laſt.

Ver. 11. over Jordan] for what did it paſs over, into Jordan?

Ver. 15. Edge] brim, an Icelandiſh Word, ſignifying the upper Edge of a Thing, as of a Cup or Veſſel, and of a Hat becauſe turned up; and brink, a Daniſh Word, in the Geneva Verſ. was ſomething better.

Ver. 16. Adam] The Syriack Tranſlator has miſtaken the Letter ד d for ר r, as the Arabick one has ם m for the Pronoun them.

Ib. againſt Jericho] Vulgate, againſt Jordan, with little or no Senſe.

Ver. 17. Jordan] Which Maundrell found with a ſmall Deſcent along about a Furlong from the Water, and ſo far he ſuppoſed it might overflow; but the River it ſelf was two Yards below the Brink of its proper Channel, hid with Buſhes and Trees, ſuch as Tamariſk, Willows, Oleanders, &c. and its Breadth, he ſays, might be about twenty Yards over, and in Depth far exceeded his Height, the Stream being turbid, and too rapid to be ſwum againſt, Journey from Aleppo to Jeruſalem, p. 80, 81, 82. ſo that there was Need of helping the Iſraelites through with a Miracle, eſpecially as it then overflowed, and may be ſuppoſed, with our Author, to have loſt its ancient Greatneſs, running ſo far below the Bank: of which I fancy however, that the Channel may be only worn down by ſo long and ſwift a Current, and probably may therefore overflow but little if at all now, though it may increaſe as much as then; even as he found it, it was a conſiderable River, and not fordable; ſee of its Riſe on Pſa. lxviii. 15.

3. And command them, that they ſhould take them up twelve Stones from hence, out of the middle of Jordan, juſt where the Prieſts Feet ſtood firm, which they muſt carry along with them, and put at the Place where they lodge to Night.

4. Accordingly Joſhua called the twelve Men whom he had prepared, one out of each Tribe of the Iſraelites,

5. And ſaid to them; Go on before the Ark of the Lord your God at the middle of Jordan, having taken you up each Man a Stone upon his Shoulder, according to the Number of the Tribes of the Iſraelites:

6. That this may be a Sign among you, when your Children aſk hereafter, what you have theſe Stones for?

7. To whom you ſhall tell, how the Water of Jordan was parted off at the Preſence of the Ark of the Lord's Covenant, being while it paſſed through Jordan, and that theſe Stones are for a Memorial to the Iſraelites for ever.

8. And the Iſraelites did ſo as Joſhua commanded, taking up twelve Stones out of the middle of Jordan, according as the Lord ſpoke to him, after the Number of their Tribes, and carried them along with them to their Lodging-place, and put them there.

9. Joſhua likewiſe ſet up twelve Stones in the middle of Jordan, juſt where the Prieſts Feet who carried the Ark of the Covenant ſtood, which are there to this Day:

10. Thoſe Prieſts ſtanding in the middle of Jordan, till every Thing was finiſhed, which the Lord commanded Joſhua to ſpeak to the People, according to all that Moſes had ordered him; and the People paſſed through ſpeedily.

11. This when they had all done, the Ark of the Lord and the Prieſts too paſſed through in their Sight:

12. As the Reubenites, Gadites, and the half Tribe of Manaſſeh, alſo did in military Order before the Iſraelites, as Moſes ſaid to them;

13. About forty thouſand made ready for War, paſſing on before the Lord to fight, into the Plains of Jericho.

14. That Day the Lord magnified Joſhua in the Sight of all Iſrael, ſo that they ſtood in awe of him, as they had done of Moſes, all the Days of his Life.

15. And upon the Lord's ordering him,

16. To bid the Prieſts, who carried the Ark of the Teſtimony, go up out of Jordan;

17. Which Joſhua accordingly bade them do;

18. The Prieſts who carried the Ark of the Lord's Covenant were no ſooner come up out of the middle of Jordan, the Soles of their Feet being got on the dry Ground, but the Water of Jordan returned to its Place, and ran over all its Banks as before.

19. And the People went up from thence on the tenth of the firſt Month, and encamped at Gilgal, in the eaſt Border of Jericho.

20. Where Joſhua having ſet up thoſe twelve Stones which they had taken out of Jordan,

21. Said thus to the Iſraelites; When your Children hereafter aſk their Fathers, what thoſe Stones are for?

22. You ſhall inform them, that Iſrael paſſed through this Jordan on dry Ground.

23. For the Lord your God dried up the Water of it at your Preſence, till you were got through, as he did the Red Sea at ours, till we were;

24. In order to let all the People of the Earth know, that the Hand of the Lord is ſtrong, for you to fear the Lord your God continually.

CHAP. V.

AND when all the Kings of the Amorites who were on this ſide Jordan weſtward, with all thoſe of the Canaanites, who were by the Sea, heard how the Lord had dried up the Water of Jordan at the Preſence of the Iſraelites, till we were paſſed through; their Hearts fainted, and there was no Courage in them any more by reaſon of us.

2. At the ſame Time the Lord ordered Joſhua to make him ſharp Knives, and circumciſe the Iſraelites again the ſecond time;

3. Which he did at the Hill of the Foreſkins.

4. The Reaſon of it too was this: all the Males of the People that came out of Egypt, who were Warriors, died in the Wilderneſs, in the Way as they came along from thence;

Ver. 3. put] as Ver. 8.

Ver. 5. Go on] For the People were paſſed over already, Ver. 1. & Chap. iii. 17. only thoſe who attended the Ark were in the middle of Jordan.

Ib. at the middle] whither they were come already, and were now to go from thence.

Ver. 6. what] See Exod. xii. 26.

Ver. 12. military] ſo Chap. i. 14.

Ver. 19. Jericho] that being two Hours Travel from Jordan, Maundrell.

Ver. 1. on this ſide] the ſame as in Ch. ix. 1. & xii. 7.

Ver. 2. circumciſe again] Biſh. goe to agayne, and circumciſe.

9. And though all thoſe People were circumciſed, yet they had circumciſed none of them who were born in the Wilderneſs, in their Journey out of Egypt.

6. For the Iſraelites walked forty Years in the Wilderneſs, till all the People that came out of Egypt, who were Warriors, were conſumed, becauſe they did not hearken to what the Lord ſaid; to whom he ſware that he would not ſhew them the Country, which he had ſworn to their Forefathers that he would give us, a Country flowing with Milk and Honey.

7. And their Sons whom he had raiſed up in their room Joſhua circumciſed: for they were uncircumciſed, becauſe they did not do it in the Way.

8. So when the circumciſing of all the People was finiſhed, they ſtaid where they were in the Camp, till they became well.

9. And the Lord ſaid to Joſhua, To Day I have rolled off the Reproach of Egypt from you; therefore the Name of that Place is called Gilgal to this Time.

10. Now while the Iſraelites encamped there in the Plains of Jericho, they kept the Paſſover on the fourteenth Day of the Month, in the Evening.

11. And the very next Day after the Paſſover they eat of the Proviſion of the Country, unleavened Cakes, and parched Corn.

12. The Manna alſo ceaſed the next Day, when they had eat that Proviſion, and the Iſraelites had it no more, but did eat of the Crop of the Country of Canaan the ſame Year.

13. Moreover as Joſhua looked up, while he was by Jericho, he ſaw plainly a Man ſtanding over againſt him, with his Sword drawn out in his Hand; to whom he went, and aſked, Doſt thou belong to us, or our Enemies?

14. To neither, anſwered he, for I am come now a Captain of the Lord's Army; then Joſhua falling on his Face to the Ground, reverenced, and ſaid to him, What has my Lord to ſpeak to his Servant?

15. Who gave him this Reply, Pull off thy Shoe from thy Foot, for the Place which thou ſtandeſt upon is holy; and Joſhua did ſo.

CHAP. VI.

NOW Jericho was ſhut up cloſe by reaſon of the Iſraelites; none came out, nor went in.

2. And the Lord ſaid to Joſhua; See, I have delivered Jericho into thy Power, with the King of it, and the valiant Men.

3. And all you Warriors ſhall go round about the City once a Day, ſix Days:

4. With ſeven Prieſts blowing ſo many Trumpets of Rams Horns, which they ſhall carry before the Ark: and on the ſeventh Day you ſhall go round it ſeven times.

5. Then at a long Sound made with the Rams-horn Trumpets, and all the People's ſhouting aloud when they hear it, the Wall of the City ſhall fall directly down, ſo that each of them may go up ſtraightforward.

6. Upon this Joſhua the Son of Nun called the Prieſts, and bade them carry on the Ark of the Covenant, and ſeven others ſo many Trumpets of Rams Horns before the Lord's Ark.

7. He likewiſe ſaid to the People, Paſs on before the Ark of the Lord, you who are armed, and go round the City.

8. And when Joſhua had ſpoken to the People, the ſeven Prieſts went on blowing thoſe Trumpets which they carried before the Lord, the Ark of whoſe Covenant followed them.

9. Before whom went thoſe who were armed, and the Rear-guard followed the Ark.

10. Beſides Joſhua ordered the People as follows, You ſhall not ſhout, nor let your Voice be heard, nay not let a Word come out of your Mouth, till the Day I bid you ſhout, when you ſhall.

Ver. 5. born] for as Circumciſing was confined to the 8th Day, and Travelling dangerous or hurtful in it, and as divers Inſtances of the former in ſuch a great Multitude muſt have been at the Time of the latter, it ſeems not to have been then required on that Account.

Ver. 9. Reproach of Egypt] The Egyptians, who might receive Circumciſion from Joſeph, or as on Gen. xvii. 26. ſeems to have counted it a Reproach to be uncircumciſed.

Ver. 10. Paſſover] See on Num. ix. 2.

Ver. 4. Rams Horns] The Author of the Univerſal Hiſtory aſſures us he has ſeen ſuch, uſed by Shepherds and Swineherds in the ſouth Parts of Germany, Book i. 7. 3.

Ver. 7. ſaid] This Word having alſo a Marginal Reading, the Author of the State of the printed Heb. Text takes the Opportunity to ridicule Leuſden, who was a Favourer of the Hebrew Scripture, for his ſaying there might be intended in it A DOUBLE LITERAL SENSE: Had he liv'd in theſe days, quoth he (i. e. wherein the Holy Bible is ſo mangled and degraded by ſuch as himſelf) he had been a celebrated Maker out of many Meanings, State &c. p. 438. but then he would have exceeded even this great Author, who does not make out this one, that two Meanings are many. For why ſhould the Vindicators of our ſacred Writings be overborn with an Air of Deriſion, as the Author of State &c. alſo deals with another in Introd. p. 9, 10. and no Return be made to it? And will he deny, with all his Boldneſs, that Hoſ. xi. 1. has a double literal Senſe? Were not Iſrael and Jeſus both literally called out of Egypt, as well as Sons of God, and loved by him, according to Exod. iv. 22, 23. & Matt. ii. 15?

11. So the Ark of the Lord went round about the City once; then they came into the Camp, and lodged there.

12. Joſhua next roſe early in the Morning, and the Prieſts carried the Ark of the Lord along;

13. With the other ſeven going on ſtill, and blowing the ſeven Trumpets of Rams Horns, which they carried before it, thoſe who were armed going before them, and the Rear-guard after the Lord's Ark.

14. Thus they went round the City once the ſecond Day, and returned to the Camp, doing ſo ſix Days.

15. Moreover on the ſeventh, getting up at Break of Day, they went round it in this Manner ſeven times, which they did only that Day.

16. And at the ſeventh time, when the Prieſts were to blow the Trumpets long, Joſhua ſaid to the People; Shout, for the Lord has given you the City;

17. Which is accurſed to him, with all that is in it: only Rahab the Harlot ſhall live, and all who are in the Houſe with her, becauſe ſhe hid the Meſſengers whom we ſent.

18. However do you take heed of what is accurſed, leſt when you take any of it, you ſhould make the Camp of Iſrael accurſed, and trouble it.

19. But all the Silver and Gold, with the Things of Braſs and Iron, being conſecrated for the Lord, ſhall be brought to his Treaſure.

20. And as ſoon as the People ſhouted aloud, at their hearing the Sound of the Trumpets which were blown, the Wall fell directly down; ſo that they went up each of them ſtraightforward, into the City, and took it;

21. Deſtroying all who were there, Men and Women, young and old, Oxen, Sheep and Aſſes, with the Edge of the Sword.

22. In the mean time Joſhua bade the two young Men who ſpied the Country, go into the Harlot's Houſe, and bring out the Woman from thence, with all whom ſhe had, as they had ſworn to her.

23. They accordingly went in, and brought out Rahab, her Father, Mother, Brethren, and all whom ſhe had, with all her Families and put them without the Camp of Iſrael.

24. Whereas they burnt the City with Fire, and all that was in it: only they put the Silver and Gold, with the Things of Braſs and Iron, to the Treaſure of the Lord's Houſe.

25. And Joſhua let Rahab the Harlot live, her Father's Family, and all whom ſhe had, and ſhe dwells among Iſrael to this Day; becauſe ſhe hid the Meſſengers whom he ſent to ſpy Jericho.

26. At that Time too Joſhua made the following Oath, Let the Man be curſed before the Lord, who ſhall get ready, and build this City of Jericho; let him lay its Foundation with the Loſs of his eldeſt Son, and ſet up the Gates of it with that of his youngeſt.

27. Thus the Lord was with Joſhua, and his Fame was in all the Country.

CHAP. VII.

THE Iſraelites however committed a Fault in that which was accurſed: for Achan the Son of Carmi, the Son of Zabdi, the Son of Zerah, of the Tribe of Judah, took ſome of it; ſo that the Lord was angry with them.

2. And Joſhua ſending Men from Jericho to Ai, which was by Beth-aven, on the eaſt Side of Beth-el, with Orders to go up and ſpy the Country; when they had been up, and ſpied Ai,

3. They ſaid to him at their Return, Let about two or three thouſand Men go up, and conquer Ai; and do not make all the People labour up thither, for they are but few.

4. So there went up thither about three thouſand of them, but they fled before the Men of Ai;

6. Joſhua alſo tore his Cloaths, and fell to the Ground on his Face before the Ark of the Lord, together with the Elders of Iſrael, where they were till the Evening, with Earth put upon their Heads.

7. And he ſaid; Alas, Lord God, why didſt thou make this People paſs on through Jordan, to deliver us into the Power of the Amorites, for them to deſtroy us? And oh that we had been contented, and dwelt on the other Side of it!

8. O Lord, what ſhall I ſay, after Iſrael have turned back before their Enemies?

9. For the Canaanites, and all the Inhabitants of the Country will hear of it, and compaſſing us about, cut off our Name from the Earth: what then wilt thou do for thy own great Name?

10. Riſe up, ſaid the Lord to him; what is this for, that thou art fallen on thy Face?

11. Iſrael has ſinned, and they have likewiſe tranſgreſſed my Covenant which I commanded them: for they have even taken of what was accurſed, nay alſo ſtolen, and lyed too, and beſides have put it among their own Things.

12. And becauſe they are become accurſed, they cannot ſtand before their Enemies, but turn the Back before them; nor will I be with you any more, if ye do not deſtroy what is accurſed from among you.

13. Get ready, ſanctify the People, ſaying; Sanctify your ſelves againſt to Morrow, for thus ſays the Lord God of Iſrael, There is that which is accurſed among thee, Iſrael, thou canſt not ſtand before thy Enemies, till you take it away from among you.

14. Come therefore in the Morning by your Tribes, and let the Tribe that the Lord takes come by Families, the Family that he takes by Houſholds, and the Houſhold that he takes Man by Man.

15. And he who is taken with that which is accurſed ſhall be burnt with Fire, and all that he has; becauſe he has tranſgreſſed the Lord's Covenant, and done Vileneſs in Iſrael.

16. Then Joſhua riſing early in the Morning, brought Iſrael by their Tribes, and the Tribe of Judah was taken;

17. Who being brought, he took the Family of the Zarhites; and upon bringing that Man by Man, Zabdi was taken;

18. The Men of whoſe Houſhold were brought ſingle, and there was taken Achan the Son of Carmi, the Son of Zabdi, the Son of Zerah, of the Tribe of Judah.

19. To whom Joſhua ſaid, My Son, render Glory, I pray, to the Lord God of Iſrael, making confeſſion to him; and tell me, I beſeech thee, what thou haſt done, do not conceal it from me.

20. And he made him anſwer; Indeed I have ſinned againſt the Lord God of Iſrael, and done after this manner;

21. Seeing among the Spoil a good Babylonian Cloak, two hundred Shekels of Silver, and a Wedge of Gold whoſe Weight was fifty Shekels, which I deſired, I took them; and behold they are hid in the Ground within my Tent, the Silver being under the reſt.

22. At this Joſhua ſent Meſſengers, who ran to the Tent, and they were hid there indeed, with the Silver undermoſt.

23. Which they took out thence, and brought to Joſhua and all the Iſraelites; who ſpread them out before the Lord.

24. Next taking Achan the Deſcendant of Zerah, with the Silver, Cloak, and Wedge of Gold, as alſo his Sons, Daughters, Oxen, Aſſes, Sheep, Tent, and all that was his, they had them up to the Vale of Achor:

25. Joſhua ſaying, Why didſt thou trouble us? The Lord will trouble thee this Day. And all Iſrael ſtoned him and them with Stones, and after that burnt them in a Fire.

CHAP. VIII.

AFTER this the Lord ſaid to Joſhua; Be not afraid, nor daunted; taking all the People of War with thee, get ready, go up to Ai; ſee, I deliver the King of it into thy Power, with his People, City and Country.

2. And thou ſhalt do to Ai and the King of it, as thou didſt to Jericho and its King; only you ſhall take the Spoil, and Cattle of it for your Plunder: put thee ſome to lie in wait againſt the City behind it.

3. Accordingly he, and they, got ready to go up thither; he having choſen out thirty thouſand valiant Men, whom he ſent away by Night,

4. With the following Orders; See that you lie in wait againſt the City behind it, not very far off; and be all of you prepared.

5. And I will approach it with all the reſt; and when they come out to meet us as at firſt, we will flee before them.

6. Then let them follow us, till we have drawn them away from the City: for they will think when we flee before them, that we do it as at firſt.

7. Upon this do you riſe up from the Ambuſcade, and ſeize the City: for the Lord your God will deliver it into your Power.

8. Which as ſoon as you have taken, you ſhall ſet it on fire; ſee I bid you do according to the Word of the Lord.

9. They being thus ſent by Joſhua, went to lie in wait, and abode between Beth-el and Ai, on the weſt Side of the latter. And he lodging that Night among the People,

10. Roſe early in the Morning, and when he had muſtered them, went up before them with the Elders of Iſrael towards Ai.

11. So all the People of War who were with him going up, till they came nigh before the City, encamped on the north Side of it, there being a Valley betwixt them and that.

12. And he taking about five thouſand Men put them to lie in wait between Beth-el and Ai, on the weſt Side of the City.

13. The People being placed, as well the farther Part of them there, as the whole Camp which was on the north Side of the City; Joſhua went that Night into the middle of the Vale.

14. This the King of Ai ſeeing, he and all his People, the Men of the City, got up early in haſte, and came out to meet Iſrael in Battle, at a ſet Time before the Plain; not knowing that there was an Ambuſcade againſt him behind the City.

15. Now as Joſhua and all Iſrael were beat before them, and fled the way to the Wilderneſs;

16. All the People who were in the City were called to purſue after them: by doing which they were drawn away from the City.

17. Nor was there a Man remained in Ai or Beth-el, who did not come out after Iſrael; leaving the City open, while they purſued after them.

Ver. 11. People of War] What did our Tranſlators add in even the people for?

Ver. 12. five thouſand] We are left to judge what theſe were ſent for, and where placed. Patrick ſays, it is likely they were ſent to intercept all thoſe that might think to ſave themſelves, by flying thro' By-ways, which they were to guard; and Munſter writes, Inſidiæ iſtæ aliæ fuerunt a prioribus, atque in alio loco urbi propinquiori poſitæ, this Ambuſcade was different from the former, and put in another Place nearer the City. Whereas Poole labours under too great Difficulties, to ſupport the Scheme of 30000 being the whole Army that went againſt Ai, and theſe 5000 a Detachment from them: for he expounds them in Ver. 3, 4. to be the 5000, ſo contrary to the plain Words of the Text; and all the People's going up againſt Ai, Ver. 3. to be only conſidering and concluding about it; and that all the People who Joſhua ſays were with him, Ver. 5. were thoſe that ſhould be with him, for at preſent he ſent them away, but the next Morning followed them; but yet owns on Ver. 9. that Joſhua lodged that Night among the main Body of the 30000, though alſo on Ver. 4. he interprets the People in Ver. 5. to be the 30000; laſtly, notwithſtanding on Ver. 4. he counts the 5000 a Part of the 30000, on the ſame Verſe, as well as on Ver. 11. he computes 30000 pitched on the north Side of Ai.

Ver. 13. the farther Part] as the Heb. is, not liers in wait; for which ſee Lewis de Dieu's Animad.

Ib. Joſhua went] with his Army, to encourage and provoke the Enemy, to come down againſt them with Advantage; that their fleeing back might ſeem real, not feigned; in order to be purſued, and ſo to draw the other from the City.

Ver. 16. in the City] is the textual Reading, in Ai marginal.

Ver. 17. Beth-el] whoſe Inhabitants may be ſuppoſed to have been gone for Aſſiſtance to Ai, before they who lay in wait went between thoſe Places, Ver. 9, 12.

18. The Lord then ordered Joſhua to ſtretch out his Hand, with the Spear that was in it, towards Ai, for he would deliver it up to him; which he had no ſooner done,

19. But thoſe who lay in wait roſe up ſpeedily out of their Place, and running, got into the City, and took it, and quickly ſet it on fire.

20. So that when the Men of Ai looked behind them, and ſaw plainly the Smoak of it going up to Heaven, they had not Power to flee one Way nor another; ſince the People whom they had been purſuing towards the Wilderneſs turned againſt them.

21. For as ſoon as Joſhua and all Iſrael ſaw that they who lay in wait had taken the City, and that the Smoak of it went up, they turned back, and ſmote the Men of Ai.

22. And the other coming out of the City to meet them, they were in the midſt of Iſrael, ſome being on this Side, and ſome on that: who ſmote them till there was none of them left that remained, or eſcaped.

23. The King of Ai alſo they took alive, and brought him to Joſhua.

24. When Iſrael too had made an end of killing all the Inhabitants of Ai in the Field, at the Wilderneſs where they purſued them, and all of them were fallen by the Sword, till they were conſumed; they all returned thither, and put thoſe to the Sword.

25. And all who fell that Day, both Men and Women, were twelve thouſand, being all the People of Ai.

26. For Joſhua did not draw back his Hand, which he ſtretched out with the Spear, till he had deſtroyed all the Inhabitants of Ai.

27. Only Iſrael took the Cattle, and Spoil of the City for their Plunder; according to what the Lord commanded Joſhua.

28. Thus Joſhua burnt Ai, making it a perpetual deſolate Heap to this Day.

29. And he hanged the King of it on a Tree, till the Time of Evening; and as the Sun was ſetting he ordered his Corpſe to be taken down from thence, and thrown at the Entrance of the Gate of the City, with a great Heap of Stones made up on it, as to this Day.

30. Moreover he built an Altar to the Lord God of Iſrael on Mount Ebal,

31. With whole Stones upon which no Iron had been uſed, according as Moſes the Servant of the Lord commanded the Iſraelites, as it is written in the Book of his Law; and they offered up Burnt-offerings to the Lord upon it, and ſacrificed Peace-offerings.

32. He further wrote there upon the Stones a Copy of the Law of Moſes, which he writ in the Preſence of the Iſraelites.

33. And all Iſrael, their Elders, Officers, and their Judges ſtanding on both Sides of the Ark of the Lord's Covenant, before the Prieſts, the Levites who carried it, as well the Strangers as thoſe that were born among them, half of them over againſt the Mount of Gerizzim, and the other half over againſt that of Ebal, as Moſes the Servant of the Lord commanded the People of Iſrael to be bleſſed at firſt;

34. He afterwards read all the Words of the Law, the Bleſſings and Curſes, entirely as it was written in the Book of it.

35. There was Nothing of all that Moſes ordered, which Joſhua did not read before all the Congregation of Iſrael, the Women, Children, and the Strangers who were converſant among them.

3. However when the Inhabitants of Gibeon heard what Joſhua had done to Jericho, and Ai;

4. They acted craftily, for they went and made themſelves as Ambaſſadors, taking old Sacks on their Aſſes, old Wine-bottles that were broke, and bound up,

6. Going thus to Joſhua, to the Camp at Gilgal, they ſaid to him, and the Men of Iſrael, We are come from a Country far off; and now make a Treaty with us.

7. Whereas the latter anſwered the Hivites, How can we do that, when perhaps you dwell among us?

8. But they ſaid to Joſhua, We are thy Servants. And at his aſking them who they were? And from whence they came?

9. They replied to him; Thy Servants are come from a Country very far off, for the Name of the Lord thy God; becauſe we heard his Fame, and all which he did in Egypt,

10. As well as all that he has done to the two Kings of the Amorites, who were beyond Jordan, Sihon King of Heſhbon, and Og King of Baſhan, who was at Aſhtaroth.

11. Therefore our Elders, with all the Inhabitants of our Country, bade us take Proviſion with us for the Journey, and come to meet you, and ſay to you, We are your Servants, and now make a Treaty with us.

12. This Bread of ours we took for Proviſion warm out of our Houſes, on the Day we came forth to come to you; yet now behold it is dry and mouldy:

13. And lo theſe Wine-bottles are broke, which we filled new; nay our very Garments and Shoes are worn out, by reaſon of the very great Journey.

14. So the Men taking ſome of their Proviſion without aſking the Lord's Conſent;

15. Joſhua made Peace, and a Treaty with them to let them live, and the Princes of the Aſſembly ſwore to them.

16. Three Days after which they heard that they were their Neighbours, dwelling among them.

17. For as the Iſraelites marched on, they came to their Cities on the third Day, which were Gibeon, Chephirah, Beeroth and Kirjath-jearim.

18. Yet they did not kill them, becauſe their Princes had ſworn to them by the Lord God of Iſrael; but the whole Aſſembly murmured at the Princes.

19. Who all ſaid to them; Since we have ſworn to them by the Lord God of Iſrael, now we muſt not meddle with them.

20. This we will do to them, and let them live, as we promiſed them; that there may not be Wrath upon us, for the Oath which we have ſworn to them:

21. They ſhall cut Wood, ſaid they, and draw Water for all the Aſſembly.

22. Accordingly Joſhua called them, and ſaid thus to them; Why did you deceive us, by ſaying you were very far off from us, when you dwell among us?

23. Now therefore you are curſed, and none of you ſhall fail of being Servants, cutting Wood and drawing Water for the Houſe of my God.

24. Their Anſwer to him was thus; Becauſe it was fully told thy Servants, what the Lord thy God commanded his Servant Moſes, that he ſhould give you all the Country, and deſtroy all the Inhabitants of it out of your Sight; therefore we were very much afraid of our Lives by reaſon of you, and did this Thing.

25. And now behold we are in thy Power; do as thou pleaſeſt, and approveſt of, to do to us.

26. Thus having delivered them out of the Iſraelites Power, that they might not ſlay them;

27. Joſhua made them that Day Cutters of Wood, and Drawers of Water for the Aſſembly, and for the Altar of the Lord, at the Place that he ſhould chooſe, which they are to this Time.

CHAP. X.

BUT when Adoni-zedek King of Jeruſalem heard that Joſhua had taken Ai, and deſtroyed it, doing the ſame to that and its King, as he had done to Jericho and its King, and that the Inhabitants of Gibeon had made peace with Iſrael, and were among them;

2. He and his were exceedingly afraid, becauſe Gibeon was a great City, like one of the royal Cities, and becauſe it was greater than Ai, and the Men of it valiant in general.

3. Therefore he ſent to Hoham King of Hebron, Piram King of Jarmuth, Japhia King of Lachiſh, and Debir King of Eglon;

4. That thoſe ſhould come up to him, and help him, that they might ſmite Gibeon, becauſe it had made peace with Joſhua and the Iſraelites.

5. So the five Kings of the Amorites abovementioned came together, and going up with all their Armies, both encamped, and fought againſt Gibeon.

6. Where-

6. Whereupon the Men of Gibeon ſent Word to Joſhua, to the Camp at Gilgal, Do not let thy Hand be negligent towards thy Servants; come up to us ſpeedily, ſave us, and help us: for all the Kings of the Amorites, who dwell on the Mountains, are gathered together againſt us.

7. Accordingly Joſhua went up from Gilgal, with all the People of War, and valiant Men.

8. The Lord ſaying to him, Do not fear them: for I deliver them into thy Power; no Man of them ſhall ſtand in thy Sight.

9. Moreover going up from thence all Night, he came upon them ſuddenly.

10. And the Lord routed them before Iſrael, who not only ſlew them with a great Slaughter at Gibeon, but purſued them in the Way that went up to Beth-horon, and ſlew them even to Azekah and Makkedah.

11. Beſides as they were running away from the Preſence of Iſrael, down to Beth-horon, the Lord threw great Hailſtones upon them from Heaven as far as Azekah; by which more of them died, than the Iſraelites killed with the Sword.

12. Then Joſhua ſaid to the Lord, in the Sight of the Iſraelites, on the Day that he delivered up the Amorites before them, Let the Sun ſtand ſtill againſt Gibeon, and the Moon againſt the Vale of Aijalon.

13. This they both did, till the People were revenged on their Enemies; is it not written in the Book of the Upright? Thus the Sun ſtaid in the middle of the Sky, and did not haſten to go down about a whole Day.

14. Inſomuch that there has not been ſuch

Ver. 10. who] for God's Work, as Poole obſerves, is deſcribed Ver. 11.

Ver. 12. Let] The Heb. Word is either imperative or infinitive; according to the latter it might be rendered, Joſhua ſpoke to the Lord—for the Sun to ſtand ſtill: for both by this and the 14th Verſe it appears he ſpoke it to the Lord.

Ib. ſtand ſtill] or abide.

Ib. againſt] to wit in the ſame Poſition to the Earth.

Ver. 13. they both did] Reckoning this a Year after the Iſraelites entered Canaan, it amounts by my Tables to 556 Years after the Death of Noah. Now the Chineſe Hiſtory has a Tradition, that the Sun did not ſet in ten Days, while the Emperor Yao reigned. Days may be thought a Miſtake for Hours, and both Miracles to be the ſame, eſpecially as the Computation agrees: for after the Deceaſe of Fohi their firſt Emperor, who is counted to be Noah, the Time is recorded thus;

	Y.	Am.
Xinnum reigned	140	140
Hoamti	100	240
Xaohao	84	324
Chuenhio	78	402
Tico	70	472
Chi	8	480
Yao	100	580

So that this concurs with the Scripture, and may be juſtly eſteemed a Teſtimony for it. Beſides China is ſo far eaſtward, that the Time of the Day there may be reckoned upwards of four Hours later than in Canaan; which anſwers better ſtill, as the Chineſe Report ſeems to intimate that the Sun was towards its Setting there. And according to the Scripture it was not juſt an artificial Day or twelve Hours, ſo may rather be thought leſs than more, which that Day it ſelf is in the Winter Part of the Year; the Chineſe Relation on the other hand having ten, might ariſe from this, that the Sun was not there obſerved to ſtand ſtill till an Hour or more, which might eaſily be the Caſe, eſpecially if it was cloudy, and that may ſeem likely too, becauſe they have no Mention made of the Moon: however Dials would not inform them how long it was, and they had ſcarce other Inſtruments for it beſides ſuch as Hour-glaſſes. Thus if we particularly examine and compare the Accounts, they appear the more agreeable.

The Copernican Syſtem of Aſtronomy being now received and demonſtrated, by it the Moon's ſtanding ſtill may be accounted for, as that was uſeleſs with the Sun: for the diurnal Rotation of the Earth, by which it turns round like a Wheel, being ſtopped, if the Moon continued its Courſe, the Poſition of it to the Earth, which it is about a Month going round, would be altered but little; nay the Moon being a Satellite of the Earth, might ſtand ſtill with it, as an Effect of the Earth's Ceſſation, or that their mutual Relation to one another and the other heavenly Bodies might not be deſtroyed, not for any Benefit it would be then to the Iſraelites. Thus the modern Syſtem of the Univerſe and the Scripture Account agree together, and mutually confirm each other. As it will be allowed the Notion then was that the Sun went round the Earth, if this Piece of Hiſtory had been fictitious, would not the Author, in conſequence of that Notion, have repreſented the Sun only ſtanding ſtill, ſince there was no Need of the Moon? Whereas that the Sun might ſeem to ſtand ſtill (in like manner as the Moon ſeemed a Light, Gen. i. 16.) the Earth really muſt, and ſo the Moon would ſeem to ſtand likewiſe; this ſhews that the Fact was true, ſince it could not be invented, and that Joſhua did it by divine Direction.

The pitiful Objections to this noble Miracle, viz. of Maimonides, that God only enabled Joſhua and his Army to do as much Execution in one Day as would have taken up two, More Nevoch. Part ii. Cap. 39. of Spinoſa, that it was Nothing but a Refraction of the Sun's Rays by the Sky, Tract. Theolog. Politic. Cap. 2. of Grotius, that it is omitted in Heb. viii. put for xi. (though mentioned Hab. iii. 11.) not to mention others more ridiculous, can really deſerve no Anſwer. Peirerius, as a Perſon of extraordinary Skill for making the Miracles of Scripture natural, ſuppoſes it was the Twilight after Sun-ſet, which Joſhua miſtook for the Sun, Præadamit. Lib. iv. 6. Whereas, without inſiſting on the Sun's being in the middle of the Sky, his ſtaying under the Earth to make the Twilight longer than uſual, would be as much a Miracle as to ſtay above it, and to create a new Light might be a greater. Beſides the Iſraelites purſued their Enemies, then returned to Makkedah, took it, and ſlaying the five Kings, hanged them up ſome time before Sun-ſet, Ver. 19,—28. To conclude, Le Clerc, who ſeems to have laboured it moſt, objects further, among other wretched trifling Shifts, that Joſhua would more probably pray for a longer Day at Sun-ſet than at Noon: which would not invalidate the Miracle if it had been ſo; but the Iſraelites might not have had Faith enough, upon Joſhua's ſpeaking for the Sun to ſtand ſtill at Sun-ſet, then to have diſperſed, and purſued their Enemies to their ſeveral Cities, for fear of Dangers in the Night. To the Pretence that the ſame Slaughter might have been made in two Days as in that one, may be oppoſed what is ſaid by the Jews, that it was the Day before the Sabbath, as in Pirke Eliez. 52. however two Days would not do inſtead of that one, for ſuppoſing the Amorites had been beat the firſt Day, the ſecond would not have a Day as that, before it nor ſince, for the Lord to hearken to what a Man ſaid; becauſe he fought for Iſrael.

15. Joſhua afterwards returned with all Iſrael, to the Camp at Gilgal.

16. Now thoſe five Kings fled, and hid themſelves in a Cave at Makkedah.

17. And when it was told Joſhua, that they were found hid there,

18. He ſaid; Roll great Stones on the Cave's Mouth, and ſet Men by it to keep them.

19. But do not you ſtay, purſue after your Enemies, and kill the hindermoſt of them; ſuffer them not to enter into their Cities, ſince the Lord your God has delivered them into your Power.

20. At length when Joſhua and the Iſraelites had done ſlaying them with a very great Slaughter, till they were conſumed, the reſt who remained of them being got into fortified Cities;

21. All the People returned to him, at the Camp of Makkedah, in Peace, no Man moving his Tongue againſt one of the Iſraelites.

22. Next Joſhua bade them open the Mouth of the Cave, and bring out thence thoſe five Kings to him;

23. Which they did, namely, the Kings of Jeruſalem, Hebron, Jarmuth, Lachiſh and Eglon.

24. As ſoon too as this was done, and Joſhua had called all the Men of Iſrael; the Captains of the Warriors who went with him, came at his commanding them, and put their Feet upon the Necks of thoſe Kings.

25. To whom Joſhua ſaid, Do not fear, nor be daunted; be courageous and valiant: for the Lord will do thus to all your Enemies, whom you ſhall fight with.

26. After which he put them to death, hanging them on five Trees, where they hung till the Evening.

27. And at the Time of Sun-ſet he commanded, and they were taken down from thence, and thrown into the Cave where they had been hid; great Stones were alſo put upon the Mouth of it, as to this very Day.

28. Nay the ſame Day he took Makkedah, which he conquered with the Edge of the Sword, and deſtroyed the King of it, as well as all the Perſons who were there, without letting any remain; doing to him, as he had done to the King of Jericho.

29. From thence moreover Joſhua, and all Iſrael with him, paſſed to Libnah, and aſſaulted it.

30. And the Lord alſo delivered that, and its King, into their Power, ſo that he conquered it with the Edge of the Sword, and all the Perſons who were there, without letting any remain in it; doing to the King of it, as he had done to that of Jericho.

31. As likewiſe from Libnah he paſſed in the ſame manner to Lachiſh, encamping, and fighting againſt it.

32. Which the Lord delivered into their Power, and he took it on the ſecond Day, conquering it with the Edge of the Sword, and all the Perſons who were there, entirely as he did to Libnah.

33. Then Horam King of Gezer came up to help Lachiſh; but Joſhua ſmote him and his People, till he left him none remaining.

34. He further paſſed from thence, attended with all Iſrael, to Eglon, againſt which they encamped, and fought;

35. Taking it, and conquering it with the Edge of the Sword that Day; and on the ſame he deſtroyed all the Perſons who were there, entirely as he did to Lachiſh.

36. From whence he went up, and all Iſrael with him, to Hebron, and fought againſt that.

37. And having taken, and conquered it by the Edge of the Sword, with its King, and all its Cities, as well as all the Perſons who were there; he let none remain, entirely as he had done to Eglon, but deſtroyed it and all of them.

38. In the next place he turned back, accompanied with all Iſrael, to Debir, and fighting againſt it;

39. Took it, with its King, and all its Cities, which he conquered by the Edge of the Sword, and deſtroyed all the Perſons who were there, without letting any remain; doing to that, and the King of it, the ſame as he had done to Hebron, and to Libnah with its King.

40. Thus did Joſhua conquer all the Country of the Mountains, the South, the Vales, and the Streams, with all their Kings, not letting any remain; but deſtroying all who breathed, as the Lord God of Iſrael commanded.

41. So he conquered them from Kadeſh-barnea to Gaza, and all the Country of Goſhen to Gibeon.

42. Even all theſe Kings, and their Country Joſhua took at one Time; becauſe the Lord God of Iſrael fought for them.

43. Laſtly he returned, and all Iſrael with him, to the Camp at Gilgal.

CHAP. XI.

BUT when Jabin King of Hazor heard of theſe Things, he ſent to Jobab King of Madon, to the King of Shimron, and of Achſhaph,

2. To the Kings alſo who were northward, on the Mountains, and the Plains at the South-ſide of Cinneroth, and in the Vales, with the Regions of Dor weſtward,

3. To the Canaanites both in the Eaſt and Weſt, the Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, and Jebuſites on the Mountains, and the Hivites under Hermon, in the Country of Mizpeh.

4. Who came forth with all their Armies, being many People, like the Sand that is on the Sea-ſhoar for Multitude, with very many Horſes and Chariots.

5. All theſe Kings being met together, came and encamped together at the Water of Merom, to fight with Iſrael.

6. Upon which the Lord ſaid to Joſhua, Be not afraid by reaſon of them, for to Morrow about this Time, I will deliver them up all ſlain before Iſrael; thou ſhalt hough their Horſes, and burn their Chariots in the Fire.

7. So he went thither to them, with all the People of War, ſuddenly, and falling upon them;

8. The Lord delivered them into the Power of Iſrael, ſo that purſuing them to great Zidon, Miſrephoth-maim, and the Valley of Mizpeh eaſtward, they ſlew them, till they left them none of them remaining.

9. And Joſhua did to them as the Lord ordered him, he hamſtringed their Horſes, and burnt their Chariots in the Fire.

10. At the ſame time he alſo turned back, and took Hazor, that being in time paſt the Head of all thoſe Kingdoms, whoſe King he ſlew with the Sword;

11. As they did all the Perſons who were there, without leaving any alive from being deſtroyed; and he burnt Hazor with Fire.

12. He likewiſe took all the other Cities, and their Kings, whom he put to the Sword, deſtroying them, as Moſes the Servant of the Lord commanded.

13. However the Iſraelites burnt none of the Cities that remained in their Places, beſides Hazor only, which Joſhua had burnt.

14. Yet taking the Spoil of them all, and the Cattle, for their Plunder, they put all the People to the Sword, till they were deſtroyed, without leaving any who breathed.

15. As the Lord commanded his Servant Moſes, and he Joſhua; ſo Joſhua did, not omitting any Thing of it.

16. And he took all this Country, the Mountains, all the South, the whole Country of Goſhen, the Vales, and the Plains, with the Mountain of Iſrael, and the Vale of it.

17. From Mount Halak going up to Seir, even to Baal-gad in the Valley of Lebanon under Mount Hermon, he took all their Kings, and put them to death:

18. He making war with them a great while,

19. There was no City that made peace with the Iſraelites, beſides the Hivites who dwelt at Gibeon; they took all the reſt by War.

20. For it was of the Lord to let their Hearts be ſtout, to meet Iſrael in War, in order that they might be utterly deſtroyed by them, without having any Favour; as the Lord commanded Moſes.

21. Joſhua alſo went at that Time, and exterminated the Anakites from the Mountains, from Hebron, Debir, Anab, and all the Mountains both of Judah and Iſrael, with their Cities.

22. None of them were left remaining in the Iſraelites Country, excepting in Gaza, Gath and Aſhdod.

23. Thus Joſhua took the whole Country, entirely as the Lord ſpoke to Moſes, and gave it to Iſrael for a Poſſeſſion, according

CHAP. XII.

NOW theſe are the Kings of the Country whom the Iſraelites ſlew, and poſſeſſed their Land on the other ſide Jordan, at the riſing of the Sun, from the River Arnon to Mount Hermon, and all the Plain eaſtward:

2. Sihon King of the Amorites who dwelt at Heſhbon, ruling from Aroer which was upon the Bank of the River Arnon, the middle of the River, and half Gilead, to Jabbok a River the Bounds of the Ammonites;

3. And from the Plain to the Sea of Cinneroth, and that of the Plain, the Salt Sea at the Way to Beth-jeſhimoth, both eaſtward; and from the South under the Streams of Piſgah:

4. With the Bounds of Og King of Baſhan, one of the Remnant of the Giants, who dwelt at Aſhtaroth and Edrei;

5. And ruled over Mount Hermon, Salcah, and all Baſhan, to the Border of the Geſhurites and Maachathites, and half Gilead, the Border of Sihon King of Heſhbon:

6. Them Moſes the Servant of the Lord and the Iſraelites ſlew, and he gave it for an Inheritance to the Reubenites, Gadites, and the half Tribe of Manaſſeh.

7. And theſe are the Kings of the Country whom Joſhua and the Iſraelites ſlew, on this ſide Jordan weſtward, from Baal-gad in the Valley of Lebanon, to Mount Halak going up to Seir; which he gave to the Tribes of Iſrael for an Inheritance, according to their Diviſions;

8. On the Mountains, in the Vales, and Plains, at the Streams, in the Wilderneſs, and the South, the Country of the Hittites, Amorites, Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivites and Jebuſites:

9. The King of Jericho one, the King of Ai which was at the Side of Beth-el another,

10. The King of Jeruſalem another, the King of Hebron another,

11. The King of Jarmuth another, the King of Lachiſh another,

12. The King of Eglon another, the King of Gezer another,

13. The King of Debir another, the King of Geder another,

14. The King of Hormah another, the King of Arad another,

15. The King of Libnah another, the King of Adullam another,

16. The King of Makkedah another, the King of Beth-el another,

17. The King of Tappuah another, the King of Hepher another,

18. The King of Aphek another, the King of Laſharon another,

19. The King of Madon another, the King of Hazor another,

20. The King of Shimron-meron another, the King of Achſhaph another,

21. The King of Taanach another, the King of Megiddo another,

22. The King of Kedeſh another, the King of Jokneam belonging to Carmel another,

23. The King of Dor belonging to the Region of Dor another, the King of the Nations belonging to Gilgal another,

24. The King of Tirzah another; all the Kings being thirty one.

CHAP. XIII.

AT length Joſhua being old, advanced in Age, the Lord ſaid to him: Since thou art become old, advanced in Age, and there is left very much Land to poſſeſs:

2. Namely all the Borders of the Philiſtines, and all Geſhuri;

3. From Shihor that is before Egypt, to the Bounds of Ekron northward, which is reckoned to the Canaanites; the five Lordſhips of the Philiſtines, of the Gazathites,

5. The Country too of the Giblites, and all Lebanon at the Sun-riſing, from Baal-gad under Mount Hermon, to the Entrance of Hamath;

6. That of all the Inhabitants of the Mountains from Lebanon to Miſrephoth-maim, of all the Zidonians: whom I will expel from the Preſence of the Iſraelites; only do thou part the ſame to Iſrael for a Poſſeſſion, as I have commanded thee.

7. So now divide this Country for a Poſſeſſion to the nine Tribes, and the half Tribe of Manaſſeh.

8. With the other half of which the Reubenites and Gadites received their Poſſeſſion, that Moſes the Lord's Servant gave them on the other ſide Jordan eaſtward, according as he did it;

9. From Aroer which is upon the Bank of the River Arnon, the City that is in the middle of the River, and all the Plain of Medeba, to Dibon;

10. And all the Cities of Sihon King of the Amorites, who reigned at Heſhbon, to the Bounds of the Ammonites;

11. Gilead alſo, and the Border of the Geſhurites and Maachathites, with all Mount Hermon, as well as all Baſhan, to Salcah;

12. The whole Kingdom of Og at Baſhan, who reigned at Aſhtaroth and Edrei, being left of the Remnant of the Giants: for them Moſes ſlew, and expelled.

13. Yet the Iſraelites did not drive out the Geſhurites, nor Maachathites, who dwell among them to this Day.

14. However he gave no Poſſeſſion to the Tribe of Levi; the Sacrifices by Fire of the Lord God of Iſrael are their Poſſeſſion, as he ſaid to them.

15. Now to the Tribe of the Reubenites Moſes gave by their Families;

16. (Their Border being from Aroer which is on the Bank of the River Arnon, the City that is in the middle of the River, and all the Plain by Medeba)

17. Heſhbon, and all its Cities which are on the Plain, Dibon, Bamoth-baal, Beth-baal-meon,

18. Jahazah, Kedemoth, Mephaath,

19. Kirjathaim, Sibmah, Zereth-ſhahar on the Mount of the Vale,

20. Beth-peor, Aſhdoth-piſgah, Beth-jeſhimoth,

21. And all the Cities of the Plain, as alſo the Kingdom of Sihon in general, King of the Amorites, who reigned at Heſhbon; whom Moſes ſlew, with the Princes of Midian, Evi, Rekem, Zur, Hur and Reba, Governors of Sihon, who dwelt in the Country:

22. Balaam the Son of Beor the Diviner likewiſe did the Iſraelites kill with the Sword, among thoſe who were ſlain by them.

23. Beſides Jordan, and its Bounds were the Bounds of the Reubenites: of whom this was the Poſſeſſion by their Families, theſe Cities with their Villages.

24. To the Tribe of the Gadites next Moſes gave thus by their Families:

25. Their Border was Jazer, all the Cities of Gilead, and half the Country of the Ammonites, to Aroer that is before Rabbah;

26. And from Heſhbon to Ramath-mizpeh and Betonim, from Mahanaim alſo to the Border of Debir;

27. Moreover in the Vale Beth-haram, Beth-nimrah, Succoth and Zaphon, the reſt of the Kingdom of Sihon King of Heſhbon, Jordan and its Bounds, to the Brink of the Sea of Cinnereth, on the other ſide Jordan eaſtward.

28. This was the Poſſeſſion of the Gadites by their Families, theſe Cities with their Villages.

29. And Moſes gave to the half Tribe of the Manaſſehites by their Families what follows:

30. Their Border was from Mahanaim, containing all Baſhan, the whole Kingdom of Og who was King there, and all the Towns of Jair which are in it, being ſixty;

31. Half Gilead likewiſe, with Aſhtaroth and Edrei, Cities of the Kingdom of Og in Baſhan, belonging to half the Poſterity of Machir the Son of Manaſſeh by their Families.

33. But he gave no Poſſeſſion to the Tribe of Levi, the Lord God of Iſrael being theirs, as he ſaid to them.

CHAP. XIV.

AND this is what the Iſraelites poſſeſſed in the Country of Canaan, which Eleazar the Prieſt, Joſhua the Son of Nun, and the chief Fathers of the Tribes gave them to poſſeſs:

2. Which was by Lot for the nine Tribes and the half, as the Lord commanded by the Miniſtry of Moſes.

3. For he gave the Poſſeſſion of the two Tribes and the half on the other ſide Jordan, but gave the Levites none among them;

4. And the Poſterity of Joſeph being two Tribes, Manaſſeh and Ephraim, they gave the Levites no Part in the Country, excepting Cities to dwell in, and the Suburbs of them for their Cattle, and what they had got.

5. As the Lord commanded Moſes, ſo the Iſraelites did, and they divided the Country.

6. And the Men of Judah going to Joſhua at Gilgal, Caleb the Son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite ſaid to him: Thou knoweſt what the Lord ſpoke to Moſes the Man of God, concerning me and thee, at Kadeſh-barnea.

7. I was forty years old when that Servant of the Lord ſent me from thence, to ſpy the Country, and I brought him back Word as my Mind was.

8. Though my Brethren who went up with me diſheartened the People, yet I followed the Lord my God entirely.

9. By reaſon of which Moſes ſwore at that Time, that the Land which my Feet had trod on, ſhould be a Poſſeſſion to me and my Poſterity for ever.

10. And now behold the Lord has kept me alive, as he ſaid, theſe five and forty Years ſince he ſpoke theſe Words to Moſes, when Iſrael was walking in the Wilderneſs; ſo that I am now indeed at this Time eighty five Years old.

11. I am yet as ſtrong at this Time, as I was when Moſes ſent me: my Strength now is ſuch as it was then, for War, both to go out, and come in.

12. Now therefore give me this Mountain, which the Lord ſpoke of at that Time; though thou heardeſt then that the Anakites were there, and the Cities great and fortified: perhaps the Lord will be with me, that I may drive them out, as he ſaid.

13. So Joſhua bleſſing him, gave to Caleb the Son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite, Hebron for a Poſſeſſion.

14. Therefore it has been his to this Day, becauſe he followed the Lord God of Iſrael entirely.

15. The Name of Hebron before being The City of Arba, who was a great Man among the Anakites. Thus the Country reſted from War.

It muſt have a Name when it was firſt built, and ſince there is Mention made of the building it, Num. xiii. 22. if Arba had done it, probably it would have been ſaid ſo, as of other Places which had particular Founders, eſpecially when it is told at the ſame time that his Poſterity were there. Beſides that Hebron ſignifying a Company or Society, may intimate the Name to come from no particular Maſter, either Arba or Caleb, and conſequently to have had that Name before, which Caleb might reſtore to it again. The Sons of Anak being there when he took it, Judg. i. 10. whoſe Father Arba is ſaid to be, Joſh. xv. 13. and it being a noted Place, not very far either from Egypt or the Wilderneſs, Moſes might hear of it, and ſo call it by both Names, as the latter might begin in his Time, and the former be ſtill uſed however in other Countries, Gen. xxiii. 2. & xxxv. 27. Prideaux pretends Ezra altered the Name to Hebron in Geneſis & Numbers, Connect. Part i. B. v. but he eſpecially ſeems an unlikely Perſon to do it ſo long after, when the Iſraelites had kept it a thouſand Years as Moſes wrote it. And as to his ſaying, Caleb called it Hebron after the Name of Hebron one of his Sons, that Hebron appears to be the Grandſon of another Caleb, 1 Chron. ii. 42. the Son of Hezron, Ver. 9, 18. as the Genealogy alſo before the Engliſh Bible has it; and Caleb the Son of Jephunneh, who had the City of Hebron, Joſh. xiv. 14. has no Son of that Name, 1 Chron. iv. 15.

4. Next paſſing to Azmon, it went forth to the River of Egypt, and the going out of the Border was at the Sea: this, ſaid the Lord, ſhall be your ſouth Bounds.

5. The Border alſo eaſtward was the Salt Sea, to the End of Jordan. And the Border on the north Side was from thence, at the Bay of the Sea;

6. And it going up to Beth-hoglah, paſſed along on the North of Beth-arabah, and went up to the Stone of Bohan the Reubenite;

7. Then to Debir from the Vale of Achor, and northward turning to Gilgal, which is over againſt the Aſcent of Adummim that is on the South of the River, it paſſed on to the Water of En-ſhemeſh, and the going out of it was at En-rogel;

8. Moreover the Border went up to the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, to the ſouth Side of Jebuſi, which is Jeruſalem, and to the Top of the Mountain that is before the Valley of Hinnom weſtward, which is at the End of the Giant's Vale northward;

9. And it was marked out from the Top of the Mountain, to the Fountain of Water at Nephtoah, going forth to the Cities of Mount Ephron, and was marked out to Baalah, which is Kirjath-jearim;

10. From thence too it went round weſtward to Mount Seir, and paſſed along to the Side of Mount Jearim on the North, which is Cheſalon, going down to Beth-ſhemeſh, and paſſing on to Timnah;

11. The Border next went forth to the Side of Ekron northward, was marked out to Shicron, and paſſing on to Mount Baalah, went forth to Jabneel, and the going out of it was at the Sea.

12. Laſtly the Border weſtward was the great Sea, and its Coaſt. This was the Border of the People of Judah round about by their Families.

13. And to Caleb the Son of Jephunneh did Joſhua give for a Part among them, at the Lord's Command, the City of Arba the Father of Anak, which is Hebron.

14. From whence he expelled the three Sons of Anak, Sheſhai, Ahiman, and Talmai, his Children.

18. And when ſhe came, ſhe perſuaded him to aſk her Father for Land; and ſhe alighting from the Aſs, Caleb ſaid to her, What wouldeſt thou have?

19. Who anſwered, Give me a Bleſſing: for as thou haſt given me Land in the South, thou ſhouldeſt alſo ſome Springs of Water. So he gave her Springs both above and below.

20. The Poſſeſſion of the Tribe of the People of Judah, by their Families, was as follows:

21. Their Cities on the Outſide, at the Border of Edom in the South, were, Kabzeel, Eder, Jagur,

22. Kinah, Dimonah, Adadah,

23. Kedeſh, Hazor, Ithnan,

24. Ziph, Telem, Bealoth,

25. Hazor, Hadattah, Kerioth, Hezron, that is Hazor,

43. Iphtah, Aſhnah, Nezib,
44. Keilah, Achzib and Mareſhah; nine Cities, with their Villages:
45. Ekron, with its Towns and Villages;
46. From Ekron to the Sea, all that were by the Side of Aſhdod, with their Villages;
47. Aſhdod and Gaza, with their Towns and Villages, to the River of Egypt, the great Sea, and its Coaſt:
48. And on the Mountain Shamir, Jattir, Sochoh,
49. Dannah, Kirjath-ſannah, that is Debir,
50. Anab, Eſhtemoh, Anim,
51. Goſhen, Holon and Giloh; eleven Cities, with their Villages:
52. Arab, Dumah, Eſhean,
53. Janum, Beth-tappuah, Aphekah,
54. Humtah, the Town of Arba, that is Hebron, and Zior: nine Cities, with their Villages:
55. Maon, Carmel, Ziph, Juttah,
56. Jezreel, Jokdeam, Zanoah,
57. Cain, Gibeah and Timnah; ten Cities, with their Villages:
58. Halhul, Beth-zur, Gedor,
59. Maarath, Beth-anoth and Eltekon; ſix Cities, with their Villages.
60. Kirjath-baal, that is Kirjath-jearim, and Rabbah; two Cities, with their Villages:
61. In the Wilderneſs Beth-arabah, Middin, Sechachah,
62. Nibſhan, the City of Salt and Engedi; ſix Cities, with their Villages.
63. As for the Jebuſites who dwelt at Jeruſalem, the People of Judah could not expel them, and the Jebuſites dwell there with them to this Day.

CHAP. XVI.

NEXT the Lot came out for the Poſterity of Joſeph, from Jordan by Jericho, to the Water of Jericho at the Eaſt, and along the Wilderneſs that goes up from Jericho over Mount Beth-el;

2. Then it went out from Beth-el to Luz, paſſing on to the Border of Archi to Ataroth;

3. And went down weſtward to the Border of Japhleti, to that of the lower Bethhoron, and to Gezer; and the going out of it was at the Sea.

4. Thus the Poſterity of Joſeph, Manaſſeh and Ephraim, had their Poſſeſſion.

5. The Border of the Poſſeſſion of the Ephraimites by their Families, being from Ataroth-addar on the Eaſt, to the upper Beth-horon;

7. From whence it went down to Ataroth, and Naarah, and going on to Jericho, went out at Jordan;

8. The Border went from Tappuah weſtward to the River Kanah, and the going out of it was at the Sea. This was the Poſſeſſion of the Tribe of the Ephraimites by their Families.

9. However all their ſeparate Cities, with the Villages of them, were among the Poſſeſſion of the Manaſſehites.

10. But they did not expel the Canaanites that dwelt at Gezer, who dwell among the Ephraimites to this Day, ſerving with Tribute.

CHAP. XVII.

AND there was a Lot for the Tribe of Manaſſeh, ſince he was the Firſt-born of Joſeph; for Machir his Firſt-born, the Father of Gilead, who becauſe he was a Warrior, had Gilead and Baſhan.

pher and Shemida; these being his Male-children.

3. But Zelophehad, the Son of Hepher, the Son of Gilead, the Son of Machir, the Son of Manasseh, had no Sons, but Daughters, whose Names were, Mahlah, and Nohah, Hoglah, Milcah and Tirzah;

4. So they came before Eleazar the Priest, Joshua the Son of Nun, and the Princes, saying, that the Lord commanded Moses to give them a Possession among their Father's Brethren; which was done as the Lord ordered.

5. And there fell ten Parcels to Manasseh, besides the Country of Gilead and Bashan, which was on the other side Jordan;

6. Because his Daughters had Possession among his Sons, after the rest of his Sons had that Country.

7. Now the Border of Manasseh was from Asher to Michmethah, which is before Shechem, and went along at the right Hand to the Inhabitants of En-tappuah.

8. Manasseh had the Land of Tappuah, but the Town it self on the Border of Manasseh belonged to the Ephraimites.

9. And the Border went down to the River Kanah, at the south Side of it, the Cities of Ephraim there being among those of Manasseh; then the Border of Manasseh was on the North of the River, and the going out of it was at the Sea.

10. At the south Side it was Ephraim's, at the North Manasseh's, and the Sea was the Bounds of it; thus they met together, with Asher on the North, and Issachar on the East.

11. Besides in Issachar and Asher Manasseh had Beth-shean, Ibleam, the Inhabitants of Dor, of En-dor, of Taanach, and of Megiddo, with their Towns, three Regions.

12. However the Posterity of Manasseh could not drive the Canaanites out of those Cities, but they would dwell in that Country.

13. Yet when the Israelites became strong, they put them under Tribute, though they did not at all expel them.

14. And the Posterity of Joseph spoke thus to Joshua, Why didst thou give us a Possession of one Lot and Parcel, since we are many People, whom the Lord has blessed hitherto.

15. If you are many People, said he to them, get you up to the Wood; and cut down for your selves there, in the Country of the Perizzites and Giants, since Mount Ephraim is too streight for you.

16. They then replied, The Mountain will not be sufficient for us, and all the Canaanites who dwell in the Vale-country have iron Chariots, those who are at Beth-shean and its Towns, and those who are in the Vale of Izreel.

17. And Joshua said to the Family of Joseph, to Ephraim and Manasseh as follows; You being many People, and having great Power, shall not have a single Lot:

18. For the Mountain shall be yours, since it is a Wood, and you shall cut it down, and have the goings out of it; for you will expel the Canaanites, though they have iron Chariots, and they are strong.

CHAP. XVIII.

AND the whole Assembly of the Israelites gathered together at Shiloh, and placed the publick Tent there, when the Country was subdued before them.

2. Now there were seven Tribes left among them, whose Possession was not parted.

3. Therefore Joshua said to the Israelites; How long you are slack to go in to inherit the Country, which the Lord God of your Fathers has given you!

4. Give you three Men of a Tribe, whom I will send, and they shall get ready, and going through the Country, describe it according to their Possession, and come to me:

5. Which shall be divided into seven Parts, Judah remaining in his Bounds on the South, and the Family of Joseph in theirs on the North.

6. And when you have delineated the Land in seven Parts, and brought it hither to me, I will cast Lots for you here before the Lord your God.

7. For the Levites have no Part among you, because the Lord's Priesthood is their Possession; and Gad, Reuben, and the half Tribe of Manasseh have received theirs beyond Jordan on the East, which Moses the Servant of the Lord gave them.

Ver. 5. ten] Manasseh having six Sons, Ver. 2. and what belonged to one of them being parted between his five Daughters, Ver. 3.

Ver. 10. with Asher] Manasseh being between that and Ephraim; and Patrick observes from Conradus Pellicanus, that both the Tribes of Ephraim and Manasseh could not touch these other Tribes. I will only add, that the Lot of Manasseh reaching to the Mediterranean Sea on the West, Ver. 9. seems quite to prevent Ephraim's on the South of it touching Asher's on the North; and the Distinction in the Text shews it was not done at the east Side.

8. Joſhua alſo commanded the Men who got ready to go, and make a Deſcription of the Country, that they ſhould go about through it, and write it down, and return, that he might caſt Lots for them there before the Lord in Shiloh.

9. Accordingly they went, and paſſed through the Country, and having written it down by Cities in ſeven Parts in a Book, they came to him, to the Camp at Shiloh.

10. Who caſt Lots for them there before the Lord, and divided the Country to the Iſraelites according to their Diviſions.

11. And the Lot of the Tribe of the Benjaminites by their Families came up, ſo that the Border of it went out between the Poſterity of Judah and that of Joſeph.

12. Thus at the north Side their Border was from Jordan, and went up to the Side of Jericho on the North, and over the Mountain weſtward, and the going out of it was at the Wilderneſs of Beth-aven;

13. From whence it paſſed to Luz, at the ſouth Side of it, which is Beth-el, and went down to Ataroth-addar, by the Mountain which is on the South of the lower Beth-horon.

14. Next the Border was marked out, ſo that it went round from that Mountain at the weſt Side ſouthward, and the going out of it was at Kirjath-baal, which is Kirjath-jearim, a City of the People of Judah: this was the weſt Side.

15. And the ſouth Side was from the End of Kirjath-jearim, the Border going forth at the Weſt to the Fountain of Water at Nephtoah;

16. Then it went down to the End of the Mountain which is before the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, that is at the Giants Vale northward, going down at the ſouth Side of Jebuſi, to the Valley of Hinnom, and to En-rogel;

17. So it was marked out from the North, and went forth to En-ſhemeſh, and to Geliloth, which is over againſt the Aſcent of Adummim, and went down to the Stone of Bohan the Reubenite;

18. As likewiſe paſſed along before Arabah at the north Side, going down to the Plain;

19. It paſſed further at the north Side of Beth-hoglah, and the going out of it was at the north Bay of the Salt Sea, at the ſouth End of Jordan: this was the ſouth Border.

20. Moreover Jordan bounded it at the eaſt Side. This is the Poſſeſſion of the Benjaminites in their Borders round about, by their Families.

21. The Cities of whoſe Tribe, by their Families, were, Jericho, Beth-hoglah, Emek-keziz,

22. Beth-arabah, Zemaraim, Beth-el,

23. Avim, Parah, Ophrah,

24. Chephar-ammonai, Ophni and Geba; twelve Cities, with their Villages:

25. Gibeon, Ramah, Beeroth,

26. Mizpeh, Chephirah, Mozah,

27. Rekem, Irpeel, Taralah,

28. Zelah, Eleph, Jebuſi, which is Jeruſalem, Gibeath, Kirjath; fourteen Cities, with their Villages. This is the Poſſeſſion of the Benjaminites, by their Families.

CHAP. XIX.

THE ſecond Lot alſo came out for the Tribe of the Simeonites, by their Families, whoſe Poſſeſſion was within that of the People of Judah.

2. And they had in it, Beer-ſheba or Sheba, Moladah,

3. Hazar-ſhual, Balah, Azem,

4. Eltolad, Bethul, Hormah,

5. Ziklag, Beth-marcaboth, Hazar-ſuſah,

6. Beth-lebaoth and Sharuhen; thirteen Cities, with their Villages:

7. Ain, Rimmon, Ether and Aſhan; four Cities, with their Villages:

8. And all the Villages that were round about theſe Cities, as far as Baalath-beer, and South Ramath. This is the Poſſeſſion of the Tribe of the Simeonites, by their Families.

9. They had it out of the Parcel belonging to the People of Judah, within which it

10. Moreover the third Lot came up for the Zebulunites, by their Families. The Border of whoſe Poſſeſſion was as far as Sarid,

11. And went up towards the Weſt, even to Maralah, going on to Dabbaſheth, and to the River which is before Jokneam;

12. And from Sarid it turned back eaſtward, at the Sun-riſing, to the Border of Chiſloth-tabor, went out to Daberath, and up to Japhia;

13. Paſſing along from thence the ſame Way to Gittah-hepher, to Ittah-kazin, and went out to Rimmon-methoar, to Neah;

14. Round which it went on the North to Hannathon, and the going out of it was at the Valley of Iphtah-el.

15. It contained too Kattath, Nahalal, Shimron, Idalah and Beth-lehem: twelve Cities, and their Villages:

16. Which are the Poſſeſſion of the Zebulunites, by their Families.

17. The fourth Lot came out for the People of Iſſachar, by their Families.

18. Whoſe Border was at Izreel, containing likewiſe Cheſulloth, Shunem,

19. Hapharaim, Shion, Anaharath,

20. Rabbith, Kiſhion, Abez,

21. Remeth, En-gannim, En-haddah and Beth-pazzez.

22. The Border alſo paſſed on to Thabor, Shahazimah and Beth-ſhemeſh, and the going out of it was at Jordan; being ſixteen Cities, with their Villages:

23. Which are the Poſſeſſion of the Tribe of the Iſſacharites, by their Families.

24. And for the Tribe of the Aſherites, by their Families, came forth the fifth Lot.

25. In whoſe Border were Helkath, Hali, Beten, Achſhaph,

26. Alammalech, Amad and Miſheal; and it paſſed on to Carmel weſtward, and to Shihor-libnath;

27. Beſides it turned back at the Sun-riſing to Beth-dagon, paſſing on to Zebulun, and to the Valley of Iphtah-el northward, Beth-emek, and Neiel, and went out to Cabul on the left Hand,

28. Hebron, Rehob, Hammon and Kanah, as far as great Zidon;

29. Then the Border turned again to Ramah, and to the fortified City Tyre, and again to Hoſah, and the going out of it was at the Sea, from the Parcel at Achzib.

30. Containing further Ummah, Aphek and Rehob; twenty two Cities, with their Villages:

31. Which are the Poſſeſſion of the Tribe of the Aſherites, by their Families.

32. The ſixth Lot came out for the People of Naphtali, by their Families.

33. Whoſe Border was from Heleph, from Allon in Zaanannim, Adami, Nekeb, and Jabneel, to Lakkum, and the going out of it was at Jordan;

34. Next it turned back weſtward to Aznoth-tabor, from whence it went out to Hukkok, paſſing on to Zebulun at the South, as it did to Aſher at the Weſt, and to Judah in Jordan, at the Sun-riſing.

35. And the fortified Cities are Ziddim, Zer, Hammath, Rakkath, Chinnereth,

36. Adamah, Ramah, Hazor,

37. Kedeſh, Edrei, En-hazor,

38. Iron, Migdal-el, Horem, Beth-anath and Beth-ſhemeſh; nineteen Cities, with their Villages; took,

took, and conquered with the Edge of the Sword, poſſeſſed, and dwelt in it, calling it Dan according to the Name of their Father.

48. Theſe Cities, and their Villages, are the Poſſeſſion of the Tribe of the Danites, by their Families.

49. Having thus made an end of appointing the Poſſeſſion of the Country, by its Borders, the Iſraelites gave Joſhua the Son of Nun a Poſſeſſion among them,

50. At the Command of the Lord, even Timnah-ſerah on Mount Ephraim, the City that he aſked for, which he built up, and dwelt in it.

51. Theſe are the Poſſeſſions which Eleazar the Prieſt, Joſhua the Son of Nun, and the chief Fathers of the Tribes of the Iſraelites appointed by Lot, in Shiloh before the Lord, at the Door of the publick Tent: ſo they made an end of dividing the Country.

CHAP. XX.

AFTERWARDS the Lord ſpoke to Joſhua,

2. That he ſhould tell the Iſraelites as follows; Give the Cities of Refuge for your ſelves, which I ſpoke of to you by the Miniſtry of Moſes;

3. For the Slayer to flee thither, who kills a Perſon by Miſtake unknowingly, and they ſhall be a Refuge to you from the Revenger of Blood.

4. And when he who flees to one of theſe Cities has ſtood at the Entrance of its Gate, and told his Matter in the Hearing of the Elders of the ſame, they ſhall take him into the City to them, and give him a Place, that he may dwell with them.

5. Nay though the Revenger of Blood purſues after him, they ſhall not deliver up the Slayer into his Power; ſince he killed his Neighbour unknowingly, and did not hate him in time paſt.

6. In which City he ſhall dwell, till he ſtands before the Aſſembly for Judgment, and till the Death of the high Prieſt who is at that Time; then the Slayer ſhall return, and go to his own Houſe, at the City from whence he fled.

7. So they prepared Kedeſh in Galilee on the Mountain of Naphtali, Shechem on that of Ephraim, and the Town of Arba, which is Hebron, on the Mountain of Judah.

8. And on the other ſide Jordan againſt Jericho at the Eaſt, they gave Bezer in the Wilderneſs on the Plain out of the Tribe of Reuben, Ramoth in Gilead out of the Tribe of Gad, and Golan in Baſhan out of that of Manaſſeh.

9. Theſe Cities were appointed for all the Iſraelites, and for the Strangers ſojourning among them, that whoever killed a Perſon by Miſtake might flee thither, and not be killed by the Hand of the Revenger of Blood, till he ſtood before the Aſſembly.

CHAP. XXI.

AND the chief Fathers of the Levites came to Eleazar the Prieſt, to Joſhua the Son of Nun, and the chief Fathers of the Tribes of the Iſraelites,

2. And ſpoke to them as follows, at Shiloh in the Country of Canaan, The Lord commanded by the Miniſtry of Moſes, to give us Cities to dwell in, with their Suburbs for our Cattle.

3. Accordingly the Iſraelites gave them out of their Poſſeſſion, at the Lord's Command, theſe Cities with their Suburbs,

4. The Lot coming out for the Families of the Kohathites; and the Poſterity of Aaron the Prieſt, as being Levites, had out of the Tribes of Judah, Simeon and Benjamin, by Lot, thirteen Cities.

5. And the reſt of the Poſterity of Kohath had out of the Families of the Tribe of Ephraim, of that of Dan, and of the half Tribe of Manaſſeh, by Lot, ten Cities.

6. The Gerſhonites alſo had out of the Families of the Tribes of Iſſachar, Aſher and Naphtali, and out of the half Tribe of Manaſſeh in Baſhan, by Lot, thirteen Cities.

7. The Merarites by their Families, had out of the Tribes of Reuben, Gad and Zebulun, twelve Cities.

8. Now theſe Cities with their Suburbs did the Iſraelites give to the Levites, by Lot, as the Lord commanded by the Miniſtry of Moſes.

9. They giving out of the Tribes of the People of Judah and Simeon, theſe Cities that are thus called by Name;

10. Which the Poſterity of Aaron, of the Families of the Kohathites, of the Poſterity of Levi, had; for the firſt Lot was theirs:

11. To whom they gave the City of Arba the Father of Anak, which is Hebron, on the Mountain of Judah, with its Suburbs round about it;

12. But the Fields and Villages of it, they gave to Caleb the Son of Jephunneh, for his Inheritance:

13. So they gave to the Poſterity of Aaron the Prieſt, Hebron with its Suburbs, for a City of Refuge to the Slayer, and Libnah,

14. Jattir, Eſhtemoa,

15. Holon, Debir,

16. Ain, Juttah, Beth-ſhemeſh, with their reſpective Suburbs; nine Cities out of theſe two Tribes:

17. And

17. And out of the Tribe of Benjamin, Gibeon, Geba,

18. Anathoth and Almon, with their ſeveral Suburbs; four Cities.

19. All the Cities of the Poſterity of Aaron, the Prieſts, were thirteen, with their Suburbs.

20. And the reſt of the Poſterity likewiſe of Kohath, the Families of the Levites, had the Cities of their Lot out of the Tribe of Ephraim.

21. For they gave them Shechem with its Suburbs on Mount Ephraim, for a City of Refuge to the Slayer, and Gezer,

22. Kibzaim and Beth-horon, with their ſeveral Suburbs; four Cities:

23. Beſides out of the Tribe of Dan, Elteke, Gibbethon,

24. Aijalon, Gath-rimmon, with their ſeveral Suburbs; four Cities:

25. And out of the half Tribe of Manaſſeh, Taanach and Gath-rimmon, with theirs; two Cities.

26. All the Cities, for the Families of the reſt of the Kohathites, were ten with their Suburbs.

27. And the Gerſhonites, of the Families of the Levites, had out of the half Tribe of Manaſſeh, Golan in Baſhan with its Suburbs, for a City of Refuge to the Slayer, and Beeſhterah with its Suburbs, two Cities.

28. And out of the Tribe of Iſſachar, Kiſhion, Daberath,

29. Jarmuth, En-gannim, with their ſeveral Suburbs; four Cities:

30. As alſo out of the Tribe of Aſher, Miſhal, Abdon,

31. Helkath and Rehob, with their ſeveral Suburbs; four Cities:

32. And out of the Tribe of Naphtali, Kedeſh in Galilee with its Suburbs, for a City of Refuge to the Slayer, Hammoth-dor alſo, and Kartan, with both their Suburbs; three Cities.

33. All the Cities of the Gerſhonites, by their Families, were thirteen, with their Suburbs.

34. The Families too of the Merarites, the reſt of the Levites, had out of the Tribe of Zebulun, Jokneam, Kartah,

35. Dimnah, Nahalal, with their ſeveral Suburbs; four Cities:

36. And out of the Tribe of Reuben, Bezer, Jahezah,

37. Kedemoth and Mephaath, with their ſeveral Suburbs; four Cities:

Ver. 28. Daberath] The ſame as in Chap. xix. 12. 1 Chron. vi. 72. not Dabareh, altered from Dabereh in the former Engliſh Tranſlations, and might then as well have been altered right, as worſe.

Ver. 36, 37. It appears by the Maſorah, Targum, &c. that theſe two Verſes were not in the ancient Hebrew, but were probably taken from 1 Chron. vi. 78, 79. into the Greek and ſo the Latin Tranſlation, and from thence put into ſome later Hebrew Copies, to make up the Number of twelve in Ver. 7, 40. and of forty eight in Ver. 41. But it is not ſaid thoſe twelve and forty eight are named here, and the So in our Bible, Ver. 40. is of the Tranſlators adding; nor is there any Neceſſity that they ſhould be named, and other ſuch Things are not inſerted in ſome other Places, as Ezr. ii. 64. &c. nay perhaps theſe four particular Cities were not appointed at this Time, only the Number of them; ſee further in Buxtorf's Vind. Hebr. p. 102—110. ſo the Septuagint have two Verſes added after Chap. xv. 59. and have here, And beyond Jordan againſt Jericho out of the Tribe of Reuben, the City (Vulg. Cities) of Refuge for the Slayer (the laſt not in Vulg.) Boſor in the Wilderneſs, Miſo (Vulg. Miſor) and its Suburbs (not in the Vulg. till together at the End) and Jazer and its Suburbs, and Decmon (in Compl. Edit. Kedſon, being alſo without Wilderneſs and Miſo, Vulg. Jethſon) and its Suburbs, and Maphā (Vulg. Mephaath) and its Suburbs, four Cities (Vulg. now with their Suburbs.) The Author of the preſent State of the printed Heb. Text ſays, They are univerſally read in Chron. which ſeems a clear proof, that they were originally read alſo in Joſhua, p. 444. Yet is not the contrary much clearer from thence? for they might not unlikely be added into Joſh. becauſe they are in Chron. but were unlikely indeed to be taken out of the former, becauſe they are in the latter; nay that Writer would have more than is in our Engliſh to be in here, and to be genuine, viz. of Bezer, to be a city of refuge for the ſlayer, though not in Chron. and that on the Authority of one MS. which he himſelf reflects on, and ridicules, p. 323, 324. Here being far the greateſt proper Various Reading in the whole Hebrew Bible, if even this may be called proper, becauſe the Addition ſeems taken into the Heb. from Tranſlations; I would take a little Notice of the forementioned Author's remarkable and mature Opinion, that Wherever in two Copies of the ſame Writing the one differs from the other in Word or Letter, or in the Poſition of them, every ſuch Difference is properly a Various Reading, p. 272. If he means Writing in general, as he makes no Diſtinction; and with what Reaſon or Senſe could he diſtinguiſh between that by the Pen and Preſs? if, I ſay, Printing be included, then all the Errors of the Proof-Sheets would be properly Various Readings, and otherwiſe all the Slips of the Pen, which a Writer ſhould look back on, and correct, as I ſee here I have inadvertently writ woult for would: behold what a Various Reading it would be, the t being one Copy, and the d another, or if t remained, and it was tranſcribed by dl What a Heap of Confuſion will ſuch a Notion, if admitted, bury the Holy Scripture in! However he brings his laboured Sentiment to an undeniable Concluſion, viz. If all Various Readings muſt be owing either to Chance or Deſign; we may certainly conclude, that where neither of theſe Cauſes are admitted, there can be no ſuch thing as a Various Reading at all: that is, if all muſt be ſo, we may (as though ſome would or do not) certainly conclude there can be none otherwiſe; yet not conclude thus univerſally, by his Words (while Nothing can be more certain than that) but only conditionally, or locally where. If ſuch Reaſonings as theſe from ſo great a Maſter of the Arts of Reaſon and the new Hebrew Literature will not convince the pertinacious Adherers to the Hebrew Text, they are like to be left in their Obſtinacy. And what bad MS. Copies he would alter the printed ones by, may be abundantly ſeen in his own Book, particularly in p. 395, 396.

His reckoning theſe two Verſes a certain true Reading, p. 567, 568. does not however, to do him Juſtice, appear to be from his Partiality to the common Engliſh, but againſt the common Hebrew, in the Text of which latter he preſumes, that They (himſelf for one) to whoſe Care (not to that of all Chriſtians, as formerly to the Jews, Rom.

38. Moreover

38. Moreover out of the Tribe of Gad, Ramoth in Gilead, a City of Refuge for the Slayer, with its Suburbs, and Mahanaim,

39. Heſhbon, Jazer, with their reſpective Suburbs; all being four Cities.

40. Therefore all the Cities for the Merarites by their Families, the reſt of the Families of the Levites, were twelve by their Lot.

41. All the Cities of the Levites, being within the Inheritance of the Iſraelites, were forty eight, with their Suburbs.

42. Which Cities every one in particular, were with their Suburbs round about them.

43. Thus the Lord gave Iſrael all the Country which he had ſworn to give their Fathers; and they poſſeſſed the ſame, and dwelt in it.

44. He further gave them reſt round about, entirely as he had ſworn to their Fathers; and there ſtood not a Man of all their Enemies before them, the Lord delivered them all into their Power.

45. There failed Nothing of all the good Things which the Lord ſpoke of to the Family of Iſrael; all came to paſs.

CHAP. XXII.

THEN Joſhua calling the Reubenites, Gadites, and the half Tribe of Manaſſeh,

2. Said to them; Ye have obſerved all that Moſes the Servant of the Lord did command you, as likewiſe hearkened to what I ſaid in all which I commanded you;

3. Having not left your Brethren for this great while to this Time, but obſerved the Charge of the Lord your God's Commandment.

4. Who has now given your Brethren reſt, as he told them: therefore now turn about, and get you to your Tents at the Country of your Inheritance, which Moſes the Lord's Servant gave you beyond Jordan.

5. Only be very careful to do the Commandments, and Laws, which he commanded you, to love the Lord your God, to go in all his Ways, obſerve his Commandments, cleave to him, and ſerve him with your whole Heart and Soul.

6. Joſhua next bleſſed them, and ſent them away; and they went to their Tents.

7. Now Moſes had given to half the Tribe of Manaſſeh in Baſhan, and Joſhua gave to the other half of it with their Brethren, on this ſide Jordan weſtward; who alſo when he ſent them away, bleſſed them,

8. Saying to them as follows; Return to your Tents with much Subſtance, with very many Cattle, with Silver, Gold, Braſs, Iron, and very much Apparel; divide the Spoil of your Enemies with your Brethren.

9. So the Reubenites, Gadites, and the half Tribe of Manaſſeh, went back from the Iſraelites at Shiloh, which is in the Country of Canaan, to go to that of Gilead, the Country of their Inheritance, which they were poſſeſſed of, at the Command of the Lord by the Miniſtry of Moſes.

10. And when they were come to the Borders of Jordan that are at the Country of Canaan, they built an Altar there by Jordan, a great one to look at.

11. But the Iſraelites hearing it was ſaid, that behold they had built an Altar there, over againſt the Country of Canaan, at the Iſraelites Paſſage;

12. Their whole Aſſembly gathered together at Shiloh, to go up to War againſt them.

13. To whom they ſent, into the Country of Gilead, Phinehas the Son of Eleazar the Prieſt,

14. And ten Princes with him, each one for a Father's Family throughout all the Tribes of Iſrael, they being the chief Men of the ſame among their Thouſands;

15. Theſe being got thither to the Reubenites, Gadites, and the half Tribe of Manaſſeh, ſpoke to them as follows:

16. Thus ſays the whole Aſſembly of the Lord, What Fault is this that you have committed againſt the God of Iſrael, to turn back now from following the Lord, by your building you an Altar for you to rebel now againſt him?

17. Was the Iniquity of Peor too little for us, which we are not cleanſed from to this Day, although there was a Plague among the Aſſembly of the Lord, iii. 2.) are committed the Oracles of God, have full Powers to re-eſtabliſh all ſuch Readings, as ſeem to them certainly true, that are not in the preſent printed Copies, and the preſent textual Readings may be continued, he ſays, in the Margin; where, he alſo ſays, not only ſuch Readings as are probably, but no more than poſſibly true, have a Right to be admitted, p. 567, 569. What a monſtrous confuſed Margin that, and what a Bible ſhould we have at this Rate! He finds fault indeed, towards the End of his Book, with the noted Bolingbroke, for his mentioning Things to the Diſcredit of the Old Teſtament, which are the wild Whims of Jewiſh Rabbies; but as if himſelf had forgot how often he had done the like in his own Book, which it would not be worth while to read over for the ſake of numbering up the Inſtances.

---

Ver. 41. forty eight] as ordered Num. xxxv. 7.

Ver. 10. at] For the Altar was not built in the Country of Canaan, Ver. 11, 25, 26, 32. much leſs before they got out of it.

18. That you turn back now from following the Lord? Againſt whom you rebelling to Day, to Morrow he will be in a Wrath with the whole Aſſembly of Iſrael.

19. But yet if the Country of your Inheritance is unclean, come you to that of the Lord's, where his Tabernacle remains, and inherit among us; and do not rebel both againſt the Lord and us, by building you an Altar beſides that of the Lord our God.

20. Did not Achan the Son of Zerah commit a Fault by the accurſed Things, and Wrath was upon the whole Aſſembly of Iſrael, and that Man did not die alone in his Iniquity?

21. Whereupon the Reubenites, Gadites, and half Tribe of Manaſſeh made anſwer, to the Heads of the Thouſands of Iſrael:

22. The Lord God of gods, the Lord God of gods he knows, and let Iſrael it ſelf know, if it is in Rebellion or Fault againſt the Lord, do not ſave us this Day,

23. That we have built us an Altar, to turn back from following him; or if it is to offer up Burnt-offerings, Meat-offerings, or Sacrifices of Peace-offerings upon it, let the Lord himſelf require it:

24. And if we have not done this by reaſon of our Care about the Matter, that your Poſterity ſhould ſay to ours hereafter; What have you to do with the Lord God of Iſrael?

25. For he has made Jordan the Border between us and you, the Reubenites and Gadites, you have no Part in the Lord. Thus will your Poſterity make ours ceaſe from fearing him.

26. Therefore we ſaid, Let us now make ready that we may build an Altar, not for Burnt-offering, nor Sacrifice;

27. But it ſhall be a Witneſs betwixt us and you, and our Generations after us, that we may do the Service of the Lord before him, with our Burnt-offerings, Sacrifices and Peace-offerings; that your Poſterity may not tell ours hereafter, they have no Part in him.

28. Which when they ſhall ſay, ſaid we, to us, or our Generations hereafter, we may anſwer; See the Pattern of the Lord's Altar which our Fathers made, not for Burnt-offering, nor Sacrifice, but it is a Witneſs betwixt us and you.

29. Far be it from us to rebel againſt the Lord, and turn back now from following him, by building an Altar for Burnt-offering, Meat-offering, or Sacrifice, beſides the Altar of the Lord our God that is before his Tabernacle.

30. And when Phinehas the Prieſt, the Princes of the Aſſembly, and Heads of the Thouſands of Iſrael, who were with him, heard the Words which the Reubenites, Gadites, and Manaſſehites ſpoke, they were pleaſed.

31. Phinehas the Son of Eleazar the Prieſt alſo ſaid to them; We know to Day that the Lord is among us, becauſe you did not commit this Fault againſt him; then you delivered the Iſraelites out of his Hand.

32. So he, and the Princes, returned from the Reubenites, and Gadites, out of the Country of Gilead, into that of Canaan to the Iſraelites, and brought them back Word.

33. Whom the Matter did not diſpleaſe, ſo that they bleſſed God, and ſpoke no more of going up againſt them to War, to deſtroy the Country which they dwelt in.

34. And the Reubenites and Gadites gave a name to the Altar, For it is a Witneſs between us, ſaid they, that the Lord is God.

CHAP. XXIII.

NOW a great while after the Lord had given Iſrael reſt from all their Enemies round about, Joſhua being old, advanced in Age,

2. Called all Iſrael, their Elders, Heads, Judges and Officers, to whom he ſaid: I am got to be ancient;

3. And you have ſeen all that the Lord your God has done to all theſe Nations, by reaſon of you; ſince it was he who fought for you.

4. See, I have cauſed theſe Nations that are left, to fall by Lot to you for a Poſſeſſion to your Tribes, from Jordan, with all thoſe that I have exterminated, thoſe alſo of the great Sea at the Sun-ſetting.

5. And the Lord your God himſelf will drive them away from your Preſence, and expel them from before you; ſo that you ſhall inherit their Country, as he promiſed you.

6. Be very courageous therefore, to obſerve, and do all which is written in the Book of the Law of Moſes; that you may not turn aſide from it, to the right Hand, or the left:

7. That you may not enter among theſe Nations which are left with you; the Names of whoſe gods you ſhall neither make mention of, require to ſwear by them, ſerve them, nor bow down to them.

Ver. 20. was] not fell.

Ver. 31. then] ſo the Hebrew Word is, not now.

Ver. 34. For it is a Witneſs] By which it appears ſufficiently, that the Altar was named Witneſs.

Ver. 4. fall] which is the Hebrew.

Ib. thoſe of the great Sea] The unconquered Parts, as being the farthermoſt from where the Iſraelites entered, lying by it, Chap. xiii. 2, &c. and thus Jun. and Trem. tranſlate, the Original not having unto.

8. But

8. But ſhall keep cloſe to the Lord your God, as you have done to this Day.

9. For the Lord has expelled great and ſtrong Nations, by reaſon of you: and as for you, no Man has ſtood in your Preſence to this Day.

10. One Man of you ſhall purſue a thouſand: for the Lord your God himſelf fights for you, as he promiſed you.

11. Be very careful therefore of your ſelves, to love the Lord your God.

12. For if you do at all turn back, and cleave to the reſt of theſe Nations that are left with you, and join with them by Marriage, going in to them, and they to you;

13. Know throughly that the Lord your God will no more expel them from your Preſence, but they will be Gins and Snares to you, Whips on your Sides, and Prickles in your Eyes, till you periſh from this good Land which the Lord your God has given you.

14. And behold I am now going the Way of all the Earth; and you know with your whole Hearts and Souls, that not a ſingle Thing has failed of all the good ones which the Lord your God ſpoke concerning you; all are come to paſs to you, without one of them failing.

15. On the other hand as all good Things are come to paſs to you, of which the Lord your God ſpoke to you; ſo will the Lord bring all ill Things upon you, till he has deſtroyed you from this good Land which he himſelf gave you;

16. When you tranſgreſs the Covenant of the Lord your God which he commanded you, and go, and ſerve other gods, bowing down to them: for the Lord will be angry with you, ſo that you will quickly periſh from the good Land which he has given you.

CHAP. XXIV.

AND Joſhua gathered all the Tribes of Iſrael to Shechem, calling their Elders, Heads, Judges and Officers, who preſented themſelves before God.

2. And he ſaid to all the People: Thus ſays the Lord God of Iſrael; your Forefathers dwelt beyond the River of old time, Terah the Father both of Abraham and Nahor, and they ſerved other gods.

3. But I took your Father Abraham from thence, and had him through all the Country of Canaan, increaſing his Offspring, and giving him Iſaac:

4. To whom I gave Jacob and Eſau, as I did to Eſau Mount Seir to inherit; but Jacob and his Poſterity went down to Egypt.

5. I alſo ſent Moſes and Aaron, and ſmote Egypt, according as I did within it, and afterwards brought you out.

6. And when I had brought your Fathers out of Egypt, you came to the Red Sea, whither the Egyptians purſued after them with Chariots and Horſemen.

7. Yet they crying to the Lord, he put Darkneſs between you and the Egyptians, brought the Sea over them, and covered them, and when you had ſeen with your Eyes what I did in Egypt, you dwelt in the Wilderneſs a great while.

8. Then I brought you into the Country of the Amorites, that dwelt beyond Jordan, who fought with you; and I delivered them into your Power, and you inherited their Country, when I had deſtroyed them from your Preſence.

9. And Balak the Son of Zippor, King of Moab, got ready, that he might fight with Iſrael, and ſent for Balaam the Son of Beor to curſe you.

10. But I would not hearken to Balaam, ſo he bleſſed you ſtill, and I delivered you out of his Power.

11. Moreover when you were paſſed through Jordan, and come to Jericho, the Men belonging to it fought with you, the Amorites, Perizzites, Canaanites, Hittites, Girgaſhites, Hivites and Jebuſites, whom I delivered into your Power.

12. Nay I ſent the Hornet before you, which drove away from your Preſence, the two Kings of the Amorites, not with your Sword nor Bow.

13. And I have given you a Country, for which you did not labour, Cities that you built not, which you dwell in: you eat of Vineyards and Olive-yards, which you did not plant.

14. Now therefore fear the Lord, and ſerve him in Integrity and Truth, and put away the gods which your Fathers ſerved beyond the River and in Egypt, and ſerve the Lord.

15. However, if you do not like to ſerve him, chooſe for your ſelves to Day whom you will ſerve; whether the gods that your Forefathers ſerved, who were beyond the River, or the gods of the Amorites in whoſe Country you dwell: but I and my Family will ſerve the Lord.

Ver. 9. that he might fight] ſince he did not actually make war: ſo Jun. and Trem. ut certaret.

16. To

16. To which the People made anſwer; Far be it from us to forſake the Lord, to ſerve other gods.

17. For the Lord our God is he who brought us and our Fathers up from the Country of Egypt, from the Place of Slaves, who did thoſe great Signs in our Sight, and kept us in all the Way where we went, and among all the People whom we paſſed through.

18. Beſides the Lord drove out all the People, particularly the Amorites who dwelt in the Country, from our Preſence: we will alſo ſerve the Lord, for he is our God.

19. And Joſhua replied to the People; You cannot ſerve the Lord; as he is a holy God, a zealous one, who will not forgive your Treſpaſſes, nor Sins;

20. When you forſake him, and ſerve ſtrange gods: nay he will turn back, and do you hurt, and conſume you, after he has done you good.

21. No, ſaid they to Joſhua, but we will ſerve the Lord.

22. To which he rejoined, You are Witneſſes for your ſelves, that ye have choſen you the Lord, to ſerve him. Who anſwered, We are.

23. Therefore now, added he, put away the ſtrange gods that are among you, and incline your Hearts to the Lord God of Iſrael.

24. And the People ſaid to him, We will ſerve the Lord our God, and hearken to what he ſays.

25. So Joſhua made a Covenant with the People that Day, and ſet them an Ordinance and Rule at Shechem.

26. He further wrote theſe Words in the Book of the Law of God; and taking a great Stone, ſet it up there under an Oak, that was by the Sanctuary of the Lord;

27. Saying to all the People, Behold this Stone ſhall be a Witneſs to us, ſince it has been at the Hearing of all the Words which the Lord ſpoke to us: it ſhall even be a Witneſs to you, leſt you ſhould deny your God.

28. At length he ſent away the People to their ſeveral Poſſeſſions.

29. And after theſe Things Joſhua the Son of Nun, the Servant of the Lord, died, being in his hundred and tenth Year.

30. Whom they buried in the Border of his Poſſeſſion at Timnath-ſerah, which is on the Mountain of Ephraim, at the north Side of Mount Gaaſh.

31. And Iſrael ſerved the Lord all the Days both of Joſhua, and of the Elders whoſe Time was prolonged after him, and who had known all the Works which the Lord did for Iſrael.

32. Joſeph's Bones too which the Iſraelites brought up from Egypt, they buried at Shechem, in a Piece of Land which Jacob bought of the Poſterity of Hamor the Father of Shechem, for a hundred Lambs; and it became the Poſſeſſion of the Poſterity of Joſeph.

33. And when Eleazar the Son of Aaron died, they buried him on a Hill of Phinehas his Son, which was given him on the Mountain of Ephraim.

NOTES upon the BOOK of the JUDGES.

CHAP. I.

NOW after Joſhua's Death, the Iſraelites enquired thus of the Lord, Which of us ſhall go up to the Canaanites firſt, to fight with them?

2. And the Lord ſaid, Let Judah go up; behold I give up the Country into his Power.

3. With that Judah ſaid to his Brother Simeon, Go up with me into my Lot, that we may fight againſt the Canaanites, and I will alſo go with thee into thine: accordingly Simeon went with him.

4. Thus Judah went up, and the Lord gave up the Canaanites and Perizzites into their Power; who ſlew of them in Bezek ten thouſand Men.

5. For finding the Lord of Bezek there, they fought with him, and ſlew the Canaanites and Perizzites.

6. And the Lord of Bezek fleeing, they purſued after him; whom they caught, and cut off his Thumbs and great Toes.

7. Who ſaid, Seventy Kings, with their Thumbs and great Toes cut off, have picked up under my Table; as I did, ſo God has recompenſed me. And they brought him to Jeruſalem, where he died.

8. For the People of Judah fought againſt Jeruſalem, which they took, and ſmote it with the Edge of the Sword, ſetting the City on Fire.

9. And afterwards they went down to fight againſt the Canaanites, who inhabited the Mountain, the South and Vale.

10. Judah likewiſe went againſt the Canaanites who dwelt in Hebron, the Name of which before was The Town of Arba; and they ſlew Sheſhai, Ahiman and Talmai.

11. Beſides he went from thence againſt the Inhabitants of Debir, the Name of which before was Kirjath-ſepher.

12. And Caleb ſaid, To him who conquers Kirjath-ſepher, and takes it, I will give my Daughter Achſah for a Wife.

13. Which he did to Othniel, the Son of his younger Brother Kenaz, who took it.

Book] As ſeveral Things are ſaid to be done in it when there was no King in Iſrael, Chap. xvii. 6. & xviii. 1. & xix. 1. & xxi. 25. we may conclude with Newton in his Obſervations upon the Prophecies of Daniel, Chap. i. that it was written after the Beginning of Saul's Reign; and as the Jebuſites dwelt then at Jeruſalem, Chap. i. 21. that it was done before the 8th Year of the Reign of David, 2 Sam. v. 8. 1 Chron. xi. 6. conſequently this Book ſeems penned by Samuel, whoſe Death before David reigned limits the lateſt Time. I judge ſtill further, that as the Hiſtory of Ruth fell out in the Time of the Judges, Chap. i. 1. this Book was made after that, or elſe it would have taken in ſuch a remarkable Narrative; and ſo by the Account of that Book, the Time of writing this will be limited to the ſooneſt, and into a little Compaſs towards the End of Samuel's Life, when he was gone into Retirement from Saul, 1 Sam. xv. 34, 35. and here Chap. xx. 27. agrees with the Ark's being abſent at Kirjath-jearim, 1 Sam. vii. 2.

the Judges] like The Acts of the Apoſtles; for it is not concerning Judges in general.

Ver. 1. Which of us] as the Senſe may determine it to be, ſince they could not expect any other to do it for them. So Jun. and Trem. have quis ex nobis, Caſtal. quinam ſuorum.

Ver. 5. Lord of Bezek] So the Margins of the interlineary and Tigurin Bibles expound it: the Letter jod, ſays Munſter, being added over and above; therefore he interprets it, Dominus loci Bæzæk, the Lord of the Place Bezek. This further appears in his not being called by any other Title, as King, &c. which Adoni-zedek was, Joſh. x. 1, 3. and the Words not joined by makkaph (-) like the other, beſides that zedek is Righteouſneſs, not the Name of a Place.

Ver. 6. Thumbs and great Toes] Gen. thumbes of his handes and of his feete, after the Welch Manner of ſpeaking.

Ver. 8. fought] This, and what follows to the 19th Verſe, muſt needs be done now after Joſhua's Deceaſe, when there is ſo much Mention of who did it, as the People of Judah, Ver. 8, 9. Judah, Ver. 10, 18, 19. he, Ver. 11. Judah with Simeon, Ver. 17. not all the Iſraelites with Joſhua, Joſh. x. 36, 38. Some of thoſe Cities, as Hebron and Debir, deſtroyed and not burnt, Joſh. x. 37, 39. might be peopled again by the Natives; and ſo we find that Hebron, given to Caleb afterwards, muſt have its Inhabitants driven out before he could poſſeſs it, Joſh. xiv. 12. nay Hazor that was burnt, Joſh. xi. 11. became a Metropolis, Chap. iv. 2. Therefore the Account of Caleb in the 15th Chapter of Joſhua, &c. is to be referred hither, like Chap. xix. 47. that Book being written as it appears a conſiderable Time after, Chap. iv. 9. & vii. 26. & viii. 29. & ix. 27. & x. 27. And returning to the Place here commented on, we may obſerve, that they brought him to Jeruſalem does not well agree with the City being burnt before. Nay we may find the Iſraelites had not got it, or taken it, when the Levite paſſed by, Chap. xix. 10, 11, 12. Moreover our Tranſlators ſhould have related the reſt in the preterpluperfect Tenſe by had, if they would have made it conſiſtent with this. To conclude, Patrick writes on Ver. 12. 'that all Things here mentioned were not done till after 'the Death of Joſhua, is ſo evident as to leave no Doubt 'of it;' and Lightfoot, The 8 Verſe ſhould be read, not as if it had been done before, now the children of Judah had, Harmony of the Old Teſtament.

14. And when ſhe came, ſhe perſuaded him to aſk her Father for Land; and ſhe alighting from the Aſs, Caleb ſaid to her, What wouldeſt thou have?

15. Who anſwered him, Beſtow on me a Bleſſing: for as thou haſt given me Land in the South, thou ſhouldeſt alſo ſome Springs of Water. So Caleb gave her Springs both above and below.

16. The Poſterity alſo of the Kenite, the Father-in-law of Moſes, went up from the City of Palm-trees, with the Poſterity of Judah, to the Wilderneſs of Judah, which is in the South of Arad; where being arrived, they dwelt with thoſe People.

17. Judah too went with Simeon his Brother, and they ſlew the Canaanites who inhabited Zephath, as alſo deſtroyed it; the Name of the City being called Hormah.

18. Moreover Judah took Gaza, Aſhkelon and Ekron, with their reſpective Borders.

19. For the Lord was with him, ſo that he expelled thoſe of the Mountain; though he was not to expel the Inhabitants of the Vale, becauſe they had iron Chariots.

20. And they gave to Caleb Hebron, as Moſes had ſpoken; who expelled from thence the three Sons of Anak.

21. Whereas the People of Benjamin did not expel the Jebuſites who dwelt at Jeruſalem, but the Jebuſites dwell there with them to this Day.

22. As for the Family of Joſeph, they alſo went up to Beth-el; and the Lord was with them.

23. For when they cauſed Beth-el to be ſearched, the Name of the City before being Luz;

24. The Spies ſaw a Man coming out of it, to whom they ſaid, Shew us, we pray, an Entrance to the City, and we will deal kindly with thee.

25. So he ſhewed them one, and they conquered the City with the Edge of the Sword; but they let the Man go, and all his Family.

26. Upon this he went to the Country of the Hittites, and built a City, whoſe Name he called Luz, which is the Name of it to this Day.

27. But Manaſſeh did not expel thoſe of Beth-ſhean, of Taanach, the Inhabitants of Dor, Ibleam, nor Megiddo, with the Towns of each: for the Canaanites would dwell in that Country.

28. Yet when Iſrael became ſtrong, they made them tributary; but did not expel them utterly.

29. And Ephraim did not expel the Canaanites who dwelt in Gezer; but they dwelt there among them.

30. Zebulun did not expel the Inhabitants of Kitron, nor thoſe of Nahalol; but the Canaanites dwelt among them, and became tributary.

31. Aſher did not expel the Inhabitants of Acco, thoſe of Zidon, Ahlab, Achzib, Helbah, Aphik, nor of Rehob.

32. But the Aſherites dwelt among the Canaanites, the Inhabitants of the Country; becauſe they did not expel them.

33. Naphtali did not expel the Inhabitants of Beth-ſhemeſh, nor thoſe of Beth-anath; but dwelt among the Canaanites, the Inhabitants of the Country: yet the Inhabitants of Beth-ſhemeſh and Beth-anath became tributary to them.

34. However the Amorites preſſed the People of Dan to the Mountain; ſince they did not permit them to come down to the Vale.

35. For the Amorites would dwell on Mount Heres, at Aijalon and Shaalbim; yet the Power of the Family of Joſeph was ſo weighty, that they became tributary.

36. And the Bounds of the Amorites was from the Aſcent of Akrabbim, from the Rock upward.

Ib. was not to expel] Becauſe Judah had too little Faith and Obedience, for the Lord to be with him in doing ſuch a greater Work, agreeable to Mat. ix. 28, 29. & xvii. 19, 20, 21, 22. & xiii. 58. Acts xiv. 9. Heb. iii. 19. Deut. i. 42, 43, 44. with Chap. ii. 2, 3. here; and would too much value himſelf for his own Exploit, as in Chap. vii. 2. Deut. xxxii. 27. which clears up and corroborates the foregoing, and the Hebrew Verb is infinitive.

CHAP. II.

NOW there went up a Meſſenger of the Lord from Gilgal to Bochim, and he declared; I cauſed you to come out of Egypt, and brought you to the Country of which I ſware to your Fathers; nay I ſaid, I will never break my Covenant with you.

2. But you ſhall make no Treaty with the Inhabitants of this Country, you ſhall break down their Altars; yet you have not hearkened to what I ſaid; why did you do this?

3. So I alſo ſay, I will not drive them out from your Preſence; but they ſhall be at your Sides, and their gods be a Snare to you.

4. Now as the Meſſenger of the Lord ſpoke theſe Words to all the Iſraelites, the People burſt out a crying.

5. Whereupon they called the Name of that Place Bochim, and ſacrificed there to the Lord.

6. And when Joſhua had ſent away the People of the Iſraelites, and they were gone to their reſpective Poſſeſſions, to inherit the Country;

7. They ſerved the Lord all the Time of Joſhua, and all that of the Elders whoſe Time was prolonged after him, who ſaw all the great Works which the Lord did for Iſrael.

8. But Joſhua the Son of Nun, the Servant of the Lord, dying, in his hundred and tenth Year;

9. Whom they buried in the Border of his Poſſeſſion, at Timnath-heres on the Mountain of Ephraim, at the north Side of Mount Gaaſh;

10. And alſo that whole Generation being gathered to their Fathers; there roſe up another Generation after them, who did not know the Lord, nor yet the Works that he had done for Iſrael.

11. Then the Iſraelites did what the Lord was diſpleaſed with: for they ſerved Baalim,

12. And forſook the Lord God of their Fathers, who brought them out of the Country of Egypt, going after other gods, ſome of thoſe of the People that were round about them, and bowing down to them; whereby they provoked the Lord.

13. Therefore when they forſook him, and ſerved Baal and Aſhtaroth;

14. The Lord was angry with Iſrael, and gave them up into the Power of Spoilers, who ſpoiled them, and delivered them up into the Power of their Enemies round about, ſo that they could no longer ſtand before them.

15. Whitherſoever they went out the Hand of the Lord was againſt them for Harm, as the Lord had ſpoken, and as he had ſworn to them; inſomuch that they were exceedingly diſtreſſed.

16. However the Lord raiſed up Judges, who ſaved them from the Power of thoſe who ſpoiled them.

17. But yet they would not hearken to their Judges; for they went a whoring after other gods, and bowed down to them: they departed ſpeedily from the Way wherein their Fathers walked, by hearkening to the Commandments of the Lord; they not doing ſo.

18. For when the Lord raiſed them up Judges, and was himſelf with the Judge, ſaving them from the Power of their Enemies all his Time; becauſe the Lord was ſorry for their Groaning, by reaſon of thoſe who oppreſſed them, and ſtreightened them:

19. Yet when the Judge was dead, they again corrupted themſelves more than their

It is improbable it would be ſaid of an Angel thus, that he went up from Gilgal to Bochim; and Angels did not uſe to deliver their Meſſage to all the People.

Fathers,

Fathers, by going after other gods to ſerve them, and bow down to them: they fell not from their Doings, nor from their ſtiff Way.

20. At which incenſed againſt Iſrael, the Lord ſaid; Foraſmuch as this Nation have tranſgreſſed my Covenant which I commanded their Fathers, and have not hearkened to what I ſaid;

21. I will even no more expel a Man from their Preſence, of the Nations which Joſhua left, when he died:

22. That I may try Iſrael by them, whether they will obſerve the Way of the Lord to go therein, as their Fathers did, or not.

23. Thus the Lord left theſe Nations without expelling them ſpeedily, and did not give them up into the Power of Joſhua.

CHAP. III.

AND theſe are the Nations that the Lord left to try all thoſe of Iſrael by, who did not know all the Wars of Canaan;

2. That however the Generations of the Iſraelites might know how to teach thoſe War at leaſt, who knew them not before:

3. Five Lords of the Philiſtines, and all the Canaanites, with the Zidonians, and the Hivites who dwelt on Mount Lebanon, from that of Baal-hermon to the Entrance of Hamath.

4. By whom Iſrael were to be tried, to know whether they would hearken to the Commandments of the Lord, which he enjoined their Fathers by the Miniſtry of Moſes.

5. But the Iſraelites dwelling among the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Hivites and Jebuſites;

6. They not only took them their Daughters for Wives, and gave their own Daughters to their Sons, but ſerved their gods.

7. Therefore when they did what the Lord was diſpleaſed with, and forgot the Lord their God, ſerving Baalim and the Groves;

8. The Lord was ſo angry with them, that he delivered them up into the Power of Cuſhan-riſhathaim King of Meſopotamia; whom they ſerved eight Years.

9. But they crying to the Lord, he raiſed up for them a Saviour, who ſaved them, Othniel the Son of Kenaz Caleb's younger Brother.

10. For the Spirit of the Lord was upon him, and he judged Iſrael, and going out to War, the Lord gave up Cuſhan-riſhathaim King of Syria into his Power, ſo that it became ſtrong over him.

11. Afterwards the Country reſted out forty Years, and Othniel the Son of Kenaz died.

12. Moreover the Iſraelites did again what the Lord was diſpleaſed with; who made Eglon the King of Moab ſtrong over them, becauſe they did ſo.

13. And he gathering to him the Ammonites and Amalekites, went and beat Iſrael, and poſſeſſed the City of Palm-trees.

14. Whereupon the Iſraelites ſerved Eglon King of Moab eighteen Years.

15. But they crying to the Lord, he raiſed them up a Saviour, Ehud the Son of Gera, the Son of a Benjaminite, a Man lame of his right Hand; by whom the Iſraelites ſent a Preſent to Eglon King of Moab.

16. For Ehud made him a Sword which had two Edges, a Cubit long; and girded it under his Garments upon his right Thigh.

17. So he brought the Preſent to Eglon King of Moab, who was a very fat Man.

18. And when he had finiſhed doing it, he ſent away the People who carried the Preſent:

19. Whereas he returned from the carved Images which were at Gilgal, and ſaid, I have a ſecret Matter to thee, O King; who anſwered, Keep ſilence; and all who ſtood by him went out from him.

20. Then Ehud went to him, as he was ſitting in a cooling Chamber which he had for himſelf alone, and ſaid, I have a Matter from God for thee; at which he roſe up from the Seat.

21. And Ehud putting forth his left Hand, took off the Sword from his right Thigh, and ſtuck it into his Belly:

Ver. 20. Chamber] From עלה to go up. In 2 Kings i. 2. called upper chamber.

22. Inſomuch

22. Insomuch that even the Hilt went in after the Blade, and the Fat closed up about the Blade, for he could not draw the Sword out of his Belly; and the Dung came forth.

23. Next Ehud went out at the Gallery, and shut the Doors of the Chamber about him, and locked them.

24. At length when he was gone out, Eglon's Servants came, and seeing plainly that the Chamber-doors were locked, they said, Verily he is covering his Feet in the cool Parlour.

25. And they staid a good while, but behold he did not open the Chamber-door; which at last taking a Key, they did themselves, and their Lord indeed was fallen on the Ground dead.

26. So Ehud escaped whilst they delayed, which, passing by the carved Images, he did to Seirath.

27. And as soon as he was come, he blew a Trumpet on Mount Ephraim, that the Israelites might go down from the Mountain with him, and he before them.

28. To whom he said, Follow after me; for the Lord has given up your Enemies, the Moabites, into your Power: accordingly they went down after him, and took the Passages of Jordan to Moab, and did not suffer a Man to pass over.

29. They also killed of the Moabites at that Time about ten thousand Men, all lusty, and all Men of Strength; and there was not a Man escaped.

30. Thus Moab was brought down that Day under the Power of Israel; and the Country rested out eighty Years.

31. After him too there was Shamgar the Son of Anath, who killed six hundred Men of the Philistines with an Ox-goad; and he also saved Israel.

CHAP. IV.

HOWEVER the Israelites did again what the Lord was displeased with, when Ehud was dead.

2. And he delivered them up into the Power of Jabin King of Canaan, who reigned in Hazor; the Captain of whose Army was Sisera, that dwelt in Harosheth of the Nations.

3. Upon which they cried to the Lord: for he had nine hundred iron Chariots, and oppressed them powerfully twenty Years.

4. And Deborah a Propheteſs, the Wife of Lapidoth, judged Israel at that Time.

5. Who dwelt under the Palm-tree of Deborah, between Ramah and Beth-el, on Mount Ephraim; and to her they went up for Judgment.

6. So she sent for Barak the Son of Abinoam, from Kedesh-naphtali; and said to him; Has not the Lord God of Israel commanded, Go, and draw to Mount Tabor, taking with thee ten thousand Men, of the Naphtalites and Zebulunites?

7. And I will draw to thee, at the River Kishon, Sisera the Captain of Jabin's Army, with his Chariots and Multitude; and will give him up into thy Power.

8. To whom Barak said, If thou wilt go with me, then will I go; but if thou wilt not, I will not go.

9. And she replied, I will go throughout with thee; nevertheless the Reputation will not be thine in the Expedition that thou goest on, because the Lord will deliver up Sisera into the Power of a Woman: so she got ready, and went with him to Kedesh.

10. Moreover he called Zebulun and Naphtali thither, and went up accompanied by ten thousand Men; she going up with him.

11. Now Heber the Kenite, of the Sons of Hobab the Father-in-law of Moses, was parted from the Kenites; and had extended his Habitation to the Oak of Zaanaim, which is at Kedesh.

12. And when they told Sisera, that Barak the Son of Abinoam was gone up Mount Tabor;

13. He called for all his Chariots, nine hundred iron ones, and all the People who

The Mention of which seems Refutation enough. And as Maundrell tells us, the People still use Goads of an extraordinary Size in that Country, and that upon measuring several, he found them about eight Feet long, and at the bigger End six Inches about, with a small Spade or Paddle of Iron there, strong and massy for cleansing the Plough, Journey from Aleppo to Jerusalem; which surely might do great Execution.

15. With that the Lord routed Siſera, all the Chariots, and the whole Army, with the Edge of the Sword before Barak; ſo that Siſera got down from his Chariot, and fled away on his Feet.

16. Barak too purſued after the Chariots and the Army, to Haroſheth of the Nations: thus all the Army of Siſera fell by the Edge of the Sword, there being not even one left.

17. Now he fled as before mentioned to the Tent of Jael, the Wife of Heber the Kenite: for there was Peace between Jabin King of Hazor, and his Family.

18. And Jael going out to meet Siſera, ſaid to him, Turn aſide, my Lord, turn aſide to me, do not fear. So he turned aſide to her into the Tent, that ſhe might cover him with a Blanket.

19. Beſides he ſaid to her, Give me, I pray, a little Water to drink, for I am thirſty; who opening a Bottle of Milk, gave him drink, and covered him.

20. He ſaid to her further; Stand at the Door of the Tent; and if any one comes, and enquires of thee, Is there any Man here? Thou ſhalt anſwer, No.

21. But Jael the Wife of Heber took a Nail of the Tent, and putting a Hammer in her Hand, went to him ſecretly, and ſtuck the Nail ſo into his Temples, that it faſtened in the Ground: for he was faſt aſleep, and weary; thus he died.

22. And behold as Barak purſued Siſera, ſhe went out to meet him, and ſaid to him, Come, and I will ſhew thee the Man whom thou ſeekeſt. Accordingly he went in to her, and behold Siſera was fallen down dead, and the Nail was in his Temples.

23. Thus God brought down on that Day, Jabin King of Canaan, before the Iſraelites.

24. Nay their Hands went on more and more in being hard againſt him, till they had deſtroyed him.

CHAP. V.

AND Deborah ſung, with Barak the Son of Abinoam, on that Day, as follows:

2. For the taking Vengeance on behalf of Iſrael, for the People's offering themſelves Voluntiers, for both bleſs the Lord.

3. Hearken, O Kings; give ear, you Princes: I my ſelf will ſing to the Lord, will ſing melodiouſly to the Lord God of Iſrael.

the Sea of Tiberias, and ſtanding by it ſelf in the Plain of Galilee; being round, high and beautiful, with a plain Area at the Top, about two Furlongs long and one broad, very fertile and delightful; now incloſed with Trees on all Parts, excepting ſouthward, and having Ciſterns of good Water; from whence alſo may be ſeen the Mediterranean Sea one Way, and that of Tiberias another, the whole Breadth of the Country of Canaan; to all which and more, with a curious View of it, Maundrell adds, It is impoſſible for Man's Eyes to behold a higher Gratification of this Nature. As likewiſe Corten ſays, If Nature has formed any Thing more delightful than ordinary, it is this Mountain; which he further deſcribes, to appear like a Sugar-loaf from Eaſt to Weſt, and oval, as it is, from South to North, having a Way only on the Weſt to ride up, of an Hour long, and is encompaſſed on all Sides with pleaſant Trees, Shrubs and Graſs, there being the Ruins of a compleat Fortification, Caſtle, &c. on the Top; from which may be ſeen towards the North the Mountains of Lebanon and Baſhan, eaſtwards the Sea of Galilee or Tiberias, and the Mountains beyond, on the South-eaſt the Diſtricts of Samaria and Mountains about it, on the South the Mountains of Gilboa, South-weſt thoſe of Carmel, and weſtwards the Mountains of Nazareth, and beyond them into the Mediterranean Sea; the Plains of Galilee lying at the North-eaſt of it, and the inimitable Valley of Eſdraelon at the South-weſt, beyond which latter one alſo views Mount Hermon, and at the Foot of it a Village where the City of Nain (read of Luke vii. 11.) is ſaid to have ſtood; by which their ſeveral Situations may alſo be known: and this Author's Account is to be doubly valued, being taken as lately as in the Year 1738, and not from any other Author, ſince he ſays he did not remember to have ſeen an Account of it in any other.

Ver. 15. routed Siſera] If Deſcriptions of Battles are ſo entertaining, as it ſeems, I can perhaps give a probable one of this in brief, as follows: Siſera, who ſeems to be a young General, by his Mother inſtead of a Wife, Chap. v. 28. and eſpecially by his truſting himſelf alone to his Feet, Ch. iv. 15. might likely ſurround the Mountain, that Barak and his Men, whom he might be impoſed on to think much fewer than they were, might not eſcape; and having a little of the Coward, by his Flight, might be himſelf againſt the River, where it was leaſt probable Barak's Men would attempt breaking through; but where it appears they made the Charge, becauſe Siſera was there, and drove him, as related, to that Streight, and others into the River, Chap. v. 21. And to the Mountain they could have retreated, or might keep there a Reſerve to charge afreſh, whither the dreaded iron Chariots could not aſcend, Ver. 3. Thus by their compaſſing Mount Tabor, Barak would have but a ſmall Part of his Enemies to engage, if when their Commander was loſt, as likely, they betook themſelves likewiſe to Flight.

Ver. 16. by the Edge] The ſame as in the preceding Verſe, and upon is very unapt; ſee Num. xiv. 3, 43. Iſa. xiii. 15. &c.

Ver. 18. a Blanket] It is rendered a Blanket, Quilt, Covering, &c. but a Mantle would have been unfit either for him to hide or reſt under.

Ver. 21. ſecretly] The Root of it being to hide or wrap up; and ſo this Word is rendered in the preſ. Tranſlation, Chap. xviii. 22. and privily, 1 Sam. xxiv. 4.

Ib. was faſt aſleep] Biſh. ſlumbred ſore.

Ver. 22. fallen down] See Chap. v. 27.

Ver. 24. more and more] See the like Gen. xxvi. 13. So Caſtal. tranſlates it.

Ver. 2. bleſs] It is the ſame Ver. 9.

4. O Lord,

4. O Lord, when thou cameſt forth from Seir, when thou didſt march out of the Country of Edom; the Earth ſhook, and the Heavens ſhowered, even the Clouds poured out Water:

5. The Mountains flowed down at the Preſence of the Lord, that Sinai at the Preſence of the Lord God of Iſrael.

6. In the Time of Shamgar the Son of Anath, in the Time of Jael, the Ways were out of uſe, even ſuch as walked on Foot went in crooked Ways.

7. The Towns were become deſolate, thus in Iſrael were they become; till I Deborah aroſe, I roſe up a Mother in Iſrael.

8. They had choſen them new gods, then was War at the Gates; yet was there to be ſeen a Shield, or a Spear, among forty thouſand of thoſe Iſraelites?

9. My Heart is inclined to the Scribes of Iſrael, who freely offered themſelves among others: bleſſed for it be the Lord.

10. Ye who ride the fine Aſſes, who ſit in Judgment, or walk along the Way, diſcourſe together:

11. Away from the Noiſe of Archers, among the Drawing of Water, there let them talk over the righteous Things of the Lord, the righteous Things for his Towns in Iſrael; then may the Lord's People go down to the Gates.

12. Awake, awake, Deborah; awake, awake, ſpeak out a Poem: riſe up, Barak, and take away thy Priſoners captive, O Son of Abinoam.

13. Then he made the Remainder rule, the People for the ſtately ones; the Lord made them rule for me among the Powerful.

14. Out of Ephraim was their Root againſt Amalek, afterwards ſhalt thou be, Benjamin, among thy People: out of Machir came down the Law-givers, and out of Zebulun thoſe who write with the Pen of a Scribe.

15. Nay the Princes in Iſſachar were with Deborah; as Iſſachar, ſo Barak; who was ſent into the Valley on his Feet; while in the Parts of Reuben were great Determinations of Mind.

16. Why didſt thou ſtay between the two Packs, to hear the Bleatings of folded Flocks; while at the Parts of Reuben were great Things, Conſultations of Mind?

17. Gilead abode beyond Jordan; and why did Dan lodge in the Ships? Aſher reſided at the Harbour of the Seas, and dwelt in his ruinous Breaches.

Ver. 5. flowed down] Why not with Torrents of Rain?

Ver. 7. Towns] which being unfortified, the People could not live ſafe there, in ſuch Times of Devaſtation and Robbery.

Ver. 9. Pythagoras, as in his Life by Diog. Laertius, exhorted to ſing the Praiſes of God and good Men, for the Benefits received from them.

Ib. Scribes] viz. the Zebulunites who went to the Battle, Ver. 14. So Arias Montan. literally turns it.

Ver. 10. fine] or bright. So in the Tranſlations of Jun. and Trem. with Caſtal. is nitidas, in Leo Judæ's nitidis, in the vulg. Lat. nitentes, and in Coverdale's fayre.

Ib. ſit in Judgment] Gen. and Biſh. dwell by Middin, though Tynd. had as we now.

Ver. 11. among] or between.

Ver. 13. the Remainder] who were left of the Iſraelites, Ver. 7.

Ib. the People] of Iſrael, in the ſingular Number by Way of Eminence, and uſed in Diſtinction from others in the Scripture (as obſerved elſewhere) and even here, Ver. 2, 9, 11. the Enemies being alſo ſeveral, Ver. 19. However it is not in Heb. among the people, as in our common Engliſh, here being Nothing for among, as there is Ver. 9, 14. nor does the Heb. allow it to be genitive, of the People; but it is in Appoſition to Remainder, a Noun uſed for more than one Perſon, and the Heb. Stop between ſhews the Repetition of the Verb to be underſtood, he made the People rule: thus Sebaſt. Schmidt and the French Tranſ. have it.

Ib. for the ſtately] not over, which the Heb. Prepoſition ſcarcely ſignifies; and then it ſhould be over me, that having the ſame, and being governed by the very ſame Verb: but the over after is another Prepoſition.

Ib. ſtately ones] the Nobility of Iſrael, anſwerable to me.

Ib. the Lord] where is another Heb. Stop, and thus it makes out the [he] alſo before. Let this Tranſlation be compared with others, and the Original.

Ib. among] The ſame with that in Ver. 23. and as in Ver. 14.

Ib. the Powerful] Thoſe that follow.

Ver. 14. their Root] The firſt of their Rulers who fought with the Amalekites, viz. Joſhua of that Tribe, Exod. xvii. 10, 13. Num. xiii. 8.

Ib. ſhalt thou be, Benjamin] Saul of that Tribe. A remarkable Prophecy! I ſee not how it may be otherwiſe well interpreted, 1 Sam. xv.

Ver. 15. ſent] In two Editions of the Gen. ſet, but it ſeems a Miſtake for this.

Ib. while] or there being, only the Verb-ſubſtantive, ſo often underſtood.

Ib. in the Parts] So Jun. and Trem. have in partibus, as Ver. 16. and accordingly Buxt. in Lex.

Ib. Determinations] not impreſſions, as in the Engliſh Margin; and it ſeems ſatirical, and ſo is very beautiful, for the Reubenites telling what they were purpoſing and reſolving to do, had there been Occaſion for it.

Ver. 16. between the two Packs] The Words of Jacob concerning Iſſachar, Gen. xlix. 14. who appears to be meant here. Thus Trem. and Jun. render it, inter [illegible] ſarcinas; and Seb. Caſt. inter ſarcinas.

Ib. folded Flocks] to which Bleating eſpecially belongs.

Ib. while] Thus having praiſed the Princes of Iſſachar in Compariſon of Reuben, they reproach the common People of Iſſachar in Compariſon of the ſame. A beautiful Contraſt! not obſerved by the Commentators that I know of.

Ib. great Things] ironically, to be conſulting, when they ſhould have been acting.

Ib. Conſultations] Heb. hikre, anſwering to hikke, Determinations, which Similitude of Sound that Language is ſo fond of.

18. Zebulun

18. Zebulun and Naphtali, noted by Name, expoſed themſelves to die, upon the Heights of the Field.

19. The Kings came, they fought; the Kings of Canaan fatally fought, in Taanach then at watery Megiddo: their Wages the Spoil, but never received.

20. For from Heaven there fought, the Stars from their Courſes fought with Siſera.

21. The Waves of Kiſhon waſhed them away, that noted River of old Times, the River Kiſhon: O my Mind, what Power haſt thou overpowered!

22. Then were the Heels of the Horſes battered; by the Prancings, the Prancings of their ſeveral courageous Steeds.

23. Curſe Meroz, ſays the Angel of the Lord, curſe throughly the Inhabitants of it; becauſe they came not to the Help of the Lord, to the Help of the Lord among the Powerful.

24. The moſt bleſſed of Women is Jael the Wife of Heber the Kenite, thus bleſſed in a Tent.

25. He aſking for Water, ſhe gave Milk: ſhe preſented Butter-milk in a ſtately Diſh.

26. She put forth her Hand to the Nail, and her right Hand to the working Hammer; ſo ſtruck Siſera, ſhe ſtruck into his Head, and continuing the Strokes, pierced through his Temples.

27. Between her Feet he bended, he fell, he lay along: between her Feet bending, falling; where he bended, there he fell down bereaved of all.

28. The Mother of Siſera looked out at the Window, and cried out at the Caſement, Why does his Chariot delay coming? Why are the Paces of his Chariots retarded?

29. Her wiſe Ladies were anſwering, when forſooth ſhe made her Reply to her ſelf,

30. Have not they found them? Yes, divided the Spoil, a young Woman or two for each Man; a Spoil of divers Colours, to wit of Embroidery, for Siſera; of a Colour of double Embroidery for the Necks of thoſe belonging to the Spoil.

31. So let all thy Enemies periſh, O Lord, but may thoſe who love him go forth in Power, like the unclouded morning Sun. Then the Country reſted out forty Years.

CHAP. VI.

AFTERWARDS the Iſraelites did what the Lord was diſpleaſed with; ſo that he gave them up into the Power of the Midianites ſeven Years.

2. Whoſe Hands becoming ſtrong againſt Iſrael, becauſe of them the Iſraelites made them Dens which are in the Mountains, with Caves and Fortifications.

3. And if they ſowed, up came the Midianites, Amalekites, and People of the Eaſt, directly againſt them.

4. Where encamping, they deſtroyed the Crop of the Ground, till one comes to Gaza; leaving in Iſrael neither Victuals, ſmall Cattle, Ox, nor Aſs.

5. For they, and their Cattle, came up

Ver. 21. Kiſhon] Which Maundrell being at, deſcribes to run through the middle of the Plain of Eſdraelon, and then cloſe by Mount Carmel, falling into the (Mediterranean) Sea at a Place (now) called Caypha; its Waters then, he ſays, were low and inconſiderable, but there were the Tracks of many Torrents falling into it from the Mountains; which, adds he, muſt needs make it ſwell exceedingly upon ſudden Rains, as doubtleſs it did at the Deſtruction of Siſera's Hoſt, Journey from Aleppo to Jeruſalem; wherein the Divine Aſſiſtance would more appear, than if the River was always large.

Ib. waſhed] Heb. rolled.

Ver. 23. among] It is needleſs to ſeek for more than Gell has produced, that have it ſo rendered, Eſſay, p. 364. and this I think the Heb. favours, by not having ב for againſt, as well as that the Senſe is more noble.

Ver. 24. bleſſed in] Not firſt bleſſed above all, then above ſome.

Ver. 26. ſo ſtruck] Here may be an Inſtance of the Careleſſneſs of King James's Tranſlators, who were employed ſo pompouſly to amend the Geneva Bible, and have here put as there was before, with the hammer; though there is no Noun, and the Verb is to knock, ſtrike or beat in general.

Ib. ſtruck into] 'There is not the leaſt Indication, 'ſays Patrick, of her cutting off his Head:' but as to his ſaying, 'The Word machak, which is commonly tranſ-'lated cut off, cannot have that Signification here;' it is uſed no where elſe throughout the *Heb. with with their Tents, nay came as Locuſts for Multitude, themſelves and their Camels being out of Number; and they came into the Country, to deſtroy it.

6. Thus Iſrael was much impoveriſhed by reaſon of the Midianites; and they cried to the Lord.

7. And when they did, upon account of the Midianites;

8. The Lord ſent a Man that was a Prophet to the Iſraelites, who ſaid to them: Thus ſays the Lord God of Iſrael; I brought you up from Egypt, and out of the Place of Slaves;

9. I alſo delivered you from the Power of the Egyptians, and of all who oppreſſed you, whom I drove out from your Preſence, and gave you their Country;

10. Moreover I declared to you, I am the Lord your God, do not fear the gods of the Amorites in whoſe Country you dwell: yet you have not hearkened to what I ſaid.

11. There likewiſe came an Angel of the Lord, and ſate under an Oak which was at Ophrah, that belonged to Joaſh the Abiezrite; whoſe Son Gideon was beating out Wheat at a Wine-preſs, to hide it from the Sight of the Midianites.

12. To whom the Angel of the Lord appearing, ſaid to him. The Lord is with thee, O valiant Man.

13. But Gideon ſaid to him; Oh my Lord, if the Lord is with us, why is all this come upon us? And where are all his Wonders that our Fathers have thus rehearſed to us, Did not the Lord bring us up from Egypt? Since he has now forſaken us, and given us up into the Power of the Midianites.

14. Then the Lord turning to him, ſaid, Go in this thy Might, and thou ſhalt ſave Iſrael from their Power: Do not I ſend thee?

15. And he anſwered him, Oh my Lord, whereby ſhall I ſave Iſrael? Behold my Thouſand is impoveriſhed in Manaſſeh, and I am ſmall in my Father's Family.

16. But to him the Lord replied, I will be with thee, and thou ſhalt beat the Midianites as one Man.

17. Whereupon he ſaid to him; If now I am in Favour with thee, ſhew me a Sign what thou art who talkeſt with me.

18. Depart not, I pray, from hence, till I come to thee, and bring forth my Preſent, and ſet before thee. Who ſaid, I will ſtay till thou returneſt.

19. So Gideon went in, and made ready a Kid of the Goats, with an Ephah of Flour in unleavened Cakes; putting the Fleſh in a Baſket, as he did the Broth in a Pot: which he brought out to him under the Oak, and put nigh.

20. And the Angel of God ſaid to him, Take the Fleſh and unleavened Cakes, and ſet on this Rock, pouring out the Broth; and he did ſo.

21. Next the Angel of the Lord reached out the End of the Staff that was in his Hand, and touching the Fleſh and unleavened Cakes, there came up Fire out of the Rock, which conſumed them both; he alſo went away out of his Sight.

22. And when Gideon ſaw what he was, he ſaid, Alas, O Sovereign Lord, becauſe of this, that I have ſeen an Angel of the Lord Face to Face.

23. But the Lord ſaid to him, There is Peace for thee, do not fear: thou ſhalt not die.

24. Upon this Gideon built there an Altar to the Lord, and called it The Lord of Peace's: to this Day it is ſtill in Ophrah of the Abiezrites.

25. And in that Night the Lord ſaid to him; Take the Ox that was a Bull which thy Father has, and the other Ox of ſeven Years; and thou ſhalt throw down the Altar of Baal that thy Father has, and cut down the Grove which is by it.

26. Thou ſhalt alſo build an Altar to the Lord thy God, upon the Top of this Fortreſs in a Place put in order; and ſhalt take the other Ox, and offer up a Burnt-offering

Ver. 9. alſo delivered you] At the Red Sea.

Ver. 11. beating out] privately and quietly, as at a Wine-preſs alſo denotes; which threſhing, that the Heb. Word does not ſignify, would not have been.

Ver. 17. what] as a Prophet, Judge or Magiſtrate, who had Power to commiſſion him; ſince he did not take him for an Angel. It is the Heb. Relative contracted; and ſurely Gideon knew the other talked with him, without a Sign to ſhew it.

Ver. 24. The Lord of Peace's] See Gen. xxxiii. 20. Of this Walt. Croſs in his Taghm. Art, p. 101, ſays, 'Our 'Tranſlation favours Photinians and Socinians, who in-'validate the Argument for Chriſt's Deity, from the 'proper Name of God Jehovah being aſcribed to him, 'ſince it is to other Things, as here to the Altar; but, 'adds he, falſely.'

Ver. 25. was a Bull] that is lately cut: ſo far the Heb. from young; and young bullock, the ſecond of ſeven years old, is a plain Sign the Prophet Amos did not tranſlate it.

Ib. other Ox] this or ſecond ſhews it not to be the ſame, but rather he that went in the Yoke with the firſt; which Oxen might draw down what was wanted. with the Wood of the Grove which thou cutteſt down.

27. Accordingly Gideon taking ten Men of his Servants, did as the Lord ſpoke to him; however as he was afraid of his Father's Family and the Men of the City to do it by Day, he did it at Night.

28. So that when the Men of the City roſe early in the Morning, behold the Altar of Baal was broke down, and the Grove cut down which was by it; as alſo the other Ox offered up on an Altar that was built.

29. At which they ſaid to one another, Who has done this Thing? And having ſought, and enquired, ſome ſaid Gideon the Son of Joaſh had done it.

30. They then ſaid to Joaſh, Bring out thy Son, that he may die; becauſe he has broke down the Altar of Baal, and becauſe he has cut down the Grove which was by it.

31. But Joaſh ſaid to all who ſtood by him, Will you contend for Baal? Will you ſave him? Let him who will contend for him, be put to death whilſt it is Morning: if he is a god, let him contend for himſelf, becauſe Gideon broke down his Altar.

32. Therefore he called him at that Time Jerub-baal, ſaying, Let Baal contend againſt him, becauſe he broke down his Altar.

33. Now all the Midianites, Amalekites, and People of the Eaſt being gathered together, paſſed over, and encamped in the Vale of Jezreel.

34. Whereupon the Spirit of the Lord cloathed Gideon, and he blew a Trumpet, by which the Abiezrites were called after him.

35. Beſides he ſent Meſſengers to all Manaſſeh, who was alſo called after him; as he did likewiſe to Aſher, Zebulun and Naphtali, and they came up to meet them.

36. And Gideon ſaid to God; If thou wilt ſave Iſrael by me, as thou haſt ſpoken;

37. Behold I ſhall know it, by my placing a Fleece of Wool in the Floor, if the Dew is upon that alone, and upon all the Ground it is dry.

38. And it was ſo, for when he roſe early the next Day, and ſqueezed the Fleece, he wrung the Dew out of it, a Diſh full of Water.

39. He ſaid further to God, Be not angry with me, and I will ſpeak only this Time: let me try now once more with the Fleece; let it now be dry on that alone, and upon all the Ground let there be Dew.

40. And God did ſo that Night: for it was dry on the Fleece alone, and upon all the Ground there was Dew.

CHAP. VII.

THEN Jerub-baal, who was Gideon, riſing early, and all the People who were with him, encamped at the Fountain of Harod: and the Camp of the Midianites was to the North of him, towards the Hill of Moreh in the Vale.

2. But the Lord ſaid to Gideon; The People who are with thee are too many for me to give up the Midianites into their Power, leſt Iſrael ſhould boaſt it ſelf againſt me, that his own Hand has ſaved him.

3. Now therefore do proclaim in the Hearing of the People thus, Whoever is fearful and afraid, let him go away back betimes from Mount Gilead; upon which there went back twenty two thouſand of the People, and ten thouſand were left.

4. The Lord notwithſtanding ſaid to him, The People are yet many; bring them down to the Water, that I may try them for thee there: and he of whom I ſay to thee, This ſhall go with thee, ſhall go; and all of whom I ſay to thee, This ſhall not go with thee, he ſhall not.

5. So he brought the People down to the Water; and the Lord ordered him, Every one who laps ſome of the Water with his Tongue, as a Dog does, thou ſhalt place alone, as likewiſe every one who bends down upon his Knees to drink.

6. And the Number of thoſe who lapped with their Hand to their Mouth, was three hundred Men; whereas all the reſt of the People bended down upon their Knees to drink Water.

7. The Lord then ſaid to Gideon, By the three hundred Men who lapped will I ſave you, and give up the Midianites into thy Power; ſo let all the reſt of the People go to their reſpective Places.

8. Upon which theſe taking Proviſion in their Hands, and their Trumpets, he ſent all the other Men of Iſrael to their ſeveral Tents, and retained the three hundred Men; the Camp of the Midianites being below him in the Vale.

9. And that Night the Lord ſaid to him;

Ariſe, go down to the Camp: for I give it up into thy Power.

10. However if thou art afraid to do it, go thither with Phurah thy young Man.

11. Whereby thou wilt hear what they ſay, and afterwards thou wilt be ſtrengthened to go thither. Accordingly he went down with Phurah his young Man, to the Border of the Men who were in military Order at the Camp.

12. Now the Midianites, Amalekites, and all the People of the Eaſt, lay along in the Vale as Locuſts for Multitude; their Camels likewiſe were innumerable, as the Sand which is upon the Sea-ſhoar for Multitude.

13. Whither Gideon being come, behold a Man told the following Dream to his Companion, Lo I have dreamed a Dream plainly, that a Cake of barley Bread tumbled along into the Camp of the Midianites, and coming to a Tent, and ſtriking it, that it might fall, overturned it, ſo that the Tent fell down.

14. And his Companion made anſwer, This is nothing beſides the Sword of Gideon the Son of Joaſh, a Man of Iſrael: God has given up into his Power the Midianites, and all the Camp.

15. As ſoon as Gideon therefore heard the telling of the Dream, and the Explanation of it, he worſhipped; and returning to the Camp of Iſrael, ſaid, Get ready, for the Lord has given up the Camp of Midian into your Power.

16. Next he parted the three hundred Men into three Companies; and gave Trumpets into the Hands of them all, with empty Pitchers, which had Lamps within.

17. And he ordered them; Take notice of me, and do ſo; particularly indeed when I come to the Border of the Camp, according as I do, ſo ſhall you.

18. For I, and all who are with me, will blow the Trumpet; and you ſhall alſo blow round about all the Camp, and ſay, This of the Lord, and of Gideon.

19. So Gideon, and the hundred Men who were with him, went to the Border of the Camp, at the Beginning of the middle Watch, when the Watchmen were but juſt rouſed up; and they blew the Trumpets, and daſhed to pieces the Pitchers which were in their Hands.

20. Nay the three Companies blew the Trumpets, and broke the Pitchers, holding faſt the Lamps in their left Hands, and the Trumpets in their right to blow; and they cried out, The Sword of the Lord, and of Gideon.

21. And as they ſtood in their ſeveral Places round about the Camp, all who were in it ran, ſcreamed out, and fled.

22. Beſides when the three hundred blew the Trumpets, the Lord ſet the Sword of each one againſt another, throughout the whole Camp; and thoſe of the Camp fled to Beth-ſhittah in Zererath, to the Frontier of Abel-meholah by Tabbath.

23. With that the Men of Iſrael were called out of Naphtali, Aſher, and all Manaſſeh, and purſued after the Midianites.

24. Gideon further ſent Meſſengers through all Mount Ephraim, to ſay, Go down to meet the Midianites, and take againſt them the Water in the Way to Beth-barah and Jordan: accordingly all the Men of Ephraim were called out, and took it.

25. They took likewiſe two Princes of Midian, Oreb and Zeeb; and killed Oreb at the Rock Oreb, as they did Zeeb at the Wine-preſs Zeeb, when they purſued the Midianites; whoſe Heads they brought to Gideon beyond Jordan.

CHAP. VIII.

NEVERTHELESS the Men of Ephraim ſaid to him, Why didſt thou do this Thing to us, not to call us, when thou wenteſt to fight with the Midianites? And they contended with him ſtrongly.

2. To whom he ſaid; What have I done now like you? Are not the Gleaning-grapes of Ephraim better than the Vintage of Abiezer?

3. God has given up into your Power the Princes of Midian, Oreb and Zeeb; and what could I do like you? Then their Reſentment ceaſed from him, upon his ſpeaking that Thing.

4. Moreover Gideon got to Jordan; paſſing over, and the three hundred Men who were with him, faint as they were, purſuing.

5. And he ſaid to the Men of Succoth, Pray give the People who accompany me a Piece of Victuals: for they are faint, and I am purſuing after Zebah and Zalmunna Kings of Midian.

6. But the Princes of Succoth ſaid, Haſt thou got hold of Zebah and Zalmunna already by the Hand, that we ſhould give Victuals to thy Army?

7. For this reaſon, ſaid Gideon, when the Lord has given them up into my Power, I will threſh your Fleſh with Thorns of the Wilderneſs, and Briers.

8. And going up from thence to Penuel, he ſpoke to the Men of it in like manner; and they anſwered him as thoſe of Succoth had.

9. So he made reply alſo to them, When I return in Peace, I will break down this Tower.

10. Now Zebah and Zalmunna were in Karkor, and their Armies with them, about fifteen thouſand, all that were left of the whole Army of the eaſtern People: for there were fallen a hundred and twenty thouſand Men who drew forth the Sword.

11. And Gideon went up the Way of thoſe who dwelt in Tents, at the Eaſt of Nobah and Jogbehah; and beat the Army, when it was ſecure.

12. But Zebah and Zalmunna fleeing, he purſued after them; and taking theſe two Kings of Midian, made all the Army afraid.

13. Gideon the Son of Joaſh alſo returned from the Battle, before the getting up of the Sun.

14. And he took a Youth of the Men of Succoth, and aſked him; who wrote down for him the Princes and Elders of it, ſeventy ſeven Men.

15. Then he came to the Men of it, and ſaid; Here are Zebah and Zalmunna, with whom you thus reproached me, Haſt thou got hold of Zebah and Zalmunna already by the Hand, that we ſhould give Victuals to thy Men who are faint?

16. And he took thoſe Elders, with Thorns of the Wilderneſs, and Briers, and made the Men of Succoth know by them.

17. He further broke down the Tower of Penuel, and ſlew the Citizens.

18. Afterwards he ſaid to Zebah and Zalmunna, What ſort of Men were thoſe that you killed on Tabor? Who anſwered, They were juſt as thou art, looking each one like the Sons of a King.

19. And he replied, They were my own Brothers, the Sons of my Mother: by the Lord's living, if you had kept them alive, I would not kill you.

20. He ſaid then to Jether his Firſt-born, Get ready, kill them; but the Youth did not draw forth his Sword, becauſe he was afraid, as he was yet a Boy.

21. Whereas Zebah and Zalmunna ſaid, Do thou get ready, and fall on us, for like a Man is his Strength; ſo Gideon getting ready, killed them, and took the Studs which were on their Camels Necks.

22. The Men of Iſrael moreover ſaid to Gideon, Do thou rule over us, and even thy Son, and Grandſon; becauſe thou haſt ſaved us from the Power of the Midianites.

23. Whom he anſwered, I will not rule over you, nor ſhall my Son: let the Lord rule over you.

24. However he ſaid to them, I aſk a Petition of you, that you will give me each one the Ear-rings of his Spoil: for they had golden ones, as thoſe were Iſhmeelites.

33. And when he was dead, the Iſraelites went a whoring again after Baalim, and put them Baal-berith for a god.

34. So that they did not remember the Lord their God, who delivered them from the Power of all their Enemies round about.

35. Nor did they act generouſly to the Family of Jerubbaal, that is Gideon, according to all the Good which he did to Iſrael.

CHAP. IX.

FOR Abimelech the Son of Jerubbaal going to Shechem, to his Mother's Brothers, ſpoke to them, and to all the Family of the Houſe of his Mother's Father, as follows;

2. Speak, I pray, in the Hearing of all the Owners of Shechem, What is beſt for you, that ſeventy Men, all the Sons of Jerubbaal, ſhould rule over you, or one Man ſhould? And remember, that I am your Bone and Fleſh.

3. And his Mother's Brothers ſpoke of him, in their Hearing, all theſe Words; upon which their Hearts inclined after Abimelech, he being, as they ſaid, their Brother.

4. Nay they gave him ſeventy Pieces of Silver, out of the Houſe of Baal-berith; with which Abimelech hired vain and unſtable Men, to go after him.

5. So he went into his Father's Houſe at Ophrah, and killed his Brothers the Sons of Jerubbaal, ſeventy Men, upon one Stone; excepting Jotham his youngeſt Son, who was left, becauſe he was hid.

6. Moreover all the Owners of Shechem, and the whole Family of the Fortreſs, getting together, went and made Abimelech King, at the Oak ſet up which was in Shechem.

7. And when ſome told Jotham, he went, and ſtood on the Top of Mount Gerizzim, and with an exalted Voice called, and thus harangued them: Hearken to me, ye Owners of Shechem, that God may hearken to you.

8. The Trees unanimouſly went to anoint a King over them, and ſaid to the Olive-tree, Do thou reign over us.

9. But he ſaid to them, Shall I leave off my Fatneſs, by whom they honour God and Men, that I may go to be removed to reign over the Trees?

10. They alſo ſaid to the Fig-tree, Come thou, reign over us.

13. But he ſaid to them, Shall I leave off my Wine, which makes God and Men glad, that I may go to be removed to reign over the Trees?

14. At laſt all the Trees ſaid to the Bramble, Come thou, reign over us.

15. If you truly anoint me for a King over you, quoth he to them, come, truſt in my Shadow; and if not let Fire come out of the Bramble, and conſume the Cedars of Lebanon.

16. Now therefore if you have acted in Truth and Integrity, by making Abimelech King, and if you have done well to Jerubbaal and his Family, nay if you have done to him according to the Deſert of his Hands;

17. Wherein my Father fought for you, and expoſed his Life at a diſtance, that he might deliver you from the Power of the Midianites;

18. Yet you are riſen up againſt my Father's Family to Day, and have killed his Sons, ſeventy Men, upon one Stone, and made Abimelech, the Son of his Servant-maid, King over the Owners of Shechem, becauſe forſooth he is your Brother:

19. I ſay if you have acted in Truth and Integrity, with Jerubbaal and his Family this Day; be glad of Abimelech, and let him alſo be glad of you:

20. But if not; let Fire come out of him, and conſume the Owners of Shechem, and the Family of the Fortreſs; let Fire likewiſe come out of them, and conſume Abimelech.

21. Jotham then fled, and running away, went to Beer; where he dwelt, becauſe of his Brother Abimelech.

22. And Abimelech had the principality over Iſrael three Years.

23. At length God ſent an ill Mind between him and the Owners of Shechem, ſo that they were treacherous to him:

24. That the Violence to the ſeventy Sons of Jerubbaal might come, and that their Blood might be laid upon their Brother Abimelech who killed them, and upon the Owners of Shechem who ſtrengthened him to do it.

25. For they put ſome that lay in wait for him upon the Tops of the Mountains, who robbed all that paſſed by them along the Road; which was told Abimelech.

26. Gaal too the Son of Ebed came, with his Brethren, and paſſing on to Shechem, the Owners of it truſted in him.

27. Next they went out into the Field, and gathering in their Vineyards, trod, and made Praiſes; as alſo went into the Houſe of their god, and eat, drank, and curſed Abimelech.

28. Beſides Gaal the Son of Ebed ſaid, Who is Abimelech, and what is Shechem, that we ſhould ſerve him? Is not he the Son of Jerubbaal, and Zebul his Officer? Serve the Men of Hamor the Father of Shechem; for why ſhould we ſerve him?

29. And oh that this People were in my Power! then would I put away Abimelech. Nay he ſaid to Abimelech, Make thy Army great, and come out.

30. But Zebul the chief of the City was angry at hearing his Words,

31. And ſent Meſſengers deceitfully to tell Abimelech; Behold Gaal the Son of Ebed, and his Brethren, are come to Shechem, and lo they fortify the City againſt thee.

32. Now therefore do thou get ready by Night, and the People who are with thee, and lie in wait in the Field.

33. And in the Morning as the Sun riſes, being got up early, thou mayeſt ruſh on againſt the City; and behold when he, and the People who are with him, come out to thee, thou mayeſt do to him according as thou findeſt to be done.

34. With that Abimelech gets ready, and all the People who were with him, by Night, and they lie in wait againſt Shechem in four Companies.

35. And Gaal the Son of Ebed going out, and ſtanding at the Entrance of the Gate of the City; Abimelech roſe up, and the People who were with him, from lying in wait.

Ver. 13. makes God—glad] This Expreſſion is eaſily accounted for, by conſidering that Wine was offered to God, Lev. xxiii. 13. Num. xxviii. 7. and that he was pleaſed People did their Duty by offering it. Without this Conſideration what Abſurdities have Interpreters run into? Ours have rendered it cheereth God, as if it was by his drinking the Wine; Stackhouſe expounds God to be Princes, Hiſt. Bib. Lib. v. 2.

Ver. 15. truſt in my Shadow] as if for Preſervation from ſcorching Heat. And the Shadow of a Bramble over the Trees, is a very witty and keen Sarcaſm.

Ver. 31. deceitfully] That this is the Meaning of the Word, by its Affinity with others, whereby Jarhi and Kimhi expound it, there is no Diſpute: ſo Pagn. and Munſt. render, in dolo; and in the Genev. Marg. is Ebr. craftily. Privily came not from the Original, but from the old paraphraſtical Tranſlators.

Ver. 33. ruſh on againſt] For he did not, nor does it appear he was to, ſet upon the city, to uſe the preſent Reading, before Gaal went out to him.

36. Upon

36. Upon Gaal's ſeeing them, he ſaid to Zebul, Behold People are coming down from the Tops of the Mountains; whom Zebul anſwered, Thou ſeeſt the Shade of the Mountains like Men.

37. However Gaal aſſerted yet again, that there were People coming down from the middle of the Country, and that one Company came from the Way of the Oak of the Soothſayers.

38. Then Zebul ſaid to him, Where is thy Mouth now, with which thou didſt vaunt, Who is Abimelech, that we ſhould ſerve him? Is not this the People whom thou haſt deſpiſed? Go out, I pray now, and fight with him.

39. Accordingly Gaal went out before the Owners of Shechem, and fought with Abimelech.

40. But Abimelech purſued him, and he fled from his Face; many falling down wounded to the Entrance of the Gate.

41. And Abimelech dwelt at Arumah; Zebul alſo drove out Gaal and his Brethren, from dwelling at Shechem.

42. Nevertheleſs the People went out the next Day into the Field, which having been told Abimelech,

43. He took his, and parting them into three Companies, lay in wait in the Field; and when he ſaw plainly that the other were come out of the City, he roſe up againſt them, and killed them.

44. For Abimelech, and the Company that were with him, ruſhed on, and ſtood at the Entrance of the Gate of the City; while the two Companies ruſhed upon all who were in the Field, and killed them.

45. He further fought againſt the City all that Day, and took it, as alſo killed the People who were therein; and having broke it down, he ſowed it with Salt.

46. Which when all the Owners of the Tower of Shechem heard, they went into a Caſtle of the Houſe of the god Berith.

47. Again it was told Abimelech, that they had all gathered themſelves together.

48. At this he went up Mount Zalmon, and all the People who were with him; and taking an Ax in his Hand, he cut off a Bough from the Trees, which he took up, and put upon his Shoulder; then he ſaid to the People who were with him, What you have ſeen me do, make haſte to do the like.

49. And all the People too cut them off a Bough apiece, and went after Abimelech; which putting againſt the Caſtle, they burnt it upon them with Fire; inſomuch that all the Perſons of the Tower of Shechem died likewiſe, about a thouſand Men and Women.

50. Afterwards Abimelech went to Thebez; againſt which encamping, he took it.

51. But there being a ſtrong Tower within the City, all the Men and Women, including all the Owners of the City, fled thither, and ſhut it about them; going up on the Roof of the Tower.

52. He notwithſtanding went to the Tower, and fought againſt it; nay went nigh to the Entrance of it, to burn it with Fire.

53. When a certain Woman threw down a Piece of a Milſtone upon his Head, and broke his Scull.

54. Upon which he called ſpeedily to the young Man who carried his Arms, and ſaid to him, Draw out thy Sword, and kill me, leſt they ſhould ſay of me, A Woman ſlew him. Accordingly his young Man ran him through, and he died.

55. And when the Men of Iſrael ſaw that Abimelech was dead, they went to their reſpective Places.

56. Thus God requited the Wickedneſs of Abimelech which he did to his Father, by killing his ſeventy Brothers.

57. All the Wickedneſs likewiſe of the Men of Shechem did God requite on their Heads; and the Curſe of Jotham the Son of Jerubbaal came upon them.

Ver. 53. broke] The all to brake in the common Engliſh was ſo obſolete and unintelligible a hundred Years ago, that the great and ſkilful Linguiſt William Walker did not underſtand it: for in his Engliſh Particles, ſo fraught with Erudition, he reckons all an Expletive, though the Meaning is, brake all his ſcull, or brake his ſcull in pieces; as in Tyndal's and the Biſhops Tranſlations, from whence this was taken, all to daſhed the enemy, Exod. xv. 6. to being only an Augment or Expletive like be— as when we ſay, ſuch a one is all bedaubed, &c. according to the Saxon; for which ſee Hickes's Gram. p. 85. and brake cannot be infinitive: but how unfit is ſuch Tranſlation for the common People, which very few of the Learned underſtand!

CHAP. X.

AND there roſe up after Abimelech, to ſave Iſrael, Tola the Son of Puah, the Son of Dodo, a Man of Iſſachar; and he dwelt at Shamir, on Mount Ephraim.

2. He alſo judged Iſrael twenty three Years, and dying, was buried at Shamir.

3. And there roſe up after him Jair the Gileadite, who judged Iſrael twenty two Years.

4. Moreover he had thirty Sons who rode upon thirty Aſs-colts, and they had thirty Cities: theſe they call the Towns of Jair to this Day, which are in the Province of Gilead.

5. Jair likewiſe died, and was buried at Kamon.

6. And the Iſraelites did again what the Lord was diſpleaſed with; for they ſerved Baalim, Aſhtaroth, the gods of Syria, Zidon, Moab, the Ammonites, and Philiſtines: whereas they forſook the Lord, and did not ſerve him.

7. Incenſed therefore at Iſrael, the Lord delivered them up into the Power, both of the Philiſtines and Ammonites,

8. Who broke, and bruiſed them that Year; as they had eighteen Years all the Iſraelites who were beyond Jordan, in the Country of the Amorites, which is in Gilead.

9. For the Ammonites were paſſed over Jordan, to fight alſo with Judah, Benjamin, and the Family of Ephraim; ſo that Iſrael was much diſtreſſed.

10. Then they cried thus to the Lord, We have ſinned againſt thee, both becauſe we have forſaken our God, and ſerved Baalim.

11. But he ſaid to them; Did not ſome of the Egyptians, Amorites, Ammonites, and Philiſtines,

12. With the Zidonians, Amalekites, and Maonites oppreſs you? And when you cried to me, I ſaved you from their Power.

13. Nevertheleſs you forſook me, and ſerved other gods; therefore I may not ſave you again.

14. Go, and cry to the gods whom you have made choice of: let them ſave you in the Time of your Diſtreſs.

15. And the Iſraelites replied to the Lord, We have ſinned, do to us entirely as thou likeſt; only deliver us, we beſeech thee, at this Time.

16. Beſides they put away the gods of the Strangers from among them, and ſerved the Lord; whoſe Soul was grieved for the Trouble of Iſrael.

17. Now the Ammonites were called together, and encamped in Gilead: the Iſraelites were likewiſe gathered up, and encamped in Mizpeh.

18. And the People, the Princes of Gilead, ſaid one to another, What Man ſoever will begin to fight with the Ammonites, ſhall be the Head of all the Inhabitants of Gilead.

CHAP. XI.

AND Jephthah the Gileadite was a valiant Man, but the Son of a Woman that was a Harlot; Gilead begetting him.

2. The Wife of Gilead alſo bore him Sons, who, when they grew up, thruſt out Jephthah, ſaying to him, Thou ſhalt not have poſſeſſion in our Father's Houſe, becauſe thou art the Son of a different Woman.

3. Whereupon he fled from the Preſence of his Brothers, and dwelt in the Country of Tob; and vain Men gathering themſelves to Jephthah, went out with him.

4. And in a while the Ammonites made War with Iſrael.

5. Which as they were doing, the Elders of Gilead went to fetch Jephthah from that Country.

6. To whom they ſaid, Come, and thou ſhalt be a Captain to us, that we may fight with the Ammonites.

7. But he anſwered them, Did not you hate me, and thruſt me out of my Father's Houſe; Why then do you come to me now, when you are diſtreſſed?

8. And they replied to him, Therefore now we return to thee, that thou mayeſt go with us, and fight againſt the Ammonites; ſo thou ſhalt be the chief of all us, the Inhabitants of Gilead.

9. Upon this he ſaid to them, If you have me back to fight againſt the Ammonites, and the Lord give them up before me, let me be the chief of you.

10. As they did again to him, The Lord hear between us, if we do not thus according to thy Words.

11. So Jephthah went with the Elders of Gilead, and the People made him the chief and Captain over them; he alſo ſpoke all his Words before the Lord in Mizpeh.

12. Then Jephthah ſent Ambaſſadors to ſay to the King of the Ammonites, What haſt thou to do with me, that thou comeſt to me to fight in my own Country?

13. Who anſwered them, It is becauſe Iſrael took away my Country, when they came up from Egypt, from Arnon even to Jabbok and Jordan; now therefore reſtore theſe Places in Peace.

14. But he ſent Ambaſſadors to him yet again,

15. To tell him: Thus ſaith Jephthah; The Iſraelites did not take away the Country of Moab, nor that of the Ammonites.

16. For when they came up from Egypt, they went through the Wilderneſs of the Red Sea, and came to Kadeſh.

17. When they ſent Ambaſſadors to intreat the King of Edom, to let them paſs through his Country, but he would not hearken; and they likewiſe ſent to the King of Moab, who did not conſent: ſo they abode in Kadeſh.

18. Afterwards they went through the Wilderneſs, and round by the Countries of Edom and Moab, and coming to the Sunriſing of that of Moab, encamped beyond Arnon; but they came not into the Bounds of Moab, for that Arnon was.

19. They alſo ſent Ambaſſadors to Sihon King of the Amorites, the King of Heſhbon; whom they intreated to let them go through his Country to their Place.

20. Whereas he, far from truſting them to paſs through his Bounds, gathered up all his People, and encamping in Jahaz, fought with them.

21. The Lord God of Iſrael however gave up him, and all his People, into their Power, ſo that they ſmote them: thus the Iſraelites poſſeſſed all the Country of the Amorites, who dwelt there.

22. They even poſſeſſed all their Bounds, from Arnon to Jabbok, and from the Wilderneſs to Jordan.

23. Now therefore thou wouldeſt poſſeſs, what the Lord God of Iſrael diſpoſſeſſed the Amorites of, becauſe of this his People.

24. Wilt not thou poſſeſs that which Chemoſh thy god cauſes thee to poſſeſs? So will we that which the Lord our God has diſpoſſeſſed any of, becauſe of us.

25. And now art thou at all better than Balak the Son of Zippor King of Moab? Did he at all contend with the Iſraelites, or at all fight againſt them;

26. When they dwelt in Heſhbon and Aroer, with their Towns, and in all the Cities which are upon the Side of Arnon, three hundred Years? And why did not you regain them in that Time?

27. Therefore I have not done amiſs againſt thee, but thou dealeſt ill with me to fight againſt me: the Lord the Judge judge now between the Iſraelites and the Ammonites.

28. Nevertheleſs the King of the Ammonites would not hearken, to the Meſſage which Jephthah ſent him.

29. At this the Spirit of the Lord was upon Jephthah, and he paſſed on through Gilead and Manaſſeh, to Mizpeh of Gilead, as he did from thence to the Ammonites.

Ver. 9. let me] on this Condition, which ſhews his Nobleneſs of Mind. As here is Nothing in the Hebrew to ſhew it was a Queſtion, ſo the Words of the following Verſe intimate it was not; and Caſtal. with Jun. and Trem. tranſlate accordingly. So Ver. 23.

30. And he made the following Vow to the Lord; If thou wilt wholly give up the Ammonites into my Power;

31. That which comes firſt out of the Doors of my Houſe to meet me, when I return in Peace from the Ammonites, ſhall be the Lord's, and I will offer up what is for a Burnt-offering.

32. Accordingly when he paſſed to the Ammonites, to fight with them, the Lord gave them up into his Power.

33. So that he ſmote them from Aroer, even till one comes to Minnith, twenty Cities, and to Abel of the Vineyards, with a very great Slaughter: thus the Ammonites were brought down by means of the Iſraelites.

34. Now Jephthah going to his Houſe at Mizpeh, behold his Daughter came out to meet him, with Timbrels and Dances; and ſhe was the only one, he having no Son or Daughter but her.

35. But as ſoon as he ſaw her, he tore his Cloaths, and ſaid, Alas, my Daughter, thou boweſt me quite down, and art one of thoſe who trouble me: for I have opened my Mouth to the Lord, ſo that I cannot turn back.

36. And ſhe ſaid to him, My Father, ſince thou haſt, do to me as there came out of thy Mouth; as it is after the Lord has taken vengeance for thee on thy Enemies the Ammonites.

37. However ſhe requeſted her Father, Let this Thing be done for me; let me alone two Months, that I may go, and deſcend upon the Mountains, and weep for my Virginity, with my Companions.

38. Who ſaid, Go; which he let her do ſo long: accordingly ſhe went with her Companions, and wept for her Virginity upon the Mountains.

39. And at the End of the two Months, ſhe returned to her Father, who performed his Vow to her which he made: for ſhe had not the knowledge of a Man, it being an Ordinance in Iſrael.

40. From Year to Year the Daughters of Iſrael went to talk to the Daughter of Jephthah the Gileadite, four Days in a Year.

CHAP. XII.

AND the Men of Ephraim being called together, paſſed northward, and ſaid to Jephthah, Why didſt thou paſs on to fight with the Ammonites, and not call us to go with thee? We will burn thy Houſe upon thee with Fire.

2. But he anſwered them; I and my People were thoſe who contended with the Ammonites exceedingly; and when I called you, ye did not ſave me from them.

3. So ſeeing that you did not, I ventured my Life, and paſſed on to them, whom the Lord gave up into my Power; and why are you come up to me this Day, to fight with me?

4. Then Jephthah gathered together all

5. Moreover the Gileadites took the Paſſages of Jordan to Ephraim; and when thoſe who were eſcaped of Ephraim ſaid, Let me paſs over; the Men of Gilead aſked him, Art thou an Ephrathite? And he anſwering, No;

6. They replied to him, Say now Shibboleth; but he ſaid Sibboleth, and could not ſpeak ſo rightly: then they took him, and killed him there. And there fell at that Time of Ephraim forty two thouſand.

10. Ibzan likewiſe died, and was buried at Beth-lehem.

11. After him too Elon the Zebulonite judged Iſrael, which he did ten Years.

12. He then died, and was buried at Aijalon in the Country of Zebulun.

13. And after him there judged Iſrael, Abdon the Son of Hillel the Pirathonite.

CHAP. XIII.

AND the Iſraelites did again what the Lord was diſpleaſed with, who gave them up into the Power of the Philiſtines forty Years.

2. And there was a certain Man of Zorah, one of the Family of the Danites, whoſe Name was Manoah, and his Wife was barren, ſo that ſhe did not bear.

3. But an Angel of the Lord appeared to the Woman, and ſaid to her; Behold now thou art barren, ſo that thou doſt not bear; yet thou ſhalt conceive, and bear a Son.

4. Now therefore take heed, I pray, and do not drink Wine or ſtrong Drink, nor eat any unclean Thing.

5. For behold thou ſhalt conceive, and bear a Son, on whoſe Head there ſhall not a Razor come up, becauſe the Child ſhall be a Nazirite of God from the Womb; and he ſhall begin to ſave Iſrael from the Power of the Philiſtines,

6. She then came, and ſpoke thus to her Huſband; There came a Man of God to me, the Appearance of whom was like that of an Angel of God, very aweful; but I did not aſk him from whence he was, nor did he tell me his Name.

7. And he ſaid to me, Behold thou ſhalt conceive, and bear a Son: now therefore do not drink Wine or ſtrong Drink, nor eat any unclean Thing; becauſe the Child ſhall be a Nazirite of God from the Womb, to the Day of his Death.

8. Upon this Manoah made ſupplication to the Lord as follows, O my Lord, let the Man of God whom thou didſt ſend, come again to us, I beſeech thee, and teach us what we ſhall do to the Child who ſhall be born.

9. And God hearkened to what he ſaid: for the Angel of God came again to the Woman as ſhe ſate in the Field, Manoah her Huſband not being with her.

10. At which ſhe ran apace, and told him in this manner, Behold the Man has appeared to me, who came to me one Day.

11. With that Manoah got ready, and went after his Wife; and when he came to the Man, he ſaid to him, Art thou the Man that ſpokeſt to the Woman? Who anſwered, I am.

12. Then he replied, Now let thy Words come to paſs: what ſhall be the Manner of the Child, and his Work?

13. And the Angel of the Lord ſaid to him; Of all that I ſaid to the Woman, let her take heed:

14. Not to eat of any Thing which comes out of the Vine yielding Wine, and not

Ver. 14. yielding Wine] Heb. of Wine, left out by our laſt Tranſlators, pretty apparently becauſe they knew not how to render it, thoſe before having of the vine tree, with the Hebrew Word for Wine turned tree, beſides being of no Uſe; and yielding need not be in the Italick Character, but to avoid Cavilling. What further confirms the Propriety of thus rendering it, is, that there are Plants called Vines that yield no Wine; ſuch in general are thoſe named ſcandent Plants, as the Ivy, and others: out of the Vine yielding Wine, is therefore a Synonym for the Grape-vine.

15. Manoah alſo ſaid to the Aagel of the Lord, Vouchſafe to let us retain thee, till we have ſet a Kid of the Goats dreſſed before thee.

16. But he anſwered him, If thou retaineſt me, I will not eat of thy Victuals; and if thou makeſt a Burnt-offering, thou muſt offer it up to the Lord: for Manoah did not know that he was an Angel of the Lord.

17. So he enquired of him, What is thy Name, that we may honour thee, when thy Words come to paſs?

18. To whom the Angel of the Lord ſaid, Why doſt thou aſk for my Name, ſince it is wonderful?

19. And Manoah taking a Kid of the Goats, with a Meat-offering, offered it up on the Rock to the Lord; and he did wonderfully, while Manoah and his Wife looked on.

20. For when the Flame went up from the Altar towards Heaven, the Angel of the Lord went up in the Flame of the Altar: which Manoan and his Wife ſeeing, fell upon their Faces to the Ground;

21. And he appeared again no more to them: then Manoah knew that he was an Angel of the Lord.

22. He therefore ſaid to his Wife, We ſhall quite die, becauſe we have ſeen God.

23. But his Wife anſwered him, Had the Lord been pleaſed to make us die, he would not have received a Burnt-offering and Meat-offering from us, nor have ſhewn us all theſe Things; much leſs would he have let us hear ſuch as this according to the Time.

24. Afterwards the Woman bore a Son, whoſe Name ſhe called Samſon; and the Child grew up, and the Lord bleſſed him.

25. For the Spirit of the Lord began to move him at The Camp of Dan, between Zorah and Eſhtaol.

CHAP. XIV.

AT length Samſon went down to Timnath, where he ſaw a Woman of the Daughters of the Philiſtines.

2. And being come up, he told his Father and Mother thus, I have ſeen a Woman at Timnath of the Daughters of the Philiſtines; and now get her to me for a Wife.

3. To whom they ſaid, May there not be a Wife among the Daughters of thy Brethren, or among all our People, that thou wouldeſt go to take a Wife of the uncircumciſed Philiſtines? Yet Samſon ſaid to his Father, Get her for me, becauſe I approve of her.

4. Whereas his Father and Mother did not know that it was of the Lord, that he might ſeek an Occaſion againſt the Philiſtines: for at that Time they ruled over Iſrael.

5. Accordingly Samſon, with his Parents, went down to Timnath; and when they came to the Vineyards of it, there was a young Lion roared to meet him.

6. And the Spirit of the Lord coming upon him, he tore him as a Kid is torn, though there was not any Thing in his Hand; however he did not tell them what he had done.

7. Next he went down, and ſpoke to the Woman; whom he approved of,

8. And going again at the Time to take her, he turned aſide to ſee the Carcaſe of the Lion; when behold there was a Swarm of Bees in his Body, with Honey.

9. Which he took in his Hands, and going on eating, went to his Parents, to whom he gave, and they eat; yet he did not tell them, that he took the Honey out of the Body of the Lion.

10. Moreover his Father went down to the Woman; and Samſon made there an Entertainment, for ſo the young Men did.

11. And when they ſaw him, they fetched thirty Companions to be with him.

Ver. 4. ruled] Tynd. raygned.

Ver. 8. Body] not the ſame Word as before.

12. Upon this Samſon ſaid to them; I will propoſe now a Riddle to you: which if you at all tell me in the ſeven Days of the Entertainment, of your own finding out, I will give you thirty Sheets, and ſo many Suits of Cloaths;

13. But if you cannot tell me, you ſhall give me thirty Sheets, and ſo many Suits of Cloaths. And they ſaid to him, Propoſe thy Riddle, that we may hear it.

14. He then ſaid to them, There came Meat out of the Eater, and Sweetneſs out of the Strong. And they could not tell the Riddle in three Days.

15. However on the ſeventh Day they ſaid to Samſon's Wife, Entice thy Huſband, that he may tell us the Riddle, leſt we ſhould burn thee and thy Father's Family with Fire: you called us to get what we have, did not you?

16. Therefore Samſon's Wife wept before him, and ſaid, Thou only ſlighteſt me, and doſt not love me; having propoſed a Riddle to the Sons of my People, and not informed me. And he anſwered her, Lo I have not told my Father nor Mother, and ſhould I tell thee?

17. Nevertheleſs ſhe having wept before him the ſeven Days, on which they had the Entertainment; on the ſeventh Day he told her, becauſe ſhe preſſed him, and ſhe told the Riddle to the Sons of her People..

18. So the Men of the City ſaid to him on the ſeventh Day, before the Sun ſet, What is ſweeter than Honey? And what is ſtronger than a Lion? To whom he ſaid, Unleſs you had ploughed with my Heifer, you would not have found out my Riddle.

19. And the Spirit of the Lord coming upon him, he went down to Aſhkelon, and killed thirty Men of them, whoſe Plunder he took, and gave Suits to thoſe who told the Riddle; afterwards being angry, he went up to his Father's Houſe.

20. Whereupon Samſon's Wife became his Companion's, who had been a Friend to him.

CHAP. XV.

YET after ſome Time, in the Days of Wheat-harveſt, Samſon viſited his Wife with a Kid of the Goats, and ſaid, Let me go in to my Wife, into the Chamber; but her Father would not ſuffer him to go in.

2. For he pleaded, I fully concluded that thou didſt utterly ſlight her, ſo I gave her to thy Companion: Is not her younger Siſter better than ſhe? Have her, I pray, inſtead of this.

3. At which Samſon pronounced of them, I ſhall be innocent this Time from the Philiſtines, though I do them hurt.

4. So he went and caught three hundred Foxes; he next took Torches, and turning one Tail to another, put a Torch in the middle between them.

5. Then ſetting the Torches on fire, he ſent them into the ſtanding Corn of the Philiſtines; and burnt up as well the Shocks as ſtanding Corn, with the Vineyards and Olives.

6. And upon the Philiſtines aſking, Who has done this? Some ſaid, Samſon the Son-in-law of the Timnite, becauſe he took his Wife, and gave her to his Companion: therefore the Philiſtines went up, and burnt her and her Father with Fire.

7. But Samſon denounced to them, Though you have done thus, yet I will be revenged on you, and afterwards I will ceaſe.

8. Accordingly he ſmote them on the Hip and Thigh with a great Slaughter; and going down, dwelt on the Crag of the Rock Etam.

9. With that the Philiſtines went up, and encamped in Judah, ſpreading abroad in Lehi.

Ver. 12. of your own finding out] or when you have found it out. This, for aught I ſee, has been a Riddle to all our Expoſitors, which the Veil of Tranſlation has hid from their Sight. Behold it is not for Nothing, or to be prepoſterous, that this Hebrew Verb is put after that for tell or declare! and ſee here the Occaſion mentioned Ver. 4. by which Samſon picked a Quarrel with the Philiſtines, Ver. 18. and was revenged on them for their cheating him, Ver. 19.

Ver. 14. in three Days] Underſtand that they then gave over ſeeking for the Solution, as a Thing too difficult for them; till the ſeventh Day, when Self-intereſt put them on fraudulent and violent Meaſures.

Ver. 3. from the Philiſtines] from dealing wrongfully with them; ſo Jun. and Trem. have a Peliſchthæis.

Ver. 8. on the Hip and Thigh] with the Conſtruction as in Gen. iii. 15. and it being proverbial from a Tranſlation, does not affect the Senſe in the Original. Might it not be done with a long Weapon, forcibly ſwung forward and backward, by changing his Hands, to keep them off from him, of the Height to wound them there; as their Arms would be an Obſtruction and Defence higher, and they might alſo then puſh in under to him? However it ſeems more eligible than what I ſee ſince by Jun. and Trem. that he did this with his Feet.

Ib. Hip] Tynd. legge, with the Biſhops.

10. And the Men of Judah ſaid, Why are you come up againſt us? And they anſwered, To bind Samſon we are come up, to do to him as he has done to us.

11. Three thouſand Men of Judah therefore went down to the Crag of the Rock Etam, and ſaid to Samſon, Waſt thou inſenſible that the Philiſtines ruled over us? Why then didſt thou do this to us? Whom he anſwered, As they did to me, ſo did I to them.

12. They however ſaid to him, We are come down to bind thee, that we may give thee up into the Power of the Philiſtines. And he again to them, Swear to me, that you may not fall on me.

13. To whom they made reply, No, though we will bind thee faſt, and give thee up into their Power, yet will we not put thee to death at all. So they bound him with two new Cords, and brought him up from the Rock.

14. When he came to Lehi, the Philiſtines ſhouted to meet him; but the Spirit of the Lord coming upon him, the Cords that were on his Arms became like Flax which is burnt with Fire, and his Bonds were diſſolved from his Hands.

15. And finding a moiſt Jaw-bone of an Aſs, he reached out his Hand, and took it, with which he killed a thouſand Men.

16. Therefore Samſon ſaid, With the Jaw-bone of an Aſs, a Heap, two Heaps, with the Jaw-bone of an Aſs I have killed a thouſand Men.

17. And when he had done ſpeaking, he threw the Jaw-bone out of his Hand, and called the Place Ramath-lehi.

18. Being then very thirſty, he called thus on the Lord, Thou haſt given this great Preſervation into the Hand of thy Servant; yet ſhall I now die with Thirſt, and fall into the Power of the Uncircumciſed?

19. But God cleaved a hollow Place that was in Lehi, out of which there came Water, and he drank, ſo that his Vigour came again, and he revived; therefore he named it The Fountain of Calling, which is in Lehi to this Day.

20. Moreover he judged Iſrael in the Time of the Philiſtines twenty Years.

SAMSON likewiſe went to Gaza, and ſeeing there a Woman who was a Harlot, he went in to her.

2. It being told the Gazites, Samſon is come hither; they ſurrounded, and lay in wait for him all Night at the Gate of the City; and kept themſelves ſilent ſo long, as they ſaid, till the Light of the Morning, when they ſaid they would kill him.

3. But he lying till Midnight, roſe up then, and took the Doors belonging to the Gate of the City, and the two Poſts, which he pulled off, with the Bar, and put upon his Shoulders; and carried them up to the Top of a Mountain which is before Hebron.

4. Again after this he loved a Woman in the Valley of Sorek, whoſe Name was Delilah.

5. At this the Lords of the Philiſtines went up to her, and ſaid to her, Entice him,

him, and ſee by what his great Strength is, and how we may prevail againſt him, and bind him to afflict him: then will we each one give thee eleven hundred Shekels of Silver.

6. Accordingly ſhe intreated Samſon, Tell me, I pray, by what thy great Strength is, and how thou mayeſt be bound to afflict thee.

7. Whom he anſwered, If they bind me with ſeven green Withes, which are not dried, I ſhall be weak, and become like another Man.

8. So the Lords of the Philiſtines brought up to her ſeven green Withes, which were not dried; and ſhe bound him with them.

9. Now there was one who lay in wait abiding with her in the Chamber, and ſhe ſaid to him, The Philiſtines are upon thee, Samſon. With that he broke the Withes aſunder, as a Thread of Tow is broken when it has the Scent of the Fire; ſo his Strength was not known.

10. Therefore Delilah ſolicited him, Behold thou having deluded me, and ſpoken Lyes to me; now tell me, I pray, with what thou mayeſt be bound.

11. And he ſaid to her, If they bind me faſt with new Cords, that no Buſineſs has been done with, I ſhall be weak, and become like another Man.

12. So ſhe took new Cords, and bound him with them, and ſaid to him, The Philiſtines are upon thee, Samſon; there being one who lay in wait abiding in the Chamber. Whereupon he broke them aſunder from his Arms like a String.

13. Upon which Delilah importuned him, Hitherto thou having deluded me, and ſpoken Lyes to me; tell me with what thou mayeſt be bound. And he ſaid to her, If thou weaveſt ſeven Locks of my Head with a Web.

14. And having fixed it with the Pin, ſhe ſaid to him, The Philiſtines are upon thee, Samſon. At this he awaked from his Sleep, and went away with the Pin of the Shuttle, and the Web.

15. She therefore upbraided him; How canſt thou ſay, I love thee; when thy Heart is not with me? Theſe three Times thou haſt deluded me, and not told me in what thy great Strength is.

16. At laſt when ſhe teazed him with her Words every Day, and urged him, ſo that his Soul was ſhrinking to Death;

17. He told her all his Mind, ſaying to her, There has not come up a Razor on my Head, becauſe I have been a Nazirite of God from my Mother's Womb: if I ſhould be ſhaved, my Strength would depart from me, and I ſhould be weak, and become like any other Man.

18. Thus Delilah ſeeing that he told her all his Mind, ſhe ſent for the Lords of the Philiſtines as follows, Come up this Time, for he has told me all his Mind. Accordingly they came up to her, and brought up the Silver with them.

19. And ſhe made him ſleep upon her Knees, and calling a Man, cauſed him to ſhave off ſeven Locks of his Head; thus ſhe began to afflict him, and his Strength departed from him.

20. Then ſhe ſaid, The Philiſtines are upon thee, Samſon. And he awaking from his Sleep, ſaid, I will go forth as at other Times, and ſhake my ſelf. For he did not know that the Lord was departed from him.

21. Whereas the Philiſtines took him, and put out his Eyes; as alſo brought him down to Gaza, binding him with two Chains, and he ground in the Priſon.

22. However the Hair of his Head began to grow, as it was when he was ſhaved.

23. At length the Lords of the Philiſtines were gathered together, to offer a great Sacrifice to Dagon their god, and to be merry: for they ſaid, Our god has given up Samſon our Enemy into our Power.

24. Whom the People ſeeing, praiſed their god: for they ſaid, Our god has given up into our Power our Enemy, the Waſter of our Country, and him who made our Slain many.

Ver. 5. by what his great Strength is] It ſeems he had told it was in ſome particular Thing, and ſo expoſed himſelf to be betrayed.

Ver. 7. green Withes] the Gen. greene cords oddly.

Ver. 9. one who lay in wait abiding] both the Hebrew Words being ſingular, and it does not ſeem likely that ſeveral were concealed in the Chamber, when one alſo might more conveniently ſlip out, and call in others.

Ver. 14. Shuttle] So it is rendered Job vii. 6. A Shuttle has a little iron Pin like a knitting Needle in it, on which the Quill is put; but the Pin of a Weaver's Beam is a great Stick, and very unfit to faſten the Hair.

Ver. 16. ſhrinking] Heb. ſhortening.

Ver. 18. the Silver] Ver. 5.

Ver. 21. Priſon] Heb. Houſe of Priſoners.

Ver. 22. as it was when] For it may be ſuppoſed he did not recover his Strength till then, as this too ſeems the Meaning of the Hebrew, and is ſo rendered by Jun. and Trem.

25. Nay

25. Nay when their Minds were merry, they ſaid, Call Samſon, that he may make us laugh. Accordingly they called him out of the Priſon, that he might make ſport before them, and they ſet him between the Pillars.

26. But he ſaid to the Youth who held him by the Hand, Suffer me to feel the Pillars on which the Houſe is fixed, that I may lean upon them.

27. Now the Houſe was full of Men and Women, and all the Lords of the Philiſtines were there; upon the Roof likewiſe were about three thouſand Men and Women, looking while Samſon made ſport.

28. But he called thus on the Lord, O Sovereign Lord, remember me, I pray, and ſtrengthen me, I beſeech thee, only this Time, O God, that I may once be throughly revenged on the Philiſtines for my two Eyes.

29. Next he ſtooped down to the two middle Pillars, on which the Houſe was fixed, and ſupported, one being in his right Hand, and the other in his left.

30. And he ſaid, Let me die my ſelf with the Philiſtines. Then bending with Might, the Houſe fell upon the Lords, and all the People who were in it: thus the Dead that he killed when he died, were more than thoſe whom he killed in his Life.

31. Laſtly his Brothers, and all his Father's Family, went down, and taking him, brought him up, and buried him between Zorah and Eſhtaol, in the Grave of Manoah his Father; he having judged Iſrael twenty Years.

CHAP. XVII.

MOREOVER there was a Man of Mount Ephraim, whoſe Name was Micah.

2. And he ſaid to his Mother, The eleven hundred Shekels of Silver of thine which were taken, ſo that thou didſt curſe, and even ſpeak in my Hearing, behold that is with me, I took it. Whereupon ſhe ſaid, Thou art bleſſed of the Lord, my Son.

3. So he reſtored the eleven hundred Shekels of Silver to his Mother: but ſhe ſaid, I have wholly conſecrated the Silver to the Lord from my Hand, for my Son to make a carved Image and a molten one; now therefore let me give it thee again.

4. However when he had reſtored the Silver to his Mother, ſhe took two hundred Shekels of it, and gave them to a Founder, who made of them a carved Image, and a molten one, and they were in Micah's Houſe.

5. Thus the Man Micah had a Houſe of gods; he alſo made an Ephod and a Teraph, and filled the Hand of one of his Sons, that he might be a Prieſt to him.

6. At that Time there being no King in Iſrael, each one did what he thought fit.

7. And there was a young Man from Beth-lehem-judah, from a Family of Judah; who was a Levite, and ſojourned there.

8. Which Man went from the City of Beth-lehem-judah, to ſojourn in the Place which he ſhould find; and making his Journey, came to Mount Ephraim, to Micah's Houſe.

9. To whom Micah ſaid, From whence comeſt thou? And he anſwered him, I am a Levite of Beth-lehem-judah, and am going to ſojourn in the Place which I ſhall find.

10. And Micah replied to him, Dwell with me; and be to me a Father and a Prieſt, and I will give thee ten Shekels of Silver for a Year, with a Suit of Cloaths, and thy Victuals. So the Levite went.

11. Nay he liked to dwell with the Man, and the young Man was to him as one of his Sons.

12. Micah alſo filled the Hand of the Levite, that the young Man might be a Prieſt to him: thus he was in Micah's Houſe.

13. Then Micah ſaid, Now I know that the Lord will do well for me, becauſe I have a Levite for a Prieſt.

CHAP. XVIII.

AT the very ſame Time there being no King in Iſrael, the Tribe of the Danites ſought them Poſſeſſion to dwell in; becauſe there had not ſufficient fallen to them to that Time, among the Tribes of Iſrael.

Ver. 29. ſtooped down] Thus Montanus's literal Verſion and the Lexicons have it, viz. inclinavit; and ſo Kimbi expounds it. The preſent Bible in the other two Places where the Word is found, viz. Ruth iii. 8. Job vi. 18. has turned.

Ver. 2. From Stealing and Curſing ſprung Superſtition.

Ver. 3. So he reſtored the eleven hundred Shekels of Silver to his Mother; but ſhe ſaid] left out of the Bibles according to Pope Sixtus.

Ver. 4. However when] It is in the common Bible as if he reſtored it twice to her.

2. Therefore

2. Therefore the People of Dan ſent five Men of their Family from their Borders, out of Zorah and Eſhtaol, ſuch as were Perſons of Ability, to ſpy the Country, and ſearch it out; whom they bid, Go, ſearch out the Country. So they went to Mount Ephraim, to Micah's Houſe, and lodged there.

3. When they were by it, knowing the Voice of the young Levite, they turned aſide thither, and ſaid to him, Who brought thee hither? And what doeſt thou in this Place? And what haſt thou here?

4. Whom he anſwered, Thus and thus does Micah to me, having hired me, that I might be a Prieſt to him.

5. Upon which they ſaid to him, Aſk, we pray, of God, that we may know whether our Journey which we are going will be proſperous.

6. And the Prieſt replied to them, Go in Peace: your Journey which you ſhall go is before the Lord.

7. So the five Men went on, and came to Laiſh; and ſaw the People who were within it dwelling quiet and very ſecure, after the Manner of the Zidonians, and there was none poſſeſſing Rule who expoſed them to ſhame for any Thing in the Country; they were alſo far from the Zidonians, and had no Buſineſs with other Men.

8. And when they came to their Brethren, at Zorah and Eſhtaol, their Brethren ſaid to them, What is there with you?

9. Who ſaid; Get ready, and let us go up againſt them; for we have ſeen plainly that the Country is very good; and you have been ſilent: be not ſlothful in going to enter in, to poſſeſs it.

10. When you come, you will come to a People ſecure, and a Country of large Extent; for God has given it up into your Power: a Place where there is no Want of any Thing that is on the Earth.

11. Accordingly there marched from thence of the Family of the Danites, out of Zorah and Eſhtaol, ſix hundred Men girded with Weapons of War.

12. And they went up, and encamped at Kirjath-jearim in Judah; therefore they call that Place The Camp of Dan to this Day, being there behind Kirjath-jearim.

13. Next they paſſed from thence to Mount Ephraim, and came to Micah's Houſe.

14. And the five Men who went to ſpy the Country of Laiſh ſpoke thus to their Brethren; Do ye know that there are in theſe Houſes an Ephod, Teraph, carved Image, and molten one? Now therefore underſtand what you may do.

15. They alſo turned aſide thither, and went into the young Levite's Houſe, that of Micah; and aſked him of his Welfare.

16. In the mean time the ſix hundred Men, who were of the People of Dan, ſtood at the Entrance of the Gate, girded with their Weapons of War.

17. And the foregoing five Men went up, entered in thither, took the carved Image, Ephod, Teraph, and molten Image; while the Prieſt ſtood at the Entrance of the Gate, with the others above mentioned.

18. However when theſe had gone into the Houſe of Micah, and taken the ſaid Things, the Prieſt demanded of them, What are you doing?

19. But they anſwered him, Hold thy Peace, put thy Hand upon thy Mouth, and go with us, that thou mayeſt be to us a Father and Prieſt: which is beſt for thee, to be a Prieſt to the Family of one Man, or to be ſo to a Tribe and Family in Iſrael?

20. Glad at his Heart of this, the Prieſt took the Ephod, Teraph, and carved Image; and went into the midſt of the People.

21. Then they turned and went away; putting the Children, Cattle, and Carriage before them.

22. When they were far off from Micah's Houſe, the Men who were in the Houſes by his were called together, and overtook the People of Dan;

23. And called to them; who turned about their Faces, and ſaid to Micah, What is the matter with thee, that you are called together?

now called The Camp of Dan, Ver. 12. this Piece of Hiſtory alſo ſeems earlier than it is placed, becauſe we meet with the Name before, Chap. xiii. 25.

25. Whereas they replied to him, Let not thy Voice be heard with us; leſt Men of a bitter Mind ſhould fall on you, and thou ſhouldeſt have thy Life taken away, with thoſe of thy Family.

26. And they went on their Way; Micah likewiſe ſeeing that they were ſtronger than he, turned, and went back to his Houſe.

27. Thus having taken what Micah made, and the Prieſt whom he had, they came to Laiſh, to a People quiet and ſecure, whom they put to the Sword, and burnt the City with Fire.

28. For there was none who delivered, becauſe it was far from Zidon, and they had no Buſineſs with other Men; it being in the Vale which is at the Houſe of Rehob: afterwards they rebuilt the City, and dwelt therein;

31. And they put up for themſelves Micah's carved Image which he made, all the Time the Houſe of God was at Shiloh.

CHAP. XIX.

AND at that Time, when there was no King in Iſrael, there was a certain Levite who ſojourned on the Side of Mount Ephraim, and took him a Concubine from Beth-lehem-judah.

your Journey, and thou mayeſt go to thy Tent.

10. However the Man would not abide all Night, but riſing up, went away, and came over againſt Jebus, which is Jeruſalem; there being with him the Couple of Aſſes ſaddled, as alſo his Concubine.

11. When they were by Jebus, the Day was much gone down; ſo that the young Man ſaid to his Maſter, Come, pleaſe to let us turn aſide to this City of the Jebuſites, and lodge in it.

12. Whom his Maſter anſwered, We will not turn aſide thither to a ſtrange City, which is not of the Iſraelites; but will paſs on to Gibeah.

13. Come, added he to him, let us however draw near to one of the Places, and lodge either at Gibeah or Ramah.

14. Accordingly they paſſed on, and as they were going, the Sun ſet to them by Gibeah, which is of Benjamin.

15. Therefore they turned aſide thither, to go in to lodge there; and being gone in, he ſate down in a Street of the City, becauſe there was no Man who took them to a Houſe to lodge.

16. At length behold an old Man came from his Work, out of the Field in the Evening, who was of Mount Ephraim, and ſojourned in Gibeah; but the Men of the Place were Benjaminites.

17. And when he looked up, and ſaw a Man that was a Paſſenger in the Street of the City, he ſaid, Whither art thou going? And from whence doſt thou come?

18. We are paſſing, ſaid he to him, from Beth-lehem-judah, to the Side of Mount Ephraim, whence I am; and having been at Beth-lehem-judah, am going to the Houſe of the Lord, but no Man takes me to a Houſe.

19. Yet there is both Straw and Provender for our Aſſes, and there is alſo Bread and Wine for me and my Handmaid, as likewiſe for the young Man with thy Servants: there being no Want of any Thing.

20. But the old Man ſaid, Peace be to thee, let all thy Want be alone upon me, only lodge not in the Street.

21. Thus he brought him to his Houſe, and gave the Aſſes Provender; and the Perſons waſhing their Feet, did eat and drink.

22. When they were making their Hearts chearful, behold ſome Men of the City, ſuch as were ungodly Perſons, ſurrounded the Houſe, knocking at the Door; and ſpoke thus to the old Man the Maſter of the Houſe, Bring out the Man who came into thy Houſe, that we may have knowledge of him.

23. To whom he going out, ſaid; Do not, my Brethren, do not wickedly, I pray: as it is after this Man is come into my Houſe, do not this Vileneſs.

24. Here is my Daughter a Virgin, and his Concubine, whom I would now bring out, and humble you them, nay do to them what you like; but to this Man do not a Thing of this Vileneſs.

25. At laſt when they would not hearken to him, the Man took hold of his Concubine, and brought out to them abroad: who had knowledge of her, and made ſport with her all Night till the Morning; and when that dawned, they let her go.

26. And the Woman came at the Appearance of the Morning, and fell down at the Gate of the Man's Houſe, where her Lord was, till it was light.

27. So that when he got up in the Morning, and opening the Doors of the Houſe, went out to go on his Way, behold his Concubine was fallen down at the Gate of the Houſe, with her Hands upon the Threſhold.

CHAP. XX.

WITH that all the Iſraelites went out, and the Aſſembly was gathered together as one Man, from Dan to Beer-ſheba, with the Province of Gilead, to the Lord at Mizpeh.

2. And the uttermoſt of all the People, of all the Tribes of Iſrael, preſented themſelves in the Congregation of the People of God, four hundred thouſand Footmen who drew a Sword.

3. The Benjaminites hearing that the Iſraelites were gone thither; who ſaid, Do you tell how this Wickedneſs was.

4. To which the Man that was the Levite, the Huſband of the Woman who was murdered, made anſwer; To Gibeah which is of Benjamin, came I and my Concubine to lodge.

5. And the Owners of it getting ready, ſurrounded the Houſe, againſt me at Night: me they intended to kill, and my Concubine they humbled, ſo that ſhe died.

6. Therefore I took hold of her, and dividing her in Pieces, ſent her into all the Country of the Poſſeſſion of Iſrael; becauſe they had done heinouſly and vilely in Iſrael.

7. Behold all of you are Iſraelites; give a Word and Counſel in this Caſe.

8. At this all the People roſe up as one Man, and ſaid; Let not any one of us go to his Tent, nor any one depart to his Houſe.

9. But now let this Thing which we ſhall do to Gibeah, be done by Lot againſt it.

10. For let us take ten Men of a hundred from all the Tribes of Iſrael, a hundred of a thouſand, and a thouſand of ten thouſand, to fetch Proviſion for the People; that they may do at their coming to Gibeah of Benjamin, according to all the Vileneſs which it has done in Iſrael.

11. Thus all the Men of Iſrael were gathered againſt the City, joined together as one Man.

12. However the Tribes of Iſrael ſent Men into all thoſe of Benjamin to ſay; What is this Wickedneſs which has been among you?

13. Now therefore give up the Men, the ungodly Perſons, who are in Gibeah, that we may put them to death, and take away Wickedneſs from Iſrael. But thoſe of Benjamin would not hearken to what their Brethren the Iſraelites ſaid.

14. On the contrary the Benjaminites got together from the Cities to Gibeah, to go out to Battle with them.

15. And they numbered themſelves at that Time from the Cities, twenty ſix thouſand Men who drew a Sword; beſides the Inhabitants of Gibeah, who numbered themſelves ſeven hundred choſen Men.

16. Out of all this People were ſeven hundred choſen Men that could not uſe their right Hand; all of whom could ſling a Stone to a Hair, and not miſs.

17. The Men of Iſrael likewiſe numbered themſelves, beſides Benjamin, four hundred thouſand Men that drew a Sword; all of whom were Warriors.

18. Moreover the Iſraelites getting ready, went up to the Houſe of God, and aſked of 19. After which the Iſraelites roſe up in the Morning, and encamped againſt Gibeah.

20. The Men of Iſrael alſo went out to Battle with Benjamin, with whom they ſet the Battle in order at Gibeah.

21. But the Benjaminites came out thence, and deſtroyed of Iſrael that Day twenty two thouſand Men to the Ground.

22. Nevertheleſs their People ſtrengthened themſelves, and ſet the Battle again in order, in the Place where they did the firſt Day.

23. For the Iſraelites went up, and wept before the Lord till the Evening, and aſked of him as follows, Shall I draw nigh again to Battle with the People of Benjamin my Brother? And the Lord ſaid, Go up againſt him.

29. Accordingly after having ſet ſome who lay in wait at Gibeah round about;

30. They went up againſt the Benjaminites on the third Day, and ſet the Army in order at Gibeah as at other Times.

31. Who coming out to meet the People, were drawn away from the City, and began to ſmite of them; there being ſlain as at other Times in the Highways, of which one went up to the Houſe of God, and one to Gibeah in the Field, about thirty Men of Iſrael:

32. Inſomuch that the Benjaminites ſaid, They are defeated before us as at the Beginning. But the Iſraelites had concluded, We will flee, that we may draw them away from the City to the Highways.

33. Next all the Men of Iſrael getting ready from their Place, ſet the Army in order at Baal-tamar; and thoſe who lay in wait of Iſrael came out of their Place from the naked Side of Gibeah.

34. For there were gone at a diſtance from Gibeah, ten thouſand Men choſen out of all Iſrael, ſo that the Battle was grievous; however they did not know what Harm there was coming upon them.

35. But the Lord defeated Benjamin before Iſrael, ſo that the Iſraelites deſtroyed of them on that Day, twenty five thouſand and a hundred Men; all of whom drew a Sword.

36. The Benjaminites too foreſaw that they ſhould be defeated: for the Men of Iſrael gave place to them, becauſe they truſted to thoſe that lay in wait, whom they had ſet againſt Gibeah.

37. And thoſe making haſte, ruſhed on Gibeah; nay ſpreading out, ſmote all the City with the Edge of the Sword.

40. But when the Pillar of Smoak began to mount up from the City, thoſe of Benjamin looked behind them, and behold the whole Burning of the City went up towards Heaven.

41. The Men of Iſrael alſo turning about, they were troubled; for they ſaw that there was Harm come upon them.

42. They therefore turned away before the Men of Iſrael to the Way of the Wilderneſs, but the Battle followed them cloſe; and ſuch as were from the Cities they deſtroyed among them.

43. They incloſed thoſe of Benjamin, purſued them, trod them down with Eaſe, over againſt Gibeah, towards the Sun-riſing.

44. Thus there fell of them eighteen thouſand Men, all theſe being valiant ones.

45. And when they turned away, and were fleeing towards the Wilderneſs to the Rock Rimmon, they gleaned of them in the Highways five thouſand Men; nay followed cloſe after them to Gidom, and killed two thouſand more of them.

46. So that all of Benjamin who fell on that Day, were twenty five thouſand Men who drew the Sword, all theſe being valiant Men.

47. But ſix hundred Men turned away, and fled towards the Wilderneſs to the Rock Rimmon, where they abode four Months.

48. Nay the Men of Iſrael turned back to the Benjaminites, and put of them to the Sword, not only the Citizens but the Beaſts, and all that were found; all the Cities too which were in their Way they ſet on fire.

CHAP. XXI.

NOW the Men of Iſrael had ſworn thus at Mizpeh, There ſhall no Man of us give thoſe of Benjamin his Daughter for a Wife.

2. The People therefore went to the Houſe of God, and abiding there till the Evening before God, made great and loud Lamentation,

3. And ſaid, Why, O Lord God of Iſrael, is this come to paſs in Iſrael, that one Tribe of it is now wanting?

4. As alſo on the next Day they roſe early, and building there an Altar, offered Burnt-offerings and Peace-offerings.

5. And the Iſraelites ſaid, Who is there that did not come up among the Congregation of all the Tribes of Iſrael, to the Lord? For there was a great Oath concerning him who came not up to the Lord at Mizpeh, that he ſhould be quite put to death.

6. Thus repenting for Benjamin their Brother, they ſaid; There is one Tribe cut off now from Iſrael.

7. What ſhall we do for Wives for thoſe who are left, ſince we have ſworn by the Lord, that we will give them none of our Daughters for Wives?

8. But they ſaid, What one is there of the Tribes of Iſrael that did not come to the Lord at Mizpeh? And lo there did not come up a Man, to the Congregation of the Camp, from Jabeſh-gilead.

9. For the People numbered themſelves, and behold no Man of its Inhabitants was there.

10. Whereupon the Aſſembly ſent thither twelve thouſand Men of the valiant ones, whom they commanded as follows; Go, and put the Inhabitants of Jabeſh-gilead to the Sword, with the Women and Children.

11. For this is the Thing that you ſhall do, Every Male, and every Woman who has known lying with one, you ſhall deſtroy.

12. And they found of its Inhabitants four hundred young Women that were Virgins, who did not know a Man by lying with him; whom they brought to the Camp at Shiloh, which is in the Country of Canaan.

13. Then all the Aſſembly ſent, that they might ſpeak to the Benjaminites who were

16. Moreover the Elders of the Aſſembly ſaid, What ſhall we do for Wives for thoſe who are left, ſince the Women are deſtroyed from Benjamin?

17. They reaſoned further; The Inheritance is for ſuch as are eſcaped of Benjamin, that there may not be a Tribe blotted out of Iſrael.

18. However we cannot give them Wives of our Daughters, becauſe the Iſraelites have ſworn thus, Let him be curſed who gives thoſe of Benjamin a Wife.

19. At laſt they concluded, Behold there is a Feaſt of the Lord at Shiloh from Year to Year, which is kept on the North of the Houſe of God, towards the Sun-riſing, at the Highway that goes up from the Houſe of God to Shechem; and on the South of Lebonah.

20. Therefore they commanded the Benjaminites as follows; Go, and lie in wait in the Vineyards.

21. Where look, and behold if the Daughters of Shiloh come out to Dancing; you ſhall go forth thence, and ſeize you each one his Wife of them, and go to the Country of Benjamin.

22. Afterwards when their Fathers or Brothers come to contend with us, we will ſay to them, Favour us concerning them; ſince we did not take for each his Wife in the War; and you did not give to them, as at the Time you might have been guilty.

23. And the Benjaminites did ſo; for they took Wives after their Number, of thoſe that danced, whom they took by Force: then they went back to their Poſſeſſion, and rebuilding the Cities, dwelt in them.

24. The Iſraelites alſo went from thence at that Time, each to his Tribe and Family; going out thence to their reſpective Poſſeſſions.

NOTES upon the BOOK of RUTH.

CHAP. I.

AND in the Time that the Judges governed, a Famine being in the Country, there was a Man of Beth-lehem-judah went to ſojourn in the Region of Moab, with his Wife and two Sons:

2. Who were Ephrathites of Beth-lehem-judah, he was named Elimelech, his Wife Naomi, and his two Sons Mahlon and Chilion: and when they were come thither, they ſettled there.

3. But Elimelech the Huſband of Naomi dying, ſhe was left with her two Sons.

4. Who married Women of Moab, the Name of one being Orpah, and that of the other Ruth; and they dwelt there about ten Years.

5. Mahlon and Chilion alſo both of them died; ſo that the Woman was left without her two Sons and her Huſband.

6. After which ſhe got ready with her Daughters-in-law, to go back from thence: for ſhe heard there, that the Lord had viſited his People by giving them Bread.

7. But as ſhe was going with them both from the Place where ſhe had been, in the Way back to the Country of Judah,

8. She ſaid to them; Go again each to your Mother's Houſe: the Lord ſhew Kindneſs to you, as you have ſhewn both to the Dead and me.

9. The Lord grant you, that each may find Reſt at your Huſband's Houſe. Then ſhe kiſſed them; but they burſt out a crying,

10. And ſaid to her, No, for we will return with thee to thy People.

11. Naomi however replied; Turn back, my Daughters, why would you go with me? Shall I have Sons any more within me, to be Huſbands for you?

12. Go back again, my Daughters; for I am too old to have a Huſband: nay though I ſhould think there is Hope for me, ſhould even have a Huſband to Night, and alſo bear Sons;

13. Would you wait for them till they grew up? Would you ſtay for them without having Huſbands? No, my Daughters; for it is very grievous to me for your ſakes, that the Hand of the Lord has come forth againſt me.

14. Whereupon they burſt out a crying again; and Orpah kiſſed her Mother-in-law, but Ruth cleaved to her.

15. Nay when ſhe ſaid, Behold thy Siſter-in-law is gone back to her People, and to her gods; return thou after her.

16. Ruth anſwered; Do not intreat me to leave thee, by going back from thee: for I will go whither thou goeſt, and lodge where thou doſt; thy People ſhall be mine, and thy God my God.

17. Where thou dieſt I will die, and there will I be buried: by the Lord's doing to me ſo and ſo beſides, Death only ſhall make a ſeparation between me and thee.

18. And when Naomi ſaw that ſhe was re-

Ver. 1. a Famine being] Tynd. ther fell a dearth.

Ver. 2. Ephrathites of Beth-lehem-judah] Ephrath or Ephratah and Beth-lehem in Judah were the ſame Place, Gen. xlyiii. 7. Ruth iv. 11. Mic. v. 2. and the Inhabitants thus called, 1 Sam. xvii. 12. The Diſtinction in the Text was neceſſary, becauſe there were other Ephrathites, 1 Sam. i. 1, 19. 1 Kings xi. 26.

Ver. 4. Women of Moab] Biſhops, Moabiteſſes, of the Moabites.

Ver. 8, &c. In Verſes 8, 9, 11, 13, 19. the Pronouns, ſays the Author of the State of the printed Hebrew Text, are ſurprizingly corrupted, p. 446. but if it is ſurprizing for them to be ſo corrupted, is it not more likely they are not corrupted? The Caſe might be, that this firſt Chap. if not the Book, was a Memoir made by Naomi her ſelf, who was ſo illiterate, or forgetful in her Language through Diſuſe of it for ſeveral Years, that ſhe might miſtake by putting the Maſc. for the Fem. eſpecially as it is here all the ſame, and the Sound ſo near alike as m and n; and it might be thought beſt to preſerve her own Words. Here will now be no Need of anſwering this Writer's Scoffs at the Jews. And his objecting ſo often againſt the Hebrew Text, when the Margin rectifies it, without mentioning the latter, is very diſingenuous. As the Margin ſhews where the Text has been corrupted, that is an Argument againſt its being corrupted elſewhere.

Ver. 10. for] Look Gen. xxix. 32.

Ver. 11. within me] Heb. not in my womb.

Ver. 14. kiſſed] in taking leave, as alſo in 1 Kings xix. 20. but the Hebrew being conciſe, there is added in the vulg. Lat. and returned, in the Gr. and returned to her People, and ſo by Jun. and Trem. went away, in another Character, to denote it ſupplied; in which Manner thoſe ancient Additions may be underſtood as if marked, which was not then uſed; and even Caſtalio has now without it, takes leave of her.

Ver. 17. make a ſeparation between] Tynd. Gen. and Biſh. depart oddly, or as put for do part.

19. So they both went on till they got to Beth-lehem; and being entered into it, all the City was in a Commotion about them, and they ſaid, Is this Naomi?

20. Whom ſhe anſwered; Do not call me Naomi; call me Mara, becauſe the Almighty has made it very bitter to me.

21. I went away full, and the Lord has brought me back empty: why do you call me Naomi, when the Lord has teſtified againſt me, and the Almighty has afflicted me?

22. Thus ſhe returned, accompanied with Ruth the Moabiteſs her Daughter-in-law, from the Country of Moab, and they came to Beth-lehem at the Beginning of Barley-harveſt.

CHAP. II.

NOW Naomi had a Kinſman of her Huſband Elimelech's Family, a very wealthy Man, whoſe Name was Boaz.

2. And Ruth the Moabiteſs ſaid to her, Let me go, I pray, to the Field, and glean Corn after him whom I ſhall get in Favour with; who anſwered her, Go, my Daughter.

3. Accordingly ſhe went, and being come, gleaned in the Field after the Reapers; and her Lot fell out to be in a Part of it belonging to this Boaz:

4. Who behold coming out of Beth-lehem, ſaid to the Reapers, The Lord be with you; and they anſwered him, The Lord bleſs thee.

5. Then he ſaid to his Servant that was ſet over the Reapers, Whoſe young Woman is this?

6. And he made anſwer; It is the young Woman of Moab, who came back with Naomi out of that Country,

7. And ſhe ſaid, Be pleaſed to let me glean about among the Sheaves, after the Reapers. So ſhe went, and has remained ſince the Morning, till now ſhe has ſtaid this little while in the Houſe.

8. Upon this Boaz accoſted Ruth; Doſt not thou hear, my Daughter? Go not to glean in another Field, nor paſs from hence; but keep cloſe here with my Maids.

9. Let thy Eyes be on the Field in which they reap, that thou mayeſt follow them; have not I charged the young Men not to meddle with thee? Nay when thou art thirſty, go to the Veſſels, and drink of what they have drawn.

10. At which ſhe fell on her Face, bowing down to the Ground, and ſaid to him, Why am I in favour with thee, that thou ſhouldeſt take notice of me, ſince I am a Stranger?

11. To whom Boaz made anſwer; All which thou didſt with thy Mother-in-law after thy Huſband's Death, has been fully told me, that thou lefteſt thy own Father and Mother, with thy native Country, and waſt come to a People whom thou kneweſt not before.

12. The Lord recompenſe thy Work, and let a Reward be rendered to thee from the Lord God of Iſrael, under whoſe Wings thou art come to be ſheltered.

13. And ſhe replied, Let me be in Favour with thee, my Lord; ſince thou haſt comforted me, and ſince thou haſt ſpoken kindly to thy Handmaid; though I am not comparable to one of thy own.

14. Boaz alſo ſaid to her, At Meal-time approach hither, and eat of the Victuals, and dip thy Bit in the Vinegar. Nay as ſhe was ſitting at one Side of the Reapers, he held out parched Corn to her, of which ſhe eat, till ſhe was ſatisfied, and left.

15. Beſides when ſhe got up to glean, he thus commanded his young Men; Let her glean even between the Sheaves, and do not reproach her.

16. And make alſo a good Booty for her out of the Handfuls; which leave, that ſhe may glean, and do not chide her.

17. So ſhe gleaned in the Field till the Evening; and beating out what ſhe had gleaned, it was about an Ephah of Barley.

18. This ſhe took up, and going into the City, when her Mother-in-law ſaw what it was, and ſhe had taken out, and given her that which ſhe had left more than ſatisfied her ſelf;

Ver. 20. Naomi, pleaſant; Mara, bitter.

Ver. 12. recompenſe] Tynd. quyte, and the Biſh.

Ib. to be ſheltered] Which is the primary Signification of the Verb according to Buxtorf, who has turned this, ad recipiendum te. Jun. and Trem. render, ut te obtegeres, that thou mayeſt cover or hide thee; Munſter, latitare, to hide; Leo Judæ, quæ veniſti ut ſub alas ejus confugeres, who art come that thou mighteſt flee for ſhelter under his Wings; the Author of the vulg. Lat. ad quem veniſti, & ſub ejus confugiſti alas, to whom thou art come, and under whoſe Wings thou art fled for ſhelter; Caſtal. ſub cujus alarum præſidium tu te receperis, under the Protection or Shelter of whoſe Wings thou mayeſt get thee.

Ver. 16. make—a good Booty] Heb. by ſpoiling ſpoil; and it does not ſignify of purpoſe, which is the old Lat. de induſtria; whence alſo the Biſh. render for the nonce. But Tynd. has, And therto pul out of the ſheves for her and let it lie, Gen. the like.

Ib. Handfuls] or Gripes, as the Huſbandmen call them, before they are bound up in Sheaves.

Ver. 17. about] Tynd. and Biſh. upon.

Ver. 18. had left] that is of the parched Corn which Boaz gave her, Ver. 14.

19. Her Mother-in-law ſaid to her, Where haſt thou gleaned to Day? And where been at work? Let him be bleſſed who took notice of thee. And ſhe told her that the Man's Name with whom ſhe wrought that Day was Boaz.

20. The Lord bleſs him, replied Naomi to her, who has not forſaken his Benevolence both to the Living and the Dead. To which ſhe added, The Man is near to us, he is one of our Kinſmen.

21. Ruth the Moabiteſs further related, that he likewiſe ſaid to her, Keep cloſe with my young Men, till they have finiſhed all my Harveſt.

22. Naomi anſwered her again, It will be well, my Daughter, to go out with his Maids; for they may not meet with thee in another Field.

23. She accordingly kept cloſe to the Maids of Boaz in gleaning, till Barley-harveſt and Wheat-harveſt were ended; and dwelt with her Mother-in-law.

CHAP. III.

AFTER which ſhe ſaid to her; My Daughter, ſhould not I ſeek for thee Reſt? Which will be good for thee.

2. And now is not Boaz our Kinſman, whoſe Maids thou waſt with? Behold he winnows Barley to Night in the Floor.

3. So waſh and anoint thy ſelf, and putting on thy Cloaths, go down thither; without being known to the Man, till he has done eating and drinking.

4. And when he is lain down, thou knowing where the Place is, ſhalt go in, and uncover his Feet, and lie down; then he will tell thee, what thou ſhalt do.

5. Whereupon ſhe anſwered her, I will do all that thou haſt ſaid to me.

6. Accordingly ſhe went down to the Floor, and did entirely as her Mother-in-law ordered her.

7. For when Boaz had eat and drunk, ſo that his Heart was chearful, and was gone in to lie down at the End of the Heap of Corn; ſhe went in ſecretly, and uncovering his Feet, lay down.

8. Frightened therefore at Midnight, the Man bending down, there was a Woman lay at his Feet.

9. Then he ſaid, Who art thou? And ſhe anſwered, I am Ruth thy Handmaid; ſo ſpread thy Skirt over her, for thou art a Kinſman.

10. To which he replied: The Lord bleſs thee, my Daughter, who haſt made the latter Kindneſs better than the former, in not going after young Men, whether poor or rich.

11. Now therefore, my Daughter, do not fear; I will do for thee whatever thou ſhalt ſay: for all thoſe of the Gate of my People are ſenſible that thou art a worthy Woman.

12. And now though it be true that I am a Kinſman, yet there is one nearer than I.

13. Stay all Night, and in the Morning if he will redeem for thee, it is well, let him; but if he is not willing to do it, by the Lord's living, I will redeem for thee: lie down till the Morning.

14. Which ſhe did at his Feet, but roſe up before one could know another: for he ſaid, Let it not be known that a Woman came to the Floor.

15. He alſo ſaid, Bring the Apron that thou haſt on, and hold it. Which ſhe holding, he meaſured ſix Meaſures of Barley, and put upon her; then he went into the City.

16. Upon her coming to her Mother-in-law, ſhe ſaid, Who art thou? My Daughter? To whom ſhe told all that the Man did for her.

Ver. 20. he] which the Hebrew has: this laſt Part is omitted by the Vulgate.

Ib. Kinſmen] Gen. and Biſh. affinitie; though Tynd. had next kin.

Ver. 22. may not meet] as you did in this Field. But what Senſe does that they meet thee not make, ſince Naomi is not perſuading Ruth to ſhun them, but the contrary.

Ib. another Field] whither they would go, when Harveſt was done in this.

Ver. 7. Heap] of corn is not in the Hebrew, though our Tranſlators have added it without Diſtinction.
